OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

For President,
WM. JENNINGS BRYAN.

For Vice-President,
ADLAI E. STEVENSON.

THE Yakima Republic, in discussing the candidacy of Governor Rogers, says that when he stumped the state in 1896 he promised the people all manner of revolutionary legislation, in the event of his election as governor, and that his failure to carry out such promises after his election, made him some friends in the republican party—which, by the way, is quite an admission for our biased friend to make. We cannot call to mind any revolutionary pledges of legislation made by the governor during his former canvass; neither do we believe that our friend over the way can do so. We can, however, readily recall the pledges of good government which was made by his excellency on the stump four years ago, and we are willing to leave it to any intelligent republican, less saturated with partisanship than Colonel Robertson, to say whether or not such pledges have been redeemed. The Republic's editor is an unfair critic. For partisan reasons he is not willing to give the governor credit for any of the many good things he has done for the people of this state. He will not even give him credit for standing as firm as a wall of adamant against the gigantic capitol job, which republican legislators passed up to him for his approval at the last session. He fails to comment on the fact that for simply doing his duty of protecting the interests of the people, as he knew he would, he has been subjected to the most humiliating treatment, which included not only political, but social ostracism, at the hands of the people of the capitol city. The local critic of the governor knows as well as anybody that the present state administration has made such a commendable record, that the late republican state convention, of which he himself was a member, did not dare to utter a word of criticism against it in its platform for fear of inviting a comparison with the two profligate administrations of its own which preceded it. As a matter of fact the local organ is railing at the governor merely because it fancies that it is its partisan duty to do so, and not that it hopes to dissuade a number of republicans hereabouts from their avowed purpose of supporting him for re-election.

PRESIDENT M'KINLEY'S letter of acceptance reads like the dreary messages he has annually sent to congress.

The letter, as a matter of fact, is so verbose in composition and so long drawn out that it is a safe prophecy that not one person out of five hundred will read it. The president starts out by asserting that the money question, the maintenance of the gold standard, in fact, is really the paramount issue and that all this talk about imperialism is pure humbug. If fair words alone made out a good case the president would be all right and might rest easy as to the result; but unfortunately for him, the people will judge his administration by the fruit it has borne. If to him the credit of whatever good may have come out of his official acts is due, then also should he be charged with the many misfortunes that have overtaken the people of this country during his brief reign—misfortunes that are directly traceable to his mistaken policy in carrying on a bloody, prolonged and profitless war of conquest in a foreign land. A war that is destroying either the lives or the good health of thousands of young men, besides absorbing millions of treasure wrung from the people of this country by excessive taxation. And yet Mr. McKinley tells us that we must suffer all this for the good of the Filipinos. That we must not forsake them, but must stay with them until we have raised them somewhere near our own level in the plane of civilization—that is, providing they survive our gatling gun argument. The president is a smooth writer and a good talker. He can present his own case far better than can any of his apologists. In this letter he makes an able but specious plea for votes. He will find, however, that the American people will judge him not from what he says, but from what he has done and the results that have followed his unAmerican policy.

AND now it is Richard Olney, Grover Cleveland's great secretary of state, who is the latest recruit to the democratic standard following soon after the announcement of ex-Postmaster General Wm. L. Wilson, who frankly states that he can act with the republican party no longer on account of its decidedly imperialistic trend. Both of these are great men, each of whom has a large following among independent voters of democratic proclivities and are welcome back to their old places in the temple of Jeffersonian democracy, which they foolishly left in 1896 to follow after false gods. The reconversion of these men well illustrates the fact that a thoughtful man who has been taught and always believed in the good old Jefferson school of popular government, cannot long find a home among the followers of Alexander Hamilton, the essence of whose teachings was that the few ought to govern the many; an infamous doctrine that still finds plenty of apologists among the followers of Hamilton, who comprise the republican party of today. It is no wonder then that such men as Olney and Wilson could not long remain in an organization that willingly accepts the leadership of Mark Hanna, a low browed and coarse grained politician, who goes on the principle that every man has his price and will consent to do his part in the overthrow of popular government in this country for a monetary consideration. Statesmen of the Olney and Wilson stamp could not be expected to train long in the company of such men as Hanna and his numerous satellites, for whose methods they naturally have a wholesome contempt.

THE result of the Vermont and Maine state elections shows plainly that a reaction has set in against the continued ascendancy of the republican party. The democratic gain in Vermont, when compared with the state election of 1896, is about 14 per cent., while in Maine it is about 22 per cent. The increased democratic vote is said to be due to the fact that the gold democrats there as in other states are returning to their old party allegiance, because of the paramount issue, imperialism. Mark Hanna says there is no significance in these heavy gains; but nevertheless, if the Maine ratio of gain holds good in other eastern and middle states, Mark will lose Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Minnesota. Evidently the republican who can extract comfort from the Maine election is not hard to please.

REFORMERS generally in this county will no doubt be pleased to learn that Hon. N. B. Brooks, of Goldendale, who made a gallant though losing fight for the state senate in this district two years ago, has been nominated as the democratic candidate for superior judge in the district that comprises the counties of Klickitat, Clark, Cowlitz and Skamania. Mr. Brooks is an able lawyer, is possessed of a judicial temperament and it is to be hoped that the voters of his district will honor him and at the same time themselves by electing him to such an high and exalted position.

YAKIMA extended a royal welcome to the business men of Seattle and the excursionists returned home singing our praises, which means better advertising than money could buy for this great valley and ought to mean more business for Seattle merchants from this section. It is to be hoped that the good feeling established will work for the good of both cities, as we need Seattle in our business as much as she needs us in hers.

WE publish in another column an editorial clipping from last Sunday's Portland Oregonian, in order to give our readers the benefit of Editor Scott's unbiased opinion of President McKinley. The democratic press have doubtless passed some pretty severe criticism upon the president; but we have seen nothing that approaches this for sarcasm.

BEACH & BOWERS'

Minstrels Gave an Excellent Performance.

A clean, refined, up-to-date, excellent show is the verdict of every one who attended the performance of Beach & Bowers' minstrels at Olympia theater last night, and the house was pretty well filled at that. There was not a dull period during the entire performance, and it would appear sufficient to state that the advance notices of the company did not in the least overstate its merits. The specialties, as a whole, were as good as were ever seen in Olympia theater. The company possesses one feature that added greatly to the pleasure of the evening, and that was the fact that the performance was continuous, not a single wait between scenes being in evidence during the evening. The "funny business" was all new and of superior order, at times almost convulsing the audience. Don Gordon, the bicyclist; Harry Freeman and the Smith brothers, the amusing acrobats; the Kenno-La Barre trio in their high class comedy acrobatic act, and the troupe of performing dogs were features that were excellent and were a show in themselves. Beach & Bowers' minstrels deserve good houses wherever they appear.—Morning Olympian, Olympia, Wash., Nov. 25.

Fusionists Organize for the Campaign.

The called meeting of the democratic, silver republican and populist party county committees assembled at the city hall on Saturday afternoon and organized by the election of A. E. Howard as chairman and F. D. Yale as secretary.

Considerable time was consumed in the discussion of the situation, nearly all the candidates on the county ticket being present and taking part in the meeting.

A motion was finally passed for the selection of an executive committee to consist of three persons to have entire charge and direction of the campaign, the selection of this executive committee to be left to a conference of the candidates. The latter subsequently in a caucus asked for the appointment of T. G. Redfield, A. E. Howard and Vestal Snyder as such committee. Mr. Snyder declared his inability to accept the position owing to a lack of time to devote to it, whereupon Dr. C. T. Dulin was selected by the meeting to act in his stead.

A motion was carried looking to the organization of a system of Bryan and Stevenson clubs throughout the county with a central organization in North Yakima. J. D. Medill, J. F. Garrett and J. R. Coe were appointed as a committee to organize a club in this city.

After the adjournment of the joint meeting the democratic central committee which had not yet organized, met and elected T. G. Redfield as chairman for the ensuing two years and Harry Garrett as secretary.

The campaign committee which held a meeting on Monday evening organized by the election of A. E. Howard as chairman, Dr. Dulin, secretary and T. G. Redfield as treasurer.

Election Bets and "Bluffs."

A number of local politicians continue to make bets and run "bluffs" on the result of the coming election.

P. A. Bounds and John Cleman have made a wager on the election of a legislator for this county. The former's offer to bet a horse and $50 in cash on the election of A. J. Splawn was accepted by the latter.

Some local republicans, who it seems, are desirous of having another republican paper, were bantering E. M. Reed, of the Herald, in a well known resort one evening lately and the latter gentleman made them a proposition that set the followers of Hanna to thinking. Mr. Reed stated in effect that he refused to consider an offer of $3000 for his paper and plant, but that he was perfectly willing to wager his property against $3000 in cash that John R. Rogers would be elected governor over Mr. Frink.

Certain leading republicans about town informed THE DEMOCRAT this week that the money would soon be forthcoming to call Mr. Reed on his proposition, but so far it seems it has failed to materialize and Mr. Reed feels confident that the boys will never come to time.

STATE PRESS OPINION

No stronger nomination could have possibly been made than that of Hon. J. T. Ronald, of King county for congressman. He will be elected by an overwhelming majority. — Vancouver Register.

James Hamilton Lewis will speak in the east during the present campaign. The national committee desires his services in Indiana, Illinois and New York. The people of Washington will miss the colonel during the campaign, but he may be more useful in the east, as this state is safe for Bryan anyway. — Mt. Vernon Argus.

Our republican friends employ most of their time in extending sympathy to members of the people's party since the Seattle convention. One would think from the interest they take in our welfare that they have shed barrels of tears for us, that they would never have been guilty of calling us such ugly names. It's all off with you, Mr. republican, we know too well, your hypocrisy exceeds your generosity by a long shot. — Ellensburg Dawn.

Since the Gazette called the attention of its readers to the fact that Mark Hanna would immediately scatter free literature through the country, almost every republican sheet on our exchange list has a six column supplement chock full of stuff manufactured especially to fool and mislead the voters of the Pacific coast on the question of expansion. In order to keep the scheme a secret some of the editors, sending out this supplement, have the gall to express a hope to their readers that the supplement will be appreciated as it entails considerable "extra expense." Possibly they are following instructions from the great Boss, but Marcus should have them trained a little better, as the more his editors say outside of the editorials furnished them the more embarrassing it is for him and them. — Waitsburg Gazette.

A FINE PERFORMANCE

Given by Beach & Bowers' Minstrels.

Beach & Bowers' company last evening, at the Grand opera house, gave by far the best performance of minstrelsy that has ever been seen in the city. There was a very large audience and the house was in almost constant laughter, and when the people were not laughing they were applauding. The performance was full of snap and ginger and moved along very briskly from start to finish. Every part was taken in most excellent manner, and there was not a flaw in the entire performance.

Not only was the work in general of a very high order, but the specialties deserving of special mention are the bicycle riding, the club swinging and the acrobatic work of all kinds. The jokes were fresh and clean and sharp, and the music was exceptionally fine, both the vocal and instrumental selections eliciting unusually vociferous approval.

The parade which the company gave before the performance was a full entertainment in itself, being about three blocks in length and comprising many handsome dogs and ponies.

The company is certainly deserving of liberal patronage everywhere, and will be greeted by a great audience upon its return. — Great Fall Tribune.

What a Woman Needs.

In the preparation of this article we made many examinations and investigations of the different methods of treatment and remedies for all the ills so common to the female sex, and our investigation has brought forth the fact that nothing proves so uniformly successful in restoring health and happiness to worn out women as the "Viavi Treatment," and we also found that this was the opinion of the most careful and scientific medical men of this country. This system of treatment has been remarkably successful in all cases of chronic diseases peculiar to women. No more trouble, misery, and suffering are among the speedy results after its use, as it certainly represents the latest and best treatment for all complaints of women's diseases. It has been proven by years of success and the testimony of thousands of ladies, including the highest and most noted of the women of the United States and England, who have been restored to health and the enjoyment of life by reason of "Viavi Treatment" even after all other methods of treatment had been tried and found wanting. The "Viavi remedies" are composed entirely of vegetable ingredients, and are manufactured under conditions of perfect cleanliness. Upon entering the system it supplies at once a clean, wholesome food to the muscular tissues and nervous fibres. It makes the circulation full and vigorous, and in this way enables the veins to carry to the organs of elimination all the impurities which it is their function to remove from the body. It acts as a prompt specific for all nervous and other troubles common to women, including irregularities, prostration, headache, anemia, palpitation of the heart and the thousand and one ills peculiar to the sex. — Extract from the National Health Journal.

Office, Lund block, North Yakima.

Cards on the Cars.

"Cards are not played as much on the cars as they used to be," said the commercial traveler. "A few years ago it was a common sight to see three or four games, whist, euchre, poker or seven up, going on in a car, and wherever four or five drummers were gathered together there was sure to be a lively game of draw in progress. Suburban trains were turned into whist clubs, and morning and night the commuters were engaged in a rubber."

"But all this has been changed. Nowadays it is the hardest thing in the world to get up a game of any kind in a train. Ask a stranger if he would like to take a hand at whist or euchre, and he will freeze you with a suspicious look. And, what is worse, he is entirely justified in his suspicions."

"In the last ten years the railroads of this country have been the harvest for gamblers, bunko men and short card experts. They have worked the field to the limit, from New York to California and from Vermont to Florida. They have worked all kinds of filmflam games, until now it is almost impossible for a man to flash a deck of cards in the smoking compartment of a Pullman without the atmosphere growing a dozen degrees colder. A man who has been bitten once doesn't care to have the experience repeated." — Rochester Post-Express.

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT

NORTH YAKIMA, WASH., SEPT 15, 1900

The City Schools.

The city schools will reopen October 1st with a corps of twenty-two teachers, sixteen grade teachers, three high school teachers, two special teachers, and a superintendent. The board of education has engaged the services of Mr. Thomas Wilson, of Wisconsin, as supervisor of music, and Mrs. Elizabeth Reynolds Thompson of this city, as supervisor of drawing.

The desirability of restoring music and drawing to the school curriculum cannot be questioned. Systematic instruction in these subjects contributes very largely to the efficiency of the schools, training the voice, eye and hand to execute with care and precision, thus supplementing materially the instruction in language, mathematics, and science, in the home, in the community is only good—it purifies, elevates, disciplines; while drawing trains the eye and the hand along industrial and artistic lines of practical value in business and social life. The other subjects in the public school curriculum have a higher educational and culture value when properly taught. The board of education feels gratified in being able to offer to the boys and girls, the young men and women of our city instruction in music and drawing by real artists who will give a portion of their time each day to the work. Instruction in drawing will be confined to the grades, while music will be extended into the high school.

Next week we shall have something to say about the new course of study for the grades and high school, now under consideration by the board. A list of the new text books for each grade with prices will be given the public that exchange may go forward at once.

Pupils failing in any subject last June who desire to make up the deficiency and advance with their class, or who wish to take advanced standing, will meet the superintendent for examination in the Central building as follows:

Friday, Sept. 21, at 9:00 a. m., grades 3 and 4; at 1:30 p. m., grades 5 and 6; Saturday morning, 22nd, grades 7 and 8; p. m., high school deficiencies.

The superintendent will be present at his office in the Central school regularly each school morning hereafter for consultation with patrons or pupils. New pupils, as yet unclassified in our schools, should arrange for their work now to avoid delay later when the rush comes.

William I, American Imperator.

Nowhere does the dread presence of American imperialism reveal itself more unmistakably than in the character of its personal embodiment, William I, William the conqueror of subject races, William the enslaver of the American people, William the destroyer of republican institutions, William the autocrat of his cabinet, William the tyrant who forces his iron will and firm intellectual convictions upon all minds and hearts.

This our despot has come up through strange vicissitudes. He was not always thus. He used to be so good natured as to go on other men's notes and spend his money as fast as he made it. He used to worship the protective tariff with a naive and open sincerity of heart. Knowing nothing of the money question in 1891, he pleasantly fell in with party emergency and denounced Cleveland for betraying silver. When the St. Louis convention of 1896 came on he palpitated between the uncompromising gold men and the simple hearted "bimetallists." When the Paris treaty was under negotiation he hesitated again, and only could make up his mind after swinging around the circle and hearing applause for expansion sentiments. When the Maine was blown up he was for peace until congress declared war. When Alger grew distasteful he had to get Hobart to tell Griggs to tell Alger to resign. When Porto Rico came up he was strong for free trade until congress came out for a 15 per cent duty, and then he was for anything congress was for. He was for civil service reform, but he couldn't resist the Ohio appeal to encroach on the classified list. He let Gage demand and Dawes denounce banking reform simultaneously. How firmly he resisted applications for appointment of favored sons and sons-in-law to the volunteer army! How loudly he stamped his imperial foot for speedy justice in the Carter case! How like flint he sets his face against senators clamoring for recognition of their pets with postoffices and collectorships! How he converted Gage to the gold standard and imposed his ideas of diplomacy on Hay! How he railroaded his platform through at Philadelphia and resisted the rural demand for Roosevelt for vice-president! How he disciplines Platt and Quay and rules Mark Hanna with a rod of iron!

Taken by and large, this is certainly one of the most relentless willed and stony hearted unlimited monarchs known to history. No wonder that gentle, shrinking souls like Grover Cleveland and Tom Reed start back in dismay at the spectacle of his autocratic power. No wonder that the imperialistic dominion of William I at once arrests the attention and arouses the indignation of every man with wheels in his head.—Portland Oregonian, rep.

Rogers is the Man.

The Bryan conventions at Seattle did the brave and only correct thing by endorsing and reaffirming the best state administration and the best governor this state has ever enjoyed. To turn Governor Rogers down after such a record of honest, competent, conscientious and courageous service would have been a vital blow to the reform forces of the state as well as to the national ticket in this commonwealth.

Back of Rogers stand the business and taxpaying supports of this state, and after much depressing experience with rule or ruin politicians in office like the McGraw ring, the people who have to stand the net, material consequences and to pay the bills are in no mood to be trifled with again—they are not ready to experiment with the figure-head and toy of ring politicians, for they have found a man of good judgment, conscience, honor, independence and courage who has proved beyond all question his eminent fitness to stand at the helm of state and guide in the true course of sound, intelligent, honorable government.—Whatcom Blade.

On a Pretty Face

Glasses are often an improvement—always so on the face of one who really needs them. They drive away that squinting, drawn, unnatural expression seen in defective eyes.

The old style, heavy bowed, ill-fitting and ill-looking spectacles, fitted by one's self or incompetents, have given people the idea that glasses detract from one's appearance. Our light, strong, serviceable glasses enhance rather than spoil the looks of the wearer. Eye defects a specialty.

ELIMINATING ALKALI.

The System Devised by R. P. Tjossem Proves Successful.

The question of the reclamation of alkali land is an important one in this valley and the elimination of that deadly element from our soil means a largely increased acreage, greater production and consequently more prosperity, not to speak of the beauty it would add to the landscape. No man in the valley, perhaps, has given more study to this subject than R. P. Tjossem and that he has perfectly solved the problem is absolutely demonstrated by the tangible and astonishing results which he is now able to show.

Mr. Tjossem, after trying every conceivable phase of irrigation came to the conclusion that relief lay in drainage, but the great expense of a system stood as a bar to its adoption. Then he began to evolve a machine that would make feasible the system he had in mind, and he now has it in thoroughly practical shape. What it will do is shown in the beautiful field of clover and alfalfa now growing on land that two years ago was a veritable bed of alkali, upon which salt grass would scarcely grow; in fact, it was utterly worthless. About fifty acres have been treated by Mr. Tjossem and fifteen acres of this have been seeded and this year six large hay stacks adorn the tract. The crop is clover and alfalfa mixed and the first cutting yielded three tons to the acre; the second, now being cut, is yielding two tons, and a finer quality of hay is not to be found in the state. As this hay is today worth about $10 a ton the transformation from the alkali state may be appreciated. These are facts that can be substantiated without any trouble and are known to all the residents of the south end of the valley.

Now, for the system: Mr. Tjossem designed and had made here a ponderous plow whose furrow is made four feet below the surface. The plow, of course, is very heavy and strong and its beam, made of 8x10 fir timber, is attached to a wire cable, which winds around a drum on a whim propelled by two horses. To start the plow, a hole four feet deep is dug and the plowshare is lowered to the bottom to get a level start. Behind the point is a follower, a large iron, cart-ridge shaped, dragged by a short chain. This leaves an opening behind the plow. On a cable behind this point are knuckles four feet apart which pick up and carry along the trench the tiling, which is 4x4 inches inside, with only two sides and top. The knuckles bring the four-foot sections of tiling together snugly, and thus, four feet beneath the surface is a drain that will last for all time. Pine or fir is used for the boxing and any quality, almost, will do, and Mr. Tjossem has fixed the cost at 20 cents per rod.

The number of drains necessary depends altogether upon local conditions. The field above mentioned has a long main, and several laterals, which may be fifty or two hundred and fifty feet apart according to the necessities. This fifteen acre tract has about 300 rods of drain pipe. The plow does all its work so far below the surface that the ground on top is scarcely disturbed and a plowing practically obliterates all trace of the work.

By this system the reclamation of alkali land is not expensive, and the work is done rapidly. Its value is especially noticeable in Mr. Tjossem's field, for the alkali land that has not been so treated abuts against this reclaimed soil and reveals the alkali evil in all its hideousness, forming a contrast that cannot fail to convince the most skeptical. It has attracted the attention and interest of the agricultural college faculty. They are investigating it carefully and an unqualified endorsement may confidently be expected. Those who are troubled with alkali will certainly consult their own interests by carefully investigating Mr. Tjossem's system.—Ellensburg Capital.

Cupid in Politics.

A queer contract was lately made between J. B. Johnson, a wealthy wheat-grower of Santa Fe, Haskell county, Ks., and James Howard, the suitor for his pretty daughter Mary. The father is an enthusiastic republican, and the lover a determined democrat. The former has signed an agreement reading: "I hereby consent to a union between James Howard and my daughter Mary, if President McKinley is not re-elected president of the United States," and the latter a no less positive declaration of relinquishment of a claim founded on mutual affection, if Bryan is defeated in the presidential contest. It is quite certain that some very determined work will be done by James, and some very fervent prayers made by Mary for success of the democratic nominee, and if he is elected, which now seems quite probable, there will be a happy wedding before the cold days of winter set in.—Ex.

Worse Than Waste.

With vast areas of land in the west that by the expenditure of a few million dollars for irrigation would sustain millions of white men in comfort and happiness;

With the slums of our city crowded with men and women and children who clamor for the education that will fit them for citizenship in the republic;

With public improvements, roads, bridges, etc., imperatively needed even in the oldest and most thickly settled parts of the country;

With taxes pressing heavily upon those least able to bear;

With opportunities for the expenditure of every dollar of surplus money in advancing the enlightenment, the comfort and the civilization of the masses of the people who live in these forty-five states—

We are spending $713,000 a day, according to the official figures upon war. Is this good sense? Is this patriotism? Is this glory? Is this duty? Is this destiny?—New York World.

The Strains They Suffered.

For exercise in expression the teacher daily asks her scholars to describe some of the happenings of the day at home.

Little Minnie, loquitor: "When my papa went to go down into the woodshed the other evening, where it was dark, he slipped on the stair and strained his foot, and now he can't walk."

Here another little girl was evidently reminded of something, and she raised her hand and fluttered it to get the teacher's attention.

"Well?" suggested the teacher.

"Please, ma'am, when our cow came home from pasture last night she slipped in the mud right in front of the house and strained her milk, but she is able to walk just the same."—Lewiston Journal.

A Text Book for the Campaign of 1900

BY W. H. HARVEY,

Author of "Coin's Financial School."

This Book is Now Having a Wonderful Circulation.

The retail price is 25 cents. In size it is 35 pages larger than "Coin's Financial School," profusely illustrated, with best paper, enameled cover in two colors. Its treatment of the subjects of Money, Trusts and Imperialism is exhaustive and yet simple and plain as A B C's. It will educate and arouse the American people to a common defense of their homes and the heritage of free institutions. It teaches organization and points out the remedy. It is educational and practical. It should be in the hands of every man, woman, boy and girl in the United States.

The book is a school, and the little boy COIN is the teacher. His school in May, 1894, "Coin's Financial School," electrified a nation and moulded the political sentiment of a National Political Party.

COIN ON MONEY, TRUSTS AND IMPERIALISM may be expected to rally anew the forces of human liberty.

Our Next Governor.

Two facts there be that make the reelection of Gov. John R. Rogers, if not a certainty, at least a well founded probability.

To begin with, he is the best and most popular governor this state has ever had. Statements to this effect have been reiterated so many times by so many people of so many political persuasions, that they are become talk of everyday occurrence. It is not denied that the governor is extremely popular among all classes of citizens in all parts of the state.

The other fact of importance is found in the general weakness of his opponent, and in particular the feeling against him in all the agricultural districts of this state. The country people, as well as having good and honest hearts, have acute memories. If a man has ever turned them down hard they do not pass the knowledge over lightly. This fact machinates against the Honorable Mr. Frink. During the years 1894-7, inclusive, Mr. Frink was state senator from King county. Through the space of those four years many attempts were made by the farmers of eastern Washington to get bills through congress reducing freight rates on wheat. It is on record that in each instance the Hon. Mr. Frink voted with the corporation, and against the Washington farmer. Six years ago the last attempt of this kind was made. A bill for the regulation of freight rates on not only wheat but also on all grain, lumber, shingles, hay, etc., was successful in passing the lower house. When it came to the senate it was lost by a majority of one vote. The fact is known to all interested men in this state that the man who now aspires to be their next governor at the hands of the republican party, the Hon. J. M. Frink, cast that vote. They have agreed that the man who would continue to do such little acts of kindness for the railroad companies, from year to year, does not exactly fill the bill—and their decision is wise.

Governor Rogers has added both confidence, dignity and wealth to the state of Washington during his administration. Let them croak who will, the fact remains that they have not denied any of these statements or attempted to besmirch his character, and only one conclusion is potent.—They can not.—Seattle Mail & Herald.

The Seattle Convention.

The action of the reform forces of the state in uniting in one convention, nominating a democratic ticket and heading that ticket with the name of John R. Rogers, places Washington safely in the Bryan column. The union of forces is even more perfect than in 1896, when the fusion ticket swept the state by an overwhelming majority. Then the populist candidates were selected by the populist convention, the democratic candidates by the democratic convention and the silver republican candidates by the silver republican convention. This year the three conventions united in one to select the candidates and every man nominated secured a two thirds vote of the delegates.

The renomination of Governor Rogers will add strength to the whole ticket. There was some bitter opposition to him but it was made up of disappointed office seekers or men whose pet schemes had been thwarted by the executive. The Thurston county delegates opposed him solidly because he defeated the capitol scheme, but his action in that matter was generally approved in the state and will make him five votes for each one he loses in Thurston county. Governor Rogers has made a record upon which he can well afford to stand or fall. The mere fact that the republican state convention could find no weak point in his administration to attack is the very best proof of his strength with the people. The opposition centered in Thurston, King and Pierce counties and from all other parts of the state the demand for his renomination was vigorous and unmistakable. Having once enjoyed a clean, honest and economical administration, the voters of the state will not turn back to the extravagance and corruption which prevailed under the McGraw ring.

The other candidates on the ticket are worthy of their leader. Ronald and Robertson for congress make a very strong team. Both are known and recognized as men of ability, integrity and vigor. The people of Whitman county know and honor W. E. McCroskey, the candidate for lieutenant governor, and realize that if he appoints the senate committees, a freight rate bill will be pushed and not smothered in committee.

The other candidates are clean and able men respected and popular in the localities where they reside and, if elected, will help hold up the hands of Governor Rogers in the work of pulling the state out of debt and placing all the state institutions upon a solid basis where they can do the most effective work.—Colfax Commoner.

Full Dinner Pails.

The Baltimore Sun hits the nail square on the head. It bursts the full dinner pail agitation of the republicans right in the middle, and wades into the party with both feet, in the following terse language:

A "full dinner pail" is not so rare a thing in this land of plenty. The inmates of our almshouses and jails are fed three times a day. The worst convicts in our state prisons have their dinner pails filled as a matter of course. The farmer does as much for his cattle. The cows get their corn with regularity, and likewise the pigs their swill. But are Hanna & Co., quite sure that American workingmen are to be captured and taken into the imperial camp and harnessed up to drag the chariot of the trusts in a triumphal procession of grasping greed and soulless commercialism by the mere assurance that they shall fare as well in the matter of meals as paupers and criminals, and be as regularly fed as if they were cows or swine?—Durango (Col.) Democrat.

His Present Fad.

"You don't seem to be buying many rare books nowadays," said Perkins to Jimpsonberry. "Got tired of collecting?"

"No," replied Jimpsonberry. "Changed my hobby, that's all. My boys have grown some in the past seven or eight years, and I've taken up the fad of collecting derby hats and trousers and shoes and other things of that kind. I have a splendid collection of school bills, too, I'd like to show you."—Harper's Bazar.

The Hindoo Dead.

The Hindoos consider their dead as sacred and do not allow them to be handled by alien hands, the nearest male relative—son, father or brother—preparing the body for burial, and if there be none of these relatives a son is adopted by the family for the purpose.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7, 1900.

Mr. McKinley is still in Washington, but instead of devoting his time to Chinese matters—he has reason to think that there will be no withdrawal of allied troops from Pekin for many months and that the settlement of the matter will not be until long after the election, he is hard at work studying up schemes to help his waning political fortunes and to head off the stampede of republicans to Bryan, which confidential reports have caused him to fear. He will send four members of the cabinet on the stump. Postmaster General Smith has already gone to Maine and from there will go on an extended speaking tour, including West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas and any other states where there is a demand for his services. Secretary Wilson will stump in agricultural sections. Attorney General Griggs will not make a long trip, but will speak wherever Hanna desires, and Secretary Root will make a few speeches, mostly in the big cities. Mr. McKinley's personal task is to try to answer in his letter of acceptance some of the broadsides fired at the administration by Col. Bryan in his speeches, and he recognizes that it is a difficult one. Secretary Gage is not a speaker, but he was ordered to write the answer to the recent letter of Hon. Carl Schurz, which tore up Mr. Gage's recent attempt to create a financial scare so effectively, and as soon as he finished the task he went away for a month's vacation. The contents of Mr. Gage's last letter may be summed up as "what I said first, I say last."

Senator Blackburn spent several days in Washington this week. He has no doubts of the result in Kentucky. He said of democratic prospects: "Mr. Bryan will carry the state by a large majority. Mr. Beckham will also be elected. There is already a movement on foot to flood Kentucky in November with U. S. deputy marshals. It has been talked over by the republicans and the plans will be carried out. We have but one U. S. district in Kentucky, and Judge Evans presides over the court. He and I have long been warm personal friends. We served together in the state legislature, and there has never been anything to mar the pleasant social relations between us. But in politics Judge Evans is a bitter and narrow partisan. The law allowing deputy marshals at the polls was repealed eight years ago, but last year Judge Evans claimed authority for appointing them, and he will do so again this year."

It is stated that the cabinet considered the horrible stories of looting and murder in China by the Russian and French sections of the allied army, sent by the associated press, and published all over the U. S. this week, and decided to do nothing, because the matter did not concern the U. S. If that decision was actually made, Mr. McKinley and his advisers have made another serious mistake. This government has made itself an equal partner with the other powers which have troops in China and the improper acts of the troops of any one of those powers does very seriously concern the U. S., as Mr. McKinley will learn when the people are heard from. The proper thing for this government to do is to ascertain officially whether those stories of horrible barbarities, which would disgrace an army of savages, are true, and if they are, to make a strong protest to the governments of Russia and France, accompanied by a demand that steps be taken to prevent their repetition while this government is a member of the alliance. If such things are countenanced, the claim of civilization and Christianity now made by the allied powers will necessarily become ridiculous.

Chairman Richardson, of the democratic congressional campaign committee, will during the remainder of the campaign divide his time between congressional headquarters, in Washington, and the New York branch of the national committee headquarters.

The administration this week decided that Minister Conger should remain in China and represent the interests of this country until some sort of a settlement is reached. This decision was largely brought about by the published interview with special envoy W. W. Rockhill giving views antagonistic to those held by the administration. Rockhill has denied the authenticity of the interview, but it is not believed that the denial will save him from a speedy recall. Although stated in the most positive terms at the state department that nothing is officially known of the replies of the powers to Russia's proposal for the evacuation of Pekin, there is plenty of evidence in sight that the administration knows the nature of those answers, whether it knows officially or unofficially; that it is, in fact, acting upon that knowledge. Long messages were received this week from Minister Conger and Gen. Chaffee. The latter was made public but not the former.

The Land Company Wins.

Judge Hanford, of the United States court, has recently rendered a decision of great interest to a number of local stockmen. The court decides in the favor of plaintiff in the suit of the Northern Pacific Land Co., vs. James Cunningham wherein the former asked for a perpetual injunction against the latter to restrain him from pasturing his sheep upon a large body of railroad land situated near the dividing line between Yakima and Klickitat counties. The defendant set up the plea that he had no means of knowing which was railroad and which government land. The court's decision in effect is that the burden of proof is on the defendant, who was supposed to inform himself as to the ownership of the grazing land before he intruded thereon.

This is regarded as a test case and is of much significance as it ends the long controversy between the Land company and a large number of stockmen who have up to this time refused to enter into contracts.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Supt. Plumb announces that a county teachers institute will be held in this city from Sept. 24 to 28 inclusive.

Local produce shippers are somewhat embarrassed over their inability to procure cars fast enough to facilitate the movement of their freight.

Pearson & Watt, the grocerymen, this week moved their stock of goods into their new quarters at the corner of the avenue and Second street.

Some of the district schools of the county begun the fall term last Monday. The majority, however, will not open until the first week in October.

J. T. Wilson, of "Horse Heaven" and Miss Lizzie Lee, of this city, but formerly of Kiona, were married at the Pettit house on Monday by Rev. U. F. Hawk, of The Dalles.

A. E. Poole has purchased the Stone ranch nine miles up the Natches. This place contains a hop yard of 55 acres and is regarded as one of the most productive farms in the county.

Blanch Montgomery through her attorney I. M. Krutz has begun an action for divorce against Lee Montgomery. Cruelty, desertion and non support are named in the complaint as cause of action.

A. D. Sloan on Thursday shipped by express to his relatives in Cumberland, Maryland, a box of apples that were of remarkable size even for this country. No apple in the box weighed less than 20 ounces. The express bill was $3.45.

Rev J. H. Wood, the popular pastor of the M. E. church, of this city, and Miss Ella Hollis, of The Dalles, Ore., were joined in marriage at the parsonage on Saturday afternoon, Bishop E. G. Andrews, of New York, officiating. The happy couple received the congratulations of their many friends present at the conference.

James Stuart, the well known contractor, this week finished the construction for F. Groshen at Toppenish, a frost proof warehouse 50 by 150 feet in size, which Mr. Groshen will need this fall to store away the immense spud crop that he will harvest from his 240 acre patch of potatoes and his 40 acres of onions.

Beach & Bowers' minstrels will be the next attraction at Larson's Theater on next Tuesday, the 18th. Those who shall be fortunate enough to be on the streets on that day will see the most unique parade ever given by a minstrel company. These artists carry three bands of music and many new features which will prove very interesting to theater goers.

Mrs. L. Shultz of Seattle on Thursday lost her purse containing about $23 in money, a gold nugget, pair sleeve buttons, a trunk check and a return ticket to Seattle. She would be thankful for the return of one-half the money and the other articles to this office or to T. J. Lynch. The loss occurred between this city and the Lynch hop ranch on the upper Ahtanum.

Rev. H. M. Mobbs, one of the Methodist ministers who was here in attendance at the conference had the misfortune to lose his valise by theft while waiting for a train on Monday. He left the missing article in the depot, while he went back to the church. Before leaving the depot he had noticed that there was no one in the waiting room, save a rakish looking individual who appeared to be asleep. When he returned a few minutes later both man and grip were gone, and the unfortunate minister was left to mourn the loss of his big grip which contained among other useful articles a valuable dress suit.

Yakima now has two candidates for congress, W. L. Jones and J. A. Adams. The latter gentlemen was nominated for this exalted station by the state convention of the prohibition party in session at Seattle last week. Mr. Adams who was not present at the convention, says that he does not know what he has done to be entitled to such a mark of high distinction, but since the nomination came to him entirely unsolicited he cannot but consider it a very high compliment.

The belated west bound passenger train on Monday morning run into the hand car operated by the section men near Toppenish. Section foreman Nick Ratting, who was on the hand car, received some painful injuries in jumping, although by the leap he saved his life. He was brought up to town the same day and placed under the care of Dr. Gunn, the company physician. The cow-catcher of the engine was pretty well knocked out by the impact when the hand car was run down.

Wm. H. Jeffers, aged 63 years died quite suddenly at his home in Zillah on Monday afternoon from an ailment of a dropsical nature with which the unfortunate man had been afflicted for the past three years. The funeral took place on Wednesday, interment being made in Tahoma cemetery. The deceased leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters to mourn his loss, only one of whom—a daughter—resided at home. Mr. Jeffers had resided in this county for about six years, during which time he had been engaged in farming. He had previously for a great many years followed the vacation of a traveling salesman.

Notice to Bryan Men.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the supporters of Wm. J. Bryan will be held at the court house in North Yakima on Saturday evening, Sept. 22, for the purpose of organizing a Bryan and Stevenson club. J. D. MEDILL, J. F. GARRETT, J. R. COE, Committee.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wilson, of Wide Hollow, on Sept. 13, a son.

C. H. Hoffman, a new owner, has purchased the Mikado ice cream parlor from A. S. Dam.

People who have rooms to let during the fair, are requested to leave their names and location at this office.

A gang of drunken Indians were taken before Justice Taggard on Monday and given 10 days in the city bastille for misbehavior.

The marriage of Mr. John C. MacKay, of Hong Kong, China, and Miss Anna Cameron will take place at the Episcopal church at high noon today.

The "King of the Opium Ring," a four act melodrama by Chas. E. Blancy, will be presented at Larson's theater on Saturday evening, Sept. 22.

The local band are practicing almost nightly in the city hall in anticipation of the coming state fair for which they have been engaged to furnish the music.

The Methodist conference complied with the request of Rev. A. C. Brackenbury, of Prosser, for a change and accordingly transferred him to a pastorate at Antelope, Ore.

The ordinance recently passed by the city council against expectorating on sidewalks or public buildings is now in effect and the public is warned by cards distributed about town, not to violate the law under a penalty of a fine not to exceed five dollars.

The band boys dance, at Switzer's opera house on Friday evening, was a complete success in every way, about 120 couple being in attendance. The net receipts of the evening were $125, which will be used by Prof. Nagler to purchase new uniforms for the band members.

The large hop house on the Storrow place, two miles west of town was consumed by fire on Thursday night resulting in a total loss of the structure, which was covered by insurance of $700. About one ton of hops was in the house at the time, the loss on which is fully covered by insurance. This is the second hop house that has been lost by fire on the Storrow ranch during the past five years.

Miss Maud Miller, daughter of Rev. S. H. Miller, the Dunkard minister at Sunnyside, died at the hospital on Tuesday night of typhoid-malarial fever. The remains were shipped to Sunnyside where the funeral took place on Thursday. Miss Miller came to this city in July to take the teacher's examination and is said to have studied so hard in preparation that she became ill as a result. She was 18 years of age and was very popular with all who knew her.

Surveyor Sydney Arnold and staff completed the preliminary survey of a proposed reservoir site in the upper Wenas valley on Saturday. After an investigation of both the Sherman and the Cameron sites Mr. Arnold has concluded to recommend the former as the most advantageous location for the storage of water. He estimates that a dam of heavy mason work, 100 feet in length and 80 feet in height would answer the purpose. Since the scheme has been demonstrated to be feasible, local advocates of the reservoir system believe that the coming session of congress can be induced to make a sufficient appropriation to construct the much needed Wenas reservoir.

German Press for Bryan.

One of the most striking signs of the coming democratic landslide in this country is the number of influential newspapers which formerly supported McKinley and which are this year giving their hearty support to Bryan.

In New York, the World, which supported Palmer and Buckner four years ago, now espouses the cause of Bryan with telling force, while the Herald and Evening Post, though favorable to McKinley on minor issues, are giving the democratic ticket strong support on the paramount issue of imperialism. And the Journal, which was a journalistic infant in 1896, is now grown to be one of the greatest newspapers in the world and has never wavered in its staunch support of Bryan.

In Chicago, where the democratic ticket had no newspaper support in 1896 there are now three great dailies, the Chronicle, the American and the Dispatch, which are enthusiastically supporting Bryan, and the Record, with the largest circulation in the city, is warmly endorsing the democratic platform and taking up the fight against imperialism.

In Baltimore the Sun, which lays down the law and the gospel for Maryland, was opposed to Bryan in 1896, but this year the Sun is giving the democratic national ticket and platform a loyal support, which ensures Maryland's electoral vote for Bryan and Stevenson.

In Cleveland, the old democratic organ, the Plaindealer, which left the party in 1896, is back in the ranks again supporting Bryan with all its old-time vigor.

The Indianapolis Sentinel wandered off after strange gods in 1896, but this year it has returned to its old faith and is out for the democratic ticket and platform.

The following clippings are taken from some of the prominent German papers, which are now supporting Mr. Bryan:

New York Staats-Zeitung, N. W. (Independent, circulation 56,600): "The so-called German vote is at present awaiting developments, but it can be positively asserted that the republican candidates will not receive as many German votes as four years ago. While the overwhelming majority of the German-Americans voted for McKinley in 1896, it is very doubtful whether he will receive a majority, or even a large percentage of this vote this year."

Freie Presse, Chicago, Ill. (Independent, circulation 40,000): "Mr. Bryan received in 1896 about 30 per cent of the German vote. This year he will get from 60 to 80 per cent of that vote. Imperialism is the paramount issue with the Germans this year."

Demokrat, Evansville, Ill. (Independent, circulation 4000): "Bryan will receive the great majority of the German vote this year. Imperialism is the issue."

Germania, Grand Rapids, Mich. (Independent, circulation 2500): "Bryan will get the majority of the German vote in this state. Imperialism and militarism will be the issue, because many of the Germans left the fatherland on that account."

Freie Presse, Wilmington, Del. (Independent, circulation 2500): "Bryan will get the majority of the German 'Bryan will receive many more German votes than in 1896. Imperialism and trusts are the issues."

Missouri Staats-Zeitung, Kansas City, vote, on the issues of imperialism and trusts. The Germans are tired of war and want peace and liberty."

Anzeiger and Herold, Grand Island, Neb. (Independent, circulation 2500): Mo. (Independent, circulation 3000): "Bryan will get nine out of every ten German votes this year. The position of the republican party toward the two struggling South African republics and the belief that a secret alliance exists, or that it may become a fact, between this country and England has had this effect.—National Democrat.

For the State Fair.

The State Fair commission announces an old time Yakima Indian war dance as one of the attractions for some day during the Fair. This is to be under the supervision of Chief White Swan and will be participated in by none but old warriors. They have requested that no cultus Indians or boys be permitted on the grounds during the show, and the commission will have special police service to protect the dancers. Such men as White Swan, Saponowox, Elgin, Alexander and others of the old timers will be the dancers. This will prove one of the greatest attractions of the Fair, and will be a genuine dance in every particular.

The young Indians will have many horses at the Fair for racing and the program for such events will be crowded during the afternoon of the five last days of the Fair.

The general exhibition features of the Fair are coming in at a good rate. Entries are being received every day and the indications are that the several departments will be well filled with everything that goes to make up a good fair. The superintendents of the pavilion, horticultural and agricultural departments are at work now getting things in shape and decorating the pavilion for the Fair week.

Special railroad rates have been given by the Northern Pacific covering the points in Washington reached by that road, and many from the outside are making applications for space for exhibiting various things. The commission wishes to empathize the fact that the Yakima people must get in their exhibits early so that they may be properly arranged.

Look Out at Night

For the big electric lighted trade mark on the rear end of the Northern Pacific's North Coast Limited. It burns all night and leaves a trail of splendor behind to astonish the natives. Send to our agents for our North Coast Limited leaflet.

The management of the sensational melodramatic success, "King of the Opium Ring," had difficult work to induce the Chinese who are employed in the production to join the company. These people lend a touch of realism to the play and the Chinese children toddling about in the several scenes of the piece catch the fancy of all. "King of the Opium Ring" will be seen at Larson's theatre on Saturday, Sept. 22.

Electric Fans.

Will keep the dining and observation cars on the new North Coast Limited—Northern Pacific—cool and comfortable. Electric lights light them at night. Electric berth lights in Standard Pullman sleeping cars and a big dome light on rear observation car platform.

All the local citizens who attended the "smoker" given in honor of the Seattle visitors at the Commercial club rooms on Monday evening, are profuse in praise of the splendid hospitality as well as the good executive ability displayed by the special committee on entertainment, which consisted of Messrs. Larson, Donald, Fechter, Hall and Frank. These gentlemen in their capacity as hosts on that memorable occasion done the honors for the club so handsomely that it seems to be the unanimous opinion that they ought to continue as a standing committee for like occasions in the future.

Don't be Afraid.

To write to A. D. Charlton, A. G. P. A., Portland; A. Tilling, general agent, Tacoma; I. A. Nadeau, general agent, Seattle; J. W. Hill, general agent, Spokane; G. A. Graham, North Yakima, about the Northern Pacific's new train service. They are paid to answer questions. All you have to do is to ask them.

The "King of the Opium Ring," with its picturesque grouping of characters taken from life in San Francisco's Chinatown when opium smuggling was at its height, the law defied and politicians corrupted, will be the attraction at Larson's theatre, Saturday, Sept. 22.

Proposed Amendment to the Constitution.

STATE OF WASHINGTON,
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE,
OLYMPIA.

To Whom it May Concern:
In obedience to an act of the legislature approved March 13, 1899, entitled as follows: "An act providing for the constitutional amendment conferring power upon the legislature to exempt certain property from taxation," there is herewith published for the consideration of the voters of the state of Washington the following proposed amendment to the constitution of said state:

"SECTION 1. It is proposed to amend section (2) two of article seven (7) of the constitution of the State of Washington by adding thereto the following proviso: 'And provided further, That the legislature shall have power, by appropriate legislation, to exempt personal property to the amount of three hundred ($300.00) dollars for each head of a family liable to assessment and taxation under the provisions of the laws of this state, of which the individual is the actual and bona fide owner.'"

"SECTION 2. That at the general election to be held in November, 1900, the amendment hereinbefore mentioned in section 1 shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State of Washington for their approval, and there shall be printed on each of the ballots provided for said election the words 'For proposed amendment to section 1 of article 7 of the constitution in relation to taxation.' Against the proposed amendment to section 2 of article 7 of the constitution in relation to taxation."

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the State of Washington, at Olympia, this twentieth day of July, Nineteen Hundred.

WILL D. JENKINS,
Secretary of State for the State of Washington.

At said election each elector desiring to vote in favor of the adoption of said proposed amendment should place an X upon his ballot opposite the words "For the proposed amendment to section 2 article 7 of the constitution, in relation to taxation." Each elector desiring to vote against the adoption of said proposed amendment should place upon his ballot an X opposite the words "Against the proposed amendment to section 2 of article 7 of the constitution, in relation to taxation."

WILL D. JENKINS,
Secretary of State.

WAS A GREAT EVENT

The Visit of Seattle's Business Men to North Yakima.

They Express Astonishment at the Wonderful Resources—Royally Entertained.

One of the most pleasant and important events in the social and commercial history of North Yakima was the visit of the delegation of 49 business men, of the Queen City, who were the guests of the Commercial club, of this city, from Sunday until Tuesday.

The party arrived on the Sunday afternoon train from Seattle, numbering in all 49 persons, representing not only the Chamber of Commerce, of that city, but nearly every wholesale and prominent retail establishment of the place. The excursion party on its arrival at the depot was met and welcomed to this city by the reception committee representing the Commercial club consisting of Messrs. Larson, Hall, Frank, Donald and Fechter, who conducted the visitors to the hotels where accommodations had been arranged for them. Sunday evening was spent by the visitors according to their own inclinations, many of them attending the Methodist services in Larson's theater while others spent the evening pleasantly at the club.

On the following morning according to program the committee and its assistants were on hand with a number of rigs and took the visitors out for a drive to view the natural beauties and bounteous products of the surrounding country, some being taken up the Ah-tanum, others to the Natches, Moxee and other valleys. The drives for the most part were repeated in the afternoon and the guests on returning expressed great wonderment and satisfaction on what they had viewed on the trip.

In the evening the visitors were all on hand at the "smoker" given by the club which was not only a smoker in point of fact but a fruit festival as well. Under the supervision of W.T. Clark and W.H. Wroe a large quantity of very toothsome looking fruit of various kinds as well as melons had been secured from nearby ranches and temptingly and artistically displayed upon the long table in the middle of the assembly room. In addition there was a large quantity of choice fruits and melons on hand with which to serve the large assemblage.

The meeting was called to order about 9 o'clock by Edward Whitson who had been selected to do the honors of the occasion. Mr. Whitson delivered a brief and fitting speech and then introduced Mayor W.H. Redman who had been invited to deliver the address of welcome and who spoke as follows:

"Business men and gentlemen of Seattle:

"North Yakima is fifteen years of age, and having enjoyed a healthy growth from her birth to the present she casts aside her short dresses, and recognizing your sterling manhood, she steps forth in longer skirts to greet you. For sometime she has had a good many nice fellows coming to see her, and Seattle has been looking on her with winning smiles; and now that she has become more peachy than ever it is entirely natural that you should come over on Sunday afternoon to call on her and that she should receive you with open arms; and also that you should ride out together to some of the various trysting places round about and together talk over the old, old story of love.

"And inasmuch as your acquaintance has been of reasonable duration and your affection has grown sufficiently ardent, there is no reason to delay the wedding. Besides you will both 'marry rich.'"

"And being fully satisfied that your companionship will prove a pleasant and happy one, and that together your riches will augment to greater fortunes, I therefore as one of her (city) fathers am here to give the bride away to you and bestow upon you my blessing and benediction.

"But Mr. bridegroom elect, I have to warn you; mark well: This consort you are taking will require many things from you. Her demands will be many. She will expect you not only to furnish all her Christmas goods but all kinds of goods at any and all times, both from your stores and factories. She knows you have them and she'll demand her share of them. At times she may become a little extravagant. But in return, I promise you, she will provide and set before you both dainty and substantial foods three times a day, three hundred and sixty-five days in a year.

"And I'll tell you something more about her: She'll always be fruitful. She'll bring forth great litters every season. She believes in increase. She knows the multiplication table and wants to verify it. She's of a family of that kind. She believes in expansion and so do you. You of the Bryan persuasion, don't misunderstand me; I'm not talking politics, I'm talking business.

"I'll tell you something more—something of gossip I've heard about you which I believe to be true: I understand it is your purpose to court and wed other towns—many of them—round about you. But we don't object to that kind of polygamy. North Yakima won't be jealous; she may strive to be first in your affections, but she won't be envious. She'll take her chance among others of being next to you. As you have already observed she has many good husbands round about her that she thinks a good deal of.

"But I want to tell you a secret; I want to caution you: You will need to treat her well, as no doubt you will, for if you don't these other fellows who have been courting her will slip in and attempt to steal her away from you, and she may not be over particular whom she consorts with.

"Business men of Seattle, North Yakima greatly and profoundly appreciates this your kindly visit to her precincts. We are proud of you as our guests and are more than pleased to entertain you. May this auspicious event mark the beginning of still better days and redound to the continuing and unending building up of our mutual welfare. We thank you for your presence among us and trust you will come again and again."

The mayor's witty speech was frequently interrupted with uproarious applause and the sentiment was thoroughly appreciated by the visitors. Mr. Englehart was next called upon to speak and in responding made a most favorable impression on the large audience.

Dr. W. H. Hare was the next orator called upon and in his characteristically witty manner kept the crowd convulsed with laughter while he described the bountiful harvests produced on the reservation.

A number of the visitors called upon by Chairman Whitson, responded in brief speeches, all giving testimony of their great appreciation of the great merit and advantages of the Yakima valley. Mr. A. B. Wyckoff, the last speaker, who is well known here on account of having been formerly a resident of this city, made a telling address in which he reiterated his oft expressed belief that the Yakima valley was destined to become one of the richest and most populous agricultural districts in the world.

After the formal speechmaking was over the chairman announced that everybody could consider themselves at ease, and the balance of the evening was spent most pleasantly. The committee on reception and entertainment received the thanks of all present for the splendid quality of the refreshments that were so lavishly distributed.

Before leaving the club room the visitors were each presented with a small basket packed with a varied assortment of Yakima fruits to take home with them; which supply was supplemented in the morning with a number of luscious melons.

The opinion of everyone seems to be that the excursion was a grand success and will prove a mutual benefit to the people of the two communities.

The Bravery of a Woman

Was grandly shown by Mrs. John Dowling of Butler, Pa., in a three years' struggle with a malignant stomach trouble that caused distressing attacks of nausea and indigestion. All remedies failed to relieve her until she tried Electric Bitters. After taking it two months, she wrote: "I am now wholly cured and can eat anything. It is truly a grand tonic for the whole system as I gained in weight and feel much stronger since using it." It aids digestion, cures dyspepsia, improves appetite, gives new life. Only 50c. Guaranteed, at Quiett & Ayres, Drug Co.

R. Strobach, the new democratic state central committeeman from this county has been honored by being selected as a member of the executive committee by Chairman Henry Drum.
