OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

For President,
WM. JENNINGS BRYAN.

For Vice-President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON.

THE Chinese puzzle is just now engrossing the attention not only of the politicians but of all thinking people of the entire civilized world. Even the wisacres of the different governments are nonplussed and are at a loss to know what turn affairs will take. This state of things is due not alone to the darkness and mystery which have thus far shrouded the acts and intentions of the "Boxers" toward foreigners but to the peculiar and tricky diplomacy of the Chinese government itself, which is now generally believed to have assented to, even if not primarily guilty of the terrible massacre of legationists said to have taken place at Peking during the past month. The great powers whose ministers and missionaries were thus ruthlessly sacrificed, are at last aroused from their lethargy and policy of inaction and are rapidly preparing for war. Assuming that the invasion of China by the international forces is conducted with ability and dispatch there can be but one result in the long run and that will be the defeat and humiliation of the Chinese and the subsequent dismemberment of their ancient empire and its effacement from the map. This result, however, is not likely to be brought about without a tremendous loss of life and treasure, for the ignorant and fanatical Chinese when compelled will doubtless fight to the last ditch in defence of their homes and ancient form of civilization and after all who can blame them for doing so. This condition of affairs has been forced upon them by the gradual encroachment upon their soil and customs by the western nations. The powers, of course, are not viewing the matter from either a sentimental or the Chinese standpoint. The massacre, if it really has occurred, will furnish them the needed pretext if any were wanting to invade China and to divide and parcel out her territory among themselves. But the momentous period in the world's history will not have arrived until the time for such division has come. The mutual jealousies between the participants in the spoliation may then be confidently depended upon to precipitate the bloodiest and most cruel war of modern times.

JUSTICE DAVID J. BREWER (republican) of the United States Supreme court writes as follows in the New York World: "The Caesars saw the spears of their victorious legions flashing in the sunlight of every known land, and in their triumphant return they brought with them the accumulated wealth of all the nations they had subdued. The splendor of imperial Rome outshone the world, but the wealth thus obtained without value given undermined the empire, and the glory of Rome is simply a memory. Napoleon beheld the shining star of destiny; and then? Does human nature change through the centuries? We stand today facing the temptation which comes from the possibility of rapidly accumulated wealth. What right have we to anticipate that the same result will not follow if we pursue the same course of taking what we have not fully earned?

IF the white races conquer China and reduce her people to a state of vassalage the time may come, and that too within the life of the present generation when the western races will repent in sackcloth and ashes for ever having aroused her from her sleep of centuries. The development of modern industry among the myriad hosts that compose the "celestial" empire may revolutionize the balance of the world as well as China itself. The people of China, it must be remembered, are the best of imitators and the vast quantity of cheap labor obtainable there will induce money-grubbing Americans and Europeans to establish vast manufacturing enterprises there with the product of which they might well expect to strangle all competition. Thus old China may in time hope to avenge herself against her destroyers.

THE result of the republican primaries in King county on Monday leaves little doubt as to the nomination of Ex-Senator Frink of Seattle for the office of governor. The fight just ended for the control of the primaries between the Frink and Humes factions was the bitterest and most savage contest that has ever taken place in the political history of the state and besides which the Hart-Godwin onset of last spring was like a Sunday school compared with a bull fight. Frink's victory over Humes is really a victory of John L. Wilson over Levi Ankeny and indicates that the unconquerable little boss from Spokane will continue to dominate republican politics in the state. Many of the small fry politicians who were damning him a few weeks ago because they thought he was a loser are now scrambling for seats on his band wagon.

OFFICIAL calls appear elsewhere in this paper for the assembling of democratic and populist county conventions and primaries. The conventions of both parties will meet in this city on Saturday, August 18th. The democratic primaries will be held on Saturday the 11th, between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock p. m., while those of the populists will convene during the afternoon of the 14th. It is to be hoped that there will be a good turnout at both primaries and conventions, as the work of the conventions, which of course includes the nomination of a full county ticket is extremely important. If the voters take an active interest in these meetings they will be much more likely to see a satisfactory ticket nominated than if they ignore their plain duty to attend.

THE National Democrat is furnishing its readers weekly with a long list of the names of prominent German-American voters who have recently thrown off all allegiance to the republican party and have declared their intention of supporting Mr. Bryan for the presidency. In nearly every instance the reason given for their conversion to democracy is their unyielding opposition to imperialism and militarism as well as their disgust with the whole foreign policy of the McKinley government which they declare to be weak and vacillating and calculated to tie up our vigorous young giant of a nation to the apron strings of Great Britain. This policy the average voter of German extraction will refuse to countenance even though he is compelled to sever political associations of a lifetime.

COL. SAM PERKINS, the hustling young proprietor of the Tacoma News, recently purchased that ancient landmark, the Tacoma Ledger, and lo what a change there is for the better in the old lady's looks. The Ledger's improved appearance and more virtuous editorial policy betokens more prosperous times ahead, especially so should its new patron saint, Senator Wilson, be able to again dominate state politics. The colonel himself with his two papers, one republican and the other democratic, ought now to cut a pretty wide swath since he will be able to catch all the politicians both going and coming.

A LARGE proportion of North Yakima's population is just now either engaged in disporting itself at the seashore or in the nearby mountains, while the remainder find it necessary to stay at home and "sweat it out," especially the poor devil of a newspaper man whose business is unfortunately of such a nature that it will not permit him to run away from it.

TWELVE years ago in the political campaign of that year we heard a great deal about "grandpa's hat," but this year public attention seems to be riveted on "Teddy's hat" and not so much either on account of there being anything so very remarkable about the candidate's headgear as it is the disposition of its owner to talk through it.

THE Republic bitterly arraigns the local correspondent of the Spokane Review for misrepresentation. Misrepresentation is it? Well then what is the matter with the local reporter of the Tacoma Ledger?

A GAY DECEIVER

Another Case of Misplaced Affection—A Bitter Sequel to a Happy Wedding.

The people of this community were astounded and indignant early this week on learning that Mrs. Harry Graham, formerly Miss Gertrude Morrison, the bride of a fortnight, had been basely deserted at Seattle by the miserable wretch whom she had recently married and to make matters worse the unfortunate young woman was under arrest in that city under a charge of having procured money under false pretenses.

As near as could be learned the whole story is as follows:

Several weeks ago Miss Gertrude the pretty 20 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Morrison, of the Wide Hollow, while visiting in Spokane met a young man who called himself Harry H. Graham and the acquaintance thus formed it seemed soon ripened into a warm affection at least on the young lady's part. Graham, who professed to be a shoe salesman, of San Francisco, taking a lay off for his health, was very smooth and affable in his manners and well calculated to win the confidence and love of a young woman. Graham is said to have proposed immediate marriage at Spokane, but at this the girl demurred and insisted on the marriage being celebrated under the parental roof in the good old fashioned way. So the happy couple hid themselves hither and the marriage took place at the girl's home a few miles west of town on the 18th of last month.

A few days subsequent to the wedding Graham claimed to be extremely ill and in order that he might have the best attention his wife had him removed to the hospital in this city, where he was carefully nursed. Here he told his wife one day that he had $500 on deposit in a Spokane bank and that for her to draw a check for $100, sign his name to the same and present it to one of the local banks for payment. The money he said would be needed to pay their way to San Francisco, which place they purposed starting for. The young woman did as requested and by endorsing the check received the cash upon it at the First National bank of this city.

On Sunday morning the couple left for Seattle, where they said they expected to take a boat for Frisco. At Seattle Graham took his bride to the Ranier Grand hotel and then it seems lost no time in deserting her. His wife after waiting patiently for his return reported his disappearance to the police, who searched the city in order to locate the fleeing wretch.

On Monday the check for $100 came back from Spokane, "dishonored" and the officials of the local institution dumfounded at this turn of affairs lost no time in having a warrant issued for the arrest of both Graham and his wife and forwarding the same to Seattle.

The sheriff of King county on the information from here, immediately placed the young woman under arrest and has since been on the lookout for the miscreant Graham. Sheriff Tucker went over on Tuesday to bring the injured wife home.

Mrs. Graham telegraphed her unfortunate predicament to her kind old father, Mr. Morrison, and he straight-

A BIG RATIFICATION

Of the Nomination of Bryan and Stevenson.

The ratification of the nomination of Bryan and Stevenson at Larson's theater on last Saturday evening was an unqualified success although a number of causes operated against the success of the undertaking, chief among which was the extremely hot weather and the fact that so many people were out of the city.

The committee in charge of the meeting too, had a hard time in securing speakers as two of the gentlemen originally secured for the occasion were obliged to cancel the engagement and as may be readily imagined it was extremely difficult to secure suitable substitutes at the eleventh hour.

Three well known fusion orators were on hand, however, on Saturday evening, namely: Fred Rice Rowell, of Seattle, Judge Richard Windsor, of the same city and J. H. (Farmer) Todd, of Mason county.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 8:30 o'clock by Hon. E. B. Preble, who acted as chairman, and made a ringing and eloquent introductory speech. Attorney Rowell was the first speaker of the evening. He devoted his time mainly to thoroughly roasting the foreign policy of the administration particularly with reference to the Philippines. He fittingly extolled the Kansas City platform and paid a high tribute to the character of the democratic nominees.

Judge Windsor was the next speaker and occupied the stage for over an hour in delivering his masterly address on fundamental questions of government.

"Farmer" Todd then followed and in his humorous and inimitable fashion kept his audience in a roar for a half hour. The "farmer" under the cover of his trite expressions dealt the republicans some terrible blows especially in reference to their policy of empire. At the conclusion of Mr. Todd's speech he was roundly cheered.

About 11 p. m. the meeting broke up the people going to their homes with the almost universal feeling that the evening had been well and profitably spent notwithstanding the discomfort they experienced on account of the excessive heat.

way came to the city and settled with the bank and advised his daughter by wire to come back home.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the unfortunate young woman and her family. Yakima people are a unit in expressing the hope that the miserable wretch of a runaway husband may be caught and justly dealt with for his crime.

The young woman returned home on Thursday in company with Sheriff Tucker. The sheriff on being questioned stated that Graham had not yet been apprehended, although a strict search was being made for him throughout Seattle and the sound country.

Mr. Morrison met his daughter at the train and took her home.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Shardlow this week joined the Yakima colony of pleasure seekers at Westport.

W. J. Hackett, of the Ahtanum, received some painful injuries recently through a runaway team.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Braden died on Saturday and was buried on the following day.

J. J. Wiley has returned from Okanogan county, where he has been for sometime looking after his cattle.

H. M. Gilbert, the prosperous rancher of Nob Hill and Toppenish, is on the Sound this week marketing his products.

Earl Watt and wife left on Wednesday for the former's old home at Forest Grove, Ore., where Mrs. Watt will remain for several weeks.

J. T. Stewart, the Second street merchant this week sold out his stock to R. M. Hart, a new comer, who expects to continue the business.

Dr. Gordon was hurriedly summoned to Cowichie last week to dress the wounds of members of the Allen family. The accident occurred through a runaway as the Allens were driving to town.

One of Sinclair's ice teams got scared about noon on Tuesday and run down the avenue pellmell narrowly avoiding the sidewalk. They were finally stopped in the north end of town, but not until after the heavy wagon tongue had been practically demolished.

The board of county commissioners will on Monday next begin its sittings as a board of equalization. All persons who think that they have reason to feel dissatisfied with their assessment should make it a point to attend and enter their complaint or otherwise hold their peace—and as a consequence "take their medicine."

Charles O'Connor, a drunken hobo savagely beat a young squaw on First street last Monday. Constable Paul, who was an eye witness, attempted to arrest the swarthy hobo, but in the effort was knocked as "flat as a flitter" to use the expression of a bystander. Officer Mulligan soon appeared and with Mr. Paul's assistance finally locked the bad man up in the calaboose, but not until after the former had had a sharp tussle with him. Justice Taggard gave O'Connor $25 and costs the next day, in default of which he is doing penance at the county jail.

H. J. Spratt, the well known well borer, of the Moxee, was in town on Saturday. Mr. Spratt is now engaged in boring a well for John P. Clerf at Warm Springs, ten miles east of Ellensburg. He stated that at a depth of 47 feet water had been struck which arose to within four feet of the surface, which fact Mr. Spratt thinks gives ample assurance of a splendid flow when greater depth has been attained. Mr. Spratt's success thus far in the effort to procure water has made the land in that neighborhood heretofore regarded as practically worthless, very much sought after.

Call for a Democratic County Convention and Primaries.

In accordance with a resolution duly passed at a regularly called meeting of the democratic central committee of Yakima county, a convention of the democratic party is hereby called to meet in the city of North Yakima on Saturday the 18th day of August, 1900, at the hour of 11 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing eleven (11) delegates and eleven (11) alternates to the democratic state convention called to meet in the city of Seattle August 27th. It will be the further duty of said convention to place in nomination candidates for the various county offices, to wit:

Representative, sheriff, auditor, treasurer, clerk, assessor, attorney, surveyor, coroner, school superintendent and commissioners for second and third districts. It will also be the duty of said convention to select a county central committee to serve for the ensuing two years.

The central committee further directed that primaries should be called to meet at the usual polling places in the different precincts throughout the county for the election of delegates to the said convention, between the hours of 7 to 9 p. m. on Saturday, August 11.

All persons desiring to affiliate with the democratic party for the election of Wm. Jennings Bryan are cordially invited to participate in said primaries.

The various precincts are entitled to the following representation:

THE NEW CANAL

Nelson Rich Talks About His Proposed System Near the Mouth of the River.

Nelson Rich was in town on Monday and informed THE DEMOCRAT that he proposed to begin construction work on his new irrigating system at the mouth of the river right after harvest, when more help will be available.

The preliminary surveys have all been finished as well as the cross sectioning over the most of the proposed route which work has been under the supervision of Capt. Kingsbury of this city. The intake of the new canal will be at a point on the Yakima river a few miles above Kennewick and the water will be conducted through the main ditch a distance of eight miles, where it will be divided into two branches the main canal extending up the Columbia river to White Bluffs, and the other extending down the Columbia covering some three or four thousand acres of choice land between the two rivers.

The main canal will be 24 feet in width at the water level and 12 feet on the bottom, which will enable it to carry water enough, Mr. Rich says, to thoroughly irrigate about 12,000 acres of land, all of which is of the best quality, capable when furnished with water to grow almost any kind of a crop. Mr. Rich has had the construction of this canal in mind for years, has given it the closest study and naturally feels enthusiastic over his great undertaking. Where now he says is but a bleak and barren wilderness will in a few years be a land of plenty. A place where the homeless may find homes.

A United Party.

When Mr. Bryan took the field four years ago he had on his shoulders the great work of reorganizing the party and making its strength effective. This is what his wonderful canvass of that campaign meant. In a large part of the country he was deserted by the democratic press, and in the great states the organization was a mere pretense, doing nothing for the cause of the candidate. He has not to do over again in 1900 the work he so nobly and splendidly performed in 1896. That work is done. He now starts where he left off in the last campaign. He is backed by a united party, never in more aggressive form and never so determined to achieve victory, if victory is possible, or can be achieved through well directed and earnest effort. With all disadvantages against him in 1896 he has now all that could be reasonably hoped for for at the outset of the campaign in his favor. In 1896 he polled 6,500,000 votes and had a large majority of the native born white voters, coming within 20,000 voters of an election, if there had been changes to that extent in six states. He accomplished this under such obstacles and discouragements as never before faced a candidate for the presidency. With this record, what may not be expected when everything is favorable? We believe those who subscribe to the Kansas City platform and believe in Bryan today constitute a majority of the American electorate. The reunited democracy should go forth to certain victory.—Pittsburg Post.

State Fair Notes.

The state fair commission has sent out over 2,500 copies of the 1900 premium lists, to prospective exhibitors and visitors in Washington and neighboring states. The demand for these lists has been greater than ever before, indicating the increased interest taken in the fair. As an illustration of where premium lists go the commission has mailed copies to 350 poultrymen in Washington alone and nearly half that number to breeders in Oregon and California. The poultry and pet stock show will certainly be far ahead of anything ever held on the grounds. Over 250 premium lists have been sent to dairymen, creamery and cheesemen in this state, and many more to those outside. The sheep, swine, cattle and horse owners number more than the other classes, and lists have been sent to them in every state in the northwest. The farmers of Yakima county and the merchants of this city have been given copies, and every prominent newspaper in the state has a copy.

The secretary has received notices from many who contemplate making exhibits, that they would be on hand. John Sparks, of Reno, Nevada, the well known breeder of Hereford cattle, has engaged stalls for a carload of the white-faces. Parlin and Orendorff of Portland, the great western manufacturers of agricultural implements, with factory at Canton, Ill., will have the finest exhibit in their line ever put in the machinery hall. They offer a fine Canton disc harrow for the best display of farm products, including fruits, vegetables and cereals made by a general farmer. This is an implement worth $45.00, and one that should be owned by every farmer. The people who had stands and shows on the fair grounds last year realize that the prospects are so much brighter and have offered higher prices for the same concessions. Additional attractions have been secured and arrangements are about perfected for several novelty features in theatrical lines.

What a Woman Needs.

In the preparation of this article we made many examinations and investigations of the different methods of treatment and remedies for all the ills so common to the female sex, and our investigation has brought forth the fact that nothing proves so uniformly successful in restoring health and happiness to worn out women as the "Viavi Treatment," and we also found that this was the opinion of the most careful and scientific medical men of this country. This system of treatment has been remarkably successful in all cases of chronic diseases peculiar to women. No more trouble, misery, and suffering are among the speedy results after its use, as it certainly represents the latest and best treatment for all complaints of women's diseases. It has been proven by years of success and the testimony of thousands of ladies, including the highest and most noted of the women of the United States and England, who have been restored to health and the enjoyment of life by reason of "Viavi Treatment" even after all other methods of treatment had been tried and found wanting. The "Viavi remedies" are composed entirely of vegetable ingredients, and are manufactured under conditions of perfect cleanliness. Upon entering the system it supplies at once a clean, wholesome food to the muscular tissues and nervous fibres. It makes the circulation full and vigorous, and in this way enables the veins to carry to the organs of elimination all the impurities which it is their function to remove from the body. It acts as a prompt specific for all nervous and other troubles common to women, including irregularities, prostration, headache, anemia, palpitation of the heart and the thousand and one ills peculiar to the sex.—Extract from the National Health Journal.

All citizens who will be voters within the state at the general election to be held on November 6, 1900, who will pledge their support to Bryan and Stevenson at said election, regardless of past party affiliations, are invited to participate in the selection of delegates to said convention.

It is recommended that county convention to select candidates in joint judicial and joint senatorial districts shall be held, or whether the delegates selected to attend the state convention shall constitute such delegates and make such nominations at said state convention.

It is also recommended that primaries to select delegates to county conventions be held on Tuesday, August 14, 1900, and the county conventions be held on Saturday, August 18, 1900.

If not otherwise ordered by county committees, it is recommended that mass county conventions be held at 1 o'clock p. m. on Saturday, August 18, 1900, at the county seats of the respective counties, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the state convention.

By order of the democratic state central committee. THOS. MALONEY, Chairman.

C. H. GODDARD, Secretary.

Dated at Seattle, July 16, 1900.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Mauchester, Mich., says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. It is a Godsend to weak, sickly, run-down people. Cure guaranteed. Only 50c. Sold by Quigg & Ayres.

Our White Elephant.

The United States declared and waged the Spanish war for the single purpose, solemnly avowed to the world, of emancipating Cuba from oppression and giving its people the blessing of free and independent government.

Two years after its close is presented the spectacle of the victor grasping at spoils of conquest—holding the gem of the Antilles in a state of vassalage, wrangling over the administration of Porto Rico, and still pouring out blood and treasure in a struggle to subjugate 10,000,000 Malays on the other side of the globe.

Under the misleading cry of expansion the government has set out upon the highway of imperialism as perilous as it is foreign to the traditions and principles of the nation. Contrary to these, it is seeking to force the annexation of a far eastern archipelago and to impose upon its people at the cannon's mouth a sovereignty against which they rebel.

Thus do the Filipinos—whose highest aspiration now, as when under the Spanish yoke, is liberty—find in the United States an enemy as relentless as Spain to force its government upon them in violation of the boasted American principle that the consent of the governed is the corner stone of republican government.

What is the result? The war is still on, an American army is in the field ten thousand miles away, the Philippine problem yet presses for solution; we still have a white elephant on our hands. —New York Herald.

The Uncivilized Tagal.

An American military officer in the Philippines has been convicted and sentenced to be reprimanded for conniving at the looting by his men of Filipino homes. The articles taken from these "naked savages," as the imperialist papers delight in describing the Filipinos, were such things as one silver watch, two hypodermic syringes, one diamond glass cutter, one bugle in leather case, one lot of clothing, three canes with silver heads, one box canned goods, two bottles of wine, two bottles of rum, one double-barrel shotgun, one parasol and one lot of coins. The convicted officer must have been surprised when in the formal reprimand he was advised that the army is in the Philippines to protect, not to despoil. As a rational being he must have observed that the army is there to do on a large scale what he allowed his men to do on a small one.—The National Democrat.

The Canker Worm.

The canker worm has in some seasons done much harm to apple trees, and when its ravages have been unchecked for two or three years it has even killed the trees. There are two kinds of canker worms—one form deposits its eggs during October and November upon the twigs of the apple trees, while the other appears during warm spells in late winter and early spring. The female moths are wingless, and as they have passed their pupal form in the ground the only way they can reach the branches is by crawling up the trunks of the trees. Some endeavor to trap the moths as they ascend the trees by placing bands of paper about the trunk and smearing them with printers' ink or tar. Others use various other bands and traps, but to be effectual they must be applied before the moths ascend the tree and must be kept in a condition to act as a barrier whenever the ground is not frozen from October to May. As this is a serious task and as, even at the best, some of the insects may evade the traps, the principal reliance is upon persons spraying with arsenites.

On a Fretty Face

Glasses are often an improvement—always so on the face of one who really needs them. They drive away that squinting, drawn, unnatural expression seen in defective eyes.

The old style, heavy bowed, ill-fitting and ill-looking spectacles, fitted by one's self or incompetents, have given people the idea that glasses detract from one's appearance. Our light, strong, serviceable glasses enhance rather than spoil the looks of the wearer. Eye defects a specialty.

Vampires Not Bloodsuckers.

Mr. James Rhen, who is engaged in a special study of bats, says that it is a fallacy that the vampire is a blood-sucker. Travelers and story writers are responsible for the story of the terrible bloodsucking vampire bats of South America. Nearly all general writers on this subject agree with them as to its criminal record, and they all concur in laying the blame on a large grotesque looking bat with an enormous leaf nose, the Vampyrus spectrum. This bat is common in South and Central America and, from his great size, being about two feet across the outspread wings, is a suggestive and repulsive enough object to impute the blood loving habit to.

As a matter of fact, this is a somewhat useful animal and is totally innocent of these charges, the bloodsuckers being two much smaller and rarer bats. The front teeth of these two latter are enormous lancets occupying over half the tooth row of the animals and possessing very sharp edges, which can easily penetrate the human skin. The teeth of the big vampire, on the other hand, are simply adapted for a diet of insects and fruit. The true bloodsucking bats are much rarer than the vampire.—Philadelphia Record.

Home Life in Porto Rico.

To one unaccustomed to tropical conditions the furnishing of the Porto Rican home would at first sight seem meager, but it is quite ample. A short residence will demonstrate that nearly 500 years of experience with the unpleasant features of life in the West Indies have been crowned by a survival of the fittest in house furnishing as in other matters.

Austrian bent wood furniture and also wickerwork and willow ware constitute the main equipment of the parlors and living rooms. Upholstered furniture is unknown and undesired, little or no attempt being made at decoration except in the matter of embroidery and fine handmade lace work. Hundreds of yards of crochet work are used in the embellishment of a single canopied bed. This work is the chief delight of the Porto Rican housewife.

The walls are for the most part bare, but here and there a painting of merit may be seen. The sofa pillow is the one great feature of the home. It is everywhere, in every conceivable size, shape and material. Ferns of gigantic size and exquisite formation, as well as broad spreading palm leaves, are used to festoon the walls and arched doorways. Cut fresh from day to day, they render the dark, cool rooms inviting and attractive. Potted tropical plants in great variety abound within and without the house.—Harper's Bazar.

A Reliable Cowcatcher.

By this whimsical incident the Chicago News reminds us that in real life as well as in the dictionary words have more than one meaning:

"Pardon me," said the tourist as he gazed at the country's first locomotive, "but why is that lasso hanging under the smokestack?"

"That," responded Amber Pete, acting engineer, "is the cowcatcher. There was an iron concern that came with the engine, but the boys didn't exactly understand how it could catch a cow, so they unscrewed it and put on one that they knew something about. It's the best cowcatcher this side of Denver too."

Lost No Time.

Parke—I told my wife she could sell if she desired the furniture that had become too bad for use.

Lane—She was prompt to take the hint, was she?

Parke (sadly)—Was she? There isn't a thing left.—Harper's Bazar.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Written by a Soldier Boy Who Tells the Truth About Matters.

One of the best descriptions of the Philippines comes in a letter written by Wm. Talbert, a Pittsburg boy, who is at present in the American army, fighting in the vicinity of Calasio. The letter is written to his mother, Mrs. Josephine Talbert. He says:

"The Philippine Islands are a bunch of trouble gathered upon the western horizon of civilization. They are bounded on the west by hoodooism and smugglers on the north by rocks and destruction; on the east by typhoons and monsoons, and on the south by cannibals and earthquakes. The climate is a deceptive combination of changes, well adapted to raising cane. The soil is very fertile, and large crops of insurrections and treachery are produced. The inhabitants are very industrious; their chief occupations are trench building and the making of bolos. Their houses are made chiefly of bamboo and landscape. Filipino marriages are very impressive, especially wherein the wife is given the privilege of doing as much work as her husband desires.

"The chief amusements are cockfighting and stealing. The principal diets are fried rice, boiled rice, stewed rice and rice. The animal of burden is the caribou, and should a hundred mile journey be undertaken with the animal, the driver would die of old age before reaching his destination. Manila is the capital and principal city. It is noted for its large number of saloons and Chinamen. The principal exports of the islands are rice, hemp and war bulletins; Imports, American soldiers, arms and ammunition. Malaria fever is so prevalent that on numerous occasions the islands have been shaken as if with a chill. Communications have been established between the islands by substituting the mosquito for the carrier pigeon, the mosquito being larger and better able to stand the long journeys. The letter closes with a few choice and terse definitions for some of the terms used in connection with the islands as follows:

"The Philippines—An appropriate present for a deadly enemy.
"The natives—Friends at the point of the gun.
"The climate—Pleasant and healthful for mosquitos, ants, lizards, bats, snakes, tarantulas, roaches, scorpions, centipedes and alligators.
"Soil—Adapted for raising foul aromas and breeding disease."—Centralia News.

Jefferson's Views.

"Our greediness for wealth and fantastical expenses have degraded the minds of our maritime citizens. These are the peculiar views of commerce.

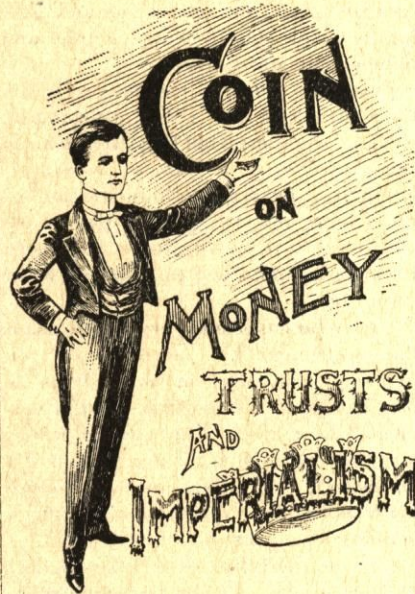

"That we should wish to see the people of other countries free is as natural and at least as justifiable as that one king should wish to see kings of other countries maintained in their despotism.

"The day is not distant when we may formally require a meridian of partition through the ocean which separates the two hemispheres, on the hither side of which no European gun shall ever be heard, nor an American on the other; and when, during the rage of the eternal wars of Europe, the lion and the lamb, within our regions, shall lie down together in peace."—Thomas Jefferson.

A Text Book for the Campaign of 1900

BY W. H. HARVEY,

Author of "Coin's Financial School."

This Book is Now Having a Wonderful Circulation.

The retail price is 25 cents. In size it is 35 pages larger than "Coin's Financial School," profusely illustrated, with best paper, enameled cover in two colors. Its treatment of the subjects of Money, Trusts and Imperialism is exhaustive and yet simple and plain as A B C's. It will educate and arouse the American people to a common defense of their homes and the heritage of free institutions. It teaches organization and points out the remedy. It is educational and practical. It should be in the hands of every man, woman, boy and girl in the United States.

The book is a school, and the little boy COIN is the teacher. His school in May, 1894, "Coin's Financial School," electrified a nation and moulded the political sentiment of a National Political Party.

COIN ON MONEY, TRUSTS AND IMPERIALISM may be expected to rally anew the forces of human liberty.

A Thorough Cure.

There is no sentiment about Grizler. He is close and is not easily alarmed. It is not surprising, then, that the doctor assumed the utmost gravity when Grizler called to present the case of his wife.

"I'm greatly afraid," said the husband, "that her mental equilibrium is disturbed. She is not like other women and not as she used to be."

"What are the symptoms?"

"You may regard them of a negative character, doctor. To begin with, she never opens her fashion papers of late."

"Bad! Bad! Very bad!"

"I feared as much. The woman who lives next door called last night and wore one of the most elegant hats I ever saw. You know that I am not given to noticing such things. Mrs. Grizler never seemed to see it and said nothing about it after the caller had gone."

"Awful," exclaimed the doctor, "awful. I've known your wife, Grizler, ever since she was born. No one ever had a brighter mind or a happier disposition. I can't understand it. Used to be the life and beauty of every company she was ever in. Does she go out?"

"No, nor entertain. Never mentions the theater, burns all invitations and is without the slightest interest in the social whirl. I would give half I'm worth to see her the girl I married."

"Done," snapped the doctor, and he wrote out the strangest prescription on record. It called for horses, carriages, fine raiment, jewels and a well filled purse. At the bottom was a receipt in full for $250,000. There was no chance for Grizler to weaken, and now his wife is one of the most brilliant women in the swim. When she and the old doctor meet, he winks and she whispers, "You dear old soul."—Detroit Free Press.

In the House of Commons.

Members are not allowed to refer to each other by name in debate. The only member who is properly addressed by name is the chairman who presides over the deliberations of the house in committee. On a member rising to speak in committee he begins with "Mr. Lowther," and not with "Mr. Chairman," as at public meetings. When the speaker is in the chair, the formula is "Mr. Speaker, sir."

In debate a member is distinguished by the office he holds, as "the right honorable gentleman the chancellor of the exchequer," or by the constituency he represents, as "the honorable gentleman the member for York." Some make use of the terms "My honorable friend" or "My right honorable friend."

In case of family relations the same form is usually observed. Occasionally "My honorable relative" or "My right honorable relative" is heard, but "My right honorable father" or "My right honorable brother," though no doubt allowable, has not been hitherto used.—Nineteenth Century.

He Put His Foot In It.

A woman's club that invested in a clubhouse not long since was much against its will obliged to employ men laborers. The architect was a woman, but it was found impossible to procure women carpenters, masons and plasterers. One day shortly before the completion of the structure a workman who was employed upon the roof made a misstep and thrust his foot through the beautiful but not yet dried ceiling of the auditorium. Just at this time, too, a number of club members chanced to be in the building, and their emotions at the sight of the pedal extremity pendant from the ceiling may be better imagined than described. The man was eventually rescued and the hole mended, but the patch still shows upon the ceiling, and as the first vice president puts it, "Well, I knew that if a man had anything to do with this club he would be sure to put his foot in it."—Chicago Tribune.

Does it Pay?

Daniel Webster said no people could afford to spill their blood for trade. But Webster was an old fogey, if you remember. We didn't have Hanna then, nor Roosevelt, the rough rider, nor poor, limber-backed McKinley, or other great men. We had a plain sort of a man named Lincoln; another by the name of Jefferson, and still another called Jackson. And there were Charles Sumner and William H. Seward. But they were just common kind of men. They wore breeches that bagged at the knees. They didn't wear pompadour hair or diamonds, or buy votes. They didn't masquerade in rough rider hats or bluff bad men who existed only in a crooked imagination. They wore no jangling spurs, and carried no chips on their shoulders. They didn't swagger. They were just mossbacks, don'tcherknow. However, men were not so cheap then as now under our new British system of finance. Why, we have soldiers to burn. What we need is more land for the trusts to exploit. What matters it if a few thousand soldier boys get shot, or die of fever? We must expand. There are only twenty people to the square mile in the United States, while there are sixty to the square mile in the Philippine Islands, but by the time we get done with them there will not be so many, or of us for that matter. In the days of Webster and Lincoln the declaration of independence and constitution of the United States were held in the greatest reverence. But they are out of date now under the new republican management. Mark Hanna and the trust barons can kick the feathers out of the American eagle every day in the week, and it goes. We have "colonies" the same as Great Britain. We have a large standing army and we will have a larger one. We have imperialism, and we have a Sultan under salary with an up-to-date harem and all the necessary trimmings. They tell us "we have already expanded" and that we can't help it. Ships go to Manila with live soldiers and bring back dead ones. The Filipinos decline the sample of civilization we have tendered them and refuse the McKinley brand of whiskey and "benevolent assimilation." They don't want us to play in their back yard. They just want to be let alone. But we insist that they have trolley cars and plug hats. And the spilling of blood for trade goes bravely on. Does it pay? Webster said nay. And he knew.—Vancouver Register.

Broiling a Steak.

The broiling of steak often fills the house with smoke and the meat odor. In many cases this can be avoided by as simple an expedient as opening the dampers of the stove or range when the broiler is put on and letting the draft carry the fumes up the chimney. A great many things that are odious in housekeeping may be avoided by "knowing how."

An Unmentioned Gift.

A gift that was not included in the published list of wedding presents received by a newly married Missouri couple was a receipt for ten years' back subscription due from the groom to one of the neighboring county papers, the generous contribution of the big hearted publisher.—Kansas City Journal.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, July 27, 1900.

Chairman Richardson, of the democratic congressional campaign committee, returned to Washington headquarters, this week from a trip to New York, and is now engaged upon the speech he will make as chairman of the committee to notify Col. Bryan of his nomination, at Indianapolis, August 8. Mr. Richardson reports the congressional campaign in New York to be entirely satisfactory to the democrats, but says he will not go so far at this time as to claim more than a fighting chance for the electoral votes of the state. Information sent to democratic headquarters from the middle west is decidedly cheering. Instead of claiming Illinois and Indiana to be doubtful states, there is now a disposition to put them in the certain democratic column, and many believe that the desertion of the republican party by German voters who cannot stand imperialism will also give Wisconsin to the democrats. Illinois has 24 electoral votes, Indiana 15 and Wisconsin 12, all of which Mr. McKinley received in '96. Democrats around headquarters are not really claiming as much as the news received would justify them in doing, because they do not wish to create the impression that they are chasing rainbows. Every day the probabilities increase that the next house will be democratic and that Bryan and Stevenson will be elected, if the democrats throughout the country keep up their present aggressive attitude.

The statement previously made in this paper, that the senate committee ordered to investigate receipts and expenditures of money in Cuba would not begin work in time to make a report before the election, has been practically confirmed by Senator Platt, of Connecticut, chairman of the committee. Directly after congress adjourned Mr. Platt said he would call the committee together as soon as a detailed statement of expenditures and receipts, which the war and postoffice departments had been asked to prepare as a basis for the committee's work, was ready. Now, he says that the war and postoffice departments are conducting investigations and that he will now call the committee together until they have finished and furnished him copies of the result. This is all twaddle. Mr. Platt knows that the party bosses have ordered the senatorial investigation held up until there will be no danger of its affecting the election and that everybody else knows it too.

Although cheerfully edited by Postmaster General Smith before it was made public, the report of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow on the stealings of Neely and Rathbone, and their gang, and other crookedness connected with the Cuban postal service shows that a disgraceful state of affairs existed in Cuba, in which rascally republican officials showed the Cubans that they could out do the Spanish officials in stealing and extravagant expenditure of public money. Still, there are those who express surprise because Cubans do not recognize Americans to be superior to them.

Representatives McCall, of Massachusetts, and Littlefield, of Maine, both of whom voted against their party on the Porto Rican tariff bill, are to be sent into the middle west to stump, their respective districts being overwhelmingly republican, in order to try to keep the large number of republicans in that section who thought as they did about the Porto Rico tariff in line for McKinley.

Senator Jones, chairman of the democratic national committee, stopped in Washington on his way to New York to hold a conference with a number of prominent democrats on the conduct of the campaign, which is to be at once started and pushed aggressively until election day. He is full of enthusiasm over the outlook, which he says is far brighter than it was at this time four years ago.

A message from Minister Conger, dated July 4, has been received at the state department, saying that Pekin was in a state of anarchy and that the foreigners who were all cooped up in the British legation and under constant fire, were bound to be killed if help was not at once had. This message seems to corroborate the opinion of those who think that the administration has allowed itself to be completely hoodwinked by the Chinese minister in Washington. Mr. McKinley has been negotiating with the government of China and promising to act as a mediator in its behalf, when according to Mr. Conger's dispatches, there is no government of China, the capital being in a state of anarchy. Some go so far as to express the opinion that the Chinese minister at Washington, who still insists that the foreign ministers at Pekin are safe, has never received a line from Pekin since the trouble began.

Adlai E. Stevenson.

The democratic candidate for vice president was born in Christian county, Kentucky, Oct. 23, 1835. He moved to Bloomington, Illinois, when a lad of sixteen; was educated at the Illinois Wesleyan University and Centre college, Kentucky. He studied law in Bloomington and was admitted to the bar at the age of twenty-two. In 1859 he removed to Woodford county, Kentucky, where he held the office of Master in Chancery from 1861 to 1865. He was elected state attorney of the 23rd district in 1864 and held the office four years. The same year he was a candidate for state elector on the McClellan ticket. In 1861 he assumed the practice of law in Bloomington. In 1874 he was elected a representative from Illinois to the 44th congress; in 1878 was again elected to the 46th congress and in 1882 was re-elected to the 48th session. In 1884 he became, under Cleveland, first assistant postmaster general, and in 1892 was Cleveland's running mate for second place on the democratic ticket. He was elected to that office. At the close of his term, unlike his leader, he did not aid in leading his party into the republican camp nor did he desert it when the Moses of free silver took the lead, nor bow down to the golden image set up by the idolaters. He is a safe and sound democrat, and worthy of the respect of the present honor conferred upon him.

Where They Marry to Kill Time.

One strange feature of Australia social life is the perfectly casual way in which men marry for no ostensible purpose except the purpose of vanishing wearily around the corner immediately after the ceremony. In a Sydney case now on hand the husband, it is alleged, married in 1894 and shortly afterward made his tired, indifferent exit around the corner and never came back. In 1896 he married again and immediately faded away up the street. He never lived with his second wife. When he was arrested on a charge of aggravated harassment, he offered no explanation whatever. Apparently he only did it because a fellow must do something.—Sydney Bulletin.

A French Way to Cure Baldness.

A French surgeon announces a novel cure for baldness, which, however, is only within the reach of the wealthy. The first thing is to find some poor, starving wretch with a fine head of hair of the color which the patient desires. The former having consented to part with his hair for a stipulated sum, the doctor scalps the pair delicately and applies the hairy scalp of the subject to the bald client, and vice versa. With luck the graft is said to be a success.—

The Parrot Turned Brown.

Long had the wife of a poor Washington clerk been yearning for the possession of a green parrot.

At last a fine specimen was obtained for $10. It was delivered in the morning, and it came to pass that a new servant from the depths of the country opened the door to the delivery boy. Her mistress was out; there was not a soul to instruct her in the code of ethics as applied to parrots.

"Is it for the table?" she asked.

"Without doubt," was the wicked re-

STATE PRESS OPINION

China wishes to explain that she did not behead and torture the foreign ministers "officially."—Tacoma News.

If it turns out that the Chinese captured our code, and "faked" any of those Conger cablegrams, the world will hang its head in shame at the closing performance of nineteenth century diplomacy.—Seattle Times.

Four years ago the republican press was loud in its praise of Tammany because it could not vote for and support Bryan. Now this same press is abusing Bryan for allowing the Tammany leader to work and vote for him. Truly, consistency is the virtue of fools.—Tacoma Sun.

Bryan may be wrong as his opponents claim, but he certainly has backbone. If he said something about "plain duty," he would eat nails to see that it was done. The question is whether the country would prefer him to a man who is "amendable" to reason when his party bosses do the reasoning.—Coulee City News.

Bryan and the democratic party are not receiving so much space from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer these days; it is directing most of its shot at the republican opposition to its candidate for governor, Frink. Tom Humes, who was lauded to the skies in the Seattle city election last spring by the Post-Intelligencer is now served up a hot roast daily.—Everett News.

The Oregonian is daily attempting to mislead the people with the idea that the influential democratic newspapers of the country are opposed to the election of Mr. Bryan. These newspapers are not democratic and did not support the ticket four years ago. The Oregonian might as well quote the Telegram as another "democratic paper which has gone back on Bryan." The Oregonian's work is raw.—Register-Democrat.

Those who read Lee Hart's boastings in the P-I. when he returned from Kansas City, of how he "did up" Col. Lewis, will be amused at Mr. L.'s reply to queries about the matter, the other day in Seattle. "Lee Hart—Lee Hart," mused the colonel, as he stroked his auburn whiskers: "Ah yes, Mr. Lee Hart I believe resides here. Was he in Kansas City during the convention?"—Washington Standard.

In 1896 William J. Bryan carried the state of Washington by 12,500 majority. A very conservative estimate at this time would give the state to Mr. Bryan by not less than 15,000 majority. If the change of sentiment from McKinley to Bryan in Clarke county is anywhere near a fair index of the political condition throughout the state, then the democratic nominee for president will have at least 20,000 majority. We have yet to learn of the first Bryan man in this county who has decided to vote for McKinley this year. On the other hand we can readily name many prominent citizens who openly declare: "I will never vote for McKinley again." This means something.—Register-Democrat.

G. O. P. Politics Have Reached the Boiling Point.

Will Thompson on Wednesday announced himself as a candidate for the office of prosecuting attorney, subject to the decision of the republican county convention. The entrance of Mr. Thompson makes a four cornered contest for that position, Messrs. Rudkin, Guthrie and Nichols having previously announced themselves.

The entrance of W. H. (Doc) Hare into the shrievalty fight last week, created quite a sensation among local politicians and a good deal of speculation was indulged as to his chance of winning out in the convention. Doc's friends loudly proclaim that he will be nominated on the first ballot, while the backers of other candidates deny that he has any show to win.

The friends of F. H. Rudkin assert with great positiveness that their man is as good as nominated already for superior judge. They say that his trip to Pasco resulted in his getting a dead cinch on the two lone delegates from Franklin county, which with the 13 votes of Yakima will give him 15 to 11 for Kauffman, the Ellensburg candidate. Ex-Auditor F. C. Hall, according to his friends, will make a determined effort to capture the nomination for auditor this year against the present incumbent, E. E. Kelso, who of course desires to succeed himself.

Lincoln Dille declares that he sleeps and feels better now since he withdrew from the shrievalty fight. The boys say that A. S. Faul's stock has dropped remarkably since his encounter with the hobo on Monday.

Return to the Prodigal.

I am gratified to learn that many of the democrats who left the party in 1896 have returned and announced their intention of supporting the ticket.

Some came back because they are no longer under the spell of the distinguished democrats who in 1896 used their political prominence and prestige to lead away men who trusted them. Some have returned because they are convinced the Chicago platform principles represent the best hope of a large majority of our people.

Some have returned because they have come into contact with the trusts, while others have returned because they believe that an imperial policy threatens the very existence of a free government.

They argue that mistakes made in carrying out the Chicago platform doctrines can be corrected if the doctrine of self-government is maintained, but that an imperial policy, once entered upon with the approval of the people, would be difficult to overthrow.

The outlook in the east has improved very much during the last year. If a like change goes on until election day the republicans will lose many states east of the Allegheny mountains.

W. J. BRYAN.

The Washington Medical Dispensary have renovated and remodeled the building over the North Yakima Furniture Store and are treating patients daily in their elegantly fitted up office rooms.

The republicans are giving considerable attention to the silver issue considering that they have been pronouncing it dead for the last three years.—Mt. Vernon Argus.

In a Bad Way Anyhow.

George Ober once overheard some acquaintances in the hotel lobby at Hastings-on-the-Hudson discussing the demise of one Bill Jones, a well known character in that lively country village. Ober immediately joined the group, whereupon the following conversation ensued:

"Did I understand you to say Bill Jones was dead?"

"'Yep. Died last Thursday."

"Is that possible?"

"'Yes, that's right."

"So Bill Jones is dead. Well, well"

"'Yes, he's dead."

"Do you know, I can scarcely believe it, poor chap! Poor Bill! I knew him well. So he's really dead, is he?"

"Well, if he ain't dead, he's in a darned bad predicament. I saw him buried."—Cleveland Plain Dealer

Bill Was Fooled.

"Seen anything of a feller round here with red whiskers an a squint?" queried Bill Sykes of Newberg, as he adjusted his red comforter and blew a sonorous blast from his bibulous nose preparatory to taking a little stimulant, "cause if you have I've got business with him. He come to my house yesterday, an after talking around a spell an telling Hanner he thought she was my darter an making a fool of her he said he would have to inspect the well. Sent out by the state, you know.

"Well, I got a pailful of water, an he poured some in a sasser and looked at it through a mikyscope. Then I looked at it, an say, fellers, that water was full of alligators a foot long—microbes he called 'em. The upshot was I bought the mikyscope and some stuff to put in the well to kill the animals, an I paid him $10, but 'twas partly Hanner's fault."

Here Bill looked around defiantly and continued: "That stuff was salt an water an there wan't no bugs. They were painted on the glass to the mikyscope." And with a rather derogatory remark about the honesty of man generally Bill left in quest of the man with the squint.—Dowagiac Republican.

The Original Siamese Twins.

The sleepy village of Biddenden, not far from Tenterden, celebrates yearly the memory of the two maids of that ancient hamlet who were the original precursors of the Siamese twins. In life they were joined together by a mysterious cord of flesh, and they died on the same day, leaving their property to be distributed among the poor of the parish and among all who care to apply for a dole of bread and cheese on Easter day. This benefaction has been in existence for six or seven centuries, and at present its value is about $200 a year.

Formerly the doles consisted of bread and cheese and ale, but the latter produced so much merriment in the village that it was abolished, and the charity is now limited to the two first mentioned nutritive articles. The bread is made up in the form of cakes, bearing a rude representation of the twin maids of Biddenden, and are generally preserved as curiosities by the recipients. They are baked very hard and are admirably adapted to give work to dentists by breaking the molars of those who attempt to penetrate their mysteries. The poor of the parish distinguished from necessitous strangers are supplied with ordinary quarters loaves and cheese.—London Telegraph.

Dangerous Odors.

Some smells are dangerous. A single sniff of highly concentrated prussic acid will kill a man as quickly as a shot through the heart. The odor of a bad egg is due to the presence of sulphuretted hydrogen, and the objectionable perfumes of sewers and bone factories are attributable chiefly to the same gas. Chemical laboratories are famous for bad smells. Berzelius, who discovered the element called "selenium," once tried the experiment of permitting a bubble of pure hydrogen selenide gas to enter his nostril. For days afterward he was not able to smell strong ammonia, the olfactory nerves being temporarily paralyzed. Selenium gas has the odor of putrid horse radish. Tellurium is even worse. There is a story of a physician whose patient, a lady, refused to take an absolutely necessary rest because she was so fond of being always on the go in society. He gave her a pill containing a small quantity of tellurium, and her breath was affected by it to such an extent that she was not able to appear in public for a month. She never guessed what the trouble was. The volatilized essential oil of roses is supposed to cause "rose cold." This peculiar complaint is so far nervous in its character that paper roses sometimes excite it.—Boston Transcript.

Aphids, or Plant Lice.

Aphids are sucking insects, taking their food through a slender tube which is thrust deep into the tissue of the plant. For this reason any arsenical poison that may be deposited on the surface of the plant will do them no harm. They will thrust their beaks clear through the poison into the plant and will suck the sap from beneath the surface. To kill these little robbers it is necessary to use contact poisons, such as kerosene emulsion, whale oil soap, tobacco water, pyrethrum, or some application which kills by closing up the pores or by irritation, or else to use some vapor, smoke or gas, such as tobacco smoke or carbon bisulphide. In exceptional instances, as in the case of lice that live underground, it is necessary to use some special treatment.

His Present Fad.

"You don't seem to be buying many rare books nowadays," said Perkins to Jimpsonberry. "Got tired of collecting?"

"No," replied Jimpsonberry. "Changed my hobby, that's all. My boys have grown some in the past seven or eight years, and I've taken up the fad of collecting derby hats and trousers and shoes and other things of that kind. I have a splendid collection of school bills, too. I'd like to show you."—Harper's Bazar.

Proposed Amendment to the Constitution.

STATE OF WASHINGTON,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
OLYMPIA.

To Whom it May Concern:

In obedience to an act of the legislature approved March 13, 1899, entitled as follows: "An act providing for the constitutional amendment conferring power upon the legislature to exempt certain property from taxation," there is herewith published for the consideration of the voters of the state of Washington the following proposed amendment to the constitution of said state:

"SECTION 1. It is proposed to amend section (2) two of article seven (7) of the constitution of the State of Washington by adding thereto the following proviso: 'And provided further, That the legislature shall have power, by appropriate legislation, to exempt personal property to the amount of three hundred ($300.00) dollars for each head of a family liable to assessment and taxation under the provisions of the laws of this state, of which the individual is the actual and bona fide owner.'

"SECTION 2. That at the general election to be held in November, 1900, the amendment hereinbefore mentioned in section 1 shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State of Washington for their approval, and there shall be printed on each of the ballots provided for said election the words 'For proposed amendment to section 2 of article 7 of the constitution in relation to taxation.' Against the proposed amendment to section 2 of article 7 of the constitution in relation to taxation."

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the State of Washington, at Olympia, this twentieth day of July, Nineteen Hundred.

WILL D. JENKINS,

Secretary of State for the State of Washington.

At said election each elector desiring to vote in favor of the adoption of said proposed amendment should place an X upon his ballot opposite the words "For the proposed amendment to section 2 of article 7 of the constitution, in relation to taxation." Each elector desiring to vote against the adoption of said proposed amendment should place upon his ballot an X opposite the words "Against the proposed amendment to section 2 of article 7 of the constitution, in relation to taxation."

WILL D. JENKINS,

Secretary of State.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Claude Briggs returned on Wednesday from a visit to Walla Walla and Pendleton.

Mrs. F. D. Estes and daughter returned on Sunday morning from a two months' visit at Leavenworth and Wenatchee.

J. W. Foster, of Corvallis, Ore., who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, departed for his home on Tuesday.

County Superintendent Plumb will go to Spokane next week to assist in conducting the state examination of teachers.

Van D. Ritter and family, of the Wenas, left for Portland on Monday via The Dalles, for a month's visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ayres, of Albert Lea, Minn, arrived on Monday and were the guests during the week of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Larson.

Miss Clara Bateman, of Washington, D. C., arrived on Sunday morning from the east and is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Edward Whitson.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Fechter left on Thursday morning for Seattle where they will join a party of friends and proceed to Hood's canal where they expect to spend about ten days.

L. W. Haworth, familiarly known as "the major," has returned from the Sound and resumed his occupation as society reporter of the Republic.

The Hotel Tucker now contains eleven boarders, seven of whom are county prisoners and the balance being held at the expense of your "Uncle Samuel."

A. F. Snelling left for Zillah early this week where he has been engaged to assist the Washington Irrigation Company in their office work for a month or six weeks.

S. L. Jenkins left for Seattle on Sunday. He will return in about ten days to finish up the scenic work in Larson's theater. Mr. Jenkins' work here has been highly commended.

Mr. Frank Kern, a manufacturer and capitalist, of Mattoon, Ill., was in the city this week and was so well pleased with Yakima that he may conclude to make some investments here.

The Ellensburg capital is agitating the question of holding a street fair in that town this fall. If the Capital man would visit Yakima he could see a street fairly busy every business day in the year.

Dr. Giddings and family left on Thursday for Tacoma, where they will in the future probably reside. The doctor, however, will make a trip back to Chicago before settling down again permanently.

Miss Lillie Michels returned home on Saturday from a four months' visit with friends and relatives in North Dakota and Iowa. The young lady is glad to be home again and says she saw no place that compared as a place of residence with Yakima.

J. L. Smith was the guest of his old friend, George Donald, on Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Smith, who now resides the most of his time in Portland, said that North Yakima in his estimation is the most prosperous town of its size on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. W. W. Robertson accompanied by her father, Mr. Barrett, and her two children, left on Sunday morning for a few weeks' stay with relatives at Olympia. The colonel who went over to the Sound on a subsequent train returned home on Tuesday.

County Superintendent Plumb on Tuesday went to the Wenas to hear evidence bearing on the question of dividing school district No. 15. The petition was granted after the tax payers for and against the proposition had arrived at a mutually satisfactory decision as to the boundaries of the proposed new district.

J. G. Evans, who formerly resided here, but now a resident of Waitsburg, arrived on Thursday accompanied by his son. They left the same day for a ten days' trip in the mountains. Mr. Evans has recently invented a combined harvesting and threshing machine which he claims will cut and thresh a crop of wheat for about one cent per bushel. The present cost he says is about 20 cts. per bushel.

W. F. Powell, who was down from Bumping Lake this week, reports having struck a very peculiar looking metal in the tunnel which he and his partner are driving there. While the strange metal is extremely hard it is of a flakey character and will scale off. A local judge of mineral pronounces it malignant, which is said to be a metallic substance but rarely found and in considerable demand among a certain class of machinists. Mr. Powell has sent a sample of it away for analysis.

Daniel Simmons, of Wallowa county, Ore., arrived a few days ago and is the guest of his brother, Capt. J. T. Simmons, whom he had not met for 25 years. The latter who was engaged in development work at his claim in the vicinity of Bumping Lake, at the time of his brother's arrival was immediately summoned home to welcome him. The two brothers, who are very similar in appearance as well as in taste, are divided only on the question of politics, the gentleman from Oregon being a life-long believer in the principles of democracy.

Sunnyside's Bright Prospects.

S. J. Harrison, the well known rancher, of Sunnyside, was in town on Wednesday and informed THE DEMOCRAT that an air of prosperity and a feeling of hopefulness prevailed the people of his section of the county.

The crops are good and the expectation prevails that fair prices will be realized this season.

Mr. Harrison, who is interested in the sale and settlement of Sunnyside land, further stated that inquiry for farm property was quite brisk for this season of the year and that intending settlers were almost constantly arriving. Among other new arrivals he mentioned a Mrs. Armacost and family and M. L. Walker from Wyoming, who are negotiating for the purchase of homes in that section.
