A SALOON HOLD UP.

Masked Robbers Enter Ponti's Saloon at Prosser and Secure $315.

Two masked robbers entered the saloon of Joseph Ponti at Prosser about 12 o'clock Monday night and with cocked revolvers held up everybody in the house and robbed the till of $315, besides taking a good watch from the bartender and a revolver which was found behind the bar.

As the men entered the door, pistols in hand, they commanded the bartender and the three or four visitors present to throw up their hands, which they did with alacrity. After lining up the men they were kept covered by one of the desperadoes while the other rifled the money drawer. Frank Wilson, the barber of the town, proved a little fractious under enforced restraint and was made to hand over the sum of $8 which he had on his person. Another of the bystanders, whose name we were unable to learn, showed some signs of resistance and received a tap on the head which is said to have rendered him almost senseless for a time. None of the other visitors in the saloon were molested.

Having accomplished their mission the robbers backed out and escaped in the darkness. A freight train was pulling out of the yards at the time coming their way and it is believed that the bandits boarded it and came to this city. A telegram was sent to the sheriff's office here warning that official to be on the lookout for the men. Although a diligent search has been made nothing has been seen of the two men.

With perhaps the exception of the Shallow saloon holdup in this city about three years ago, this is probably the boldest raid made in the history of Yakima county.

Stabbed A Policeman.

Night Officer Richmond, while in the act of arresting a Swiss, calling himself "Cooney," for disorderly conduct on Front street Monday night, was stabbed, the prisoner cutting quite a lengthy gash in Richmond's left arm with a long bladed knife with which he had been threatening bystanders before the officer's arrival.

After being slashed with the knife Richmond stepped back, drawing his revolver as he did so and fired, aiming the first shot at the sidewalk in order to bring the drunken man to his senses. Instead it had the effect of infuriating the fellow and he made a savage lunge at the officer who then fired a second shot, the ball entering the drunken man's thigh.

"Cooney" was then removed to the hospital where Dr. Frank was summoned and removed the bullet. As soon as he has sufficiently recovered he will be removed to the county jail and arranged on the serious charge of assaulting an officer. The man had been working on the Selah ditch and is said to be a quiet, industrious fellow when sober. The officer's wound, while painful, is not at all serious.

Back From Honolulu.

John Michels the former landlord of the Hotel Bartholet, returned to Yakima Monday accompanied by Mrs. Michels and their son Leo. Since their arrival in the state some two weeks ago, Mr. Michels has spent most of the time at Hot Springs, seeking relief from his old complaint, rheumatism. They will remain here for a few days. Mr. Michels will send his family east and during the summer will join his wife and son in Minnesota. During the interim he will look after his mining interests in the Cascades. He expresses himself as well pleased with the Sandwich islands and later may conclude to return there.

An Impromptu Mill.

Two telephone linemen while working on the pole at Allen's corner Tuesday morning, got into an altercation and began bandying ugly words back and forth. Finally the man working at the top of the pole ceased his labors and came down. No sooner had he reached terra firma than he began to pummel his co-laborer who responded with alacrity. The knocking match lasted for a minute or two and a crowd of people soon gathered to see what was going on. Finally somebody interfered and warned the combatants to quit. The aggressor in the melee then took the hint and started up the pole saying as he did so, "I have to quit now, but I'll settle with you to night." The affair was somewhat amusing to the spectators, while it lasted.

An Expert's Opinion.

Prof. C. S. Sargent of Harvard University who is regarded as one of the best authorities on forestry in the world and on whose advice President Grover Cleveland set aside the national forest reserves a few years ago, has sent the following communication to John J. Rudkin of this city which is self-explanatory.

"I am and always have been opposed to sheep grazing in the forest reserves. Sheep do incalculable damage to forests and if they are once admitted into the reservations it is practically impossible to regulate them. Cattle do less harm but excessive grazing by cattle is also very destructive.

"The Forestry commission, whose report I am sending you under another cover, reported strongly against grazing in the reservations, but in recent years there has been an attempt made at Washington to show that grazing was not harmful, although this appears to be contrary to the opinion of all the best students of forestry. My judgment is that your river will lose its irrigating value unless the forests at its sources are protected."

Red Men on the Warpath.

The local lodge of Red Men will convene April 14th to initiate candidates. Three palefaces captured in the forest are to be killed and scalped. After the initiatory ceremonies are completed the braves will gather about the banquet board and feast upon venison and subsequently smoke the pipe of peace.

GRAND LODGE OF FORESTERS.

To Meet in North Yakima May 12th—Will Be a Big Thing.

Last week arrangements were completed for the meeting of the Grand Court of Foresters of America in this city. S. K. Bowers, grand chief ranger of the grand court of Washington, who resides at Aberdeen and Thomas H. Andrews, grand secretary of the order, whose home is at Seattle, were here the latter end of last week and perfected the arrangements with the officers of the local court.

The lowest number of delegates estimated who will attend the Grand Court is placed at 250. The meeting will be held in the Foresters' hall in the Lombard & Horsley block. The session will last four days. Elaborate arrangements are already under way by the Yakima Foresters for the proper entertainment of their guests while here.

The local committee on entertainment, announce that a dance, a banquet and a smoker will be pulled off during the session and that the last day of the visitors stay here will be devoted to driving about the valley, showing the strangers the sights in an irrigated country.

WANT SPECIAL LEGISLATION.

Kennewick Desert Land Claimants Want Relief From Present Law.

A number of parties holding desert claims in the lower end of Yakima county are considerably concerned just now about the possibility of securing water with which to prove up on their claims or with which to make their annual assessment showing.

In cases where such holdings are below the line of the proposed ditch of the Northwestern Improvement Co., now being constructed, the expectation is among claimants located under the canal to purchase water rights as soon as the same can be had. It is understood, however, that the irrigation company is not yet in a position to contract for the sale of water rights and do not expect to be able to deliver water before October 1st. Thus the water cannot be had in time under the present provisions of the desert act to help the claimants this year.

Several meetings have been held and it was finally decided to request the Washington delegation in congress to endeavor to procure the enactment of a special law exempting Yakima county for one year from the operation of that provision of the desert act that requires annual assessment work done.

With this object in view H. Van Horn of Kiona, visited the city Friday of last week and induced the governing board of the Commercial club to endorse the idea by the passage of a resolution requesting the Washington delegation to use its best efforts to get the special bill through congress.

Death of William Lee, Sr.

Wm Lee Sr. died at his Nob Hill residence at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning from a complication of ailments from which he had been a constant sufferer for a year past. At the time of his death he was in his 71st year.

Mr. Lee was a native of England but came to this country while yet a young man, settling in Illinois where he lived until his removal to North Yakima about 14 years ago. Until about two years ago he was engaged in the shoe business in this city. He was a man of strong character and generous impulses, who made and retained friends. He was for years one of the strongest leaders of the populist party in this county and served as State Fair commissioner under the late Gov. Rogers. The funeral, held from the residence Thursday was largely attended.

Settled At Last.

Attorney Krutz Tuesday received the following telegram concerning the disputed tract in this city which is self-explanatory:

"Advised that Secretary of the interior has directed the issue of patent to railway Co."

JAMES B. KERR,
Asst. Counsel N. P. Land Dept.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to tender our sincere thanks to kind friends and neighbors for their sympathy and assistance during the illness and after the death of our beloved daughter and sister Anna.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Scow and family.

A man who gives his name as Dan McDonald was arrested Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Leach on the charge of having robbed a well known Moxee farmer the night before at or near Nordberg's saloon. The farmer is said to have lost his silver watch and several dollars in money. The watch was found on the person of McDonald and on this telltale evidence he was bound over by Justice Taggard in the sum of $500, in default of which he was committed to jail.

He Kept His Leg.

Twelve years ago J. W. Sullivan, of Hartford, Conn., scratched his leg with a rusty wire. Inflammation and blood poisoning set in. For two years he suffered intensely. Then the best doctors urged amputation, "but," he writes, "I used one bottle of Electric Bitters and one and a half boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve and my leg was sound and well as ever." For Eruptions, Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Sores and all blood disorders Electric Bitters has no rival on earth. Try them. W. E. Ayres will guarantee satisfaction or refund money. Only 50 cents.

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT,

JOHN DAVID MEDILL,
Editor and Publisher.

Entered at the North Yakima Postoffice as Second-Class Matter.

One Dollar Per Year—In Advance.

Published every Saturday morning at the Democrat Printing House on First Street, North Yakima, Washington.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

The following is almost the full text of Henry Watterson's famous speech delivered at the annual banquet of the Virginia Democratic association at Washington, March 24th:

"We are democrats. We love our country. Our hearts beat true to its institutions. We would rescue the government from the hands of those who are converting it into a government of the trusts, for the trusts and by the trusts, and restore it to the hands of those who will have some regard for the rights of the people. The republican party is a syndicate party. Arbitrary power is its motive, the almighty dollar its trademark.

"Once again in the White House we have the man on horseback. Affecting the simplicity of the cowboy he conceals beneath the self confidence and queen-manner of the broncho buster the sentiments and ambitions, if not the talents, of a Diaz. To him a little thing like treating an admiral of the navy, wearing the laurel leaves of imperishable renown, as if he were a baby in arms, now to be dandled and now to be spanked, is merely an undress affair begun and ended during off moments between breakfast and luncheon. To him the re-primanding of the lieutenant general of the army, grown gray in the fighting of the battles of his country, becomes an amusing horse play meant to relax his muscles and illustrate his high might-ness whilst warning lesser officers of the army to obey orders and say nothing.

"But turn from the White House to the capitol and look at the republicans in congress. The trail of the trademark is over them all. Old High Tariff dances the can-can in the house, whilst Old Ship Subsidy do s the regular cakewalk in the senate. Everything for the syndicates; nothing for the people. And not content with their arbitrary power in the White House and their mercenary power in congress, the leaders of this party of federalism and false pretension would rip open Pandora's box to flch thence the black, piratical flag of negro domination—the equally disreputable and bloody shirt of sectional agitation—and in order to make sure of the house they are proposing to bring forward another force bill to smite the south, to blight the north and to convert a land teeming with love and peace into a land reeking with hate and strife. Such is the banquet to which the exit of McKinley, the statesman, and the advent of Roosevelt, the rough rider, has invited us.

"I am something of a jingo myself. I believe in the expanding greatness and glory of my country. I never see the flag flying above the domes on yonder capitol that my heart does not throb with the proud glad thought that I am an American citizen. God bless the flag and God bless the boys that fight beneath it. I would carry it inviolate. I would keep it spotless. And with this in view I want to know what is going on away out yonder across the multitudinous, mysterious waves of the Pacific. I want other witnesses than self seeking politicians and self exploiting soldiers to come here and tell me. I refuse to hold my tongue. I refuse to rest content And if I am told by a whippersnapper in shoulder straps that unless I do I am a traitor to my country, my reply to him shall be a slap in the face."

Cecil Rhodes the empire builder is dead. That he was a man of blood and iron as well as of genius for organization is attested by those who knew him or watched his meteoric career. Rhodes was essentially a self made man. He started life in the wilds of South Africa without money and without the benefit of education. His capital was brain and crawn, coupled with tremendous will power and an imagination and a capacity to do things that has since dazzled the world. He really belonged to a type of men that flourished principally in the 17th century, though Napoleon coming later was the greatest example of it.

Men of the Rhodes stamp have invariably left the world the worse for their having lived in it. That he was the chief instigator of the devastating and cruel war still in progress in South Africa he did not in life attempt to deny.
That he urged and abetted it not so much for Britain's glory as for his own satisfaction and advancement is the accepted belief of a large element of his own countrymen.

Nature adapted him perfectly for the important part that he played in the drama of life. So far as animal courage goes he was brave. He had the cunning of the diplomat, the shrewdness of the moneychanger and the ambition and despotic will of a Caesar. At twenty-five he was still nothing and had nothing.
At thirty-five he was a multi-millionaire just learning the use of his power.
Thereafter he soon became dictator over British South Africa and a leading pillar of the home government. He wished to live long enough to see the remnant of the broken Boer columns lie bruised and bleeding at his feet supplicating for mercy, but a kindly fate has spared the world such a disgusting spectacle.
Rhodes the autocrat and empire builder, is dead at forty seven. As a result the world breathes easier. Like others of his type, he has left in his wake a dreary path of desolation marked with the blood of thousands of brave men and of helpless women and children. His memory will stand as a thing accursed, probably for centuries to come, by all men who love liberty and justice.

The people who reside near the mouth of the Yakima are very desirous of having the county build a bridge in that vicinity. They say that a bridge is not only an absolute necessity to the people now living there but that the lack of it acts as a serious handicap to the development of that section of the county.
They state further that they are for the most part heavy taxpayers and that have thus far received but little if any benefit in return. It is understood that a delegation of "lower enders" will wait on the board of county commissioners, which convenes next Monday, to urge an appropriation for that purpose. Probably if the taxpayers down that way would receive a little recognition occasionally there would be less talk of dividing the county.

The Times of Seattle, rails at Tacoma for monopolizing one half of the state's congressional representation. Yet that paper in the same article advises the people of its own town that they are entitled to a representative and a senator and urges them to go in and secure the two places even though it be necessary to elect republicans. Of course, this is all bad advice. In fact it is just such counsel as this that Seattle has followed since statehood began. It is just this policy of wanting to grab everything politically that has put Seattle in the ditch and promises to keep her there. It has put every other community in the state on its guard against the metropolis and forced them to make a common course against her. Seattle is justly entitled to some representation in the halls of congress and will doubtless get it if she will consent to be a little more modest in her demands. Seattle is a "whale" of a town and the balance of the state is justly proud of her. Still we don't want her to think that she is the whole thing.

The officers of the city fire department wish to give a timely warning to the public when engaged in turning out at the sound of the fire alarm. Sometimes men, but more frequently boys mounted on bicycles, get in the way of the fire team. Several times recently accidents have been narrowly averted and if the practice continues somebody is liable to get hurt, if not instantly killed. Such warning as this will hardly seem necessary to most people, although it should be remembered that there are some persons who seem to loose their heads when the fire bell rings.

With the office of Yakima Indian agent abolished, likewise the office of deputy U.S. marshal at this place, taken together with the fact that the Yakima postoffice is still held by the present lady incumbent, has made it rather hard sledding for the boys hereabouts, who want to get on the payroll of their Uncle Samuel. As the famous Mr.
Flannigan of Texas once said, "What are we here for if not to get the offices."

Most of the towns of Washington are reported to be doing well and to have good prospects for the coming season.
It is a safe wager, however, that none are doing better than is North Yakima or have a brighter outlook for a healthy growth during 1902. There is no boom here and none is wanted. A normal steady growth though is necessary to keep pace with the surrounding country and that is what we are getting.

While the eastern and central states are catching the rain storms, snow storms and the blizzards the people of Washington and particularly Yakima valley enjoy the bright and blessed sunshine and the welcome twitter of the birds of springtime. It is not a cause for wonder that eastern people when they finally learn of our climatic advantages promptly decide to cast their lot with us.

The first issue of the Columbia Contributor, published at Kennewick by E. P.
Green, has reached our desk. It is a bright and newsy little paper and will doubtless prove a powerful lever for the rehabilitation of Kennewick. It is edited with the ability and vim that has always characterized its editor in anything that we have ever known him to undertake.

In Memory of Anna L. Scow.

Whose beautiful life ended Sunday, March 23rd, 1902.

One beautiful Sabbath morning, Just before the hour of seven,
The death angel visited our dwelling And took our Anna to heaven.

The portals of heaven were opened,
And a messenger came that day, And whispered to our dear one,
"I have need of thee; come away."

There's a vacant place at the table, By the fireside, a vacant chair;
A daughter, a sister is resting now, Free from all sorrow and care.

Slowly and gently she faded, Like the sun at close of day;
And loved ones watched beside her As she breathed her life away.

For us is the sorrow of parting,
For us who are left, the tears;
For her is the heavenly welcome,
And the friends of her earlier years.

But this is the father's wisdom, Oh let our faith be strong;
Whom God doth love he chasteneth, Yet he doeth nothing wrong.

Up to her home in heaven, Where sin can never mar, Our kind and gentle Anna Has left the gates ajar.

So we'll lift our eyes toward heaven Above this world of sin, Where our darling one is waiting For us to enter in.

MRS. E. A. PETTIT

Proved Her Nationality.

Recently a bent old lady entered one of the Salina street stores and upon being asked what she wished to see made reply in what the clerk judged to be an unknown language. A second inquiry proving no more satisfactory, the clerk excused herself and went in search of one of her colleagues who is of German descent.

"Oh, Miss L.," she entreated, "won't you come over to my counter for a minute? There's a poor old German lady there, and I can't understand a word she says."

Miss L. followed and, pausing before the stool on which the would be customer was seated, inquired in her sweetest tones:

"Are you a German?"
The "poor old German lady" raised her handkerchief to her lips and evidently extricated something from her mouth. Then, bending a look of the utmost scorn upon the clerk, she exclaimed in a rich and unmistakable brogue:

"Garman, is it? Indade an I'm not.
But I've got a new set of false tath, bad scran to thim! An now, if ye please, will wan of yez wait on me?"—

Entertaining Squirrels.

Alive in his native woods the squirrel is an amusing little fellow, and he will entertain you by the hour if you will let him.

You probably become first aware of his presence by his dropping things on your head. Then he plays hide and seek with you as he zigzags up a tree.
While he pauses for thought, or possibly to wash his face, another squirrel comes scudding along the branches of a neighboring tree, and away they go, one chasing the other, jumping from branch tip to branch tip, racing up and down the trunk and making the bark fly. Sometimes one loses his footing and falls headlong 20 or 30 feet to the ground, landing there with a force that makes him bounce. You think every grain of sense must be knocked out of the small body, but he only blinks a bit, and, after a moment spent perhaps in letting the stars set that must have suddenly risen before his eyes, he streaks it up the nearest tree after the other fellow. Long after they have disappeared from sight you hear them chattering together up among the leaves like two watchmen's rattles.— Philadelphia Record.

Scandinavian English.

Sir Herbert Maxwell gives in his "Memories of the Months" the following copy of a beguiling advertisement set forth by a Scandinavian who could "spik Inglis" and who had a shrewd idea of luring tourists to his salmon river:

Look Here! Salmon! The honorable travelers are averted to, that undersigned, who lives in Fjorde pr. Vol. den Romsdals county, Norway, short or long time, hires out a good Salmonriver.
Good lodging finds. DIEDRIK MAAN.

A Combination Tree.

A pine tree and a birch tree have grown so close together in Woolwich, Me., that one trunk serves for both, sending forth pine branches on one side and birch on the other. The union seems a happy one in spite of the fact that the two trees are as widely separated by the botanists as two well can be, and the gnarled branches of the pine embrace the birch in a most affectionate manner.

They Were Discovered.

When they went into the hotel, he was determined to do nothing to better the fact that they were newly married. He took up the pen for his first registration under the new conditions and with an old married man look and sweep of indifference wrote, "Mr. and Mrs. Mary Tompkins."
"Will you have the bridal chamber, Mr. Tompkins?" asked the clerk.—New York Herald.

"Janice Meredith."

The character of "Janice Meredith" in the great Revolutionary play of this title, which Blanche Walsh will present at Larson's theater next Tuesday evening, is the most widely discussed in recent fiction. She is the creation of Paul Leicester Ford, the famous novelist, who presented her to the world three years ago in his masterful colonial romance of this name, which became at once the most popular novel of American life of this period. Janice is a mercurial creature, loved by all who come in contact with her. Surrounded by Tory influence, she adheres to the continental cause, loving Col. Brereton, a brave officer on Washington's staff, who was once a bonman to her father. This play blends romance and patriotism, and love and war most interestingly. It possesses every element that makes a theatrical production profitable as an instruction and popular as an amusement. Miss Walsh presents it played by a strong company and magnificently staged with elaborate scenery.

"The White Slave," April 9th.

The critic of the Detroit Journal once wrote of Bartley Campbell's "The White Slave":

"The White Slave" sits like a bomb all its old time dignity, a dignity that will never die as long as the memory of Bartley Campbell lives in the hearts of lovers of intelligent melodrama. Compare it with the plays that are offered to the public now—written in a few days, and turned out by everyone who can hold a pen, or shape a letter, and it stands out in bold relief like Hamlet's star, set in the blackest night. Strong, and well conceived is the story, and through it all there flash those bright touches which Campbell used so lavishly in all his plays. Little sentiments that are poems in themselves—those sentiments that age cannot wither—for they are truths told in poetical measure."

It is this same "White Slave" upon which much money has been spent to realize the rare beauties of the play as they have never been before.

The public has a treat in store, and will not allow the opportunity to slip by when it comes to Larson's theater Wednesday evening, April 9th.

A Raging, Roaring Flood.

Washed down a telegraph line which Chas. E. Ellis, of Lisbon, Ia., had to repair. "Standing waist deep in icy water," he writes, "gave me a terrible cold and cough. It grew worse daily.
Finally the best doctors in Oakland, Neb., Sioux City and Omaha said I had Consumption and could not live. Then I began using Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles." Positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and Lung troubles by W.
E. Ayres. Price 50c and $1.00

Her Opinion of Asparagus.

It seems that asparagus is not grown in the tropics—at least it was not grown at Rio de Janeiro when a certain American gentleman, who had lived several years in the Brazilian capital, went with his wife and 8-year-old daughter to visit friends living near Buenos Ayres, a part of the continent where the climate is better adapted to the fruits and vegetables of the temperate regions.

At the first dinner after their arrival the visitors were treated to some fresh asparagus. The little 8-year-old daughter was likewise served with the asparagus, but she evidently did not think much of it as an article of food.

Her mother tried for some time to coax her to eat it. Finally the little girl, taken between the rudeness of whispering at the table and the rudeness of not eating her food, leaned over and, with a choking voice and quivering lip, whispered to her mother: "Mamma, it is not nice. It's raw at one end and rotten at the other."

An English Explanation.

This is the way a prominent English paper explains it:

The president of the United States, who receives a salary of $10,000 a year, must pay for all the food consumed at the White House, and the expenses of getting up an elaborate state dinner are not small. Cigars and wines the president buys, and they must be of the best. He has to maintain his own equipage. The government, however, allows him a valet; also a clerk, who opens all his letters.
All other personal servants must be engaged by the master and mistress of the White House.

...OFFICERS...

DR. GEO. A. LIBBEY, President; HON. THOMAS CARROLL, Vice-Pres. and Gen'l Manager; A. U. MILLS, Treas; HON. J. A. WILLIAMSON, Sec'y.

This company, lately organized, has ten acres of land at Sunset, California, in the very heart of the choicest oil lands in that state. At least twenty wells can be sunk on this company's lands. It adjoins the Queen Oil Co., and is within seven hundred feet of its famous gusher, and our general manager is now on the ground to arrange for putting down the wells.

For a short time the company will sell a limited amount of its stock at the low figure of 15 cents per share, reserving the right to raise the price at any time without notice. We are adjoined on all sides by companies whose prospects and financial condition a year ago were not as good as ours is, that now ask from $5 to $12 per share, and are paying good dividends on the par value of their entire stock. There is no reason why ours should not prove as good.

There has never been a well sunk in that district that is not now a producer, and no well has shown the slightest decrease in output of oil.

The purchase of stock in this company has none of the elements of a venture but is a sure and safe business investment that cannot in any human probability fail to bring splendid returns.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Marie Sente will leave for Pasco Sunday on a two weeks' visit to relatives.

W. F. Jones has associated himself with Bosdet & Medill in the real estate and insurance business.

Mrs. Lillian Brown, a musician who has resided here for the past year, left for Seattle Thursday where she intends to make her home.

R. E. Noble and wife of Sioux Falls, S. Dak., arrived Friday and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lewis of Fairview. The two men are brothers-in-law.

F. G. Drew is reported to have sold his Washingtonian this week to Messrs. Boyle and Coe. It is said that there will be no change in the political policy of the paper under the new management.

R. A. J. McArthur, chairman of the committee on decorations of the bachelors' party, received a good many compliments on the artistic taste shown in decorating the club rooms for Wednesday night's ball.

Earl Watt and family expect to leave next Friday for their new home near North Bend, B. C., where Mr. Watt has made arrangements to go into the cattle raising business. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Watt are sorry to see them leave Yakima.

G. W. Allinger the one armed commission man from San Francisco, who was so much in evidence here during February and March, seems to have skipped leaving numerous creditors to mourn his untimely departure. Several farmers who turned produce over to him on consignment have been balked as well as a number of business men. He worked the job printing department of the Democrat to the tune of $13.50, hence these tears.

At a meeting at the Episcopal church Monday, H. B. Scudder, Alex Miller, W. L. Steinweg, C. H. Denley, Harold Thompson, Frank Wheeler and C. W. Owen were selected as vestrymen. Heretofore the church here has been known as a mission, but hereafter it will work in a large measure independently of the head organization.

Marshal Grant received a wire Monday from Vancouver, B. C., to the effect that a man by the name of J. St. Denis had died there that day and to notify his relatives here to that effect. The marshal says that he knows nobody here of that name and that if anybody in this vicinity does, such party will confer a favor by communicating with him.

Rose Is a Stunner.

Rose Coghlan and her company drew a fair sized audience to Larson's theater Tuesday night to see the great actress and her support in "Forget Me Not." On the whole the audience was well pleased with Miss Coghlan in her part of "Stephanie" the feminine villain and her leading man Emmett King who played Sir Horace Welby. The most of the minor characters were also well presented. A good many who attended, however, were not much taken with the plot which is rather complicated.

Miss Coghlan's company opened the new theater at Ellensburg Monday night with a full house. At Spokane Wednesday night the Review reports that the great actress became very cranky and kept her audience impatiently waiting for the curtain to go up until 9:30. All because a certain gown which the great lady desired to appear in had been sent by her maid to a cleaner's shop and had not returned. Miss Coghlan declared she would not speak a line of her part until she had her dress and woman like she had her way.

Fighting Fred Funston.

That Fred Funston is a reckless, "harum-scarum", dare-devil fighter does not prove that he is a great statesman, and is therefore qualified to instruct the American people on questions of national policy. His desire to hang everybody who disagrees with him was probably acquired in the Philippines, where such methods appear to be in vogue in dealing with the "d—niggers" who are so foolish as to believe that the Declaration of Independence is any more than a lot of barren idealities and glittering generalities. One American officer is on trial for ordering the shooting in cold blood of eleven Filipino prisoners for the heinous crime of concealing some roots which they had dug to save themselves from starvation. That is the kind of imperialism that such fellows as Funston would like to put into practice in this "land of the free and the home of the brave."

And it is such men as this who are being exalted by Roosevelt over old veteran officers who saw real fighting in the civil war.—Walla Walla Statesman.

Alteid's Last Words.

"I am not discouraged. Things will right themselves. A pendulum swings one way and then another, but the steady pull of gravitation is toward the center of the earth. Any structure must be plumb if it is to endure. So it is with nations. Wrong may seem to triumph; right may seem to be defeated; but the gravitation of eternal justice is upward toward the throne of God. Any political institution, if it is to endure, must be plumb with that line of justice."

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE State of Washington, for Yakima county.

L. B. Brown, plaintiff, vs. W. H. Brown, defendant. The State of Washington to the said defendant, W. H. Brown:

Doesn't It? Stand to Reason

That anyone who buys 250 Buggies from one concern and 150 Wagons at one time can sell and make a profit at the price they cost a man who buys only 20 or 30 a year?

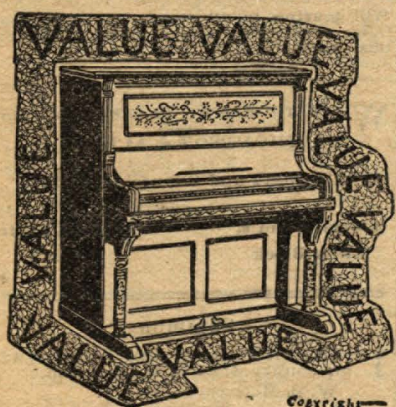

That is what we did last fall before the raise in wagon and buggy material. We also buy in large quantities for our harness depot, enabling us to make prices which cannot be equaled. Look over our stock and get our prices.
