

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Senator Dolliver's Speech Proves Most Embarrassing to Stand-Patters—Supreme Court Decision Favors Railroads.

Washington, May 8.—The republican stand-patters struck a Tartar when they undertook to squelch Senator Dolliver of Iowa. Mr. Dolliver persisted in demanding how an increase of the tariff rates was revision downward. He wanted to know why the consumer was to be taxed inordinately on every article made of wool or cotton, why Senator Aldrich had permitted certain New England manufacturers to make the wool and cotton schedules and a dozen other things which it was impossible for the republicans to answer frankly and which it greatly embarrassed them to have brought to public attention. Throughout a speech lasting the greater part of two days, Mr. Dolliver kept his temper under the most trying circumstances, answering inuendo with witicism and turned aside the angry shafts of Mr. Aldrich with jests which won for him the sympathy of the senate and even the applause of the galleries, although applause is forbidden in the senate and each time it occurs the presiding officer gravely warns the galleries that if it occurs again he will be obliged to clear them. Senator Aldrich, although hardly daring to charge it outright, plainly intimated that Mr. Dolliver's opposition to the exorbitant schedules which are the Rhode Island senator's particular pet emanated from the fact that the Iowan was angry because he had not received a place on the finance committee and that there was no more worthy reason for his opposition. That any man should have the interests of the ultimate consumers at heart apparently never enters into the calculations of the Rhode Island statesman. Probably the fact that it is generally known that Mr. Dolliver has the sympathies of the president with him in his fight on the exorbitant schedules adds nothing to the comfort of the Rhode Island senator. The indications all point now to a continuation of the session of congress until June 15 and possibly later.

The decision of the supreme court in the so-called commodities clause of the railway rate bill constitutes another blow at the consumer and a victory for the railroads, although the court upholds the constitutionality of the law. This clause was enacted in order to prevent the outrageous discrimination which the railroads commonly practiced against those who sought to compete with them in any side line in which they were engaged, especially in the production of coal. Many railroads own extensive coal mines. Where this was the case any private owner of a mine was almost certain to receive an offer of a very moderate price for his mine. If he refused to sell he found himself hampered on every side. The railroad simply could not supply him with cars. His shipments got side tracked and his coal arrived so late that he broke his contracts and in some instances he was completely undersold by the railroad which could haul its own coal free. Finally, finding himself on the verge of ruin, the private mine owner would give up the fight and sell the mine to the railroad at its own price.

A provision in the commodities clause provided that a railroad not only must not haul its own coal, but it must not haul that of any company in which it was "directly or indirectly interested." The supreme court decides that this does not prevent a company from holding stock in a corporation which operates a mine and hauling the coal of that corporation. In other words, under the decision the railroad need only organize a subsidiary to own the mine and then own the company.

There is a demand in this city for strawberry pickers to work on berry ranches in the lower valley.

NEW MARRIAGE LAW

Sharp Restrictions on Cupid's Industry After June 12—Increase of $2 in Fee Required for License.

The new law regulating the issuance of marriage licenses by county auditors will go into effect June 12. The requirements of the new statute are strict and victims of Cupid's darts who contemplate a June wedding will save themselves trouble by securing the necessary legal document before that date.

No woman under the age of 45 or man of any age, who is a common drunkard, habitual criminal, idiot or insane person, or person who has been heretofore afflicted with hereditary insanity, or with pulmonary tuberculosis in its advanced stage, can procure a marriage license or enter lawful wedded life within this state. More than this, every person who applies for a marriage license after June 12 must show a physician's certificate to the effect that they do not belong to any of the prohibited classes.

Licenses, according to the officials at the county auditor's office, will not only cost the statutory $3, but from $2 to $5 expense will be added for a physician's certificate, making the total cost from $5 to $8, as against $3 under the old law. Under the ages of 21 for the male and 18 for the female written consent of the parents must be filed, and the minimum age at which a female can marry is placed at 15 years.

Not only is the county auditor forbidden from issuing marriage licenses to persons within the prohibited classes, but clergymen or other officers authorized to perform a marriage, as well. The penalty for a violation of the provisions of the law is $1,000 fine, or imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a period of not more than three years or by both fine and imprisonment.

However, women over 45 will have no trouble in procuring a license, nor will a man of any age if he marries a woman of 45 or over. Neither will men and women over or under 45 have any trouble if they go to Vancouver or Victoria or elsewhere in the Canadian domain.

They Want Reservation Land

Under a Yakima date line of May 11, the Post-Intelligencer says:

Although every effort has been made to impress upon the public the fact that nothing is known officially of the opening of the Yakima Indian reservation, the North Yakima land office is flooded with letters and personal inquiries as to when the opening will take place.

Register Saint answered 30 letters today. The inquiries come from every part of the United States and embrace every phase of the situation, from asking for full sets of all the land laws to requesting that good homesteads be picked out for those who have written.

Some who have gone so far as to ask the register to be sure to select a parcel of land upon which there is a spring. To all those who ask, the register given the same reply, that no definite information has been received. Register Saint says that if the letters are any indication thousands of people will flock to the Yakima valley when the reservation is finally opened.

Gov. Folk's Opinion.

Former Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, who was in Spokane a few days ago, in talking with an Associated Press correspondent, said: "That is a matter, however, to which I have not given any thought. I think the democratic party has a good chance to win in 1912. The papers do William J. Bryan a great injustice by insisting that he has sinister designs upon the nomination. I do not think Mr. Bryan will be a candidate, though he is very close to the hearts of millions of men. Personally, I think Mr. Taft is a good man. Outside of politics no fault can be found with him."

NEW RAILROADS COMING IN A BUNCH

Donald and Strahorn Systems in Hot Contest to Secure Right-of-Way and Possession of Strategic Points.

North Yakima is again in the throes of a railroad war, i. e., a railroad building war, at any rate the war is going on in the newspapers. The real contest, however, is being carried on, so far as the public can see, between George Donald, president of the North Yakima & Valley, and Robert E. Strahorn, president of the North Coast, aptly defined as the "road of mystery." These two men are the opposing field generals in this territory. That the principal that each man represents is a gigantic combination of great railroad interests, each of which desire to control the main volume of freight traffic originating in the Yakima valley, can now safely be assumed.

The first chapter in the contest between Donald and Strahorn was written three years ago when the former built his line up the Naches. There was a sharp contest between the two at that time over franchises, right of way and for the possession of strategic points. The city administration at that time was in the hands of the friends of Mr. Strahorn, and that gentleman got everything that he asked for in his Selah street franchise. The council then refused a similar franchise to Mr. Donald, and that gentleman was forced to bring his Naches railroad into town over the N. P. right of way. The present council is not believed to be quite so partial to the North Coast, nor quite so liberal in the matter of giving away valuable streets in the city without consideration.

The present contest began with the application by Banker Donald to the city council for a franchise to cross certain streets intersecting G street with his proposed Moxee line. The Strahorn interests, while perhaps not openly fighting the G street franchise, are nevertheless not regarded as friendly to such a proposition and this statement probably defines the attitude of the trolley line people also, for the latter interests naturally regard the Donald road as an interloper in the Moxee field, where they had planned to build an electric line.

The city council will again take up the G street franchise for final action next Monday evening and the best line that this paper can get on the situation is that the city "dads" will pass the measure without the radical amendments introduced at the last meeting. A majority of the council appear to feel that the interests of the city as well as those of the Moxee people will be subserved by granting the franchise and there are said to be at least five of the seven members who are now firmly of this opinion.

During the past week the battle ground between the contending interests shifted to the lower valley and the fight is now on for the possession of strategic points between this city and Granger. Mr. Strahorn on his arrival here last week with the unerring instinct that he has of scenting the latest news, soon got next to the fact that Donald purposed building a railroad from this city 28 miles southeast to Granger on the east side of the Yakima. Within 24 hours the Spokane man was in Granger looking over the situation, announcing from that point Saturday that he proposed building a branch of the North Coast from Granger to this city on the same side of the river. And by Monday, sure enough, North Coast men were out, the engineers making a hurried survey, followed by right of way agents. A number of contracts were filed during the week for right of way as were also in a few cases condemnation suits.

Donald's men are no less active, at least that is true of the engineering corps. The principal contention, however, between the two aspirants is a right of way through Union Gap along the east bank of the river. The most available route at this point for a railroad is the strip of land adjacent to the county road, and this strip had already been secured as right of way by Henry Lombard's interurban electric company, which proposed building a line from here to Granger. Mr. Donald made overtures to Mr. Lombard to buy the strip and succeeded, it seems, in securing an option on it. A day or two later Mr. Strahorn came along and raised the "ante," which is to say that he offered to pay the Interurban people a very much better price and agreeing, so it is said, to locate the car shops of the North Coast at Yakima City. On being apprised of this offer on the part of his rival, Mr. Donald, it is reported, acquiesced in its acceptance, provided that Mr. Strahorn would make good his offer in cold cash as well as to post a forfeit that he will complete his road within a certain specified time. But at this writing the matter is still in the air.

The sentiment of the people, business men as well as the public generally, is that the Yakima country wants all the railroads it can get to handle its fast increasing traffic. While a great many people here are and have been in sympathy with the North Coast enterprise

ROAD FOR COWICHE

Branch of Valley System Is Now Headed for Fertile Mountain Valley—Surveys and Right-of-Way.

It is now assumed as a fact that President George Donald of the North Yakima & Valley intends building a branch of his road up the Cowiche valley this season, in fact the preliminary work is already well under way.

Donald's agents are said to have already secured much of the needed right of way up the Cowiche, the preliminary survey having already been made.

The Cowiche branch will leave the Naches line at the mouth of the Cowiche canyon and the route follows the windings of that stream for about four miles until the main valley is reached. It is thought that the Cowiche branch will be about 11 miles in length, or at any rate that much of it will be constructed this season in time to handle the fall crops.

The building of the Donald line into the Cowiche valley will unquestionably have the effect of bringing that section to the front, which has long been hampered for the want of transportation facilities.

It is going to be a great year for railroad building in the Yakima country.

To Survey All Streams.

Olympia dispatches announce that $10,000 is to be expended by the state in surveying all streams on the east and west slopes of the Cascade mountains and for a detailed report of the water power available and possible of development.

That was the result of the meeting today here of the state board of geological survey. Of the $50,000 appropriated by the last legislature, $5,000 was assigned for the immediate investigation of the location of rock for road-making, so that the four state convict rock crushing camps may be located. Ten thousand dollars will be used for a survey of the local lands of the state; half as much more for a survey of metalliferous deposits, and $20,000 for geological survey of quadrangles covering areas to be determined by the governor and geologist, Henry Landes of Seattle.

The general feeling seems to be now that this country has waited long enough for the coming of Mr. Strahorn's road, which has been in the incubating stage for nearly four years and has scarcely begun to build yet. However, the people here want the North Coast line and will give it a hearty welcome and no doubt a liberal patronage when built. But they are in the mood meantime to accept any relief in sight. The people of the surrounding valleys want rail connection with North Yakima, and the business men of this city are naturally keen to see that they get it.

The announcement made this week by the managers of the Yakima Valley Transportation company, through Attorney Cull, of the failure so far to finance that corporation so as to admit of the early construction of the proposed electric lines throughout the valley, fell like a wet blanket on the people of this city. As a natural result the announcement of the failure of the traction company's plans and hopes proved to be water on Donald's wheel. As a leading business man, who is himself a stockholder in the Transportation company, expressed it to the Democrat this week, "The people have waited patiently for the electric roads and now our big scheme seems to have fallen through. It is too bad, but we fell down and there is no money and no prospects in sight for building the roads this year. Donald says that he is in a position to go ahead and build these roads and I hope now that he will, and I don't care a snap whether he represents the Northern Pacific or whether he don't."

320 ACRE HOMESTEADS

Description of Lands in North Yakima District Subject to Filing Under New Law.

Congress on February 13 last passed a law known as the "Enlarged homestead act," the terms of which permit any qualified citizen of the United States to file on 320 acres of the national domain according to a certain classification by the general land office. As a matter of fact lands subject to filing under this special act are all presumably located above any possible irrigation canal and any person selecting Township 12 north, range, w½ of 22, e.

Township 13 north, range, all 21, 22, e. Township 14 north, range, all 18, e½ of 20, all 21, 22, e.

lands under the act are supposed to do so for the purposes of dry farming. Thus the allowance of land is made double for the entryman in order that he may have the opportunity to summer fallow. The lands set apart for filing under the "enlarged homestead act" in the North Yakima land district are as follows:

Township 7 north, range, all 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, E. W. M.

Must Install Septic Tank.

Dr. Elmer E. Heg, of Seattle, state commissioner of health, arrived here yesterday and has been in conference with Dr. P. Frank, a member of the state board, and the city officials relative to a solution of the city sewer problem.

Commissioner Heg, it is understood, takes the position that this city must discontinue the practice of dumping its sewage in the Yakima river, as has been the custom for the past 18 years. He will insist that septic tanks be installed and the improved system of sterilizing the sewage be adopted. This system is in use in many American cities, as well as most of those in Europe, and is said to work most successfully.

The estimated cost of introducing the septic tank system here is $15,000. Public sentiment is now ripe for the needed improvement and the feeling is that such tanks should be installed right away, as there is no good reason for continuing the practice of polluting the Yakima river water any longer.

A VIEW OF THE COURT OF HONOR, A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

All of the principal buildings of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition are grouped in close compass around the Cascades and Geyser Basin and the flower beds which line each.

RIGHT OF WAY SUITS

North Coast Continues Contest for Track Privileges Through Zillah.

The reason for the contest between the North Yakima & Valley and North Coast roads for the right-of-way at Zillah being pushed so vigorously is because there is hardly room for two tracks and the advantage will be very largely with the one that gets in first. The North Coast has filed the following additional condemnation suits in the superior court:

W. F. Anley, J. B. Ramerman and the Yakima Inter-Valley Railway company, a strip of property and lot 2, section 6, township 10, range 21.

A. M. Cornell and W. F. Anley, lot 1, a strip of property and part of lot 2, in section 6, township 10, range 21.

L. E. Lawrence and wife, lots 1, 2 and 12, in block 15, city of Zillah.

Charles M. Mudd and wife, lots 6 and 7, block 17, city of Zillah.

A. A. Thomas and wife and M. J. McCleary, lot 1, block 16, city of Zillah.

Rose E. Elliot and husband and Anna E. Miller and husband, lot 2, block 16, and part of lot 12, block 17, city of Zillah.

Ida E. Clute and husband, the Yakima Grocery company and the Yakima National bank, part of lot 3, block 15, city of Zillah.

North Yakima & Valley Railway company, blocks 12 and 13, lots 1 to 6, in block 14, and lots 6, 7 and 8, in block 15, city of Zillah.

A North Coast authority stated today that practically the entire right-of-way from Union gap to and through Zillah had been secured by contract or was under condemnation proceedings at the present time.

KIDNAPER UP FOR LIFE

Mercer, Pa., May 10.—James Boyle was sentenced to life imprisonment and Mrs. Boyle received a sentence of 25 years for her part in the kidnapping of "Billy" Whitla and was fined $5,000 and the costs of prosecution. Boyle did not create a scene in court and did not utter a word prior to his sentence. Mrs. Boyle said she was convicted on flimsy evidence but she did not implicate a third person as she said she would do. The plea of counsel for the defense for light sentences was ignored by the court and both Boyle and his wife collapsed completely upon hearing the sentence pronounced. Boyle had to be carried into an ambulance and when left unsupported could not maintain his balance and had to be carried down three flights of steps from the court room to the ambulance and from the ambulance to the cell where he went bitterly.

Boyle told something today of the murder in which he implicated the third party to the abduction. It was committed at Youngstown, 12 or 14 years ago. A man named Weigel was killed in a quarrel. The verdict of accidental death was returned. Counsel for Boyle have investigated the case and say accidental was the only verdict possible upon the evidence and that if Boyle has other evidence he did not tell it to the counsel.

Threats of double suicide made by Mrs. Boyle were not idle words, as was shown today when it became known that a razor secreted in the clothing of Boyle had been removed. Mrs. Boyle last night swallowed enough morphine to kill two people, as she expressed it. She was rendered partially unconscious but was revived. This is believed to have been responsible for her collapse in court today. It is believed she obtained the poison from a woman prisoner occupying the next cell, who is a morphine fiend.

Mrs. Boyle has stated she will commit suicide. According to Boyle the name of the third party will be made public soon after the couple reach the penitentiary. The person will be named in an appeal which will be taken.

James and Mrs. Boyle were taken to the Western penitentiary at Pittsburgh late this afternoon.

Relatives Petition Judge Preble for His Release From Asylum

The relatives of Marshall Razy, of Naches City, who recently escaped from the asylum for the insane at Steilacoom have presented a petition to the superior court asking that he be paroled. Judge Preble has taken the matter under advisement until he can consult with the authorities of the asylum. Razy has been in the asylum twice. The first time he was sent to Medical Lake, but the second time, at the request of his people, he was sent to Steilacoom.

The building erected at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition for the exclusive use of the Hawaiian Islands, occupies a prominent position on the Court of Honor next the central government structure.

Hawaii has prepared a more extensive and comprehensive exhibit of its marvelous resources than for any other world's fair. It will show all of its native fruits and vegetables; will offer an aquarium of live fish, and in various other ways interest the fair visitors. Fruits will be served by native girls and native orchestras and singers will be always on hand. A tank in the center of the structure will show the islands as they rest in the Pacific Ocean.

DARING BRAVERY.

An Exciting Incident in the Career of John Paul Jones.

Whitehaven was a town of considerable importance, writes Cyrus Townsend Brady in the Metropolitan Magazine. It had a population of 50,000 people, and several hundred vessels of all kinds were in the port. Two forts commanded its harbor, but John Paul Jones believed largely in the value of the unexpected and by 8 o'clock in the morning was making for the place with two cutters manned by fifteen men each armed only with pistols and cutlasses. One of the cutters, in command of Captain Jones himself, made directly for the town, and the other, under command of Lieutenant Wallingford, pulled for the shipping docks on the opposite side of the harbor. Jones landed quietly just as the first streaks of dawn were tingling the east and, leaving one man in his boat, set out at a run for the nearest fort. Gallantly scaling the walls, the party fell upon the small garrison and made them prisoners without firing a shot. After spiking the guns Jones locked the English soldiers in their own guardhouse and set out at a run for the other fort, half a mile away.

But during all this time there was no sign of the work of Wallingford, not a spark of light or a cloud of smoke to show that that officer was doing his part of the work. Not until Jones had reached the other fort and spiked the guns did he learn that Wallingford had abandoned the attempt because the match which he carried for the purpose had gone out.

It was broad daylight, and here and there were signs of activity in the houses near the docks. Captain Jones had no time for delay. He boarded a large vessel and with his own hands kindled a fire in her steerage. Upon the flames he threw straw and hatchway gratings; a barrel of tar completed the work.

In the meanwhile the gathering of townfolk had increased until the crowd had become a frantic mob, which was now threatening the men and the landing place. Seeing that he could do no more, Jones went ashore and, drawing his two pistols, went down to face 1,500 people. He was not a large man, but there was something in his face to supply the deficiency of majesty in stature. He swayed the mob with his pistols as a summer breeze moves a rye field. He reached the cutter and easily held the infuriated people at bay until the fire was well started and his men were safely seated in their cutter. After that he entered the fort and was pulled away.

A Measure For Chefs.

Twelve-year-old Dorothy is already a cook of no mean proficiency. Saturday morning frequently finds her in the kitchen, being initiated into the making of some simple dish.

"Oh, put in a moderately generous pinch of salt," her mother will reply to her anxious inquiry, or her grand mother will give a professional glance at the stewpan and say, "Well, if I were making it I think I'd probably put in quite a little more butter."

Such remarks, coming easily from the tongues of artists who have only to look at a bit of cookery in process of making to know exactly what it needs, are exasperating to a youthful cook, especially one who inherits from "the other side" a predilection for scientific accuracy of statement.

Recently Dorothy, returning from a visit, excited even the interest of those passed masters, her mother and grandmother, by making a wonderful new salad dressing. The two ladies shortly afterward tried to make the dressing, under Dorothy's instruction.

"How much sugar did you say, Dorothy?" asked one of her pupils, bending with flushed face over the stove at a critical moment.

"Well," said Dorothy, with unnatural deliberateness, "if I were making that dressing, I shouldn't be surprised if most likely I'd put in a moderately generous heaping tip end of a medium sized tablespoonful."

The Sickle of the Sphinx.

The oldest piece of wrought iron in existence is believed to be a roughly fashioned sickle blade found by Belzoni in Karnak, near Thebes. It was imbedded in the mortar under the base of a sphinx and on that account is known as the "sickle of the sphinx." It is now in the British museum and is believed to be nearly 4,000 years old.

Consoling the Child.

"What's the matter?" asked the sobbing child's mother.

"Mamie Jones is having a birthday party and didn't invite me. Boo-hoo!"

"Oh, well, never mind. Maybe the ice cream will be poisoned and make them all sick."—Chicago Tribune.

A Ship In a Forest.

A few miles from the port of Batavia, in Java, there is a ship in a forest. The ship is actually two miles from its native element. It belonged to a well known trader in the southern seas and was carried far inland by a huge wave which swept over the country during the fearful eruption of Krakatoa. The vessel was borne with terrible force right into the heart of the island, and when the waters receded it was discovered in a dense jungle. There it has remained ever since, an object of curiosity to visitors.

Daring and Dexterous.

For a feat of dexterity and nerve it would be difficult to surpass that of the Bosjesman of South Africa, who walks quietly up to a puff adder and deliberately sets his bare foot on its neck. In its struggles to escape and attempts to bite its assailant the poison gland secretes a large amount of the venom. This is just what the Bosjesman wants. Killing the snake, he eats the body and uses the poison for his arrows.

Nelson in Wolsey's Tomb.

Lord Nelson's sarcophagus in St. Paul's cathedral has been aptly described as a secondhand national tomb, for it was originally constructed for another great Englishman, Cardinal Wolsey. Wolsey had cherished an ambition to be buried within the precincts of Windsor castle and caused his sarcophagus to be carved by one of the most famous sculptors of his time. But Wolsey died in disgrace, and the sarcophagus remained empty at Windsor until Nelson's death, when it was thriftily employed to hold the remains of the hero of Trafalgar.

THE CITY'S PLAIN DUTY

There is no vociferous demand at present being made on the council for a new city hall by the people of North Yakima. At any rate, the taxpayers are not clamoring for that $50,000 municipal building right now.

The city administration would do well just at this time to see how or in what manner some saving might be effected, instead of springing new schemes for the expenditure of municipal money wrong from the people through excessively high taxation.

The city has nearly three years yet to figure on erecting a city hall on the site purchased from Linbarger, so why hurry the matter? The city may require a larger or a very differently arranged building three years hence than it needs now. In short, the logic of the situation is all against hasty action.

There are certain vital things that North Yakima needs just now more than a new city hall. One of these is a new water system, a system that will supply pure water for a population of 50,000 people. Citizens of this town are inclined to shy whenever the great need of a municipal water system is mentioned. They have either dodged or ignored this important issue for years, but it is a problem which, in the nature of things, must be solved sooner or later and the longer it is put off the more difficult and expensive its solution will be, and in the meantime the welfare of the city will suffer. North Yakima's experience with the water question, under corporation management, has been an experience of constant grief and vexation for a period of 20 years, and every citizen who has lived here for that length of time knows it. The issue will never be settled until a municipal system, guaranteeing plenty of pure, healthful and reasonably cheap water has been furnished the people of this city. We may talk and find fault from now until doomsday, but the water question will never be settled until the city has done its duty by the people, no matter whether the cost be one dollar or a million. There will be no great city here, that our boosters are so fond of talking about, until this water question has been settled, and settled right.

And there is another very important municipal problem pressing for settlement that our city council ought not longer to ignore. We have reference to the sewage question. As yet not more than one-third of the area of this city is supplied with sewage facilities. This in itself is a crying shame, but that is not all. The practice, still in vogue, of dumping our sewage into the Yakima river to poison and pollute that stream is a monstrous crime against the people of the lower valley, who must depend upon the river as their only source of water supply. To continue such a practice when we well know that it may bring death and disaster to our fellow men is nothing less than diabolical. The solution of this problem is the establishment of septic tanks, as has frequently been pointed out by the health authorities. It will cost money, yes, of course it will, but what if it does? Will we continue to weigh dollars against human life?

We simply mention these things to suggest to the city fathers that there are some things we need in this town just at present worse than we need a $60,000 city hall.

PURGE THE STATE CAPITOL

The old Republican ship in this, as in other states, has been getting decidedly rotten during late years. By this we mean, of course, the official Republican party. The recent disgusting revelations at Olympia show this to be true. As The Democrat has frequently pointed out, our state government is honeycombed with rottenness, a fact that the people generally are now beginning to wake up to.

Nichols and Schively are merely petty grafters. It is not likely that the state has lost much, if anything, in the way of money through their method of holding up the insurance companies and levying blackmail, for that is what the practice amounted to, for the insurance men were afraid to resist for fear they might be tabooed from doing business in the state. If these men are guilty of crime or malfeasance in office, why are they not prosecuted like other criminals? Why were these men told that if they resigned they would escape prosecution by the state and possible terms in the penitentiary? It looks as though the governor and his party advisers were more intent in getting rid of these disgraced officials and in filling their places with their own friends than in seeing that justice is done. Is the precedent to be established in this state that a public official may steal for years and then escape all responsibility by merely resigning? If that be so, we need not feel surprised if we have thieves in office all the time. Let these grafting officials answer for their crimes in court, just as any common citizen would have to answer.

But at any rate the investigation should proceed until every department of the state government has been carefully examined. As a Seattle exchange remarks, there is every reason to believe that there is still a big mud cat swimming about in the public pool that is responsible for much of the slimy corruption that we observe on the surface. Whether the big mud cat has jurisdiction over the state land department or the auditor's office, is an issue yet to be settled. But the people of the state demand a rigid investigation of both to determine that point.

The Republican party of this state is responsible for every man connected with the state government, except one of the nine judges of the supreme court. If that party does not promptly rid the public service of all the rascals it has placed in positions of authority as soon as they are found guilty, it will inevitably find itself on trial with the voters of the state sitting as a jury.

The party leaders may sneer at the opposition party in this state and think themselves secure. It is, unfortunately, true that the opposition party is weak—and more's the pity. But the opposition to rotten government is not weak when once aroused in this state. This fact was conclusively proved in 1896. History will repeat itself in the state of Washington in 1910 if existing wrongs are not righted by those responsible.

GRANT THE FRANCHISE

The city council should grant the franchise asked for by the North Yakima & Valley road along G street, and it should do so without imposing a lot of unreasonable restrictions calculated to make the franchise valueless or unacceptable. However, it is the duty of the council, of course, in making such a grant to a corporation to properly protect the city's interest for all time to come.

Some of the people who own property adjacent to the proposed right-of-way or in close proximity thereto, are objecting most strenuously to having any railroad there at all, on the theory that its construction through a residence district will damage the value of their property, although many such freely admit the route selected to be the best over which to reach the Moxee.

It is doubtless true that the building of the road may damage these people somewhat, but not likely to the extent they imagine. Certainly the building of any railroad through the limits of a city is very apt to damage somebody. But if no railroads were to be built at all because of the fear of damaging somebody, then the whole community would be damaged; so there is a total lack of logic in that contention.

The G street people would solve the problem by having Mr. Donald take his railroad a block further north and plant it along H street. But that is beating the devil around the bush, for the H street people don't want the "iron horse" on their highway, either, and if that route should be taken they would object vigorously.

The surrounding country needs railroads for development purposes, therefore North Yakima needs the railroads, for the city lives off the tributary country, and it should and must stand for anything that benefits the farming country. Where one man on G street is injured there will be a thousand other people benefitted by the construction of the road. So why should the council hesitate further about granting the franchise?

Individual interests should not be permitted to hamper the interests of the whole community. Let the council do its duty.

That honest and virtuous old lady, the P.-I., is careful to drop the information editorially that "Hamilton is a Democrat." It is immaterial whether he is or not and nobody cares a rap. He is a fool and apparently a thief, and if guilty must take the consequences. Hamilton was an appointee of a Republican governor, therefore the Democratic party of this state is in no wise responsible for him. But the cases of Nichols and Schively, which the P.-I. apparently wishes to divert attention from, are entirely different from that of Hamilton. These men have been high priests in the Republican party and have been conspicuous in its councils for years, though identified with a different faction than that of the P.-I. But the strangest thing is that the Seattle paper, honest and virtuous, mind you, supported both Nichols and Schively for reelection last fall after having denounced them both as being "petty grafters" and unfit to hold high positions. Now it says, "I told you so."

Omo, the republican candidate for mayor of Spokane who was beaten last week, sprung a new scheme on the voters that apparently didn't work the way that he thought it would. Feeling that many of his own party were distrustful of him, Omo announced that if elected he would appoint a cabinet consisting of ten leading citizens whose advice he would take in all matters. The opposition made use of Omo's scheme very much to his disadvantage and the verdict of the people was that they didn't want a man for mayor who had no confidence in his own judgment, hence Omo was beaten by nearly 800 votes.

The Yakima Republic, which, regardless of its professions, has never had any love or veneration for the direct primary, attempts to charge Nichols and Schively up to that institution, which is manifestly unjust. Both men are products of the old spoils system, who, by taking advantage of their positions and the chaotic conditions attendant upon the first trial of the new system, succeeded in securing nominations. The Republic is a newspaper of Hamiltonian tendencies, which doubts the ability of the masses of its own party to choose wisely. But it should be willing to give the average voter a fair chance.

Former Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, who has lectured at several different points in this state during the past fortnight, appears to have made a very favorable impression wherever he has been, judging from press comment. Folk is an able man and of the right sort. It should not surprise anyone if Folk should develop into a most formidable candidate for the presidency in 1912. Three years is quite a long look ahead, but it is most likely that the two leading aspirants for the democratic nomination at that time will be Folk and Johnson, and Mr. Bryan will be under the necessity of choosing between them.

The "booster" club is going to work for 50,000 people in North Yakima. That is a good idea, but the boosters should not confine their labors to that end alone. What is the matter with pulling off our coats and working for public improvements that will make 50,000 people want to live here and nowhere else? For instance, let us boost for a good municipal water system, a greatly extended sewer system and a system of public parks for the city. Also a system of good hard roads for the surrounding country. This is a sort of boosting that will count.

Gov. Hay is apparently a man who wants to do the right thing, but it is clear that he is lacking both in self-confidence and in decision of character. Why should he call on the newspapers of the state for advice as to whether or no it is advisable to call a special session and oust undesirable state officials? The newspapers give him more advice than he knows what to do with without waiting to be asked. Besides it is not safe to take advice from many of the newspapers, for their owners are not all disinterested. A governor who don't know his own mind and his own duties had better resign.

The Yakima valley wants all the railroads it can get, no matter who builds them; whether it be Mr. Donald, Mr. Strahorn or Mr. Rankin. The people wish them all good luck with their different schemes and hope that they may "come through." But life is short at the best, and the present generation wants to see the roads built before they die of old age. This section has the business to give the roads and it wants them now. And it is a sure thing that the roads that are built first will have a big advantage over competitors.

This is the time of year to make your preparations to fight the house fly, now coming to be known generally as the "typhoid" fly. Medical science has now proved beyond a doubt that that pestiferous insect is a disseminator of filth and an agent of death. Keep the abominable fly from breeding on your premises and screen your doors and windows. To be sure, to do this may cost money, but it is cheaper than paying doctor bills and hiring nurses. Typhoid is a preventable disease and an ounce of prevention is worth more than a pound of cure.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, made a speech the other day advocating an income tax, which is said to have been the ablest argument on that subject ever heard in the senate within the memory of the present generation. Borah is a brilliant man and a great lawyer, but he only wasted his eloquence on a senate held in leash by the interests. That body, as now organized, wants no income tax, or any other tax calculated to compel wealth to pay even a tithe of its just share of the expense of government.

Aldrich, the big boss of the senate from little Rhode Island, seems to be the whole works so far as the making of a tariff bill is concerned, or any other business that comes before the "Millionaires club." Aldrich is boss not only because he is placed there for that purpose by the interests, but for the reason that he has the brains and the cunning to play the role of leader successfully. The so-called progressive senators may talk loudly, but when Aldrich cracks the whip they get in line just the same.

Ed Cowen, the very able staff correspondent of the P.-I., is entitled to credit for the good work that he performed in the unmasking of Hamilton, a fact that enabled that paper to "scoop" all competitors. But there are other officers at Olympia that need investigation unless all signs are awry, and Brother Cowen should stay on the job a while longer. There is more work to do along that line and the public will appreciate the man and the newspaper that exhibits the courage to do it.

Ex-Senator Joe Simon is now the Republican candidate for mayor of Portland, having received the nomination from the direct primary. Simon will be remembered as the man, who as senator from Oregon a few years ago, got into a row with one Roosevelt over the matter of patronage and was promptly elected to membership in the latter's Annapolis club. Simon, in his race for mayor, is handicapped by having the enthusiastic support of the Oregonian, a rather heavy load for any man to carry.

Mrs. "Hazel Moore," the charming Seattle woman who played the part of Cleopatra to Hamilton's Antony, has published her history in abbreviated form in Col. Blethen's newspaper. And although brief, it is mighty interesting reading, for it reads like a tale of the far-famed "Arabian Nights." Yet it is evident that "Hazel" touches the subject only in the high places. The climax of her career, the historical first meeting with Hamilton, is left out altogether.

Schively got cold feet while his examination was in progress at Olympia and in order to get a rest from the mental pressure, left the wise committee of solons in session to meditate on his case while he visited the dog show at Portland. If the management of that dog show could only have induced the much advertised Schnively to have placed himself on exhibition he might have proved a great drawing card, though perhaps he would feel more at home at a hog show.

After a blood-sweating experience extending over two months on the part of the Washington delegation, as to which candidate should receive the appointment as United States judge, it appears that a good word from Col. Blethen to President Taft was all that was necessary to procure the appointment for Attorney Donworth of Seattle. At any rate, this is the inference we draw from an editorial in The Times of last Sunday.

Our esteemed neighbor, the Herald, would prefer to continue building railroads on paper during the lonely night watch than to see one built for this community in the good old fashioned way, with timber and iron. But the public has grown weary of these newspaper roads and insists upon something more substantial to ride upon. Yet, it will be a sad day for our daybreak contemporary, we fear, when all our railroads have been finally built.

State Auditor Clausen is said to be another official who needs investigation. When the present inquisition at Olympia began Clausen succeeded in convincing himself that his health was bad and that he needed a course of baths in the healing waters of Soap Lake. No doubt, but it would require something more nagical than even the blessed waters of Soap Lake to cure the itch that affects Clausen's palm.

Ortis Hamilton, late adjutant general of the state of Washington, as he mopes behind prison bars, will have plenty of time to reflect on the folly of his course, folly that has brought ruin to him and shame and grief to his family and friends. And all for the love of a wanton with soft and alluring eyes. No use to preach sermons or print long-winded editorials in such a case as this. It don't do any good.

For some reason our Yakima "Tigers" don't appear to be especially fierce this season. The second drubbing administered last Sunday by the Toppenish bunch of "Indians" indicates that there is something radically wrong with the striped aggregation. There must be a screw loose somewhere, and Col. Payne would do well to find it and remedy matters before any more sweeping challenges are issued.

Hamilton's Seattle "affinity" has kept repeating to the reporters that she is a woman of wealth, that her late husband had left her a considerable fortune, etc., etc. But it is noted that the woman nevertheless did not offer to put up a sou to bail her "dear general" out of jail. "But, say kid, he was a good fellow," was her final comment in addressing a newspaper man. Rather strange that the siren was willing to concede that much.

If all the railroads are to be built in the Yakima valley that the daily papers tell us about it need not surprise us if farm land values soar still higher, for there won't be, we fear, much agricultural land left. But that need not worry the prospective Yakima farmer, for the paper roads won't all go.

Seattle restaurant men have held a meeting and have decided not to raise prices during the exposition. This news at any rate makes good advertising matter. But the probabilities of the case are that they raised the prices to the limit before passing that gratifying resolution.

The esteemed P.-I. for the steenth time solemnly admonishes Schively that he must let go of the "public teat" and clear out. But the obstinate Schively won't let go, for how would the poor man get his living if he were pried loose from his graft?

It is quite apparent now that all the Republican officials at Olympia need investigation. Perhaps the legislative committee needs investigation, too. In that case who will be the man, or what set of men will finish the job?

COUNTY WILL HAVE SPLENDID EXHIBITS

Large List Reported at Meeting of the A.-Y.-P. Committee This Afternoon.

Yakima county will have a large and representative exhibit of the products of the county at the A.-Y.-P. exposition at Seattle this summer. At a meeting of the committee this afternoon, held in the commissioners' room in the court house, Supt. Haasze submitted a report containing a list of those who have already promised to place exhibits in the county building. This list includes:

Washington Nursery company, Toppenish, Sunnyside Nursery company, W. D. Ingalls, Yakima Milling company, Yakima Foundry, Felton-Wimer, Mortland Bros., cement, Rex Spray, Sunnyside Alfalfa Mill company, Wapato Alfalfa Meal company, Horticultural Union, Western Cement & Machinery company, M. Shorn's Shin-O, Weber-Bussell Cannery, Granger Canning company, Anson White, honey, J. B. Bannerman of Moxee Hardware company, Granger Brick company, Cascade Lumber company, Thacker & Smith, W. E. Smith, high school manual training department and other schools of the county, Rudkin dairy, Ahtanum dairy, Marmer the taxidermist, wool, hops, Sunnyside cannery, coal, minerals, wheat, corn, grain, Yakima Iron Works, Yakima City creamery.

This list was compiled hurriedly so that a report might be made at the meeting this afternoon. Many other prospective exhibitors are to be seen, so that there is assurance that all of the space in the county building will be taken, and that the display made by the county will be a credit.

At the meeting this afternoon considerable time was devoted to the matter of publicity. It is hoped to have the advertising booklet ready for distribution on the first big Yakima day, June 11.

The general committee in charge of the subscription reported that very good progress is being made. Almost all the districts have reported, and a special effort will be made to have the funds all collected very soon.

MUST PAY CONTEST COSTS IN ADVANCE

Important Ruling Has Just Been Received By the North Yakima Land Office.

Hereafter all costs in land contests before the local land office must be paid in advance. In the past, under the regulations, the practice has been to pay the costs from time to time during the trial, but from this time forward an estimate must be made and the costs paid in advance or else sufficient security must be deposited. This is the tenor of a new ruling received this morning by Register Saint and Receiver Steinman, which reads as follows:

"Hereafter the estimated cost of reducing to writing all testimony to be taken before the register and receiver in a contest case shall be collected in advance from the contesting parties on the date of the hearing before the hearing is begun, or, under rule 58 of practice, the party liable thereto may be required to give security in advance of the trial by deposit, in a reasonable sum or sums for the payment of the cost of transcribing testimony.

"Receipts will issue for the amounts collected in accordance with paragraph 6, of the departmental order dated June 1, 1908, embraced in the circular of June 10, 1908. If an additional amount above the estimated cost is collected, additional receipts will issue therefor, and the amounts deposited to the official credit of the receiver, as hereinafter directed.

"Moneys so received for will be deposited to the official credit of the receiver of public money as 'unearned fees and other trust funds,' and so held until the complete record of the case, in connection with which deposit has been transcribed and filed in the local land office, when payment may then be made to the contest clerk and the 'net balance,' exclusive of such balance, deposited to the credit of the treasurer of the United States, and any excess amount returned to the proper parties. Report will then be made of such collections and expenditures, as heretofore, upon the 'abstract of collections and expenditures in contest cases.'"

WHERE WORLD'S WORKS OF ART WILL BE HOUSED AT A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

In this building will be exhibited many priceless paintings. The display will represent the art galleries of the world, for many of these pictures will be the work of the old masters, including rare art exhibits from the Corcoran in Washington, the Art Museum in New York, the Chicago Art Institute and from a large number of private galleries of wealthy men in the United States and Europe, who have for years made the collection of famous old paintings their hobby. Paris and London have made large loans.

At the Alaska-Yukon Pacific Exposition the selection of pictures will be limited to the works of men who have been recognized in the great art competitions in all parts of the world. Many American artists will be represented in the display in the Fine Arts Palace at the Exposition and arrangements have already been made for the shipping of these valuable paintings from art institutes of this country to Seattle.

G. L. Berg, art director of the Exposition, has visited all of the leading galleries of the United States, collecting the pictures suitable for display at Seattle, and writes that the pictures already loaned will constitute one of the greatest art displays assembled for international exhibition.

The Fine Arts Building is a fireproof structure and was one of the first buildings completed on the Exposition Grounds. It cost more than $200,000 to erect the building.

and wife, Chas. and Dick Dillon went to Toppenish Sunday to take in the ball game.

The box social held at the school house Friday evening was well attended. Miss Hattie Chandler's basket was sold for the highest price, it being $4.50.

Chas. Palmer and wife of Parker called on Friends Tuesday.

Little Lennie Newburg and Dortha Walters entertained a few friends at a tea party at their homes, it being their birthdays. Both little ladies received many pretty presents.

Mrs. James Young and cousin, Mrs. Hattie Duncan, left for Sunnyside Wednesday for a few days' visit.

Tigers Got Walloped.

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Toppenish	4	1	800
North Yakima	2	2	500
Ellensburg	1	2	333
Prosser	2	4	333

The Toppenish "Indians" took the North Yakima Tigers into camp for the second time last Sunday in the game played in the reservation town and "stripes" came quietly home with his tail between his caudal extremities. A large crowd was present to see the contest, many going down on the special from this city, about 400 rooters in all.

The Tigers were in bad form, due probably to a lack of field practice. Nelson and Chisholm formed the battery for the Tigers, but the work on the whole was not up to the standard. Kohls distinguished himself by scoring the only home run made. The day was very windy and the air filled with flying dust annoyed the players.

The Ellensburg aggregation met with defeat at Prosser the same day. The Prosser team has recently been much strengthened and are now in condition to put up a strong game.

Toppenish plays again in North Yakima tomorrow.

Contesting the Land

Valuable clay deposits suitable for the manufacture of pottery and stone ware, pressed and vitrified brick and terra cotta, have been found on land near Sunny-side, according to contest papers which have been filed in the United States land office against the homestead entry of Miss M. V. Whitney. Lawson E. Thomas made a homestead entry on the land, which was contested later by Miss Whitney. Thomas relinquished his claim and Miss Whitney filed. The protestants in the new action claim that the land is wholly mineral in character and therefore not subject to entry under the homestead laws.

Scoville Meetings Close.

The Scoville revival meetings at the Christian church closed last Sunday night with a record of 600 converts made during the stay of the great evangelist here. Another very important work performed by Rev. Scoville was raising in one day the sum of $25,000 with which to discharge the debt against the church and equip the sanctuary with a high class pipe organ.

Rev. Scoville delivered a powerful closing address in which he made an earnest plea for more converts, the call to come forward being answered by many in the audience surging forward through the crowd to reach the great preacher.

In closing Mr. Scoville expressed thanks for himself and party for the kindness and good will extended them by the people of this city and expressed a hope that he might be enabled to visit Yakima again. The Scoville party left early Monday morning to fill another engagement in the east.

A Tacoma delegation received a promise from Mr. Scoville to fix a revival date in that city during 1910.

Scudder-Moran

The most brilliant society wedding of the season in North Yakima was celebrated at the Congregational church Wednesday evening when Ensign Randolph Perry Scudder, U. S. N., was united in the bonds of matrimony to Miss Marjorie Fairchild Moran, a charming young woman of this city. The handsome groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Scudder and is a great-grandson of Commodore Oliver Perry. The fair bride is the eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moran, also well known pioneers of this city. As the contracting parties were so well and favorably known in local social circles the wedding had been looked forward to with much interest. The romance, which culminated in a happy wedding, began at Seattle last summer, with the arrival of the fleet, the young man being an officer on the torpedo boat destroyer Lawrence. He is a graduate of the United States naval academy at Annapolis.

The newly wedded couple after the ceremony at the church were driven to the home of the bride's parents, where an elaborate reception was held, at which society was well represented. The couple left the following day on a bridal tour of a week, after which they will return here for a short visit and then repair to San Francisco, where Ensign Scudder is stationed. Hundreds of friends wish them a happy and prosperous married life.

T. W. Howell who has been on the sick list is improving.

Miss Zethra Alexander, of Toppenish, visited with her brother and family, Dr. C. B. Alexander, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Pacins returned from North Yakima Monday, where they have been visiting for several days.

Mrs. Hubert Strong is visiting relatives for a few days.

THE FINE ARTS PALACE, A-Y-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

Into the Palace of Fine Arts there has gone as fine a collection of works of art as has ever been shown at a world's fair. It is made up of loan collections from Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and the Eastern states of America. Also there are valuable specimens of work by the leading modern artists of Japan and China, and many of the more notable works of their ancient artists.

So valuable is the collection that insurance in the sum of $1,225,000 has been placed upon it with Lloyds.

The building is absolutely fireproof. It is of reinforced concrete and brick and, at the end of the Exposition, it will revert to the University of Washington, by which it will be used as a School of Chemistry.

Yukon Avenue is one of the many ways leading to the Court of Honor of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. It leads from the Cascades down to one of the many entrances to the Pay Streak and directly to the "café center" of the Fair Grounds.

All of these structures were completed before December 1, 1908. They are of the conventional exposition type of construction—plaster staff over heavy wooden framework.

"TALK OF THE TOWN"

High Class Production to be Presented by University Club May 21.

"The Talk of the Town," a musical extravaganza comprising an ensemble of 65 local people, included among whom will be found the leading singers of the city, is to be presented here at the Yakima theatre on the night of Friday, May 21. This production is given under the auspices of the University club, and the proceeds to be derived therefrom will be used as a nucleus fund for the permanent organization of the club.

Dan McDonald, a noted coach of amateur theatricals from the east, has charge of the local show and having had unlimited experience with undertakings of this character, and having gathered around him for the present production one of the most efficient casts, according to his opinion, that he has ever worked with, there is every indication of success smiling upon next Friday night's show.

Many of the well known local stars will appear in principal roles on the night of this performance. Miss Doris Arrowsmith, the leading soprano singer of the city; Mrs. E. J. Bryant, a daring little soubrette of unequalled attainments in this line; Herman Crawford, the banker baritone; Dr. Vern Wight, a cultivated baritone; Warren A. Erwin, tenor; Miss Dora Swan, eminent contralto, Miss Clarice McLaughlin, soprano, of Seattle, and others of equal prominence will appear before the footlights on this occasion.

University men throughout the entire valley will be present on the night of the entertainment. All the boxes will be occupied by the various fraternities, and these will be decorated in college colors.

The University club play will probably be the chief social event of the year. The elite society of the city is taking part, and the youth and beauty of the feminine chorus alone is calculated to quicken the pulse of any one with a spark of enthusiasm. Think of it. There will be 40 of the most beautiful girls that ever tripped the light fantastic before the footlights, all magnificently gowned, and innocently, but probably flirtatiously inclined, singing and dancing in the presence of an audience that is sure to pack the Yakima Theatre.

The whole valley is waiting expectantly, anxiously and with anticipations of the very best for this musical production, which has already won a deservedly popular name in all the leading cities of the east.

YOUNG MAN DROWNED IN UPPER NACHES

Cable Broke and Dropped J. A. Palmer Into Turbulent River to His Death.

John A. Palmer, of Nile, on the upper Naches, was drowned Tuesday evening while attempting to cross the Naches river in going from the postoffice to his home. His body was brought to North Yakima last evening and interred in the Yakima City Cemetery this morning.

Though only 18 years of age, the boy was very large and heavy. In crossing the river he was using one of the small bucket-and-cable arrangements which are common along the streams and when he was about midway between the two banks the cable broke, precipitating him into the water. The Naches has been high lately and the young man had little or no chance for his life. The accident was unobserved and the body was not found until the next day at noon; it had drifted fully two miles from the scene of the accident.

The Nile residents point to this accident as another proof of the crying need of the bridge across the Naches at that point to which they have been calling attention for months. They insist that a bridge in the center of the Nile valley is necessary for the furnishing of proper school and mail facilities and for the protection of human life.

INDIANS WILL BE PIOUS

Two Big Religious Revivals in Progress on the Yakima Reservation.

The wave of religious enthusiasm which struck North Yakima some weeks ago seems to have penetrated into the wilds of the Yakima Indian reservation. Two of the churches near Fort Simcoe are just now holding big revivals which are drawing Christian red men from all over the 360 square miles which the reservation embraces. The more pretentious of the two revivals is in charge of a party of 40 or 50 Nez Perce Indians from the Idaho reservation who are now advocating John Wesley's Presbyterian doctrine among the Yakimas and Klickitats. These Indians have been coming to the nearby reservation regularly each summer for years. They camp near the church at which their services are held and there is a continued period of religious activity from the day they arrive until the day they depart.

The other revival is being held by the peculiar sect called the Shakers, who have churches throughout the reservation. They were in continuous session all day yesterday.

DELEGATES TO SPOKANE.

Representatives to the Irrigation Congress Named by Commissioners.

Prof. B. F. Barge of North Yakima, W. D. Thompson of Naches and George Davenport of Belma will represent Yakima county at the irrigation congress to be held in Spokane this summer. These men were appointed at the session of the county commissioners which was held this morning.

The representatives from this county to the Conservation meeting at Walla Walla will be named by the commissioners at an early date.

The county commissioners this morning called for bids for a bridge to be constructed over the Sunnyside canal at the Ross crossing. These bids will be opened at the meeting of the commissioners to be held on June 2.

ESTIMATES ON SUBWAY.

City Attorney Is Still Waiting to Hear What N. P. Will Do.

Councilman M. Schorn, who has become imbued with the idea of a subway at Chestnut street to cross the Northern Pacific tracks, has received an estimate of the expense that would be incurred to open this street to the west side. City Engineer Doolittle has just prepared a rough estimate which gives the expenditure of a subway 10 feet deep and 70 feet wide at $80,000. A subway nine feet deep would cost $58,000.

The question of a subway for Chestnut street was taken up with the Northern Pacific by City Attorney Frank Allen several weeks ago. He wrote an explanatory letter to the proper officials of the road, but up to date has received no reply from the Northern Pacific as to what it will do. It is believed that the Northern Pacific can be compelled to construct the subway at its own expense, or the most of it, by members of the council, but the railroad company has not announced its side of the case. As the city attorney has received no reply from near headquarters of the railroad it is presumed that his communication is going the route of those that are mailed to the local agent and forwarded all along the line to superiors and super-superiors until it eventually returns to the writer, years later, bound in book form, with one brief line from the president of the road that there is "nothing doing."

COWICHE

Cowiche is rapidly coming to the front. Standing on a plateau overlooking the valley, one can see numerous new dwellings and improvements that have taken place the past few months, some of which would do credit to a modern city. This is only a beginning and we are not backward in saying that this valley will rank first in the not far distant future.

The new church which has been under construction for some time is nearing completion and dedicatory services will be held on Sunday, May 23. Through the untiring zeal of Rev. Heinrich, of the Evangelical church, this edifice has been constructed and Cowiche can boast of one of the neatest little houses of worship in the Yakima valley.

The Ladies' Aid will give a social in the new church Friday evening at 8 o'clock. A good time is anticipated. Everybody is invited.

The Messrs. Ed. Charles and L. E. Smith and their families attended the funeral of their mother, who died in North Yakima Friday evening. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved relatives.

The Inland Lumber company and the Cowiche Lumber company are running full blast and are furnishing all kinds of building material to this valley and North Yakima.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

Brief Record of Local Happenings for the Week in North Yakima and Vicinity.

The Kittitas board of county commissioners has at last granted the electric road franchise petitioned for by Frank E. Farquhar over the county road from the town of Cle Elum to a point near the head of Lake Cle Elum, a distance of 12 miles above Roslyn. The franchise was granted finally in deference to wishes of the people in that portion of the county. Mr. Farquhar is believed to be the representative of the Milwaukee road, which is desirous of tapping the rich Cle Elum quartz mining district with such a branch line. It is said that construction work will begin at once.

Miss Inez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. Gervais of Yakima City, died Saturday after a long illness with tuberculosis, against which the young woman made a determined but losing fight. The young woman was 24 years of age. Her parents are among the old pioneers of the Yakima valley.

The annual meeting of the Catholic order, Knights of Columbus, was held this week at Walla Walla, convening Tuesday. The local lodge was well represented, Dr. T. Tetreau and J. A. McArthur being the regularly accredited delegates.

T. D. Quinn left here Monday for points in eastern Oregon and southern Idaho to look over the country. He will probably be absent about three weeks.

Mrs. Edward Whitson and daughter, Miss Marian, are visiting friends in North Yakima, having arrived from Spokane Monday.

Lucian Charron and Miss Florida Raby, both of North Yakima, secured a license to wed Monday.

Mrs. Frank Hunter of Spokane is here on a visit to her sister, Mrs. W. A. Cox.

The engagement of Miss Alice Remy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Remy, of Fruitvale, to Mr. Chester Mille, is announced. The wedding, it is understood, will occur during the latter part of the present month. Miss Remy is a most estimable young lady who grew to womanhood here and is deservedly popular among all who have enjoyed her acquaintance. The young lady has been very prominent for years in the work of the Epworth League.

Alice M. Lindsey has brought an action for divorce against her husband, John M. Lindsey. The couple were married as far back as 1907, and the wife in her complaint accuses the husband of undue intimacy with other women. There are no children and no community property, other than the sum of $1,000 on deposit in the coffers of the First National bank of Toppenish, which institution the fair plaintiff has made a party to the suit.

Attorney Vestal Snyder now sports an automobile. He has been freely complimented as the first lawyer in town to secure a "bubble wagon."

Attorney Ira M. Krutz has at last attained a most high and honorable ambition and one that he has waited for for years. He received a telegram from his son-in-law, Mr. Griggs, at Bellingham, Monday bearing the happy tidings that he, Mr. Krutz, is a grandfather. "Just think of it," said the genial attorney to his cronies, "a grandfather at 38." Mr. Krutz took the train the same day for Bellingham to join Mrs. Krutz and have a look at the youngster.

John Cameron, who sold his ranch on the Wenas a few weeks ago, left Monday for southern California to look over that country.

H. C. Davis, of the Moxee, arrived home Monday morning from Syracuse, N. Y., with a carload of 16 head of young thoroughbred Holstein cows, which he purchased at a famous stock farm in New York jointly for himself and E. B. Marks, of the Ahtanum. The cattle arrived all in good condition, as did also Mr. Davis, after the long trip across the continent. The new bunch will make a splendid addition to the fine herds of Messrs. Davis and Marks.

The club women of Yakima county will keep the Yakima county building at the exposition beautifully decorated with potted plants, ferns, growing and cut flowers during the entire time of the exposition. There will be especially elaborate decorations on Yakima days, June 11 and September 22. Mrs. W. L. Lemon of this city has been elected chairman of the committee in charge, and all of the club women of the county will cooperate in the work. Each club woman in North Yakima will contribute $1 and other club women in the smaller towns will donate in proportion. Special committees will be on hand throughout the exposition to keep up the work.

A deal was made last week whereby the Mabton Chronicle passed into the hands of two North Yakima men. Mr. Pacius, the former owner and editor of the paper, has decided to retire from the newspaper business. Mr. John Rankin has taken charge of the plant.

Former Governor Mead announces that under the circumstances of the present scandals in Olympia, he will not be able to accept the "attractive offer" of an appointment as successor to Secretary of State Nichols. It would certainly be an "attractive" picture to have a former governor of Washington occupying a subordinate position in the state house merely on account of the salary and we trust that there will be no succeeding reasons why Mr. Mead cannot accept.—Seattle Times.

North Yakima school students have been asked to submit competitive designs for the official badge of the Five Thousand club. A. B. Cline is chairman of the committee which will award the prize for the design selected.

Honor students of the graduating class of the North Yakima high school are Miss Mattie Oertel, Ernest Wiley, Miss Elsie McCullough, Miss Faye Beam and Miss Bertha Greenhalgh. Miss Oertel will deliver the class valedictory and the salutatorian will be Ernest Wiley. The graduating class will number some 25 pupils.

Messrs. Hatfield and Lee, Toppenish attorneys, were in the city of legal business Wednesday.

The Irrigation Age of current issue contains a well written article on federal reclamation and fruit growing in the Yakima valley from the very able pen of Dr. Granville Lowther.

Workmen on Thursday began tearing down the charred remnant of the old Guiland house, which burned last week, to make way for a handsome three-story brick structure which the owner of the property, Patrick Mullins, will erect on the site this season.

Edward S. Curtis of cattle has completed his work on collecting data on the Yakima Indian reservation concerning the Yakima and Klickitat Indians. He will close his camp tomorrow. While on the reservation he has secured many photographs which he will incorporate into his history. During his stay at Fort Simcoe, on the reservation, Mr. Curtis' camp has been visited by hundreds of Indians, and he has photographed and had talks with all of the old timers.

North Yakima will entertain the Pacific Northwest Shriners when they pass through here on their special train on June 2, en route for the meeting of the imperial council at Louisville. The delegates from the temples at Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Victoria will be on the train, which will stop here for about three hours. Every automobile in the city will be pressed into service and the visitors will be given a ride through the city and the surrounding fruit country. When they depart they will carry away several boxes of Yakima apples.

L. H. Clogg of Brooklyn, N. Y., is in the city on one of his periodical visits looking after his property interests here. He is the owner of the Clogg block on Yakima avenue.

Marriage licenses were issued Tuesday to Randolph Scudder and Miss Marjorie Moran, both of this city, and to Arthur W. Ham and Miss Regina J. Stowell. The latter couple reside at Grandview.

TOPPENISH INDIGNANT

Change of Route of North Coast to East Side of River Not Relished in Reservation Town.

The people of Toppenish were all agog this week over the sudden change in the announced plan of building operations by the North Coast. The public statement of President Strahorn that he would build the main line of the North Coast from Granger to North Yakima created both consternation and excitement in the reservation metropolis.

Much of the trade and shipping business that supports Toppenish comes from the east side of the river, including the rich fruit country around Zillah. The business men and property owners of Toppenish were quick to see that the new railroad on that side would, with a shipping point at Zillah, prove a deadly blow to the prosperity of their own town. As a result they proceeded to get busy and President Strahorn was, of course, the first man they went for.

Mr. Strahorn, it is stated, informed the Toppenish delegation appointed to investigate the matter by the Commercial club, that he had decided to build his main line on the east side since the logic of the present situation compelled him to do so. But Toppenish nevertheless would be well taken care of, he said, as his road would construct a branch line through that city from Sunnyside, or Granger to Fort Simcoe. This plan, of course, is not as satisfactory to the Toppenish people as the original one, which would have placed the main line close to that live town.

The original North Coast line was lost but it seems that nothing can be done about three-fourth of a mile east of Toppenish. This fact was the cause of a good deal of activity in real estate and set the town to growing lively in that direction, a number of handsome business blocks being erected. The owners of this property are inclined to feel that they have hardly been given a square deal by reason of this eleventh hour decision to change the route of the North Coast.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
