CITY PREPARES TO RECEIVE TAFT

Local Committees Arrange for Entertainment of the President and Party, Wednesday, September 29.

President Taft is to be in North Yakima from 5:50 a. m. until 2 o'clock p. m. September 29. Information to this effect has been conveyed to Senator Wesley L. Jones by Fred W. Carpenter, the president's secretary, and by Mr. Jones will be communicated to the mayor and city officials of North Yakima and probably to the officers and members of the Fifty Thousand and Commercial clubs. In his letter to Mr. Jones Secretary Carpenter says:

"Please have local committee who are to arrange for the president's entertainment submit to me as soon as possible by wire a detailed program for his visit to North Yakima."

As President Taft is arranging to remain eight hours in North Yakima it is assumed that he is desirous of seeing as much as is convenient of the irrigation work which the government is carrying on in this section. He already knows something of this country, as he stopped here a few minutes on his trip west before he became president and took sufficient time to interview one or two local people about the city and surrounding country. He took away with him at that time such samples of the fruit of this district as must have made any person desire to hear more about it.

It is probable, therefore, that in the preparation of the program covering the eight hours of the president's visit in this city there will be provided a trip to some of the more important of the irrigated sections. It is altogether probable, also, that provision will be made for a public address in order that citizens generally may have an opportunity to hear, if not to meet, the chief executive of the nation.

Mr. Jones will at once take the matter up with Mayor Armbruster and committees will be set to work to arrange and forward a program.

TIGERS AND INDIANS

TO PLAY THREE GAMES

Top-Notchers in Valley League Will Contest for the Pennant With Game Beginning Tomorrow

The Tigers and the Indians will play three games to decide which is the winner of the Yakima league pennant. This agreement was reached Wednesday between Manager Robbins of Toppenish and Manager Payne of North Yakima. The first game will be played tomorrow, the second game Monday, August 22 and the final game Sunday, August 28. All of the games will be played at North Yakima. The winners of the first two games will be given 60 per cent of the gate receipts and the winner of the last game will get 75 per cent of the receipts.

Patrol Team Membership

The recently organized Shriners' patrol team of North Yakima consists of 24 members, as follows: H. K. Goldberg, B. F. McCurdy, W. L. Lemon, J. W. Sindall, H. J. Doolittle, S. Van Vliet, Ed M. Smithers, J. M. Brown, A. F. Lausen, Jr., H. W. Sprague, J. F. Okey, Robert Webster, A. M. Dean, M. H. Hawks, C. M. Johnson, H. B. Pratt, J. Jefferess, A. J. Helton, Chas. Heath, E. E. Streitz, F. L. Janek, H. E. Irving, D. C. Reed and E. J. Wyman. The list has only lately been completed. The members are practicing faithfully to perfect their work in anticipation of an invitation to participate in festivities in Seattle on August 25.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Y. Heckman returned a few days ago from Seattle, where they spent a month most pleasantly visiting friends and attending the exposition.

Gold in the Yakima

Ten dollars in gold nuggets was panned from the sands of the Yakima river in three hours yesterday afternoon by Ed Kingery, W. T. Lewis and O. O. Felkner of this city. The gold was panned from the river about a mile above the bar, where several thousand dollars was taken from the river 20 years ago by a party of Chinese.

The party left here yesterday morning with the intention of hunting for a ledge, as indications of quartz have been found lately along the bank of the river. A quantity of rocks and sand were dug from the bank and washed out in a miner's pan. The first washing left slight traces of gold in the bottom of the pan, but it took three or four washings to get any appreciable results. The work was kept up during the afternoon. The amount of gold to a pan varying from 7 to 10 cents.—Elensburg Dawn.

Many People Expected.

Another large influx of settlers can be expected by the northwest next month, as the Northern Pacific railway has announced a low one-way fare from eastern points. Heretofore, these reduced rates have been the means of attracting many newcomers and the migration promises to be bigger than ever this fall, in view of the extensive advertising that the northwest has received throughout the country as a result of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

Bryan Day at A.-Y.-P.

W. J. Bryan, having announced his intention of visiting the exposition during the closing week, it is proposed to make October 16, closing day, Bryan day.

Double Track for N. P.

Contracts let this week for double tracking the Northern Pacific line between Kalama and Tacoma will bring Oregon and Washington closer together. The double track will admit the Union Pacific to the Puget Sound terminals from Portland. A double track has already been built between Portland and Kalama. The contract just let calls for the expenditure of about $1,600,000 and is expected to be completed within six months.

Traffic arrangements made between the Hill and Harriman interests provide for the common use of the present Northern Pacific tracks and the existing road will be improved in many places where the new tracks are laid. This improvement will bring the two states into closer commercial relations than ever before.

Prepares an Interesting Program.

The Y. M. C. A. lecture course, which will be given the coming season has been partly arranged and the program is as follows, with one number yet to be chosen:

United States Senator "Bob" Taylor—Lecture, "The Temptation."

Central Grand Concert Co.—Maximilian Deck, violinist; Miss Edith Adams, violinist; Miss Margery Knowles, contralto; Adolph Knauer, pianist.

"Laurant, the Man of Many Mysteries."—An evening of magic and mirth.

The College Singing Girls and Mr. Walter Eccles—Entertainment.

Klickitat Irrigation Project.

J. B. Early has been in the Glade and Horsehaven country getting people to sign up for rights under the ditch to be constructed by the Klickitat Irrigation company, formed in Seattle. Three hundred thousand acres are all that they expect to sign up now. It will cost $60 per acre payable in 15 annual rent; $1.50 annual maintenance fee. Two years are given in which to begin work and six in which to complete it but the company may possibly finish the work in four years.

Irrigation Congress Ends.

With the election of officers, the selection of Pueblo, Colo., as the next meeting place, the passage of a resolution commending both the efforts of Pinchot and Newell in forestry and reclamation bureaus, asking for a ten million dollar irrigation fund from congress and commending the Mississippi deep-water way, the seventeenth National Irrigation congress came to a practical adjournment Friday, August 15.

A Thousand an Acre.

Two and a half acres of orchard land south of the Fruitvale school have been sold for $2500 to Harvey Moore of Center City, Neb., the seller being Mrs. A. M. Olson, whose home is at the corner of Tenth and Brown avenues.

The government will spend $20,000,000 in damming Lakes Kaches, Kitchelos, Bumping Lake and Lake Cle Elum and the water stored in these reservoirs will be used to irrigate the dry lands of the Kittitas and Yakima valleys. This is the statement made recently by F. H. Newell, director of the United States reclamation service.

COMMISSIONERS ALLOW THE CLAIMS OF OFFICIALS

By Vote of Two to One They Permit Salary Grab to the Public Servants of Yakima County.

Claims against Yakima county for salary said to be due county officials were allowed by the county commissioners Friday, August 13, as follows:

County school superintendent, J. O. Jacobson, $1190.54.

County commissioner, D. A. McDonald, $615.27.

County physician, Dr. P. Frank, $358.99.

Sheriff, John M. Edwards, $280.

County auditor, Wilbur Crocker, $280.

Prosecuting attorney, J. Lenox Ward, $191.20.

County commissioner, William LeMay, $334.59.

Ex-prosecuting attorney, Henry H. Wende, $280.

County assessor, John W. Sindall, $280.

The commissioners voted two to one in favor of allowing the bills, Messrs. McDonald and LeMay voting for and Mr. Meloy voting against the measure.

Attorney H. J. Snively represented the claimants before the board and argued that as the work of all the county officials had increased and that the county had been raised to the seventh class, the officials should receive an increase of salary.

Everything All Right?

Twenty minutes after the tariff bill had passed the senate a telegram signed "J. Nelson Aldrich," and addressed "J. Pierpont Morgan, on board yacht Corsair," left the capital. It read:

"Bill passed this afternoon. Everything all right. Following republicans voted against bill: Beveridge, Clapp, Cummings, Bristow, Dolliver, La Follette, Nelson."

The telegram and the fact that such a telegram was sent tell their own story. Extended comment is superfluous.

While this telegram was going over the wires Senator La Follette was saying to the senate:

"Between now and fall I shall speak many times on this tariff bill—to the people."

Aldrich reports to his constituent by wireless on board the private yacht Corsair.

La Follette reports to his constituents from the lecture platform.

From Morgan's point of view "everything is all right."

From the people's point of view—well, how about it?

Delinquent Subscribers.

The following is a synopsis of the United States supreme court decision regarding delinquent subscriptions:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered to renew their subscriptions.

2. If subscribers order discontinuance of their periodicals the publisher may continue to send until all arrears are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the postoffice they are responsible until after they have settled their bill and ordered the paper discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and paper continues they are responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the post office or moving and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not want to continue taking it, otherwise to send it, until an express notice with all arrears is sent to the publishers.—Plain Talk.

Hope to Carry Amendment.

The Washington State Suffrage association is now making the most complete canvass of the state ever undertaken. The county and precinct chairmen are compiling complete lists of voters in their districts, with the view of ascertaining the status of suffrage sentiments throughout the state. So far as the canvass has progressed, the results are gratifying to the leaders, who hope to carry the amendment to the state constitution, granting women the right to vote, at the polls in November, 1910. A chairman has been appointed for each county, who in turn selects the precinct chairmen. Each voter will be asked his views on the subject of equal suffrage and whether he means to vote for the amendment. From all parts of the state pledges of financial aid are coming in at the suffrage headquarters. They run from 25 cents to $25 a month. A tidy campaign fund will be the result, to defray the expenses of the contest.

FORMULATE PLANS FOR PROJECT

Landholders on the Wapato Project are Asked to Agree to Make Prompt Application to the U. S. for Water Rights.

It is now announced that the Indians of the Yakima reservation will be allowed to make their own terms with the government preliminary to the undertaking of the Wapato irrigation project. Under a new form of contract they will not have to sell any of their land unless they so desire, but may apply and pay for water rights as the white man does.

A letter has been sent to the land holders of the reservation which explains the situation and is as follows:

It is understood Secretary Ballinger will be in the Yakima valley August 27 and that at that time he will determine whether the Yakima reservation is to be watered. His attitude we understand will depend very largely on whether the land owners apply for a water right. In other words if we want the reservation irrigated we must take prompt action.

Chief Clerk Hauke and Chief Engineer Code of the Indian department have been in the valley several days and completed all preliminary arrangements as follows:

1.—Mr. R. G. Valentine, the head of the Indian department at Washington, has telegraphed:

"Give assurance to the Indians that the proceeds from the sale of their lands in excess of the amounts required to purchase water rights may be used by them in the improvement of their retained lands, the purchase of farming implements, stock and other investment purposes under the most liberal departmental supervision."

See copies of this assurance with Harry Jones at Wapato bank and with H. M. Gilbert at Toppenish.

2.—Two new forms of contract have been approved whereby the Indian may sell 40 acres or 20 acres of his allotment instead of 60 acres; or he may retain all his land, selling none, applying for a water right just the same as a white landowner applies, paying therefor in 10 annual payments without interest.

3.—A form of petition has been prepared and blank contracts have been printed for the white land owners to sign assuring Secretary Ballinger the white land owners will apply for a water right as soon as the Wapato project is authorized.

$200,000 for Wapato Project.

Secretary Ballinger has done more than grant the petition which has been so generally signed on the reservation. He has formulated a plan to secure $200,000 to start work on the Wapato project early next spring. The conditions are that 80 per cent of the landowners give written assurances they will apply for a water right and thus formally assure the return of the money. The reclamation service have withdrawn all their forces from the reservation after making all the surveys and completing plans for the "most promising project" in the United States, as the engineers term it. The engineers cannot be brought back into the field; the swamped lands will multiply rapidly; the splendid sage brush areas must remain in sage brush—unless the landowners now do their part—apply for a water right.

Secretary Ballinger, Senator Jones, the Indian department and your committee have done all that can be done. It is now up to the landowners to sign. Blanks for the white landowners may be found in North Yakima at the Central Washington Investment & Power Co., near the Yakima hotel; also at the First National bank of North Yakima; at the Yakima National bank and at the Yakima Valley bank. Mr. Barge is chairman of the committee from the Yakima Commercial club.

At Wapato you can obtain and sign blanks before Harry Jones in the Wapato bank. At Toppenish you can find blanks and sign before J. D. Cornett at the Traders' bank, L. J. Goodrich in the First National bank or in H. M. Gilbert's office.

The important thing is that this signing be done at once. Unless we show Secretary Ballinger on August 27 that we are in earnest, that we mean business and apply for a water right in writing, the Wapato project may be abandoned for many years.

If we act now it means:

1.—The continuance of active work on the Wapato project.

2.—The doubling of the irrigated area of Yakima county.

3.—The building of two or more splendid towns.

4.—All the lands on the Wapato project will be doubled in value.

5.—By carrying out the splendid comprehensive plans of the reclamation service ten thousand horse power will be developed in the main canal and water will be pumped at small expense on an orchard area many times larger than Nob Hill and just as good.

6.—By carrying out the complete and certain system of drainage which is a part of the project, the sub-irrigated lands will have their value more than doubled. In some instances they will be multiplied by 10.

7.—The completion of the Wapato project means an increase in farm products alone, conservatively, of $7,500,000 a year.

Now let no time be lost in debate over details and little things. When considering land that will produce $30 to $100 per acre per year, what is an expense of three or four dollars per acre for 10 years? When you are getting the best possible cement and iron construction, built for all time, a complete distribution system for every allotment, a complete necessary system of drainage, covering all parts, and irrigation water for the drained areas, making them the best vegetable and alfalfa lands, why hesitate or delay?

The Indians are signing applications for water right with Mr. Robin at Toppenish and Fort Simcoe and arrangements will soon be made at Wapato.

Do not underestimate the importance and necessity of prompt action, your delay may cause the project to be abandoned. Your prompt action will be a vote for the project.

For blanks or further information address the undersigned.

H. M. GILBERT, Chairman.

Z. Y. COLEMAN.

C. J. ATWOOD.

The following petition and preliminary agreement for purchase of water right, Yakima Indian reservation, is being signed generally by the land holders:

Whereas, the undersigned desires the development of the Yakima Indian reservation and the benefit of federal irrigation for the land above described; and

Whereas, it has been and is understood to be the policy of the United States not to undertake the construction of an irrigation project unless the lands in private ownership within such proposed project are pledged to return to the reclamation fund the estimated cost of the construction thereof.

Now therefore, in consideration of the premises, each subscriber to this agreement or to a copy thereof agrees that if the secretary of the interior shall authorize the construction of the said Wapato project, he will promptly make application to the proper authorities of the United States for water right in accordance with the act of congress of June 17, 1902 (32 Stat. 388), and with the rules and regulations of the secretary of the interior established thereunder, and will, for that purpose, execute such further instruments or agreements as the secretary of the interior may require in pursuance of the terms and provisions of the said act, and hereby further agrees to pay, when the same shall be announced as due, the estimated cost of the construction of the Wapato project, as may be apportioned in accordance with said law and the rules and regulations of the secretary of the interior established thereunder.

THE COUNTY SALARY GRAB

Two of the three county commissioners, Messrs. McDonald and LeMay, last week by their votes granted the demand of county office holders for an increase of salary caused by the raising of Yakima county's class from the 11th to the seventh grade, which was accomplished by an act of the board of county commissioners in February last.

Mr. Meloy, the third commissioner, to his credit it may be said, refused to join in this infamous raid upon the county treasury and voted "No." The fact that the two commissioners who voted "Aye" will themselves profit by their own ruling gives the whole matter a still blacker appearance. Their action will cost the taxpayers of the county approximately $4000, and at a time when the people are already groaning under an excessive burden of taxation.

A provision of our state constitution contains the specific provision that the salary of no public official shall be either increased or diminished during his term of office. This specific provision County Attorney Ward, himself a beneficiary of the proposed grab, ingeniously explains away by contending that the section of the constitution referred to was meant to apply only to legislative enactments and that it does not apply to the case of a county official where the fact can be shown that the population of the county has increased to an extent that justifies a new and higher classification, the theory being that the increase of population likewise increases the duties and responsibilities of the different officers. This construction, Mr. Ward assures us, is upheld by a "number of the best lawyers in town."

We don't care a baubee whether it is or is not upheld by the best lawyers in town, it is a steal just the same. It is so from the standpoint of common honesty and common morality. Moreover, the constitution, the great organic law of the state, expressly and in unmistakably plain language forbids such a practice, notwithstanding Mr. Ward's frenzied desire to explain it away. Mr. Ward, by the way, was formerly county clerk, but his present attitude is in strong contrast to that of his predecessor in that office, the late R. K. Nichols, who refused to lay claim to a single cent of extra compensation as an official when the county's classification was raised to the 11th class, which was only about two years ago.

Every man now holding a county job voluntarily offered his services to the people for a certain stipulated sum per annum as salary. Upon that basis they were employed and set to work as servants of the county, just the same as a farmer might set his hands at work in the harvest field. To be sure, the work of our county officials is more genteel, but the principle is the same, for a bargain is a bargain and both parties should be compelled to observe the bond to the letter.

For the county officials to come in later on a mere subterfuge and with no moral, and very likely no legal grounds to stand upon, and demand more pay for their services than the contract price is to say the least, reprehensible business. And every man-jack of them who receives this extra compensation to which none are rightfully entitled, should be marked for political death if he should ever again presume to ask for an office at the hands of the people of Yakima county.

SENATOR JONES' RECORD

Senator Jones, who returned home last Saturday from Washington, D. C., literally fagged out with his duties as a tariff maker, is quoted by state papers as having said that the new Aldrich law was generally satisfactory to nearly everybody in the country except the Democrats; but as the law was not made to suit democrats, it really doesn't matter whether they are pleased or not.

Apparently Senator Jones is not broad enough between the eyes to realize that it is his sworn duty to legislate for democrats as well as republicans. The record that Mr. Jones made in many of his votes on the tariff bill is not one that he has any right to be proud of. He was on the job constantly looking after the interests of the big mill owners and the coal mine owners of this state, neither of whom really need protection, but who loudly demand it just the same. After haggling with and standing in with Aldrich for months, finally accepting the reduced rate that the big boss offered them, Jones and Piles, after surrendering, were still further chagrined to see President Taft step in and lower the lumber or coal schedule still another notch in the interest of the poor devil of a consumer. Evidently it was this last straw that brought Mr. Jones home in such a petulant humor. He must, indeed, have been feeling bad when he went out of his way to reflect upon Congressman Poindexter, while in the latter's home town.

If Senator Jones had used one-half the effort in the senate to protect the common people of his state against the villainous schedules of the notorious Aldrich bill that he used in behalf of the timber thieves and the coal barons, he would have some season to justify point with pride to his record.

ANOTHER INCREASE?

The most astounding provision in the Aldrich bill is the one which provides for a conditional increase of 25 per cent ad valorem on the 31st of March next. If this increase goes into effect there will be a large increase all along the line. Congressman Cullop of Indiana, among others, called attention to this feature. He says:

"On the chemical schedule there is a reduction, but on the important articles of universal consumption in the necessities of life there is a large increase. On the schedule duties there is an increase of 2 per cent over the Dingley rates. In other words, the average specific duties in the Dingley bill were 45 per cent and in the Payne-Aldrich bill the average specific duties are 47 per cent. The bill reported by the conference committee is higher than the Payne bill as originally passed by the house.

"But the specific schedule duties do not constitute the real rates, and this is where the public is being deceived about the real tariff. In section two of the bill is where the consumer is handed a good sized lemon. That section provides that 'after the 31st day of March, 1910, there shall be levied, collected and paid on all articles when imported from any foreign country into the United States the rates of duty prescribed by the schedules and paragraphs of the dutiable list of section one, and in addition thereto 25 per cent ad valorem; which rates shall constitute the maximum tariff of the United States.'

"This means that in addition to the rates fixed in the more than 4000 specific schedules there shall be added as the tariff 25 per cent of the value of the articles as the real tariff on the same and hence this raises the average tariff rate to 72 per cent, the highest by far ever levied."—The Commoner.

LESSONS FOR THE ELECTOR.

In a wonderfully frank editorial entitled "Lessons for the Elector," the Wall Street Journal says:

"If the voter has not learned some valuable lessons from the tariff discussion, he is a great deal denser than the Wall Street Journal believes. Never has such a flood of daylight been thrown upon high protection's meanest and ugliest features. The pretense of high tariff for the encouragement of infant industries has been abandoned. That kind of 'infant,' in fact, never grows old enough to be weaned and, indeed, demands more 'infant' nourishment the older it gets. Another hard-worked theory, also, which has received some rude shocks is that an advance in tariff schedules means an advance in wages. It is increasingly probable that the two things are not related. Wages went down last year irrespective of the tariff in the enormously protected steel industry, and have since been restored, although iron ore and pig iron are among the few articles on which the duty has been revised downwards. The New England cotton spinners are making great dividends, but the wages of mill operatives have no advanced. So much is this the case that unintelligent and unskilled imported laborers from Europe or even children of school age are substituted for educated American operatives. These are plain facts, and the voter will be a fool if he can not appreciate what they mean. Nobody in his senses can believe that the present compromise will represent the tariff system of this country for more than a brief period. Now is the time for the voter to take up the education of his congressmen and senators. He can not begin too soon."

Nobody in his senses can believe that the present compromise will represent the tariff system of this country for more than a brief period. Now is the time for the voter to take up the education of his congressmen and senators. He can not begin too soon."

We are naively told by some of the county officials in the effort to justify the infamous county salary grab that the rapid increase of the population of Yakima county materially increases the work in the different offices. In a general way, perhaps, this is true; but it is not likewise true that the number of deputies employed to do the work will show a corresponding increase? As for the principals, with the exception perhaps of the superior judge and the superintendent of schools, we do not believe that any of them are obliged to work as hard now as did their predecessors of 10 or 12 years ago, who had to worry along without much help and with very small salaries as compared with what the county pays today.

TEXAS VIEW OF BALLINGER.

Dallas (Tex.) News; Mr. Ballinger has lately restored to public entry, under the loose provisions of our absurd laws, large areas of public land that had been withdrawn from entry during the Roosevelt administration. He has declined to allow Indian police to patrol forest reserves, with the result that, since there is no other, or at best an inadequate patrol force, timber thieves have full sway. It may be, and it doubtless is a fact, that a strict interpretation of the law warrants all that Mr. Ballinger has done. But the fact that these laws, enacted at a time when we were indifferent alike to the value of these resources and to the crime of stealing them, are by their pendency more of an aid than a hindrance to the thieves. Therefore a strict, highly technical construction of the law is the very thing that best facilitates their robberies.

Mr. Roosevelt appreciated the fact that he was confronted by a condition and not a theory. Accordingly he adopted a policy that was in some respects extrajudicial. And he was denounced for his evasion of the law by men who view the evasions of these plunderers with the utmost complacency. If the law is so flexible, we prefer that it be bent in behalf of those who will not plunder them.

UNIONS TO PARADE HERE ON LABOR DAY.

Street Demonstration in the Morning With Picnic and Speeches in Afternoon and Dance in Evening.

Organized labor of North Yakima is preparing to commemorate Labor Day, September 6, in a public manner. It is probable that there will be a parade in the morning, a picnic in the afternoon and a dance in the evening. At the picnic there will be a number of speeches. Committees from among the labor organizations of the city are now at work in preparing a program which will be submitted for approval at a meeting to be held at an early date.

Organized labor, as has been several times demonstrated by street parade and otherwise in this city, is a strong and vital element in the community. It proposes this year to recognize in a substantial manner the day set apart by the federal government as labor's special day. It is possible that in the parade an attempt will be made to make something more than a mere showing of numbers. It is possible that something in the way of an industrial parade will be undertaken or a parade representative of all the activities of this section of the state and union.

YAKIMA IS SECOND IN APPLE CONTEST.

County Loses to Chelan in Winesaps After a Long String of Victories in Other Varieties.

Yakima county lost on the Winesap apple competition at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, Chelan winning from it by a margin of six points. A letter was received Thursday by W. B. Newcomb from Superintendent E. J. Haasze of the county building in which Mr. Haasze said:

"Winesaps have been judged since 1 was over and we only got 490, Chelan 498, and on Hyde's King 492, Chelan 490. We did the hardest work on these Winesaps but lost out. We are very sorry about this but it could not be helped. We did not have the apples to show against others which had been packed in cotton batting."

Mayor James C. Haynes of Minneapolis, who has been visiting in North Yakima for a couple of days at the home of A. S. Congdon, left North Yakima Thursday on his return to Minnesota. Mr. Haynes is a property owner here, Haynes' addition being his land. He sold a couple of lots while here and took the money away with him, though he said he likes Yakima county investments. Mr. Haynes is delighted with the growth and development of the community. He interchanged fraternal greetings with Mayor P. M. Armbruster while here. He also met members of Minnesotans and said he could hardly blame them for leaving home.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison Liggett of Emporia, Kan., uncle and aunt of J. E. Shannon of Nob Hill, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Shannon on their return east after a trip to Seattle. They were delighted with the Yakima country and found the climate here pleasing, after the conditions they have suffered in the east. While here they received letters from friends telling of excessive heat in eastern states.

Beef from Argentina.

The announcement that a line of steamers is to be put on between the United States and the Argentine Republic for the purpose of bringing frozen or refrigerated beef to American cities comes as a startling piece of news to the people of the northern republic. There is not enough beef in the United States to meet the demands of a nation of meat eaters, and so where beef used to be exported heavily it must be imported.

Not long ago, the chief executive officer of a big beef packing company in Chicago went to Argentina and secured millions of acres of good grass country which he stocked with cattle. It is said in New York that one of the reasons why Mr. Harriman is extending his Southern Pacific system into this country is because there are millions of acres of land here well adapted to the grazing of beef cattle.—Mexican Herald.

Mabton is now equipped with two new hose and carts with which to fight any future fires. They were furnished by the Northwest Bridge company as part of their contract and arrived in town last Friday. Slowly but surely Mabton's fire fighting facilities are assuming a reality.—Mabton Chronicle.

FIRE DESTROYS MABTON BRIDGE

County Structure Burns on Saturday Afternoon, Then Falls Into the River.

The Mabton-Sunnyside county bridge was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clock. Three 70-foot wooden spans were consumed and the 210-foot combination wood and steel span installed only a couple of years ago was so far affected that it fell into the Yakima river, the wood is burned out and the steel is twisted in a tangled mass. It is estimated just now that the bridge is a total loss and that none of the old structure will be available for use in the new one which will have to be put up, although there is a faint hope that some of the steel in the river can be recovered and straightened out. A 40-foot approach on either side of the bridge was left standing.

No person appears to know how the fire which destroyed the bridge started, but the supposition is that a cigar stump, fanned into flame on top of the tinder-like floor of the bridge, was the beginning of the trouble. A passerby noticed the blaze in its comparative incipency and drove half a mile to Mabton for help. When fire-fighters arrived from the town, however, the high wind had spread the flames to all portions of the bridge and no efforts to save the structure were availing. When the big combination span fell into the river it pulled down the two cylinder piers, each five feet in diameter, on which it had been resting.

HEAT WILL COME FROM ICE PLANT

New Concern Contracts With Yakima Ice & Cold Storage People for Service.

An important detail of the management and operation of the Central Heating company's system was settled late last week when the company entered into a contract with the Yakima Ice & Cold Storage company to have the latter concern supply the steam which the heating company will use in its service. The arrangement calls for the heating company's purchasing two 400-horse power boilers which the ice company will lease from it and operate in conjunction with its present plant. The new boilers will remain the property of the heating company but will be installed adjacent to the ice company's plant and will be operated in conjunction with it.

While evidences of the progress which is being made by the steam heat people are not many on the surface of things, there is scarcely a day passes during which some little matter is not worked out. After the procuring of the franchise from the city, the company went right ahead and the available stock in the concern was rapidly sold. The contract for the construction of the system has already been let to a big Chicago engineering firm which has promised steam heating service within the next few months.

The arrangement which the heating company has made with the ice company, it is thought, will prove a very satisfactory one for every person concerned. J. L. Hughes, manager of the ice company, is actively interested in the other company and the service which will be given the patrons of the heating company can reasonably be expected to be the very best which a man who has had lots of experience in things of this kind can give.

WASHINGTON, D. C., MAN VISITS THE YAKIMA

Meets J. Harold Powell, Government Fruit Expert, Who Will Be Here Soon

Charles F. Wallraff, of Washington, D. C., ex-newspaper reporter and real estate dealer, is paying a visit to North Yakima. He is secretary and treasurer of the Moore & Hill Company, Inc., of Washington.

Mr. Wallraff has been on an extended trip throughout the country and says that he came to North Yakima to see the section of which he had heard and read so much as a garden spot for producing apples.

While on his trip in California, Mr. Wallraff met J. Harold Powell, the government fruit expert of the agricultural department, who, by his careful research saved the people of California millions of dollars by pointing out to them the causes of fruit spoiling. He says that Mr. Powell signified his intention of visiting North Yakima in the near future in the interests of the fruit growers of this section.

Julia Elinor Brownlee, aged 28 years, wife of Carl Brownlee, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sedge of the Naches valley, died at her father's home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock after an illness of six months. The remains were interred in the Naches cemetery Thursday, August 12.

URGES BIG BOND ISSUE TO RECLAIM ARID LANDS

President Barstow Makes Eloquent Plea Before the Irrigation Congress $5,000,000.

One of the most impressive speeches ever made before a gathering in the state of Washington was that of President Barstow at the Irrigation Congress held in Spokane last week. Following are some nuggets from the address:

No more noble, no more sacrificing, more patriotic work can be done by the citizenship of this great republic than to engage in the sublime effort to enable its sturdy and home-loving people of small means to locate upon the land.

The duty of the national government may be found in providing under proper safeguard a fund which may be used to make loans of suitable amount to enable this thrifty and frugal class of people (emigrants) to locate their homes under the government irrigation plants.

There is too much and unwarranted prejudice by the majority of Americans against many of the nationalities coming to our shores.

Time has shown to the careful observer conclusively that, whether Huns, Slavs, Italians, Chinese or Japs, that they make good citizens and are most productive in their efforts when located upon the land.

The owning and tilling of farms is the truest basis for national patriotism.

The question of the drainage of the swamp lands in the United States and of which there are about 80,000,000 acres, has come to be regarded by the people of our country as of great importance on the ground of health and commerce.

In 1908 there were about 300,000,000 acres of land in cultivation in the humid regions of our country. The crops from these lands aggregated about $8,000,000,000 in value. When 60,000,000 acres of arid land are in cultivation their annual crops will safely reach $6,500,000,000. In other words, the irrigated lands have a productive capacity of at least four to one.

Fight here I desire to impress upon the mind of this congress the great importance of taking prompt steps to give the federal government; to understand that the voice of the people of our entire nation demands that the reclamation fund shall be forthwith supplemented by the creation and sale from time to time of gold bonds in the total sum of $500,000,000.

"DRY TOWN" WILL DRY UP BUSINESS

So Says W. S. Norman, of Spokane, Capitalist and Hotel Magnate of Northwest.

W. S. Norman, capitalist and owner of a large block of stock of the Yakima Hotel company, this morning denied the current rumor that the company had planned on building a new hotel in the near future. Besides denying the rumor, Mr. Norman voiced his views on local option and spoke rather pointedly concerning some of the laws passed at the last session of the legislature.

"We certainly are not going to build another hotel in North Yakima," said Mr. Norman. "At least we will not build one right away. The thing that is bothering us most now is the local option question. If local option carries in this city it will kill the business snap that now prevails in North Yakima."

"Just let this city go dry and let some of the other cities nearby continue under the present arrangement and you will see the neighboring towns thrive and they will thrive while business conditions in this city will be dead. Eliminate the sale of liquor in the hotel business and the hotel business is killed."

"This hotel," said Mr. Norman, referring to the Yakima, "hasn't been a paying investment except within the last two months and in case of local option going into effect it will never pay."

"Look at the hotels back in the Dakotas where the local option law is in effect. Every one is no more or less than a great big rooming house and I would not sanction the running of a hotel in this city if it were to go dry. I have some fear about North Yakima but I am satisfied that the time is very far away when the larger cities will be compelled to dispense with selling liquor."

Is Not Practical.

"In theory the local option law is all right but it does not work out practically. For instance, there are 2000 registered voters. If 1001 vote for local option it goes into effect. That is all right. Well and good. The majority should rule. But say that only 500 of the registered voters poll their votes. If 251 were to vote for local option the law would carry. That is where it is unfair. There is not nearly a majority of the voters in favor of the local option law and yet it has to carry upon the vote of those 251 people, where in theory it would require 1001 to carry the law into effect."

Mr. Norman refers to some of the recent legislation as "grandmotherly legislation." In commenting upon some of the laws he said:

"The anti-cigarette law, the anti-tipping law and several others passed at the last session of the legislature are already becoming the joke of lawmakers in the east. They simply sit back and laugh at the ridiculousness of the law."

"Why, even the governor of Washington is reported not to abide by the laws. He was reported in a Spokane paper only last week as saying that he always gave his waiter a tip. If this is true I claim that he is the biggest law breaker in the country. He allows a law to pass and then pays no attention to it."

FEAR MALE QUARTETTE HAS PASSED UP CITY

Some concern is being felt over the failure to hear from the Ohio male chorus which is to stop over here Monday, August 23. The manager for the singers attempted to get some societies in this city to make them a guarantee and failing in this he signified his intention of stopping over here on his own responsibility.

The chorus is booked to compete for a $1000 prize at Seattle August 24 and to make expenses started out from Van Wert, O., with the intention of stopping along the route giving concerts. North Yakima is one of the objective points and it was the proposition of the manager to forward literature to the Yakima Commercial club for advertising the event. This literature to date has not been received.

Attorney Sweet, who has been corresponding with the manager, says he does not understand why the chorus has not been heard from definitely in regard to the proposed stop.

STATION CONSTRUCTION MUST WAIT FOR BRICKS

Construction work on the new station will be held up a month by the impossibility of securing face brick. The specifications require that a particular variety of face brick be secured from a firm in Hebron, N. D., and this firm has oversold on account of either an excessive demand or a limited production.

The station foundation is complete and if the brick could be secured the brick work could now go on at the same time as the construction of the foundation being put in for the end platform.

Installing Cider Presses That Devour 2 1-2 Tons Apples at One Pressing.

Mammoth presses that will consume two and one-half tons of apples at one pressing are now being installed at the Mortland Manufacturing company plant. There are two of the large machines and each one has a weight of 20,000 pounds. They stand 16 feet high and have a pressure of 300 tons.

The presses are the best that could be obtained and their capacity and capability would indicate that they are by no means toys. After a visit to several of the larger plants in the east these machines were selected by J. B. Hileman, manager. They are as large as any presses in similar use today and their capacity is as great. The work of installing them commenced today and it will be at least three weeks before the work is completed.

A spur of railroad has recently been constructed and it is made possible to bring the heavy machinery close to the building. The track was completed the first of the week and since then three cars of machinery have been landed at the door. Two boilers for the plant were unloaded Monday evening and before Tuesday evening had been put in their places. Two more cars of machinery are to arrive before the outfit will have been completed.

"We will be ready for the apples as soon as they begin to come in," said Mr. Hileman today. "Undoubtedly the supply of apples this year will not be very large but we do not expect to experience a shortage."

GLOBE TROTTER LIKES YAKIMA

Dr. I. J. Ransbottom Purchaser of Orchard Land in Wide Hollow

Although he has trotted over a good bit of land which old Mother Earth has to offer her children for homes, Dr. I. J. Ransbottom of Coldwater, O., has decided to settle down in the vicinity of North Yakima and has accordingly purchased 20 acres of land in Wide Hollow, which he will improve for fruit raising. The doctor returned to Ohio last night and expects to bring his wife and family back to North Yakima with him after some months.

Dr. Ransbottom was for a time assistant in the medical department attending the people in charge of the excavation for the Panama canal, and was stationed at Colon. He has also had experience in the Philippines and has traveled in Japan and China and has been in Hawaii.

A WONDERFUL APPLE DISTRICT

Council Valley, Idaho offers perhaps the very best opportunities for the fruit grower of any section in the west. At an altitude of 2910 feet; surrounded by timber-covered mountains; with abundance of water for irrigation; with splendid shipping facilities over the Pacific & Idaho Northern railroad and land still selling as low as $60 per acre Council Valley indeed is worthy of careful investigation.

Apples have been grown in Council Valley for twenty-five years without a single failure and this year there is not only a full crop of apples but there is a fine crop of peaches, pears, prunes and all tender fruits as well.

Forty-four plates of Council Valley apples won first prize on county sweepstakes at the Idaho State Fair at Boise last fall.

Six boxes of Council Valley apples at the National Horticultural congress at Council Bluffs, Iowa last fall won Seventeen prizes competing with the best from everywhere.

It will pay to investigate Council Valley. For full information regarding apple land investments in Council Valley address E. W. BOWMAN, "Sign of the Big Red Apple," Council, Idaho. 198-4t

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Tetra returned yesterday evening from Seattle, where they have been to attend the festivities conducted by the Knights of Columbus.

INTRODUCES NEW STATE.

Orchard Heating Adds Colorado to List of Fruit Raising States.

Orchard heating has practically resulted in the introduction of a new state into the fruit raising arena, that state being Colorado. William Gerhardt, an apple buyer who is in the city today from Corpus Christi, Texas, confirms the early report that the Colorado apple yield will this year amount to 6000 cars, whereas the state has in reality never had a good yield before. Mr. Gerhardt considers that the Colorado orchardists can depend on the heaters to insure good crops every year except under very unusual circumstances. This year they would have had no better crop than heretofore if they had not used the heaters.

Besides using oil heaters, the Colorado people burn brickettes composed of alfalfa, charcoal and other ingredients. They are two or three feet long and are stood on end, three in a bunch, and lighted. They will burn all night and raise the temperature of an orchard eight or ten degrees. One bunch of them is used for each group of four trees. In other sections the oil heaters are used.

"Missouri will have a light crop of apples this year," said Mr. Gerhardt, "but more than she had last year. Kansas will have a good yield and so will Michigan."

"The West is the future apple country. They are not planting any more of those 800 and 1000-acre orchards in Missouri. They have too many things to contend with there. There are actually fewer apples being produced now than there used to be. In 1906 the country produced 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 more apples than it is producing now. So that the apple industry in the West has plenty of room in which to grow. I do not believe in this talk of over-production. Washington apples have the quality which will command the market, and they will command it when the state is raising four or five times as many apples as it is raising now."

GRAPES FROM FRUITVALE.

Seven Varieties Brought in for Display at Depot.

Further evidence of the productiveness and superiority of the soil in Fruitvale was shown today by the seven varieties of grapes that were brought in for display in prominent windows by the Saginaw fruit ranch, but which were immediately taken up by the depot fruit stand people. These are the earliest grapes from this locality and are a splendid advertisement for Fruitvale. It appears to be the general opinion that since the Commercial club took hold of the depot fruit stand, it has demonstrated it to be the greatest success that could have been looked for. It is also noticeable that people coming in on trains from either way are looking for this place, and for evidences of what they have heard about this valley before reaching here, and as soon as the train stops are on the qui vive to get off and buy some of this fruit.

G. A. R. LEADER IN THIS CITY

Makes Strong Address—Says Equality of Punishment Must Follow Equality of Opportunity In This Country.

"We have higher ideals in citizenship, higher standards in business in the United States today than we have had before. The reason is that we demand them. We ask that our people obey the law. Some people say that we are going too fast. I do not think that there can be too much speed, provided that we are going in the right direction. If the direction is right I would like to see the pace accelerated. We demand equality of opportunity. I would like also to see equality of punishment. And it will come. We will solve the problem. There will be a time when no man will be able to obtain a dollar from his neighbor by fraud and when stock in a corporation will represent 100 cents on the dollar."

Speech of Commander Van Sant.

In the above language did ex-Governor S. R. Van Sant of Minnesota, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, speak to citizens of North Yakima, the greater number of them members of the G. A. R. and of the Relief Corps of North Yakima at the Commercial club Thursday evening. He was roundly applauded. Commander Van Sant declined to speak to the veterans about their bravery and their valor, he said. He would not tell of their deeds and their hardships as soldiers. The veterans were the best people on earth, and he could prove it, by themselves. What he wanted to point out was that their labor had been not in vain. They had had a hard job, but it was worth the price. The advance of the country since the war has warranted their privations. The greatest victory of the Grand Army of the Republic was not at Vicksburg nor at Gettysburg. It was at Washington when the veterans asked merely for their transportation home. Then it was that the blow was given to imperialism and talk of a dictatorship in this country and democracy asserted itself.

People Own the Country.

The material growth of the country in the 45 years since the war has been phenomenal and greater than the growth of Great Britain for the five hundred years preceding. With 5 per cent of the population of the world the United States has 25 per cent of the wealth. It has a population greater than the civilized world in the days of Alexander, greater than that of Rome under the imperial Caesar. Best of all this country belongs to the people. It does not belong to the politicians nor to the officeholders and sometimes they find it out. The government will be what the people make it. This progress has been made possible by the work of the union soldier. Despite the wealth in gold, agriculture, credit, mines and other ways in the country its greatest asset is the American manhood.

Tribute to the Ladies.

Governor Van Sant then went on to pay a tribute to the ladies of the Relief Corps and he declared that body to be the largest body of patriotic women in the world. Speaking of the troubles of the women during the war he said: "When we were down south we didn't fight and bleed and die every day. The mothers and sisters at home, however, suffered every day of the war. If it had not been for our women we could not have won. We now have equality of opportunity and there has never been better opportunity in this country than there is today. You here in this new state have the best of it. I have but one fault to find with you. That is that you are drawing our best young men to the rebuilding of your state. The consolation in that is that we will be able in a few years to come to the beautiful homes out here and end our days in comfort."

Large Gathering at Club.

There was a large gathering at the Commercial club to greet Commander Van Sant and Mrs. Van Sant. A regular campfire followed the address and a number of interesting stories were told. There was music also by a male quartette. Ice cream and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Sant remain over in North Yakima today to look at the country. Commander Van Sant's business associates in Minnesota asked him to make an inspection of the lands of Yakima that he might report at first hand to them.

The local post and corps asked the Herald to express their appreciation of the kindness of the quartette and also of the Commercial club in assisting in the reception to the commander in chief.

Boom Home Products

The consumption of Washington-made products will receive a decided impetus on Saturday, August 28, as a result of the made-in-Washington campaign inaugurated by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. Letters are being sent to all commercial organizations in the state, urging them to co-operate in the movement. On that day, all merchants will make a specialty of featuring home-made wares and products. By calling attention to them a demand will be created and this in turn will be the means of building up a volume of business. Heretofore, Made-in-Seattle day has been observed, but its scope will be enlarged this year so that the entire state will be the gainer. Newspapers everywhere are encouraging the undertaking as a most laudable one.

Mr. Mack's New Magazine.

There is a good deal of meat in the National Monthly which Norman E. Mack is publishing in Buffalo. The first number was issued in May, and the August number is a specially creditable issue, being filled with leading articles by writers of national reputation and illustrations which give it a thoroughly up to date and progressive aspect. The cover this month is particularly effective, showing the old Virginia home of President James Monroe, Oak Hill, and being part of a series of such features devoted to the homes of men who in the history of the nation have stood conspicuously for the principles of democracy in the broad sense of the word.

TO OPEN 2000 ACRES NEAR TIETON PROJECT

Lands Surrounding Project Above Gravity of Ditch to Be Opened November 9.

About 2000 acres of land west of the city of North Yakima will be opened to settlement November 9 of this year. The land referred to adjoins the Tieton project above the ditch and can under the present arrangement be watered only by a pumping system. Each claimant is entitled to the usual 160 acres under the general land laws.

The lands are considered very valuable and it is likely that arrangements can be made with the government for the watering of the land when the Tieton project is in operation.

Owners of land above the ditch on the Sunnyside projects have an arrangement with the government whereby they can use water from the canal and it is not unlikely that a similar arrangement can be made with the government on the lands which will soon be made subject to entry.

The lands will be subject to settlement November 9 and opened for entry December 9 of this year. No person can gain any right whatever by prior settlement. Some of the lands in question lie within a short distance of the city.

Father Vredosch is no stranger in North Yakima, having served as assistant pastor in the local congregation two years ago. During his absence from this city he has been located at Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

TOMATO CROP IS FINE

Capt. W. W. King Has Many Visitors to See Plants

The friends of Capt. W. W. King believe that he has perhaps the finest lot of tomato vines growing today in the Yakima valley. The captain has planted five acres in tomatoes between the rows of apple trees at his ranch at the end of South Ninth avenue and a number of people who have heard of his wonderful crop have visited the ranch. They all agree that the sight is one of the unusual things of the valley.

Most of the vines stand three feet high and are almost as broad. Each plant is symmetrical in its growth and there are no supports to the vines. There are 19 rows and there is not a break in the rows by reason of unhealthy growth.

The captain has been offered a pretty good price per pound for his crop and the vines are loaded with large red tomatoes, prettier, it is said, than the big red apples of the Yakima. He believes that the crop will net him over $1000.

THE NEW CENT PIECE

Coin Bearing Lincoln's Head Has Found Its Way Here From Chicago

Goats as Trail Makers.

The brush eating instinct of the Angora goat is being successfully demonstrated on the Lassen national forest in California where they are cutting trails for fire guards through the brushy areas on the slopes of the mountains.

The animals, which number 3000, have been divided into two bands and under the care of the herders are grazed within certain well defined areas so that their work may be concentrated on the brush within those limits. The result is that they have practically killed nearly all the brush in the course either by eating it up entirely, or by barking, as in the case of the heavy manzanita bushes. At the beginning of the experiment there was some doubt as to the goat's willingness to eat the manzanita, but it has been found that where there is little else they will just as readily attack it as any other bushes.

The grazing season was so late this year on the Lassen forest that the goats did not begin operations until about the middle of June, but since then they have made rapid progress and the result promises to be a success from every point of view. The trails will first be opened and then kept free of sprouts by the goats, saving the government considerable labor in cutting them out by hand as has been done heretofore, while the brushy forage which otherwise would have been wasted will support 3000 goats very comfortably.

A Warm Essay

In a little country school not far from this city, says the Princeton Recorder, literary exercises are held regularly every Friday afternoon during the term. A 12-year-old boy read an original essay on "The Newspaper." This latter-day youth-Solomon treats his subject thusly:

"Newspapers are sheets of paper on which stuff to read is printed. The men look over the paper to see if their names is printed in it and the women use it to put on the shelves and sigh. I don't know how newspapers came into the world. I don't think God does. The Bible says nothing about editors and I never heard of one being in heaven.

"I guess the editor is the missing link them fellers talked out. The first editor I ever heard of was the one that wrote up the flood. He has been here ever since. Some belong to the church and some try to raise whiskers. All of them raise hel in their neighborhoods and all of 'em are liars, at least all I know and I only know one. Editors never die. At least I never saw a dead one.

"Sometimes the paper dies and then the people feel glad but som one starts it up again. Editors never went to school because editors never got licked. Our paper is a mighty poor one but we take it so ma can put it on the pantry shelves. Our editor don't amount to much but pa says he had a poor chance when he was a boy. He goes without underclothes in winter, wears no socks and has a wife to support him. Paw hasn't paid his subscription in five years and don't intend to."
