A VERY LIVELY BOUT

Chief Two Feathers Wins Three
Out of Four Falls From Duncan
McMillan--Jack O'Neil Throws
Five Local Men.

A crowd numbering about 400, including a sprinkling of the fair sex turned out at the Athletic club's wrestling exhibition at the armory Tuesday evening to witness the much advertised wrestling bout between the Montana Indian chief, Two Feathers, and Duncan McMillan. Both of these men are wrestlers with a national reputation and every one in the crowd craned their necks to witness the swift engagement between the two powerful giants.

The preliminaries consisted of a bout between Jack O'Neil, manager of Two Feathers, and five local wrestlers, namely, Johnson, better known as the "Montana Kid," Skelley, L. E. Wood, A. Wood and Eddie Thompson, instructor of the club. O'Neil engaged to throw all of these men within an hour of wrestling time or forfeit $25. He didn't lose the $25, as he threw the five men in 32 minutes. The following is the time spent with each man: "Montana Kid," 2 minutes 25 seconds; L. E. Wood, 5 minutes 7 seconds; Skelley, 6 minutes 32 seconds; A. Wood, 12 minutes 2 seconds; Thompson, 6 minutes 3 seconds. Total, 32 minutes 9 seconds.

These contests were all interesting, especially the one with A. Wood, who staid with the big husky Montana man for over 12 minutes before his shoulders went to the mat. The local man showed himself to be very skillful at the game and the opinion was freely expressed that if he was the equal of O'Neil in weight he would be able to throw him.

The event of the evening, of course, was the contest between the Indian and the big Canadian. Both men weigh in the neighborhood of 200 stripped and are splendidly formed men. The Indian, like other athletes of his race is tall and sinewy and quick as a cat in his movements. He stands 6 feet 4 inches in his moccasins and has a pair of arms that looked to the spectator as long as hop poles. He is but 23 years of age. McMillan is 47 and was a noted wrestler before the Indian was born. Otherwise perhaps equal the disparity in age was a big factor in the Indian's favor.

In the first fall both men were extremely cautious as if each were taking the other's measure, the Indian, however, was the more aggressive. He finally threw his man with a half Nelson and crotch hold, time 11 minutes 51½ seconds. McMillan in the second fall went after his man in a determined way spending the most of the time in chasing him about the raised platform. He finally got his man with a full Nelson, and put his shoulders to the mat, time, 10 minutes 31 seconds. This was the only fall won by McMillan out of the four.

Two Feathers took the third fall in 9 minutes 22 seconds, pinning the big Canadian down with the leg hold across the neck. McMillan's heavy breathing in this round showed his distress. The next fall was likewise won by the Indian in 6 minutes 41 seconds with the half Nelson and crotch hold, the same as in the first fall.

It was a very clean exhibition throughout and the crowd left with the feeling that they had been given their money's worth. The victorious Indian and his manager, O'Neil, left for Butte the same night, where Two Feathers had a match on for last night.

The club management is figuring on getting Gatch and McLeod, heavy weight wrestlers now on the coast, to come here at an early day to pull off a contest.

The Parker Fruit Crop.

P. J. Flint, whose orchard of 140 acres at Parker is the largest in the Yakima valley, informed the Democrat Monday that in spite of the damage done to his fruit crop by the late frosts that he would have a good average crop of peaches, in fact it was found necessary to thin some varieties very materially. His pear, apple and other fruits will also make a fair crop. The prunes are the only thing this year the yield of which on his own place Mr. Flint does not estimate at over 20 per cent of a full crop. Other orchards in that vicinity, however, will yield heavy in all lines, not having been affected to a serious extent by the late frosts. Indeed, the Parker fruit men as a whole, have been put to a good deal of expense this year in "thinning" their fruit. The peach shipping season, the growers think will open about July 15.

Mr. Flint returned recently from a visit to the world's fair. He says that the prices that the leading hotels are charging visitors is something frightful. There are a great many rooming houses, however, in the residence districts where rooms can be had at reasonable rates.

Regarding the Washington exhibit at the fair, Mr. Flint says that the state building, constructed as it is of great fir timbers, presents a most imposing appearance. The display of state products though is rather disappointing in many respects. A considerable amount of stuff had not been unpacked, however, when Mr. Flint was there, due to the rules of the fair management in claiming the right to put in place all exhibits, charging for such service its own price. In the opinion of most everybody this is an outrageous graft.

INJUNCTION SUIT FILED

Action Brought by Sunnyside Farmers to Restrain W. I. Company From Turning Off Water.

Judge Rudkin last Saturday issued a restraining order directed against the Washington Irrigation company to prevent that corporation from shutting off the water from homesteaders under its ditch, but who own no water right. The case was filed with the clerk of the court by the legal firm of McAulay & Meigs, who are the attorneys of the petitioners.

The petitioners are 43 in number as follows:

E. J. Young, Walter Price, J. G. Stone, W. D. Stone, D. P. Baker, F. M. Dickenson, W. J. Nelson, C. G. Van Belle, H. S. Burroughs, G. E. Rodman, W. G. Baker, R. L. Mains, Swan Nelson, Peter Cresci, S. B. Luper, A. C. Turner, F. B. Allen, J. P. Simpson, J. S. Bedell, Ole Washington, Adam Rupert, D. J. Yoder, W. H. Henrichs, John Alexander, W. Harrison, Davidson Jack, Andrew Green, A. D. Parsons, W. Gray, J. H. Newkirk, W. G. Hubbard, W. A. Lyon, F. Clark, C. E. Johnson, Barney Morrison, T. R. Ehmer, B. Fleming, T. R. Taylor, Frank Rinaldi, Fred Mideke, Marion Tweedy, C. A. Munson and W. G. Hubbard.

All of the above parties own and cultivate land under the company's canal which is without water rights in ditch, aggregating in all about 1200 acres. The parties owning this land by agreement with the company have been using water paying therefore rental varying in different years of from $2.50 to $5 an acre per year.

The petition to the court states that the officers of the company served notice on the petitioners that unless the rental of $2.50 per acre was paid in advance that their water supply would be turned off. As the growing crops on these lands is estimated in value at $50 per acre, the damage done to the petitioners would be very great.

The petitioners take the position that the water rental demanded, $2.50 per acre, is in excess of the real value of the service and that they are willing to pay the sum of $1 an acre per annum for such service. This amount, they say, each petitioner tendered to the company before this action in court was begun, the offer being refused.

The main point to be decided in the suit is the relation of the ditch company to the private owners of land under the canal. The contention of the petitioners in effect is that the Washington Irrigation company is a private carrier and as such cannot refuse water service to any owners of land under its canal who are willing to pay a reasonable price for such extra water that the corporation may have to sell. The contention of the defendant company, it is understood, is that it is not a common carrier and that it is under no legal obligation to furnish water at all, except to such land owners as have purchased water rights.

Judge Rudkin in granting the application for a temporary restraining order, set the case for a hearing Thursday of this week, but as the court's time was taken up on that day with the disposition of jury cases, the matter was not reached. Graves & Englehart are the attorneys for the Washington Irrigation company.

Attacked by a Horse.

Harry Mabry, son of Mrs. James Mabry, residing on north First street, was attacked by a vicious horse while attending to the animal Monday. The horse seized the boy by the arm and shook him like a rat. The youth fortunately had a heavy pair of scissors in his hand with which he managed to beat the horse so effectively about the head that he finally released him. The boy's arm was terribly lacerated by the horse's teeth. His loud cries brought the neighbors running to the scene from all directions. Dr. Burns, who was summoned, dressed the wounded arm.

Sent to the Asylum.

Miss Lucile Jacot, aged 24, who resided with her widowed mother at Kennewick, was committed to the Medical Lake asylum by Judge Rudkin Tuesday. The young woman recovered recently from a very severe attack of pneumonia, since which time she has been afflicted with a mild form of insanity. She labors under the hallucination that some person or persons have designs upon her and all who were near her were asked in a touching voice to "please help me." It is said that there is a streak of temporary insanity in the young woman's family and that a brother is also an inmate of an asylum. The unfortunate young lady was taken to Medical Lake Monday night by Deputy Sheriff Edwards accompanied by the girl's mother.

SHE PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Mrs. Jeannette Harris Given a Preliminary Hearing at Spokane-- Trial Set for June 28.

Mrs. Jeannette Harris, in a tone scarcely above a whisper, pleaded not guilty yesterday to the charge of murder in the first degree, which had been read to her by Prosecuting Attorney Horace Kimball. Mrs. Harris is accused of killing the two day old son of her daughter. She came to Spokane from North Yakima, Wash., and after endeavoring to place the child in the Home of the Friendless and St. Joseph's Orphanage and failing, she took the child on the hill south of the city and strangled it with a piece of cloth.

Mrs. Harris entered the court room on the arm of her husband, D. R. Harris, and was accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Butler. She was dressed in black and wore a blue crocheted shawl over her shoulders. Her husband sat with her at one side of the courtroom during the time she was before the prosecuting attorney. Mrs. Harris appeared much broken down and in the two words "not guilty," which she spoke to the prosecuting attorney, showed that she was hardly able to bear the strain. As her attorneys, Nuzum & Nuzum, disputed with Mr. Kimball over the date of the trial she leaned over the breast of her husband for a moment, and then recovering herself listlessly paid attention while Judge Richardson set the trial for June 28--Thursday's Spokesman-Review.

D. R. Harris, husband of the unfortunate woman alluded to in the above, was in this city the first of the week endeavoring to raise money on his property with which to compensate the Spokane firm of lawyers to whom he has entrusted his wife's legal defense. He has engaged the legal firm of Nuzum & Nuzum to conduct the case and while here Mr. Harris told a number of his friends that he would be obliged to raise the sum of $2500 to pay the lawyers. The defense in the case against Mrs. Harris will undoubtedly be based on the grounds of insanity.

Death of Jack Lyons.

"Jack" Lyons, the well known Ellensburg, saloon man, died in Portland June 15 while being operated on by surgeons to remove a cancer. Deceased had lived in Ellensburg since 1883. At his request the body was brought back to Ellensburg and lay in state in his saloon until the funeral which was held Sunday. During the three days "wake," in accordance with the request that had been made by Lyons, his friends entered the saloon and each smoked a pipeful of tobacco in memory of the departed. The deceased was a bachelor and leaves an estate valued at several thousand dollars which he willed to an intimate friend, James Muldowney, formerly of Ellensburg, but now of Marysville, Cal. Lyons was an old Montana miner who came to that state about 40 years ago during the great gold excitement.

St. Joseph's Commencement.

The commencement exercises of St. Joseph's academy of this city were held Thursday evening. A large number including patrons attended the exercises. The program rendered was a very interesting one. ### NEW ORPHEUM THEATER

Finest Little Playhouse in the Pacific Northwest--To Be Opened June 27.

The new Orpheum theater will be opened to the public next Monday evening, June 27, by the proprietors, Tennant & Miles. A first class vaudeville company has been engaged to open the new playhouse. This company guarantees a first class performance made up of new specialties.

The Orpheum is probably the most modern and up-to-date family theater in the Pacific Northwest. O. Libby is the owner who has leased the property for a term of years to Tennant & Miles. The house was built by Thacker & Rich, contractors, on the plans and specifications as furnished by E. W. Sankey, a local architect. The plans were drawn with infinite care and the building constructed in a very workmanlike manner. The completed building as it stands today is a gem of ingenuity.

Mr. Tennant made a special trip to the east a few weeks ago to purchase the furniture and stage fixtures for the new theater and no expense has been spared by the management to fit the house up in first class style.

The assurance is given that the Orpheum as a place of amusement will be conducted in a manner absolutely above reproach. No shows of an immoral or unclean character will be engaged. The owners and lessees have invested a considerable amount of money in this enterprise and in order to make of it a financial success must necessarily cater to respectable people for patronage.

The house will seat about 400 people. The lower floor is built on an inclined plane which makes one seat as good as any other in the auditorium. The balcony, which has been very artistically arranged, will seat about 150 people. Special care has been taken to provide the house with exits and in case of a conflagration it could be emptied in an amazingly short space of time.

Deaths.

William Linse, aged 70 years, died at his home on Nob Hill, Friday, June 17, 1904, death being caused as the result of a stroke of paralysis. The funeral was held Sunday.

Mrs. M. H. Traynor, aged 66 years, died at her late home on the Altamun, Friday, June 17. Deceased had been in poor health for some time. The funeral was held Saturday from the residence with burial in Tahoma cemetery.

Mrs. M. L. Dixon, aged 82, died at the home of her son, J. J. Dixon in Wide Hollow, Friday, June 17, from illness incident to her advanced age. The funeral was held from the home Sunday. Interment was made in Tahoma cemetery.

Hazel, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Thomas of Yakima City, died Monday, June 20. Mr. Thomas arrived here last fall from the east and is a nephew of Capt. J. H. Thomas, a well known pioneer of this valley.

Its Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

The republican national convention at Chicago on Thursday nominated Theodore Roosevelt of New York for president and Senator Fairbanks of Indiana, vice president. Both men were nominated on the first ballot and without a dissenting vote. The platform adopted is notable chiefly for its great length.

Locally the news of the nominations created no enthusiasm whatever. There was more interest manifested over the result of the ball games of the day in the Pacific National league as the scores were posted at Patterson's corner.

Capt. Dulin Selects His Team.

Capt. C. T. Dulin of Co. E, this week made his selection of marksmen from the ranks of the company who will go to the state encampment grounds on the 28th to begin practice. The result of this competitive shooting at American Lake will decide what men in the state guard will be selected by Adjutant General Drain to make up the team that will go to St. Louis to take part in the national shooting tournament to be held near that city some time in September when the picked men will shoot for the president's cup. The following members of the company have been selected by Capt. Dulin:

Capt. Frank T. Liggett, Capt. C. T. Dulin, Lieut. J. M. Curry, Color Sergeant George Van Buskirk, First Sergeant Walter Rowe, Sergeant R. R. Richardson, O. D. Huxtable, S. W. C. Hand, Corporals Marvin F. Thornton, D. C. Dulin, H. R. Humphrey, A. C. Pierce, Wayne Dulin, Artificer Linn Bissell, Privates E. M. Hutton, Ben F. Linse, William Hope, Alex J. Ritchey.

J. G. Heim, the South Bend banker who has been in Yakima for several weeks to secure relief from his old enemy asthma, returned home Wednesday much improved in health.

The North Yakima ball club went to Roslyn Sunday and did the miners up in a score of 7 to 4. It is said to have been the best game of the season in the Central Washington league.

Mrs. Dona Malone and children of Arkansas City, Kan. are here on a visit to the lady's father, E. A. Brown and uncle, J. M. Brown of Fairview. They will spend the summer here.

J. H. Fraser, high priest, and E. B. Moore, king of the local Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, left Sunday afternoon for Seattle as delegates to the grand chapter in session there.

A. S. Congdon returned Thursday from Spokane. He took Mrs. Congdon to that city the first of the week and placed her in A. R. Starr's private hospital for treatment for rheumatism.

The Deaconess Aid society will meet at the residence of Mrs. Harmer, 311 north Antanum avenue, Tuesday, June 28. As there is sewing to be done the ladies are requested to bring thimbles.

"Judas Iscariot, The Backslider," will be the topic for Sunday morning at the Baptist church, and in the evening it will be "Socialism." All are invited to attend, especially students of sociology.

The sensational rape cases on trial in the superior court this week drew large crowds of curious people to the court room, intent on hearing every scrap of racy testimony in the different cases tried.

Miss Bessie Patton left here Tuesday for San Francisco where she expects to reside in the future. Miss Patton's many friends regret her departure from this city which has been her home for many years.

The annual meeting of the Blue Jacket Mining company, whose property is located at Nelson siding, will be held at Ellensburg July 24. John Michels is president of the company and J. H. Needham secretary.

Neal Jaeger, son of E. J. Jaeger of Zillah, returned home Monday from Seattle, where he recently graduated from the high school. The young man contemplates going east next fall to enter one of the leading universities.

Mrs. S. Huntington entertained the Ladies' Aid of the Christian church at her home on north Seventh street Tuesday afternoon. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames Larson, Pitcher and Stevens and Miss Ada Jackson.

W. H. Marble of Parker this week purchased a brick house and three acres of land on Cherry street from Isom Lamb, consideration $3300. Mr. Lamb will return east and Mr. Marble and family will occupy the property in a few days and make it their home.

SUPERIOR COURT IN SESSION

Gingles and Williams Found Guilty but Bonham Is Acquitted—Big Grist of Rape Cases Being Tried.

The jury term of the superior court convened Monday morning. Of the 24 men drawn for jury duty on the regular panel several did not appear as they could not be found by the sheriff. Of the remainder several begged off and were excused by the court on one pretext or another. When it came to a count of noses it was found that but eleven of the 24 regularly drawn jurors were available. Judge Rudkin thereupon directed Sheriff Grant to summon 20 additional jurors, instructing each man to report for the afternoon session, which was done.

The first case called for trial Monday afternoon was that of the state vs. Jim Gingles, charged with stealing a pair of horses from William Buckholtz of Prosser last September. Without much difficulty a jury was secured to try the case. The testimony offered by the state was of a convincing character. County Attorney Parker prosecuted the case and H. J. Snively defended the prisoner. The jury after being out a short time Tuesday night brought in a verdict of guilty.

The next case called was that of the state vs. George W. Bonham, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. The prosecution alleged that Bonham had uttered a draft on Carstens Bros., made payable to H. J. Rand. The amount of the draft was $36.80, the payment of which was refused by Carstens Bros. of Seattle. The jury after being out but a few minutes Tuesday afternoon brought in a verdict of not guilty, and the prisoner was discharged.

A jury was secured just before the hour of adjournment Tuesday evening in the case of the state vs. H. H. Williams, charged with rape on the person of Lottie Davis, aged 15. This proved to be according to old members of the Yakima bar, the dirtiest case ever tried in this county. It was a disgusting revelation of filth throughout. During the trial of the case the court room was jammed with a throng of people, among whom were a sprinkling of women and a number of half grown children. Attorney Snively conducted the defense with his usual skill, and made the most of a bad case. Lottie Davis, the star witness for the state, told the story of her elopement with Williams last March. Williams, she said, came by appointment to the Columbia school, where he represented himself to the teacher as her father, and took her away. They took the afternoon train to Toppenish, where Williams had his team and wagon in waiting, and from which point they started for Klickitat county. They stopped at the Tuttle ranch the first night out and slept together, passing as man and wife. They then proceeded on their journey until arrested by Sheriff Van Vactor at Centerville. The case was concluded at about 11 a. m. Thursday. The jury after being out 20 minutes, brought in a verdict of guilty. Williams' wife and daughter are said to have wept bitterly when they heard the verdict read. Williams is a man 47 years of age, and will probably receive a heavy sentence. Twenty years is the limit for rape in this state.

The next case called was that of the state vs. C. Bodine of Parker Bottom, charged with attempted rape, the prosecuting witness being Mrs. Nancy Vroncek, the newly wedded wife of a neighbor of the prisoner. This is what is popularly known as the "sauer krant" case, from the fact that the woman testified at the preliminary examination that she had her head in the family kraut barrel when the dastardly crime was committed. The prisoner testifying on the stand in his own behalf told the story of his acquaintance with the woman that evidently impressed the jury as it did the bystanders, although it took the lawyers a good while to get it out of him. The case had not yet been concluded when the Democrat went to press.

J. Funnemark, obtaining property under false pretense.
S. J. Graham, rape.
Robert Baker, burglary.
E. J. Lamont, grand larceny.
Emil Peterson, burglary.
John Miller, trespass.
Leon Macey, robbery.
Louis Petit, robbery.
Fred W. Smith and F. W. Mueller, obtaining money under false pretenses.
F. W. Mueller, obtaining money under false pretenses.
J. J. Nally, larceny by embezzlement.
R. Beebe and Jas. Thompson, larceny.
Matthew Noonan, obtaining money under false pretenses.

Another Rape Case.
Hoffman Anderson, who lives near Edgar Rock, was placed under arrest by Sheriff Grant Monday on the charge of raping his niece, Alma Anderson, eldest daughter of John Anderson. The girl's father on discovering the guilty relationship between his brother and his daughter swore out the complaint. Hoffman Anderson was arrested and lodged in jail. He is 32 years of age and is regarded as a bad man. He made an unsuccessful effort to escape from the sheriff's office room after his arrest, but was overpowered by the officers.

The girl, Alma Anderson, is modest appearing and is nearly 17 years of age. The confession she has made to Sheriff Grant and County Attorney Parker shows that guilty relations have been sustained by the couple for the past 18 months. The girl with her four little brothers and sisters lived with their uncle, Hoffman Anderson and their grandparents on their ranch on Gold creek. John Anderson, the father of the children, who lost his wife last December, is a miner. He has worked in the Swauk during the past winter. As this paper went to press Friday afternoon Sheriff Grant was holding a consultation with the prisoner. There is some prospect that Anderson may plead guilty.

HINTS TO HAY GROWERS

The Product Often Shipped to Market in Bad Condition Caused by Premature Baling—The Practice Seriously Injuring the Hay Trade.

At the request of a prominent local commission merchant the Democrat publishes the following timely article on the important subject of curing hay which appeared in a recent issue of the Seattle Times:

"Carelessness on the part of farmers in baling hay for the market is resulting in a joint loss to dealers and growers.
Damaged hay sent out by farmers has been carefully overhauled by Seattle hay dealers and rebaled, while the loss has been charged to the account of shippers. This has caused friction between growers and dealers, which the dealers are attempting to avoid in the future by giving the farmers explicit instructions on the handling of this year's crops.

"The farmers have grown careless in handling their hay during the last two years, while an era of high prices has prevailed. The heavy government demand that has created a market for all the surplus hay grown in the northwest has kept prices high and the farmers' principal thought has been to get the crop to market as quickly as possible. This is the policy the dealers will warn the farmers against.

"Hay should be allowed to stand in the stack or sheds for thirty or forty days before it is baled. All the trouble has grown from the practice of baling hay direct from the shocks.

"Hay will not dry out thoroughly when only strewn upon the ground. This is a fact well understood by both growers and dealers and it has been customary when big operators handled their crop to leave the hay in stacks or sheds for a period while it seasoned. Within a week or so after the hay has been stacked it begins to 'sweat' and in the inside of the stack the hay is damp.
This moisture does not disappear for three or four weeks after the time the hay is stacked.

"In the past, when hay was commanding a fair price and farmers were desirous of shipping the best quality, care was taken to let the hay become thoroughly sweated and dried out before it was compressed into bales. So long as this policy was followed the quality was of the highest and it won from army officers for Eastern Washington timothy the declaration that this state produced the finest hay in the world.

"With the heavy demand from the government and Alaska, hay farmers became eager to get their crops on the market, and baling commenced too early. The hay has been handled direct from the shock without having been given an opportunity to dry.

"This policy has resulted in baling hay that had not been sweated. When the hay was forced into bales too early it sweated and the hay inside has been sent into Seattle markets mildewed and unfit for use.

"Seattle dealers have refused to handle hay in this condition and have recom-
pressed it, taking out the damaged hay and throwing it away. The result of this enforced policy has been that shipments sent here by farmers have been short when the sorting process has been completed. This has resulted in a loss to farmers and consequent friction between growers and dealers.

"In sending out a warning to farmers this year the dealers have asked them to be careful to allow their hay to lie in stacks until it has been thoroughly sweated. In this manner the quality of the bales will be satisfactory and there will be no further loss to growers.

"Only the policy of dealers in recom-
pressing hay has saved Washington hay in certain instances from rejection by government experts. Had the spoiled hay been sold it would have resulted in governmental objections and probably in the loss of a profitable business.

"The annoyance has been shared by all dealers," said W. W. Robinson, one of the most extensive hay dealers on the coast. "If the farmers will take the precaution of allowing their hay to sweat before it is compressed into bales there need be no trouble. The quality of Eastern Washington hay is of the best, but it must be baled correctly to protect it in the market.

"The big demand for hay in the last two years has been responsible for this carelessness. There is no reason, now that farmers have learned the lesson through loss of profit, to fear that they will fail to give proper attention to compressing their hay this year. But if there is any farmer who does not understand the reason for the rejection of a part of his shipment, he should be thoroughly informed before the harvest begins."

An Eastern Washington Demo- crat.

Some of the Democratic leaders in the Western part of the state seem to think that the Republicans of Eastern Washington are so disgruntled over the action of the Tacoma convention that they are going to vote the Democratic state ticket in any event. The sooner these gentlemen get this idea out of their heads, the better. Unless the Democratic party adopts the right kind of a platform, and nominates the right kind of men, it will not receive any assistance from the Republicans of Eastern Washington, and only a perfunctory support from the Democrats.

The Republicans of this section of the state are not dissatisfied with their party.
they have no special dislike for the state candidates as individuals, and most of them care little because Eastern Washington was ignored in making up the state. Their only motive in bolting the state ticket will be a desire to save the state government from falling into the hands of the railroad lobby, and to rebuke their leaders for surrendering their party to the domination of railroad influences. If the Democrats will place a strong and unequivocal plank in their platform demanding an appointive railroad commission and will nominate for governor and lieutenant governor, men who are known to sincerely favor such a commission, a large proportion of the followers of Gov. McBride will put citizenship above partisanship and cast their votes for the Democratic candidates.

It will not be sufficient for the Democrats to nominate a commission champion for governor, the candidate for lieutenant governor must also be an outspoken and sincere advocate of the same policy. Hundreds of voters will decline to support the candidate for governor unless they know that, in case of his death or election as United States senator, the office will pass into the hands of a man who can be depended upon to assume and continue the fight to preserve to the people the right to regulate corporations.

If the Democratic state candidates are elected it will be because they stand as the last barrier against the capture of the state government by railroad influences. Unless they assume this attitude sincerely and in good faith, they need not hope for anything more than their party vote in Eastern Washington.—Colfax Commoner.

Census of the Philippines.

A census of the Philippines has been taken under the direction of Brigadier General Sanger, which shows that the population of the archipelago is 7,635,426, of which 647,740 are classified as wild and uncivilized. The population of the islands has been estimated at 8,000,000 which proves to have been a close approximate. The Philippines have a larger population than New York—the most populous state of the Union—had in 1900, but the growth of New York is so rapid that it has doubtless passed the total for the Philippines by this time. The city of Manila has a population of 219,028, which would place it next to Newark, N. J., in the list of populous communities within the jurisdiction of the United States, and the seventeenth city in rank. Nearly 16, 000 residents of Manila live in vessels in the harbor, and only 11,460 live within the city's walls.

The Negritos are believed to be the aborigines in the islands, and now number only 23,000. They are very short in stature and live in a primitive state, having no fixed habitations or occupations. Of the other wild tribes in the islands the Igorotes are the most important. In Mindanao there are seventeen wild tribes all of which have the ceremonial customs of savages, taking the heads of their conquered enemies, and offering human sacrifice to their deities.

General Sanger reports may prevalent superstitions of savage tribes, among them one that they do not take a bath, marry or start on a voyage on Thursdays. The raven they consider as a bird of ill omen, and when it crows it is regarded as a sign of some misfortune.
A gambler, if he meets a woman on the way to the gambling house, returns, as he believes it a sign of bad luck.
These superstitions, and others of a more injurious nature, says the report, prevail generally among the ignorant masses, and are not unlike those which afflict many people in the United States and other countries.—Tacoma Ledger.

Rocky's Religion.

Old John D. Rockefeller, one of the greatest old scoundrels that ever corrupted a nation's business or disgraced the church, "spoke in meeting" a few months ago, and told his fellow baptists who worship him more than they do their God, that he wished he could devote the rest of his life to traveling about and telling the people what religion had done for him.

I don't see what was to hinder his doing it, for he certainly had money enough to pay his expenses without taking up collections.

But I have discovered that Rocky was too busy.

And now in the place of an announcement of Evangelist Rockefeller's first itinerary, comes the announcement that he is about to organize a great mining trust, capitalized at two and a half billion dollars, to control the entire mineral output of this country, except that of the Calumet and Hecla copper mines.

Yea verily, religion hath done great things for Rocky.—"Pea Green" in Pasco Express.

A Trip Through Yellowstone Park

is what everyone hopes to have—some day. It is the most wonderful trip in the world. There are more than 3000 square miles of weird, marvelous, unimaginable things that can be seen nowhere else, therefore if one ever sees them one must go to the Park, in the heart of the magnificent Rockies with snow tipped peaks all around. If Old Faithful geyser, a Paint Pot, Mud Volcano, or Emerald Pool were to be found in Lincoln park, Chicago; Central park, New York; or Fairmount park, Philadelphia; the people would flock to see it or them by tens of thousands. For a very small sum, comparatively, all these and hundreds more of nature's unduplicated marvels can be seen between June 1 and September 30 of each year, and one will enjoy, to boot, the best coaching trip in the country.

The Northern Pacific folder on Yellowstone Park, just issued, is a new, right up to date, finely illustrated dissertation on this Yellowstone Park trip. It is not descriptive, but deals with the detailed, technical matters everyone needs to know about such a trip. It tells all about the hotels, the stage coaches, the roads, the cost of the tour; where the geysers, the waterfalls, the bears, the canyons are, and where the trout fishing is found. We have printed thousands of this beautiful leaflet and want everybody interested to have a copy, and it can be obtained by sending A. M. Cleland, General Passenger Agent, St. Paul, Minn., two cents with proper address.

"Wonderland 1904" which is a very fine pamphlet of 116 pages, descriptive of the Northwest, including the Park, will be sent for six cents.

The Yakima Democrat is the only Democratic Journal in Central Washington.

North Yakima, Wash., June 25, 1904.

Judge Parker's victorious march towards the presidential nomination received a severe shock in Illinois, which aligned itself last week in the Hearst column. Still, even with the 54 votes that Hearst will receive from that state he is still far short of the necessary 327 that he requires to prevent the nomination of the New York jurist.

Parker now has instructed delegations from the following states: New York, Connecticut, Maine, Vermont, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Alabama and Georgia, while the delegations from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Louisiana, Texas and Ohio are uninstructed, but will doubtless go to Parker after the first ballot. In addition, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maryland, Delaware, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Missouri will doubtless go to the New York man when their votes are really necessary, and the "favorite sons" have been disposed of.

With such a formidable array of strength it is difficult to figure out a way by which Parker can be beaten, although there is a chance of course that he may be. After all has been said the fact remains that Parker's strength lies in the belief that exists among democrats generally as to his availability. If Charles F. Murphy, the astute leader of Tammany hall, who is bitterly fighting Parker because of his intense hatred for Hill, can convince any considerable number of the uninstructed delegates that Parker cannot carry New York it will all be off with the man from Esopus, for in the minds of the uninstructed delegates their chief duty to their party at St. Louis is to select a winner. However, Murphy's chance of success is not bright. He admits that he has nothing against Parker, who has always treated him with courtesy and due consideration, but he fights him because Hill is his friend. That sort of an argument is certainly not a very reasonable one with which to appeal to fair minded men. Tammany will probably have to take her medicine just as she did in the stormy conventions of 1884 and 1892.

President Roosevelt, in the capacity of manager of his own campaign, has recently, according to the New York papers, been summoning leading capitalists to the White House for conference. Among the leading financiers who have responded are J. Pierpont Morgan and George J. Gould. These gentlemen, says the New York World, assured Mr. Roosevelt in the most positive terms that they would support him in his campaign and that plenty of campaign funds could be secured with which to make the fight. The president has also been having a number of other distinguished callers according to the following associated press dispatch clipped from Tuesday's P.-L.:

Washington, June 20.—President Roosevelt was advised today that a large proportion of all the great financial concerns will support his candidacy. Former Attorney General Wayne McVeigh gave him this assurance. Mr. McVeigh, who is counsel for the Pennsylvania railroad and many of the leading anthracite coal companies, took luncheon with the president today. The president has now been repeatedly advised that the Wall street interests dominated by J. P. Morgan, will donate liberally to the republican campaign fund. Mr. Morgan informed Cornelius Illies, now in Chicago, to this effect and told him that ample funds would be supplied by the leading corporate interests.

Pledges of support and assistance have been given the president's friends from a large percentage of the leading financial and commercial institutions, but he has also been informed of the opposition to him on the part of the Rockefeller interests, which include the Standard Oil Company and the interests centered in James J. Hill. The president has been told that J. Pierpont Morgan sent personal representatives to Chicago to assure the party leaders there of sincere support and liberal contributions.

The voters of Oregon by a majority of 20,950 at the recent election in that state voted for the constitutional amendment authorizing the passage by the legislature of a direct primary law.

This is a move in the right direction and the voters of Oregon are to be congratulated for the intelligence and good sense they have displayed in demanding the enactment of such a law.

A strong effort should be made by the people of Washington to have such an amendment submitted to the voters of this state for if there is any state that needs such a law worse than Washington we would be pleased to know the name of it.

While the direct primary would not cure all the evils from which our people suffer under the present system it would eradicate some of them and mitigate others. Under the operation of such a law there is no likelihood that the republican party of this state, or any other party for that matter, would ever ask the suffrage of the people in support of such a ticket as was nominated at Tacoma last month. The direct primary system takes away from the scheming politician much of the power that he now wields, which fully accounts for the fact that the practical politician wants no such a law passed.

The ordinance fixing the regulations whereby a saloon license may be granted in this city is a good deal of a farce, at least in the way that it is being applied. The council either ought to respect its provisions or repeal it entirely. The ordinance is vicious in principle and never should have been enacted in the first place. Ever since it was enacted it has been the cause of crimination and recrimination, backbiting, knocking and constant, fruitless quarrels. It has been a club with which citizens have belabored each other in and out of the council.

There is really no occasion for so much hypocrisy in dealing with the saloon question. When a man takes the position that the saloon is an unmitigated evil and a public nuisance that ought not to be tolerated he should command respect, for his opinion is based on principle. But when he takes the view that the saloon is a nuisance so far as he is concerned but that it is a good thing for some other man to have for a neighbor, with its $1000 per annum revenue, he need not expect to be exempt from criticism for the reason that the element of selfishness is too conspicuous.

The democratic county central committee has been called to meet in this city Saturday, July 2, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of fixing the time and place for the meeting of the primaries and the county convention.

From expressions received by this paper from a number of leading democrats the plan that will probably be pursued will be to hold two county conventions, or rather two sessions of the same convention. At the first meeting no business would be transacted by the convention other than the election of 19 delegates to the state and judicial conventions. At the adjourned session, to be held four or five weeks later, the legislative and county ticket would be selected. Inasmuch as the democratic state convention has been called to meet at Bellingham August 2 it would seem as though the above plan will have to be followed, unless the local democrats favor a long county campaign, which it seems to us is undesirable from any point of view.

Roosevelt and Fairbanks at this writing, appear to be the two men destined to carry the g. o. p. banner either to victory or defeat. The convention at Chicago this week was the most dull and listless affair in the shape of a national political gathering that has ever been held in this country. It was a cut and dried affair and the delegates were simply so many ciphers. Except as a matter of form there was no need of a convention at all as the strenuous boss in the White House had everything fixed weeks ago. The old bosses don't like the new order of things and are unable to conceal their chagrin. They would unload Mr. Roosevelt in mighty short order if they could do so without the fear of party disaster.

It is to be hoped that the New York authorities will fix the responsibility for the terrible marine disaster in the burning of the excursion steamer General Slocum in which perhaps 1000 people lost their lives, nearly all of whom were women and children. It ought to be somebody's business to inspect such vessels as the General Slocum and see that they are in fit condition before being loaded to the guards with helpless human freight. In this case some of the life preservers on the old tub are said to have been so rotten that they fell to pieces in the hands of the panic stricken passengers. The person or persons responsible for such a condition of affairs if located should be made to look through prison bars.

It is difficult to even imagine, says the Spokane Outburst, the existence of any condition of affairs in connection with the finding of that murdered babe on the hillside last Sunday morning that would warrant Detective Briley in saying, "Come on, you d—d snake," to the distracted old woman at his side, driven insane by the shock of disgrace that overwhelmed her.

The Outburst is quite right. Detective Briley was not the woman's judge and when he addressed such an insulting remark to his defenceless prisoner he simply slopped over and gave evidence of his own unfitness to properly perform the duties of his office.

Speaking of the present tour of the Liberty Bell the St. Louis Globe-Democrat says: "Liberty Bell will halt at St. Louis on the present journey, but it could travel half way around the world on territory belonging to the United States." The Globe-Democrat quit before it had told all of the truth. It could truthfully have added that in a large portion of the territory mentioned it would be a meaningless chunk of metal, a reminder of hollow pretense, a satire upon human freedom. What a sorry spectacle the old bell would cut in the Philippines where the flag means nothing but chattel slavery to those over whom it floats, and where the most sacred rights of American citizens are brutally ignored. Administration organs like the Globe-Democrat are wise in halting long before they tell the whole story.—Commoner.

From all reports from the east one may judge that "McKinley prosperity" is about to take wings to be succeeded by a period of Roosevelt hard times. Steel mills and other large manufacturing industries are shutting down and the railroads have for some time past been discharging or laying off men by the thousands on account of "dull business." These unsatisfactory conditions are likely to bring about political results, especially in the doubtful states, that may have the effect of placing a new tenant in the White House. There seems to be an analogy between the conditions of today and those of 1892.

John L. Wilson and his republican state committee have apparently failed in their efforts to get Coon off the ticket. Coon would not get off and the committee has no power to put him off. So Mr. Coon will stay on the back of the elephant and ride the animal down to defeat in November.

Mr. Mead is reported to have said that if Coon did not come off the ticket that he would. However, he has not done so yet, neither is it likely that he will. If Mr. Mead made any such a statement he was merely bluffing.

The republican national committee and the convention have not helped the cause of that party by denying seats in that body to the regular or La Follette delegates and giving their places to Senator Spooner and his crowd of bolters. If it be true, as hinted, that this action was taken by orders from Washington the disgruntled followers of La Follette will be very apt to take their spite out on the strenuous chief. There is good reason to believe that Wisconsin will go democratic this year.

Roosevelt is hostile to the trusts, and especially the bad trusts. So is Knox, his attorney general. At least, that is what the republican party organs have been telling us. Yet at a conference of trust managers held at Pittsburg which included Frick, the ironmaster and Cassett, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, Knox was decided on as the proper and logical man to succeed Matt Quay in the senate. To which Roosevelt says, "Amen."

It is said that one of the members of the Yakima delegation to the railroad convention at Tacoma assured Mr. Mead after his nomination that he could depend upon receiving a majority of 1000 in this county. The statement was doubtless made in all seriousness and in good faith, but the gentleman who made it knows better now. Any kind of a majority will look good to him on the 9th day of November.

The Prosser republican club has endorsed P. E. Harris of that town as a candidate for the legislature from this county. Mr. Harris is a son-in-law of former Representative Nelson Rich and is said to be an ardent supporter of county division. The democrats, we might add, have no objections to the candidacy of Mr. Harris.

A Kansas City groceryman in filling a woman's order for a gallon of vinegar, gave her gasoline instead through error. The woman lost her life when she poured the liquid into a vessel on the family stove and her three children received serious injuries. No doubt the groceryman regrets his carelessness. At least he ought to.

Hearst at any rate is making a game fight even though it's a losing one. His victory in Illinois gave the opposition something to think about. Hearst will get nothing more than glory out of this fight but the man has demonstrated his power and is now a force that the politicians will be compelled to recognize in the future.

The news of the nomination of Roosevelt and Fairbanks when it reached this city from Chicago did not create any enthusiasm whatever. Apparently the Chicago event did not interest the people here as much as did the wrestling bout between the Indian and the big Scotchman.

Col. Sam Perkins, the Tacoma newspaper Napoleon, added another to his string of newspapers last week by purchasing the Los Angeles Herald. The colonel is going up against the real thing when he invades Hearst's field.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

To Meet at Bellingham August 2—Official Call by the State Committee.

A Democratic convention for the state of Washington is hereby called to meet at Bellingham, Wash., on the 2nd day of August, 1904, at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating five candidates for presidential electors to be held on the 8th day of November, 1904, and to cast the vote of the state of Washington in the electoral college for president and vice president of the United States, the placing in nomination of candidates for the following national and state offices, to-wit: Three congressmen, two judges of the supreme court, one governor, one lieutenant governor, one secretary of state, one state treasurer, one auditor, one attorney general, one superintendent of public instruction, one commissioner of public lands and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the said state convention.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each fifty votes or a major fraction thereof of the average combined vote cast for the Honorables George F. Cotterill, Frank B. Cole and O. R. Holcomb, Democratic candidates for congress at the general election held in November, 1902, the apportionment of each county being as follows:

Total . . . . . 672

All county conventions in electing delegates to the state convention will also elect alternates and it is also deemed best that the county conventions to elect their delegates to the state convention be held at least seven days prior to August 2, 1904.

The state central committee recommends that all voters who believe in the principles of the Democratic party and indorse its policies and will support the nominees of the party at the general election to be held in November, be cordially invited to participate in the primaries.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

The Political Pot Begins to Boil Fiercely—Current Comment at the National Capital.
(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., June 18, 1904.

The political pot boils fiercely and bubbles freely. This city is still virtually the headquarters of both parties. I yesterday dropped in to the suite of rooms at the Riggs House where Congressman Cowherd of Kansas City guides the larger movements of the democratic party. Other prominent congressmen were there, talking over the situation. "It's dollars to doughnuts that we win," said a senator who is in the city almost every week. "If the quarrels of the republicans in several of the pivotal states can be kept up till election day, Spooner's bolting his party ticket in Wisconsin will give us thirty or forty assembly districts and we shall probably be able to elect a successor to Senator Quarles. And the quarrels may give us the vote of Wisconsin for president, too, for it will mix up the electoral ticket in a way to confuse the voters. Thirteen votes in the electoral college are worth going for."

It is undeniable that the republican faction fights in Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Delaware and West Virginia give the democrats comfort; but they are made very thoughtful over the big republican majority in Oregon. Several prominent men here agreed yesterday that Oregon's showing presages democratic defeat unless the party puts to the front its very strongest man. He must be a conservative man and an experienced man, and he should be a distinguished man. This is a description of three or four possible candidates but the choice cannot be made at random. A sensation is created here by Col. Bryan's letter in which he denounces "the burglarious methods which are now being employed to foist upon the party a speechless candidate and a meaningless platform." If I were to repeat here what I yesterday heard a democratic congressman say about it, your paper would be forbidden the mails.

Local comment gathers about the quarrel between the daily Post (republican) and Pension Commissioner Ware. The Post charged that the Commissioner was railroaded old-age pensions through for veterans in certain doubtful states. This assertion from a paper that generally supports the administration, produced astonishment. Yesterday the Commissioner in presence of his staff accused the Post with lying about him and attributed the attack to the fact that he had reduced an incompetent clerk who had a relative on the Post. The paper describes the scene: "He raved about the article; told a story which can be nothing but offensive to the Italian government if it be noticed; mentioned the name of a young lady in a way that would hardly be tolerated among bar room loafers, and ascribed the article about his bureau to spite." Ware seems to have alluded to Italians as "daggers" and alleged that the attack of the Post would give him "a million defenders in the United States." Your correspondent was not present, but the disburser of pensions must have been very angry. The Post returns to the charge and bitterly assails the commissioner. It is a very pretty quarrel as it stands between the president's conspicuous office holder and the paper which in its amiable moments has fed the president with taffy and decorated his office with its bouquets. The Post is the ablest paper in Washington by all odds, and one of the best in the country, always entertaining, often witty, and sometimes profound; but its owner is prostrated with paralysis and the gentlemen who are left on deck let the rudder flap round a good deal. But meantime, what will become of Ware?

Mr. Levi Leiter who died at the Vanderbilt cottage at Bar Harbor was laid to rest here on Tuesday in Rock Creek cemetery. He was born in Leitersburg, near Antietam, Maryland, in 1834. He began clerking in a country store at $3 a week. He went to Ohio and got $5; then to Chicago where he commanded $8. After becoming the partner of Marshall Field, his rise was rapid. His fortune grew with Chicago's wealth. He worked incessantly, and prospered so that in 1895 he and his son Joseph lost $10,000,000 in the wheat pit and had twice as much more left.

The fact that Leiter and his wife were fairly well educated did not protect them from sneers. She has sometimes been called Mrs. Malaprop by those who were jealous of her. Leiter was a plain, home-loving man, but his wife early developed a towering ambition and a resolve to storm the battlements of "Society." They bought the house here which was so expensive that Blaine could not live in it, then reared nearby a palace of white brick and marble, one of the most sumptuous of American mansions, society flocked around them. Mary Leiter, then twenty, became the city's greatest belle, an account of her beauty and accomplishments, as well as her wealth. In England George N. Curzon captured her in 1895. She made her husband a millionaire and got him appointed viceroy of India. As viceroy Lady Curzon became the head of Anglo-India society, performing regal functions, receiving native princes and entering homes that are barred even to King Edward. Her drawing rooms were similar to those given in Buckingham palace. The state balls were the most gorgeous in the world. It has been reported that Miss Daisy Leiter is engaged to be married to Lord Kitchener. All grocery clerks at $3 a week could take courage from this dramatic example of the Leiter fortune.

James N. Tyner, ex-postmaster general, has uttered an earnest and pathetic appeal to President Roosevelt to withdraw the charges of "gross corruption" made against him in the White House review of the Bristow scandal report. The old man calls the president's attention to the fact that the court has unanimously acquitted him of all crime and even of all proprieties, but as a fact that the combination of the president hurts him more than all else and he asks to have the vindication which Fitz-John Porter lately secured for the hands of Grant.

Thomas A. Edison's charges of incompetence, corruption and maladministration against the patent office examiners have been declared by the interior department to be unjust. The action of the commissioner of patents in dismissing the allegation is approved.

Hottest Spot on Earth.

"Death valley, in southern California, is usually referred to as the hottest spot on earth, but it isn't quite that," Ralph Erling tells me, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "This rather unpleasant distinction belongs to a portion of the shore of the Persian gulf and in the vicinity of Bahrain."

"Statistics prove that the mean annual temperature of the Persian gulf furnaces is 11 degrees higher than that of Death valley, and the aridness of both places is about on a par, though I am inclined to believe, if my recollection of the records is not blunted, that a little brackish water has been found in a few isolated springs on the alkali surface of Death valley, whereas there is no water at all to be found on the shore of the gulf anywhere within a radius of nearly 200 miles."

"Yet while Death valley is inhabited by practically none, and permanent life there is deemed well nigh impossible, Bahrain has a population of several thousand people and has had an existence as a village for many centuries. Of course the people are stunted mentally and to a slightly less extent physically, a fact due to the fearful condition under which they live; but they do live there, and are probably the nearest approach to salamanders in the human family. What do they do for water and food? Why, the former is brought to them in boats and sold in exchange for the fertilizer they dig from the desert, and the latter they have in fairly good abundance near them. You thought I said there was no water within several hundred miles of the place. Well, so I did—on the land—but there are a number of fresh water springs on the bed of the saline gulf within a few hundred yards from the shore."

"It is probably the only place on earth where fresh drinking water is secured from a salty sea. The water gushes up in considerable volume from these springs and is secured by divers. The gulf is only 30 feet deep at this point. The divers plunge to the bottom with empty goatskins and place the orifice of the skin bag directly over the mouth of the spring; it fills in a few seconds, and the diver closes the orifice and is pulled back to the boat by a rope. That is the way the water supply for the community on shore is procured. The springs are supposed to be due to underground streams which have their origin in the green hills of Oman, over 500 miles inland."

Woes of a Politician.

During Colonel Ridpath's efforts to capture the Spokane delegation, so goes a story, he sent out his chief spender, Sam Wells, to feel the public pulse as to his candidacy. Well, Sam visited a number of the leading Spokane republican politicians and put a question like this to them: "You know, Brown, Colonel Ridpath is a candidate for governor; what do you think of it?" At once the man addressed would reply: "Oh, hell!" During the whole day Wells pursued this method of interrogating politicians and business men, and at night met Ridpath to make report. "Well, what did 'A' say?" asked Ridpath. "Oh, not much," "But what did he say?" "He said, 'Oh, hell!'" "What did Mr. B. say?" "Not much of anything, but 'Oh, hell!'" "And so on to the end of the long list of names, and the only encouragement Ridpath's candidacy received was "oh, hell!" After the primary election some one asked Ridpath, so goes the story, what he thought of his gubernatorial chances and he thoughtlessly blurted out, "Oh, hell!" Whereupon Wells broke in: "That's what everybody else said, and since you agree with them it must be correct."—Seattle Argus.

Burned by Firecrackers.

As the result of a number of children playing with firecrackers on the west side Wednesday evening three stables were burned along the alley to the rear of north Ahtanum avenue and only by dint of hard work on the part of the fire department and citizens were several residences saved. A high wind was blowing at the time, about 6 p. m., which made the blaze very difficult to handle.

The fire started in the large barn facing on the alley, owned by G. C. Mitchell, which was burned to the ground with most of the contents. The stables of Wm. O'Neil and Andrew Jacobson nearby were also burned and the residences of both Mitchell and Jacobson escaped by a narrow margin. The only insurance carried on any of the stables was on that of Mitchell, which amounts to only $100. The total loss is considerable.

Three well known old residents of Ellensburg died during last week. They were Mrs. Mary A. Lloyd, aged 79, mother of J. C. Lloyd, the shoemaker; J. C. Walters for many years a prominent business man of the "burg;" died an inmate of the Steilacoom asylum, aged 51; "Jack" Lyons, the eccentric saloon man of that town died at a Portland hospital while being operated on to remove a cancer.

GREAT WHITE GOODS SALE

On account of the long, cold and backward spring, we find ourselves overstocked with white summer goods, such as Organdies, Dimities, Lawns, Swisses, Bedford Cords, Heavy Welts and numerous other materials, which no doubt will interest many of our patrons and friends who have as yet not made their purchases in this line. And as our policy is not to carry over any goods from one season to another, we have decided to make the following low prices on ALL our white goods, to last for a period of two weeks. If you wish to buy a nice, high grade class of White Goods, then visit this department in our store and you will be amazed at the big bargains we are showing.

WASH GOODS.

In addition to our big white goods sale we have placed on sale our large line of plain and figured Wash Goods, among which can be found some of the most beautiful designs and colorings. Prices to correspond with the low figures made on white goods. As this is the season for thin, sheer materials, we would advise all to take advantage of these low offerings at once, as the goods certainly can't last long at the figures quoted.
