OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY died while in the zenith of his fame and has therefore assured to him a most conspicuous place in history. The manner of his death as well as the long service that he has rendered his country in the highest stations will assure him of this. While not a preeminently great man as compared with others who where his predecessors in office, he was nevertheless endowed with many splendid qualities of heart and mind that make for greatness and for the fullest measure of success in whatever he undertook. Possessed of the most delicate tact and diplomacy with which to aid a mind splendidly equipped, he succeeded in reaching through the maelstrom of politics the high goal of his ambition where many others signally failed. As the chief executive officer of the nation it is doubtful if Mr. McKinley was at his best, for a study of his character and history is apt to convince us that he had within him more of the makeup of the advocate than the ideal president. He first commanded the attention of the country in the former capacity during several series of debates of which he was the central figure in congress, and the success he achieved there, whether rightly or wrongly, marked him for higher honors, which came to him in due time. Aside from his illustrious public record, Mr. McKinley will long be remembered by those who came in contact with him for two very strong characteristics. These were his great kindness of heart and his extreme loyalty to his friends. Without knowing it, doubtless, these splendid attributes of his character interfered seriously with the discharge of his duties as an executive officer. His kindly nature found it ever difficult, if not impossible, to say "No" to the importuning of men to whom he considered himself obligated in politics. The sincere and loyal quality of his friendship, too, has undoubtedly often been presumed upon and discounted in advance by those who hovered near the source of power. The wisdom of some of the public policies that he as president inaugurated are seriously and honestly questioned by a large element of his countrymen. Whether they will prove to be wise or unwise, the fullness of time alone can reveal. Neither is it our desire at this time to discuss such measures. It is sufficient at this time to know that not only our noble, kind-hearted president has been slain in the discharge of his duties, but that a vicious blow has been struck at representative government. This fact alone is of sufficient importance to engage the attention of the American people for the present.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT at the age of 42 is now president of the United States. He is younger by five years than any other man who has been called to the White House. His youth, however, is not a valid objection. It is the fact that he is of a peculiar and unusual makeup, in fact an unknown quantity, that causes apprehension among a certain class of people. Roosevelt is said to possess a very large stock of courage and independence and is withal a man who won't stand bossing. His announcement that he will follow in the footsteps of McKinley and the fact that he has urged the cabinet ministers of his predecessor to remain in office has undoubtedly given much comfort to his party generally. It is not likely, however, considering the nature and record of the new president that this felicitous condition of things will last long. Hanna, Platt and Quay, the great triumvirate who have dictated the policy of the party so long and who must continue to dictate it or sink out of sight, will not find the new executive like clay in their hands; unless indeed that the latter shall adopt a course that will give the lie to his lifelong professions. Roosevelt is under no obligations to any of the trio and in fact has been regarded as a thorn in the side of the bosses for years past. He is ambitious and energetic, a great believer in the "strenuous life." Naturally he will insist on making a record for himself and he is certainly politician enough to realize that he cannot go about it in a more effective way than to completely turn down the unpopular bosses in his own party. There is little danger indeed that the treaty of peace made at the bier of the lamented McKinley will last long. Friction between such diverse and irreconcilable elements is sure to appear and grow and continue to grow. The result will be in 1904 as in 1884, a mighty chasm that cannot be successfully bridged. There is much in the situation that is calculated to produce hope in the ranks of the party of the people.

ONLY a short interval remains between the present time and the opening of the State Fair, and the people of Yakima particularly should arise to the occasion. While heretofore many have found fault with various features of the fair, this year there can be no general objection to any part of the festival. The commission has shown a lively regard for the opinion of all classes of expected participants, and many causes of complaint heretofore existing have been removed. There is now absolutely no reason why the exhibition should not take rank with any of its kind in the country. The few years of experience had in the establishment of the institution here has been of such advantage to the management that the various features are of a strictly up-to-date character, and it only remains for a long-pull-and-all-pull-together movement to produce a most successful Fair.

THE press of the country are almost unanimous in the opinion that Senator Wellington of Maryland is an ass, and of the most disgusting type at that. A man who, in his position especially, that manifests such brutal indifference when a president of the United States is assassinated is scarcely worthy of public notice. The Union League of Baltimore done the right thing in expelling him from its membership. When Wellington's present term in the senate expires he will drop into the obscurity that is already yawning for him. He is a political orphan who has been trying to find for himself a place in the democratic ranks, but the democratic party has no use for such as he. Wellington has disgraced the great name that he bears.

THURSDAY was a day of mourning throughout the United States, for on that day all that was mortal of the late President McKinley was consigned to Mother Earth. He who but a few short days ago occupied the highest and most honorable worldly position to which man can aspire now lies calm and peaceful in eternal sleep. The dull, cold ear of death was insensible to all the loving and beautiful tributes to his memory that went out from the hearts of his sorrowing countrymen. What a pity it is, after all, that the world should withhold its universal praise and commendation of a man's character and lifework until the object of their admiration has passed into the unknown.

THE great strike of the steel workers is now practically at an end and has resulted just as this paper has repeatedly said that it would—in the complete triumph of the giant steel trust. The assumption of the union that it could successfully fight the trust with the few thousands of dollars that it had laid up as a reserve fund has, for at least the five-hundredth time, been proved erroneous. The big trust is now in the saddle, and if it knows itself, is going to stay there.

THE esteemed P.-I. in its local columns observes that George Stevenson, the noted railroad lobbyist and new manager of the Ankeny senatorial boom, has slipped his old time moorings at Vancouver and removed to Tacoma in order to better subserve the interests of his principal. If this be the case it is pretty safe to assume that Col. Sam Perkin's two papers will not slobber much in welcoming the wily George within the gates of the "city of destiny."

THE press of the country is well nigh unanimous in the opinion that the surgeons in charge of the late president have not covered themselves with glory. The result of the autopsy, if it proved anything, has shown that the diagnosis of the case made by the physicians was incorrect.

TEDDY ROOSEVELT assures the country that he is determined to carry out the late president's policy, but the Oregonian says that that is impossible, as Mr. McKinley had no policy.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

The public school term opens next Monday.

The N. P. company is grading a long line for a new switch to accommodate the growing traffic of the Yakima Mill Co.

Rev. Mr. Moore, of Creek, Neb., will occupy the pulpit at the Congregational church next Sunday morning and evening.

The water company is daily expecting the arrival of 150 filters to be placed at various points in the water mains for the purpose of purification.

D. L. Bryson, with his gang of painters, returned Monday from Toppenish, where he has finished painting the new school house and several other contracts.

The Dudley Shoe Co. this week removed to the store room formerly occupied by Ditter Bros. The Yakima Hardware Co. will use the building vacated by Mr. Dudley.

Lee C. Delle, a young attorney from Chicago, arrived Saturday. He has entered the office of Snyder & Preble pending his examination for admission to the bar of this state.

The Jewish holiday, Yom Kippur, begins next Sunday evening at sundown and continues for twenty-four hours. This is a season for fasting and all orthodox Jews religiously observe it.

Yakima is noted far and wide for its fine climate, but within the memory of the oldest inhabitant nothing finer has ever been turned out than what we have experienced during the past ten days.

Dr. P. Frank, having purchased the house on the Mike Schorn lot on South Front street, this week had it removed to lots near his own residence on South Third, where he will repair and improve it.

Mr. Matterson, who owns the old Lewis ranch north of the city, was severely injured last Friday by being trampled by an angry bull. While it was a close call for his life he is now recovering.

At Cle-Elum last Wednesday Phil Stanton had a fine $400 team killed and a good wagon reduced to kindling wood by being run down by a freight train. The driver narrowly escaped death, jumping just in time to avoid the crush.

A Japanese, formerly cook at the Hotel Bartholet, last Sunday developed symptoms of insanity and was taken in charge by the officers. Later he became a raving maniac, and on Wednesday was conveyed to Medical Lake for treatment at the asylum.

The Moxee company expects to finish picking hops next week. Their yard comprises 110 acres, and this will be a record-breaker for the wind-up of picking. Last year they lost about five tons of hops because they could not finish before a heavy frost.

On Wednesday night an eastbound freight crashed into a coal car north of the Yakima mill, completely demolishing the car and necessitating the calling out of both gangs of section men to clear the track. The engine was somewhat smashed, and had to be sent to the round-house for repairs.

On Tuesday before Judge Taggard a jury tried a case wherein Bert Parton sought to replevin a horse from Wm. Quantrell, commonly called "Coyote Bill." The jury awarded the animal to Quantrell, who now threatens a damage suit against Parton. Both parties reside on the Indian reservation.

Alex Starrett, one of the night policemen, last Monday evening found it necessary to shoot at two Indians near the stock-yards who had taken a couple of shots at him. One of the siwashes is supposed to have received a shot in the back as he made a hasty retreat on his pony, but nothing has been seen of him since.

City Treasurer W. L. Lemon on Wednesday appointed Earl G. Peck as his deputy. Accordingly the books and records of the office were transferred to the county treasurer's office in the court house. Mr. Lemon found it necessary to appoint a deputy from the fact that the office made too much demand upon his time.

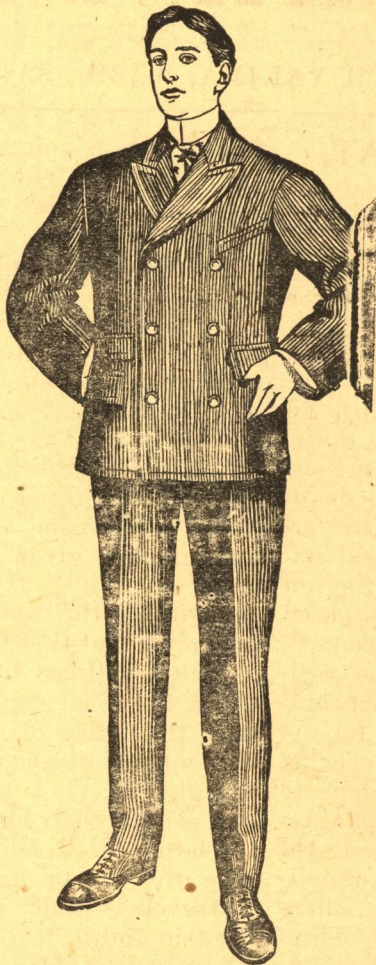

The special election at Kennewick last Saturday to determine as to whether the Del Haven irrigation district should be dissolved, resulted in a unanimous vote in favor of such dissolution. The matter cannot be finally completed for about three months, when the question of carrying out the enterprise will be taken up by other parties with sufficient capital to accomplish it.

Hop-pickers on the Moxee had a jolly time last Saturday night in a watermelon contest. To the uninitiated the expression contains little meaning, but when one considers that the party eating the largest quantity of melon in a given time, besides gaining other prizes, is allowed the happy perquisite of selecting a "best girl" from a bevy of beauties, it becomes quite interesting.

Last Tuesday the dray team of Jasper Mikkelsen made a run from his wood yard across the track. The wagon ran into the creamery on West Yakima avenue, almost completely demolishing the front, and severely bruising about the limbs an old gentleman named Brackett who was seated on the platform. Breaking loose from the truck, the team continued east to the railroad track, where one of the horses fell under a freight car and broke a front leg. It was found necessary to shoot the animal, which was a very valuable one. The old gentleman injured is now improving.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Brick work is progressing rapidly on the new mammoth Clogg building.

Mrs. D. M. Druse returned yesterday from her old Minnesota home, where she attended her father's last illness.

The 6-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smith, of the reservation, was buried at Yakima City last Tuesday.

The firm of Briggs & Dam will make some money-saving announcements next week. Watch our columns for their "ad".

Frederick R. Hart, aged 14 years, died from fever last Sunday, and the body was shipped to Portland for interment Monday.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Dilley, who has been ill with fever for a couple of weeks, is now thought to be improving.

Suit for divorce has been filed in the superior court by Wm. Lee, Jr. who asks for a legal separation from Frances P. Lee on the ground of abandonment.

On the 14th inst. a marriage license was issued to Sam E. Swanson and Miss Nettie Simpson, and on the 20th to Rutherford E. Potter and Miss Jennie M. Hanson.

J. H. Hathaway and James Curran returned Thursday from Wilson creek, in the Gold Hill mining district, and are displaying numerous fine specimens of placer gold secured on their trip.

D. E. Lesh on Friday morning sent in from the Moxee ranch for Sheriff Tucker to arrest a turbulent Indian, who was running amuck among the hop-pickers. The belligerent was brought to town in irons and lodged in the county jail.

Sheriff Brown, of Kittitas county, has been in the city several times this week on the look-out for parties who recently burglarized a store at Cle-Elum. Several suspects have been arrested, while a number of others are under surveillance.

Mrs. Priscilla Fry, a hard working woman from Ellensburg, who has been picking hops on J. H. Carpenter's Ahtanum ranch, was unfortunate this week in losing twenty hop tickets. The finder will be doing a generous deed by turning over the tickets at once.

Thos. Lavery was held for larceny from the person of Jacob Jacobson by Justice MacCrimmon Monday morning. Five dollars in cash and a cheap watch were secured by the defendant in the hold-up, which occurred in a saloon Sunday night. The superior court will deal with Lavery at its next session.

The community was shocked last Sunday by the announcement of the death at St. Elizabeth's hospital of Mrs. Pearl T. Gordon, wife of Dr. R. N. Gordon, after two weeks' illness of typhoid fever. A brother and two sisters of the deceased, arrived from Kansas too late to see her in life. Mrs. Gordon was a bride of only four months, but she had during her short residence here made many warm friends. The entire community sympathizes with the doctor in his sad bereavement. The remains were shipped to Cincinnati last Monday for interment, being accompanied by the sorrowing husband and relatives of the deceased.

The claims of Bryant and Hatch against the Hendrix-Briggs Co., of commission men at Seattle, was settled in Judge Taggard's court last Monday, the Seattle firm paying the costs through their attorney, Roberts. How the claim was fixed the attorney stated the public was not interested in, but it is understood that Mr. Hatch was allowed $10 per ton for the potatoes furnished by him, while Mr. Bryant received $17.50 ton. Mr. Briggs' wife was here with their attorney, and this settlement releases Briggs from his bond. It is said other claims against the firm have all been settled with the various parties here.

CLAIRVOYANCE - PALMISTRY.

Prof. Harriden, the King of Palmists and Clairvoyants, In the City.

The King of Palmists and Clairvoyants, known throughout the world as the Great Oriental Prophet, has arrived in North Yakima, and is now located at 113½ Yakima avenue, in the Weed block, where he can be consulted on all the affairs of life.

Professor Harriden is now on his second tour of America. While on his first tour he visited only the larger cities. He is too well known in this country to need much introduction, but for the benefit of the few who may not have heard of him, he will state that he is a graduate of the Occult College of India and France, has edited palmistry departments, and is still connected in this work with some of the most prominent newspapers of America.

He guarantees to reveal every incident of your life; tells you who, where and when you will marry; gives your own full name without asking you a question; tells you just what you are best fitted for and how to obtain the money you are in need of, etc.

Prof. Harriden makes a specialty of getting people out of financial trouble, and he has a standing offer of $1,000 in any case where he fails to do so, provided, of course, the advice is taken. He also claims that every person is adapted to some certain kind of business or profession, and that no one can be successful until they find out what they are fitted for. In your reading you are told every incident of your life, your own full name is given, also the name of the one you will marry, with a full description, and where and when you will meet, etc. You are told how to succeed and how to better your condition in all ways.

No matter what your trouble is, he can and will help you, and if you are not helped after a visit he will positively refuse to accept a fee. Everyone is invited to call on this gifted medium and test for themselves. His fee is reasonable and within the reach of all.

The first two days the Professor will give free tests to those wishing a reading, just to convince skeptical people that he can and does all he claims, and to show the people he is not to be classed with some of the cheap fortune tellers and mediums who have visited this city in the past. If your business is unsuccessful; if you have trouble of any kind, feel yourself invited to call on this gifted medium, and he will send you away bolder and happier than ever before.

Office Hours: 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sundays, 1 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Palmistry and hypnotism taught. Mediumistic persons developed. Call early to avoid the crowds. All business strictly confidential. Parlors so arranged that you meet no strangers. Lady in attendance. Perfect satisfaction by mail. Send $1.00 and date of birth for reading.

Prof. Harriden's parlors are at 113½ Yakima Avenue, and are secured with that view to privacy so frequently desired by those who have not consulted a medium before.

J. W. Fletcher, who resides near the power house, presented this office on Monday with a box of very large and delicious Elberta peaches. Mr. Fletcher stated that the fruit was picked from a five year old tree, from which 16 other boxes had been picked and sold at 50 cents per box.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

A Number of Very Important Measures Passed.

Allen, Donald, Hall and Weed were the only councilmen present at the regular meeting Monday evening.

The mayor announced a message which he read giving his reasons for vetoing the ordinance reducing the license for peddling medicines, quoting in full a decision of the supreme court wherein his position was upheld. The message also gave a complete resume of the various phases of the case to date relating to the Quakers and the various actions taken by him to enforce the old ordinance.

A petition for renewal of saloon license was read from Thomas Lund, with consent of property owners, and on motion of Weed was granted.

A remonstrance was read from certain property owners on First street against the proposed improvement of said street, 705 feet protesting. As there are 1600 feet in the proposed improvement district and a protest of two-thirds of the property owners is required under the law, the council simply tabled the remonstrance.

The committee on streets and ditches recommended the change of Schanno ditch as petitioned for at the last council, the cost of the proposed change being estimated by the city engineer at $230, or a much less sum than that necessary to clear and dyke the old channel. On motion of Donald the report was accepted and the work ordered done, on advertised bids, under the supervision of the city engineer.

Three bills for caring for city park for street work and for tending hose were passed, having been overlooked at the last meeting.

An ordinance was introduced and passed regulating the sale and disposal of medicines and appears elsewhere in this paper.

Resolutions were passed for the improvement by grading and macadamizing three blocks on Front street and two blocks on First street.

The city engineer reported that the sewer on North Natchez avenue was so full of roots from trees that the pipe would have to be relaid or abandoned. A change proposing to run down the alleys, the engineer states, would necessitate the building of nineteen hundred feet of sewer. The engineer was instructed to make an estimate of the proposed cost. Mr. Marble stated that if the sewer pipes had been properly looked after, no such conditions would have arisen. He was then instructed to look after all the sewers.

The mayor stated that an outstanding tax certificate had prevented the close of the purchase of the Thomas property for a dumping ground for city refuse. On motion of Weed the mayor was instructed to purchase the property at an increase of the original cost if possible.

The city engineer, who seemed to have the greatest burden imposed upon any officer during the meeting, was delegated to see that the water mains are flushed. Mr. Weed, in addition moved that the water company be requested to put in proper filters, under the direction of the city health officer.

The health officer recommended the passage of an ordinance regulating the examination of milk dispensed in the city, which the council ordered done.

When Father Rode the Goat.

The house is full of arnica
And mystery profound;
We do not dare to run about
Or make the slightest sound;
We leave the big piano shut
And do not strike a note;
The doctor's been here seven times
Since father rode the goat.

He joined the lodge a week ago—
Got in at 4 a. m.
And sixteen brethren brought him
home,
Though he says he brought them.
His wrist was sprained, and one big rip
Had rent his Sunday coat—
They must of had a lively time
When father rode the goat.

He's resting on the couch today
And practicing the signs—
The hailing signals, working grip,
And other monkeyshines;
He mutters passwords 'neath his breath
And other things he'd quote—
They surely had an evening's work
When father rode the goat.

He has a gorgeous uniform
All gold and red and blue.
A hat with plumes and yellow braid,
And golden badges, too.
But, somehow, when we mention it
He wears a look so grim
We wonder if he rode the goat
Or if the goat rode him.
—King County Courier.

The Fatuity of the Assassin.

It has been said that an assassination never changed the history of the world. It is not possible to demonstrate this, for what might have been is uncertain. What is sure is that assassination has never changed human history in the way expected or desired by the assassin. The killing of Julius Caesar was defended on the ground that he was a tyrant. His slayers came to grief, and he was succeeded by a long line of rulers far more objectionable than himself. In the decadent days of the empire the ruler was often slain, but frequently succeeded by some one as bad as himself if not worse. The dread of assassination often made a tyrant more cruel than he would have been, for fear is one of the most cruel of passions.

The assassination of William, Prince of Orange, surnamed the Silent, was deliberately planned and rewarded, but it did not prevent the ultimate independence of the Netherlands, which it was designed to frustrate. The killing of President Lincoln was an act of madness. Whatever good to the South may have been expected from it—and none could have been reasonably expected—was certainly not realized. On the contrary there is every reason to believe that had Lincoln lived out his second term the South would have derived great advantage, both from his sagacity and his kindness of heart. The killing of Garfield certainly realized none of the expectations cherished by the muddled brain of Guiteau. It may have slightly changed the history of the United States, but not in the way the assassin desired.

But of all assassinations those perpetrated by anarchists are the most foolish, leaving their criminality out of question. They are necessarily so because the whole anarchist propaganda is founded in the wildest unreason. The assassination of Alexander II. removed the Czar who had liberated the Russian serfs. But with anarchists the personality counts for nothing. The hatred for authority strikes blindly and in the dark. It is more irrational than the spring of the rattlesnake, which strikes only when interrupted. The murder of Carnot, a republican president, could not have been rationally expected to effect anything for freedom, or even for the cause of anarchy. The killing of the pious and inoffensive Empress of Austria was quite as unreasonable as it was shocking. Had it been planned to uncover the fatuity and fathomless wickedness of anarchist plots it could not have been better contrived. The assassination of King Humbert last year had the excuse that he was a monarch, but, however bitter may be one's hostility to monarchy, it is easy to see that this killing could not have been expected to do anything to discredit the system, but rather the contrary. The more victims to blind vengeance and insensate hate monarchy can count the stronger it is entrenched in the affection of the people who believe in it. Humbert was succeeded by another king no better than himself and who might easily have been worse. The monarchical principal was not in the least affected by the crime, nor the condition of the Italian people ameliorated in the slightest degree.

Nothing could have been more fatuous than the attempt upon the life of President McKinley. The assassin's statement that he did not like our form of government was foolish to the extreme. Our system of government is in no way connected with the life of the Chief Executive for the time being. Should he die, he would be succeeded by a president with precisely the same powers as his predecessors. The act of Czolgosz may make the situation of his sympathizers more uncomfortable, but it will not contribute to make anybody dissatisfied with our form of government who was not so before. The truth is the opposition of such men is to all government and not to any particular form.—Courier Journal.

Br'er Dickey on Providence.

"De ways er Providence," said brother Dickey, "is past findin' out. WASHINGTON LETTER.
(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12, 1901.

The shooting of President McKinley at Buffalo has been the all-absorbing public topic of the National Capital since Friday last. Happening at a time of political calm and so clearly traceable to the anarchist infatuation of a shiftless, unknown creature, it allowed no space for partisan feeling. Instead the great underlying loyalty and honesty of the American heart came uppermost at once and from every quarter and every shade of true citizenship have come like measures of sorrow, affection and indignation as the incidents of the dastardly deed evoked them.

President McKinley will have the felicity of realizing how great a place he holds in the hearts of his countrymen and that scarcely ever before has one man's misfortune so moved with sympathy the entirety of Christendom.

This assault upon the Chief Magistrate has brought forth a consensus among people and publicists that stern and active legislation must be enacted to suppress and prevent anarchism of the destructive school in the United States. It is all well enough that men oppressed wrongfully in other lands should make America their asylum, but they must not also make it a slaughterhouse. We enthrone in our White House no tyrants that need the swift and bloody medicine of derringer, dagger, or dynamite. Our atmosphere is that of liberty and law and must not be made poisonous by the breaths of those whose tongues and hands are against God, and government and the public good.

The new congress convening in December promises to be one of the liveliest of recent times. The republican scant majority of thirty-nine will have to be kept well within the party corral, if the party program is to be carried forward with celerity and certainty. The democrats will have to keep close watch on the majority and get busy at every possible opportunity. At this next session they must develop the lines on which they will go to the country in 1902 and ask for a majority in the next house of representatives. To win that is now the chief aim of the democratic leaders. With that gained they can make "a rough house," so to speak, for the republicans just ahead of the national campaign of 1904.

Democratic leaders from Virginia visiting Washington report that the new constitution will be submitted to an abridged electorate and adopted, and that the party ticket will be overwhelmingly elected in November. They regard Col. Jayhawker Hoge's candidacy upon the republican ticket for the governorship a fair sign that the republican leaders are only dragging brush over the road to raise a dust. Really there is no hope in Hoge. He has neither the wit of Cameron, nor the tireless tact of Mahone, and the people of Virginia will be slow to take him seriously. His race is stated from the start to be a rag-time rout.

Over in Maryland the republicans are really engaging in a forlorn hope. With Ex-Senator Gorman once more in full command of the democratic forces, and his own candidacy for the United States senate involved in the contest, it is realized that only a miracle of politics can save the day to the republicans. But Mr. Gorman is something of a magician and miracle-worker himself and his followers are offering odds that he will be a hands-down winner of the November stakes.

Interest among calculating democrats is being attracted strongly toward the Pennsylvania situation. Ex Governor Pattison, whose successes against the Quay machine have been three times signal and smashing, has again gone into the field with his coat off and his sleeves rolled up. He is trying heroically to restore harmony, decency and honesty to the party ranks in Philadelphia and the state. If he has not lost all his cunning he will come dangerously near defeating the monster machine of the Quay crowd. If the insurgent republicans should hold out in their present revolt and vote with the democrats the defeat might even now be deemed assured. And if Pattison should succeed, a great big presidential boom will attach itself to his name.

The Schley Board of Inquiry begins its sessions today, and the proceedings will be intensely interesting from the start. No one can question that the navy department crowd is eager to secure a comprehensive finding against Admiral Schley. The idea that they assume the attitude of impartial and dignified public servants seeking only to develop and preserve the truths of a great historic event does not obtain here. On the contrary they obtrude themselves as rabid prosecutors and Admiral Schley is to be forced to prove his innocence of the charges that have been uttered against him. The inquiry will be of world-wide interest.

When the United States supreme court re-assembles it will probably hand down, with its earliest deliverances, the decision on the last of the Porto Rican cases. There are those whose personal relations with members of the court are close who say that whatever was left doubtful by former insular opinions of the court will be made perfectly plain by the forthcoming judgment. It is, in fact, intimated that certain public considerations moved the court not to settle squarely in former decisions, the question whether the constitution follows the flag, ex proprio vigore. But those considerations no longer exist and an open hint is conveyed that the court will now render a judgment to that effect in unmistakable terms.

Foremost men in the democratic management say that no attempt to formulate national issues for the campaign of 1904 will be encouraged for the present. They will await the results of the campaigns now on in Ohio, Maryland, Virginia and Massachusetts. The results in those states may develop valuable data for determining the trend or democratic sentiment among the masses. Another essential preliminary is to whip the republicans in 1902 before the people for the control of the house of congress. After that will be the better time to make up a platform that will reflect democratic opinions and win the united support of those who are antagonistic to the republican program.

Would Expel Wellington.

The Atlanta Journal prints an editorial demanding the expulsion of Senator Wellington from the United States Senate. It also prints telegrams from twenty-three leading southern papers indorsing the proposition to expel Wellington. The editorial says:

"On the evening when President McKinley was shot down and while it was supposed that his death was near at hand, Wellington said to a newspaper reporter: 'McKinley and I are enemies. I have nothing good to say about him, and under the circumstances do not care to say anything bad. I am indifferent to the whole matter.'

"George L. Wellington has placed himself in the category and company of the ruffians who stood about the bullet-in boards in several cities last Friday evening and rejoiced over a deed that shocked the moral sense of civilized mankind. He is less excusable than these comparatively insignificant blackguards, everyone of whom was knocked down or kicked by those who heard his fiendish chuckle. He has branded himself as the apologist of an anarchist and assassination.

"Is the man who could utter that, which Wellington does not deny, a fit person to sit in the highest council of the nation? Is he worthy to be trusted with the affairs that involve the honor and welfare of the country? We think not. What does the United States Senate think about it?

"The Senate should purge itself of Wellington. We hope to see a resolution for his expulsion offered on the first day of the next session, ordinary or extraordinary, and we trust that it will receive the vote of every senator who is qualified to pass upon it."

Make a Note of This.

An Atchison woman has a habit of eating too much, and she has invented a method of knowing when she has had enough and will have her discovery patented. An ingeniously made little alarm bell is made in her corset, and when the pressure from eating amounts to so many pounds to the square inch the alarm is set off and the woman must quit. Sometimes she is in the midst of a juicy steak, or she may be just tasting a delicious dish of ice cream, or she may have just reached her coffee, when the pressure sets the alarm off, but she then quits. When visitors are at the house the alarm startles them a little at first, but they soon get used to the gong. The inventor says her alarm has been of more benefit to her than a score of doctors.—Atchison Globe.

Ten Lost Years

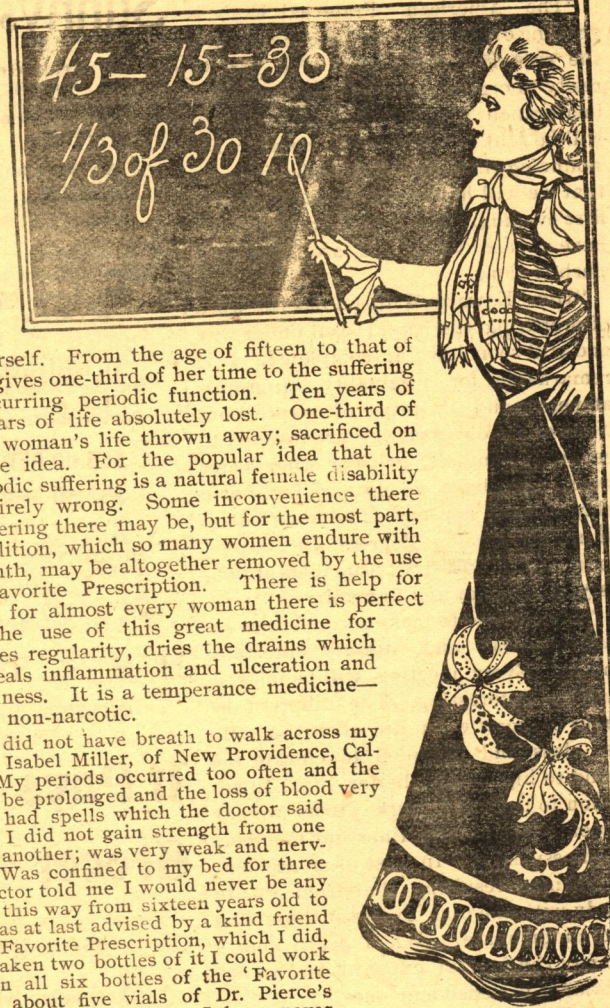

Figure it for yourself. From the age of fifteen to that of forty-five a woman gives one-third of her time to the suffering incident to the recurring periodic function. Ten years of suffering! Ten years of life absolutely lost. One-third of the best part of a woman's life thrown away; sacrificed on the altar of a false idea. For the popular idea that the extent of this periodic suffering is a natural female disability is utterly and entirely wrong. Some inconvenience there must be, some suffering there may be, but for the most part, the miserable condition, which so many women endure with each recurring month, may be altogether removed by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There is help for every woman, and for almost every woman there is perfect health through the use of this great medicine for women. It insures regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is a temperance medicine—non-alcoholic and non-narcotic.

"I was so weak I did not have breath to walk across my room," writes Miss Isabel Miller, of New Providence, Calhoun Co., Ky. "My periods occurred too often and the hemorrhage would be prolonged and the loss of blood very excessive. I also had spells which the doctor said were fainting fits. I did not gain strength from one monthly period to another; was very weak and nervous all the time. Was confined to my bed for three months and the doctor told me I would never be any better. I lived in this way from sixteen years old to twenty-three. I was at last advised by a kind friend to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which I did, and before I had taken two bottles of it I could work all day. I took in all six bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and about five vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. I used no other medicine. I have never had a return of this trouble since."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are small in size, small in dose and the best laxative for woman's use. They do not heget the pill habit.

State Fair Notes.

Dr. T. B. Gunn, secretary, has this to say regarding the State Fair: "We have reduced the prices of admission to the fair and arranged for hauling passengers to and from the grounds for one half the former rates. The commission has done this for the benefit of both Yakima and the State Fair. It is well known that other cities are laying plans to get the fair removed and the people of Yakima must work for retaining this state institution in their midst. In future years it will be one of the greatest places for stock and other exhibitions in the northwest. We must work it up gradually, and much of that can be done by the people of Yakima."

"Visitors have complained of exorbitant charges for being taken to and from the grounds, as at other fairs the expense is never more than ten cents. Hacks can be run to the grounds here for 25 cents the round trip and make the owners ten to twenty dollars per day. We have secured a large number who will carry our banners and haul the people to the grounds for 15 cents and back again for 10 cents. This meets with the general approval of our home people who have to pay for riding to and from the grounds and certainly will be appreciated by visitors."

"We are running excursions from different points at very cheap rates. An excursion from Tacoma and Seattle will be run for only $3.50, including two admissions to the fair. This will bring several thousand people here. They will have to be entertained and furnished lodgings. To do this we have concluded to list every room in the city that may be had during the week. Each person is requested to state the exact charges that will be made and to ask no higher rates. We intend to request every one having beds not to charge more than $1.00 per night. The matter of handling the visitors and assigning rooms, as well as collecting pay for them, will be in the hands of Mr. E. F. Benson and assistants."

"Another reduction we have made is in that of the family ticket. They will be sold this year for $2.50 each, and admit a man and his wife and family with team, during every day of the fair. The commission feels that every family in Yakima county and within a few hours ride of this city, should purchase a season ticket and show their loyalty to the State Fair and the county in which it is located. We believe that many people will come and camp on the grounds this year, and have extended the free use of space for tent and camping privileges. The rush of work will be over by the time the fair begins, which has not been the case in former years, and we have every reason to believe that the people will take a holiday week and spend it at the fair."

"The commission has also decided to give the exhibitions of live stock, on the track, and some of the balloon ascensions in the forenoon this year. Other features will be added to the forenoon exercises and a special effort will be made to get the people to visit the fair during the forenoons. In this connection we have arranged with the ladies of the Catholic church to give meals in the restaurant, which insures good wholesome food for all who will attend, and thus gives them an opportunity of remaining on the grounds throughout the entire day."

The American Fraternal Club.

"The American Fraternal Club is growing every day," says Joel Shomaker, the superior secretary. "We will be ready to organize and institute the Yakima branch within a few days. Cards will be sent to all charter members announcing the date. The indications are that we will have over 200 members the first evening. The people know that we have a good thing and are helping to push it along."

"Hon Edward Whitson has the work of preparing the ritual well under way and will soon have it completed. It is remarkable for originality, appropriateness and beauty of expression. None of the old societies are invaded to get signs, symbols, grips or other secret work. We have no goat riding, horse play or other nonsense in our ceremony of initiation. The degrees are adapted to instruction in the principles of honesty, patriotism and humanity."

"We propose to make our meetings social, musical and literary entertainments. Every meeting will be instructive and interesting. The different degrees of secret work are all of the highest class and intended to elevate the mind to higher and better life. In addition to the club work proper we pay benefits just at the time our members need assistance. In case of an accident or sickness resulting therefrom we are ready with the cash to assist those who are unfortunate. When death comes we pay the funeral expenses and an endowment to dependent ones."

"Our plan for building a home in this city meets with the approval of every person interested in building up Yakima. It will be a perpetual monument to the greatness of our chosen valley and a financial benefit to every man, woman and child in this city and valley. The American Fraternal Club is an assured success at home and abroad and its domains will soon include the United States and Canada."

PLACERS VERY RICH.

Spokane People Believe They Have a Bonanza in Yakima River.

The Spokane Review of last Saturday says:

A Spokane company will develop what is believed to be a most remarkable deposit of placer gold near the village of Thorpe, on the Northern Pacific railway. It has long been known that the Yakima river at that point carried bars of gold bearing sand, but no one knew their richness until an energetic Spokane man investigated the deposits and then gathered in leases for seven miles of the river banks before any of the natives woke to the situation. Sam B. Herron, well known as the general salesman of the United States Marble company of this city, is the man who made the discovery.

It is now a little over six months since Mr. Herron first examined the property. Since that time exhaustive tests have been made and the value of the find has been demonstrated, according to the statements of the parties interested.

"This deposit of placer gold," said Mr. Herron yesterday, "is situated where, in the natural order of things, much gold should be found. The bars are in the Yakima river just below the famous Swauk creek, the Tanum and other streams that drain the east slope of the Cascade range, where many free milling veins are found. Not only are the river bars rich, but there is gold in the dirt far back from the river, where one would never expect to find it.

"One can scarcely take a pan of dirt anywhere in that section without finding colors, and I have never taken a pan from the river bank that has not shown abundant colors. It is not flour gold, as many have always supposed, but is coarse enough to be readily saved. Our tests have proved that we can save the gold and black sand together and can market it at smelters at good profit if we do not care to go to the trouble of separating the gold from the sand. The plans of the company contemplate the early installation of a complete dredger capable of handling sufficient gravel daily to represent large monthly dividends."

The company which has control of the deposits is known as the Aurora Bar Gold Mining company, and is officered as follows: President, R. T. Pettengill; vice president, Sam B. Herron; secretary and general manager, C. E. Mithell; treasurer, W. B. Lottman. J. W. Hill, the general agent of the Northern Pacific, is the additional trustee. For the present the company's office is with the United States Marble company in the Spokane and Eastern block.

E. M. Aldrich, the placer expert, examined the property. In his report he says in part:

"I spent several days on the river and made a thorough test covering several miles. All the ground was tested for a distance of four miles or better, extending from the county bridge across the Yakima river to a point one half mile below Northern Pacific railway bridge No. 104. I was assisted in my test by experienced placer miners. We dug many test pits and carefully sampled every foot of the ground as the pits were sunk, and in no case did we fail to get a fair gold average to every pint of dirt.

"After completing the panning test I had a flume constructed. We weighed and measured different lots of gravel from different sections of the river and ran them through the sluice box, cleaning up the different lots as they were run. With this crude method we obtained the following values per ton of black sand: Assay No. 1, $62; No. 2, $59.40; No. 3, $71; No. 4, $58. The assays were from hit and miss pannings from different parts of the property and by concentration tests from samples of black sand obtained from a given amount of gravel run through the sluice boxes and the sand so tested is, I believe below the average, as the samples were taken at or about the highest stage of water in the river.

"Owing to the large amount of values carried in the black sand and the excessive amount of the latter, it will be necessary to ship the concentrations or sand to a smelter. Freight and treatment would not exceed $8 per ton of concentrates and assays made show that the net value per ton would be about $50.

Quaker Doctors Versus City.

The Quaker doctors sought to enjoin and did obtain a temporary restraining order against the city to prevent it from enforcing its criminal statutes. Under the practice of the United States courts these temporary orders are issued upon a prima facie showing and sufficient bond but in this case as soon as the matter was called to the attention of Judge Hanford that the Circuit court had no jurisdiction he very promptly dissolved the injunction. The city was represented by City Attorney Vestal Snyder and Edward Whitson. The attorneys representing the city received many congratulations from members of the Spokane bar for the able manner in which they presented the matter on behalf of the city. The case involved many nice constitutional and other questions, none of which were decided by Judge Hanford except the one that the complaint did not show upon its face that two thousand dollars was in controversy. In the habeas corpus proceeding Judge Hanford held that the proviso in the city ordinance was void, but inasmuch as the city has passed a new ordinance without this proviso this would appear to eliminate this objection. The city is entitled to its costs which are amply secured by the injunction bond which the doctors were compelled to give before they could get the temporary restraining order.

The plaintiff asked that Mayor Fichter be cited for contempt for disobeying the injunction, but no citation was issued by the court.

Resolution.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Sept. 14th, 1901. WHEREAS, Our beloved Comrade and President has been shot down by an assassin,

RESOLVED, That Meade Post No. 9, Department of Washington and Alaska, Grand Army of the Republic, deplore the foul murder of our beloved Comrade and great President and sympathizes with the loving wife in the loss of a tender husband and the nation in the loss of its greatest and best statesman and President, and this Post denounces in unqualified terms the act of the assassin and all those who sympathize with him and his foul deed and we call upon all legislatures, both state and national, to pass such laws as will suppress anarchy and drive out and keep out anarchists from this country.

Hop Notes.

While there has been considerable apprehension among growers lest pickers would be too scarce, many yards have finished picking, thus turning the workers over to other growers. There is now no fear that any hops will be left in the fields.

The quality generally is regarded by growers as the best ever produced in this section, but it is conceded that the quantity will not be up to the standard of late years.

The only sale reported this week is that of Fechter & Poole, 600 bales at a quoted price of ten cents, to Lachman & Co.

The Moxee company has been shipping a large number of bales to fill an old contract.

The market is of course not yet open, although some growers claim to have refused offers of ten cents.

Picking will be finished much earlier this year than last, the season having opened ten days in advance of the usual time, and as the weather continues to be of the finest Indian summer character little danger exists of an early killing frost.

"In Old Kentucky," which is announced for presentation at the Larson Theater on the evening of October 4th, will be as welcome as the flowers in May. It may truthfully be called a classic. It is a wholesome, healthy type of play. It still has that delicious flavor of Kentucky chivalry, spiced with pretty sentiment, and the rollicking fun of the little darkies. There is the extreme romanticism of the melodramatic school with its love, its pathos and its villainy. Those who have seen it once go again. It is indeed the most diverting play of the day, and its continued success for eight years is not to be wondered at when one considers the variety of incidents with which it abounds.

"A Home-Spun Heart."

This odd title was given to a drama by the popular author of good plays, Mr. Hal Ried, and under date of September 27th will be presented at Larson's Theater with the same strong company of players and the same scenic equipment that is now being used in the Eastern cities, where it is meeting with merited success. The Eastern press, in speaking of the attraction, are doing so in the most kindly and warm praise.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

In Honor of the Dead President Congressman Jones Delivers an Eloquent Eulogy.

In compliance with the proclamations issued by President Roosevelt, Governor Rogers and Mayor Fechter Thursday, was in Yakima as elsewhere, observed as a day of mourning on account of the burial obsequies of President McKinley.

The proclamation issued by the mayor on Tuesday in which the announcement was made that public memorial services would be held at Larson's theater, beginning at 2 p. m. and requesting that all business in the city be suspended between the hours of 12 and 5 p. m. was generally observed and business accordingly was at a stand still.

The memorial services were under the auspices of the G. A. R. post, the commander of which organization Mr. Bissell was master of ceremonies. The seating capacity of the house was taxed to the utmost before the services begun, and hundreds apparently were unable to gain admittance.

The services were opened by the choir, which rendered well that old and familiar hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," followed by scripture reading by Rev. Thompson and prayers by Rev. Wood and Rev. Bartlett.

Hon. W. L. Jones was then presented by the chairman as the orator of the occasion and that gentleman for about 30 minutes held the close attention of his audience. He began his address by apologizing for the use of notes as he could not trust himself to speak on such a sorrowful occasion without them.

The speaker's voice did nearly fail him as he dwelt on the many noble and lovable traits of the murdered president and that his audience was in sympathy with him was evidenced by the fact that there was scarcely a dry eye in the house. Several episodes that had come under the speaker's observation while in Washington, illustrating Mr. McKinley's kindness of heart were narrated.

Mr. Jones then reviewed briefly the life and public services of the illustrious dead. As soldier, congressman, governor and president William McKinley's watch-word always was duty and fidelity to the people. As the highest executive officer of the country he had passed through many trying ordeals and had met every fresh difficulty and solved it in a statesmanlike manner. Mr. McKinley, the speaker prophesied, would rank in history with Washington and Lincoln. He had left behind him a great and growing fame and an impress on the history of his country that would endure for centuries.

The private life of the dead statesman was feelingly referred to. The tender and unselfish care given his mother and invalid wife showed him to be an inherently good man. He had shown the world how to live and he had shown it how to die.

The speech of Congressman Jones in short was a beautiful and well prepared eulogy of the martyred president and was well received by the large audience.

Dr. W. D. Hall, a veterinary surgeon, from St. Paul, Minn., arrived in the city this week and will make his residence here in the future. Anyone desiring his services will find him at 203 West Yakima avenue, or at the Central hotel. 51-3t

ANOTHER SHOOTING SCRAPE.

Fortunate Outcome of a Duel Between Two Young Bloods.

James Peaslee and Henry Waller were arrested last Monday for indulging in unwonted gun-practice at Sanburg's saloon in the small hours of the morning. The case was tried at the court house before Justice Taggard, in the presence of a large crowd of interesting spectators. Peaslee had received two bullets, one in the neck, which was prevented from entering by the fact that it struck a heavy silk handkerchief, and another in the fleshy part of the hip. A half breed by-stander named Stuart Brown, who hails from The Dalles, got quite a severe wound in the left leg above the knee.

The parties to the shooting are both young, neither appearing to have attained man's estate, and therefore probably didn't know any better, as both were shown to have been intoxicated.

Judge Taggard, in order to impress a lesson fined, Waller $50 and costs, and Peaslee $50 with trimmings. The judge was emphatic in his instruction to the culprits that it should not occur again.

Dr. Gunn, railroad surgeon for this division, was telegraphed to meet the trains here and take charge of an old man, a passenger who had been injured in the smash-up. At this time it is not possible to report the extent of the injury, though it is reported as not very serious.

"In Old Kentucky."

The coming to this city of "In Old Kentucky" is announced for an early date and carries with it the assurance of an event of annual recurrence to which theater-goers always look forward with much interest. The American stage has fostered but few productions of the "live-forever" kind, and of these "In Old Kentucky" is perhaps the most conspicuous. The popularity of this play has been attributed to a variety of causes—notably, its parentage of the now famous band of diminutive darkies, whose music and mirth have become the signal for immeasurable joy from one end of the country to the other. The skillfully manipulated horse-race has also been declared the element of striking merit in the production. The best judges of the drama, however, pronounce these theories untenable, because features of an almost identical nature have utterly failed to bring prosperity to a half-dozen plays designed to surreptitiously reap some of the golden harvest of "In Old Kentucky." The intense human interest sustained throughout the story, and its wholesome, natural tone, are the combined elements which appeal so strongly to the American people. Americans have become familiar with phases of life in the famous bluegrass region of Kentucky through song and story dating back many years, and it is the fidelity with which Kentucky life is portrayed, and the perfect dovetailing of the exciting incidents and thrilling features, that render the play a dramatic masterpiece. Manager Jacob Litt has provided a complete new scenic equipment for this season's tour, and the favorite original cast is retained. The date secured by Manager Fournier is October 4th, in Fair week.

Ordinance No. 316.

An ordinance in relation to the sale and disposal of drugs, medicines and nostrums and giving shows and exhibitions in connection therewith, where an admission is charged, or where the same are free, and providing a penalty for the violation thereof within the city limits of the City of North Yakima.

The City Council of the City of North Yakima do ordain as follows:

Section 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person, persons, corporation, company or aggregation of people within the city limits of the City of North Yakima for the purpose of advertising, selling or giving away any drugs, medicines, nostrums or any other substance for the cure or pretended cure of any disease or ailment, to give any public exhibition in any hall or building, or tent, upon any of the streets or alleys, or vacant lots or in the open or elsewhere or in any place within the limits of the City of North Yakima, whether admission to such performances or exhibitions be free or not; or for any person, persons, company or corporation or aggregation of people by proclamation, public outcry, auction or theatrical performance or show of any kind in any hall or building or tent, or upon any of the streets or alleys, or vacant lots in the open, or elsewhere at any place within said city of North Yakima, to sell, barter or give away or offer to sell, barter or give away any drug, medicine, nostrum or any other substance for the cure or pretended cure of any disease or ailment until such person, persons, company, corporation or aggregation of people shall have first procured a city license therefor in manner provided by the ordinances of said city, for which license there shall be paid the sum of Twenty-Five Dollars for each day or part of a day or Four Hundred Dollars for Three Months.

Section 2. All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed; provided, that such repeal shall not affect any suit, action or prosecution pending for the violation of any existing ordinance, or any suit, action or prosecution to be hereafter commenced for the violation of any existing ordinance prior to the time this ordinance takes effect, but such existing ordinance shall remain in full force and effect for the purpose of commencing and prosecuting to final judgment any suit, action or prosecution for a violation of any such existing ordinance, committed prior to the time this ordinance takes effect.

Section 3. Each and every person violating the foregoing ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than Fifty nor more than One Hundred Dollars; and each and every violation thereof by sale or otherwise shall be deemed a separate offense.

Section 4. This ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage, approval and publication.

Passed the council Sept. 16th, 1901; approved Sept. 16th, 1901. O. A. FECHTER, Mayor.
Attest: H. B. DOUST, City Clerk.

Call for Warrants—Current Expense Fund.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned city treasurer of the city of North Yakima, Wash., will pay on demand, all warrants drawn on the current expense fund of said city beginning with warrant 6628 dated May 23rd, 1901, up to and including warrant 6737 dated July 2, 1901, and that interest will cease on said warrants Sept. 15, 1901.
Dated Sept. 7th, 1901.

W. L. LEMON,
City treasurer of the city of North Yakima, Washington.

has been called to the attention of the public, however, is not the fact that he is scarcely a Union League man, in fact that causes apprehension in a certain class of people. He possesses a very large independence and is not to stand bossing. He will follow in the footsteps of McKinley and the fact of his political rank.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that the city of North Yakima will let a contract for grading, curbing, guttering and macadamizing First street from the south line of A street to the north line of Chestnut street, in said city.

Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the city clerk of said city.

Sealed proposals for the contract for the above proposed improvement will be received by the city clerk up to the time the bids are opened, to-wit: on the 7th day of October, 1901, at 7:30 o'clock p. m.

All bidders will be required to deposit with their bids a certified check for 100 dollars on some bank in the city of North Yakima, payable to the order of the city treasurer, as security that said bidder will enter into a contract with said city in the manner provided by law and the ordinances of said city in case such contract is awarded to him. The contractor will be required to enter into a contract and give a bond with approved sureties, as required by laws of 1897, page 57, within three days after notice from the city clerk that the contract has been awarded to him.

That the contractor will be allowed the free use of the rock crusher and roller owned by the city for said contract.

The city council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dr. E. E. Heg, formerly a well known physician of North Yakima, but now practicing his profession in Seattle, arrived here last Friday, having been called in consultation over the sick bed of Mrs. Dr. Gordon.

Mrs. Mary H. Cody, of Memphis, Mo., accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Cox, of Medical Lake, arrived Saturday. Mrs. Cody will make her home here in the future with her son Lee. She is at present the guest of her daughter, Mrs. F. H. Hunter.

Rev. P. B. Jackson last Sunday tendered his resignation as pastor of the Congregational church, on account of ill-health. He will shortly leave with his family for Montana, where he has a stock ranch and hopes by plenty of outdoor exercise to restore his physical strength.

A Night Of Terror

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning" writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at W. E. Ayre's drug store.
