OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

A MAJORITY of the "expansion" organs both great and small, throughout the length and breadth of this country are setting up a terrific howl just now because a majority of the delegates to the late convention of the W. C. T. U. at Seattle, saw fit to vote for a resolution upholding firmly the declaration of independence and condemning the unAmerican policy being pursued in the Philippines. The feelings of the esteemed P.-I. especially, were badly ruffled by the aforesaid resolution; but although the political editor was very much worked up over the matter, he has so far carefully refrained from the use of any epithet calculated to give serious offence to the feelings of the good ladies who composed the great gathering; instead, he contented himself with the deliverance of what he without doubt intended to be a very severe lecture and a sharp reprimand, falling back on the impotent and wornout argument of the impropriety and bad taste of woman's meddling with political questions and affairs of state. There is neither reason nor logic in such a statement. The women of America have as much right to a full and free discussion of public policy as have the "lords of creation," even though they are denied the right to vote. They are often made to suffer, even worse than the sterner sex, from the effects of a wrongful policy or ill advised legislation. They are usually the worst sufferers as the result of war. They have ever been patriotic in times of national distress, and have sacrificed much for their country's honor, and it seems to us that it comes with exceedingly bad taste from otherwise able and influential journals in this advanced age, to preach the ancient and discarded doctrine that women should have no voice and no opinion in affairs of government and national policy. Away with such rot. It belongs to the dead and buried past. Our contemporaries of imperialist proclivities are merely pleading the baby act.

YAKIMA extends the glad hand to her returning soldier boys. After a long and wearisome absence of 18 months, the most of which time they have spent under the most vexatious conditions in a hostile and tropical country, they now return to their old familiar haunts and they will receive a welcome such as they will ever remember. This is as it should be, for none deserve it more. As soldiers they have done their duty uncomplainingly, even under the most trying conditions. But while we welcome the living on their return to friends and loved ones, we must not forget to honor the dead. The seven brave boys of E Company, all of whom in the bloom of early manhood delivered up their lives in the service of their country, can never be forgotten, at least not by those now living. The heartfelt sympathy of the public goes out anew to the bereaved families, who on such an occasion as this glad reception to the living, will feel the loss of their dead the more keenly.

ENGLAND, as well as all her loyal dependencies, laments this week the terrible reverse suffered by the British arms at Ladysmith. It must indeed be humiliating to the average Englishman to see the flower of their army under the leadership of one of their greatest generals, so completely outclassed in military tactics, and that to by an enemy which has been described to the world as ignorant, fanatical and medieval. Their army has been called a howling mob, incapable of serious fighting, except at close range. But the world is compelled to revise its estimate of the Boers. They may be ignorant and antediluvian in their methods, but still they have taught a great English soldier something he evidently did not know about modern tactics. The lion, however, has now become thoroughly aroused and promises to make things interesting for the liberty loving Boers.

IT amuses us to see some of our exchanges squirm in an attempt to offend nobody. The newspaper that can be published in a way to not offend any one is a jewel, and the editor is entitled to a pair of golden wings. Human nature is so constituted that some like scandal while others don't; some like to see others "ripped up the back," others don't; some like to have the truth told about them, others don't; some like to take a paper six or eight years and never miss an issue nor pay a cent, and get mad and stop their paper when they get a statement of their account, others don't. It is not in the province of a newspaper to please everyone, and the editor can extract consolation from the fact that the Lord himself failed to please everybody when on earth.—Whatcom Blade.

CARL SCHURZ may be a crank all right on some questions, but both his head and his heart are right on the Philippine problem. In his recent letter to a German society of Cincinnati he states the question ably and fairly and advises that class of men who believe in neither free silver nor expansion to vote the democratic ticket, as, viewed from any standpoint, imperialism was a greater menace than free coinage of silver ever was or could be. Mr. Schurz's influence has always been great among the Germans of this country and it is probable that thousands of them will follow his advice in Ohio.

HON. LEVI ANKENY doubtless meant well when he made his offer to bring the Washington boys home, but recent developments indicate that it would have been better for all parties concerned if he had allowed the Seattle committee to manage the matter and had kept in the background himself. The situation was, to say the least, badly strained by reason of Mr. Ankeny's personality in it. After all that has happened, it will hardly be possible for the Walla Walla statesman to make any political capital out of it, if that was his original object.

OUR effervescent neighbor who writes the funny things that appear in the Yakima Thunderer, appears to be worrying himself sick in these pre-election days over the fate of Bryan, Lewis and the democracy. Brace up, neighbor, and watch for the news from Ohio and Kentucky. We also call the Colonel's attention, in passing, to the fact that by cultivating "lilocks" of his own, he is forever estopped from any further reflections on the distinguished statesman of Seattle.

MARCUS A. HANNA, the mentor of the administration, made a stump speech the other day to a crowd of his own employees, in which he literally instructed them to vote the republican ticket at the approaching Ohio election. For cast iron nerve and unmitigated gall Mark takes the plum. There is probably not another politician of any standing in all America who would have cared to have made such a spectacle of himself.

THE president and his followers feel very keenly the necessity of a republican victory in Ohio this year. With the victory of McLean in the Buckeye state next Tuesday, the spectre of Dewey's candidacy for the presidency under the tutelage of the astute senator from Vermont, is what worries the man in the white house during his fitful dreams.

WITH the single exception of hops, Yakima products have brought very remunerative prices this year, and the probabilities are that this condition will continue throughout at least another season. These conditions are swelling the valley's population to such an extent that we bid fair to have at least 18,000 people in the county when the census is taken next year.

Changes in Dawson.

DAWSON CITY, N. W. T., Oct. 2.—(Special correspondence.)—During my absence of 90 days in the summer months Dawson changed very materially in appearance. While it decreased nearly one-half in population, it doubled in meat appearance and number of frame buildings. Besides these, brick flues are taking the place of stovepipes, and a storage company is erecting a warm-storage building. The scarcity of men has placed wages again at $1 per hour. There will be fewer lays let on the creek this year than last, but more claims will be worked; this is on account of so much new mining machinery being brought in during the past summer.

Summer work has ceased, and miners are now preparing for winter work, which is not far away. The thermometer last night dropped to zero, and, although the days are still warm and pleasant, there is every indication of an early winter. The Yukon has been falling very fast during the past two weeks, and it is now 12 inches lower than at this time last year. All the larger boats are making their last trips, though the smaller ones may continue until the middle of the present month. Scows loaded with freight are arriving every day, but even with this assistance to the steamers there will be hundreds if not thousands of tons that will not reach here this season. This is especially annoying to some of the larger miners, who have portions of their machinery in, while the remainder is strewn along the line.

A recent census of the city of Dawson shows a population of 5000, of whom 3200 are Americans. Nearly all the floating population which was here last winter has gone to Cape Nome.

The latest reports from Cape Nome are most favorable, and point to it as one of the richest mining camps in the world.

Tough on the Goats.

An Albany man says that the Angora goat business is increasing wonderfully around in the foothills, and attributes the fact to the ready sale of the animals to deer hunters, says the Albany, Ore., Herald. It has been noticed that every hunter kills several deer this fall, and the "knowing one" figures out that each "deer" represented several dollars' profit to the goat raiser. He has also noticed a scarcity in deer hides, the returning hunters leaving them in the mountains.

Sound Doctrine.

In a speech at Hamilton, O., John R. McLean, democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, said:

"The democrats of Ohio invite the co-operation of all republicans who want freedom for all men. They abhor the policy which would stifle the aspirations of ten million people to govern themselves. They believe all men are born equal, and endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." They do not believe that Spain could sell these God-given rights in the Philippines to President McKinley or to anybody else for $20,000,000 or any other sum.

"This is not in conflict with the precedents in any of our territorial acquisitions. The people of Louisiana territory, of Florida, of California and adjacent territories, of Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico came willingly under our flag.

"The population of the Philippines is three times as dense as our own, and they are contending for their own natural right of self government. They resist invasion and subjection by strangers. If our right to govern them was as clear as was British authority in the American colonies, and if they had resorted to revolution, their cause would still be the same as was that of our fathers of 1776, which Burke, Pitt and Fox thought it not unpatriotic in Englishmen to uphold in parliament.—Colfax Commoner.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Olivia, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest blood and nerve remedy, all pains soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50 cents. Sold by Louis O. Janeck, druggist.

Bryan's Dead Cause.

For a man who has become the "dead leader" of a "buried cause" the Hon. William J. Bryan, of the state of Nebraska, is getting more attention from the leading republican papers of the United States, and especially from the central west, than any man who ever lived. One would think for a man who has been annihilated by his political opponents, smitten in his spinal column by the vengeance of Marcus Brutus Hanna, and who represents a "dead and buried" issue, it would be well enough to adopt the biblical maxim and let "the dead bury its dead," and not eternally keep the corpse and its cause before the public!

Taking four leading republican papers of the central west—the Chicago Tribune, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the Kansas City Journal and the St. Joseph Herald, we find that last week the first named devoted two full columns to its editorial page to Mr. Bryan, while the Globe Democrat gave up a column and a half, the Kansas City Journal about two columns and a quarter, and the Herald about a column and a half—all to Bryan, Bryanism and his buried cause! For a fellow that is dead and a cause that ought to be buried by reason of the length of his death, certainly this is a remarkable amount of space to be given.—Centralia News.

Value of Advertising.

A high authority makes the wise suggestion that "advertising should be planned on the presumption that it is going to be permanent." In other words, it should be considered as a distinctive and systematic part of the merchant's business. Sporadic trade announcements cannot be continuously beneficial. It is true they often bring about a spurt in sales; but when they have run their brief course they and the wares described in them are forgotten by the public. On the other hand, the continued publication of business announcements in a newspaper which, because of its reliability and excellence, has become popular and influential with the public in general will produce constant and satisfactory financial returns.—Whitcomb Blade.

The Original Siamese Twins.

The sleepy village of Biddenden, not far from Fenterden, celebrates yearly the memory of the two maids of that ancient hamlet who were the original precursors of the Siamese twins. In life they were joined together by a mysterious cord of flesh, and they died on the same day, leaving their property to be distributed among the poor of the parish and among all who care to apply for a dole of bread and cheese on Easter day. This benefaction has been in existence for six or seven centuries, and at present its value is about $200 a year.

Formerly the doles consisted of bread and cheese and ale, but the latter produced so much inebriety in the village that it was abolished, and the charity is now limited to the two first mentioned nutritive articles. The bread is made up in the form of cakes, bearing a rude representation of the twin maids of Biddenden, and are generally preserved as curiosities by the recipients. They are baked very hard and are admirably adapted to give work to dentists by breaking the molars of those who attempt to penetrate their mysteries. The poor of the parish are distinguished from necessitous strangers are supplied with ordinary quarters loaves and cheese.—London Telegraph.

England After Our Gold Fields.

The administration at Washington has agreed with Great Britain and Canada to a "temporary" boundary line between Alaska and British Columbia. That "temporary" line will, no doubt, become the permanent line. That it was so intended to be will hardly admit of question no matter how unjust or injurious it may be to American interests. The Anglo-Saxon craze must have full swing whatever may happen, and we will be cheated as usual by compromise and treaty.

This government has always got its rights from Great Britain when it summoned the courage to demand them, and to stand by them in arms if necessary, and we have almost always lost when we undertook to arbitrate or compromise. In illustration it is only necessary to refer to the long line of arrangements made between the two countries. The fisheries, the armaments on the lakes, the abandonment of "fifty-four forty or fight," in 1884, whereby our government opened a back door that already cost us uncounted millions, and in future to which there is no end, except in the annexation of that contiguous territory; the arrangement of 1846 whereby the 49th parallel was deflected down around the south end of Vancouver Island to satisfy our grasping neighbor and greatly to our disadvantage, the humiliating one-sided Clayton-Bulwer treaty and lastly the whole fur seal affair. It is a record to make an American blush, but the republican party calls for more of it.—Vancouver Register.

Effect of Trusts.

Something of an idea can be gained of the effect of the trusts on the common people by a comparison of the price on articles that have gone into the trusts. For instance all steel and iron is in a trust and all prices are fixed in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Before the trust was formed, in December, 1898, good pig iron sold for $12 a long ton. It now sells for $23.50. Bessemer pig iron sold for $10.75, but under the trust they have jumped the price up to $24. Steel rails sold at $17.50 and the trust now demands $23. Bar iron has just about doubled and wire nails have been trusted up from $1.42 per keg to $3.10. These are specimens. Now if the protective tariff were taken off these things the prices would very soon go down to reasonable figures, because the foreign product would come in and compel a reduction through the competition. As it is, the foreign competition is barred out by the high tariff and the trust exacts prices that makes the consumer bleed the last drop. And yet there are people who have the cheek to claim the tariff has nothing to do with the trusts.—Walla Walla Argus.

New York's River Tunnel.

There is a big hole under North river. Some day it will be a tunnel connecting this city and Hoboken. No work has been done for four years, but the owners of the hole are now trying to raise money in London to complete their tunnel before a bridge can be built over North river. Only 1,230 feet remain to connect the two holes bored from either shore, each of which is now full of water. This water has simply soaked through since work was abandoned on the death of the principal backer. So far $3,000,000 has been poured into the hole, and only $500,000 will be required to complete it.—New York Letter.

J. D. Hayward and Miss Lizzie Gouin were married Friday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McMillan. The fair young bride was formerly a compositor in this office. THE DEMOCRAT force offers congratulations.

J. J. Macdonald is comfortably located in the Dudley building with his dry goods store and D. R. Barton has moved into the store formerly occupied by Mr. Macdonald on First street. Benson and son with their fish market will occupy the room vacated by Mr. Barton.

A. B. Weed who returned from the east on Saturday, succeeded in disposing of the major portion of his hop crop to Wisconsin brewers. Mr. Weed was averse to mentioning the price obtained when interviewed, although he intimated that the figure was much more satisfactory than could be obtained here. While in Milwaukee Mr. Weed attended the reception to President McKinley which he describes as a very grand affair.

Yakima farmers with spuds to sell are feeling very good these days, as the tubers are not only yielding well, but are already bringing a very remunerative price with ever prospect of an advance. H. M. Gilbert of Nob Hill, even at present prices feels hopeful of clearing $3000 on his 40 acre field.

A large number of boys, some of whom are pretty well grown and wear whiskers, started out on Tuesday night to observe "Halloween" in the old fashioned way, but officers Grant, Mulligan and Liggett kept such close watch on them that the boys did not have a chance to work much devilment.

The county treasurer's office force have been kept busy this week in making out tax receipts for tax payers anxious to escape the penalty on delinquent taxes, which went into effect on Nov. 2. The restoration of the former conditions means that the penalties and usurious rate of interest will again be added.

R. S. Curle, a farmer and stock raiser of Fresno, Cal., arrived on Tuesday morning to look over the valley with a view of locating. Mr. Curle also represents six other well-to-do California farmers who will be governed largely by his judgement in the matter of seeking a new location.

A party of immigrants to the number of 31 enroute to the Willamette valley from Pope county, Minn., stopped off in this city last Saturday to visit with C. W. Nash and family who formerly lived in that county. They were delighted with the appearance of this valley and may after all conclude to return here and locate.

Prof. McBride on Tuesday served notice of suit on the board of directors of school district No. 7 for the sum of $80, which is the amount of the salary that he claims he would have earned had not the present board abrogated a contract made with him to teach, by the old board. The culmination of the affair will be watched with much interest by the public.

C. F. Swain accompanied by Sergeant John Druse returned on Monday night from San Francisco, bringing with him the remains of his unfortunate son Spencer Swain of Company E. who died on Friday night at the Military hospital in that city. The funeral occurred on Tuesday afternoon from the M. E. church, and was very largely attended. Rev J. H. Wood preached a touching sermon, which included a review of the young man's life. The local militia company attended the funeral in a body, six of the organization acting as pall bearers. Private Swain was born in New York state and was 22 years of age.

C. W. Liggett the veteran typographical artist, who for several months past has been the foreman of the Republic's composing room, has taken an interest in this office and will hereafter have charge of the mechanical department of THE DEMOCRAT and will also assist in the business management of the paper. Mr. Liggett is one of the most efficient and accomplished printers in the state, and this office has already received a goodly number of congratulations on its good fortune in securing his services. A large amount of additional new material has been ordered for THE DEMOCRAT which will make it one of the best country offices in the state.

Hon. W. J. Bryan on the 28th began a seven-day speaking campaign in the state of Nebraska. Seventeen speeches were delivered on the first day.

An authoritative statement has been made by the French government denying the rumors of intended Franco-Russian intervention in the South African war now in progress.

J. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern road, has let a contract for the construction of two 2000 ton ships which when completed will ply between Seattle and the orient.

Preliminary steps have been taken by the American government and that of Spain for the formation of a new treaty to take the place of the old one which was abrogated by the late war.

Admiral Dewey, on the 30th, announced his engagement to Mrs. W. B. Hazen, of Washington, D. C., a sister of John R. McLean. The marriage is expected to take place during November.

U. S. Senator Wm. S. Mason has formally announced his intention of resigning his seat in the senate, if the republican national convention should uphold the administration in its attitude in the Philippines.

The Boer army engaged in the siege of Ladysmith won a notable victory over the English forces at that place on the 30th by the capture of two regiments. The casualties on both sides is reported as being very heavy.

Brigadier General Guy V. Henry of the U. S. army, who until recently was the military governor of Porto Rico, died suddenly at his home in New York on the 27th, from the effects of pneumonia. He was 60 years of age.

The will of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt was probated in New York on the 27th. By its provisions Alfred, the second son, becomes the principal heir and head of the house. The other four children of the deceased millionaire received the sum of $7,500,000 each. Numerous bequests for charitable purposes also appear in the will.

A recent cablegram from Manila states that at a meeting recently held there of British subjects, 100 recruits were secured to embark at once for South Africa, and offer their services to the British commanders in the war with the Boers.

Col. John H. Wholley, who has been in command of the Washington volunteer regiment in the Philippines, has been assigned by the war department to service in the forty-first volunteer infantry with the rank of major. He will soon return to the Philippines.

In 1890 and Again in 1896.

One of the most spirited attacks we have seen upon McKinley's policy in the Philippines was made by anticipation, at the New England dinner in Philadelphia in 1890. The orator referred to eloquent heights in declaring that "human rights and constitutional privileges must not be forgotten in the race for wealth and supremacy." Warning to his subject, he went on, "The government of the people must be by the people, and not by a few of the people; it must rest upon the free consent of the governed, and all of the governed." And he fell into a tone of solemn warning when he said: "Power, it must be remembered, which is secured by oppression, or usurpation, or by any form of injustice, is soon dethroned. We have no right in law or morals to usurp that which belongs to another, whether it is property or power.

Now, the author of this terrific assault upon William McKinley was William McKinley himself. It is his New England dinner speech from which we quote, and it is filled with beautiful and noble sentiments similar to those we have cited. There was not, in 1890 a more indignant enemy of the policy which President McKinley is pursuing in 1899 than Congressman McKinley—that is as far as words go. He used then the precise language about the rights of man which it is now treasonable disloyalty to him to utter. The very shibboleths of anti-imperialists were then falling from his own lips in sonorous periods. This New England society speech of his is a perfect arsenal of weapons against himself.

We speak of this simply because it puts the great McKinley in a very small corner. It does that undoubtedly. The extracts we have made from his speech could not, it is certain, be sent to Manila through the mails. Under the mighty Smith's order, they would have to be excluded as seditious matter. We thus have an executive order branding words of the executive as treasonable. But the really significant thing about all this is, that there was not a particle of moral conviction in McKinley's fine words at the time he uttered them. It was, on his part, just a parrot-like repetition of copy book morality.—New York Post.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27, 1899.

Imperialism is to bring many new things, and among the rest a new committee of the house, which can be depended upon to report just such legislation concerning the imperial colonies as may be ordered by his majesty, William I. Under ordinary circumstances all bills introduced in the house relating to new territory owned by the government would be referred to the committee on territories in the last house, who cannot be denied the same position in the next house without a marked breach of courtesy, is under suspicion, so his committee is to be supplanted, so far as the new possessions are concerned, by a new one which can be depended upon. Whether the name of the new committee has been selected is not positively known, but the proper name for it will be the committee on imperialism, for such it will be popularly known. There is also some talk of establishing a similar committee in the senate, where there has already been wrangling between the committee on territories, and that on foreign relations over the control of bills relating to the new possessions, but such a program cannot be carried out in the senate as early as in the house. The republicans have a majority in the senate, but there are a number of republican senators who are opposed to imperialism and all its trimmings.

Mr. John R. McLean is confident that he will be the next governor of Ohio. He was in Washington for a day this week and he told his friends that the prospects for democratic success were improving every day and that he had not the slightest doubt of his election. He also said that Col. Bryans short visit to the state was of great benefit to the democrats, notwithstanding republican statements to the contrary.

A striking case of bad judgment and management on the part of some official connected with the navy department came to light this week, when it was announced that the converted yacht Vixen, which was recently ordered to South American waters, would be put out of commission and probably sold. After the Vixen had been fitted up with the modern battery and otherwise equipped as a gun boat, it was discovered that there was not room aboard her to carry a sufficient amount of provisions for her crew, for even a moderately long voyage. It is evident that somebody neglected their duty in not making this discovery before the government had gone to the expense of converting the yacht into a gun boat.

The country has no reason to feel proud of the final action of the naval board on construction as to the plans of three new battleships, which were this week determined upon, since it is admitted, even by the members of the board, that these battleships, when completed, will be inferior in almost every respect to the latest battleships of Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan. Because American crews are the best in the world is no reason why millions of the peoples money should be spent in building inferior ships for them, and congress should prevent these vessels being constructed. If we can't build battleships equal or better in every way than those other nations are building, we would better build none. The board also decided upon the plans for three new armored cruisers. The oddest part of this whole business is that, although these six warships are to cost more than $30,000,000, not one of the famous fighting officers of our navy were consulted or even asked to make a suggestion to the board, which is composed of naval officers known as able theorists, but not as fighters.

Senator Proctor has not given up the idea of holding Admiral Dewey in reserve as an anti-McKinley candidate for the republican presidential nomination because the McKinley crowd succeeded in alarming the admiral about his health to the extent of causing him to abandon his intended trips to Atlanta and Philadelphia. On the contrary, he is more determined than ever, and the announcement that Admiral Dewey would make trips to the south and the west in the early spring is understood to be due to Proctor's influence; and a friend of Proctors said that the McKinley crowd had played right into Proctors hand by keeping Dewey quiet this winter, as a boom started in the spring, if the conditions seem to warrant one, will be much more likely to be effective than one started at this time. Admiral Dewey is now a Washington real estate owner, the deed for the house purchased for him with the $50,000 donated for that purpose being now in his possession.

All the members of the Philippine commission, except General Otis are in Washington, but the commission will not begin holding meetings until next week.

(With apologies to Rudyard Kipling.)
Jehovah, Lord, beneath whose smile
Our fathers fought in freedom's name,
And wrested from the British Isle
Our country loved and known to fame—
Oh, gracious Lord, withhold thy hand,
While we expand—while we expand!

Ye heathen hordes of Cuba's isle,
And Aguinaldo's lesser breeds—
Ye may not bask in freedom's smile.
Your Uncle Samuel knows your needs;
Throw down your arms and meekly stand—
While we expand—while we expand!

The doctrine taught by James Monroe,
And maintained through an hundred years
Since we've embraced both hemispheres,
Was but a bluff, it now must go;
Oho, Lord, extend thy helping hand,
While we expand—while we expand!

'Tis true the declaration says,
That just power from the governed springs
But then the declaration lays
Far too much stress on little things;
So, gracious Lord, withhold thy hand,
While we expand—while we expand!

We've waved on high the stripes and stars
With liberty the glad refrain—
We've licked, in three successive wars,
Old England, Mexico and Spain;
The chip is on our shoulder yet,
Don't you forget—don't you forget!

Hop Growers Meet

About 35 hop growers of this county responded to the call for a meeting and convened at the city hall on Saturday afternoon.

The meeting was called to order by D. E. Lesh, one of the originators of the movement, who in a few well chosen words explained the object of the meeting and called for nominations for a chairman.

Anson White of the Cowychee was nominated and unanimously elected to fill that position and J. J. Wiley as secretary. A full and free discussion of the situation as it exists among the growers was then begun, the consensus of opinion among all present being that it would be advisable to form a local association or union that would co-operate with like unions in other districts, in the hope of to some extent at least, influencing the market price of hops by refraining from flooding the market with their product at such times as the market is depressed. The situation was gone over in talks made by D. E. Lesh, T. J. Lynch, T. H. Shannon of Zillah, and other prominent growers. Some of the speakers urging an arrangement whereby each member of the proposed organization should bind himself to hold his hops for a period of 30 days.

D. E. Lesh stated that hop growing was now restricted in this country to the three Pacific states and New York and that the industry was fast dying out in the latter state. A strong association in each district co-operating under the leadership of a national association, could in his opinion accomplish a great deal for the interest of the grower. By such means not only the acreage could be restricted when deemed necessary, but prices could always be kept above the cost of production, insuring a reasonable compensation to the grower as a result of his labor and money invested. All those present seemed to agree that the benefits to be derived from organization fully justified the attempt and a motion made by Lesh was passed, that the chair appoint a committee of three to prepare a plan of organization and a constitution and bylaws to submit at a meeting to be held at the same hour today, when a permanent organization is expected to be effected. The chair named as such committee, Messrs. Lesh, Scudder and Lynch, after the announcement of which the meeting on motion adjourned.

A SERIOUS CHARGE

E. B. Mendenhall Arrested for Procuring Goods Under False Pretenses.

A warrant was sworn out on Friday afternoon by J. M. Perry for the arrest of E. B. Mendenhall on the charge of procuring goods under false pretenses. The goods consist of some eight cars of apples which Perry claims he purchased here recently for Mendenhall at Butte, Mont. Perry, it is understood, sets up the claim that he had been authorized to purchase some $6000 worth of apples from growers here on the representation that Mendenhall was to have the money in the bank here so that his checks could be honored, but that $100 was all that showed up. Mendenhall on the other hand claims that he acted in good faith with Perry and the farmers who furnished the goods, that the "Copper State Fruit Company" with which he is connected at Butte was merely either slow or unnecessarily careless about the matter of remitting.

Mendenhall was arrested by Sheriff Tucker at the Hotel Bartholet Friday evening and placed in jail. At his examination before Justice Taggard on the following day he was bound over to the superior court in the sum of $1000, failing to raise which he was committed. The apples that had been shipped a day or two previous and consigned to Mendenhall's company were stopped by Perry, so it is probable that Perry and the growers here will lose nothing. Mendenhall has secured the service of H. J. Snively to defend him.

The Cattlemen Meet

About 40 prominent cattlemen of the county met in the superior court room at 3 o'clock Saturday immediately after the adjournment of the hop growers meeting. As in the other meeting D. E. Lesh called the assemblage to order and briefly stated the object of the meeting, the main purpose of which he stated was the perfecting of an organization for the purpose of protecting the interests of the cattlemen in the Rainier reserve. He then called for nominations for the office of temporary chairman. "Uncle" George Taylor of the Selah, was quickly elected to fill that important position. That gentleman being averse to acting in that capacity, on reaching the chair at once stated that the next order of business was the election of a permanent chairman. Whereupon D. E. Lesh was elected to fill the position and assumed it. J. E. Shannon of Nob Hill was then elected secretary and the chairman without further loss of time called for an expression of opinion and different ones expressed their sympathy with the object of the meeting. Anson White moved that a committee of three be appointed by the chair for the purpose of planning a permanent organization and drafting a set of by-laws. The motion prevailed and the chair appointed as such committee Messrs. White, Wiley and Sinclair.

A. J. Shaw then moved that the meeting adjourn to meet again at the same hour two weeks hence, which was carried and the cattle barons then dispersed.

Back from Dawson

Judge L. T. Irwin returned home last Friday from the Klondike after an absence of 10 months in the far north, having left here on Dec. 28.

When he went in, he took with him a mixed lot of merchandise, consisting of beef cattle, dressed turkeys, chickens, feed and special lines of provisions, all of which he found a very satisfactory market for on his arrival at the Arctic metropolis. During the most of the time since he has been engaged in looking after his mining interests in that country which are located mainly on Dominion creek.

Judge Irwin states that the Klondike country has now largely passed through the speculative stage and has entered upon a period of stability and solid business prosperity. The output of gold from the district, he estimates, will be nearly $2,000,000 greater this year than last.

While he had not visited Cape Nome, there was no doubt, he said, that that camp would next year prove to be the richest and greatest mining camp under the stars and that an immense rush would set in for there in the spring.

The floaters or "creek walkers" as they were known at Dawson, as a rule went down the river to Nome soon after the first excitement, and it is probable that many others will follow the coming spring. The mines are now being worked very largely with machinery and labor is not in such demand there as formerly. Judge Irwin placed a large quantity of gold dust which he brought down with him in the show window of a local merchant on Saturday, where it was viewed and admired by hundreds of people. The value of the exhibit was $8096, the major portion of which was taken out of Judge Erwin's own properties on Dominion creek. The judge contemplates returning again to the north some time during the coming winter.

Judge Erwin took in Ellensburg on Friday.

J. M. Baxter visited Ellensburg on Wednesday.

Wm. Imbrie returned last week from a long stay in Alaska.

Conductor John Cameron of Tacoma was in town on Thursday.

E. J. Jaeger, the Zillah merchant, and wife were Yakima visitors on Tuesday.

Miss May Dittmar of Saratoga, N. Y., is the guest of her uncle, G. S. Vance.

Mrs. E. S. Yeates has gone to Nevada to visit a daughter who resides there.

Miss Gertie Pratt returned Sunday night from a few day's visit with her aunt in Ellensburg.

Mrs. E. A. Pettit returned home the last of the week from a three week's visit on the west side.

M. B. Murchie, the popular liveryman, returned from a trip to The Dalles the first of the week.

J. J. Dixon of the Ahtanum returned from Alaska on Monday after an absence of 18 months.

J. R. Henderson and Miss Edith Wynkoop of the Ahtanum received a license to wed last Saturday.

Messrs. Lombard and Dills spent several days hunting the first of the week in the lower valley.

J. N. Mull and wife left for Seattle this morning to visit their son and daughter, who are attending business college there.

H. B. Scudder and two daughters left Saturday morning for Seattle to welcome the return of their son and brother, Captain Scudder.

Col. Fred Miller spent Sunday with friends in this city, having stopped off Saturday night on his way home to Spokane.

E. E. James is having his old photo gallery moved this week to the corner lot opposite the Syndicate block, which he recently purchased.

Robert Kershaw of the Wenas left last week to join his brothers who are mining successfully in Grant county, Or. His father, who has been a visitor at the camp all summer, is expected home now in a few days.

Congressman Jones and family left for the east on Thursday night. After a short stop at the old home in Illinois they will proceed to Washington, D. C. Miss Frances Ferrell will accompany the family in the capacity of housekeeper.

Fred Chandler, the "good looking" clerk at the postoffice, is wearing an expansive smile on his classic features these days over the arrival of a handsome daughter at his home on Wednesday.

A large party of Yakima people left for the Sound on the belated train yesterday morning. Nearly all were bound for Seattle to welcome home the members of Co. E. Among others we noted the following: A. B. Wyckoff, Dell Hiscock, Frank Wheeler, J. T. Stuart and son, W. L. Wright, W. W. Robertson, L. W. Haworth, F. Cook and wife, Mrs. W. T. Clark, Mrs. S. O. Morford, Mrs. Harry Moran and F. D. Clemmer and bride.

Mrs. H. E. D. Merry, who returned on Thursday night to her home in Rossland, did not succeed in recovering her satchel containing $50, which she unfortunately lost the night before, between her mother's home and the depot.

J. G. Campbell returned from Gold Hill on Sunday, where he has spent the season in doing development work on his mining property. He reports that the recent fall of snow in the mountains had almost entirely disappeared before he left. He brought down some very rich mineral specimens taken out of his claim at a depth of 20 feet.

Chas. Wright, formerly of this city, but now of La Grande, Or., came over from that place last week and left again for home on Tuesday morning. Mr. Wright and son, in company with Geo. Wheeler, this season located a very valuable ledge of red ochre near the Sumpster valley in the Blue mountains. Ochre is a material that enters largely in the manufacture of paint. Mr. Wright is to be congratulated on his good fortune.

THE SPEECH MAKING POSTPONED

The committee on program for the reception of Company E concluded on Friday to change the date for the public speaking in the program of welcoming the soldiers, from Tuesday evening to Wednesday evening. This change was deemed necessary on account of the late arrival of the boys on Tuesday and the fact that the opera house will be in use on Tuesday evening by the banquet committee. The new arrangement was considered necessary and will doubtless prove more satisfactory all around.

City Schools

The following data concerning our schools during the month of October will be of interest:

Enrollment.....	722
Belonging at close of month.....	673
Average daily attendance.....	620
Percent of attendance.....	96

There was no tardiness in the rooms of Misses Carrie Young and Shannon. The second grade, columbia building, carried off the honors in per cent of attendance 98.5.

During next week, Nov. 6-10, the first primary grade will be reopened for the reception of new pupils. Send them in.

Prosser Pick-ups.

The Hotel Riverside changes management Nov. 1. Mr. Wright, who formerly conducted the hotel, is now interested in the Prosser restaurant, with Ed Buchtel.

H. J. Jenks and W. H. Brownlow returned on Saturday from the Klondike country. The interview with Mr. Jenks in last week's DEMOCRAT was much appreciated here.

Dan Calkins of Tacoma, who formerly resided here, was a business visitor the first of the week.

Nelson Rich, the well known railroad contractor, has received a large railroad contract in Idaho and will leave for there in a few days taking a number of Prosser boys with him.

Mr. Fisher spent Tuesday with good results hunting in the Horse Heaven.

A most enjoyable dance was given at the Lape hotel on Saturday evening. The cake walk was introduced in Prosser society by that master of the terpsichorean art Prof. John Kinffsbury, and promises to become quite popular.

STATE PRESS OPINION.

It is estimated that 8,000 traveling salesmen in Ohio have lost their positions through the trusts.—Tacoma News.

The United States cabinet yesterday discussed the political situation in Ohio. It must have been disquieting news that led the head of the nation to lay that matter before his official aids.—Seattle Times.

McKinley is president of the United States. Bryan is a defeated candidate for that office and according to the republican press a political corpse. Yet in McKinley's home, state of Ohio, Bryan has been receiving as great ovations as the president.—Colfax Commoner.

In Massachusetts many thousands of republicans are more confident that imperialism will kill the republic than that free coinage of silver will do harm, and they have consequently determined to cast their vote for the party of Bryan and the Chicago platform.—Vancouver Register.

In the Sulu Islands, if a debtor is unable to pay his debts, he is sold into perpetual slavery, and his children and generations are forever afterwards slaves. It would bear pretty hard upon a great many people in the United States if our flag should be made to mean the same here that it now means in the Sulu Islands.—Aberdeen Herald.

William J. Bryan says: "The people's attitude before the trusts reminds me of the composure of the man who was starving. He finally got a loaf of bread and was just preparing to eat it when a dog ran off with it. The man didn't get mad nor did he weep. He only said: 'Thank God, I've got my appetite left.' That is just what the people have left."—Seattle Herald.

There was a time not many moons ago when an American could honestly object to seating Polygamist Roberts of Utah, but when President McKinley induced the sultan of Sulu to become a Yankee and contracted to pay him $6,000 a year so that the sultan could afford to keep his numerous wives and slaves, we cannot honestly object to the sport from Utah.—Whatcom Blade.

In the treaty made between General Bates and the sultan of Sulu the United States agrees that no missionaries shall be allowed to proselyte in that territory. How will the preachers who have been contending that the subjugation of those islands will help spread the gospel explain and endorse this? It begins to look as though the administration believes whiskey and lead a better and more rapid civilizer than the gospel.—Tacoma Sun.

It is quite amusing to observe the anxiety of the McKinley organs to bar Admiral Dewey from the presidency. First they tell us the admiral is a republican, then he don't want the office and wouldn't have it, then he is not fit for it, then it would be unjust to him to nominate him, for he knows nothing about civil government. Anyhow he is in favor of McKinley, and they go on with reasons as plentiful as blackberries, and as soon as they have settled the matter to their liking they at once begin to enumerate the adverse reasons again. And so it goes from day to day. These protests are significant—very significant. Meantime Admiral Dewey has not said he would not be a candidate, but when told his son said he was a republican, he replied that his son "knows as much about my politics as that stick of wood."—Walla Walla Argus.

"After all it would probably be unnecessary for President McKinley to meditate between John Bull and Oom Paul," says an exchange. "The Boers are merely contending for independence and self government," and if the president were to advise J. B. to grant their reasonable demand, it would be perplexing to him to explain why he denies the request of the Filipinos, who are asking for the same thing.—Chehalis Advocate.

Ex-Governor J. H. McGraw has returned from Washington City where he was sent by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce to look after the matter of getting the government shipping for the Philippines transferred from San Francisco to Puget Sound where the cost of the government would be lessened in a nearer route. Mr. McGraw has given out to the press that he found the Southern Pacific railroad company in complete control of the situation with the administration and it would take the combined efforts of the congressional delegations of northwestern states to force Huntington to loosen his grip. Now if such a statement that a railroad corporation had secured complete control of the national administration had been made in 1892 or previous, the republican press of the country would have set up a howl that its author was an anarchist and a wild and woolly agitator.—Olympia Capital.

Late Fall Work.

When everything is protected for winter, I prepare the hotbeds and cold frames for the next spring's use. It is much easier to remove the old soil and manure in the fall than when it is frozen in the spring. Besides it makes a good mulch for the small fruits to protect them during the winter. The soil for the hotbeds in the spring should be placed in the cellar or where it will not freeze, and I have found none better than well rotted sods mixed with a fourth part of old manure. Before the ground freezes I plow the portion of the garden that is to be sown or planted early in the spring, and if the furrows can be only set on edge and the ground left uneven and rough the better will the frost pulverize it, says a Country Gentleman correspondent.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D., "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God, I am saved and now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at Louis O. Janek's drug store. Regular size 50cts and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Fine Groceries for fine people.

Four reasons why many of our first families go out of their way to trade with Pearson:

Do you know that many of our customers are the wealthiest and most particular in this town? They are the people who have tried other stores but were never fully satisfied until they came here.

WHY?

FIRST—Because we sell "guaranteed groceries." No auction goods; no seconds.

SECOND—Because we give your money back the minute you want it.

THIRD—Because our groceries are fresh and clean and pure. Nothing allowed to become shelf-worn.

FOURTH—Because our price are lower than any other grocer who sells good groceries.

If you are not fully pleased with your present grocer, give us a trial order. You can go back to him—if you choose.

Bill Was Fooled.

"Seen anything of a feller round here with red whiskers an a squint?" queried Bill Sykes of Newberg, as he adjusted his red comforter and blew a sonorous blast from his bibulous nose preparatory to taking a little stimulant, "cause if you have I've got business with him. He come to my house yesterday, an after talking around a spell an telling Hanner he thought she was my darter an making a fool of her he said he would have to inspect the well sent out by the state, you know.

"Well, I got a pailful of water, an he poured some in a sasser and looked at it through a mikyscope. Then I looked at it, an say, fellers, that water was full of alligators a foot long—microbes he called 'em. The upshot was I bought the mikyscope and some stuff to put in the well to kill the animals, an I paid him $10, but 'twas partly Hanner's fault."

Here Bill looked around defiantly and continued: "That stuff was salt an water an there wan't no bugs. They were painted on the glass to the mikyscope." And with a rather derogatory remark about the honesty of man generally Bill left in quest of the man with the squint.

A Scene of Terror In India.

A Bengal postoffice superintendent has received from one of his Babu inspectors this report of an accident at a river which had to be forced owing to the breakdown of a bridge:

"As I was to pass the river or water through my cart for absence of any boat some alligators ran on my oxen hence the oxen getting fear forcibly took away my cart in an abyss below the water of 12 feet which the cartman failed to obstruct. The oxen forcibly left the cart and fled to the other side of the river by swimming. I myself being inside the mat screen of my cart the whole cart fell down in the abyss, I used to cry loudly at the time. The cart with myself was drowned in the meantime the Overseer Babu Mehendra Nath Ghose and my cook jumped on the water and took my cart in a place where 4½ water then I myself jumped on the water and saved my life. The alligators getting fear from the cart fled to the roadside and no sooner we came to the road they jumped on the water. Had I been under suffocation for three minutes more then there was no hope of my life. * * * The nearest residents told there after that some men died this year in the abyss by the attack of the alligators. I am much unwell the voice of my speech is fallen low and out of order from the suffocation."—London Standard

Good Butter In Cold Weather.

First of all I want to say we milk three good Jersey cows, and also that a good Jersey cow is a very important feature in making good butter. I save no strappings and scarcely ever break the cream on a pan of milk until it is ready to skim. When the cream has all raised, I skim into a 1½ gallon jar. When the jar is full, I stand it in a pan that is about five inches deep and fill the pan with pretty hot water, but not too hot. Stir the cream occasionally and leave in the water one-half or three-quarters of an hour; suit it a little to your work and the temperature of your cream. Then pour into a warm churn and churn about 15 minutes. When the butter is gathered, I remove to a bowl and work the milk out, then pour a little water in and work it out a time or so to be sure to get all the milk out. Then I salt and work into rolls. From 1½ gallons of cream I always make four pounds of gilt edge butter. There is nothing more commendable in a young woman than being a good housekeeper. By that we mean to know how to do all kinds of housework, and girls will find it a better way to learn before they are married, as experience is sometimes a dear lesson.—Cor. National Stockman.

Simply a Waste of Time.

"It's the policy of the administration, you tell me, to assimilate us benovolently and to civilize and Christianize us thereafter?"

"That's the stuff!" asserted the great white chief's emissary.

"And then when we're assimilated, civilized and Christianized your good missionaries will teach us the way to work?" the Sulu went on gloomily.

"Yes; there's nothing like work to make you niggers good republicans," the emissary replied.

"And if we work, there'll be a chance for us to organize a trust and become millionaires, and live the rest of our lives in idleness?" asked the savage.

"Sure."

"Then," said the savage, a gleam of intelligence illuminating his broad, brown brow, "as none of us have to work now I don't see any use in wasting all that time in getting around to that which we have enjoyed for centuries—the blessings of idleness."

And the emissary withdrew in disgust.—Verdict.

Notice—Sheriff's Sale of Real Estate

In the Superior Court of Yakima County, State of Washington.

The City of North Yakima, Plaintiff, vs. R. W. Sample and his wife, Defendants. Special Execution. No. 2088.

By virtue of a special writ of execution issued out of the Superior Court of the State of Washington, for the county of Yakima, in a suit wherein the city of North Yakima is plaintiff and R. W. Sample and his wife are defendants, commanding me to make out of lot ten (10) in block thirty-two (32) in the city of North Yakima, Yakima county, state of Washington, according to the plat and survey thereof of record in the office of the county auditor of said county, the sum of thirty-two and 68-100 ($32.68) dollars, with legal interest thereon from October 2, 1899, until paid, together with my commission, fees and expenses of said sale, and commanding me to make out of lot eleven (11) in block thirty-two (32) in said city, according to said plat the sum of thirty-two and 68-100 ($32.68) dollars, with legal interest thereon from the 2d day of October, 1899, until paid, together with my commission, fees and expenses of said sale.

Notice is hereby given that on Saturday, the 18th day of November, 1899, at the hour of 1:30 o'clock p.m. of said day, in front of the court house door in the city of North Yakima, Yakima county, state of Washington, in obedience to said writ of special execution and order of sale, I will sell at public auction, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, said lot ten (10) in said block thirty-two (32) in said city, according to said plat, all the right, title and interest therein of the said R. W. Sample and his wife, and each and both of them and that at said time and place I will sell to the highest and best bidder for cash said lot eleven (11) in said block thirty-two (32) in said city according to said plat all the right, title and interest therein of the said defendants and each and both of them; and further that at said time and place I will sell to the highest bidder for cash said lot twelve (12) in said block thirty-two (32) in said city according to said plat all the right, title and interest therein of said defendants and each and both of them.

Witness my hand this 18th day of October, 1899. H. L. TUCKER, Sheriff of said Yakima County, Washington. By J. W. SINDALL, Deputy. Date of first publication: October 21, 1899. VESTAL SNYDER, Attorney for the Plaintiff.

A GRAND AFFAIR.

Will be the Reception Extended Company E.

The executive or general committee for the reception of Co. E, held a very important meeting on Wednesday afternoon, with almost a full attendance. Secretary Dam read a telegram from Captain Seudder at San Francisco, which stated that the whole company would attend the grand reception at Seattle, about one-half of the company going by rail and the remainder including five officers by train. This was taken by the committee to mean a definite settlement of the transportation matter from Frisco to Seattle.

The secretary was instructed to correspond by wire with Mrs. John B. Allen at Seattle, who is chairman of the Seattle sub-committee on transportation to endeavor to find out at what time the train will leave that city bringing the soldiers home and offering to provide dinner for the other four eastern Washington companies as they pass through, the local banquet committee having given notice that it would provide means of refreshment for all that might come. The news conveyed by the daily press that the arrangement of the Seattle committee, provided for a 5 o'clock dinner at Ellensburg for all the eastern Washington boys, was somewhat displeasing to the members of the local committee as it was considered that the arrival here would be so late as to spoil previous arrangements for the reception. In case the above program stands, however, it was voted to have light refreshments prepared at both Mason's and Switzer's opera houses to which spread the soldiers and the five companies of militia, who are expected to be with them, would be invited to partake of.

Attorney Fred Parker was unanimously elected as grand marshal of the parade, which will be formed on the arrival of the train, the line of march being from the depot down Yakima avenue to Natchez, thence to C street and then down First to Mason's opera house.

The Walla Walla and Waitsburg bands together with the local organization will furnish enlivening music for the occasion.

The street decorations will consist besides a large amount of bunting and the decoration of individual merchants, of a huge flag illuminated transparency to be suspended across the street from the Hotel Yakima. A handsome memorial panel will also be in evidence on the avenue by which means it is expected to exhibit pictures of the honored dead of Company E.

About ten minutes will be allowed at the depot after the arrival of the train to enable relatives to greet the soldiers, during which time other orders participating in the parade will be expected to be forming in line.

The following will be the position of the different organizations in the parade;

- First—Company E.
- Second—Other companies from eastern Washington.
- Third—The several companies militia.
- Fourth—Uniform rank K. P.
- Fifth—Woodmen of the World.
- Sixth—Modern Woodmen.
- Seventh—Order of Red Men.

The balance of the exercises which will include an address of welcome by Mayor Fechter and speeches from a number of prominent citizens will conclude the program for the day.

LATER—It has been learned definitely that the train bearing the soldiers will arrive at 8 p. m. on Tuesday next.

The jewelry store of H. Rehmke and brother of Ellensburg, was burglarized during the noon hour Wednesday, while the two proprietors were out at lunch. An entrance was effected through the back door and about $4000 worth of goods removed from the show case and carried away. The missing valuables includes 72 gold watches and a number of diamond rings. No attempt was made to gain entrance to a safe which contained other valuables. There is no clue to the robber or robbers. Mr. H. Rehmke is a brother-in-law of Mr. A. Schindeler of this city.

Sunnyside Flashes

Potato digging is in the order of the day.

Many of our citizens with their teams are working on the canal, putting it in shape for the winter.

Mr. Maynshien is walking on air these days, all on account of the arrival of a little daughter at his home last week.

Will Ramsey aged 22, died at the residence of his uncle, Mr. L. Clepton, last Friday. Mr. Ramsay was brought home ill with the fever from Parker sometime ago.

Mr. Mitchell is getting ready to commence drilling an artesian well on the desert land of J. W. Turner east of town above the canal.

W. M. Foley has opened a blacksmith shop in the building formerly occupied by Mr. Mitchell.

The library social on Saturday evening was a great success and was enjoyed by everyone present. The program was short but interesting.
