

POSITIONS

WITH THE

U. S. ARMY
ORDNANCE MISSILE COMMAND

— POSITION VACANCIES —

SPECIAL VACANCY LIST

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE
LAS CRUCES, NEW MEXICO

NUMBER OF VACANCIES

POSITION AND GRADE

SALARY

1

Supervisory Physical Science Adm.,
GS-835-15

$12,770 - $13,970

Serves as Chief of the Planning and Analysis Office, Range Instrumentation Development Division.

Responsible for the research and development of sub-systems assigned to the division for investigation. Serves as chairman of the Research Advisory Committee for the division, which is established for the purpose of exploring novel techniques, principles, and ideas in the field of systems engineering, particularly communications, instrumentation, computation, and control.

Applicants must have high caliber managerial ability, experience in coordination, and technological experience in the field of electronics.

1

Supervisory Ordnance Engineer,
GS-835-15

$12,770 - $13,970

Serves as Chief of the Plans Office, Mission, Plans, and Operations Division (G-3)

Responsible for preparation, coordination, and/or supervision of preparation of overall White Sands Missile Range long range and mid-range plans.

Assists the Chief of this division in exercising staff supervision of technical mission organization, such as Ordnance mission, integrated range mission, Signal mission, etc., in the coordination and preparation of their internal long range and mid-range plans.