Library's grand opening set for Saturday at 1 p.m.

LOCAL HISTORY

WAPATO—The Yakima Valley Regional Library system will hold a grand opening celebration at the Wapato Library on Saturday, Feb. 12, beginning at 1 p.m..

The new library building, located in the old Central Valley Bank facility at 119 E. 3rd St., has been in operation since September. The current site replaced the library building that opened in 1942.

During the celebration, several guest speakers, including Mayor Don Stellwagon, former Camas Elementary Principal Kathy Garcia and community leader Edna Mauch, will be introduced.

Also on hand will be Anne Haley, executive director of the Yakima Valley Regional Library and Amy Ravenholt, Community Outreach Coordinator from the Yakima Valley Regional Library.

Paintings donated to the library in the memory of two of its long-time patrons will also be unveiled.

The family of Sylvia Dunham has had an art piece commissioned for the new building. The Wapato Friends of the Library board is donating a painting in the memory of Sono Nakano, a lifelong supporter of the local library.
