CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

An Interesting Session. Nichols For Police Judge, Grant For Marshal.

The regular meeting of the new city council was held Monday, the mayor and all the councilmen being present. After roll call the clerk read the minutes of the two preceding meetings which were duly approved.

A petition was read from A. D. Sloan asking permission to cut out certain street trees on First street to facilitate his building operations, granted. A petition signed by numerous northenders asking for an arc light at N. Third and D streets, referred. A communication was next read from the Red Cross society asking the council to grant permission for the erection of the memorial monument either at the Yakima avenue and Front or at Yakima avenue and Third. Donald vigorously opposed both locations, saying that the monument would only be in the way of traffic. He made a motion instead to locate the monument on Front street contiguous to the railroad park. On a vote Donald's motion carried.

A communication was read from E. C. Burlingame & Co. asking for an extension of time for the completion of the paving on First and Front streets. A 30 day extension was granted. Protests were read from P. Y. Heckman, J. L. Lasswell and J. H. Lasswell against the departure from the specifications in the improvement of First street and refusing to pay their assessments for the same. The mayor stated that the council could not consider such protests, that it was simply a question for the courts to decide.

The next order of business the mayor declared was the election of certain officials by the council, viz: police judge, marshal, engineer, sexton, night watch, scavenger and street commissioner. For marshal there were three applications read, those of J. G. Boyle, R. A. Grant and C. E. Lum. The first ballot stood Boyle 3, Grant 3, Lum 1. The second ballot resulted Boyle 3, Grant 4. The mayor declared Grant elected.

For city police judge the candidates were J. A. Taggard and R. K. Nichols. The first ballot stood Nichols 5, Taggard 2 and Nichols was declared elected. For city sexton E. G. Carvoso was elected by acclamation as was also the case with H. F. Marble for engineer and W. W. Curry for scavenger. On motion of Ayres the election of a night watch was left to the mayor and marshal and the election of a street commissioner deferred until the second meeting in February.

After a short recess the bonds of city officials on motion of Liggett were approved. The quarterly reports of the clerk and treasurer were then read. On motion of Donald all city officials will be required to report to the council monthly hereafter.

Liggett called attention to the need of repairs in the Third street sidewalk near the Hotel Yakima. The matter was referred to the acting street commissioner. A communication was read from county fruit inspector Beck notifying the council that all cottonwood trees on streets would have to be either sprayed or chopped down. Referred to street committee.

Liggett moved that city attorney be requested to draw up an ordinance compelling property owners to make sewer connections, carried. Sinclair moved that city attorney also be requested to furnish an opinion as to the right of the city to extend the sewer system. Mayor Fechter said that this was a step in the right direction, that the most important work that the new council would be called on to put through was the enlargement of the sewer district. The health of the community demanded this, said the mayor.

An ordinance was then read, amending ordinance No. 180, extending the fire limits but was laid over. On motion of Reed the council then adjourned.

MUST SPRAY OR CHOP.

Fruit Inspector Beck Issues an Ultimatum to the Public.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT: I desire to give notice to all owners, agents and renters that there must be and will be a thorough spraying and cleansing of the fruit trees this spring, therefore I take this means of giving all fair warning. In due time clear all balm and cotton trees and all willow brush within 300 feet of your orchard. In doing so we can hope to accomplish much good. I have been ordered to enforce the law by the state commissioners of horticulture but I think the people will not retard work. It should and will be to the interest of every man living in the county of Yakima to help protect one of their best and leading industries. I will be at work constantly and have the opportunity to note the results of the different sprayings. No carbolic compound will be tolerated this year. Lime, sulphur, salt and lye, for scale this spring, when thoroughly applied, is the best remedy known. All persons who live in the city can have an opportunity to get their spraying done at actual cost of labor and material thoroughly applied by notifying me by the 15th of Feb. Notice will also be given all road supervisors to clear the public highways of all infested trees and brush. It is now time to prune your orchards and get ready for spring. Respectfully

ORLANDO BECK,
Fruit Inspector.

Notice.

All parties having money due from this bank are requested to call for same on or before the above date. Those indebted to us (where same is due) will be expected to make a settlement at once.

I wish to thank my patrons for their past favors. Very respectfully,

TO ENLARGE CONGDON DITCH.

Proposition to Bring 1000 Acres of New Land Under That Waterway.

Attorney E. B. Preble is working on a proposition which if it can be successfully carried out will mean much for the development of quite a large body of land in the Wide Hollow, which at present is either inadequately watered or is entirely dry. Judge Preble's idea in brief is to induce the owners of about 1200 acres of this land to go in together and submit a proposition to the Yakima Valley Canal company to reorganize that company or rather to enlarge its scope and functions so as to include the owners of the land mentioned. The proposition is to enlarge the carrying capacity of the Congdon ditch so as to very materially increase its flow. In fact with the contemplated improvement perfected, the ditch would carry 52 cubic feet of water per second, net, where now it carries but about 22. The allowance of water therefor, under the new arrangement would be a cubic foot per second for 80 acres, instead of the same amount for 160 acres as at present.

The plan proposed to increase the flow provides for a tunnel 500 feet long to pierce the great hill west of the "painted rocks" on the Natchez. This would of course eliminate the high trestle flume around that point. Another siphon will also be added to conduct the water across Cowichee canyon. The remaining fluming would of course have to be considerably enlarged.

The Congdon people, it is understood, stand ready to begin the work of enlargement as soon as the preliminaries are settled with the owners of the dry land. The proposed change will, they say, cost not less than $30,000 and on that basis there must be not less than 1000 acres to come in at the price named of $30 per acre for water. A. S. Congdon says that they have the money to commence work at once as soon as the business arrangement is concluded with the land owners. If too much time is not lost with the negotiations Mr. Congdon says they will be able to deliver the extra supply of water in time for spring irrigating. The Democrat has been in possession of all these facts for some time but did not publish the matter previously because we did not wish to embarrass the parties who have the project in hand. Since the Herald, however, printed the information this week this paper no longer recognizes the necessity of remaining silent.

Arrested in Spokane.

Frank Williams, against whom a case has been pending for some time in the superior court, was arrested while on the train at Spokane last Sunday on a telegraphic order from the sheriff of this county. Deputy Sindall went to the Falls city on Monday and brought the prisoner back, lodging him in the county bastille. I. M. Krutz is said to have been on the same train that carried Williams out of town and knowing something about the circumstances, lost no time in telegraphing back to the authorities here that Williams was leaving the country. The latter, it is understood, emphatically denies that he intended to jump his bond.

At his appearance before Justice Taggard Wednesday, Williams waived examination and was bound over for trial in the superior court, bail being fixed at $1000. The prisoner is still in jail.

Work Will Soon Begin.

It is understood that work will be started within a few days by the Northwestern Improvement Co. on the Kennewick ditch. E. C. Burlingame of this city, will superintend the work not as contractor, but in the capacity of superintendent, the intention of the company being to put through the work of excavation without making contracts. The first work that will be done will be to clean out and widen the old ditch. County and City Surveyor Frank Marble received a telegram Monday from Thomas Cooper tendering him the position of engineer of the work. Mr. Marble has not yet accepted the place.

Codling Moth Under Control.

Rev. F. Walden of Zillah, picked over 12,000 boxes of apples from his orchard last season with less than 5 per cent wormy fruit. He sprayed five times and used $\frac{1}{2}$ pound Paris green to 45 gallons water for each spraying. The Paris green, 100 pounds, was purchased from William Stahl of Quincy, Ills., and cost \$20.43 at the station, Toppenish. It tested 57 per cent pure soluble arsenic. About 5 pounds copper carbonate (blue vitriol) was added to the 45 gallon mixture for the first spraying. Mr. Walden thinks another season he will use the copper in connection with the Paris green for at least three of the five sprayings. A strong two horse pump, and three men did the work which began soon as bloom had fallen and continued at intervals until September.

In connection with the spraying, bandages were also used around the trees for trapping the cocoons at that transformation stage of the moth and these bandages were examined regularly every week. Some of his close by neighbors, who did not spray nor trap for the codling moth with any regularity had more than 40 per cent of their apples destroyed by its ravages. The cost of spraying to Mr. Walden was, perhaps, less than $25. It made a difference in the value of his fruit crop in favor of spraying of more than $3,000. Unless better remedies are discovered Mr. Walden proposes to continue controlling the codling moth in the satisfactory way it was combated last season.

Outrage On An Old Man.

T. G. Redfield naturally feels very indignant at the treatment received by his aged father at the hands of a couple of "toughs" in this city early Thursday morning.

John W. Redfield is 88 years of age, having been born in 1814 and resides at Glenwood in southern Oregon. The old gentleman concluded that he would come up here to pay his son a visit and thinking to take him by surprise did not notify him of his coming. Arriving here at 3 a. m. he alighted from the train and meeting a man at Lund's corner asked him if he could direct him to his son's house. The man said that he could and straightway volunteered to "pilot" him there.

Instead of taking him to the Redfield residence, however, he took him in the opposite direction down Front street to A and thence towards the postoffice. When they arrived at a point opposite Larson's theater another man approached them from behind and the two ruffians assaulted the old man and announced that they were going through him. Mr. Redfield shouted lustily for help and the rascals becoming alarmed took to their heels. One of them finally returned though and told the old gentleman that he would conduct him to the Bartholomew hotel, which he did.

Arrived there Mr. Redfield informed the night clerk what had happened and the latter telephoned for the police. H. A. Small the night man responded and took the old gentleman to his son's house. During Thursday A. J. Garvey was arrested as the party who Mr. Redfield met near the depot.

Burns Anniversary Celebration.

The Burns anniversary celebration at the Hotel Yakima last night was a very enjoyable affair for all in attendance. Covers were laid for about 125 guests. Geo. Ker acted as toastmaster and master of ceremonies and in a speech sketched the life and eulogized the character of the great Scottish bard. Col. Howlett, Capt. Dunn, Edw. Whitson, R. K. Nichols, S. J. Cameron and others responded to toasts and many humorous hits were made that kept the jolly party well entertained. The menu was excellent and the liquid refreshments plentiful.

Does He Want It?

Judge Rudkin has been holding court this week at Spokane. Wednesday's Spokesman-Review contained an interesting interview with his honor relative to his possible nomination for the office of supreme judge at the hands of the republicans. In reply to a question from the reporter as to whether or not he was a candidate for the position Judge Rudkin said: "I have really given the matter very little thought. Some of my friends have been urging my name, but as yet I have not made up my mind what I will do."

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT,

BY J. D. MEDILL.

Entered at the North Yakima Postoffice as Second-Class Matter.

One Dollar Per Year—In Advance.

Published every Saturday morning at the Democrat Printing House on First Street, North Yakima, Washington.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

GENERAL Miles since his recent "call down" at the hands of President Roosevelt is believed to have made up his mind to become a candidate for the presidency on the democratic ticket in order to get even. If General Miles, republican that he is or was, thinks that he can use the great democratic party as an instrument with which to satisfy his desire for personal vengeance he is very badly mistaken and if he persists in the mistake he can only come to grief. A few million of people in this country, and they are not all democrats either, no doubt sympathize with General Miles since his brutal rebuke at the hands of the president. That General Miles was guilty of an indiscretion in commenting as he did on the verdict in the Schley case may be taken for granted. If "Teddy" had mildly reprimanded him the entire country would probably have assented on the assumption that it was but simple justice. But it was quite unnecessary for the president to insult Miles and publicly humiliate him. The latter as the commanding officer of the army with a long and splendid military record was entitled to some consideration at the hands of a president of the United States. As regards military ethics it is probable that he has forgotten more than "Teddy" ever knew. But all of this will have no bearing on the selection of the next democratic candidate for the presidency. The democracy is not looking for a man with a personal grievance to lead it. At any rate it doesn't want as a leader a republican with a grievance. In fact the democratic party has troubles enough of its own without looking for others. It wants as its candidate for the presidency a democrat only, one of the rock ribbed Jeffersonian variety. It wants as its leader a man who understands and implicitly believes in the basic principles of democracy and who is able to defend the party creed against all comers. Miles, Schley and Dewey are none of them men of this class. They are all grand fighters and good men, but none of them are statesmen and none of them are democrats, at least not of the above mentioned type.

A CREATURE in New York, hitherto unknown to fame, who goes by the name of Dr. Nichols, has lately earned the approbation of the exclusive smart set in Gotham and the emphatic condemnation of nearly all the balance of the eighty millions of people in this country.

Nichols, who is said to have once been the disciple of Ward McAllister, has followed suit after that now defunct lion of society, and has issued a manifesto in which he defines the boundaries of exclusive swifdom as it shall exist for some time in the future. Nichols, in fact, not only reduces Ward McAllister's list of eligibles from 400 down to 145, but he lays down rules for the government of his select little coterie which makes all the world stand aghast. To quote his statement: "No person without extensive means can be in society. The very wealthy do not entertain poor persons, no matter how old their families or how well bred they are."

One of the functions of this select society, according to the Nichols version, will be to entertain royalty when it visits this country. Great preparations will be made presumably to welcome the brother of the kaiser when he arrives. Nichols is not believed to have taken upon himself the authority that he has assumed in the matter, but has been commissioned by the smart set to act for it. The example thus set by the New York swells will doubtless sooner or later be followed in all the cities of the country. Brains, respectability or good breeding count for nothing. One must have wealth, and enormous wealth at that, to enter the charmed circle. Where now is the guileless soul that has always refused to believe that an aristocracy of wealth exists in this country.

HON. W. L. JONES in a letter addressed to the editor of this paper seems to infer that we have misrepresented his attitude on the land sale bill which he recently introduced in congress. Perhaps we have, but we have not meant to do so. In fact, we have not known just exactly what Mr. Jones' attitude is on this measure proposed by him and for which he stands sponsor. If he does not believe in it himself it is difficult to understand why he introduced it. It is an assured fact, however, that a great majority of the farmers and small stockmen of this county don't believe in it and don't want it. A number of them have felt compelled to spend both time and money in an effort to combat it through organization and petition.

Editorially this paper has criticized the bill because it seemed to us like class legislation. This paper endeavors to view public matters from the standpoint of the people. We condemned the bill and so have the people. Having performed our duty we are willing to let it go at that. Although a political opponent, THE DEMOCRAT has endeavored to treat Mr. Jones with fairness and courtesy. We have even went out of our way many times to say a good word for him. Courtesy, however, will never estop us from exercising the right to criticize his official acts when we believe that criticism is due.

THE farmers of this county should lose no further time in perfecting a compact and permanent organization that will serve to guard and protect their mutual interests. The necessity for such an organization has been apparent for some time and the developments of the past few months make it imperative now, unless the farmers of this valley are satisfied to sit down and take the worst of the changing conditions. With their most astute members at the head of such an organization the farmers of this county could make their influence felt and respected. Organization seems to be the watchword throughout the length and breadth of this country at the present time and unless the farmers of this section, at least, learn to co-operate together they are apt to find that their interests will be still further jeopardized. The situation in this county, where irrigation is a necessity and where the live stock interests are so varied—even antagonistic—demands intelligent co-operation on the part of the tiller of the soil and the smaller stockmen. The DEMOCRAT at the risk of being dubbed a crank and an agitator, has tried to make this point clear to the farmers. This paper free as it is from any entangling alliance with any special interest has been in a position to speak plainly and it has endeavored to do so.

THE N. Y. World almanac prints a list of 3612 millionaires in the United States. Of this number 641 live in the city of New York alone, which is more than twice the number that are to be found in the entire empire of Germany. Only one man of that country Krupp, the famous gunmaker, reputed to be worth a hundred million dollars, is able to rank with the very rich men of America.

JOHN D. Rockefeller Jr. says a New York paper, tells his bible class that "the world owes no man a living." Still it seems to yield up very generously to some expert collectors who happen to have a trust behind them.

SPOILATION OF THE RANGE.

Paper Read by John Loudon Before the Farmers' Mass Meeting at North Yakima, January 4.

To prevent the further spoilation of the range is what has brought us here today. Its present condition has at length alarmed every stockman and settler of the county, and we think the time has arrived to make an effort to protect it for the benefit of the farmer and homeseeker. Only a few years ago this Columbia basin right to the summit of the Cascades, was a magnificent grassed country, the mountain valleys a perfect carpet of red top, and the lower country well covered with bunch and other fine grasses, and no doubt would have remained in this condition had it been judiciously stocked; but the advent of close herding and over-stocking has brought it to its present condition.

A first warning note was sounded in 1884, but the great majority of the settlers not having had any experience of close herding, thought there was no danger; a few of our far seeing stockmen sounded occasional notes of warning against the encroaching evil, but generally they had few or unwilling listeners, and the evil gradually increased between the Yakima and Columbia rivers and extended to the foothills.

Close herding was the order and over-stocking the rule until the natural grasses have been virtually eaten and tramped out by the roots. Our secretary of agriculture, Mr. Wilson—a zealous, and I believe a practical man, has been experimenting with grasses to suit our arid lands. I wonder if he has ever thought it advisable to give our own natural grasses a chance to exist? I don't believe the grasses he is experimenting with would be of the slightest value if subjected to the same rascally treatment our range grasses have been subjected to for the past 17 years. Let our native grasses have a chance to reseed, even if we have to suspend grazing on the range six months every year. When these flock owners commence moving their herds to the mountains, cleaning up the range along their route of trail, and for five months repeating the same operation on the mountain pastures, and by the time the early snows compel them to move their herds to the lower country, they leave behind nothing but a barren waste. The first demonstration I had of the above facts was in the latter part of October, 1889, when I was along the headwaters of the Ahtanum in the meadows of the Little Klickitat up to the valley of the Big Klickitat and along the summit of the Cascades, and on my return I crossed the headwaters of the south fork of the Tietan and followed on down to the Cowlitz, and I particularly noticed the only place any grass was left was on the Big Klickitat where the Ahtanum cattle ranged. No doubt many of you remember the great forest fires we had that summer and fall. Strange to say these fires invariably took place in the country where the sheep were pastured, or on their route of travel.

What I have stated in regard to the Ahtanum and Tietan applies to every valley on the Yakima, on the upper reaches of the Wenas and Natchez, up the valley of the Bumping and American rivers to the summit of the Cascades. There is no doubt the grasses and underbrush on the reserve is now steadily undergoing the same slow process of extermination, and from the same cause, that this lower country has been cursed with.

Now, these men who have wrought devastation to the pasturing of this country and have turned its rich grazing lands into a waste, tell you and me that sheep improve the pastures, and that they have been a great benefit to the watershed of these valleys, and that any damage that has been done to the range has been caused by horse grazing. Now, let us examine this position: In the northern tier of counties in this state—Okanogan, Stevens and Ferry—we have an object lesson on that head. The settlers of these counties, profiting by the experience of Yakima, have practically barred close herding. Through the vigilance of its settlers the sheep men have not been able to get a foothold; they look wistfully on the rich bunch grass hills, expecting to get in there with their flocks, when the Rainier reserve is closed against their depredations. In fact, they are now hunting for fresh fields to plunder, but recent happenings in Okanogan would seem to indicate that the climate of that county is not salubrious for that class of stockmen.

Another matter that forcibly strikes the average observer who has been watching the question for the past few years, is the attitude of the government experts who have been sent here to examine this range question. I am reliably informed that they have carefully avoided coming in contact with any of our men representing the cattle or horse interests, so that only one side of this question has been represented before the department. It looks as if the cattle interests had been strictly ignored. It is the intelligent organization of the sheep interests that have given them the influence they have with the department, and through their organized efforts have sidetracked every other stock industry in this county, so that their influence is paramount with the powers that be.

It ought to be an object lesson to us. They have organized and acted as one man; their meetings have been private, thus keeping their schemes hidden from the public; the press of the county has been silent on their intrigues, and they had all but consummated one of the most villainous steals ever perpetrated on this state, had they been allowed to take up the few remaining water places as was contemplated by the recent bill introduced in congress, then farewell to the range so far as the settler is concerned.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16, 1902.

"We are engaged in the unholy office of crushing a republic," were the words with which the venerable senator from Massachusetts startled his complacently self-satisfied colleagues on the floor of the senate on Tuesday. They were followed by a severe arraignment of the course of the administration in the Philippine Islands. Among other things, Senator Hoar said that he had heard of the investigation of a proceeding which if true "has covered with a foul blot the flag which we all love and honor." He urged upon his colleagues the advisability of appointing an investigating committee to which senators and people could appeal for the verification or refutation of some of the frightful stories which were being brought back from the islands by soldiers and civilians. The senator sought to relieve, from the responsibility of a course which might bring odium upon the administration, his colleague, Senator Lodge, but the latter, apparently fearful of entrusting so important a matter to a committee not as thoroughly in touch with the executive branch of the government as is his own, protested so vigorously that Senator Hoar finally yielded and the resolution was referred to the Philippines committee.

Speaking on the subject last night, Senator Lodge said that he did not imagine that any report on the resolution, which calls for an investigation of the war in the Philippines, would be made, although he admitted that "for the general information of his committee" Governor Taft might be asked to appear before it and explain the needs of the islands. Whether Senator Lodge was perfectly frank in the matter is not known, but another member of the Philippines committee assured me that the public had not heard the last of Senator Hoar's resolution and that it was likely to precipitate a bitter fight in the senate later on. He also intimated that it might be necessary to send a subcommittee to the Philippines as soon as congress adjourned in order that the committee might know itself the real status of affairs. Senator Carmack of Tennessee said, after the senate adjourned, that the democrats had intended to introduce a resolution similar to that introduced by Senator Hoar, that he was fearful that the Philippines committee would fail to report on the resolution, but that the democrats would bring the matter up on the floor of the senate and that a state of affairs most embarrassing to the administration was likely to develop. There are a number of congressmen who have been to the Philippines and, while they have held their fire for an opportunity, it is bound to blaze sooner or later. Some of the democrats believe that the basis of the next campaign will be laid in the senate when this matter comes up for discussion.

Today Senator Lodge will report his Philippine tariff bill and Senator Culberson will make a vigorous attack on its provisions. He will receive the support of practically the entire democratic side as well as of Senator Mitchell of Oregon, who told me last night that he favored free trade with the Philippines because of the commercial advantages which would result to the entire Pacific coast. An effort will also be made to attach to the Philippine bill a provision for reciprocal relations with Cuba. Senator Mason is doing yeoman's work for the latter cause and on Tuesday delivered a speech on the general subject of reciprocity concluding with the words, "nothing can excuse us from honorable and fair trade with Cuba. We paid a mighty price in blood and treasure for the change (in Cuba) and the American conscience will demand that our relations with Cuba must close upon the same lofty plane upon which they began."

The resignation of Richard Croker from the leadership of Tammany Hall and his succession by Mr. Nixon has occasioned much speculation among the democrats in congress as have also the rumors that are being received to the effect that David B. Hill is seeking the party leadership. Senator James K. Jones has expressed himself as very favorably impressed with Mr. Nixon and as believing that he would make a strong and capable leader. The election of Senator Gorman is also a matter of great interest and there are many who regard him as the logical candidate for the presidency. A member of the House said yesterday, "Senator Gorman will become the leader of the democratic forces in the senate and will make a record in that capacity which will earn for him the unqualified support of his party throughout the country. If he lives and preserves his health, he will be our next president."

The Seattle Times of last Tuesday states that T. F. Maher, formerly a well known democratic politician of this city, but who for the past five years has been in the Indian school service, has lately been appointed as engineer of the treasury department at Washington. On reading this bit of news it occurred to several of Mr. Maher's old friends in this city that if this information was really true Tom must have changed the color of his political skin since he resided in North Yakima.

Business men and property owners generally express satisfaction at the action of the city council Monday night in the matter of selecting city officials. This is particularly true as to the choice of a marshal. While a good many people feel in sympathy with Col. Boyle, the present incumbent, and admit that he has made a splendid record in the office from a financial standpoint they at the same time assert that he has not furnished adequate police protection to citizens. Under his administration, they say, the "tough element" was run ning the town and getting bolder every day.

Paid Its First Losses.

The American Fraternal Club this week paid its first losses to policy holders resulting from accidents. Harold M. Mrs. Jennie Moores of this city, is being paid the same amount for sickness resulting from an accident. Both recipients have expressed themselves as highly pleased with the prompt attention their claims have received at the hands of the executive officers of the organization. The order is now growing at a most satisfactory rate, the reports coming in daily from the various organizers in the field being most encouraging.

AMUSEMENTS

Paloma Schramm, Jan. 27th.

An annoying error was made by this paper last week in stating that the date made by the Ladies Musical club for the appearance here of Paloma Schramm was Tuesday Jan. 28th. It should have read Monday eve the 27th and a matinee Tuesday afternoon the 28th. Paloma Schramm the famous child pianist and musical composer is but 12 years of age. She is accompanied by her sister Karla aged nine. Both are regarded as prodigies in the musical world. The press notices that the little ones have received are very flattering. The Musical club has secured Larson's theater for their appearance here and a good house is confidently expected.

"Human Hearts," Jan. 29th.

The story of "Human Hearts", that beautiful poetical play of the simple life of the homely folk of rural Arkansas, deals with the happenings to honest Tom Logan, the village blacksmith. Tom dwells with his parents in a picturesque spot on the Arkansas hills. There he has been pursuing his vocation, living a plain simple life, the mainstay of his aged parents, beloved by all who knew him and respected above his fellows. On a certain unlucky day, there comes to the village a beautiful woman, a temptress, unprincipled and black at heart, but with a fascination that proves to be the undoing of poor Tom Logan. He immediately proceeds to fall in love with her, asks her to marry him and she becomes his wife. Happy in his fancied security, Tom lavishes all that affection on the woman that is possible to an honest heart like his, but it is not returned. One day there appears on the scene, a villain, the former lover of the woman, who commits a cowardly murder and with the assistance of the woman, fastens the crime on Tom, who is tried and convicted for the crime of another. Tom is sentenced to state prison for life and the villainous pair congratulate themselves that they have not only gotten rid of him, but have secured immunity from the law for themselves. But providence has been watching over the blacksmith and unseen influences are at work to thwart their plans. Humble friends of Tom Logan do not forget him and their endeavors to bring the case to the notice of the governor of Arkansas are finally successful, and the villains are unmasked and Tom is proven innocent. The play is a pathetic one with many thrilling scenes, but there is a very strong comedy vein running through it which gives the necessary contrast. It is said that Manager Nankeylle has provided a most adequate stage investiture for the play and has engaged an admirable company for its portrayal.

"Barbara Freitchie," Jan. 31.

There are many wonderfully pretty speeches in Clyde Fitch's great war drama, "Barbara Freitchie" in which Mr. James Neill and the Neill company will be seen in this city Jan. 31st at Larson's opera house. In the third act Barbara has concealed her wounded northern lover, Captain Trumbull, in her father's house. Trumbull has been shot by Barbara's own brother and her father wishes to carry his hatred for the north so far as to order the dying Trumbull out into the street, when his daughter pleads with him in the following language:

"Don't you remember what you said to me a little while ago? I can see the picture if you can't. The big old rosewood bed we all of us know as mother's—I can see her sweet, pale face on the great pillow—I see you father bending over her with a tiny bundle in your arms—I see you place me—oh, so gently!—in those dear thin hands—I hear you whisper, 'Barbara, here's your daughter!' and I see her smile up at you through her tears and say, 'Make her as happy as you've made me!' Father my only happiness, all the joy there can be for me in this world, depends on the life of that man upstairs! Send him out to die in our streets!—You break my heart—and—damn my soul, for if merciful death shouldn't come to me, I swear to you before heaven, I'll go myself to meet death."
