The above is the ticket nominated by the republican county convention which assembled in this city Saturday, Aug. 23, a day never to be forgotten by a number of local politicians. As was predicted by the DEMOCRAT some time since, the convention was controlled by the Jones-Englehart faction, which means in effect that it is an Ankeny victory over Wilson. It means also that Hon. W. L. Jones is a candidate for the U. S. senate, conditioned, of course, on the support of the Ankeny faction. In other words, Jones will be a candidate, with the support of the Yakima delegation, should only fail of election before the legislature. As was announced in the DEMOCRAT two weeks ago, this is the essence of the deal as arranged between Messrs. Jones and Englehart.

In order to carry out this scheme, it became necessary to shut out at the primaries a number of the leading lights of the republican party in this county whom it was feared would interfere with the plans of the bosses. Adherents of John L. Wilson, particularly, were marked for slaughter, and the Wilson men—barring Dilley, the nominee for sheriff—received no consideration at the hands of the convention. This action completely reverses the position of Yakima republicans, as this county has been recognized as a Wilson stronghold. To say that the action of the convention and the arbitrary policy of the bosses is unsatisfactory to the rank and file of the party, is certainly putting the case mildly.

For several hours during the early part of the day, a number of delegates, mostly from the country, who were opposed to the slated program of the Englehart faction, worked with the view of securing a coalition of forces that would not only beat the machine, but would arrange an equitable division of the offices among the various sections of the county. At one time it looked as though votes enough had been secured to accomplish this, but Englehart, himself, neatly nipped the scheme in the bud during the noon hour by diverting to himself enough of their votes to defeat the proposed combine. The opposition slate contained the names of Dudley for senator, Reed and Gloyd for representatives, Moore of Prosser for county attorney and Wiley for sheriff. All of these gentlemen, however, except Moore, whose name was not presented, suffered defeat under the most exasperating circumstances at the hands of the convention.

THE CONVENTION.

The convention was called to order at the armory about 11 a. m. by Chairman S. J. Cameron of the county central committee, the delay being caused by the late arrival of the delegates from "Riverside." The chairman, in opening the convention, delivered a brief speech in which he eulogized the party generally and gave the convention a lot of good advice, which the assembled delegates proceeded to disregard as soon as they got down to business. H. B. Scudder was elected chairman by acclamation and Geo. S. Hough, secretary. On motion, committees of five members each were appointed on credentials, order of business, and platform, after which the convention adjourned till 1:30 p. m.

On reassembling, the committee on credentials reported 124 delegates entitled to seats in the convention. The report of the committee on platform was then read and adopted, with the only approach to enthusiasm manifested by the convention. The order of business adopted having provided that nominations begin with state senator, the chairman, who was bent on doing business, promptly called forth in stentorian tones for nominations for that office.

Capt. Thomas interrupted the regular order at this juncture by reading a resolution demanding a distribution of offices according to population. The speaker said that North Yakima, with but one fourth the population of the county, as usual, wanted to gobble all the offices, and in the cause of fairness and justice he opposed this spirit of hogghishness.

Capt. Thomas made an eloquent plea in behalf of his resolution, but Lawyer Whitson got the floor and knocked it out on a point of order. The incident, however, raised a ripple of laughter among both delegates and spectators, who realized not only the justice, but the humor embodied in the captain's complaint.

Edward Whitson was first recognized, and in a brief but eloquent speech nominated Ira P. Englehart. A. J. Lewis, the old veteran of the Cowychee, performed the same office for Walter J. Reed, who, he said, was an old soldier, a friend of the common people, and a man who was not a shyster politician. J. E. Shannon then presented the name of W. B. Dudley, who, he said, is a business man of unimpeachable integrity and splendid ability. John Cleman, in seconding the nomination of Dudley, stated that he was authorized to withdraw the name of W. J. Reed. The voting then began, and the first ballot settled the matter, giving Englehart 65, Dudley 58 and Reed 1. While the vote was being counted a death-like stillness reigned in the big convention hall. When the chairman announced that Englehart was the nominee, the supporters of that gentleman gave vent to their joy with a mighty yell. Mr. Shannon, on behalf of the defeated candidate, moved to make the nomination unanimous. The motion was put and carried through, though many of the delegates sulked in their seats.

The chairman then called for nominations for two representatives. He explained that both would be voted for in the same ballot, and that 65 votes would be required to nominate. C. W. Nash nominated W. B. Dudley, D. E. Lesh nominated W. H. Hare, Captain Thomas named W. J. Reed, Jos. Lannin named S. J. Harrison and subsequently withdrew his candidate, I. E. Moore presented the name of F. H. Gloyd of Prosser, while A. J. Lewis performed the same service for Robert Dunn. The balloting then began, with the following results:

First ballot—Dunn 80, Hare 53, Dudley 44, Reed 40, Gloyd 31. Capt. Dunn having received the requisite majority, was declared one of the nominees, and a second ballot was ordered.

Second ballot—Hare 54, Dudley 31, Gloyd 20, Reed 19; no choice.

Third ballot—Hare 60, Dudley 40, Gloyd 19, Reed 5; no choice.

Fourth ballot—Hare 66, Dudley 57, Gloyd 1. Hare having received a majority on this ballot, was declared the second nominee for the legislature, amid the cheers of the dominant faction. Hare's nomination was brought about only after the most herculean efforts on the part of the machine workers. Country delegations were besieged in their seats, argued with and cajoled until the required number of votes were secured to pull the genial doctor through. The announcement of his success was greeted with cheers by his friends in the city delegations.

For prosecuting attorney W. P. Guthrie's name was the only one presented, and he was nominated by acclamation to succeed himself. The smooth-tongued William had evidently talked his two competitors, Thompson and Moore, out of the race.

The chairman then declared the election of 16 delegates to the state convention at Tacoma, Sept. 10, as the next order of business, and at once a number of delegates were on their feet, clamoring for recognition, in order, presumably, to nominate each other. Capt. Thomas, however, secured the floor and began to speak. He said it would be merely an act of courtesy, that was customary, to allow Hon. W. L. Jones to name the delegates. At this suggestion such a howl of disapproval went up that nobody had the courage to second the motion. John Cleman said that if the convention did not know enough to elect its own delegates, it had better adjourn and go home, and others echoed this opinion. Mr. Lesh then proceeded to pour oil on the troubled waters by saying that Mr. Jones did not care to name the delegates, anyway, and thus prevented an open fight. The convention having decided to ignore Mr. Jones, proceeded to elect the 16 delegates, and for a time there was an unseemly scramble to get names on the slate. A number more were nominated than were needed, and the chairman, in order to facilitate business, kept repeating that it would be both a gracious and a grateful act for a number of those nominated to withdraw their names as aspirants. Finally a number of gentlemen took the hint and politely declined the proffered honor, until the aggregation was whittled down to the required number, 16. At the head of the delegation stands the honored name of the colonel of the Republic. The following is the roster of the delegates to the state convention, among whom, it will be observed, are some enemies of Congressman Jones: W. W. Robertson, W. I. Lince, A. J. Lewis, D. E. Lesh, R. K. Nichols, W. L. Womack, S. J. Cameron, C. W. Chamberlain, Wallace Wiley, Edw. Whitson, W. L. Wright, G. J. Hill, C. S. Bilger, H. G. Guild, John Cleman, S. J. Harrison.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

While the republican candidates for the legislature in this county were not instructed by the convention to vote for any particular candidate for U. S. senator and have made no public pledges on that question, it is, nevertheless, a very fair inference that if elected they will support the candidacy of Levi Ankeny. To any close observer of local politics this fact is clearly evident. There are plenty of straws floating about to indicate the truth of this assertion. While this paper does not pose as a prophet, still it is worth while to remember that we have correctly foretold many times in the past just what line of policy the local republicans would adopt. A few of our republican friends pooh-poohed when the DEMOCRAT asserted three weeks ago that an alliance had been arranged between Messrs. Jones and Englehart, giving the terms of the deal; yet the result of Saturday's convention showed that we were right. The friends of John L. Wilson, who refused to believe that any such deal had been made, found themselves up against the proposition on the floor of the convention—that is, all such as were able to survive the slaughter at the primaries.

The DEMOCRAT, encouraged by previous successes, will now make this prediction: That Messrs. Englehart, Hare and Dunn, if elected, while ostensibly for Jones, will, as a matter of fact, support and vote for the Wallace candidate for the senatorship. Watch this prediction and see if it doesn't come true.

The unhappy Col. Boyle, of the Washingtonian, laments the necessity that compels him to support the party ticket nominated by the r. g. and intimates that he does so under severe pressure. Of course, it is too bad. The colonel is entitled to public sympathy for the gallant fight he made in the interest of morality and for purity in local affairs. But, alas! 'twas ever thus in politics.

The mental giant of the Washingtonian, strange to relate, has just discovered what others months ago foresaw would happen. Until he shall have done works meet for repentance he must be content with his dish of crow and crumbs that may perchance fall from the table of the jolly banqueters. Even the dogs, with their accustomed sympathy, may refuse to lick the sores received in battle in behalf of a righteous cause.

Meanwhile the powerful philippics of the fallen leader, hurled with deadly venom at the massive bosom of the chief procurator, fade away into the misty depths of oblivion—unless perchance rescued by a friendly hand to again do service in the cause of political purity. But let us turn away from the sad spectacle.

That the hopes of the local democracy have been largely augmented as the result of the late republican convention, it would be useless to deny, for there is a well defined scent of coming victory in the air.

Democrats, however, and especially those seeking places on the ticket, should not deceive themselves with the idea that the party has any chance to win unless it deserves to win. It must put forward men for public office who have the respect and confidence of the people and the ability to satisfactorily fill the positions to which they aspire. The party in this county should not fail to give to the taxpayers a sincere pledge that its nominees, if elected, will give the people a better and more economical service than the republican officials have given in the past two years or will give in the next two, if elected. This is a time when the party cannot afford to make mistakes.

In a recent interview Speaker Henderson declared that the republicans were never so united as they are today, and that had no party prevails throughout the party leadership. Walter Wellman, the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald, in a dispatch to his paper, under date of August 12, said some things that are not calculated to sustain Mr. Henderson's claim. Mr. Wellman says: "Grave and reverend senators who in interviews pronounce for Roosevelt's nomination have been known to damn him most vigorously in private conversation. One senator who recently said in an interview that there would be no opposition to the president, who had earned the approval of the party and country, privately declares that Mr. Roosevelt is a 'pernicious young upstart.'"

Elsewhere in this paper appears the call of the democratic county central committee for the party primaries and convention. The committee, which met last Saturday, called the primaries for Saturday, Sept. 6, and the convention Saturday, Sept. 13, one week later. The apportionment is based on one delegate for every ten votes cast at the election of 1900 for the late Gov. John R. Rogers. All democrats, as well as others who desire to affiliate with the democratic party in the approaching campaign, should make it a point to attend the primaries in their respective precincts and aid in the selection of a delegation of representative, level-headed men to attend the county convention.

While the Hon. W. L. Jones was a very potent factor in shaping the deliberations of the republican county convention, still, strange to relate, he was but very little in evidence. The convention endorsed his candidacy for a third term, but angrily resented the suggestion to permit Mr. Jones name to the delegation to the state convention. Neither was the congressman invited at any stage of the proceedings to address the convention, as has been his custom in the past. The convention was, of course, dominated by Jones & Englehart, but it would not acknowledge the corn.

The republican legislative and county ticket is now before the people. With but few exceptions it is a machine-made article, although it contains the names of some fairly representative citizens. When we consider the bitterness and lack of harmony that has existed within the local organization for several months past, it is not surprising that a stronger ticket was not named. The leaders have evidently gone on the theory that this is a "yellow dog" year, and that anybody could be elected whom they placed on the ticket. In this they may be reckoning without their host. There is a growing spirit of independence in the mind of the average American voter, and a growing dislike of bossism and machine methods.

SEVERAL of the delegates from the east end were free to state before leaving for their homes that the result of the action taken by the state convention would have the inevitable effect of strengthening the demand for county division. In fact, several delegates who have heretofore opposed division or have been lukewarm on the subject, announced that hereafter they would openly favor that policy. The reason given for their change of heart is, uniformly, that they are now satisfied that they never could expect to receive justice at the hands of the political clique in this city which dominates the affairs of Yakima county.

EMPHATICALLY we declare that Hon. Geo. Turner should succeed himself, and the Dawn will support no candidate, knowingly, for the legislature who will not pledge his unqualified support to return him to the senate. We are not paid for our support to Mr. Turner; neither is it because of any family or blood relation, but because we think him the ablest and most competent man for the position in the state.—Ellensburg Dawn (Ind.)

Of the fourteen places to be filled on the county ticket, the republicans of this town gobbled ten. They would probably have made it twelve if they had not been prohibited from doing so by the boundaries of the commissioners' districts. Still, North Yakima contains within its limits less than one-fourth the population of Yakima county. Is it any wonder that some people are clamoring for county division?

YAKIMA certainly has contributed her share of the large crowds that have attended the Elks' carnival at Seattle, which closes today. Over 400 from this city took advantage of the low excursion rate and went over to the metropolis Tuesday. Probably half that number from here had previously attended the big street show. Will Seattle do as well at the State Fair this fall?

THE editor of the Republic, by reason of his warm espousal of Mr. Englehart's candidacy for the senate, is forever estopped from again using that shopworn phrase of his that "all republicans look alike to the Republic." The ghost of the Reed boom will always appear to give the lie to that statement if it is ever employed again.

ONE or two young men who sat in the late convention are said to have been so thoroughly squeezed between two powerful but opposing interests that they are reported to have sworn an eternal vow that they would never let it happen again. Moral:—Keep out of trouble, and especially political trouble, whenever you can.

THE old-timers, according to the Washingtonian, supported Mr. Reed in the convention. That is probably quite true, and for that reason Mr. Reed's candidacy failed, as there was not enough of that element that had votes. The legislative combine shut them off at the primaries.

Geo. S. COURTER should be given due credit for the good generalship displayed by him at the primaries. George is certainly entitled to consideration, for had it not been for his masterly activity his principal might have been a few votes short at the critical moment.

HON. NELSON RICH of Prosser and Rev. S. J. Harrison of Sunnyside, both of whom were prospective candidates for the legislature, were shut out at the primaries in their own precincts. Verily, "the prophet is not without honor, save in his own country."

COL. MILES CANNON is said to be in the position of the man who suddenly awakened, to find that he had been only dreaming. Miles has been dreaming, too; not of heaven but of a Wilson legislative delegation. But, alas! the dream has been shattered.

THE machine, on the whole, worked very smoothly at Saturday's convention, although it slipped a cog or two. Editor Robertson, while not himself a delegate, carried the oil can and administered the lubricant when it was needed.

YAKIMA people never fail to liberally patronize the attractions held in other towns, as witness the great crowd of sight-seers that joined the excursion to the Seattle Elks' Carnival this week.

THERE will be no more Elk carnivals after the present year. The supreme lodge of that popular order has given it out flat that the carnival business must stop after Jan. 1, 1903.

THE Seattle P. I. of Tuesday contained an admirable write-up of the Yakima valley. In fact it is one of the best we have read in late years.

THAT federal judgeship looks to be a good many kilometers nearer than it did a few weeks ago.

Subscribe for the Democrat.

The DEMOCRAT is receiving additions daily in the way of new subscribers, but we want more. The DEMOCRAT is the only democratic paper published in Yakima county. It aims to advocate nothing but Simon pure democracy, and for that reason is entitled to the support of those who believe in democratic principles without being put to the necessity of asking for it. Our republican friends who are not already readers of this paper should become subscribers in order to understand both sides of local politics. A man who refuses to read both sides of a controversy must necessarily be not only narrow minded, but bigoted in opinion.

The subscription price of the DEMOCRAT is but $1 per year or 50 cents for six months. If you are not already a subscriber try it for half a year at any rate and get the news of the local campaign.

For Sheriff.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Yakima county, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention to assemble in the city of North Yakima Sept. 13.
ISAAC B. TAYLOR.

Local Postoffice Changes.

Capt. Will Lemon will take charge of the North Yakima postoffice next Monday, Sept. 1, his bond having been approved. As previously announced, Geo. S. Hough will take the position of Fred L. Chandler as assistant postmaster. Mr. Chandler, however, has agreed to remain for one month longer, or until the new officers have learned the routine of the office.

Mr. Chandler has under consideration the offer of a clerkship, that carries with it an annual salary of $1400, in the office of Internal Revenue Collector Crocker at Tacoma. The tender of the office was made through Congressman Jones, who now seems to realize that some recognition is due Chandler.

Incorporation Papers Filed.

The Yakima Valley Central Railway company filed its articles of incorporation this week. The papers filed state that the capital stock of the new corporation is $2,500,000, divided into shares of $100 each. Five trustees—J. F. McNaught, A. J. Splawn, O. A. Fechter, Alex. Miller and G. S. Rankin—are named, to serve until the first annual meeting of the stockholders, to convene in December next.

The articles state that the purpose and object of the incorporation is to build, equip and operate lines of electric railways in Yakima county as follows: From N. Yakima to Sunnyside; from N. Yakima to Soda Springs, and from N. Yakima to a point about 17 miles up the Natchez. A branch line up the Cowich valley is also mentioned in the papers. The articles further state that the company proposes to operate a system of street railways in this city, and also to develop and hold for sale both water and electric power.

A Week's Engagement.

Wiedmann's big show, an attraction well known to our theater goers, opens a week's engagement at the Larson theater, Monday, Sept. 1, presenting the successful act comedy, "My California Home," a story of the west written by Chas. T. Dazy. The vaudeville bill this year is very strong. The prices for this engagement are entire lower floor and balcony, 30 cents; gallery, 20 cents; children in gallery, 10 cents.

The following is from the Seattle Star of August 18:
"Manager Russell, of the Third Avenue theater, is this week presenting one of the best attractions offered at his theater for a long time.

The company, while not a large one, is composed of first-class people. The play itself last night was a comedy. "Down in Egypt." It wasn't a play the scenes of which are laid on the banks of the Nile, as one would suppose, but has an American plot. The scene of the play is in the middle west. There is an interesting plot woven around the characters in a horse-racing community. The piece is well put on and as well staged. Miss Nellie Wiedeman is seen in the role of May Mosler, a young girl, and does her work well. She made a hit in the jockey costume at the race track. As Chris Schneider, Billy Johnson did well. Some of his specialties were very good.

Between the first and second acts Beverly and Danvers put on a sketch, "A Married Man," that is very funny. In a drunken scene Mr. Danvers is very good. An electric dance is introduced by Miss Wiedemann that is one of the best seen in Seattle for a long time. The latter part of the dance, introducing a fire effect, is exceedingly beautiful and realistic.

A revised and complete list of the final entries for stake races to be pulled off during the week of the fair is herewith given. There have been some transfers in the owners of horses, and all these have been noted and corrected up to date. Following are the entries:

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Thrown From a Wagon.

Roy, a son of Abe Morrison of Wide Hollow, while returning home from town with a load of coal Wednesday night, met with a very painful accident. The young man was presumably asleep, and was by some means jostled from the wagon and thrown under the wheels of the vehicle, one of which passed over his back. H. D. Winchester, a neighbor, some time after, found him lying living in the road unconscious, and took him home. Dr. Gunn, who is attending the young man, says that, while the patient's injuries are severe, his condition is not serious.

Good For Consumptives.

A Paris doctor has discovered that the balloon voyage is a fine tonic. Addressing the Academy of Medicine in Paris, Dr. Naugier declared that he has made a large number of experiments and has demonstrated that a balloon ascension acts on the human system as the most powerful of tonics. This doctor declared that two hours' voyage in the upper air causes an astonishing multiplication of the red corpuscles in the blood and that these conditions persisted for ten days after the ascension. He declared that five such excursions would be more beneficial to a consumptive than a sojourn of three months in the mountains. Dr. Naugier has suggested that the municipal council provide balloons capable of carrying say 50 passengers who are too poor to afford a change of climate.—Commoner.

Troubles of a Newspaper Man.

The woes of a newspaper man are many and varied, says an exchange. An editor in a neighboring town recently got himself into a peck of trouble by writing a little puff for one of the leading milliners in his village, in which he stated that he was glad to see her "stocking up." The lady met him on the street the following day and asked him with her parasol and is now trying to have him arrested. Meanwhile the poor man is choking down his chagrin and wondering what in the world ever induced him to go into the newspaper business anyway.

Minstrels.

The coming of Beach & Bowers' minstrels, under canvas, on Monday, Sept. 1, is heralded with pleasure. It is now the oldest minstrel company on the road under one continuous management and we are very fortunate in getting a performance from them. It will furnish more fun and entertainment than any show of its kind. This season is all new, original and funny. The singing is as perfect as is heard in the very best of opera companies. The specialties can not be beaten, and are decidedly laughable and intensely interesting, as Beach & Bowers have called to their assistance an array of talent that places their company in the van of minstrelsy. The minstrel boys are young and active and up to date, and seem untiring in their efforts to please, while they arouse the spectators to the highest pitch of enthusiasm.

However slight at this time of year and in this climate, it is the forerunner of malaria. A disposition to yawn, and an all tired out feeling even comes before the chill. The Hop Outlook.

There is not much change in the hop situation from what it was last week, except that the market is firmer, 25 to 25c being offered by buyers. No sales, however, are reported.

There is apparently some anxiety among growers about securing an ample supply of pickers this season, and the price that will be demanded. Those growers who have contracted their hops for 10 and 12 cents are very emphatic about not paying over the usual price of $1 per box. It is reported that west-side growers are offering $1.25.

Mayor Fechter, who was in Seattle recently, says that he made the same arrangements as in past seasons with the free employment bureau there to send over pickers, but that he was unable to secure any better round trip rate than that of last year, which was $6.50. Mr. Fechter assumes that there will be no great scarcity of pickers, owing to the fact that there is a much larger supply of home pickers this year than formerly.

Support Local Newspaper.

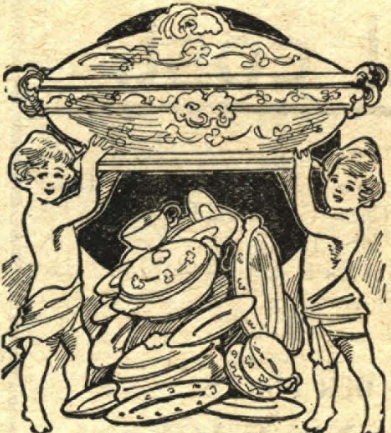

It is all right to buy the big city made, far-off publications. They give stacks of paper and pounds of ink for the money spent, but they were never intended to do your community the great benefit and give the show and encouragement, the boost and assistance with your local home publications are printed to give. If outsiders are desirous of knowing what you are doing and how you are getting along and how prosperous and progressive your community is, they will knock at your own door, they will call at your own domicile; they will seek a word from your own pen, or they will send for a copy of your local publication to note and understand what is really going on. Of course a dog fight or a family row may be going on at the time, but between the lines the real condition of affairs will be reflected and the true state of your progress will be shown. An old, mossback, mangy sheet means that such a class of people live where it is published. A weak, puny, struggling paper shows that such a community supports it. A wide-awake, rattling, spicy, interesting publication proves that a prosperous and growing town or city is backing it up with its assistance and support. If you are loyal to your home town, country and state, and want to enjoy the success its growth and advancement means to you, get behind your local publications and push them to the front. It costs but little, the return is exceedingly large. Try it and see.—The Coast.

A Worm Killer.

J. A. J. Montgomery, Puxiet, Wayne Co., Mo., writes: "I have little twin girls, who have been bothered with worms all their lives. I tried everything to relieve them, which failed, until I used White's Cream Vermifuge; the first two doses brought four worms from one of them, the next two doses, 12, one of them measuring 12 inches; the other child was only relieved of four worms. It is an excellent medicine." White's Cream Vermifuge is good for children. It not only destroys worms, it helps the child to perfect growth, wards off sickness. 25c at Fred L. Janek's drug store.

Dozens in England.
Don't imagine that a dozen always means 12 things. In the Staffordshire potteries and in the earthenware trade a dozen to this day represents that number of any special article which can be offered at any fixed price.
For instance, the pitchers, which are called jugs in the trade, are sold as 2, 3, 4, 6, 9, 12, 18, 24, 30 and 36 pieces to each dozen, the price for a dozen being constant.
The ordinary pitcher holding a quart represents 12 to the dozen, while a pint pitcher is 24 to the dozen and is so called when dealing with that size.
Few of the articles of the trade are sold in dozens of 12, plates being almost the only ones and some of them being sold 60, 70 and even 80 to the dozen.
Besides these curiosities in figures the potters have peculiar names, such as cocksput, twiflers, etc., that make up a trade language of itself.
The baker's dozen of 13 is a recognized figure in their trade.
A publisher's dozen is usually 13 copies.
Among fishermen in Cornwall a long dozen consists of 26.—London Answers.

An Honest Confession.
Mr. J. Ozden Armour, one of the chief factors in the meat trust, now organized in defiance of law, frankly admits that it will control the industry in this country. Asked if it will control the European supply, he said with equal candor that "it is impossible for any combination in the United States to control the meat trade of Europe because of the large shipments of cattle from Argentina and other South American countries." And yet Secretary Shaw blandly argues that our tariff does not safeguard the meat trust!—N. Y. World.

A Chiropodist's Advice.
A chiropodist advises that foot comfort is much enhanced if all callous places on the feet are made perfectly smooth. This can be done easily and the feet kept in excellent condition by using a fine pumice stone every morning after the bath. The pumice stone should, of course, be wet, and if rubbed daily over the points on the feet that have hardened or shown a tendency to harden the places can be made and kept smooth. After a corn has been removed, too, a light rubbing daily of the place where it has been will often prevent its return.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

candidates were placed in nomination: Geo. Ker, J. J. Wiley, J. W. Sillindell, C. E. Lum, J. A. Leach and A. L. Dill. The first ballot gave Ker 18, Lum 23, Wiley 31, Dill 31, Sillindell 12, Leach 3, no choice.

Second ballot—Ker 25, Lum 18, Wiley 31, Dill 51, Sillindell 1; no choice.

Third ballot—Ker 17, Lum 14, Wiley 34, Dill 58, Sillindell 1; no choice.

Fourth ballot—Ker 2, Lum 7, Wiley 52, Dill 63; Dill nominated. On motion the nomination was made unanimous, but a host of delegates remained silent. The interest in the shrill nomination was intense throughout. A number who kept tab on the vote claimed that Dill received but 61 votes on the final ballot; the chairman and secretary, however, made it 63, and it was so announced.

For county treasurer the name of J. J. Wiley was again sprung, though seemingly without the gentlemen's consent. The other candidates were Earl G. Peck, the present deputy, and Assessor Robt. Scott. Peck won in a canter, the first vote giving him 63, an exact majority, to 42 for Wiley and 19 for Scott. The nomination was made unanimous.

For county clerk Deputy J. W. Day, Geo. A. Graham and Dell Fox of Zillah were entered in the race. The first ballot gave Day 61, Graham 21, Fox 42; the second ballot stood: Day 83, Fox 38 and Graham 3, resulting in the choice of Day.

For county school superintendent S. A. Dickey, the present incumbent, was renominated by acclamation.

For surveyor, only one name was presented, that of W. L. Molloy of Zillah, and the nomination was given him by acclamation, no one from town appearing to want the job.

For assessor Deputy Harry Coonse was named, J. D. Cornett referring to him in his nominating speech as "a gentleman and a scholar." Somebody from the country had the hardihood to suggest the name of T. W. Clark of Nob Hill for the office. Mr. Coonse was nominated by the vote of 95 to 29, which was subsequently made unanimous.

For coroner, the name of Dr. E. P. Heliker, a physician who arrived here a few weeks ago from Tacoma, was the only one presented. The candidate's short term of residence, however, seemed to be a point in his favor, for the convention seized upon him greedily and ordered his name upon the ticket.

All that now remained for the convention to do was to nominate two candidates for county commissioner, from the first and third districts. D. E. Lesh got the floor, and said the town could have one of the two commissioners just as well as not, but under the circumstances, he believed it would be good policy to give them both to the country, as the town had already gobbled all the salaried offices. He then placed in nomination ex-Commissioner Frank J. Kandle, who he said had made a good record in the office. The convention took his word for it and nominated Mr. Kandle by acclamation, notwithstanding the fact that Frank Horsley, the present incumbent, was willing to accept the place again. For commissioner in the third district, all of which is in "Riverside" county, the name of L. Pace of Sunny-side and J. A. Viles of Katushake were presented. The vote stood: Pace, 100, Viles 18, and the former was declared the nominee.

The convention had now completed its labors, and as most of the boys were by this time very dry, a motion to adjourn was carried with a whoop. Afterwards there was a considerable amount of crimination and recrimination indulged in as between delegates and disappointed candidates over promises said to have been made only to be broken.

To sum it all up, the work of the convention seems to satisfy but comparatively few people. The methods that were adopted to name the legislative ticket, especially, have angered a large and influential element of the party. Scores of republicans, not only in this city but over the county generally, denounce in the most scathing language the sharp practice of the Ankeny faction in securing control of the convention. Others are more reticent in talking about the matter, but intimate that there is a possibility of defeat in store for at least a portion of the ticket, especially so if the democrats exercise wisdom in the selection of candidates. The opposition within the party to the nominee for sheriff amounts to nothing less than open revolt.

CONVENTION SNAP SHOTS AND AFTERMATH.
"Twas a great day in Rome."
The Wilson ghost died hard.
Dill demonstrated that he has great staying qualities.
Boyle and Krutz had reserved seats—among the spectators.
The convention insisted on taking Doc Hare's prescriptions in small doses.
Leach withdrew in Lum's favor, but, unfortunately, there were no goods left to deliver.
Chairman Scudder railroaded the business through and put the kibosh on long-winded speeches.
The Wilson men were routed, horse, foot and dragons.
Engelhart, Robertson, Guthrie and Hare ran the convention, though Whitson and Lesh, two well known diplomats, were floor managers.
Et tu Brute (chorus)—W. J. Reed, W. B. Dudley, J. J. Wiley.
"My friend Hall wants his money back that he 'blowed in' in that disastrous campaign of '96."—W. P. Sawyer.
What was I begun for, to be so soon done for.—W. B. Dudley.
I don't mind losing that $100 so much as I do to see the Ankeny push in the saddle.—Dan Goodman.
Jones didn't get to name the delegates, anyway. He left me out the last time.—John Cleman.
East end delegates, in chorus—We don't see what they delayed business on our account for, as we cut no ice.
I was a candidate for clerk, but could not get my name before the convention. They have no use even for old rock-ribbed Kiona.—Harry Van Horn.
You needn't be surprised to hear something drop in our neck of the woods. Prosser wasn't in it for a minute.—Maurice Evans.
North Yakima, with but one-fourth of the population of the county, has several candidates for nearly every office. I tell you, you can't have them all, gentlemen. It won't go down.—Captain Thomas.
All republicans look alike to me, except such as may be engaged in running an opposition newspaper.—W. W. Robertson.

I want to congratulate the DEMOCRAT for being such a true prophet. Medill said we were going to win, and—well, I guess we did.—W. P. Guthrie.

Somebody said my name was on the slate, but if so, they must have taken it off.—Robt. Scott.

"I recognized the fact that he (Engelhart) was an able lawyer the first time he got up in court here. He has been here long enough now so that the probability of being termed a tenderfoot won't stick to him."—Edw. Whitson.

If John L. Wilson and his friends got any satisfaction out of this convention, they are certainly welcome to it.—D. E. Lesh.

It looked a little squally for me for awhile, but my friends stood pat and pulled me through all right. Nothing like having friends.—Doc Hare.

The boys down our way are going home feeling pretty sore, but I guess this little trip to the county seat will do them all good. They know now how it is themselves, as they are up against it.—Doc Angus.

Yes, there are lots of people in your fix who would like to know for whom I shall vote for senator, if elected, but I am not giving that out just now. Call around and interview me the day after election.—Ira P. Engelhart.

What's a poor cuss in my position going to do, anyhow? Of course, I am running a republican paper.—John G. Boyle.

There must be some peculiar things doing in the republican party of this county, when it is necessary to shut out at the primaries old line republicans, such as Geo. Donald, A. B. Weed, W. H. Redman, H. K. Sinclair, H. L. Tucker, Col. Howlett, Sam Cameron, Dan Goodman, and a number of others. The crowd that is now running things was evidently afraid of the men I have named, and was determined to keep them out of the convention.—H. J. Snively.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF YAKIMA county, state of Washington.
