Department of the Interior,

OFFICE OF INDIAN AFFAIRS,

October 22, 1891.

To Indian Agents and Superintendents of Indian Schools:

Your special attention is directed to the circular letter issued by this Office December 10, 1889, in regard to the inculcation of patriotism in Indian schools, in which are stated the national holidays that are celebrated during each year by the people of the United States. This circular may be found in the report of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, for 1890, page CLXVII, of which you have a copy. Immediately following this are notices in reference to "Franchise Day", "Washington's Birthday", and "Arbor Day."

I desire you to read these circulars over very carefully, and to make it a special point, in celebrating these days, to have the exercises as appropriate and interesting as possible.

Very respectfully,

J. J. Morgan

Commissioner.
