OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

EDITOR Montgomery, of the Sumner Herald, a paper by the way which exhibits much ability in its editorial columns, has lately given to the world a diagnosis—from the Montgomery standpoint—of the condition of the state democracy. The article in question has been seized upon by the Wilson organs with a great deal of avidity and republished by them with much flatulent comment of the "I told you so" order. In the interest of truth it must be admitted that there are some points in the Herald's vigorous and bitter arraignment that are well taken, although made in the wrong spirit. The editor's criticism, however, is so permeated with malice and unrelenting hate towards the governor especially, that the effect of an otherwise able criticism is lost and worse than lost. This paper, stalwart democrat that it is, confesses that it has no love or sympathy for some of the self-appointed leaders of the state democracy. Politicians of the Hazard stripe are not to our liking, but we take comfort in the fact that such are not leaders in the true sense, but merely barnacles on the bottom of the good old ship, and not entitled to the importance that the Herald gives them. The republican party of this state is likewise afflicted with a multiplicity of these chronics, the only difference being that their Hazards as a rule, are not as smart as ours, although equally pestiferous when there are any spoils to be given out. Regarding Gov. Rogers and Senator Turner, whom the Herald sharply criticises, we regard them on the whole as worthy leaders in a worthy cause. It is perhaps true that the former lacks some of the qualities that make for successful party leadership, in fact he seems to have the unhappy faculty of making enemies needlessly, but he is a good man nevertheless, is inflexibly honest and well meaning and has earned and secured the confidence of the people. It is also true as the Herald states, that his excellency got started off wrong on the issue of imperialism and did his party immeasurable damage before he discovered his mistake, but that paper must admit that he did discover and correct that mistake. Had he not done so this paper like the Herald, would have vigorously opposed his re-nomination. We cannot agree with the Herald when it asserts that Mr. Vorhees, able and brainy man that he is, was entitled to the nomination under the circumstances, for the indecisive and vacillating policy of that gentleman lent to his candidacy an air of absurdity. As for Senator Turner, his splendid record in the senate ought at least to shield him from any attack within the party. It may be true that he is a recent convert, but it is also true that he is a better democrat than many who have made lifelong profession of the faith. Turner in the senate has stood as firm as the "rock of ages" in defense of human liberty and the rights of the people. He has rendered great aid to his party and being a man of extraordinary ability is a credit and an ornament to his state and we trust that the people will have the good sense to insist on keeping him in his high station. To the brilliant but erratic young editor of the Herald we would tender, though unasked, a word of advice and that is, in his public writings never again to allow his personal feelings to overcome his usually good judgment. It may be a source of satisfaction to see himself quoted copiously in republican organs, but his better sense should tell him that they are merely using him to subserve their own ends. Let him in the future, if he be a true democrat, cease giving aid and comfort to the enemy and use his clever pen in a way to repair when necessary, but always to protect the good old democratic temple which now more than ever before is the fortress and bulwark of the people's liberties.

PRESIDENT McKINLEY has given it out flat that on his coming visit to the coast he desires no public receptions, will make no speeches, does not wish to shake hands with the people and will give no audience in advance to committees appointed to receive him. The only form of entertainment that he suggests to fill in his short engagements is a carriage drive. So be it Mr. President, you are going to be our guest and we will do our best to please you. We will drive you about our beautiful city in a coach and four (not the same you rode through the constitution) where the surging populace may behold you and shout hosanna's into your listening ear. But be not surprised if heavy clouds of disappointment linger in your wake Mr. President. You must bear in mind that republican ideas and customs are apt to linger among the people long after the republic itself is dead. You can't blame the people Mr. McKinley, for they had anticipated your coming with pleasure and the minds of many went back to the good old days, dear to memory, when they saw some of your illustrious predecessors who had laid down the cares of state and went out to gain fresh inspiration and recreation by mingling with the people. The old gray-beards, you know Mr. President, are apt to compare you with "honest Old Abe," who loved his fellow men better than his own life. We do not desire to make any invidious comparisons Mr. President, but they say it pleases you to be compared with the great liberator of mankind. Cannot you remember then how "Old Abe" even in war times used to go out from the capitol to mingle among his people, how he would swap yarns with the politicians, comfort the widows of his dead soldiers and kiss the dear innocent babies. Yes, his is one of the grandest names in history, Mr. President, but it would not have been so had he kept the people from him at arms length and his name would not remain sacred in the hearts of free men forever. None of your predecessors, Mr. President, not even the egotistical Mr. Cleveland, nor the frozen-hearted Mr. Harrison would have cared or would have dared to put this cruel slight upon the people. Why then do you do so? Have you no care for your future fame?

IT looks to a layman as though the county officials were going quite beyond their rights in making the demand that their increase in salary take effect in June last, the time of taking the national census. Owing to the great increase in population this county's classification has advanced from the nineteenth to the fourteenth class, which means a material increase in official salaries. The board of commissioners have made an order making the increased salaries take effect in January last, the beginning of the new term. It is understood that the salaried officials are dissatisfied with the board's decision and will prepare a test case for the courts to decide. The constitution of the state in the most explicit terms declares that official salaries during a term of office shall remain unchanged. If there is any virtue left in the organic law of the state, this provision it would seem, shatters the hopes of our friends in the court house.

FARMER ANKENY when he comes to town (Seattle) don't appear to get a very warm welcome from the P.-I. Apropos of his recent visit to Seattle to fix up his fences, the leading Wilson organ said: "In the meantime many persons who are in politics for money are preparing to reap another financial harvest from Mr. Ankeny two years hence, and then permit him to continue in the banking business in order that he may accumulate more wealth for the senatorial conflict of 1905." How these Republicans love one another.

THE N. Y. World which has not taken kindly to the appointment by Mr. McKinley of P. C. Knox as his attorney-general, claims that it has investigated the whole matter and finds that Mr. Knox has been the attorney of the billion-dollar steel trust and was appointed to the office on the recommendation of that Napoleon among trust organizers, Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan. Now everybody knows that Mr. Morgan is opposed to trusts i. e., such trust as he don't own. and it may be expected that he will soon give the word to commence the war of extermination.

THE gentlemen who compose the Pan-American commission for this state should see to it that this state is suitably represented at Buffalo. This result can probably be accomplished by less meetings in the future of the commission and more work being done by the executive commissioner.

The ball team of the High school, with a crowd of admirers, will go to Ellensburg on Saturday, April 27, to show the High school nine of the windy city how to play ball.

John Russell, of the Nile, desires information that may lead to the recovery of his 15-year-old daughter, who left Yakima about the 4th of March, for parts unknown.

A subject of consumption had several hemorrhages on the avenue near Front street and came near dying before being conveyed to the hospital for treatment, Saturday.

On last Friday evening William Freeman was thrown from a bucking horse on Natchez avenue and narrowly escaped serious injury. As it was a strain in the back only resulted.

Last Saturday Marshal Boyle broke up a hobo camp near the railroad, just two blocks north of the depot. He says they had a regular apartment house, constructed of ties and other timbers, and had chickens and other eatables on the fire cooking. Five inmates of the 'house' were arrested and Judge Taggard read them such a lecture upon their social delinquencies that they were glad to sneak quietly out of town.

George, the 14-year-old son of T. G. Redfield met with a painful accident Tuesday afternoon. While horseback riding near the fair grounds the equine he was astride of took to bucking and threw the lad heavily to the ground. His head and face were considerably battered by the sudden contact with terra firma rendering him unconscious until the following day. He is now improving.

On Tuesday morning M. D. Raum, the well known painter, was found dead in his bed by neighbors, and his brother F. H. Raum was notified at his home in Woodland, Cal. On instructions from his brother, the deceased was buried in Tahoma cemetery Wednesday afternoon. Services were conducted at the grave by Rev Crockett, and Messrs. Malcolm McLennan, Arthur Coffin, H. A. Smull, F. D. Cook, J. G. Boyle and J. A. Taggard acted as pall bearers. The deceased was about 65 years old and had lived in Yakima for nearly twenty years, being known by all the old residents of the county. An aged mother survives him, living in Woodland, Cal.

M. V. B. Stacy, a pioneer resident of Seattle and a well known character in this city, died at Green River Hot Springs on Saturday evening last. Mr. Stacy had been in extremely poor health for months, being a sufferer from a complication of diseases and had remained almost constantly at the springs during that time in the hope of procuring relief. The funeral took place from his home in Seattle where he leaves a widow and one daughter. Deceased was the most prominent of the pioneer real estate dealers of the Queen City and formerly owned much property in this city. He was a 32nd degree Mason and his funeral was largely attended by members of that order and pioneer friends.

GOT THINGS MIXED.

In the Appointment of State Fair Commissioners.

An unpleasant mix-up occurred in the make-up of the State Fair Commission. It was the general understanding that it was the terms of Messrs. Schnebly and McDonald that expired this month and acting on that supposition Messrs. Weed and Splawn were therefore recommended to fill the vacancies by local supporters of the governor. It now turns out that Mr. McDonald's term does not expire until 1903 and instead of his it is Matt Bartholet's time that is out. Acting favorably on the recommendations made, Gov. Rogers appointed Messrs. Splawn and Weed. Everybody appreciates the fact that it would be a misfortune to leave the genial Matt Bartholet off the board as he makes a most efficient and valuable commissioner.

The muddle will probably be straightened out by requesting the governor to ask for the resignation of Commissioner McDonald and to appoint Mr. Bartholet in his stead.

Mr. McDonald, who runs a cigar store in Tacoma has never taken much interest in the fair and has never met with the commission but once since his appointment. With this change made it is thought the board will be an unusually strong one, having none but working members, which fact will doubtless mean a most successful fair this fall.

Death of Mrs. Emily Filkins.

Mrs. Emily Filkins an old pioneer of this county, died at the residence of Christian Hesse on the Ahtanum Wednesday morning. The funeral was held from the Ahtanum church on Thursday afternoon. Deceased was over 86 years of age and in recent years had been in poor health incident to her advanced age. For some time she had been an inmate in the household of Mr. Hesse, who purchased the old homestead. Eugene Filkins, the only son of the deceased, disappeared several years ago and his whereabouts, if still alive, are unknown. Mrs. Filkins mental condition was such that she had been unable for years to look after her property interests, whereupon the court on petition appointed J. P. Marks as administrator of the estate.

THEY SLEEP HANGING UP.

Sloths and Bats Suspend Themselves Without Exertion.

There is one animal which lives entirely in trees, but is able to maintain its position during slumber without the least exercise of muscular force. This is the sloth, common in the forests of tropical America. Its long claws are so bent that they hook over the branches and allow the creature to hang upside down like an animated hammock. Curiously enough, the hammock appears to be a South American invention and is universally employed by all the Indian tribes of the Amazons. Perhaps the primitive human dwellers in this region took to sleeping in hammocks after observing the habits of the sloth.

The great ant eater, which is both a kinsman and fellow countryman of the sloth, has an enormous tail, which it uses in a very remarkable manner. I recently saw two of these strange animals lying together asleep, and they had arranged their tails so cleverly that their whole bodies were hidden from view. Moreover, it was evident that this caudal covering would afford excellent protection from the weather, for the central solid part of the tails acted as a kind of ridge pole over the highest part of the sleepers' bodies, so that the long fringes of hair sloped downward on each side like the thatch upon a roof.

Like the sloths, many kinds of bats sleep suspended by their hooked claws without any muscular exertion whatever. Some of the large fruit eating bats of the tropics, which do not sleep in holes like the species common in southern latitudes, but which hang suspended to the branches of trees in the open air, adopt a position which it would be difficult to beat for economy and comfort. Gould's fruit eating bat, common in the warmer parts of Australia, suspends itself upside down by one hind foot and wraps its body in the tentlike folds of its wing membranes, which extend right down to the ankles. Its shoulders, to which the membrane is attached, are humped up so as to act as eaves to shoot off the rain, and when asleep it draws its head under their shelter and nestles its nose among the warm fur of its chest.

The Dog's Watchfulness.

The dog's watchfulness, so much and so thoughtlessly lauded as the expression of his devotion to man, is merely the instinctive watchfulness necessary to his safety in a wild state and is a characteristic which he would exercise quite as readily for his own kind and the preservation of his lair as he would for the benefit of man. When he barks at strange dogs or gives warning at night of the approach of strangers, it should not be overlooked that he considers his own home is disturbed, though it may be the home of his master. Much depends on the point of view.—B. Waters in Forest and Stream.

A resolution for the grading of Moxee avenue between Yakima and C streets was passed.

The city engineer was instructed to change flume on Sixth street to bridge on account of incapacity of the flume to carry the water of the Union ditch.

In the matter of the discharge from service of former night watchman Starrett, on motion of Mr. Donald the action of the mayor was sustained. The mayor made a statement to the effect that his action in removing Starrett was caused by acts of particular brutality in arresting a prisoner. A little acrimonious debate was indulged in by Councilman Shaw, the mayor and city marshal. In this connection the mayor stated that it was his intention to prefer a charge of incompetency against night watchman

Mulligan.

Lloyd Purdin, a resident of Seventh street, appeared to complain that the grading of Sixth street had deprived residents of water. The matter was referred to the city engineer and street commissioner for action.

Robert Crory also had a protest regarding grade which had left his lots on Natcheez avenue high and dry above the ditches.

The ditch proposition on Sixth street, which has proved such a fertile source of discussion at every meeting since the grading was commenced, was again before the council, and on motion of Mr. Weed the matter was referred to the committee on streets and ditches and city engineer, to report at next meeting. Council then adjourned.

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT

NORTH YAKIMA, APRIL 20, 1901

The Ohio Elections.

It is probably true that national politics did not enter very largely into the charter elections in Ohio on Monday. But the result in the three chief cities voting—Cleveland, Columbus and Toledo—nevertheless affords considerable food for thought to the politicians on both sides, particularly, it may be said without invidiousness, to Senator Hanna.

Tom L. Johnson, democrat, the backer of Henry George, an advocate of equal taxation, three-cent fares for the street railroads and the municipal ownership of lighting and water privileges was elected mayor of Cleveland, which has a normal republican majority of 5,000, by nearly 6,000 plurality.

This is surely a "sign of the times," and it was repeated in Toledo, where "Golden Rule" Jones, another democrat holding and (so far as he can) applying very similar views, was re-elected mayor by 3,000 majority.

To add to the discomfort at Washington, Columbus, the capital, another republican city, elected a democratic mayor in sympathy with the movement to elect Tom Johnson senator next year in place of Foraker.

The greatest significance of these elections lies in the demonstration they make of the growing hostility among the voters to the domination of corporations in municipal affairs and of popular dissatisfaction with the gross inequalities of taxation due to the success of rich tax-dodgers in escaping their just share of the public burdens. Incidentally they show also that the democratic party is still alive—when it has a chance!—N. Y. World.

An Eloquent Silence.

Why this eloquent silence of the republican organs on the tender of the Attorney-Generalship to Philander C. Knox, of the United States Steel Corporation?

Not even one little paragraphic peep has been heard from the Administration press since the World's disclosure of the fact that the appointment of one of the chief counsel of the Steel Trust as the head of the Department of Justice was announced the day after Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan's call on the President at Washington.

Cannot some of the more bold among the faithful find voice to approve this selection? Will even one of the organs say whether it thinks President McKinley would have ventured to appoint Mr. Knox before the late election, instead of at the beginning of an assured second term? And if not, why not?

Contemplating this painful silence, Mr. McKinley may well exclaim to the party organs: "Call you this reliability? Is silence when speech is demanded a sign of loyalty?"

Now, "men and brethren," as Horace Greeley used to say, don't all speak at once!—N. Y. World.

ANXIOUS FOR HARMONY.

Levi Ankeny in Seattle Trying to Settle Serious Factional Quarrels.

Levi Ankeny, of Walla Walla, who has spent a fortune in trying to break into the United States senate, having been a standing candidate from this state since 1895, arrived in Seattle last Friday and spent yesterday in trying to bring harmony into the ranks of his small following in King county.

Mr. Ankeny is having a great deal of political trouble these days. His King county friends claim that they are not kindly disposed towards the railroads of this state. Mr. Ankeny has always posed as an anti-railroad man and a friend of the Eastern Washington farmers. During the recent legislature he threw down his constituents in this county as well as the Eastern Washington farmers by delivering to the railroads the votes of three state senators whereby all proposed railroad legislation in the interests of the farmers was defeated. Since then Mr. Ankeny has passed up the King county clique and spent most of his time with the politicians who represent the railroad interests in this state. These politicians have told Mr. Ankeny they would support him two years hence for United States senator, but have insisted that the King county wing of the Ankeny machine should be allowed no voice in the management of his political affairs.

In accordance with these instructions Mr. Ankeny has for some time ignored his local friends. He claims without any reason that can be discovered that he will be able to control considerable federal patronage in this state and for some weeks has been promising certain political friends outside of King county that they would be given fat offices. The King county element finally concluded that Mr. Ankeny must recognize them in discussing federal patronage, and recently served notice on the Walla Walla banker that they proposed to be shown consideration, or they would drop out of his camp.

Mr. Ankeny could ignore these friends no longer, and has come here in the hope of making some sort of peace. Such a thing, politicians say, will be impossible, as Mr. Ankeny knows he cannot under any circumstances bring the King county element and his railroad friends under the same political tent. If he takes up with one faction he will be compelled to drop the other. There are men in the so-called railroad camp who have been personal and political enemies of Ankeny's King county friends for many years, and will never go in for a compromise. In the meantime many persons who are in politics for money are preparing to reap another financial harvest from Mr. Ankeny two years hence, and then permit him to continue in the banking business in order that he may accumulate more wealth for the senatorial conflict of 1905. —Sunday P. I.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 12, 1901.

Did Aguinaldo bargain for his own capture, for a price, and have the American people been made the victims of a colossal official blunder? That is a startling question, but circumstances have caused it to be asked in Washington, since the cable news reported Aguinaldo to be buying diamonds and jewelry, and it is decidedly pertinent, too. Diamonds cost money, and if Aguinaldo has been buying them where did he get the money? Any money that was found at his headquarters when he was captured would, if usual methods were followed, have been confiscated as contraband of war and turned over to the U. S. Military authorities, who would have turned it into the U. S. Treasury. None of the many detailed statements of Aguinaldo's capture have said anything about the capture of any money, yet it is presumably certain that he had some. All these things, and more, have been talked about in connection with Aguinaldo's purchase of diamonds. It may be all straight, but as one high army officer who was in the Philippines until recently, put it, "There seems ample ground for the suspicion that there has been 'something doing' between Aguinaldo and the men who handle the secret service funds of this government in the Philippines." The same officer said: "It would not surprise me at all to learn that the Filipino who was supposed to have betrayed Aguinaldo was acting under that wily chap's orders all the time, and that the capture was all carefully arranged in advance by Aguinaldo."

If it be possible to get a square deal with the administration, in rivalry with the Morgan steel trust, the latter may find itself knocked out of several million dollars of government money. The Carbon Steel Company, of Pittsburg, has sent samples of heavy armor plate to the Naval Ordnance proving grounds, below Washington, with the request that it be subjected to the severest tests. This armor plate was made by an entirely new process and it is claimed to be in every way as good, if not superior, to the armor plate which the government is paying the Morgan steel trust $455 a ton for, and it is offered for $150 a ton. If the tests substantiate that claim, and the government buys the new armor it will save something like $790,000 on each of the nine battleships now under contract. But when the pull of the Morgan trust is taken into consideration that "if" is a formidable one, as it is certain that the big trust will not let more than $7,000,000 get away from it if there is any way to prevent. So it will not be surprising if the tests of the new armor plate should be followed by an unfavorable report, although it is said to have stood every test required before samples were submitted to the government.

Although the legislature that will choose his successor will not be elected until next year, Senator "Billy" Mason is already actively at work to become his own successor. He thinks he put in some good ticks this week, when a number of Illinois men were in Washington to attend the unveiling of the equestrian statue of Gen. A. Logan. Last year it was generally understood that Mr. Charles G. Dawes was to be the McKinley candidate for senator, but that was when Senator Mason and Mr. McKinley were on the outs. Now Senator Mason sings Mr. McKinley's praises everywhere, and when asked whether the McKinley influence will be used against his re-election, smiles in a knowing and satisfactory way and says he guesses not. Illinois democrats who have recently been in Washington have not been disposed to do any blowing, but most of them believe that there is an excellent fighting chance to elect a legislature that will send a democrat to succeed Mason, and say that they are going to try hard to do it.

A Washington man who has just returned from the Philippines, where he spent a year, doesn't enthuse over the islands as a place for Americans to go. He said: "I have had all the Philippines that I want. After a twelve month's sojourn over there, I am frank to say that I do not believe it any country for a white man. It is a rare thing to find an American that does not wish to get back to the States as quickly as possible. The spirit of discontent and desire to get away find expression in the army that has been sent to subjugate the islands, and the U. S. soldier that is satisfied with his lot is an exception. The climate is bad in that whenever a man gets sick there is no bracing or recuperative quality in the air, and recovery to health is exceedingly slow. My belief is that the capture of Aguinaldo will not put an end to our troubles in the Philippines; there will be plenty of revolutionary leaders to keep up a desultory warfare, and the chances are that the fighting will go on for the next ten years."

Gov. Allen, of Porto Rico, probably under orders from Mr. McKinley, has issued a general denial of the recent stories alleging suffering among the poorer natives of the island because they have no work, and charges that the stories have all been instigated by one native editor, who is disgruntled because he was not given an office. It is a little odd how that one Porto Rican editor should have been able to influence a score or more of reputable American correspondents to send misrepresentations to their papers.

The Dust of Ocean.

A "dusty" ocean highway sounds almost incredible. Yet those who are familiar with sailing ships know that no matter how carefully the decks may be washed down in the morning and how little work of any kind may be done during the day nevertheless if the decks are not swept at nightfall an enormous quantity of dust will quickly collect. Of course on the modern "liner" the burning of hundreds of tons of coal every 24 hours and the myriads of footfalls daily would account for a considerable accumulation of dust, but on a "wind jammer," manned with a dozen hands or less, no such dust producing agencies are at work. And yet the records of sailing ships show that they collect more sea dust than does a steamer, which is probably accounted for by the fact that while the dust laden smoke blows clear of the steamer the large area of canvas spread by the sailer acts as a dust collector.—Mariner.

The Star Chamber.

The "star chamber" was so called from the place in which the court was held in one of the rooms of the king's palace in Westminster. Upon the ceilings were stars, hence the camera stellata, or chamber of stars. It was of very ancient origin and had excessive powers, but could not pronounce the death penalty. It was abolished by act of parliament in 1641 during the reign of Charles I, but this unfortunate monarch was sentenced to be beheaded from this same "star chamber."

Seattle boomers claim that city will have 200,000 inhabitants when the next census is taken. They evidently count on all the professed heirs of the Sullivan estate making that city their permanent place of abode.—Everett News.

Gov. Rogers ought to remember Kittitas county in making up his appointees. She was loyal to him in the state convention and also at the polls in November.—Ellensburg Dawn.

The election of Carter H. Harrison, as Mayor of Chicago for the third time, brings that very able young man to the undisputed head of the Illinois democracy and puts him in direct line for the presidential nomination in 1904. Those Harrison seem to be pretty successful in politics.—Cheney Free-Press.

The only Portland Oregonian, which has buried many rivals and lived in triumph and alone in the afterwhites, is at last to have a really formidable competitor in the morning field, with a New York Herald business manager in the engine room. ## Exercise and Health.

Exercise is a splendid thing for a healthy person. But when the body is weakened by disease, exercise strains rather than strengthens. Exercise will not cure a "weak" stomach. It may increase the appetite, but it won't cure dyspepsia, and an increased appetite is a curse not a blessing to the sufferer from dyspepsia.

Take exercise by all means but also take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery if there is a deranged or diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. This medicine is not a cure-all but a specific for diseases of the stomach and digestive system. It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, and increases physical vigor.

It increases the body's supply of good blood by increasing the activity of the blood-making glands. It forces out of the body the waste and poisonous accumulations which invite disease, and cleanses the clogged and sluggish liver. Its tonic action is marked, restoring as it does, to weak and jaded men and women the clear skin, bright eyes and buoyant step which are the marks of sound health.

There is no alcohol contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and every other narcotic. It is strictly a temperance medicine.

"I wish to say that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved a great blessing to me," writes Mrs. Ellen E. Bacon, of Shutesbury, Franklin County, Mass. "Prior to September, 1897, I had doctored for my stomach trouble for several years, going through a course of treatment without any real benefit. In September, 1896, I had very sick spells and grew worse; could eat but little. I commenced in September, 1897, to take Dr. Pierce's medicine, and in a short time I could eat and work. I have gained twenty pounds in two months."

"I was very sick indeed," writes Mrs. Mollie Jacobs, of Felton, Kent Co., Delaware, "and our family doctor said I had consumption. I thought I must die soon for I felt so awful bad. Had a bad cough, spit blood, was very short of breath. I had pains in my chest and right lung, also had dyspepsia. Before I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' I was so weak I could not sweep a room, and now I can do a small washing. I feel like a new person. I was sick over two years. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Discovery,' and four vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, are the best medicine to use with "Golden Medical Discovery," when the use of a laxative is indicated. They keep the bowels healthy and are delicately adjusted to the requirements of the weakest system so that women and children may use them without fear of reaction.

know, places and events with which they are familiar, and soon an interest is awakened which increases with every arrival of the local paper. Thus the habit of reading is formed which should, and probably will, continue through life.—Lind Leader.

One of the Most Difficult of Languages to Learn.

It is well known that the Chinese language is one of the most difficult to master, and for us to attempt this task after we have finished our school years is excessively trying and difficult. Certainly the mistakes one hears of as being made by those who begin to talk and, worse still, preach in a language they fondly imagine they have mastered are ludicrous in the extreme.

I heard of a clergyman who was preaching to a Chinese congregation in the vernacular. "Come to God, oh, my friends; come to God!" he cried (or thought he did) and was considerably surprised to find some of the congregation with broad grins on their faces, while others were frowning blackly. Great was the good man's consternation when he found he had been saying, "Call the pigs, oh, my friends; call the pigs!" His mistake, I believe, was due entirely to putting the accent on the wrong syllable, which altered the whole sense of the words.

The Chinese seem to regard a foreigner speaking Chinese like Dr. Johnson regarded women preaching. "It is like a dog standing on his hind legs," said the learned doctor. "You are not struck with admiration at how well he does it, but you are surprised he can do it at all."—Leslie's Weekly.

The lead pencil originated with the discovery of the graphite mines in England in 1564, during the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

The Telephone Girl.

Looked at from the popular standpoint, "The Telephone Girl", which comes here Wednesday, April 24th, is a very diverting affair indeed. It is light and frothy and as a whole it is an exceedingly merry amusement and fills out an evening's leisure captrally. That was the verdict rendered long ago. The incidents portrayed and the dialogue inserted bear upon a subject which is familiar to nine-tenths of the community and that, perhaps enhances its value. Everybody can and does understand it. The scene in the first act is laid in the operating room of a Metropolitan telephone exchange. The girls are ranged round the switch-board, while in the foreground are the desks of the chief operator and the others in charge of the establishment. A great deal is said and done which is a side-splitting exaggeration and burlesque of what takes place in such a place. This sort of thing naturally appeals to the telephone-using part of the population and is expressly comical. The interest never for a moment flags and is continued throughout the second act to a finish. "It is to laugh" to use a hackneyed term and amuse it unquestionably does. Harry Hermesen, as the German inspector, is amazingly funny. He is without doubt the best dialect comedian, now on the stage, and in all he does and says, he is seen at his best. Miss Mable Hite, as Estelle, is intensely cunning and chic. In her singing and specialties she is very clever. The others in the company are all efficient and fully sustain the claim for special excellence put forth by the management. Among them are Douglass & Ford, the dancing wonders, Flora Parker, the dainty comedienne, Frank Kelly, The Chappelle Sisters, Chas. Burrows, Louisa Lewis, John J. Magee, Bert DeReulle, Inez Dale, Nelda Hermann, Jean Bernard, and Edith Gibbons. It is seldom that an organization boasts so many talented performers. The feminine chorus (there are no males in it) has been awarded the heartiest meed of praise. Every individual member was selected for her personal beauty. Those who are fond of bright, vivacious performers will not feel like missing "The Telephone Girl."

Is This Civilization?

There is an appalling significance in the recent revelations of the wholesale suicide of Chinese women outraged by European soldiers, these dreadful stories coming not in the form of sensational and irresponsible publications for catch-penny purposes, but in authoritative reports made to the State Department at Washington.

It must be remembered that the soldiers perpetrating these deeds, in shame for being the victims of which the women of China are killing themselves by thousands, are soldiers of the civilized powers of earth. It must also be remembered that the deeds are done in the Twentieth Century, not in those early ages when rapine and the violation of the women of a conquered race were the usual accompaniments of war.

When these things are remembered it is difficult for us to believe that civilization is anything but a thin veneering of artificial polish over an unchanging substance of savagery. We shudder to read of the bestiality of ancient times, but is there any story of the deeds of those times more filled with horror than the story of Europe's Twentieth Century sins in China?—St. Louis Republic.

Hiring Jap Labor.

A large farmer in eastern Washington has announced that he will be compelled to employ Jap labor on his farm. He states that it is impossible to pay trust prices for his machinery, his groceries and the other material he is compelled to buy and sell his wheat at any profit under the prevailing wages he is compelled to pay white help. It looks like this condition is coming. If the extortion of the trusts is not stayed the laborer will be compelled to accept starvation wages. The trust is sucking the profit in all lines of business and the producer and laborer are both being squeezed.—Chehalis Advocate.

OUR WORKERS IN THE FIELD.

At Whatcom, Wash. Mrs. M. B. Platt, president, and Mrs. M. C. Munns, corresponding secretary of West Washington W. C. T. U. have been doing good work for our legislature department by their presence at the state capital. They succeeded in getting an appropriation of $50 a month for our White Shield Home in Tacoma; a better anti-cigarette law was passed, forbidding the use of cigarettes by miners or their sale of them. A strong anti-nickel-in-the-slot machine bill was also passed. The men who owned slot machines raised money to defeat the bill, and we poured in petitions and telegrams so that it finally passed the senate with only two dissenting votes. It was a great victory. Mrs. Platt and Mrs. Munns are now in the field; have organized a union at Port Townsend and a W. and a Y. at Port Angeles. Mrs. Munns held several medal contests in the northern part of the state and Mrs. Platt lectured in different places. Work is laid out for them in this county for several weeks.

A Mass meeting was held at the Delaware avenue Baptist church in Buffalo, April 17 at which resolutions were adopted protesting against the opening of the Pan-American Exposition on Sunday. Rev. J. W. Hathaway of New York, general secretary of the American Sunday Union spoke. Dr. Hathaway called attention to a mass of signed petitions, containing, he said, over 1,000,000 signatures asking that the gates be closed on the Sabbath. He also read a letter from Secretary Cortelyou in reply to one Hathaway had written President McKinley on the subject. It inclosed an abstract from a letter from J. H. Brigham, chairman of the government board, reading as follows:

It has been the invariable rule of the government board not to open the government buildings on Sunday. It will be entirely safe to inform persons interested that this rule will not be departed from at the Pan-American Exposition.

For the first time in the history of New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals, a woman appeared at its bar on March, 8th to argue the case of a client. May God hasten the day.

NOT IN THE PLAY.

A Case Where Two Actors Displayed Presence of Mind.

A short time ago a great historical play was being given in an Italian theater. The king had to read his speech from the throne. He was surrounded by the court, all the representative nobles of the nation, the governors of the provinces and the heads of the army.

Clad in his magnificent robes (lined with rabbit skin) he stalked majestically across the stage, and, with fitting hauteur, slowly ascended the steps leading to the throne. Every one bowed low, and the chancellor handed to his majesty the parchment roll from which to read the royal speech.

All waited attentively to catch the words from the royal lips, but his majesty found, to his chagrin, that the roll was blank. The speech was long and had not been committed to memory.

It was impossible to get through it with the aid of the prompter, for he was too far away to render the needful service. A bright thought passed through the royal brain.

Having glanced over the roll as if to gather the gist of the speech, he again folded it and handed it back to the chancellor with the command:

"You read it."

The chancellor was somewhat put out, but dutifully took the roll and opened it, only to discover the royal pleasantry, whereupon, again rolling the parchment up and taking from his breast the resplendent tin order, he laid them together at the king's feet, with:

"Your majesty, as I cannot read the speech, I tender my resignation."

He Missed Her.

A speech which had a pathetic as well as an amusing side is said to have been made by an old New Hampshire man on the occasion of his second wedding.

"Neighbors," he said to those who had witnessed the simple ceremony, "you all know that this good friend that's consented to marry me is something of a stranger in our town. Now, I feel kind of insufficient, being only a man, to make her acquainted with everybody as quick as I'd like to. So I'm a-going to depend on you women folks," he added, with a confiding smile at the members of the gentler sex, "to make her feel at home among us, just as my first wife would do if she was here today. I miss her considerable all the time, but more'n usual on an occasion like this!"

Unaccommodating Stamp Clerk.

"One hundred two's?" said the post-office clerk. "Yes, ma'am."

"And charge them to Mr. Newliwed, No. 411?"

"Sorry, ma'am," interrupted the clerk, "but we can't do that."

"You can't?" the young bride exclaimed indignantly. "My husband's credit is good everywhere, and, besides, we always get our letters from you!"—Philadelphia Press.

Water Starts a Fire.

A barn in Belgium was set on fire by a shower. The farmer placed a quantity of quicklime near a shed and left it there all night. In the course of the night rain fell on the lime, and the heat thus developed became so great that it set the shed on fire.

Does Drainage Pay?

Outside of the question of whether a thing is right or wrong, the question "Does it pay?" is the great question in regard to any operations we may carry on. If it is a paying operation we generally continue its use, and say it is a good thing. If it does not pay, we as generally drop it and leave it severely alone.

Now, judging tile drainage by this test, we are forced to the conclusion that tile drainage pays. We have never known anyone who once started using drain tile on his farm but who continued the use of it until his farm was drained. The time taken to do this may have been longer in some cases than others. Then again we have the statements of the users of drain tile that it pays. The lowest estimate that we ever heard placed on what drain tile earns on the cost of it is 15 per cent per annum. We have heard of one as high as 150 per cent, per annum, while many range from 25 to 50 per cent.

The smallest return named above was claimed by a farmer who has buried nearly forty miles of tile on a farm of 400 acres, who said it paid to drain even pastures, and who told us that he would continue to drain with tile until there was a tile drain every 30 feet on his farm.

The largest return named above was claimed by a farmer who has spent nearly seven hundred dollars in drain tile and the putting of them in the ground. He says that before he used drain tile his farming operations were a loss, but after he used drain tile they invariably resulted in a profit. The difference between the loss and profit was about one thousand dollars per year.

We know of another farmer who put in about 14,000 drain tile, say two and a half miles, at a cost of nearly $400. This man tells us he got the cost of the whole job back from the first crop he grew on the land.—Drainage Journal.

Superior Court Notes.

Judge W. R. Bell, of Seattle, opened court Monday evening when the jury list was called and found twelve short of the regular venire. As the missing jurors had been excused for various reasons a special venire was issued requiring the attendance of sixteen other jurors to fill the gap.

The first case called was that of Morgan Cochran, charged with assault to kill. After being out nearly 24 hours, the jury was discharged on account of inability to agree upon a verdict.

In the case of the State vs Ed. Farrel, for attempted robbery, after the jury was empanelled the defendant changed his plea to guilty, and was sentenced by the court to a term of three years in the penitentiary.

The jury in the case of George Ger-vais vs. Alex McAllister, for $5000 damages for personal injuries, found for the plaintiff in the sum of $500.

Two cases of J. H. Faubion vs the Northern Pacific railway were dismissed by agreement of council.

The case of State vs David Lindsay for criminal libel was argued on motion to dismiss the information, and the court allowed a new information to be filed by the prosecuting attorney.

Garret Bros. started up their brick yard northwest of town the first of this week and report the new machinery which they have just installed, as working most satisfactorily. The yard employs about 20 hands.

The audience that took in DeKoven's comic opera on Monday night, went home feeling that it had got its money's worth. The show put up was a good one and kept the audience entertained until the curtain dropped.

As a rule Yakima housewives have been as busy as bees this week with the semi-annual spring cleaning. This is said to be the unhappy occasion when married men are often presumed to wish that they had never been born.

O. M. Moore, the executive commissioner of the Pan-American Exposition, was in town for a few hours on Saturday. While here he called on a number of leading citizens and urged them to prepare exhibits for the big show at Buffalo.

W. L. Mercer, of Chicago, representing the firm from whom the street grading outfit was purchased by the city, arrived Thursday morning, and is ready to put the machinery in working order as soon as the parts broken in the recent Helena wreck arrive, which are hourly expected.

Modjeska's performance Friday night was well attended, but many people came away disappointed with the great star, the general opinion seeming to be that Modjeska at her advanced age (62) ought to retire. MacLean, in the role of Mad Beth, received many compliments. He is certainly a rising star in his profession.

Dr. Lindsay, the alleged physician who was to have had his trial Friday on the charge of criminal libel preferred by Dr. Frank, skipped town some time Thursday night. On being arraigned Monday Judge Bell allowed the prisoner to go on his own recognizance on the advance of Prosecuting Attorney Guthrie. When court convened after dinner a bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Lindsay and the sheriff and his deputies scoured the town in a fruitless search for him. Lindsay left a number of creditors about town to mourn his sudden departure.

A novel entertainment was given by the G. A. R. and W. R. C. at Mason's hall last Saturday evening. It was styled an "Old Fashioned School of Fifty Years Ago", and proved all that its name purported. The peculiarities of the old-time educational process were revived in the minds of many of the older persons present, and served to open the eyes of the younger generation to the wonderful advance in system. E. G. Peck was the first pedagogue, but the scholars made it so lively for him that he was glad to resign and be succeeded by Mrs. Allen, who curbed the youthful propensities of some of her rather mature pupils. Financially and socially the entertainment proved a decided success.

DANGER FROM OVEREATING.

Insanity Often Caused by Too Liberal Indulgence in Food.

It is well known to the few medical men that many cases of insanity are directly due to overeating and the consequent absorption into the circulation of toxic matters from the intestinal tract, and melancholia, whether in mild or severe form, is generally due to this cause. Violent paroxysms of temper, whether in children or adults, are often properly referable to a bad state of the blood from this auto toxemia, as are indeed the exceedingly exuberant spirits of old or young at times. Just as we observe in alcoholic poisoning, some individuals are made temporarily jolly and good natured; others are made ugly and unreasonable.

In view of this condition of affairs isn't it rather a wise plan for us all to consider rather the needs of the organism for food than the mere question of palate tickling, to aim to eat good instead of bad food and enough of it—that is, not too much—to have the conditions about right when we take our meals; in brief to try and treat our bodies decently even though we act from a purely sensual point of view? In no other way can we secure the highest possible degree of pleasure on the average, while by acting thus sensibly we may enjoy practical immunity from disease.

The more exercise we take under proper conditions, the more we are exposed to cold, and the clearer we keep from excess in clothing the more we may eat; hence, in order to enjoy the fullest measure of table pleasures, we must live actively, wear as little clothing as is consistent with comfort and do considerable "roughing"—sometimes called hardening. With all this we should take our meals at times when the body or brain is not overtaxed, and when we "have leisure to digest," and, of all things, we should never eat unless we are hungry. To eat without an appetite is self abuse of the most stupid sort, since it affords no pleasure and is productive of disease.—Physical Culture.

Sec. 9. Upon the receipt of the assessment roll it shall be the duty of the City Treasurer forthwith to publish notice in the newspaper doing the city advertising, for 2 consecutive weeks, that a certified copy of such assessment roll is in his custody and that unless such assessments are paid to said city treasurer within 30 days from the first publication of such notice, the same will be delinquent and collected according to law.

PERSONAL MENTION

Charlie Bartholet of Ellensburg is spending a few days with relatives in North Yakima.

J. A. Kleis and wife returned Saturday from a visit to their former home in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mrs. E. W. R. Taylor who has been in poor health for some time is now thought to be improving.

H. W. Creason and D. L. Lape are among the Prosser contingent in attendance upon the superior court.

Louis Joerdens is over from Clehalis to try to secure relief from a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

S. H. Mason of Prosser, came up the first of the week and took charge of Miller's fish market on Front street.

Matt Bartholet was down from Ellensburg Monday in attendance upon a meeting of the State Fair Commission.

Miss Clara Whitson accompanied her cousin, Mrs. Sharp, to the latter's home in Tacoma, last Saturday and will visit for some time.

John Lynch is down from Fish Lake. He says prospects are bright for considerable development in a mineral way in his district this season.

Tom Staton, an old-time resident of North Yakima, was here on business this week from The Dalles, where he is at present engaged in the machinery business.

C. A. Ross returned from Astoria Wednesday. He reached that point about six hours after the death of his mother, to whose bedside he had been summoned.

W. H. Wroe returned Saturday from a visit to his mining properties near Republic. He says people are flocking in to that section, getting ready for the summer rush.

Nels and Fred Marrs came in Tuesday from the Idaho sheep camps for a short rest. They say their outfit has the contract for shearing 150,000 sheep at one corral near Weiser, Idaho.

Among the society people of Ellensburg who visited Yakima to take in the Modjeska performance were Dr. and Mrs. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood, Dr. Power, C. R. Hovey, Mrs. Ridell and the Misses Remmele, Porter, Wilcox and Grupe.

Mr. Truesdale, the life insurance man who came here recently from Spokane, received a wire on Tuesday stating that his aged father who lives in Brooklyn, N. Y., was dying. On receipt of the sad information the young man took the first train out for the east.

Several weeks ago Laura Morgan, a 16-year-old school girl, became exasperated on account of a reprimand received at school in Colfax, and disappeared from home. Her hat and some wearing apparel were found on the bank of the river, and this fact caused a search to be made and the river dragged for miles, without finding the body. Last Saturday Sheriff Tucker brought a young girl up from Kiona and Mrs. Morgan, of Colfax, mother of the derelict, was here for the purpose of identification. The girl in charge of the sheriff, however, proved to be Blanche Kidder, of Idaho, and the sorrowing mother was compelled to return home without her lost daughter.
