BOXERS VERSUS STALWARTS

A Spirited Fight in Prospect at the Republican Primaries—
Line-up of the Opposing Factions.

The republican primaries for Yakima county will be held next Saturday, Aug. 20. The county convention will meet at the armory hall in this city a week later, Aug. 27 to nominate the legislative and county ticket.

There is every indication that there will be a sharp and bitter fight between the two factions, the Stalwarts and the Boxers for the control of the county convention. The leaders of the two camps are already marshaling their forces and laying their plans to win at the primaries. Several very prominent gentlemen of this city have even denied themselves their customary summer vacations in order to be on hand and see that no points are overlooked in the game. The political ambition of a host of candidates is at stake and all of them are keen to win.

There probably never was a time when factional lines were as closely drawn in the G. O. P. of this county as is the case today. Heretofore, while there has been a good deal of quarreling over the nominations it has generally been the case that every man had to fight his own battle. Now there are two well defined camps and every candidate looking for a place on the ticket realizes that he must stay with his own crowd or his chances will be nil. Each faction will make its own slate for delegates at the primaries next Saturday and every man who wants a nomination will be expected to get in and drill.

If the stalwart faction controls the convention some of the boys in the court house may as well begin to look for other snags, for they will be ousted if, on the other hand, the Boxers win certain leaders of the stalwarts will doubtless feel like the statesman out of a job.

The main fight will, of course, center on the senatorship with Dr. W. H. Hare and J. H. Fraser as the opposing candidates. If the Stalwarts win "Doc" will go on the ticket for senator, while Capt. Dunn and Prince Harris will likely be named for representatives. In case Capt. Dunn finally refuses, Col. Amasa Walker, the sage of Zillah, will probably go on the ticket in his stead. If Mr. Fraser wins out S. J. Harrison of Sunnyside and John Cleman of the Wenas are likely to be nominated for representatives, although there is some talk among the Boxers of bringing out E. L. Boardman of the Herald as a candidate for the House.

If the Stalwarts win Attorney H. B. Rigg will be the nominee for superior judge, W. M. Thompson will go on the ticket for prosecuting attorney, Lee Tittle will run for treasurer, Z. Y. Coleman will make a try for sheriff and H. B. Donst for county clerk.

If the Boxers find themselves in control they will be likely to do six things that R. K. Nicholls will receive the nomination for superior judge, while the boys in the court house will all be given the chance to hold onto their jobs, except Dickey and Peck, the former not being eligible and the latter not a candidate for a second term. Both factions talk of finding new candidates for county commissioners.

The fight for supremacy next Saturday will be a merry one and will be watched with interest by the democrats. There will certainly be something doing.

Death of "Doc" Flynn.

The venerable William Flynn, better known as "Doc" Flynn, an old time resident of the Wenas valley, died at the Hotel Bartholet at an early hour Monday morning of illness incident to old age. He had come to this city to receive medical attention but instead of getting better steadily grew worse until death came to relieve him. Deceased was about 82 years of age. The funeral was held from the Catholic church Wednesday morning, burial being made in the Wenas cemetery.

Mr. Flynn was born in Ireland and was an unmarried man, so far as known. His relatives, if he had any, are unknown to any person here. He had lived in the Wenas valley since 1872 and by dint of hard labor had accumulated during his lifetime a fortune estimated at about $35,000, the most of which is represented by his Wenas farms.

Some people say that Doc Flynn made a will a few weeks ago in which he bequeathed a large portion of his estate to the Catholic church of this city with which he had long been affiliated. Some of those who knew him intimately express the opinion that the old man made no will and died intestate.

The petition of Charles Longmire was filed with Clerk Day of the superior court Wednesday asking that he be appointed administrator of the estate. In this petition Longmire states that for some time he has acted as attorney in fact for deceased and that he is more familiar with his business than any other person. He files with his petition a detailed statement or invoice of the property held by deceased as well as the claims against the estate included in which is one held by the attorney in fact for the sum of $4000 which, he alleges, is justly due him for services rendered.

BIG KLIKITAT DITCH

George B. Nelson, Chief Promoter,
Says It Will Go—Plan to Irrigate 200,000 Acres at a Cost of $2,000,000.

George B. Nelson of Seattle, who in connection with the late C. G. Wands conceived the idea of building a great irrigation canal, the water of which would be taken out of the Klickitat river to cover a vast tract of table land in this and Klickitat county, was in North Yakima last Saturday. Speaking of this gigantic proposition to the Democrat scribe, Mr. Nelson said:

"The sudden death through accident of my friend and partner in this enterprise, Mr. Wands, of course, interferes with the progress of our plans to put the big ditch scheme on its feet, but it will not kill it. I have already made arrangements with Mr. Rice, a leading civil engineer of Seattle to go over the route of our proposed ditch with me next week. We will also take measurements of the water in the Klickitat river and lay out the route of the ditch in a general way. For the most part what Mr. Wands did on the project we have to be gone over again. We expect to get our surveys all made this season so as to arrive at an intelligent estimate of the cost. Roughly estimated I calculate that such a ditch as we contemplate would cover not less than 200,000 acres of land at a cost from one and one half to two million dollars. If there is enough water in the Klickitat river at all stages to answer, and I believe that there is, the scheme will go. I am satisfied now that the proposition from an engineering standpoint is perfectly feasible. However, in order to show capital everything has to be all right and we intend to satisfy ourselves before we attempt to finance the scheme. I believe though that we will be ready to commence actual construction work out there by next spring."

Mr. Nelson said further that some local parties were now interested with him and held stock in the promotion company organized a few months ago. He himself, he said, had set aside a certain portion of his own stock in the proposed enterprise for the future benefit of the infant daughter of Mr. Wands, whose untimely death he felt most keenly.

Mr. Nelson had the contract for all the excavation work on the big ditch recently constructed in Kittitas county. A few days ago he filed a lien on the entire system to secure the payment of $41,000, which, he alleges, is still due him on the work.

Married.

On Thursday morning at the residence of Norman Robinson on Nob Hill, Charles F. Lott to Mrs. Minnie Mae Miles, Rev. Alfred H. Henry officiating. The newly wedded pair left on the same afternoon amid the congratulations of their friends for a short trip to Sound points. On their return they will make their home on west Yakima avenue.

Dr. Harry A. Shaw of Seattle and Miss Birdie E. Bartholet of this city were united in marriage at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Bartholet, on north Fourth street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Diomed of the Catholic church. The wedding was a quiet one, but a few intimate friends being present. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw left Thursday morning for Seattle where they will make their future home.

The Lamp Exploded.

Paul Kruger and family had a narrow escape from being at least severely burned at their home near the railway track to the north of the city at about 11 o'clock Wednesday night.

Mr. Kruger was preparing for bed and had grasped the lamp in one hand and was attempting to shut a screen door on the kitchen with the other, when the wind, which was quite high at the time, blew the flame of the lamp down into the oil, causing an explosion. Mr. Kruger, as soon as he saw the danger to himself, threw the lamp to the floor where the burning oil scattered over the walls and made the kitchen a mass of flames. Mrs. Kruger and the children were rescued but the fire spread so rapidly it was impossible to save any of the contents of the building.

An alarm was sent in and the fire department responded but could do nothing as there was no hydrant to which a hose could be attached and the flames had got beyond the chemical.

Mr. Kruger lost all his household effects besides a number of orders for trees. He figured his loss at about $1500. He carried $500 insurance.

The house was a total loss. It was owned by W. S. Waugh and was insured for $500.

KILLED BY FALLING LUMBER

Phillip Weber Meets Death at the Mill of the Cascade Lumber Company Monday Morning.

Philip Weber, a resident of this city for the past three months, met an untimely death Monday at the mill of the Cascade Lumber company.

Deceased had commenced work at the mill on the morning of his death. He was employed in unloading a car of lumber when in some manner one of the props was dislodged, permitting the lumber to fall from the car upon him. He was taken from beneath the pile by fellow-workmen and removed to the Deaconess hospital where an examination showed a badly fractured skull. Everything possible was done to prolong life but without avail, death coming on the afternoon of the same day, the injured man never having regained consciousness.

The remains were removed to Sessions undertaking parlors and on Thursday afternoon were shipped to Cincinnati, Ohio, where a wife and other relatives reside. They were accompanied by Nathan, a 13 year old son, who came west with his father and had resided with him here.

Mr. Weber was a member of the Masonic fraternity and that body assisted materially in arranging for the shipment of the body, which was done in answer to a telegraphic request received in this city Wednesday.

Game Warden Nicol Reappointed.

The board of county commissioners this week reappointed A. A. Nicol as game warden of the county. Mr. Nicol was relieved from duty a few months ago by the board ostensibly for the reason that there is a defect in the state game law. In reality, however, Mr. Nicol was removed by the board on account of pressure brought to bear by a number of local sportsmen who disagreed with Mr. Nicol as to what constituted a fair distribution over the county of the 50 pair of Chinese pheasants received by him from Oregon last winter and paid for out of the special fund collected by the license fee against hunters.

Mr. Nicol, however, was all this time and is yet a deputy state warden. As a sportsman he takes a deep interest in the welfare of the game and is the relentless enemy of the man or boy who would kill birds out of season. He is especially interested in the welfare of the Chinese pheasants which from all accounts are doing well in this valley as a number of the old birds have been seen this season in different parts of the county with broods of young pheasants. It is to be hoped that no further friction will occur relative to the duties of the game warden.

Sunday Closing To Be Enforced.

A movement is said to be on foot among certain church people of this city having for its object the closing up by legal process of the theaters and saloons especially during the hop picking season. In fact the matter may be pushed farther and steps taken to close up all kinds of business houses that may wish to do business on Sundays through the hop harvest, as it has been the custom for years in the past. The movement for Sunday closing is believed to have the support of two or three members of the city council.

A meeting of those in sympathy with the movement was held last Monday night in the office of Attorney Logan H. Roberts and a plan of procedure marked out.

A prominent saloon man, who did not wish his name quoted, in discussing the matter said that if the saloons were obliged to close up on Sunday that it might be taken for granted all other lines of business not exempted by law would close up also. This, he said, was the way it worked two years ago at Walla Walla when a well organized attempt was made in that city to close the saloons on Sunday.

Mrs. W. H. Scott went to Seattle Wednesday to visit a few days with friends. She also saw her daughter Helen depart by steamer for San Francisco for a term at the University of California.

MR. MEAD WAS HERE

Extends the "Glad Hand" to All
Callers—Col. Whitson Gives "Harmony" Dinner in Honor of "the Governor."

The presence of Hon. A. E. Mead in this city last Saturday and Sunday created quite a flutter of excitement among the faithful. Mr. Mead was here ostensibly to deliver a speech to the Woodmen at their log rolling Saturday, but in reality to look after his political fences in the sage brush country, having doubtless been informed by some of his political mentors that there are a goodly number of rotten rails therein.

Mr. Mead, accompanied by his protegee, C. W. Claussen of Port Orchard, candidate for state treasurer, registered at the Yakima Friday night on his arrival from Ellensburg. He was met at the train by a number of his local supporters who gave him an enthusiastic welcome and carried him off to his hotel.

Mr. Mead is democratic in manner if not in politics and extended the "glad hand" to all comers during the time that he was here. He was almost constantly in close touch with the local leaders of his party and the heads of the two rival factions, the Stalwarts and Boxers, vied with each other in doing him honor although the stalwarts, under the astute management of Col. Whitson, Col. Robertson and Doc Hare seemed to have a shade the best of it and apparently had the ear as well as the confidence of the would-be executive. However, Editor Boardman, State Committeeman Barge and "Senator" Fraser managed to "butt in" occasionally, although none of the trio, so far as known, got an opportunity to tell their troubles to the Bellingham statesman, he being under close guard all the while at the hotel. The fact remains though that the candidate for governor accepted an invitation extended by Mr. Fraser, the Boxer candidate for senator, to dine with him Sunday. What was said is, of course, not public property, but it is reasonable to infer that it was not along scriptural lines. Whether Mr. Fraser succeeded in convincing Mr. Mead of the grave necessity of having a railroad commission remains to be seen.

Saturday evening the two candidates accepted an invitation for a carriage ride with Col. Whitson and Prof. Barge. On returning they were escorted to the theater by Col. Whitson and Col. Robertson.

Col. Whitson, always an astute and resourceful politician, planned a coup to unite the heads of the warring factions in this county by giving a "harmony" dinner at his residence Sunday evening in honor of the "next governor." Knowing that nothing so much as a good dinner, with plenty of good cheer thrown in, would pacify the troubled souls of the Boxer captains, the colonel extended the invitations to his midnight banquet. Here is the list of the invited guests as near as the Democrat could learn, although the genial host himself politely refused information on the subject:

Hon. A. E. Mead, C. W. Claussen, Dr. W. H. Hare, Dr. P. Frank, Fred Parker, W. H. Redman, Ira P. Englehart, Frank Horsley, George Donald, W. W. Robertson, C. M. Hauser, H. B. Rigg, E. B. Moore, B. F. Barge, James H. Fraser, J. D. Cornett, E. L. Boardman, A. B. Weed, Col. Amasa Walker and R. K. Nicholls.

The affair was in every way a delightful function due in no small measure to the princely qualities of the host as an entertainer. The Democrat has the information from one who was there that considering the sacred character of the day that politics was not discussed at the festive board. To the common herd this ought to be a comforting bit of news.

No Mardi Gras.

The Mardi Gras carnival people failed to show up in this city at the time billed, Aug. 10-12. The company is said to have met with financial difficulties and accordingly unable to leave Tacoma where they played for two weeks to losing houses.

Mr. and Mrs. William Richards delightfully entertained the members of Ruth Circle of the M. E. church at their home to the north of the city Tuesday evening. Ice cream and cake and other delicacies were served during the evening.

Miss Carrie Livesly of Sumner, Ore., returned to her home Wednesday after spending some time in this city visiting her sister, Mrs. John Dobie of the Ahtanum, and Mrs. John Sawbridge. The North Yakima Athletic club gave a pleasant dancing party at the armory Wednesday night.

THE WOODMEN PICNIC

Log Rolling Saturday a Pronounced Success Although Attendance Was Not Large—Candidate Mead Addressed the Gathering.

Although the attendance was not as large as anticipated at the annual log rolling of the Modern Woodmen of central Washington, held at the state fair grounds last Saturday, the event passed off smoothly and those in attendance report a pleasant time. The excursion train, from points in Kittitas county failed to materialize although a few visitors came from that direction. The attendance from Yakima City, Zillah, Toppenish and surrounding camps was very good, however, that from Zillah particularly, where Woodcraft is a very strong institution.

The parade started from Woodmen hall in the syndicate block about 10:30 a. m. headed by Nagler's band, followed by the Woodmen from the different camps and members of the auxiliary order, the Royal Neighbors, the ladies presenting a very handsome appearance, which called forth many compliments from bystanders.

A. E. Mead of Bellingham, republican candidate for governor, was present according to appointment, accompanied by C. W. Claussen of Port Orchard. Mr. Mead, with a number of local republican politicians in his wake, was taken to the fair grounds in a hack where he delivered an address from manuscript to the assembled crowd on the beauties of Woodcraft. After the speech the most of those in attendance adjourned to the grove for a picnic dinner.

In the afternoon the full program of sports was carried out. There were a number of very interesting contests pulled off, the Zillah teams of both the Woodmen and the Royal Neighbors capturing the first prizes, exhibiting marked superiority generally in team work. Following is the list of prizes awarded:

Best team drill, Zillah won, prize $75.
Best Royal Neighbors team drill, Zillah, $50.

Log rolling prize, won by Cle Elum in 2:48; prize, $48.

Fat man's race, Dick Diamond, $2.

Royal Neighbors' foot race, Mrs. Jerry Wheeler, $2.

Horse race—Montana against Fred Brooker's horse, won by Montana in two out of three heats, prize $140.

For best and largest representation of camp in parade and largest percentage of membership, Zillah, first prize, North Yakima being barred.

First prize to Royal Neighbors of Zillah for largest representation of Royal Neighbors.

Best decorated float, Sunshine camp, this city.

J. F. Lisle, best decorated rig.
Mrs. Brown received the prize for the best decorated ladies' outfit.

Financially the picnic was a losing venture and a deficit is said to exist. This is doubtless due in some measure to the mistake made by the management of the affair in giving the picnic a political tinge by inviting office seekers here to participate in the day's doings. Naturally this action offended some members of the order and failed to appeal to non-members who recognized the impropriety of such a course. It is only fair to state in this connection that the plan to have Mr. Mead speak here on that occasion was not favored by a number of Woodmen who are republicans, some of whom served on the different committees.

is a never failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Crick, of White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years; tried all kinds of remedies but continued to grow worse. By the use of Kodol I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by C. C. Case.

THE BOARD ADJOURNS

Equalization Board Finds It Hard Work to Please Everybody—Commissioners Stand Pat on Railway Assessment.

The county commissioners sitting as a board of equalization adjourned Tuesday afternoon, having concluded its labors. All three members, Messrs. Lince Kane and Cline, were present throughout the session.

The petition of Jay Sedgwick, tax adjuster of the N. P. Ry. company for a reduction of that company's assessment on its right-of-way and main track in this county, was rejected. The assessment made by Assessor Coonse of $9240 per mile on the main line and $2640 on sidetrack is thus left to stand. Mr. Sedgwick asked that this year's assessment be reduced to $7392 and $1320 per mile respectively. Mr. Sedgwick is reported to have made the statement that the railway company will refuse to pay its taxes for 1904 in this county until compelled to do so by the courts.

The Northwest Light & Power company objected to their assessment of $37,000 on their franchise from this city in the face of the fact that the North Yakima city council claims to have repealed its franchise and that it has none at all now. This plea looked logical to the board so it was decided to reduce the assessment on the franchise from $37,000 to $7000, although the reason why that corporation should pay anything in taxes on a franchise it does not possess is not apparent to the average layman.

A very considerable reduction was made in the assessment against the Washington Irrigation company. The representatives of that company stated that the present carrying capacity of the Sunnyside canal was not sufficient to properly irrigate all the lands beneath it and that it is manifestly unfair to tax its unsold lands for as much as land that has a water right attached and that none of the company's land has a water right attached until it is sold. The reduction was made on the arid lands of the company to correspond with the assessment on other arid lands. The board, however, concluded that a total of $100,000 of an assessment against the company's property was not enough and raised the amount to $115,000. This action brought an emphatic protest from Messrs. Denny and Granger on the ground of being excessive. The assessment stands as the board refused to lower it.

A number of citizens objected to the assessment made on their property. In some cases the board instead of lowering raised the assessments of those who thought they had a kick coming.

Loop-the-Loop Victims.

A young girl was seriously injured in this city last week while looping-the-loop in a large hall. This recalls the fact that a dispatch was sent out from Jamestown, N. Y., a few weeks ago, stating that a young woman from Cleveland died as the result of injuries received on a "loop-the-loop" at Celeron, while still another victim was in a dying condition. The coroner and the district attorney were reported to have begun an investigation in that case.

The "feat" which was attempted here should not be permitted. There is no sense or justification in boxing up a human being in a ball and rolling down an incline to "loop-the-loop." It is preposterous to allow anybody to take such liberties with another's life. The girl in the ball has no possible control over it, and simply risks her life to satisfy a morbid and indefensible curiosity. Such spectacles are nauseating and there is abundant reason for prohibiting them. They are fraught with too great danger to be pleasurable to any person with a natural regard for the life and safety of others.—Tacoma Ledger.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

In and About the Hub of Central Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coffin are spending the week on the Sound.

John Michels and family are rusticating at their summer home at the head of Lake Kachess.

The Orpheum theatre beginning Monday night will play "Farmer Jones" and his educated pigs.

A. E. Howard is planning to erect a large warehouse on his property adjoining his planing mill.

Councilman Bull and wife left the first of the week on their trip to Minnesota and New England.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weigel and little son returned the first of the week from their vacation trip to The Dalles.

John Pettit made a flying trip down from the mountains this week where he has been looking after his sheep.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Cary, who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. W. J. Roaf of Sebastopol, Cal., are expected home today.

Councilman D. M. Rand and wife expect to leave in a few days for a visit to the World's fair and their former home, Minneapolis, Minn.

Services at the Christian Church next Sunday morning and evening. Dr. Richardson will preach in the morning and Rev. L. V. Stasor in the evening.

Good progress is being made by Contractor Scott on his contract of adding the third story to the Hotel Yakima. The contract calls for completion of the work by Sept. 15.

Building operations on the burned district on south First street have been in full swing for the past two weeks. The new buildings going up are all frame structures.

Martin J. Maloney, of Colville, the well known democratic politician, arrived from the west Tuesday to join Mrs. Maloney and their son, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ryan.

W. L. Steinwag leaves this city Sunday for his vacation trip to Alaska. He will go to Skagway, thence to Dawson by rail and boat and from there down the Yukon to St. Michaels, from which point he will return to Seattle. He expects to be absent a month.

The Palace house, located on north First street between "A" and "B," erected by W. Boyd, of the Natches, is now finished and furnished and was opened to the public. Mr. Boyd will conduct it as a lodging house. The Palace is a two story brick structure containing about 20 sleeping apartments and is up-to-date in every respect. It is a very creditable addition to north First street.

The Yakima Markets.

The commission men of North Yakima had to "get busy" during the past few days, due to the large amount of produce that the farmers are bringing in. The following prices have ruled during the most of this week:

Alfalfa hay, $7.75; timothy hay No. 1, $12.00; timothy mixed, $10.50; clover, $9.00; wheat hay, $8.50; potatoes, No. 1 white, $18.00; potatoes, red stock, $15.00; apples, 50c to 60c per box; Hales early peaches, 40c per box; Bartlett pears, 1 1/2c per lb.; cantaloupes, $1.25 per crate.

New Suits Filed.

Mary L. Chambers vs. Walter A. Chambers,—divorce.

D. Darveau vs. W. W. Pettijohn,—suit to enforce contract.

E. T. McCoy vs. W. P. Guthrie, defendant, and Albert Chandler, garnishment.

Frank Riggle vs. Norman Compton and Rose Compton,—action to recover personal property.

W. M. Williams vs. George Pulliam,—injunction.

David Little vs. Catherine Little,—divorce.

Kennewick Investment Company vs. Charles H. Putnam,—injunction.

The Hop Outlook.

Hop growers are generally of the opinion that picking will commence from Sept. 1st to 5th. As a rule the hops are a little later than for the same period last year. It is estimated that the crop in this valley will be an average one but of a better quality than for several years past. The growers are now on the look-out for pickers. The price this week ranges about 22c.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

DITTER BROTHERS

IN MEMORIAM

Charles G. Wands.

In memory of Charles G. Wands who met his sudden and untimely death on the Interurban owl train near Milton, on the eve of July 12th, 1904.

Charles Gilbert Wands was born near Gillied, State of Nebraska, and had just passed his 40th birthday. His father was a Baptist clergyman, who died in 1889. His mother, Elisabeth Wands, lived until 1903, when she too passed away. At last accounts there were three brothers and two sisters still living. In early life Mr. Wands completed his education and then turned his attention to surveying and civil engineering. He was surveyor, civil engineer, promoter of irrigation and also government mineral surveyor and handled his professions with recognized ability. Since coming to the state of Washington he had taken great interest in irrigation schemes and was very active in that line. In November 1901 he married Miss May Pettit, daughter of John and Elizabeth Pettit of North Yakima. To the happy marriage union one child was born, a pretty little daughter, born May 25th, 1903, on the day President Roosevelt visited North Yakima, and the little one was christened Roosevelt Wands in honor of the event. Mr. Wands was a most kind and indulgent husband, a loving father and had many friends. He was never complaining, went about his daily tasks always cheerful and kind. On the morning of July 12th he started for Tacoma and Seattle, his wife, baby and mother-in-law accompanied him to the early morning train. He stated to Mrs. Wands that he did not want to take that trip but thought it was his duty in behalf of his company and that it would be the final trip in preparing things for the starting point of their great plans. As the train came rushing in at the depot he grasped his baby girl which the grandma was holding, and kissed her over and over, waived his hand and said ta-ta little one until papa comes home again, said good bye mother, closed the door and walked with his wife to the train, and there the last embrace and good-bye was said, then stepping on board the train that went speeding on its way. He fully expected to return on the Saturday following his going away, and as he failed to come on the 3 p. m. train Mrs. Wands went to the 11:30 train at night to meet him but as yet he did not come.

Mr. Wands' profession and business had often taken him to the highest mountain peaks and the deepest, darkest canyons. He had ridden on all kinds of railway trains all hours of the day and night and he feared no evil. But on the date above mentioned nearing the midnight hour he had a call from the almighty, the great giver of souls, and his spirit took its flight and returned to the God that gave it. A special train conveyed the body back to Tacoma and it was placed in Mellingers undertaking parlors and praise and much credit is due the worthy gentleman for preparing the body so lovely for burial and then returning it to the home in North Yakima. The sad news fell with crushing weight upon the wife and friends who awaited his coming. The funeral took place at the Presbyterian church on Wednesday, July 27th, at 2 o'clock p. m. Rev. Thompson speaking from these words: "There is but a step between thee and death," which was so appropriate for the occasion. The casket was covered and surrounded with beautiful flowers from the Rebekahs, K. of P.'s and other friends, the K. of P.'s sent a beautiful emblem of the triangle at 3 p. m. The long procession wended its way to Tahoma cemetery, there honored by the Knights of Pythias, of which deceased was a member and laid to rest there to wait the final summons of the resurrection morn.

We miss thee from our home, dear,
We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care,
Our home is dark without thee,
We miss thee everywhere.

Death of John Porter.

John Porter, the venerable father of Mrs. R. N. Harrison of this city, died at his home near Silverton, Ore., July 28. Mr. Porter was an old and respected pioneer of Oregon and was known to a number of people in North Yakima, having spent a winter here some two or three years ago with Mr. and Mrs. Harrison.

The Silverton, Ore., News in commenting on the death of Mr. Porter, who succumbed to the death messenger at the ripe old age of 74, speaks of the deceased in most eulogistic terms. Mr. Porter, it says, accompanied his parents across the plains in 1853 from their former home in Fulton county, Illinois. They traveled with the traditional ox team finally reaching their destination, Oregon, after encountering many hardships. Mr. Porter took up a donation claim near Silverton soon after his arrival, where he made his home until he died, a period of 51 years.

Deceased lived a useful life that was full of good deeds. He was married in 1856 to Miss Annie White, the union being blessed by six children. His devoted wife preceded him to the grave, having died Dec. 28, 1897.

Mrs. Harrison of this city was present at her father's death bed and ministered to him in his last hours.

Cures Sciatica.

Rev. W. L. Riley, L.L.D., Cuba, New York, writes: "After fifteen days of excruciating pain from sciatic rheumatism under various treatments I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment; the first application giving my first relief and the second entire relief. I can give it unqualified recommendation." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by F. L. Janek's drug store.

Mr. Heaton shipped 75 crates of fine cantaloupes Saturday.

Mr. Peter Huseh visited his uncle in North Yakima Sunday.

Prof. S. Melvaine was down from North Yakima Saturday looking after his cantaloupes.

Mr. Heaton's son-in-law came over from Seattle last week to help him in with his cantaloupes.

The farmers around Wapato have finished cutting their second crop of alfalfa and are all hustling for water.

Miss Mable Roberts and little brother Frank were visiting at the Smith home last week. She also called on a number of her former pupils. Miss Roberts will teach the Nob Hill school the coming year.

Dr. Bartlie was called to Wapato a couple of days last week to see the little twins of Mr. and Mrs. Joan Carrol, who have been dangerously ill, but at this writing are a little better.

Mr. George Blake died at the home of his father Thursday and was buried Friday. Mr. Blake's sickness dated from the time he had the fever eleven months ago. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn his death. Mrs. Blake's brother arrived from Montana but was too late for the funeral. He took his sister and child home with him.

BIGGEST PARADE ON EARTH

Ringling Brothers Display Three Miles of Opulent Splendors and Marvelous Novelties.

The Ringling Brothers, five of them, who have made a name in the amusement field that stands for all that is new, novel, strictly modern and far-reaching in magnitude, present this season the most attractive and colossal free street parade ever attempted in the history of circuses. Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows exhibit in North Yakima, Thursday, August 18. Since last season the parade has been enlarged and improved upon by master hands in the art of producing circus attractions with all the care and pride that is evident in the numerous other departments of Ringling Brothers' enormous tented amusement enterprise. There is something in this pageant to interest and hold the attention of every spectator. The student of natural history is furnished the grandest object lesson that the human mind could possibly conceive, for the wonders of the wild animal world are brought before him in living, breathing reality. The lover of fine stock has here 650 magnificent thoroughbred horses upon which to feast his eyes; the admirer of physical perfection is regaled with the sight of hundreds of the world's greatest acrobats, equilibrists, gymnasts and riders; the artistic interest is gratified in the opulent splendor of massive beautifully carved floats representing the known countries of the globe. Men and women, in the picturesque garb of the various nations, form regal allegorical tableaux. Each float is accompanied by a detachment of the soldiery of the country represented, and the picture is further enlivened and made more realistic by bands composed of German, Russian, French, Scottish, India and Persian musicians. The representative float of the United States is superb in red, white and blue effects, surrounded by an escort of Rough Riders and preceded by Ringling Brothers' famous cavalry band, mounted on handsome white horses. The parade is in thirty sections, and each one is a superb attraction in itself, with its hundreds of proudly stepping horses, with waving plumes and trappings of gold and silver; its gorgeously costumed knights and ladies, heralds and courtiers; its brilliantly uniformed soldiers; its numerous bands of music, and its 68-stop triple strength pipe organ, builded on a monster van and drawn by ten horses; its great herds of 40 elephants and 20 camels; its children's section, in which miniature Shetland ponies draw pretty little tableau wagons, and its scores of beautifully carved and ornamented dens and cages of openly exhibited rare wild beasts, form a picture that in wealth of display and beauty of coloring is a perfect sunburst of brilliancy. The opening performance in the big tent begins at 2 o'clock and at 8, but the doors will be open an hour earlier, in order that visitors have ample time to inspect the immense menagerie which contains numerous rare and costly animal attractions, which includes a pair of stately giraffes, the only living survivors of their kind in existence; "Baby Boo," the first baby elephant successfully bred and reared in America, and the only rhinoceros in captivity. The performance includes hundreds of new and novel acts, enlisting the services of 375 high class artists, 40 clowns and hundreds of auxiliaries, and the regal spectacular production of Jerusalem and the Crusades, in which 1,200 characters are shown.

Surely, with Mr. Roosevelt what he is and with his tendencies so clearly defined, his ambition so strongly accentuated and his willingness so clearly marked to justify the means to the end, there can be no question as to the paramount issue in the campaign. In defining it as Theodore Roosevelt himself The World has expressed what is in everybody's mind.—N. Y. World.

Words of Wisdom.

Here is Bill Arp's bit of wisdom that fits every clime, every age, every nation and all time. "Once I was young but now I am old, but I have never seen a girl who went back on her mother who ever came to be worth a one-eyed button to her husband. It is the law of God. It is not exactly in the Bible, but is written large and lawful on the lives of many misfit homes. If one of you snaps ever run across a girl with a face full of roses, who says to tell you when you come to the door: I cannot go for thirty minutes for the dishes are not wiped, you wait for that girl. Sit right down on the door step and wait for her because some other fellow will come along and marry her off, and then you lose an angel. Wait for her and stick to her like a burr on a mule's tail." —Ex.

Put Up a Strong Ticket.

The Democratic county convention, held in Ellensburg last week, in nominating candidates for the various county offices, chose wisely and well. The ticket is a strong one from top to bottom. So far as county offices are concerned, the intelligent voter does not take into consideration to any great extent the question of a candidate's political affiliation. For that reason it behooves the republicans of Kittitas county, at their coming convention, to name their very best men to oppose the democratic candidates. —Cle Elum Echo, Rep.

Democratic National Ticket

For President,
ALTON B. PARKER
of New York.

For Vice-President,
HENRY G. DAVIS
of West Virginia.

North Yakima, Wash., Aug. 13 1904.

The democratic state convention which met at Bellingham Aug. 2 proved itself in every way equal to the occasion. It did its work promptly and well and then adjourned. As a rule the men who composed it were animated with a determination and a singleness of purpose. Their aim was to do the best in their power for the people and the party. It is the opinion of unbiased men that they succeeded.

The ticket nominated is one that should commend itself to every right thinking citizen who places the welfare of the people, the state and its institutions above party and above the interests of grafting politicians. It is composed clear through, so far as we are able to judge, of most excellent timber. The men whose names adorn it are honorable men and stand high in their respective communities and personally have the respect and confidence of men of all parties for the reason that they have proven themselves worthy.

Hon. George Turner, the nominee for governor, is a man with a great deal more than a state reputation. His fame as an able, high minded statesman is not only national but international. During his term in the U. S. senate he was recognized on both sides of the chamber as being a man of great intellectual attainments and excellent judgment. Turner proved that this estimate of him is correct by coping successfully with the greatest minds of the senate. Indeed his ability and great learning so impressed President Roosevelt himself that he selected Turner at the end of his senatorial term as the minority member of the Alaskan boundary commission to act for this country in connection with such distinguished authorities on international law as Senator Lodge and Hon. Elihu Root.

It was not alone, however, his splendid record as a statesman that induced the democratic party of this state with a single voice to select George Turner as its leader. He was selected principally because of the fact that he is the natural and logical leader in the fight that is now on against the organized forces of evil. The man is simply a platform in himself. During the whole of his career in this young state he has fought the battles of the people against the corrupt railway lobby which has in effect ruled it, and generally with a rod of iron. As a member of the constitutional convention 15 years ago Turner grievously offended the lobby by insisting on incorporating in the organic law of the state a fair degree of protection for the people's rights against the rapacity of the corporations. For doing his plain duty Turner has been pursued relentlessly ever since by the agents of the railways and their hirelings. The corporation press has never ceased to denounce and misrepresent him and are at it today with more spleen and venom than ever. The reason of it is plain enough to all who understand; it is because they fear the man. The corporations are not seeking justice, for no responsible man denies them justice. What they demand is special favors and the privilege to do as they please. Such favors they will not continue to receive if Turner can prevent it. Quite naturally, therefore, they are against him, which is in itself a sufficient reason why the people should be for him.

The name of Stephen Judson, the nominee for lieutenant governor, is one that is familiar to all the older residents of the state, especially the pioneers, and to know the grand old man of Pierce county is to love him. Mr. Judson's record is a long and honorable one. He has lived in the state and territory for over a half century, during which time he has frequently been called from his prosperous farm near Steilacoom to serve the people. He served two terms as sheriff of Pierce county, one term as treasurer. Five times he has been elected a member of the legislature from that county, where he served with distinction and fidelity to every trust. He is a man who is intensely loyal to the people and every vote cast by him in the legislative bodies of which he was a member will corroborate such a statement. As a parliamentarian Mr. Judson has few if any equals in the state and no man could be selected who would preside over the senate with more ability, fairness and dignity than he.

Owing to a feeling that existed among the politicians that a nomination to this office is equivalent to an election, due to the unpeppable character given the republican nominee by members of his own party, there were numerous candidates before the convention, and all of them apparently good men. Mr. Judson was a dark horse who was entered in the race at the eleventh hour by a few faithful friends, without any solicitation on his part, and he won in a canter. His nomination proved a happy solution of a puzzling question. "It removes the sting of defeat to be beaten by as good a man as Steve Judson," remarked one of the unlucky aspirants to the writer after the convention adjourned.

It is needless to add that the nomination of Mr. Judson strengthens the ticket immeasurably. He is firmly in favor of a railroad commission and will honestly endeavor to give the people this long deferred measure of reform. When Steve Judson becomes lieutenant-governor the railroad henchmen in the senate will not hog all the important committee appointments as they did in the last session with the object of blocking reform legislation.

The balance of the state ticket is made up of good, strong and able men, who are not so well known to the people of the state as are the nominees for governor and lieutenant-governor. The three candidates for congress, Messrs. Anderson, Hathaway and Beck, are all able men and are well equipped both by nature and education to represent the people of this state creditably in congress. Col. Anderson resides at Tacoma, Mr. Hathaway at Everett and Mr. Beck at Republic. It is understood that these gentlemen will all take the stump and with the other candidates make an effective campaign.

The nomination of George Mudgett, who has served four terms as treasurer of Spokane county to the complete satisfaction of the people there, to the responsible position of state treasurer is hailed with delight by good citizens all over the state who desire to see Banker Lord's graft summarily ended. Mr. Mudgett is a splendidly equipped man for the place and it is believed by shrewd observers that he will win his fight. If he does he can be trusted to promptly oust the Lord-Scooby gang of grafters who for years have milked the state treasury.

The democrats in all probability will elect their candidate for attorney general. Their nominee, Judge Neal, of Davenport, will prove a strong candidate. For four years he has served as superior judge of his judicial district and he bears the reputation of being an able lawyer with several years of successful practice behind him. It is earnestly to be hoped that he will defeat Atkinson, for the latter is an unfit candidate. Atkinson is what might be called a lawyer by courtesy. He never had a case in court in his life and probably wouldn't know what to do with one if he had it. Atkinson's name was placed on the Farrell ticket for the reason that the standing candidate had rendered a valuable service to the railroad managers and demanded in turn his pound of flesh. To elect such a notoriously weak and unworthy man to such an important office would be a public disgrace.

The democrats of Yakima rejoice with their political brethren of Kittitas over the nomination of R. Lee Purdin for state auditor. Mr. Purdin was born in this county in 1873. Both as boy and man he was ambitious and has made an honest and consistent effort to rise in the world. While yet a mere boy he removed to Kittitas county where he taught school after finishing his education at the state normal. Being skillful as an accountant he procured a deputyship in the office of the county treasurer. In 1900 he was nominated and elected treasurer and re-elected in 1902, serving the people with entire satisfaction. His two elections to that office in a strong republican county is conclusive evidence of his ability as well as his popularity. If elected Mr. Purdin would make an ideal auditor of state.

With Van R. Pierson, of Seattle, nominee for state land commissioner, Prof. Girard, of the same city, nominee for state school superintendent, and Patrick Hough, of Vancouver, nominee for secretary of state, the editor of this paper has no personal acquaintance and we can only speak of them from hearsay. They are all men who are highly spoken of by their neighbors who in the most unmistakable terms vouch for the convention for their ability and good character.

Hon. Alfred Battle, of Seattle, nominee for supreme judge, is a lawyer who ranks with the leading members of the King county bar, being a member of the legal firm of Ronald, Ballinger & Battle. He is a highminded gentleman of scholarly tastes and habits and if elected would be an ornament to the supreme bench as well as a very useful member of that august tribunal.

As the star attraction advertised for the Woodmen picnic held here last Saturday Mr. Mead did not draw like a magnet, as it was thought he would. The attempt to inject politics into the work of a secret order generally meets with failure, as it deserves to do.

Editor Robertson of the Republic is worrying himself almost sick during this hot weather in dog days about the way in which the sheriff's office of this county is being run. Every day he sends forth a plaintive wail that the taxpayers are being robbed in order to pay the running expenses of Sheriff Grant's administration. The soul of Robertson is tortured with the thought of it. It is treason. It is perfidy. It is malfeasance in office. Oh, what a crime it is to be a democrat and hold a public job!

The spectacle presented of Robertson of the Republic playing the unfamiliar role of watch dog of the treasury, the especial champion and protector of the suffering taxpayer, is enough to provoke the derisive laughter of the gods. "What meat bath this, our Caesar, ate that he has grown so good."

The present sheriff of this county, we take it, needs no defense from us, for the splendid record that he has made in his office for the past 19 months of his term is his defense. During that time Col. Robertson himself has been a standing witness for Sheriff Grant by publishing in the news columns of his paper from time to time the doings of that fearless officer and his deputies in the discharge of their duty.

The editor of this paper is free to state that in all of his experience he has never known a more accomplished, a more thorough or a more efficient thief catcher than R. A. Grant, present sheriff of Yakima county. Never have we known a more zealous or earnest officer than he in the discharge of his duty.

Grant has not only captured practically all of the evil doers who committed crimes in this county during his own administration but he has gone back into previous administrations of the sheriff's office, dug up criminals long wanted and dragged them to the bar of justice. It is only truth to say that his reputation as a thief catcher is so well known among the clan of thieves that infest the country that the most of them now shun Yakima as they would old Satan himself. Certainly the people are the gainers by this happy condition for it has made life and property safe in Yakima county as against the time when Col. Robertson and other citizens were held up at the pistol's point and made to surrender their money and valuables. In the 19 months that Grant has been sheriff he has delivered as many criminals at the gates of the penitentiary as did his predecessor in four years. He did this in spite of the fact that he was handicapped during the most of that time by a worthless and incompetent prosecuting attorney whom Col. Robertson had helped to foist upon the people. Grant was thus often forced to act himself as prosecutor. He did this by securing the necessary evidence to convict and, with guilt established, forced his man to plead guilty. That may not have been the best way, but in some cases it was the only way. At any rate justice was satisfied and the taxpayers have escaped the expense of costly trials.

Grant's administration thus far may have cost a trifle more than that of his predecessor, but in view of the results achieved the taxpayers are not grumbling. They know that they have got value received from Grant and a good deal more. Nobody is kicking except Col. Robertson.

If the Republic is so deeply interested in the question of expense accounts why does it stop with the sheriff's office? Why not tell the public what it costs to run the treasurer's office, the auditor's office, the assessor's office and the rest of them? Is it because that our unhappy contemporary has been drawing "paw" from those officials for so, these many years and that it wants to have the sheriff in tow too?

After the Republic has finished with the sheriff's office we would suggest, by way of variety, that it tell the people just how much of their money has been squandered by the republican board of commissioners in a futile effort to build roads this season in the vicinity of North Yakima. Let the Republic, if it has any desire to be fair, publish the whole story and not content itself with its daily jibes directed at the sheriff, whom everybody knows has performed his duty well. Put the jack-screw under some of your own people, neighbor.

The P.-I. and its satellites have been throwing fits intermittently since the Bellingham convention because that Chairman Graves in his speech said that Teddy Roosevelt "is a reincarnation of the Knight with the Mailed Fist."

With petty spite and partisan malice the P.-I. wishes to make it appear that George Turner, the man who haunts its dreams, is responsible for the statement made by Mr. Graves and that he, in fact, inspired the criticism of the president made by the temporary chairman of the democratic state convention.

The fact that Senator Turner was 3000 miles away at the time and that he had no more knowledge of the fact that Will Graves would be selected chairman than the man in the moon makes no difference to the hardened editor of the P.-I. He insists that Turner is to blame anyway and that the supporters of the president in this state must hold the nominee for governor personally responsible. Evidently the fool killer should visit the P.-I. sanctuary.

The truth is that Senator Turner, although not a supporter of the president, admires him a great deal and is always a welcome caller at the White House when he goes to Washington. Mr. Roosevelt, in fact, worried and wearied by the bitter factional fight that John L. Wilson, owner of the P.-I., has been making against the two senators from Washington, has frequently asked Turner for information regarding candidates for appointment in this state and has taken Turner's word in preference to that of Wilson. This statement is true, notably in the case of "Hal" Cole.

Out from among all democratic leaders of the country President Roosevelt selected George Turner for the delicate task of treating with England as a member of the Alaskan boundary commission. This in itself was a splendid compliment and one that Senator Turner highly appreciates. Naturally he feels kindly towards Mr. Roosevelt and as Turner is a gentleman he is not likely to make or countenance a personal attack upon the president. At least he would not go outside the record.

The P.-I., which reflects the sentiments of a discredited politician, cannot harm Turner by the despicable policy it is now pursuing. On the other hand there is good reason for believing that the Wilson organ is making votes for the democratic state ticket every day.

The Bellingham Reveille, a newspaper owned by the Great Northern road and edited by Ed. Cowan, a well known political hack writer, didn't have the decency to wait until the delegates to the democratic state convention were out of town before it opened up its campaign of filth and mud slinging.

The Reveille is a dirty bird that lives on carrion and it was probably too much to expect that it could be decent for as long as 24 hours while many of the leading democrats of the state were the guests of the city of Bellingham.

Considering the very low moral plane on which the Reveille moves no particular attention would have been paid to its malicious attacks were it not for the fact that the paper is a recognized political organ of the Great Northern in this state as well as the mouthpiece and spokesman of Mr. A. E. Mead, republican candidate for governor.

Mr. Mead might at least have commanded the respect of his political opponents by publicly disavowing the dirty attack made by his home paper on his opponent, but he failed to do so. It will be taken for granted therefore that the Reveille's attack meets with his entire approbation.

Mr. Mead of Bellingham has come and gone. He is a very pleasant, genial gentleman to meet, a sort of hale fellow, but otherwise appears to be a very ordinary mortal, i. e., for one in his walk of life. Mr. Mead is rated in his home town as a lawyer of mediocre ability and as a politician constantly in pursuit of office.

There is an old saying that "the prophet is not without honor save in his own country." We do not mean that this applies literally to the case of Mr. Mead, but the fact remains that a goodly number of his neighbors, and men of his own party at that, will not support him for the high office of governor of this commonwealth. They have their own reasons for this and doubtless they are good reasons too.

The nomination of Mr. E. B. Preble to the honorable position of superior judge of this judicial district is a most excellent one. Mr. Preble's selection should please not only the members of his own party but men of all parties who have wholesome respect for the judicial ermine and a care for the character of the men who wear it.

The honor came to Mr. Preble unanimously and without any effort on his part to seek it. If he is chosen to fill that high office he will do so with dignity and ability for he is eminently qualified. He is a man who loves justice, for by nature he is just. With Preble on the bench the pauper could feel as certain of his rights in court as could the millionaire.

The Democrat has a scoop this week over its local contemporaries in its account of Col. Whitson's midnight "harmony" dinner, given in honor of "Governor" Mead. And yet the two colonels were there. Why did they suppress such an interesting bit of news in their papers? Perhaps they considered it too unimportant to mention.

Judge Parker's speech of acceptance delivered to the notification committee August 10 is a masterpiece of wit. He makes his position clear and unmistakable on every public question and shows himself to be in entire sympathy with the platform adopted at St. Louis. The Democrat will review the speech more fully in its next issue.

In the death of ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison of Pennsylvania and ex-Senator George Graham Vest of Missouri the nation lost two eminent citizens who performed well their parts and the democratic party lost two able and conscientious leaders whose places will be hard to fill.

The confidence that Mr. James Fraser, aspirant to a seat in the state senate, has in Mr. Mead being a railroad commission man is really touching. The faith that Mr. Fraser has in his party and its candidate for governor is great enough to move a mountain.

CALL FOR CONVENTION

DeWitt is the Name.

When you go to buy Witch Hazel Salve look for the name DeWITT on every box. The pure, unadulterated Witch Hazel is used in making DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which is the best salve in the world for cuts, burns, bruises, boils, eczema and piles. The popularity of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, due to its many cures, has caused numerous worthless counterfeits to be placed on the market. The genuine bears the name E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. Sold by C. C. Case.

HERBINE

Herbines the bile more fluid and thus helps the blood to flow; it affords prompt relief from biliousness, indigestion, sick and nervous headache, and the over-indulgence in food and drink. Herbines acts quickly, a dose after meals will bring the patient into a good condition in a few days.

G. L. Caldwell, Agt. M. K. and T. R. R., Checotah, Ind. Ter., writes, April 18, 1903: "I was sick for over two years with enlargement of the liver and spleen. The doctors did me no good, and I had given up all hope of being cured, when my druggist advised me to use Herbines. It has made me sound and well." 50c. Sold by F. L. Janek's drug store.

VALUE OF GOOD ROADS

Always Worth Many Times Their Cost—They Influence Largely the Value of Land.

Many of us do not know that bad roads are responsible for so many of our woes because we have not thought, says Isaac B. Potter. Some of our farmers are patient and many of them contented with these roads because they do not know the value of a good one. A good road is a splendid investment. There never was a good road made in any civilized country on earth that didn't pay 100 per cent a year on its cost.

A good road raises the value of every acre, invites us to market when prices are good and takes us out of the clutches of the commission pirates who sell our goods behind our backs at their own figures, keep their own accounts and pay us a pittance for our toil and trouble. A good road shortens distance, saves time, wagons, horseflesh, harness, increases the load and lessens the burden and makes it possible to haul two tons to market with the same power that now leaves one ton stuck in the mire.

A good road brings us closer together, drives out gloom, makes neighbors of hermits, discounts every farm mortgage and brings joy and contentment to every community. Imagine a man knee deep in the mud trying to look cheerful!

It is worse than useless to build good roads only to have them cut in pieces by the use of narrow tires in hauling heavy loads. Wide tires help to preserve ordinary dirt roads and are therefore of the greatest value to them.

To change at once to wide tires would no doubt be a hardship on some owners of vehicles, says Good Roads Magazine, but this is a point that can be worked out and adjusted so that the expense will not be burdensome. Vehicle owners should be educated to see that it is to their interests to have wide tires, as the use of them makes the expense of maintenance, and besides enables larger loads to be hauled with the same number of horses.

Every state should pass a law making wide tires compulsory. In France and other parts of Europe tires as wide as six inches are in use, and as the front axle is shorter than the rear the load passing over the road gives twenty-four inches of road roller surface all the time.

Let us have agitation on the subject and legislation will follow.—St. Louis Republic.

Abuse of Turner Won't Pay.

The Columbian, published at Vancouver, Wash., speaking of the candidacy of George Turner, has the following to say:

"More or less talk is being had regarding the nomination for governor. Former Senator George Turner will be the nominee for the democrats, and it goes without saying that his candidacy will be a strong one. The Post-Intelligencer makes the assertion that the republicans are afraid he will not be nominated, as they want to beat him badly. Now, such stuff is written for effect, and it has no sense. Turner is a strong candidate, and no use denying it. No sensible republican will deny it. In fact, in eastern Washington he will fairly sweep the counties, and he will get a big vote in the western part. Facts are facts. Mr. Mead has a big fight on to beat Turner. Republicans might as well wake up to the fact. Mr. Turner is a man well known and honored in the state. The only fault found with him is that he was once a republican and then flopped to the democrats. That was his American privilege, and he should receive no censure for doing what he considered his duty in that respect. It is safe to say that Senator Turner will receive a big vote in the southern counties."

If there were more republican publishers like the fellow that pushes the quill on the Columbian, the present fight would not be so entangled. The Forum said several weeks ago that abuse of Geo. Turner would not elect Mead, and if Ed. Palmer and Wilson's P. I. expect to set in Seattle and howl abuse at the democrats, Albert E. Mead will be found practicing law in the confines of the beautiful city of Bellingham on January 9, 1905. It is going to require work and this playing of senatorial politics should be "cut out." We are informed, however, that the selection of Jno. L. Wilson's manager (Ed. Palmer) as chairman of the state central committee was not the work of the central committee, but his selection was made by the candidates themselves, and as Mr. Mead is the principal candidate he is not free from blame and should not complain if later he finds his bed a trifle hard, for was it not his own making?—Tacoma Forum, Rep.

A Fish That Could Talk.

A natural curiosity captured on the coast of Africa on May 5, 1854, by Signor Cavanna and exhibited in all the great cities of Europe during the years 1850, 1860, 1861 and 1862, where it was advertised as the "talking fish," was in reality a species of the African seal, well known to naturalists on account of its wonderful powers of mimicry. This particular animal was about twelve feet in length and weighed something over 800 pounds. It had a fine, doglike head and large, beautiful black eyes, which seemed to sparkle with intelligence whenever the creature was spoken to by any one. It was very docile and when told to dance would roll over and over in its bathtub, with first tail and then head above the water, all the time chattering as though enjoying the sport as much as the spectators did. It soon learned many odd tricks and, it is claimed, learned to articulate at least three words very plainly—viz, "mamma," "papa" and "John," the last being its keeper's name. When told to pray it would clasp its flippers in the attitude of supplication and put on a sanctimonious look.

Origin of the Aztecs.

An old tradition says the Aztecs were one of seven powerful tribes that emerged from seven caverns in a region called Aztlan, or place of the heron. They wandered away from their fellows after a great confusion of tongues and settled in the region they are known to have inhabited. This tradition may be partly fabulous, but it is sure that the Aztecs settled the country before the eleventh or twelfth century.

All the tribes lived in peace for a considerable time until the strong began to encroach upon the territory of the weaker. Then a fierce war for supremacy over the whole territory ensued and lasted many years. Under the leadership of their military chiefs the Aztecs obtained control of the whole territory and established a very enlightened form of government. This was consummated in 1324 or 1325.

Detecting Guilt in Liberia.

The brown skins of the natives in Liberia are often daubed with red and white clay, the effect of the latter being rather startling. This is called dressing. Sometimes a vertical blue mark is seen across the forehead. This is a sign of freedom. The Kroonmen have it more than others. They are largely employed as extra hands on the steamers. When a man is suspected of murder, theft, etc., he is made to drink sassa wood. This being deadly poison, his innocence is declared by the draft not proving fatal. It is said, however, that this is only a form. When the fatal moment arrives some expedient is generally adopted, or else it is considered that only an innocent man would be willing to approach the deadly draft.

Weddings in Korea.

At a Korean marriage every one rides on horseback and in single file. First comes a manservant, who carries in both hands an imitation life sized wild goose, covered by a red scarf. Then come the bridegroom, his friends and all the servants he possesses or is able to borrow. At the bride's house the servant first deposits the goose on a bowl of rice; then all dismount, and, leaving outside their outer robes, their hats and their boots, they enter the house and make as much noise as they possibly can. The pandemonium does not cease till the guests are paid to go away. A feast follows and then the bridegroom is taken to his bride, whom he sees for the first time.

Odd Names in Delaware.

Delaware has a curious collection of odd surnames. There is a family of Colts in Kent county. The Peppers and Mustards have long lived neighbors in Sussex, and there are Peaches in Newcastle county, inauspiciously settled north of the peach belt. One man named his three sons for the several counties of the state, and Delaware is an occasional Christian name. A girl whose name was Leonora Missouri Cannon provoked from a stranger the prompt declaration that the name was sentimental, patriotic and explosive.

Real Balm of Gilead.

The real balm of Gilead is the dried juice of a low shrub, it is said, which grows in Syria. It is very valuable and scarce, for the amount of balm yielded by one shrub never exceeded sixty drops a day. According to Josephus, the balm or balsam of Gilead was one of the presents given by the queen of Sheba to King Solomon. The ancient Jewish physicians prescribed it evidently for dyspepsia and melancholia.

Didn't Want an Elephant.

"An elephant must be a pretty expensive animal." "Yes; I wish I had enough money to buy one." "What do you want with an elephant?" "I don't; I merely expressed a wish for the money."—Philadelphia Press.

Gets Nothing.

A TEST OF FLOUR.

It Is Quite an Important Event in the Big Mills.

The letters XXXX which decorate our flour bags are a source of mystery to the average housewife, but get there very naturally. In the largest flour mills several tests are given all flour sent out, but the final test is the baking trial. In a kitchen attached to the flour mill, which is resplendent with shining pans, electric ovens and white cooling boards, there are loaves of bread made daily from the different samples of flour which have just been ground. Cooks are kept the year round for this purpose, for as many as sixty loaves are made daily by one mill alone.

Exactly at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, after the bread is done, the head millers file into the kitchen and cut and inspect the different loaves. No man knows which flour has come from his mill, so the test is an impartial one. A vote is taken on the best loaf, and the flour from which that was made is marked with the mysterious X's. So great has this business of testing flour become that one great mill has testing rooms to which samples of grain are sent from all over the United States and Canada. These samples are made into bread after going through a miniature flour mill. After the bread has been made the package of grain is sent back to the miller who shipped it with full directions how to mark his flour, whether best or second best.

THE LAND CRAB.

A Mean Trick by Which Pacific Island Natives Catch Them.

In Fiji and other Pacific islands the natives have an ingenious plan of capturing the land crab. The native goes out in the late night, and when he hears a crab at work up a tree he climbs up some fifteen or twenty feet—the tree is generally a hundred feet high or more—and ties a large wisp of grass round the trunk. The crab, having finished his work, hurries down to his partner for a feed, traveling backward, as usual. When he comes to the treacherous clump of grass, thinking he is once more on mother earth, he lets go his hold of the tree and of course goes down smash, breaking his legs and getting stunned, to fall an easy victim to the native boys who come round with their baskets in the morning. The whole of crabdom apparently regarded this as a mean trick when it came in first, and they are now very circumspect on their expeditions, so that few are caught in this way.

In his hole the land crab makes himself a comfortable bed of coconut fiber, and he makes the material up so well that the native women burrow for it, as it is found useful for many purposes—pillow stuffing, the making of chignons, pads and other modern toilet "fakings" which they have now picked up from the mission stations and towns.

Won His Appointments.

When Hoke Smith was secretary of the interior he was especially generous to Georgians in the matter of department clerkships. It was generally conceded that around the patent, pension and land offices one could not throw a stick without hitting a Georgian. Senator Voorhees of Indiana had been trying to place one or two Hoosier constituents, but had failed. One day the senator came along whistling "Marching Through Georgia" and keeping step to the tune.

"What are you doing that for?" asked Hoke Smith.

"Just can't help it," said Senator Voorhees. "It is just like marching through Georgia to come through your department."

He got the appointments that day.

The Name Patterson.

Tompkins with a "p" is not more significant than Patterson with two "s's" if tradition is to be trusted. According to the story that has come down from the sixteenth century, the Pattersons all spelled the name with one "t" before Queen Elizabeth set about marking those of her subjects who left the ancient Catholic faith and cast their lot with the Church of England. She insisted that all the Protestant Pattersons take to themselves a second "t," and since that time many have followed that mode of spelling the name.—London Standard.

Colorado Springs Water.

Colorado Springs, Colo., has the purest water of any city in the United States. The supply is derived from reservoirs and lakes on the side of Pike's peak, which are fed by springs and melting snow. Chemical analyses of the water have repeatedly shown it to be purer than that of any other city in the country, due to the fact that the supply is derived from such an altitude as to make contamination impossible.

Her Awful Blunder.

Tess—Oh, that's your new hat, eh? Jess—Yes, and such a bargain; only $18. What do you think? I dropped in to let Miss Grumley see it just now, and she pretended she wasn't interested. Didn't even ask how much I paid for it. Tess—No, dear, she didn't have to. You've forgotten to take off that tag marked $4.98.—Philadelphia Press.

Absolutely Contented.

Mrs. Jenks—Are you perfectly satisfied with your new dress? Mrs. Speitz—Yes, indeed. The man I love best thinks it's beautiful, and the woman I love least has pretended to turn up her nose at it.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Matter of Business.

Pigment—I saw you at the art exhibition last evening. I suppose you are very fond of paintings? Gamboge—Oh, dear, no; I hate them. I'm an art critic, you know.—Boston Transcript.

THE POET BURNS.

A Criticism Which Appeared in the Edinburgh Magazine in 1786.

The following brief criticism on the poems of Burns appeared in the Edinburgh Magazine, October, 1786, shortly after the second edition of his works came out: "The author is indeed a striking example of native genius bursting through the obscurities of poverty and the obstructions of laborious life. He is said to be a common plowman, and when we consider him in this light we cannot help regretting that wayward fate had not placed him in a more favored situation. Those who view with the severity of lettered criticism and judge by the fastidious rules of art will discover that he has not the Doric simplicity of Ramsey nor the brilliant imagination of Ferguson, but to those who admire the exertions of untutored fancy and are blind to many faults for the sake of numberless beauties his poems will afford singular gratification. His observations on human characters are acute and sagacious, and his descriptions are lively and just. Of rustic pleasantries he has a rich fund, and some of his softer scenes are touched with inimitable delicacy. He seems to be a boon companion and often startles us with sentiments which will keep some readers at a distance. Some of his subjects are serious, but those of the humorous kind are the best."

ENGLISHMEN OF GENIUS.

Some Statistics as to Their Origin and Length of Life.

Havelock Ellis' studies of the origin and habits of the British men of genius show that most came from business life, many from "good families," so called, and few from the clerical profession. Of 103 men of eminence in ten centuries thirteen were the sons of carpenters, five of shoemakers, five of weavers and four of blacksmiths. Browning's father was a clerk, and so was Bradlaugh's; Turner's was a barber, Carlyle's a mason, Huxley's a schoolmaster, Keats' a livery stable man, Knox's a peasant, Wolsey's a grazier and Whitefield's an innkeeper. Men of genius are long lived. Of those on Mr. Ellis' list more died between sixty-five and seventy-five than in any other period. Those living beyond seventy-five numbered 230, those beyond eighty 130, and twenty lived past ninety.

A genius is not often an only son. He is more likely to spring from a large family. Nor is he often the son of a distinguished father. He is sometimes a tall man. Twenty-six instances are cited of great men who were six footers and over. Among them are Darwin, Millais, Sir Walter Scott, Tennyson, Borrow, Thackeray and Fielding.

OLD TIME COFFEE.

The Way to Brew the Beverage as They Did in 1662.

An old cookbook, published in 1662, gives what is perhaps the first English recipe for coffee. The recipe reads: "To make the drink that is now much used, called coffee: The coffee berries are to be bought at any druggist's, about 7 shillings the pound. Take what quantity you please, and over a charcoal fire in an old frying pan keep them always stirring until they be quite black, and when you crack one with your teeth that it is black within as it is without, yet if you exceed, then do not waste the Oyl, and if less, then will it not deliver its Oyl, and if you should continue fire till it be white it will then make no coffee, but only give you its salt. Beat and force through a lawn sieve. "Take clear water and boil one-third of it away, and it is fit for use. Take one quart of this prepared water, put it in one ounce of your prepared coffee and boil it gently one hour, and it is for your use. Drink one quarter of a pint as hot as you can sip it. It doth abate the fury and sharpness of the Acrimony, which is the gender of the Diseases called Cronical."—Boston Cooking School Magazine.

The Aristocracy of Pork.

When Theodore Parker first visited Cincinnati, at that time the recognized leader among western cities, he said that he had made a great discovery—namely, that while the aristocracy of Cincinnati was unquestionably founded on pork it made great difference whether a man killed pigs for himself or whether his father had killed them. The one was held plebeian, the other patrician. It was the difference, Parker said, between the stick 'ems and the stuck 'ems, and his own sympathies, he confessed, were with the present tense.—T. W. Higginson in Atlantic Monthly.

Where Fashions Come From.

It is said that a leader of fashion was once driving in the park when her hat was blown off. The carriage wheels passing over it made it a fearful and wonderful shape, but as the wearer could afford to defy criticism she put it on and calmly continued her drive. The next week dozens of hats exactly like the damaged one appeared. This story may be true, but it sounds like a mere, malicious, masculine invention.—London Woman.

A Financier.

Maud—Isn't the man you are engaged to a speculator? Clara—No, indeed! He's a financier. "How do you know?" "He didn't buy the engagement ring until after I had accepted him."

Have you a friend who does well and with whom you occasionally find fault because he doesn't do better? This is the meanest meanness in the world.—Atchison Globe.

A Trip Through Yellowstone Park

is what everyone hopes to have—some day. It is the most wonderful trip in the world. There are more than 3000 square miles of weird, marvelous, unimaginable things that can be seen nowhere else, therefore if one ever sees them one must go to the Park, in the heart of the magnificent Rockies with snow-tipped peaks all around. If Old Faithful geyser, a Paint Pot, Mud Volcano, or Emerald Pool were to be found in Lincoln park, Chicago; Central park, New York; or Fairmount park, Philadelphia; the people would flock to see it or them by tens of thousands. For a very small sum, comparatively, all these and hundreds more of nature's unduplicated marvels can be seen between June 1 and September 30 of each year, and one will enjoy, to boot, the best coaching trip in the country.

The Northern Pacific folder on Yellowstone Park, just issued, is a new, right up to date, finely illustrated dissertation on this Yellowstone Park trip. It is not descriptive, but deals with the detailed, technical matters everyone needs to know about such a trip. It tells all about the hotels, the stage coaches, the roads, the cost of the tour; where the geysers, the waterfalls, the bears, the canyons are, and where the trout fishing is found. We have printed thousands of this beautiful leaflet and want everybody interested to have a copy, and it can be obtained by sending A. M. Cleland, General Passenger Agent, St. Paul, Minn., two cents with proper address.

"Wonderland 1904" which is a very fine pamphlet of 116 pages, descriptive of the Northwest, including the Park, will be sent for six cents.

Bachelors Picnic.

The Independent Order of Bachelors took an outing Sunday accompanied by a crowd of invited summer widowers, and hied to the shady groves of the lower Yakima. They carried with them a sumptuous lunch prepared at the Antlers hotel, and the liquid refreshments were not the limp waters of the Yakima. After devouring the lunch and washing it down with any available liquid, Ben Rosecrans, the pioneer of the valley delivered the principal oration of the day. A. F. Brown in passing from one boat to another tried the Swede's scheme of making it in two "yumps" with the result that he had to spend the next two hours swimming while his clothes were spread out on the bank to dry. The crowd returned to town in the evening in time to go to church, reporting one of the most enjoyable times of the season, and of course no one doubts this, as the order is composed of George Washingtons, who never prevaricate, and when they marry it must be like him, a widow, as the girls have generally jilted them.—Keweenaw Courier.

Cortelyou as a Fat Fright.

The Boston Journal says that "The World does not believe in" the President selected Mr. Cortelyou to be chairman of the republican national committee as a step to the 'partisan blackmail' of the corporations over which as secretary of the department of commerce he had had supervision. The World can conceive of no other motive for the appointment of Mr. Cortelyou as Mr. Roosevelt's campaign manager. The former private secretary of the president has had no experience as a national committeeman. But he was, as The World said, at the head of the department of commerce just long enough to acquire by "diligent investigation" such information as to the operations of the big corporations as would be useful to a collector of campaign funds. Does the Journal doubt that Mr. Cortelyou will call upon them for contributions? His appointment as fat-fright, in view of his antecedents, was a gross abuse of power and a great public scandal.—N. Y. World.

Spokane Interstate Fair.

Eastern commission merchants continue to send inquiries to R. H. Cosgrove, manager of the Spokane Interstate fair, asking for the date of the opening of the fair, and other particulars. These firms are planning to send representatives to this fair, which opens Oct. 3. They will advise with fruit growers, explaining what are the most marketable varieties of apples and other fruits, and when fruit should be picked and how it should be packed to get the best prices. Their personal interest is due to the desire to pick up new customers in this fruit district, which is growing in importance to commission merchants all over the world. A recent letter from S. F. Fish & Co., 189 S. Water street, Chicago, is a sample of what others are planning. Mr. Fish says:

"Your favor of the 8th received. We expect to have one of our men in Washington on dried fruit as well as green fruit a little later in the season, and if you will advise us what time the fair takes place we will arrange to have him visit your city at the time of your fair."

Don't Know "Jack."

Mr. A. J. Splawn, delegate to the St. Louis Convention from Yakima county, has expressed to an interviewer his opinion that "the nomination of Parker was not the voice of the people. It was the jingle of dollars rolling out of the coffers of Wall street." The Washtucna Enterprise has an opinion, also. Its opinion is that Mr. Splawn didn't get one of those dollars, and that's what's the matter with Splawn.—Washtucna Enterprise.

Gale Smith does not know Senator Splawn or he would never permit such matter to appear in his publication. Senator Splawn is known as an honest man, and at his home his reputation is best. The Forum is not of the same political faith of Senator Splawn but consider him one of the strong characters of this state, and if the republicans are not very careful Jack Splawn will again be Senator Splawn.—Tacoma Forum, Rep.

Same Here.

Just now this community seems to have more than its share of fakirs and peddlers. The country seems to be overrun with them. They handle everything from needles up to pianos. Of course they are not here merely to pass their time or enjoy a bit of warm weather, but to gather in the shekels. In some instances they have been known to examine musical instruments or machines in such a manner that soon after taking their departure the instrument so "examined" was found to be out of gear and needed repairing. When our people begin to realize that they can get better and more satisfactory treatment by dealing with home merchants, who are here to live and face any of their promises, then they will not encourage these outside solicitors with their patronage.—Clarkston Republican.

A Case Where Mere Money Did Not Cut Much of a Figure.

"Several years ago there was a boom in certain lands in Florida because of rich phosphate deposits," said a southern man. "A speculator asked one of those simple Florida folk what would be the lowest price he would take for some land which before the boom he had been unable to sell for $500. The owner really didn't know. The speculator agreed to deposit in bank $16,000 to the owner's credit for the land. But this amount of money in bank didn't mean very much to the native.

"He said he wanted a farm of sixty acres with a house on it, the whole to cost a few hundred.

"What else?" asked the speculator.

"Can I have a horse and saddle and bridle?"

"Certainly."

"And a rifle?"

"Yes."

"And some provisions?"

"Yes."

"The eyes of the native began to bulge. There was a pause.

"What else do you want?" asked the speculator.

"Oh, give me $50 for the old woman to buy things for herself and children."

"He then started to walk away.

"What else?" asked the speculator.

"Is there more yet?"

"Yes."

"Well, give me a plug of tobacco and set me down where the fish will bite all day, and you can have the rest."

POE AND POVERTY.

The Poet Was Born to Need and Left It as a Legacy.

According to Charles Marshall Graves, writing in the Century, the poet Poe was two years old when his mother, a gifted actress, was living in Richmond in the direst want.

Mrs. Poe's last stage appearance was in the Richmond theater in October, 1811. The theater burned on Dec. 26, and seventy-eight people perished with it. Poe's father had died in the spring, and Mrs. Poe and the baby poet and his younger sister went to live on Main street, in the Bird in Hand region, in a tenement cellar perpetually wet by the Shockoe creek, which then flowed through the middle of the street. Here the wretched woman contracted pneumonia and died. And from the cellar the future poet, described as a "baby skeleton," was rescued by Mr. Allan.

Sixty years and more later Rosalie Poe, the poet's younger sister, appeared on Richmond streets in poverty as bitter as her mother's had been to get a few coins by selling photographs of her brother.

The man who was perhaps America's greatest poet and certainly one of the few poets who have vitally influenced the literary art both in prose and verse was born into the most wretched poverty and left need as keen behind him.

Forgot His Own Tongue.

A traveler in arctic Siberia, Mr. Vanderlip, a gold hunter, told the following of his return to civilization: "I found that half a dozen of the officers and men of the steamer which my employers had sent for me had come to hunt me up. The captain dismounted, and I tried to address him in Russian, but he said, 'You forget that I speak English.' Now, it may seem scarcely credible, and yet it is true, that for a few moments I was totally unable to converse with him in my native tongue. I had not used a word of it in conversation for months, and my low physical condition acting on my nerves confused my mind, and I spoke a jumble of English, Russian and Korak. It was a week before I could talk good, straight English again."

Hard to Move in Russia.

An American wished to move from the Hotel Europe, the principal hotel in St. Petersburg, to a smaller hotel around the corner. He came down with his bag packed ready to go. "Sorry," said the manager, "but you cannot leave this hotel or register at another hotel until we get your passport from the police, and that will take a day and a night. You must go through exactly the same procedure as if you were leaving the country."—World's Work.

Mending Amber.

To mend amber requires a certain amount of care, though the process is a simple one. Apply some linseed oil to the broken edges, and then hold the oiled parts over a gas jet, covering the rest of the amber meanwhile with a cloth. As soon as the oiled parts become sticky with the heat press the edges which are to be united together and hold them very carefully till cold.

A JAPANESE BABY.

Its Place Is Strapped to the Back of an Older Baby.

The babies of all except the richest Japanese are carried about on the back of an elder sister or brother from the time they are a few months old. The poorer the parents the sooner the baby is fastened on to the back of some elder member of the family, and it is not uncommon in the poorer quarters of a Japanese city to see a group of children six or eight years old playing in the streets, each of whom bears a tiny baby sister or brother fastened with a few straps to its back.

These straps are just sufficient to prevent the baby from falling to the ground, leaving the comfort of its posture entirely to its own exertions. As a result the Japanese baby early gains a surprising control of its muscles, and it is almost impossible to drop even a tiny child from your arms, so firmly does it cling on with both arms and legs.

The dressing of a Japanese baby is a simple matter. It wears nothing but miniature kimonos, the number varying with the condition of the weather. These garments are fitted one inside the other before they are put on. Then they are laid down on the floor, and baby is laid into them. They are long enough to cover the baby's feet, and the sleeves are also long enough to cover the hands. Practically there is only one garment, and the process of dressing a Japanese baby takes but two or three minutes of its mother's time.—Chicago Tribune.

AN INTERRUPTED SERMON.

Preaching Under Difficulties in an English Church.

In "A Preacher's Story of his Work," Dr. Rainsford tells of some strange interruptions he encountered while preaching one of his earliest sermons in the English cathedral town of Norwich.

Dr. Rainsford was in the middle of his sermon when he chanced to look down from the high pulpit to where the members of the choir were seated in a large boxlike pew, screened from the congregation by a curtain. Much to the preacher's surprise, one of the men in the choir put his arm around a girl, drew her head down on his shoulder and then looked up at Dr. Rainsford and winked.

The preacher stopped his sermon, walked down out of the pulpit and told the rector the members of the choir were acting outrageously. The rector walked up to the pew, drew down the curtain with a jerk and exposed the spooning couple to the view of the congregation.

Then Dr. Rainsford resumed his sermon. A minute later he chanced to look down the main aisle, and there, walking in solemn procession, were a hen and a dozen chicks. To crown it all, when the sexton tried to drive them out he was so drunk he fell right on top of the hen. And then from his place the old rector cried out:

"Let her alone, John; she is doing no harm."

A Curious Ferry.

Captain Hambro, while traveling among the Kazaks of Turkestan, discovered a curious way of taking a heavily laden boat across a broad river. The method consisted in piling up the boat as full as it would hold without sinking of all the persons and all their baggage that it was desired to take across. Then the boat was launched. There were no oars and no sails. The motive power was supplied by the horses, the cattle, the sheep and the goats of the nomadic and pastoral people swimming in front and alongside and so by degrees that were far more slow than they were sure towing the boat to the other side. In one instance which Captain Hambro mentions the river that a party crossed in this manner was 200 yards wide.

Enlarging the Chest.

Any one can increase the size of his chest two or three inches in as many months without the use of any apparatus or mechanical contrivance whatever. When he rises in the morning let him go out into the purest air he can find, raise his arms to the height of shoulders, the palms downward, then, while inhaling a deep breath, gradually extend them upward until the backs of the hands touch above his head. Do this a dozen times every morning, and the result will be a chest development that will surprise any one who has not made the experiment.

A Bishop's Mustag.

It is what a man might have been which jars on what he is. When a man has once stood on the mount of vision, when he has once heard the call of God to his soul and made answer, "Here am I," he can never go back to dwell in the valley of commonplace. The miasma there, to which ordinary men have become immune, is deadly to him.—From Maud Wilder Goodwin's "Four Roads to Paradise" in Century.

An Easy Lesson.

"I am supposed to die of a broken heart," said the unmanageable actress. "Now, how am I to know how a person with a broken heart behaves?"

"I'll tell you what to do," answered the plain spoken manager. "You study the author of this play after he sees your first performance of it."

FOR SUNDAY CLOSING

Attorney Roberts Gives the Public the Benefit of His Views on the Subject.

DO HEAD

North Yakima, Wash., Aug. 5, 1904.

To the Editor of the Democrat:

Apropos of the matter that is of vital interest to the public, kindly publish the following article.

It is the intention of the people of the state of Washington, as expressed in their statutes, to best conserve the interests of the public by observing one fixed day in seven as a day of rest or change. This has been held to be a warranted and reasonable exercise of the police power inherent and vested in a sovereign state.

Contrary to the opinion of many this is not "religious" legislation, as such, which would be impossible because unconstitutional, but an effort to promote a beneficial public policy. And the first day of the week was wisely selected by the framers of the law because it was already observed as a day of rest by a large number of the citizens under the moral code of laws, and was therefore an expedient choice. Suffice it to say that such is the law and hence a duty devolves upon the inhabitants of the state to obey it, churchman or non-churchman.

Now the writer wishes to protest in particular against two things. First, that anyone should presume that "clergymen" and "church people" are the sole supporters of the Sunday law, and that they should be singled out as its defenders. Necessarily they are under a two-fold duty to observe that day and are hypocritical as citizens and law-breaking as citizens if they violate or fail to support the divine and civil law. But there is also a large class of citizens who, though they "have no deep insight into things spiritual" are not blind to their duty as law-abiding citizens and deprecate the condition of affairs in North Yakima.

It is therefore the "good citizen" who is loyal to his state, that is desirous of enforcement of law, and opposed to any form of anarchy however mild. Primarily, upon the people must fall the responsibility, as they made the laws, that cause self-respecting, law-abiding citizens to take the side of law enforcement, or else by honest and lawful means seek its repeal. So do not be so narrow as to belay the Christian man for being a good citizen, looking toward the advancement of his religion as a motive for observance of the day and his zeal, for the fact remains that had any other day of the week been chosen by the legislature, he would have been legally bound to observe it.

Second, as a citizen of this commonwealth and a resident of Yakima, I protest against lawlessness or the encouragement thereof. I care not if such a stand be popular or not for it can not be conceded to be other than right and duty, under the existing civil law, taking no account of the moral duty which coincides in this instance.

For a general law to be enforced in a particular community, it must have a healthy public sentiment back of it. The creation of public sentiment is the result of agitation and oft times the duty of creating such, falls upon a minority. Especially in this patent where the statutory offense is not covered by local law, for in the latter case the local law itself is usually the outcome of crystallized public sentiment.

In the opinion of a large number of citizens of North Yakima public sentiment here is in favor of a departure from "usual custom" and the statute should be made effective by enforcement. Agitation and the influx of some 3000 new citizens have changed conditions. "Necessity," which is justly upon occasion greater than the civil law, is no longer the factor that it has been claimed to be in the past. The hoppicker has everything hauled to him in the field, and may, if he desires have a merited rest day unbroken by a tedious trip to town, while the grower does not have to rest uneasy lest his crew desert or come back incapacitated for labor through dissipation. The hop industry will not suffer because of a closed town and a trial will prove it.

As to other violators of the law, they stand upon no footing, having not even the excuse of necessity, and it is no secret that this lawlessness is due to an insatiable desire for gain. Any movement toward reform can not well stop short of the policy "special favors to none." If the public wants to be law abiding it is within its power so to be and the effort of every citizen who is looking toward the best interests of the Yakima country ought to covet such a state of affairs. Pessimists there were who said that Sunday closing in as cosmopolitan a city as New York was impossible! I was an attorney in that city at the time and I can testify as Prof. Barge remarked the other day, that, "it was closed on Sunday as tight as a drum" and such can be the case here if it is the will of the people.

The benefits that would accrue are those that come to every well-ordered, law-abiding community. I know several well to do parties who are deterred from making this their home, because of the policy of the past. Lawlessness is destructive of the home life of those who are now citizens, and an educator of a criminal class, besides being a magnet that draws an undesirable floating population to pray upon the pocket book and morals of the community. The clerks in the stores have their rights. The religious devotee has his. The laboring man has his right to a day of freedom and rest. The law-breaker has no rights. Upon this day set aside by the state, body, mind and soul are given a chance to develop equally and the material welfare of mankind is enhanced by a regard for the sound and natural laws now on our statute books. The law-abiding citizens of North Yakima have their rights under the law, and the question for solution is, have the law-breakers, without any legal or moral rights, more power than they?

The writer wants to see his adopted city grow. She has a class of citizens that can not be excelled. Natural conditions and surroundings make it possible for her to rise without a peer among the cities of the great northwest, if not in size yet in quality. It is not politic for her to longer sow to the wind only to reap the whirlwind, but let law and order be her civic robe and an era of progress and development will dawn from which she will emerge in all her burst of glory.

Respectfully,

LOGAN H. ROBERTS.

RINGLING BROS. SHOW

Stupendous Aggregation to Be in North Yakima Thursday, August 18.

Jerusalem and the Crusades is the spectacular novelty of Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows' this year. Twelve hundred characters are concerned in the portrayal of this vividly interesting story of the Crusades, and more than 2,000 costumes of richest fabric and artistic design are worn in the kaleidoscopic scenes. A ballet of 300 and a singing chorus of 200 are incidental features. The music, classic in character, and especially written for the huge production, is rendered by the largest grand pipe organ, and the only portable one ever made, accompanied by a selected band of 50 soloists. The story of the Crusades is a pictorial narrative of the day of chivalry—a time when life was governed by the highest ideals, the period when knightly life was in flower, and men and women held principle dearer than life. No chapter in the history of civilization is more replete with fascinating incident, noble impulse and momentous result. The action of the spectacle takes place on a stage larger than the combined stages of 100 theatres, and the vast multitudes are managed with a skill never before accomplished. The scenic embellishment is historically true, and the work of the most famous artists, and all the multitudinous appointments, are of extraordinary value and luster. All the pomp and circumstance of ecclesiastical life in the chivalric days of the tenth century, the iridescent splendors of knightly costume and adornment, the radiant, shimmering tones of ancient feminine fashions, the glitter and glisten of warrior emblems and implements, impressive assemblage of picturesque hosts, the spell of brilliant and countless inventions of decorative taste—all these and many more features of appealing magnificence make this spectacle the most important and successful production of modern times, or, for that matter, of all time. The fabulous cost of this stupendous spectacle puts it beyond the resources of any other show, and the arena space of no other circus in existence would afford adequate stage room for the massive groupings, evolutions and processional displays. All the exciting pastimes of the middle ages, jousting tilts, sword combats, spearing competitions, athletic exploits, equestrian feats, and many other exercises of daring and skill, are thrillingly illustrated in a huge tourney.

This wonderful circus will exhibit at North Yakima, Thursday, Aug. 18. Admission tickets and reserved numbered chairs will be on sale at Ringling Brothers' downtown ticket office, Janek's Drug Store, show day at exactly the same prices charged in the wagons on the show grounds.

HERBINE

renders the bile more fluid and thus helps the blood to flow; it affords prompt relief from biliousness, indigestion, sick and nervous headache, and the over-indulgence in food and drink. Herbine acts quickly, a dose after meals will bring the patient into a good condition in a few days.

G. L. Caldwell, Agt. M. K. and T. R. R., Checotah, Ind. Ter., writes, April 18, 1903: "I was sick for over two years with enlargement of the liver and spleen. The doctors did me no good, and I had given up all hope of being cured, when my druggist advised me to use Herbine. It has made me sound and well." 50c. Sold by F. L. Janek's drug store.

CURTAIN CALLS.

The Code in Germany Differs From That in This Country.

"There is an unwritten code of etiquette among actors in regard to curtain calls that appears to differ widely in different countries," says a St. Louis man.

"A friend of mine was recently telling me about the custom that obtains in this respect in certain theaters and opera houses in German cities, and from what he says it is exactly the reverse of what it is here. Over there the star or leading player takes the first curtain call alone. If there is a second curtain call the star and associate player of the opposite sex appear together on the stage to respond to it, and should a third call from the audience be given the entire company appears in answer to it. The customs of our stage generally reverse this procedure. Among us the first curtain call is responded to by the entire company, the second by three or four or five of the principal players, the third by the leading man and woman alone, and then if there are more by the star or leading player.

"This is of course dealing with the subject in a general way and considering the circumstances as those which may ordinarily obtain. Where two or three players only are concerned in the scene that brings the applause, why, naturally the other members of the company would have no part in the responses."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

STRONG ON CULTURE.

Polish and Erudition of a Notorious New York Character.

Tom Gould, the notorious New York politician, saloon keeper and all round crook, was a man of great physical strength. One of his favorite feats was to back under a piano and then rise, lifting it off its feet. He was once asked to a reception at the house of a member of the Four Hundred who was then in politics and wished for Gould's support. It is alleged that on being introduced to the ladies on this occasion Mr. Gould broke an embarrassing silence by observing:

"Ladies, I'll bet $100 I can lift the pianer," which he then proceeded to do.

Another incident related of Tom Gould indicates that he was strong on culture. On one occasion he had left the Sans Souci earlier than usual, and the next day on meeting his nephew, whom he left in charge, he said:

"Well, did anything happen after I left last night?"

"Nothin' much," replied the nephew, "exceptin' there was a couple of fellers came in about 1 o'clock and kicked up a row, and we 'run 'em out."

"How many times have I got to tell you how to speak English?" demanded Gould impatiently. "Don't say 'run 'em out.' Say 'trowed 'em out.'"

A Rainy Day Costume.

The Japanese woman has solved the question of the rainy day. She tucks her robes up to her knees, puts on wooden clogs five or six inches high, and as her stockings are merely short socks the wet and the splashing only fall on bare ankles and legs. There is in consequence very little difficulty about the after cleaning, and the kimono is not marred by mud colored stains that will not come out. This custom may seem a trifle queer, but as no one in Japan notices it or even thinks about it and the little ladies do it quite naturally it is really not more queer than the custom which our ladies have of wearing decollete dresses in the evening, which the Japanese in turn think most queer, if not actually uncivilized. It is the old question of east and west.—London Tatler.

Wasn't to Be Fooled by a Sign.

An old fellow from one of Portland's most remote suburbs, while passing a certain hardware store in that city the other day, noticed a sign which read, "Cast Iron Sinks." The old fellow chuckled softly to himself; then, gradually, as the absurdity of it dawned upon him more forcibly, he broke into a loud guffaw. A passerby, attracted by the apparently unseemly mirth of the old man, made bold to ask what amused him so. "Why, gol darn it," he sputtered between spasms, "of some folksers air not gettin' ter be reglar drun fules. The idee uv hangin' up er sign tellin' people that 'cast iron sinks.'"—Lewiston Journal.

Keep Your Temper.

The unwritten laws both of society and good manners are innumerable, but there is one that we cannot pass over in silence, and that is—never lose your temper. This applies especially when playing games. To lose one's temper in private is bad enough, but to do so in public is unpardonable. It is a crime which no hostess can forgive, for it makes all the other guests feel uncomfortable and disturbs that outward calm which is the essence of all good society.

Self Possession.

Without a tremor Mrs. Highmore preceded leisurely to open the black bordered letter. "If there were any bad news," she said, "it would have come by telegraph. It must be that something has happened to Mr. Highmore's rich uncle."—Chicago Tribune.

Out Loud.

"Where's papa, Johnny?" "He's upstairs asleep." "Were you upstairs, dear?" "No, ma'am." "Then how do you know he's asleep?" "I heard him doing it. He's sleeping out loud."

The belle of ancient India wore her hair tied by a jeweled band two or three inches back of her head and then braided into an enormous ball.

An Odd Jewish Ceremony.

In the Jewish Encyclopedia is an account of the queer ceremony of the taking off a brother-in-law's shoe by the widow of a brother who has died childless, through which ceremony he is released from the obligation of marrying her. The ceremony is described as follows:

The yabam (brother-in-law) must have his right foot, on which the shoe is placed, washed very scrupulously, and after he has strapped it on he must walk four cubits in the presence of the judges. Then the chief of the judges reads the following passage, which the yabamah (woman) repeats word for word: "My brother-in-law refused to raise unto his brother a name in Israel; he will not marry me." Then the yabam is required to repeat the sentence, "I do not wish to take her." He then presses his right foot against the floor while she loosens the straps with her right hand, takes off the shoe and throws it some distance away. Then she places herself in front of the yabam, spits on the floor in front of him and repeats these words after the presiding judge: "So shall it be done unto that man who will not build up his brother's house, and his name shall be called in Israel 'the house of him that hath his shoe loosed.'"

Poison in Walls.

"As much as 40 per cent of organic matter has been found in plaster taken from the walls of a hospital ward in Paris." Statistics tell us that it is not uncommon to find air in public assembly rooms and even in dwellings containing from ten to fifteen times the amount of carbonic acid found in pure air. Of this gas Tomlinson says: "It acts as a poison. If we attempt to inhale it by putting the face over the edge of a beer vat the nostrils and throat are irritated so strongly that the glottis closes and inspiration becomes impossible." One need remain but half an hour in an unventilated room to have inhaled 600 times the amount of carbonic acid found in pure air. Of this gas Tomlinson says: "It acts as a poison. If we attempt to inhale it by putting the face over the edge of a beer vat the nostrils and throat are irritated so strongly that the glottis closes and inspiration becomes impossible." ## Tying a Horse to a Hole.

It has been discovered that the desert Indians, who have never been accredited with superabundant wits, have for many years employed a method of tying their horses to holes in the ground that is clever, unique and effective. The operation of tying a horse to a hole seems an impracticable and impossible one, for there is something decidedly intangible and unsubstantial about the hole. The operation is performed in this way: Kneeling on the hot sands, the Indians dig with their hands until they have made a hole about two feet deep. They then tie an immense knot in the end of the halter rope, lower it into the bottom of the hole, fill the hole with sand and then jump and stand upon it until the earth over the knot is about as hard as sandstone.—London Magazine.

Cats and Cattle.

In certain parts of southern California it is absolutely necessary to have cats to successfully raise cattle. The cows feed on a red clover which makes a superior quality of beef. This clover grew very sparsely until it was discovered that one farmer who had raised a large number of fatty cats always had fine clover fields. Investigation proved that the cats killed the field mice who killed the wild bees who fertilized the clover seeds by carrying the pollen from flower to flower, thus causing it to sprout thickly every year. Now all the farmers have many cats.

Practical Economy.

A man whose impecunious condition is chronic and who borrows with the airy grace of a beau in an old comedy recently approached an acquaintance, all smiles and geniality.

"You're just the fellow I wanted to see," he said. "Could you lend me $5 for a minute?"

"I could," said the acquaintance dryly, "but let me tell you how to save that $5. Wait a minute and you won't need it."

The Capacity of the Lungs.

The lungs contain about one gallon of air at their usual degree of inflation. We breathe on an average 1,200 times per hour, inhaling 600 gallons of air, or 24,000 gallons per day. The aggregate surface of the air cells of the lungs exceeds 20,000 square inches, an area nearly equal to the floor of a room twelve feet square.

Something of a Torrent.

Young Wife (sobbing)—I will not be quiet! Before we were married you said I had a charming flow of language. Young Husband—And so you have, dear. It not only flows, but dashes, leaps, bounds, roars, goes over cataracts and mill sluices, and there is an occasional waterpout as well.

Stupid.

Perdita—It doesn't matter if this is the third installment of the story. The synopsis is printed, telling how the first chapters went, so you can start reading it from here. Penelope—Yes; but how stupid of them not to have the synopsis tell how it ends.

The Friends.

Effie (just engaged)—What do you think Edwin said last night? That if he had to choose either me or $10,000 he wouldn't even look at the money! May (still waiting)—Dear, loyal fellow! I suppose he wouldn't like to risk the temptation.

"Money," said Uncle Eben, "is what makes de mare go, but sometimes it wants a sensible driver to prevent somebody 'f'm gittin' throwed habd."—Baltimore American.

THEY DIDN'T PART.

Now Two Brothers Settled a Matter of Matrimony.

An English book of reminiscences tells of two squires named Leaman of Ivybridge—"two thin, delicate looking old men, twin brothers, seventy-two years old, with white hair, very gentle and courteous in manner, red cutaway coats, white cords, black boots, caps and gloves." When past sixty years of age one night after hunting one of them said to the other: "I have been thinking neither of us can have much longer to live in this world and it will be a terrible thing for the survivor to have to remain here alone. Don't you think one of us ought to marry?" "Yes," was the reply. "I have thought so for a long time." "Well, do you know of any lady?" "Yes; I do. Is there any one you fancy?" On comparing notes it appeared they had both selected the same woman, the manager of a hotel at Okehampton. "Well," said one, "we have lived together all these years without a wry word, and it's a pity we should fall out at our time of life." So they tossed up who should marry her. The winner rode down to Okehampton next morning and was accepted. All three lived together and the wife nursed both brothers in their last illness and was left their money.

WRITERS' CRAMP.

It is a Sort of Paralysis of Either the Muscles or Nerves.

Writers' cramp, which is more paralysis than cramp, is caused by excessive writing, especially when in a weak or depressed condition. It is still a matter of doubt whether this embarrassing defect is due to a failure of the central nervous system or whether it arises in the muscles involved.

Duchenne, one of the highest authorities on nerve diseases, holds that it is an affection of the great nerve centers, for local treatment of the hand does no good, and cramp rapidly appears in the left hand if the sufferer transfers the work to it. It is probably caused by the complete exhaustion of some portion of the brain which presides over the movements of the group of muscles involved.

Rest is the chief, if not the only cure, though the substitution of a keyboard typewriter in the early stage is often of no avail. A dial machine, which must be grasped with finger and thumb, is not so successful. Pianists, violinists, telegraph clerks, tailors and many others suffer from a similar cramp.

PLANTS IN BEDROOMS.

They Are Harmless in the Daytime, but Violent at Night.

In the daytime, when sunlight stimulates their nutrition, plants can do no harm in bedrooms, for then they give off oxygen and are useful in absorbing from the air the carbon which is injurious to animal life. The free use which is made nowadays of flowers and plants in our hospitals is in itself sufficient proof that this is a wholesome means of ministering mental cheer and comfort to the sick and suffering. At night the case is different. Then all plants and flowers are removed from hospital wards, because they exhale the carbonic acid which they have gathered from the soil and air and thus give off by a process similar to respiration a gas which is injurious. We may therefore conclude that during the hours of darkness, when the respiratory process is active and the nutritive is at a standstill, plants should have no place in our bedrooms. What is prudent in spacious wards is imperative in smaller chambers.

Inspiration For a Ball Gown.

Among the many characteristic stories that have been told of the methods that were used by the great man dressmaker of Paris, Worth, in creating his surprises there is one of a commission he received for a fancy gown which a great belle desired to have absolutely unique. The great man spent the night consulting with his collaborators, but the idea refused to materialize. Weary with their fruitless toil, the three artists stepped out on a balcony to rest and forget their disappointment in a cigarette. "Voila! It is the dawn!" said one. "Ciel! It is the dress!" cried Worth, and "Dawn," with its subtle harmonies of gray and violet and rose shot through with gold, was the success of the ball.

The First Preaching in Maine.

The earliest church permanently established in Maine is said to have been Episcopal. Services were held at Saco in 1637. At what is now Popham services were held frequently in 1607, the first instances of the performance of the rites of the Episcopal church in any part of the United States north of Virginia and the first Protestant worship and preaching by an ordained minister in any portion of this vast territory.

Poker.

Germans claim that poker is an old German game which for more than 100 years has been played and is still being played in some districts of Westphalia. Emigrants took it to the United States, where its name of schachwenzel was changed into poker.

Snubbed Again.

"Have a care, madam," said Mr. Meeker, summoning up a little spunk. "The worm will turn." "Did you ever know the worm to hurt anybody when it turned?" calmly asked his wife.—Chicago Tribune.

Just think of it! We are passing through this world, but we are not stopping here. Let us make the journey agreeable to each other.—Schoolmaster.

Rifle Team Goes East.

The Washington state rifle team, made up of 11 Yakima men and one from Tacoma, Sergeant Dutton, left here on the Burlington train Wednesday night for Fort Riley, Kan., where the boys go to contest in the national trophy contest to occur on the Fort Riley range, beginning Aug. 22.

This is the first time that this state has been represented at a national shooting tournament. The following is the list of officers and privates who started Wednesday night for St. Louis:

Captains—Frank T. Liggett, Charles T. Dulin.

Lieutenant—John M. Curry.
Regimental Color Sergeant—George Van Buskirk.

Sergeants—Walter R. Rowe, Prince R. Richardson, Ora D. Huxtable, H. J. Dutton.

Corporals—Marvin F. Thornton, Don C. Dulin, Harry R. Humphrey, Arthur C. Pierce.

Privates—Eugene M. Hutton, William hope, Alex. J. Ritchey.

Capt. Dulin stated to the Democrat just before leaving that the Yakima boys were sure to render a good account of themselves in the national shoot and that they would bring home with them some of the prizes offered. After the six day tournament at Fort Riley the boys, or most of them intend to go to St. Louis for a few days to visit the fair. They all expect to return home about Sept. 10.

A large crowd was at the depot Wednesday night to see the boys start.

They Were After Nick.

The quartet of Yakima men, Messrs. Cannon, Hartung, Horsley and Weed, who returned home last week from their summer voyage to Cape Nome, all have interesting stories to tell of their delightful trip to the frozen north and of the still more interesting schoolmaams and attractive widows who made the trip with them on the good ship, Roanoke.

All reports agree on one point and that is that Col. Cannon played the role of Ward McAllister and played it well. By drawing on his fertile brain in the effort to amuse his fair fellow passengers and while the golden hours away the colonel made himself intensely popular with the ladies, the prettiest among whom voted him a "perfect dear of a man." But alas, how fickle is the fleeting affections of womankind.

In an unguarded moment one of his Yakima companions leaked and let out the information that the colonel is considered a very happily married man at home. This information had a more withering effect on the spirits of the pretty schoolmaams than the icy winds encountered from the coast of Siberia. The revelation made them feel sore and they wanted revenge. They spoke of the portly banker "as a nice old gentleman, if he wouldn't flirt so awfully."

There are no losses, however, without some compensation. As Cannon's stock went down like a stick Nick Hartung's went up like a rocket. Frank Horsley in his solemn way informed the ladies that Nick is a bachelor and considered mighty good game. Suddenly the good looking hardware merchant became the most sought after man on shipboard and continued to be for the rest of the trip. He was constantly in demand and was voted "a splendid fellow." Nick was so overcome by the fair sex that he is said to have lost his heart in an unguarded moment to a sweet and pensive widow. At least that is what his fellow travelers say, but Nick denies the soft impeachment.

A Summer Cold.

A summer cold is not only annoying but if not relieved Pneumonia will be the probable result by Fall. One Minute Cough Cure clears the phlegm, draws out the inflammation, heals, soothes and strengthens the lungs and bronchial tubes. One Minute Cough Cure is an ideal remedy for the children. It is pleasant to the taste and perfectly harmless. A certain cure for Croup, Cough and Cold. Sold by C. C. Case.

The following special rate will be effective on the lines of the Northern Pacific railway from June 15 to August 25, 1904: North Yakima to West Beach and return, $10; North Yakima to Long Beach, Clatsop Beach points and return, $10. Final return limit September 30. Children of half fare age one-half of above rates. M. S. MEEKS, 36-tf Agent.

A Good Proposition.

I will duplicate any standard cemetery work erected by any out of town firm for 10 per cent less money than their price. If you want work get their price and come to me and save 10 per cent or more.
