

KATZENJAMMERS MAKE BIG HIT

Miss Lyle Gamble and Miss Grace Oviatt Win Honors—Fred Alter, Charley Wenner, Harry Baylor and Dr. Campbell Also Stars.

The local lodge of Elks should feel gratified at the complimentary audience which greeted the Katzenjammer Picnic at the Yakima theatre last Tuesday night. Considering the large number of people in the show, the little ones, the big ones (and those who were not so big, but thought they were), the sweet ones, the pretty ones, the unruly ones, and the tame ones—including Charley Wenner and Fred Alter—why, the Elks big show must be classed as an unusual success. Miss Thompson, who worked hard and faithfully to make it the success that it was, deserves much credit. It is no snap to take the responsibility of getting up an amateur show—especially when the responsible one has to contend with a few bright and shining lights, as are always found in an amateur company of 100 people. That Miss Thompson was financially rewarded for her work is but a superfluous statement to make at this time, as nearly everybody in the city saw the Katzenjammer Kids, and know that the opera house was crowded to capacity. Even the boxes were taken, and standing room was sold.

Speaking collectively the men in the show were good. Speaking of individual efforts, some were good, and others were better. That the young ladies easily carried off the honors—and many there were distributed—is even conceded by Fred Alter, Charley Wenner, Harry Baylor, Dr. Campbell and Guy Grafton, and it must be so, if these old stagers will concede it.

If it were possible, in speaking of the individual efforts of the girls, to pick one who appeared to greater advantage than did another, was there one seated in that large audience who failed to note the excellence with which Miss Lyle Gamble rendered "My Pretty Little Kiekapoo"? Her voice was sweet, clear as a bell, round, and full of tenderness. She was assisted by six girls gowned in Indian blankets. The scene was a moonlight effect, and the great applause accorded the specialty gave evidence of how it pleased. From an artistic standpoint Miss Gamble's specialty, that of Miss Doris Arrowsmith, and Miss Irma Dull bear separate distinction from the balance of the performance. Miss Arrowsmith, in the presentation of "Gypsy John," assisted by the entire company and a bevy of beautiful dancing girls, never sang to better advantage. Her appealing voice pierced the hearts of the boys in the gallery, as well as those who sat in the dress circle and noted the easy manner with which she manipulated her tones.

The Chinese specialty of Miss Irma Dull received the vociferous applause that it deserved. Miss Dull was perfectly at home on the stage and her voice pleasing and strong.

Mrs. Edward Bryant, who created a reputation for herself in the Pirates of Penzance a year ago, gave two numbers the opening and closing songs of the show. Her first song, "Love Me and the World Is Mine," was not well adapted to her voice, but her charming demeanor on the stage made up for any other deficiency that might have existed, and she received a demonstrative encore. In her final effort, "The Yankee Doodle Girl," assisted by the whole company, she appeared to much better advantage.

Now, among the girls in the humorous realm of Mr. Katzenjammer's family, the honors must be divided between Miss Grace Oviatt and Miss Marie Richards. The former as Sis Hopkins could not have been improved upon by the cleverest woman of the professional world, playing in this role. Miss Oviatt acted as though she had been trained for the stage under the direction of Marie Cahill. Her song, "Man, Man, Man," was well sung. Throughout the entire frolic of the picnic grounds Miss Oviatt sat at ease and created many a good natured laugh from those who were fortunate in being in the audience.

Miss Richards, the flighty old maid, as a character impersonator, called forth the applause of the audience. She displays remarkable stage presence, and seems to like the fascinating influence of the limelight.

A delightful feature of the Katzenjammer show may be mentioned in the variety and excellence of the different dances of the girls. "Frocks and Frills," song and dance by Miss Vera Cook, Miss Della Schott, Miss Doris Arrowsmith, Miss Varian Cook, Miss Lily Varker, Miss Emma Crawford, Miss Emma Dull and Miss Lyle Gamble, was vigorously encoored. Every one of the girls sang fine, and were so fetching in their white dresses and red stockings and slippers, that the prolonged applause they received is not to be wondered at.

A song and dance that stands out preeminently, however, and can not be passed by without due consideration, was the Teddy Girl song, "Montana." Six of the belles of the village had been chosen to make this specialty a winner, and it certainly got the candy.

In the center stood Miss Grace Oviatt, conspicuous by her commanding presence and graceful as the deers that roam unfamed upon Montana's hills. Next on her right came Miss Gretchen Crawford, beautiful in her simplicity, with just enough red on her cheek to blend nicely with her dark hair and heavy eyebrows. On Miss Crawford's right stood Miss Anna Davis, whose clear soprano voice was plainly heard above all the rest. She was at once attractive. Standing immediately to the left of Miss Oviatt was Miss Della Schott, a popular high school girl, whose symmetrical figure and fascinating smile brought tears to the eyes of the high school boys. Then came Miss Marie Richards, whose charms have been mentioned above, and Miss Esther Ryan, demure maiden, whose winning ways on and off the stage, keeps Ben Gunn working hard all the time, with the object in view of eventually becoming president of the Emporium firm.

The wooden shoe dance of Miss Iva Sweet, Florence Coe, Grace Listmann, Edith Melvor, Edith Fischer and Miss Rebecca Nestor, was odd and delightfully quaint.

In the sailor's hornpipe dance, Miss Inez Hilley, Ethel Henni, Mabel Ransom, Bertha Rasmer, Lillian Varker, May Ransom, Alice Jones, Hazel Taylor, Mildred Engdahl and Lellie Waldbly, added a lustré to the scene on the picnic grounds.

Now that the girls have all been dealt with, except some to be mentioned later on, in this connection the graceful Egyptian dancers must not be passed by.

The dancers entered while the stage was in darkness. This was deemed advisable by the management and readily approved by the participants, after some discussion, because it was a question of conjecture just what the reception or rather the nature of the reception to be accorded by the spectators, would be. These were but natural questions to arise in the minds of all concerned, and will be easily understood when the names of those who took part in the dance are given further on. Well, in the first place there was Alfred Burns. Think of him dressed in pink tights. He hardly knew what to expect from the crowd and suggested that all enter upon the stage in darkness, and then that the lights be turned on gradually for the benefit of the audience. "Sure," said Dr. H. E. Wight, another Egyptian dancer of the kind that pleased Pharaoh, "this is a good suggestion of Dr. Burns, don't you think so, Thacker?"—and the well known local contractor answered, "You bet," at the same time kicking in the air attempting evidently to try out the elasticity of his pink tights, fearing possibly that an accident might occur during the heat of the action, which was soon to follow.

"But," said Charley Barnes, the hustling manager of the Boston store, "what is the idea of entering the stage in darkness and then turning the lights on gradually? I am not ashamed of my form, and I don't see why fellows like Ben Kohls, Lars Nelson, J. P. Okey and so on should be afraid of theirs."

"Certainly; that's what I think," chirped George Donald, the smallest and one of the most graceful of that beautiful bevy. "I'm proud of my figure if it is small," continued Georgie, as he chuckled one of the girls under the chin who stood near by admiring his pretty ankle.

"Neither am I afraid of being handed a lemon," spoke up Joe Steiner, whose graceful movements attracted unusual attention. "Nor I," said Darwin Redfield. "I feel just like the pictures of Apollo look to me. I say let's enter the stage in a blaze of glory."

But the majority ruled, and the course suggested by Dr. Burns and Dr. Wight prevailed. The description of the dance is not necessary. Of course, opinion on the merits of the presentation are divided.

But what about Papa Katzenjammer? He was there in a thousand ways. Freddie has had a lot of nice things said about him on other occasions. He always acquits himself like a veteran of the footlight brigade, and therefore, "more is plenty." Madam Katzenjammer caused many a side splitting spasm from that enthusiastic audience. Charley and Fred reflected great credit upon their ancestors.

As for Guy Grafton and Dr. Campbell, the kids, they did well under the circumstances. Neither one had an opportunity to exercise all of his talented limelight capabilities, but just the same they got off some good local hits that tickled.

Harry Baylor won the plaudits of the house in his Irish comedy, and his song, "Play the Star Spangled Banner," assisted by Alter, Campbell, Grafton, Wenner, Miss Oviatt and Miss Richards, was loudly encoored.

L. O. Meigs and the entire company presented the song, "Good Fellows." Mr. Meigs was in good voice and sang in his pleasing characteristic manner. Who ever saw a more typical policeman than jolly Dan Reilly made?

Bob Brautigam and Alfred Burns, as the college boys looked and played their parts to perfection. Miss Catherine Muller, a tall and strikingly handsome young lady, gave a most favorable impression by her stage presence.

Miss Ruth Marshall rendered very well the song, "Because I Love You, Dear." She was dressed in white and wore a fragrant bunch of roses.

The members of Company E who participated in the grand finale added greatly to the general effect obtained.

PULLMAN GLEE CLUB WELL RECEIVED HERE

Washington State College Boys Played to a Large Audience at Yakima Theatre.

The entertainment of the Washington State College Glee club given here last Monday night at the Yakima theatre was of a very high order. A large appreciative audience turned out to greet the boys and girls from Pullman. The specialties of the students were enjoyed to the fullest. The songs of the male chorus and quartet were vigorously encoored. The club is having a most successful trip, but among the places they have visited thus far, they have graciously doffed their hats to North Yakima, and declare the reception given them by the local people was not only unexpected and undeserved but unusual.

That the visitors from Pullman deserved all they got and more too is the consensus of opinion among the people of this city who were fortunate in meeting the crowd. Every one of the boys were fine fellows, gentlemanly, and their excellent behavior here reflects great credit upon the discipline and excellence of the state college as an institution.

The special features of the state college glee club this year are presented in the performance of Miss Bertha Seabury, the finished violinist, and Miss Beatrice Trainor, the pianist. These young women brought down the house by their wonderful playing. They are thinking of returning here for the summer and establishing a studio in the city during the vacation season. They would doubtless be able to get up a large class of pupils.

BUTTE MAN BUYS.

Visits the City and Makes Purchase in the Moxee.

A. W. Burnett of Butte, Mont., was a visitor in the city this week, and before he left town determined to make an investment in the valley.

While talking to Postmaster W. L. Lemon, the latter remarked to him that he ought to take a drive out through the valleys and get a better idea of the country.

"Sure," said Mr. Burnett, "I would like to do this, and if I find a piece of ground that suits, I might buy it."

Now it so happened that Mr. Lemon owned a 20-acre tract in the upper Moxee, twelve acres of which have been planted in fruit bearing orchard. He accordingly drove Mr. Burnett out to this place, and before the party had returned home that night the deal had been closed.

Mr. Burnett dropped into the Democrat office on Thursday afternoon, subscribed for the paper, and left immediately for Montana. He expects to come back here later after closing up his business in Butte.

Lewis Bolles looked especially handsome, although his associates could not be beaten.

Now, the little folks, whose singing and dancing were not dimmed by the performances of those mentioned above, but whose contributions guaranteed the success of the entertainment, were enjoyed beyond words to express.

Clever little Marguerite Green brought down the house with her song, "Walking Home With Angeline."

"Mama's China Twins," sung by little Karol Kreutzman, and Tabitha Linderman, was delightfully entertaining. The Quaker specialty presented by Catherine Geisel, Randall Indson, Wilmar Kean, Willie Cushman, Ruby Marble, George Ransier, Ray Linderman, Willie Ward, Irene Trotter and Arleis Trotter was so funny nothing too good can be said of it.

The Katzenjammers may come again.

THE SPLAWN BOOM IS ON

Popular Yakima County Pioneer is Urged to Run For Governor—Join the Jack Splawn Club, the List is Growing.

The old timers of the Yakima valley are coming to the front as was expected in the interests of the Jack Splawn boom for governor.

Enrollment for membership in the Jack Splawn club began early Sunday morning when a number of people met the managing editor of the Democrat and asked for the privilege of signing the roll. The list of names continues to grow, and towards the end of this week communications were received from remote districts in the county with the request that their names be added to the club.

One man from the Selah valley sent in the following letter:

"Please add my name to the 'Jack Splawn club.' I have never heard anything but words of praise and commendation of him for well nigh 27 years.

"Signed, JOHN COWAN."

The date has not yet been set for the calling of the democratic county convention, but it is generally understood now that the entire delegation will be instructed to do all in their power in the interests of the Yakima man.

A very funny thing occurred this week in connection with the Jack Splawn gubernatorial boom. A well known republican in the city called at the office of the Yakima Democrat and asked to see the manager.

"I called by to say this to you," he began. "Of course, you know that I have always been a republican."

"Yes, I believe that is true," said the manager.

"Well, I want to say this much, that it doesn't make any difference about my republican politics if Jack Splawn runs for governor. He'll certainly get my vote and support. I don't want to sign the roll just now, because I think it better to work on the quiet, but when the roll is called later on you'll find me in line."

No, this was not Col. Meadson, and besides it is no cinch that Mead will get the republican nomination. In the event that he does, why, there will probably be something in the nature of a general revolt in Yakima county, and in that event, such a guess would not be considered a bad one.

"Get on the wagon."

MRS. FRANK CAREY GETS $750 DAMAGES

Attorney John Lynch Makes Clear Argument in Behalf of His Client—Sued City for $2500.

Attorney John Lynch of this city sprung a surprise in the superior court this week when he succeeded in obtaining a verdict of $750 for damages in the case of Frank Carey and wife against the city.

The trial of the suit occupied three days, a large number of witnesses being examined. There were those among the lawyers who had been inclined to poke considerable fun at the suit of Attorney Lynch. They laughed at the idea of his being able to recover.

The astute attorney proved much cleverer than was anticipated, and in his clear cut argument before the jury convinced his hearers that there was much merit in the suit. The amount sued for was $2500.

Mrs. Carey claimed that she fell through a hole in the plank crosswalk on Yakima avenue at Seventh street. The accident occurred while the city contractor was digging a sewer trench under the crosswalk in the fall of 1906.

Now comes City Clerk Brooker and alleges that Contractor Gilligan will have to pay the damages awarded by the jury stating that the city is protected in its contract by a clause touching on such accidents.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Miller left the first of the week for Seattle and other Sound points to be gone several days on pleasure.

Mrs. Virginia McDowell, a sister of Mrs. Murray B. Miles, has returned to her home in Seattle after a pleasant visit here with friends and relatives.

For 10 days only the Webster Salvage Sale and brokerage company will sell at any old price, the large stock of merchandise at the corner of First and Chestnut streets. You had better come or you will regret it all your life. Let nothing keep you away. Look for big sign on building.

WEISBERGER RETURNS FROM EASTERN TRIP

His Tieton Contract Will be Completed in Trust for Him and Loss May Not Result.

Theodore Weisberger, who returned from his trip to the east this week, is not feeling downcast over his failure to persuade the reclamation service officials at Washington to modify the plans for the lining of the Tieton canal. While he would have preferred to have been allowed to complete his contract in accordance with his views regarding the concrete work, he is glad to be relieved of the responsibility of continuing the work in a manner which he believes to be ineffectual. The manufacture of the concrete shapes will be resumed by engineers of the service who will use Mr. Weisberger's plant and equipment and return the same to him on the completion of the work. If the shapes are manufactured at a cost lower than the amount of the contract, about $270,000, the difference will be paid over to Mr. Weisberger, who does not believe that he will suffer any financial loss.

Contracts Are Iron-Bound.

"As a matter of fact," said Mr. Weisberger this morning, "my request that the contract be changed to permit of the lining of the canal being done in one operation could not be granted. According to the law and the practice no contract made with the reclamation service can be changed. If the engineers who designed the Tieton canal have made a mistake in this matter they have to stand for it; the treasury department holds the service down to the strict carrying out of all plans finally approved. The service will complete my contract in trust for me, allowing me any surplus there may be on the contract price over the actual cost."

"The controversy over the lining of the canal will not cause any delay in the completion of the canal. I do not expect that the local engineers will resume the manufacture of the shapes until April, but this would not have been done in any event earlier than that date."

May Strengthen Canal.

Chief Engineer Davis will come here on or about the first of next month and will make an inspection. Both he and Mr. Heney, of Portland, who was in Washington, agree that there is something in my contention regarding the lining of the canal, and Mr. Davis talked of endeavoring to reinforce the canal longitudinally. Whether the work has advanced too far for the adoption of some plan with that object remains to be seen, but I am inclined to think that the canal will be completed according to the original plans. Time will show," added Mr. Weisberger, "whether or not I am right in my contention regarding the lining with the concrete shapes."

Apart from the failure of his mission to Washington, Mr. Weisberger reports that he had a very good time on his travels. Congressman Jones looked after him at the Capitol. In New York Mr. Weisberger called upon the president of the bonding company, which put up the bond on the contract, and the president agreed that Mr. Weisberger had taken the best course under the circumstances. Also he showed Mr. Weisberger around New York and gave the visitor a very pleasant and interesting time during the few days he remained in the metropolis.

Finance in the East.

Mr. Weisberger says that the president's last message and the financial situation are the chief topics of conversation in New York and in Washington. He says that the people talk hopefully of a return to normal conditions but he observed that many of the factories and mills in the east either are closed down or are running only half time.

"Aldrich's currency bill is generally approved by the financial interests in the east," said Mr. Weisberger. "There are some very interesting features in the bill, particularly that dealing with the application of city bonds and railway stocks as collateral for the proposed currency. The bill provides that railroad stock only can be applied in this way when the stock has paid 6 percent interest for 10 years. This provision, it is thought, will result in a cessation of the over-capitalization of railroads, a tendency towards conservative business methods by the corporations and a resulting increase in public confidence in railway securities."

Railroads Need Money.

"The railroads are badly in need of money for construction work and unless the public can be induced to invest the country will be up against serious transportation problems in the near future. Owing to the political agitation against the railways it is said that the small investor, who is the backbone of the investment world, will not touch railroad stocks at the present time."

"The cities will benefit by the measure because their securities will attain an entirely new value as collateral for currency and will willingly be taken up by the banking institutions."

"Everyone is talking of J. Pierpont Morgan in New York. He appears to have risen to a pinnacle in the world of finance never before attained by any financier. I was in New York the day the last of the Morse banks closed up and I was told that the reason for the failure was that Mr. Morgan and the clearing house association had refused all assistance to this institution. Mr. Morgan desiring to acquire control of some important shipping interests held by the corporation."

May Make a Profit.

Mr. Weisberger says he will continue to keep track of the work on the Tieton and that he hopes to come out of the undertaking without financial loss. "Up to the time when I quit work before Christmas," said Mr. Weisberger, "I figured that I was certainly coming out on the right side and the hardest part of the undertaking had been accomplished. By the way, I should like to say that there has been no friction between the engineers of the service and myself. We differed about the proposition and that is all. I did not rely altogether on my own judgment, for I secured the opinions of several well known engineers before I took the stand I did, and which was taken entirely in the interest of the project and the people who will rely upon the canal for their water."

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

Meats are a subject having a live market interest, particularly at this time. Various reasons are contributing to an alert local interest in them at this time. Inspection of restaurants and butcher shops with reference to the sanitary features is one reason; general agitation as to government inspection is another and a third is the activity locally with regard to formation of auxiliaries throughout this valley to the State Association of Stockmen. Better meats mean better prices to the producer and it is easy to prove.

Dr. Nelson, state veterinarian, in talking to Yakima stockmen a few days ago at the courthouse here, pointed out that a packing house which has purchased cattle, hogs or sheep in this valley and found them to be diseased at once informs its buyers to do no more dealing in the district from which the diseased stock came. The result of this is absolute. Growers in that district have to find a market where they can and sell for whatever price is offered.

Is Equally True Locally.

The same is true in a smaller and more purely local way. If a butcher goes out and buys lumpy jaw cattle or cripples at a small price, slaughters them where he buys them and brings the meat here to be marketed, the rival butcher, who is endeavoring to supply his trade with as good as can be procured, is compelled, in self defense, to tell his buyers to beat the price as low as possible. As long as diseased stock can be purchased cheaply and put into competition the price on good stock will not advance.

Meat inspection is increasing in this state and Dr. Nelson said to the stockmen here that he was surprised himself when he discovered how large a proportion of the meat sold in Washington is inspected meat. He said, however, that there is ample field for further efforts and he hoped that all interested would further the cause of pure meats. A North Yakima butcher this morning declared that the butchers for the most part are of the same opinion. It will make their dealing easier and permit of much more satisfactory trading with the producer and better conditions for the consumer.

Mutton Market Is Stronger.

Quotations just received on the local market show that hogs are not quite so scarce and that the mutton market is stronger and likely to become more so. Hay has been moving in considerable quantities out of North Yakima the past few days and going forward to the Sound. This has not brought about any special change in the prices quoted but the market is firmer and healthier than it has been for a long time. Much of the hay being loaded comes from the Naches and not a little from the Moxee. The roads to the Moxee valley are bad and the result has been to discourage some growers who otherwise would have hauled in. Reports which reach North Yakima are that hay is moving freely from points further down the valley.

So far as potatoes are concerned the situation here is reported to be an uneasy one. There is no stability in the market and no fixed conditions such as would encourage operations. A flat quotation of $10 would appear to be a proper one though one lot was sold to a buyer in North Yakima yesterday at $11.

Eggs Growing Plentiful.

Eggs are coming in freely and are reported very plentiful in the lower part of the valley. North Yakima grocers are getting into a somewhat indifferent frame of mind as regards the local supply and take the eggs offered only at their own figures. Sweet potatoes have got to the three-pounds-for-a-quarter stage and while those offered by the grocers are of a good quality the importer is passing them up, the percentage of loss in his end of it being too heavy to make the dealing desirable. Celery, celery, cauliflower and such things are on sale in the local groceries. Bananas and oranges are coming to North Yakima in normal supply and quality.

Generally the statements are that in

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, D. C. Feb. 12.—Enthusiasm characterized the discussion of President Roosevelt's recent message on the floor of the house of representatives this week and at no time was the applause greater than when Representative Hepburn, of Iowa, delivered a strong eulogy of the president. From the democratic side came enthusiastic commendation and seldom has such a tribute been paid to a republican president by a democrat as that spoken by Bourke Cockran. During the course of his speech he took occasion to say some nice things about Mr. Bryan which evoked such applause from the democrats that it was quite a while before he could proceed. "If Mr. Bryan represents the determination to prosecute malefactors for their crimes, and if a rigorous enforcement of the law should result in congesting the criminal courts," said Mr. Cockran, "then the plunderers of millions will be given precedence in the pathway to prison over the pilferers of pennies."

Later in the week the democratic leader, Mr. Williams, made a speech on the message along lines previously indicated to him by Mr. Bryan. He declared that railroad rate legislation originated with the democrats; said that the democrats must take issue with the president on his recommendation that the railroads be granted the power to pool, and with the president's argument that it was useless to attempt to punish "the men, the flesh, the beings," who violate the law in the name of corporate authority. He further insisted that the democrats could not agree with the president on the proposition to compel all corporations doing an interstate business to take out a federal license. Commenting on the omissions in the message, Mr. Williams emphasized the lack of definite tariff revision recommendations, saying, "with the exception of a little insignificant utterance about putting works of art, wood pulp and paper on the free list, he has never raised his voice against the very poison that lies at the heart of your entire system."

Speaker Cannon is much worried these days because of the fact that there are certain magazine writers who have been sent to Washington to scrutinize his political record with a view to ascertaining whether he is a fit man to be elected president. It is whispered about in the cloakrooms and lobbies of the capitol that there are some pages in the political life of the speaker which would not look well in print and some of Mr. Cannon's closest friends say that the old and haggard look he has worn recently are due to the fact that he has been told that the "muck rakers" are close on the trail of certain pages of the Record he would be extremely sorry to see in print. However, that is all political gossip.

Mr. Cannon has assured the delegation of the National Manufacturers' association that there will be no tariff commission created this year. Of course the speaker is the "stand pat" candidate of the republicans, but it is regarded as a safe prediction that should either Mr. Bryan or Mr. Taft be elected the president would call a special session for tariff revision early in April, 1909.

In the Sunday Times, issue of February 9, Albert E. Johnson, who was formerly managing editor of the Tacoma News, but now "night editor" of the Seattle Times, has an interesting article on the trials and tribulations of a managing editor of a big daily. It was Albert E. Johnson, who made the Tacoma News, while he was connected with it, the best evening paper published in Washington.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, it is reported, is to marry Count Alexander Hadik. Too bad Mrs. Vanderbilt and Hadik cannot be induced to fall into a sewer with no rescuers in sight. Ugh!

The Checking Account for the Farmer

Many farmers keep a checking account with us regularly because it is a great help and convenience in their every day business. With a checking account you can tell exactly the total amount of your receipts and expenditures for each month for the entire year. When you sell your farm products, deposit your money in the Bank, subject to check. The obligations you have can be cancelled by check. When you make a purchase, pay by check. We invite you to try this system.

The Japs are getting saucy, pert and cocky, and the sooner some nation gives the "little brown men" a d— good thrashing the better t'will be.

Said Chancellor James R. Day in an address at the meeting and banquet of Group V, of the New York States bankers in Albany, New York, February 8: "I prophesy, as I did the panic more than a year ago, that before another half decade blood will flow in our streets and the night riders' torch will light the heavens with appalling glare."

"The people of Denver, who are enthusiastic over the the new hall which they have erected for the democratic convention, should not forget, in their present joy, that the structure will be hoodooed after the month of July."—P.-I.

And "halooed" after the month of November.

Seattle ministers want the Sunday funeral tabooed. When you are in the Queen City, and are ill, please ask the sky pilots what day you may die on, so they will not be inconvenienced by your demise.

Under the Australian system of voting one could vote for any man for office regardless of whatever party they belonged to. He could mark his ticket in private. The primary law does not allow this; and, insofar as the primary law prohibiting 'political' bosses from

"pulling wires" you must remember the old adage: "There are tricks in all trades."

"Professor Trevor Kincaid, of the University of Washington, who has been selected by the department of agriculture to go to Japan in search of a parasite that will destroy the gypsy moth, will sail from Seattle on March 2."—P.-I.

If the department of agriculture would assign the professor to the backyards, vacant lots, alleys, etc. in Seattle no doubt he would be able to discover at his home town the parasite, which he now must visit Japan in search of. Think of the expense saved the department and monotonous sea voyage avoided, by doing this!

As is the primary law, you must vote a straight party ticket. This hits square in the face, so to speak, the free rights of every American citizen. If you wish to vote for Mr. Blank, mayor, who may be a republican, and for city attorney, Mr. Versus, who may may be a democrat, you, under the primary law, cannot do it. The primary law needs "fixing" before it will be considered the "only thing" by the majority of citizens of this state.

"Present history shows that a man may be both right and be president, but that he must take care to be elected before he takes occasion to be right."—P.-I.

"That he must take care to be elected before he takes occasion to be right," has always been one of the cardinal principles of a republican candidate for office, and this is why a genuine, "equal rights to all, special privilege to none" DEMOCRATIC president will sit in the White House chair for the next four years.

An old woman in Yakima has always spoken her mind, and she intends to do it as long as the gift of speech is spared her. Her children and grandchildren know her habit, and find it not always cheering. "I'd like to have you tell me," said the old woman the other day to one of her daughters, "What induced Jessie to fall in love with that young man I saw last night for the first time?"

"I think she was attracted to him at first because he's such an athletic fellow and such a splendid swimmer," the mother of Jessie ventured feebly, after a moment's casting about in her mind for a satisfactory answer. "Humph!" snorted the old woman. "Which does she propose to keep him in after she's married him—a gymnasium or an aquarium?"

WHAT HAS WENDE TO SAY?

The recent action of Prosecuting Attorney Wendt in putting a ban on the nickel-in-the-slot machines has caused more or less comment in the city and over the valley. It is not the fact of Mr. Wendt's determination to drive out of the community the slot machine, but it is the incident, which appears to have prompted the action.

Mr. Wendt stepped into the cigar store of Nevin & Harmon in this city and lost $6 on one of their machines. He promptly wrote out a check for the amount, making a note across the check, "for slot machines." He then turned to the proprietor of the place and ordered the machine out. His order was sent broadcast throughout the city.

Now, the question arises, is Wendt a hard loser? Has he played the baby act? Is his action commendable? Was he piqued because he lost his money? Why did he not adopt such a course some time ago?

These and many other questions have been asked the apparent supporters of the prosecuting attorney, until some of his friends are sick and tired of defending him. What has he to say in defense of his position in the matter would like to be known by those of his friends who helped him to secure his election to the office he now holds?

He doubtless has some good reason for taking the course he did, but it would be wise for him to state that reason in a public statement. We believe that Wendt owes this much to his friends in the democratic party, and those of his republican admirers who likewise contributed to his election.

RUMORS OF HEARST

There is no little anxiety in democratic circles in Washington over the reports which have reached here from the west to the effect that William R. Hearst is perfecting an organization and proposes to hold a Hearst League convention, probably in Indianapolis, between the republican and democratic national conventions. It is asserted that Mr. Hearst has secured the services of Charles A. Walsh, former secretary of the democratic national committee, and that Mr. Walsh has employed a number of able lieutenants who are assisting him in the work of organizing the Hearst machine, or party. No definite information can be secured as to the purpose of the Hearst movement. Does Mr. Hearst expect to form a third party and nominate himself for the presidency? Does he expect to develop a strength which will enable him to dictate terms to the democratic party? Will his movement detract seriously from the democratic vote? These and a host of other questions are being asked by anxious democrats who cannot fathom the purposes of the great editor-politician. It had been supposed that because of his extensive newspaper properties Mr. Hearst would not dare to oppose Mr. Bryan and that may be the case, but his present purpose is the occasion of the utmost curiosity and anxiety.

TAFT—A MUCH APPOINTED MAN

The New York Press, a republican paper, says that Secretary Taft has "long been in public life, but never by the vote of the people." The Press gives this as the Taft record: "1881—Assistant prosecuting attorney, Cincinnati—Appointed. 1882—Collector of internal revenue, Ohio—Appointed by President Arthur. 1887—Judge of the Superior Court at Cincinnati—Appointed by Gov. Foraker. 1890—Solicitor General of the United States—Appointed by President Harrison. 1892—United States Circuit Judge for the Sixth circuit—Appointed by President Harrison; (while holding this office he issued that celebrated strike injunction). 1900—President of the Philippine commission—Appointed by President McKinley. 1901—First civil governor of the Philippines—Appointed by President McKinley. 1904—Secretary of war—Appointed by President Roosevelt. —Commoner.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, has been making an earnest effort to organize the democrats in the senate so that they might present an effective resistance to the Aldrich financial measure, but he has been checkmated by the persistent opposition of Senators Bailey and Teller, and there is every prospect that the minority will have to content itself with offering a few amendments which might improve the measure, seeing them voted down by the republicans and then permitting the bill to pass the senate. Nor is it likely that any effective opposition can be presented in the house. There are doubtless a majority of the members of the house who are opposed to the bill but the speaker is for it and he rules the lower chamber. Mr. Cannon is himself a banker and a millionaire and he regards the Aldrich bill as eminently satisfactory. If the opponents in the republican ranks threaten to show their independence there will be a caucus and every republican will be whipped into line under the scourge of the party whip.

Evidently the New York Press is opposed to Mr. Taft, for referring to the secretary of war, it said: "When there is a desperate fight against him in his own state; when colored voters are hostile to him on account of his part in the Brownsville case; when labor is embittered against him on account of his attitude as a judge toward strikes, and when there are several men of approved popularity at the ballot box contesting the presidential nomination with him, the time seems hardly opportune for Secretary Taft to make the first test of his strength with the voters of the United States."

Senator Crane of Massachusetts is reported to be the newly selected captain general of the anti-administration forces. Senator Crane is said to be ambitious to become a Warwick, the role so successfully played by the late Mark Hanna. Crane, well backed presumably, by the interests, will bring a lot of contesting delegations from the south to oppose the nomination. These delegates he hopes to seat through the medium of the national committee, which is an anti-Roosevelt body.

Secretary Taft has selected Frank B. Hitchcock, formerly first assistant postmaster general, to conduct his pre-convention campaign. Hitchcock, by the way, is the man who until a few weeks ago was strenuously engaged in trying to line up the southern states for Cortelyou, and he probably would have succeeded if Roosevelt hadn't butted in. Hitchcock is a political general second only to the late Mark Hanna. Taft has made a wise choice.

The democratic members of the house of representatives have framed up a currency bill which is unquestionably the best yet produced, being indorsed by a number of financial experts. But there is no probability of the bill becoming a law, for old "Uncle Joe" Cannon and his republican majority won't stand for it. The kind of financial legislation that will pass will be of patchwork variety, dictated by the big bankers of New York.

The late Judge Hargis of Jackson, Ky., was murdered the other day by his own son. Hargis was the man who killed Macrum in cold blood a few years ago. After being pronounced not guilty by a jury of his peers, Hargis was promptly sued for damages by the widow of his victim for having deprived her of her natural support by reason of killing Macrum, and the jury gave her a verdict of $10,000, which Hargis paid.

The New York World says that already wagers have been made in that city as to whether Bryan or Taft will be elected president this year. Evidently the men who are risking their money are cocksure of what the nominating conventions will do. However, it does look as though both gentlemen are already as good as nominated. It is certainly an unprecedented condition of affairs in American politics.

The sensational newspapers now report that Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, following the example of her daughter, is about to wed an Austrian count and that the lady won't deny the soft impeachment. The count, it is declared, has lost his patrimony at gambling and is therefore obliged to put his valuable self up for sale. Of course, none but a vain and foolish American woman would think of buying it.

J. Pierpont Morgan is quoted by the yellow papers as saying that now is the opportune time for capital and labor to fight out their battle, and that times will not pick up again until the laboring man is made to fully realize his dependence on capital. Such may be Mr. Morgan's sentiments, but the probabilities are that he said nothing of the kind, for he is a philosopher who never exposes his hand.

There are plenty of good men in this country who don't take kindly to the idea of a president choosing his successor. It is too much like the system in vogue in Mexico and Venezuela. There is no record that any other president ever tried it save Jackson, and that was Old Hickory's most unpopular act. But under the circumstances there was more justification for Jackson than there is for Roosevelt.

Spokane has so many candidates this year for every nomination in sight in both parties that it seems well nigh impossible to keep track of them. In state politics in recent years Spokane has hardly had a place on the map, so this year there ought to be something doing. But Spokane will not find it easy to regain her old place on the map if she starts out this year to hog everything.

Hon. Ira P. Englehart of this city, who, by the way, recently distinguished himself by getting married, is quoted by the press as having made the positive statement that Taft would unquestionably receive the support of the delegation from this state. And in the language of the street, Ira has the right "dope." He knows that the boys in this state have the bandwagon spotted.

If Taft is to be the republican nominee for president and Mead the party nominee for governor, as seems quite probable, Col. William Wisdom Robertson, the local oracle, will be apt to feel slightly embarrassed, since he takes little stock in either statesman. But if such a trying ordeal comes to our old friend, he can resume a former habit of supporting the democratic ticket.

A correspondent of the P.-I. assumes to be dissatisfied with all the candidates for the presidency and says he is in favor of Senator Elkins. Yes, Elkins would be all right—from the democratic standpoint, but unfortunately there is no such good luck in store. But after all Elkins is really a better and more fitting representative of g. o. p. policies than either Roosevelt or Taft.

Charles W. Morse of New York, a former well known Napoleon of finance, has gone to Europe under an assumed name for the purpose of recovering his mental equilibrium as stated by his wife. Commenting on the assumed name, an exchange sagely remarks that Mr. Morse would have done well to have kept his own name, merely adding the pre-fix, "Re."

All the many aspirants for mayor over at Seattle this spring have been declaring boldly for a closed town. Surely public sentiment has undergone a violent change in the big town on Elliott Bay. In the day of Mayor Humes a mayoralty candidate who would have favored a dry Sunday would have been merely laughed at and regarded as a crank.

Gov. Hughes of New York has publicly announced that he will not be a candidate for renomination as governor of the Empire state. The governor evidently wants the presidency or nothing, and he will doubtless get nothing. He is merely butting his head against a stone wall in opposing the ambition of one W. H. Taft, heir to the throne.

It is given out in Washington that Mr. Hitchcock is to manage the Taft campaign. This announcement will do for public consumption. Mr. Hitchcock will manage the details of the Taft campaign, perhaps; but the real manager is one T. Roosevelt, who, to say the least, has proved himself to be something of a politician.

The crime statistics for the past few months, if collected, would be appalling. Murderers, sandbaggers and burglars all seem to be taking their innings now all over the country, and the daily newspapers teem with accounts of their doings. These pests of society, naturally enough, seem to be always most active in panicky times.

Secretary Taft is charged with having made the statement once publicly that the American jury system is a failure, and ought to be abolished. And, no doubt, there are many people who will agree with Judge Taft. But as a candidate for president before he gets through he will probably wish that he had never said it.

Francis J. Heney, whirlwind and anti-graft lawyer, is said to be a republican candidate for the seat of Senator Perkins of California. The fact that he has been a pronounced democrat all his life doesn't appear to cut any figure in the matter. But perhaps he would still be a democrat after being elected to the senate.

It is said that Senator Ankeny divides his official salary of $5000 a year equally between his secretary and the manager of his press bureau. If such is really the case it is quite evident that both men are under paid, especially the press man. It is quite clear that that worthy must be working at least 20 hours a day.

It is related of a certain British peer that he had occupied a seat in the house of lords for 24 years before he attempted to deliver his maiden speech. This circumstance leads the Tacoma Ledger to compare the case of that English lord with that of our own Senator Ankeny. But Ankeny may surprise his facetious critics yet.

Charles R. Drury, a member of the Tacoma school board, on a Sunday closing platform will contest the democratic nomination for mayor of that city against Mayor George P. Wright, who is a candidate for a third term. Mr. Drury is quite well known in this city, being a son in law of D. M. Rand.

Jim Hill is of the opinion that the country sadly needs a rest after a period of "ghost dancing," as he expresses it. Which means, of course, that the fretful people should be quiet and at the same time repudiate Dr. Roosevelt, Dr. Bryan and the other malcontents who insist on stirring up trouble.

The 1907 taxes in Yakima county are relatively about 20 per cent. higher than the 1906 taxes. If we keep on at that rate, we will be going some by, say, 1910. Republican administration in county and state affairs comes high, but if the people insist upon having it they must pay the fiddler.

WATER WILL BE READY FOR USE IN 1909

Indications Are That Tieton Canal Will Be Irrigating Land Within Another Year.

Members of the Tieton Water Users association do not fear that delays in the construction work of the Tieton canal will be such as to put the delivery of water for cultivation beyond the growing season of 1909. They have faith that in a race against time the government, with the unlimited means at its command, can win out, though they admit that there will be no time to spare. Congressman Jones, writing from Washington to A. J. Splawn, one of the Tieton trustees, says that the necessity of speedy work has been urged upon the federal authorities and that everything which can be done will be done to the end that the cultivation of land in 1909 may be proceeded with.

Davis to Come Here Soon.
Mr. Jones further says that Chief Engineer Davis has promised to be in North Yakima about March 1 for the purpose of making an examination of the work in progress on the Tieton project and inaugurating such changes as may be necessary in the methods and character of the work on the canal. Mr. Davis is scheduled for a trip through Arizona and Nevada in connection with work in those sections and will come here as rapidly as his engagements will permit.

Mr. Splawn said that the necessity of saving time has been so urgently impressed from all quarters that everything is being done to prepare for a long, strong pull, after Mr. Davis has been here. All needed material will be moved at once to the scene of operations and put ready for instant use, additions will be made to the plant and the number of operatives increased so that when work is inaugurated for the season it will be work of a capacity character. This information Mr. Splawn procured in a letter from W. A. Newell.

Where Has Money Gone?
"You can say," said Mr. Splawn, "that we propose to find out where the money appropriated by the state for road construction along the Bumping river has been used. Practically the only work of road building done there is that which the reclamation service has done and the appropriations of the state, one appropriation being about $13,000 and the other an amount I do not at present remember have apparently been used elsewhere. The Bumping Lake reservoir project, which is included in the Tieton project, requires the construction of a roadway. If the work is done by the reclamation service we water users will ultimately have to pay for it. I behooves us, therefore, to get busy and learn what has become of the funds appropriated by the state for this purpose. You can say that we will devote ourselves to that subject and that at an early date."

Came a Long Way.

A postal card received in North Yakima recently was mailed at Bangie-Wanjo, Java, and went from there to another postoffice in the same island, from that to Singapore, thence to Manila, thence to San Francisco, thence to Seattle, where two addresses were tried, and finally to North Yakima, where it was delivered to the person addressed. The fact that it traveled the above distance is not anything special, but that the card was delivered in North Yakima 40 days after it started from Java, after so many interruptions, indicates the development of travel facilities.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

Brief Record of Local Happenings for the Week in North Yakima and Vicinity.

The county commissioners have decided not to accept any of the bids submitted for the Wapato bridge work, and will advertise again.

Mrs. Bertha B. Johnson has issued invitations to a swell reception and dance to be given Valentine's Eve at her hotel in Seattle, the St. Francis.

J. D. Cornett returned this week from a business trip over on the Columbia river. Mr. Cornett speaks of the unusual activity that is taking place over there in the development of that country.

H. C. Lucas and family have removed from their former home, 216 North Seventh street, to their new home at 511 North Naches avenue, recently purchased by Mr. Lucas from J. A. McArthur.

S. B. Richey, a brother of Mrs. Sarah E. Couey, of Parker Bottom, died Tuesday at Spokane. He was one of the earliest pioneers of Washington and was born in 1859 in Oregon. A brother, W. G. Richey, resides at Mabton.

Mrs. Lillie Brown, recently divorced from her husband, has brought suit against the city for damages in the amount of $2500. She alleges that she received injuries by falling over an obstruction placed on a sidewalk in the city.

Arthur Wells has returned from a long trip into the mountains where he has been hunting and trapping. On his way home he came across a large, hungry looking mountain lion, which disputed the right of way with him. Mr. Wells dispatched the animal with his trusty Winchester. He says the game in the mountains is scarce this year. The winter has not been extremely hard, and the animals are back in the mountain fastnesses.

Alfred S. Harmer had the misfortune to shoot his little finger off while out hunting last Sunday afternoon. Mr. Harmer with a party of friends was up the Ahtanum in the brush. A twig caught the hammer of his gun and lifted it slightly, but enough to explode the cartridge. The little finger of his right hand happened to be in line with the load which was discharged. He was forced to walk seven miles for medical attention.

A. M. Dewey, a mining man and railroad promoter, has his eyes on North Yakima as a site for a fruit warehouse. Mr. Dewey proposes a line of fruit warehouses for distributing purposes and will have his central house probably at Spokane. Each fruit growing district will be a minor center. The depots will be in the Yakima valley, Okanogan, Columbia river, Snake river, Dayton, Wenatchee and such other fruit producing districts as are favored. Mr. Dewey says that commission men of many cities of the middle west are with him in his enterprise.

BOXING BOUT SCHEDULED.

Tacoma Lad and Yakima Boy Will Battle 15 Rounds.

Unless the authorities interfere, and it is not likely they will, because of the alleged nature of the contest, a fistie encounter will take place in this city next Wednesday evening at Holstein's pavilion on South Third street.

The contestants are "Kid" Spencer of this city, and young Conrad Bentzen, of the city of destiny. Both lads are evenly matched and while the bout is scheduled to go 15 rounds it is not likely that it will last that long. A knock-out will probably occur before the 15th has been reached. Spencer has somewhat of a local reputation as a fighter, and Bentzen is equally well noted on the Sound.

The entire stock of merchandise will be put on sale commencing Saturday, February 15, 1908, at the most terrific slaughter of modern merchandise. No exaggeration; everything as represented. Webster Salvage Sale Brokerage Co., Corner First and Chestnut streets.
