ALL AT SEA.

The Party of Hanna and Roosevelt
Split Into Warring Factions—Big Crop of Local Candidates.

Notwithstanding the cool and unfavorable weather this spring a goodly number of political booms are being hatched within the ranks of the "grand old party" in this county. Some of these are still in embryo and are yet hardly distinguishable to the naked eye. Others are being hatched from political eggs left over from previous campaigns; at any rate the party hen is on the nest with that end in view. It is not to be expected of course that the eggs will all turn out well, but the individual owners thereof are hoping for the best results and all seem to be in a hopeful and expectant frame of mind.

The above statement applies more particularly to the county offices. Regarding the legislative outlook, the situation is not nearly so well defined. As a matter of fact the home politicians of the g. o. p. are very badly at sea as to the way things are going to shape up in state politics this year. The leaders, of course, all have their favorites for U. S. senator, but as most of them are watching the course of events closely and as they are all extremely anxious to occupy seats in the band wagon, they are just now engaged in laying low and "sayin' nuthin'." Indeed, as a rule, they are so suspicious of each other that it seems to be mutually taken for granted that a silent tongue means a wise head.

The reason for this condition of things is due, as a matter of course, primarily to the unsettled state of affairs within the party throughout the state. The situation was badly mixed before, but since the entrance into the arena of two such gladiators as Gov. McBride and Hon. Harold Preston, it has simply become confounding. Both are or assume to be, stars of the first magnitude and the fact that they are in the field preparing for a vigorous campaign has put the old stagers hereabouts on their guard, so to speak. They all want to see how the governor's plans promise to pan out before they pin their faith either to him or his candidate for the senate.

Yakima for years has been regarded and for the most part has been a Wilson stronghold. With but few exceptions among the leaders since the downfall of John B. Allen, the word and wishes of the Spokane statesman has been the law among the faithful here. This is not as true now as formerly, however. Indeed, the signs are multiplying that the rule of the little boss is now swiftly passing in Yakima county. Strange to relate, even two or three of his old time lieutenants and most faithful workers here are now anxiously, it is said, awaiting an opportunity to gracefully board the Ankeny bandwagon.

The edict is said to have gone forth from the office of Attorney Grosscup at Tacoma, that Levi Ankeny, the millionaire banker of Walla Walla, is to be the real thing this year in the shape of a senatorial candidate and that he will have the undivided support of the railroads according to the terms of the treaty arranged during the last session of the legislature. If this statement is true, and it probably is, it means that many of the boys who have been working faithfully in the Wilson trenches for these many years, will now desert the cause of their former chief as rats would a sinking ship and rally around the standard of his old time enemy. The Spokane candidate, so his enemies say, is still holding on in a frenzied way to the coat tails of the railroad bosses, begging piteously not to be thrown overboard, but the big boss is said to be inexorable on that point.

It is clear, at any rate, that the stock of the Walla Walla man is now going up, whatever may be the cause. That the Ankeny-Foster alliance now regard Preston as its arch enemy is also clearly apparent. Another portentous fact that looms up in the vision of the political observer is that Yakima county is to be this year one of the hotly contested battle fields between these two opposing forces.

It is not cause for surprise then that the long list of local politicians who are reputed to have legislative bees buzzing in their bonnets, are chary about disclosing their ambitions or acknowledging their preference for U. S. senator. They must first be given time to find out where they are at.

Regarding aspirants for the different county offices, there is already a long list which is being added to daily. The sheriff's office seems to be the mecca for a large number who wish to serve the dear people. Among those who are being freely discussed for the shrievalty are the present deputies, J. A. Leach and J. W. Sindall, Geo. Ker, C. E. Lum, A. L. Dille, Captain Simmons, A. S. Paul, Assessor Robt. Scott, Doc Hare and Tilton Phillips of Mabton. The latter gentleman, however, states that he is not in the race.

For the office of auditor there are three conspicuous candidates in the field, namely, W. B. Newcomb, the present chief deputy, ex-auditor F. C. Hall and last but not least, Justice J. C. MacCrimmon.

There are the same number of avowed candidates for that desirable plum, the clerkship, with others in reserve. Those who will actively seek the party endorsement are Deputy J. W. Day, City Clerk H. B. Doust and Dell Fox, a merchant of Zillah.

For treasurer, Deputy E. G. Peck is said to be an active candidate with good chances of success against a scattering field. Ex-Banker G. S. Hough and others now in the background are likely, it is thought, to make a contest for the place. The fight for assessor has hardly yet taken form although Deputy Coonse is likely to make a try for the job and will probably have the backing of his chief, Robert Scott.

For prosecuting attorney W. P. Guthrie, the present incumbent, will doubtless ask for a renomination. Will Thompson may possibly conclude to make a contest for the office, while Lawyer Krutz, though handicapped by reason of being a raw recruit, is believed to be in an expectant attitude and would be happy to have the thing come his way.

It will thus be seen that the woods are full of candidates and that the fur is apt to fly before convention time.

The DEMOCRAT in throwing the searchlight of publicity upon all these little boomlets, does so without the desire to injure any of them in the least or to unduly inflame them to the detriment of others yet invisible. We devote so much space to a review of local republican politics simply for the good and sufficient reason that the public desires to know the situation and naturally look to this paper to learn it.

ODDFELLOW CEREMONIES.

Corner Stone of the New Temple to be Laid Today—Impressive Ceremonies.

This morning beginning at 10 a. m. the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of the new Odd Fellow temple at the corner of Yakima avenue and third street, will begin. Grand Master Ellsperman of Tacoma will conduct the exercises, assisted by Grand Secretary Hart of the same city.

The local lodge of Odd Fellows will convene at its hall in the syndicate block at 9 o'clock, at which meeting all visiting members of the craft in the city are invited. The Rebekahs will also convene at the hour named and with the Odd Fellows will take up the march to the site of the new temple. The ceremonies will occupy about an hour and a half, after which a banquet will be served to members of the order at the present lodge room.

The corner stone is a massive block of cut stone about two feet square. On the two sides facing the streets are carved the three links, the number of the lodge and the initial letters "I. O. O. F." burnished in silver. In the upper part of the stone a receptacle has been chiseled out in which will be placed a copy of each of the local papers together with a type-written history of the lodge and certain souvenirs of the occasion. The affair will conclude with a grand ball in the evening.

Superior Court News.

The jury term of the superior court convened Monday morning with Judge Rutkin on the bench. The first case heard was that of the State vs. Thos. Maroney accused by Saloonkeeper Fletcher of having stole a barrel of whiskey from him. The prisoner had a jury trial and was acquitted, the jury being out 40 minutes.

In the case of J. H. Foster vs. the Pioneer Mutual Insurance Co. of Seattle, a verdict was given the defendant for $1000, the amount sued for.

The case of J. W. Freeman vs. C. K. Curran, suit to recover on a promissory note, verdict was rendered in favor of defendant.

The case of the State vs. John Little and James Wright for violation of the sheep quarantine law was bitterly contested. Whitson & Parker and Graves and Englehart were employed as special counsel by certain sheepmen to aid W. P. Guthrie in the prosecution, while H. J. Snively represented the defendants. In the trial of the case several sharp passages occurred between the attorneys. The jury found a verdict against the defendants.

The case of H. W. Freeling against Oscar Anderson went to the jury 11 a. m. Friday.

As the DEMOCRAT went to press an effort was being made to secure a jury to try the case of B. E. Parton vs. E. W. Dooley.

Warm While It Lasted.

S. Huntington the hop buyer and Jay Spencer of the Western Union office, tried conclusions with their "dukes" as they met in front of Fawcett Bros. store Tuesday morning. The encounter was caused by a quarrel the day before between Huntington and the elder Spencer. Officer Nat Yates happened along just as the melee was at its height and arrested both participants. Judge Nichols on hearing their tale of woe fined young Spencer $10 for precipitating matters, but later remitted the amount on the promise of good behavior.

Sunday, May 11—Return game "Hop Pickers" vs. Ellensburg at Ellensburg.

Hutson, alias George, the colored desperado who broke out of the city jail here Sunday and was brought back from Pasco Tuesday by Marshal Grant, is now securely lodged in the county bastille, having been bound over to the superior court in the sum of $1000 for jail delivery. George's first offense was stealing a pipe from a Chinaman. In breaking jail George liberated two other prisoners who were soon after apprehended by Officer Yeates.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE of Indiana, young and bombastic as he may be, probably best represents and is an abler and bolder spokesman of the new republican policies than any other man in public life. Beveridge is a brilliant man and has the merit of being frank and open, which traits of character probably make of him a more dangerous man to the country than he otherwise would be.

Beveridge is the most advanced imperialist in the country and the most outspoken among the champions of the trusts. In a speech delivered before the republican state convention of Indiana last week, referring to trusts the "Hoosier" senator said:

"And now the opposition proposes the destruction of those agencies of the people's developing energies. It is the policy of disaster. True statesmanship says: 'Hands off the activities of the American people and they will achieve as never nation yet achieved.' Let the American people alone. That is the keynote of this campaign and of all campaigns."

It thus appears that Beveridge not only thinks that a trust is a good thing but is an institution to be encouraged and that any man henceforth who has ought to say against any creation of the "captains of industry" is an enemy of the peace and prosperity of the American people.

Touching the matter of the foreign policy of the government, this avant courier of the imperialistic forces has the following to say. "American mastery of the world is the faith of the republican party. It is the purpose and passion of our lives. Onward, ever onward, let the grand work go on. Retreat, never a single step! When we young men of this convention are bent and gray may our dim and failing eyes be cheered with the vision of the old flag master of all the seas; and our dull ears be gladdened with the music of the old fife and drum, which never yet has sounded except in righteousness, calling to council the nations of the world, where in justice, power and glory the great republic shall preside."

The conquest of the world then is the mission of the republican party. All the nations of the earth then are either to be subjugated or made to acknowledge our power. And who can doubt but that Beveridge sounded the keynote of republican policy since he has the ear of the strenuous war lord of the white house. Can any good republican, that is, of the Lincoln stripe, read such riotous and damnable doctrine as promulgated by this leader without a blush of shame?

This man Beveridge has been sneering repeatedly at those whom he terms "little Americans" because they refuse to subscribe to his revolutionary ideas of what is or should be the destiny of this country. But if anybody is guilty of treason it is such as he, who would destroy the pillars of free government at home by advocating a policy abroad which even if successful would only make his country a tyrant among the nations and sooner or later would cause her overthrow.

Beveridge is too dangerous a man to have a part in a representative form of government. He ought to be suppressed.

A MEETING was held at Olympia on the 25th of representatives of the different commercial organizations of the state. The object of the gathering was to discuss ways and means to secure "suitable" representation for this state at the St. Louis exposition next year.

A resolution was passed as the sense of the meeting that the sum of $10,000 should be raised by the commercial bodies in order to defray the necessary expenses of the commission appointed by the governor from now until the meeting of the next legislature. It is assumed that the lawmaking body will appropriate a goodly sum for the purpose of making a state exhibit and that the patriotic gentlemen who come forward now with their money to aid the enterprise will be reimbursed next winter.

The DEMOCRAT, speaking for itself, is free to admit that it hasn't much use for this way of doing business. In the first place, while it may be very creditable for public spirited citizens to come forward at this time with the cash we fail to see that they really have any right to assume that the state should pay the money back. Such an argument is based on the assumption that legislators are workable and can easily be induced to vote away the people's money.

This exposition business is being run into the ground anyway and is getting very monotonous. It has got to be a chestnut and the taxpaying public have grown weary of being called upon to pay the fiddle. These expositions are gotten up primarily for the purpose of promoting real estate booms and trade booms in the communities in which it is proposed to hold them. A proposition to bring in suckers by the trainload that they may be fleeced right and left by the home population is one that appeals to the selfish instincts of people engaged in trade. The business men put up the money to give the thing a start. Then the news is heralded abroad that a big show is to be held and a lot of smooth tongued fellows are sent to Washington to lobby for an appropriation of a few millions to put the scheme on its feet. They generally succeed in holding up Uncle Sam and then a loud demand is made upon every state to put up the money for a state exhibit. The state appropriations, too, are most always secured through the efforts of well organized lobbies, made up usually of the fellows who are looking for soft jobs on the commissions to be appointed. This is the history of the Omaha exposition, the New Orleans exposition, the Buffalo and the Charleston expositions and all the rest. It will also be the history of the St. Louis and Portland enterprises and the thousand and one that are yet to come.

Why should the poor devil of an ordinary taxpayer, who never has the money to spare to go to one of these circuses, be compelled by law to dig up his share of the expenses? Echo answers, why?

The Columbia (Pennsylvania) Independent warns the democrats of Pennsylvania that in selecting candidates for office they must not yield to the demand of the re-organizers and nominate men who have been working with the republicans. It is strange that such a warning should be necessary in any state, and yet wherever the re-organizers are pleading for harmony they are proposing to secure it by the nomination of men who have been recreant to the party in the recent past. If the men who have opposed the party really desire to help the party in the future they ought to be willing to serve in the kitchen a short time before they demand a place at the head of the table. A harmony that requires the degradation of those who have been faithful and the exaltation of those who have been unfaithful is a harmony that will not yield a return in votes. Any person with any knowledge of human nature would understand that the rank and file would be offended by the giving of undue prominence to those who have boasted of assisting the republican party.—The Commoner.

THE continued attacks of the Washingtonian on the city government apparently has no effect other than to cause people to laugh. Not but what there may be plenty of room for improvement in running the municipal mill, for like everything else in this world city governments are never perfect.

The DEMOCRAT believes, however, that the present city officials of North Yakima are conscientiously trying to do their duty by the people and that all are men of at least average honesty. The "big four" seems to be the special object of the fighting colonel's wrath. The gentlemen referred to as the big four are city dads of this town and the colonel probably feels that it is his duty to roast them because they are so constituted that they refused to recognize genius in the distribution of city patronage.

As the colonel is himself a prince among good fellows, the public is not disposed to take his caustic criticism of the dads seriously, especially so if he doesn't keep it up too long. In case the colonel should run out of material on which to practice his peculiar reforms and is looking for a quartet of real enough villains the DEMOCRAT would respectfully call his attention to the "big four" who manage the affairs of his party in this county.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has at last called Freddy Funston down and informed him squarely that he has been using his mouth too freely in criticising other people and that he wants him to make no more after dinner speeches in which he assumes to outline the policy of the government.

The president's rebuke of the wild eyed young Kansan is good, although somewhat tardy. Funston's head seems to have been turned by the amount of slobbering that has been done over him. He has been so much in evidence lately with his swagger talk that even the strenuous Teddy, himself, has grown weary of him. If Funston has sense enough to know when he has got a good thing he will keep his mouth closed hereafter and let the properly constituted authorities run the affairs of the government.

THE London press is exhibiting a good deal of alarm lest J. Pierpont Morgan with his devil fish of an ocean trust is to gather in old England and devour her piecemeal. The papers there are in an unpleasant frame of mind over the New York wizard's apparently successful attempt at controlling the commerce of the Atlantic and are howling calamity as hard as any populist paper in this country. But it will be of no use; our English cousins must get used to the assimilating process as we are compelled to get used to it here. Morgan is after them, there can be no question about that, and he is going to revolutionize their methods of doing business, too.

THE recent operations of the beef trust in arbitrarily raising the prices of dressed meat throughout the country has opened the eyes of the people to the evils of trustism as nothing else could have done. This greedy trust has raised a storm of opposition, particularly in the labor centers of the east, by its wanton interference with the breakfast table of the workmen. The democratic and independent press of the east is now almost unanimously of the opinion that the beef trust has unwittingly removed the last barrier in the effort being made to drive out of power the present republican majority in congress.

THE Washingtonian seems to be imbued with the idea that pretty much everything needs reforming in this neck of the woods except the Rainier forest reserve, the natural watershed of this valley. The astute colonel who shapes the policy of the junior organ knows full well on which side of the creek the mut-

A PROPOSITION to build an electric or a steam road from this city to the town of Sunnyside is one in which the people of North Yakima, especially should take a deep interest in, for such a line, if built, would mean much to the business interests of this community as well as a powerful agency for the development of the district traversed.

Notwithstanding the cool nights of the last few weeks and the generally unfavorable weather this spring there never was a better prospect of a fruit crop in the Yakima valley than appears at this time. From different sections of the county fruit growers report that the bloom and the setting fruit is uninjured.

THE action of Senator Foster of this state in opposing the passage of the Mitchell Chinese Exclusion bill will do him no good among the laboring classes of this state. In strong contrast stands the attitude of Senator Turner who warmly favors the most drastic measures to keep the pig tails out.

COL. MILES CANNON has the unique distinction of being the only Wilson man who has successfully run the gauntlet of executive approval lately at Washington. The colonel has been enabled to do this only by cause of his intimate business relations with the junior senator from this state.

BIG ANNUAL CIRCUS.

Coming to North Yakima Thursday, May 8th.

What promises to be a great event for the amusement lovers of North Yakima is the forthcoming visit to this city of Norris & Rowe's Trained Animal Shows. Beyond question, there is not an amusement in America that has such a hold on the public's favor as these big moral shows. The rise of this great enterprise is phenomenal. First, starting small it has risen year by year with tremendous strides until the present season, it is now the largest and best. The past season was a record breaker. In San Francisco, Portland, Salt Lake, Denver, Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul, hundreds were turned away at every performance and its tour was one continuous ovation.

The press and public were unanimous in declaring it to be the brightest and best show of its kind in existence, and it made an undying name for itself and its hustling progenitors. The career of Messrs. Norris & Rowe illustrate the typical thrift, integrity of purpose, ingenuity of representative western men. Their success has nearly all been achieved in the West, and Western ideas of honesty and fair dealing have gained for them a reputation that is as carefully preserved as it is well merited. The season of 1902 of the Norris & Rowe's Trained Animal Shows make long rapid strides in advance of similar exhibitions in the way of size and grandeur. The special features this season are the performing lions, camels, seals, elk and baby elephants, while many of the popular features of past years are retained, so that taken all in all they give as clever a performance as one could wish to witness.

Teachers' Examination.

Notice is hereby given that the regular quarterly teachers' examination will be held at the Court House in North Yakima, May 8th, 9th and 10th. Sessions will begin promptly at 9 o'clock a. m. Pens, paper and ink will be provided free. S. A. Dickey, County Superintendent.

From the Commoner.

There is nothing democratic about a political platform that receives no criticisms from republican organs.

“America is good enough for me,” remarked J. Pierpont Morgan a few days ago. Whenever he doesn't like it he can give it back to us.

Lieutenant Potts has been promoted.
He is the naval officer who earned promotion by accusing Schley of cowardice.

Thirty-seven years ago this month,
Abraham Lincoln died. During that 37 years a great many principles advocated by Abraham Lincoln have been assassinated.

Mr. Hanna's efforts to befriend Rathbone prove that Mr. Hanna is a believer in reciprocity. The investigation of the Hanna senatorial election revealed that Mr. Rathbone was a mighty handy man at the telephone.

Mr. Knox asserts that if he finds such a thing as a beet trust he will get after
it. It will be remembered that Mr.
Knox could see nothing resembling a trust in the steel combine. The inference is that the beet trust is not worrying about Mr. Knox.

“It is difficult to create prosperity by law,” sagely remarked the president in Charleston. And every tariff protected naginate that heard him smiled a knowing smile and winked the other eye.

Senator Spooner is another republican senator who promises to give his “careful attention” to the constitutional amendment providing for the election of senators by the people. Isn't it strange that the senators who are opposed to the plan always talk about “serious consideration” and “careful attention” while the friends of the measure state their opinion frankly? The explanation is that the opponents are hoping to avoid a vote.

Knapp for Government Owner- ship

The trend of popular thought is significantly shown in the advocacy of government ownership of railroads by Martin A. Knapp in a public lecture at Cooper Union in New York. Mr. Knapp is not an inexperienced theorist. He is chairman of the interstate commerce commission. He was a member of that commission by President Cleveland in 1897,
and since 1898 has been chairman of the commission. For 11 years, therefore, he has time exclusively to the study of railroad problems, and the conclusion
he has reached that the government should own all the railroads has not been arrived at hurriedly.

Mr. Knapp bases his arguments for government ownership on the broad ground that the highways from the earliest period were considered public property. Additional and stronger reasons are found, however, in the startling abuses in railway management that have come to his knowledge while investigating railroad problems as an officer of the government. He declares that the railroads are taking unto themselves civil rights that belong only to the government; that they have allowed the function of public carriage to be the subject of special bargains or secret deals to be made unequal by favoritism or oppressive extortion.

This remarkable declaration will be read with widespread interest. It may be the means of bringing this great issue
into the next presidential campaign.
Indeed it is not improbable that this question of government ownership may become the absorbing issue in 1904.

Ellensburg "Harmony" Meeting.

Some humorous news comes from Ellensburg this week. Last Saturday night a "harmony" meeting is said to have been held in a leading saloon in order to try to reconcile the wide differences of opinion that have existed for several years between a trio of distinguished attorneys and republican leaders of that town.

Through the efforts of mutual friends
the three hitherto hostile limbs of the law met and for the first time in many years fraternized freely at the bar.
It was a veritable love feast. As the inner man was being refreshed each of the gentlemen in turn expressed to his fellows how sorry he felt over the unpleasantness of the past and what good friends they would all be in the future.
These friendly assurances were given and taken for some time until the red liquor, of which they had all been partaking too freely, commenced to get in its work. After a while two of the lawyers began to argue, from force of habit, probably, and then the argument got warm. One feeling insulted at a remark passed by the other, suddenly knocked him down and then, pandemonium reigned. When the "harmony" meeting adjourned at least one of the harmonizers is said to have been so much in need of repairs that he was unable to attend church the next day.

Wm. Cree and Miss Lena Sloutee, Indians of the reservation, took out a marriage license Thursday.

Deputy Sheriff Landerdale was down from the "burg" Wednesday to visit his relatives.

John Aldrich of the Hotel Vanderbilt,
Ellensburg, was a witness in court here Friday.

J. F. Tandy of Worth county, Mo., is here
the guest of A. F. Snelling, an old friend, Mr. Tandy is here to look over the country.

Hop contracts were filed this week with the county auditor amounting to about 50,000 lbs. The price agreed on in nearly all cases is 12 1/2c.

J. M. Edwards arrived Thursday from Walla Walla on a visit to relatives. Mr.
Edwards is employed by the state as a guard at the penitentiary.

The High School nine drubbed the picked nine from Ellensburg on the Capitol Hill grounds to the tune of 8 to 5. It was a remarkably good game.

Mrs. E. M. Harris left some fruit sprigs at this office Friday that are a perfect mass of blossoms, indicating what a tremendous fruit crop there is likely to be this year. The specimens came from the Grant place north of town.

Otto Gilstrap who has been the local editor of the Republic for the past month, will leave today for his home at Eugene, Or., where he will resume his labors as city editor of a daily published at that place by his brother. The newspaper men of this city regret his departure as during his short stay here they have all learned to appreciate him. Mr.
Gilstrap is a writer of recognized ability and ought to have a bright future in his profession.

At the annual election of the Ladies
Musical club held recently, Mrs. H. M.
Bartlett was elected president; Mrs.
Frank Horsley, vice president; Mrs. E.

Bessie Hall, corresponding secretary;
Mrs. A. E. Pool, treasurer; Mrs. J. B.
Burns, librarian; musical committee,

Gilbert and Miss Read.
