CITIZENS TICKET WILL WIN

That Is the Opinion of Unbiased Observers of the Local Municipal Campaign Now on—Will Be Best for the City's Interests.

The above is the ticket nominated at the well attended citizen's mass meeting held at the city hall on the evening of November 10. It is also the ticket which in all probability will be elected at the municipal election to be held in this city Tuesday, December 8.

The Democrat scribe talked with a large number of leading citizens and especially business men during the past week, all or nearly all of whom did not care to be quoted. The prevailing opinion seems to be that the Citizen's ticket or at least the major portion of it is practically certain of election. The business men, who were talked with almost without exception say that they do not favor the policy of Sunday closing as advocated in the platform adopted by the delegate convention. Competition, they say, is very keen in all lines of trade in this city, while the expenses connected with doing business is very heavy. They feel, therefore, that they ought not to be hampered by the passage of a city ordinance or by an invocation of the state law regarding the observance of the first day of the week.

Not that they desire to violate any law, but every business man as one merchant put it, must adjust himself to prevailing conditions and the conditions here for about six weeks in the year—during the hop-picking season—are such that the merchants feel compelled to keep their doors open on Sunday in order to accommodate the trade.

It is not a matter of choice with them, but rather of necessity. Should they be compelled to close, they say, a large amount of money would be spent elsewhere and this city would be irreparably injured.

A prominent supporter of the "People's" ticket, who requested that his name should not be mentioned, stated to the Democrat this week that there was no intention in the event of the election of that ticket of closing the town up tight on Sunday. The saloons, he thought, would be closed up that day but other lines of business he believed ought not and would not be molested.

A leading saloon man was next seen and asked for his view of the matter. The liquor dealer stated in emphatic terms that he for one would enter no objection to the rigid enforcement of all state laws in North Yakima, "but mind you," he continued, "the law must be enforced in every person alike." If the saloon man must obey the Sunday law every other citizen must do the same. You can't make fish of one and fowl of another.

It will thus be seen that if the Sunday closing crusade were to be inaugurated in North Yakima the logical conclusion would be that the town would be closed up as tight as a drum. This is what happened at Walla Walla a little over a year ago. That town for a time was closed up so tight that a man couldn't buy a glass of lemonade in the city on Sunday. Public feeling ran high, enmity was engendered between neighbors that will probably last for a lifetime. Arrest followed arrest and court costs were piled mountain high. In scarcely a case was there a conviction secured for the simple reason that the accused invariably demanded a jury trial and a jury that would convict was impossible to secure. The Sunday closing movement in that city finally petered off and a large number of people were worse off.

This is invariably the result where public sentiment will not sustain the law. Do the people of this city care to go through this disagreeable as well as unprofitable experience as did Walla Walla? If they do all that is required of them is to turn the control of this city over completely to the gentlemen who are running for office on the "people's" ticket.

LARSON WINS AGAIN

The Yakima Wrestler Wins From Klank of Chicago—A Terrible Struggle Between the Two Giants Which Lasted Nearly Two Hours.

The wrestling bout at the armory Tuesday night between Chris Larson, the heavy weight champion wrestler of this city and Emil Klank of Chicago, was by all odds the best exhibition of the art ever witnessed in this vicinity and the small audience of 125 or 150 people present felt well repaid for going. The great interest felt in the bout by the spectators was due to the fact that the two men were so evenly matched, although Klank, the visitor had about ten pounds the advantage over Larson in the matter of weight but this was offset by the superior agility shown by the local man who certainly is an adept at wriggling out of tight places in the game.

The preliminary event consisted of a lively but short bout between "Blubber" Irby, and Jim Varco, two well known local young men, who are fast learning the fine points of the game. The first and third falls were won by Irby while the fat plumber secured the second.

The put up agood amateur exhibition and were loudly applauded.

The main event was full of interest from the start. Klank immediately assumed the aggressive and the herculean form of the man from the "windy" city appeared to good advantage as compared to that of his rival who appeared small in comparison. Klank went after his man as though he was fully resolved to win and felt certain as to the outcome. This boldness on the part of the stranger caused a number of young men to wager their money on him with the result that they parted from it.

Larson played a waiting game and allowed his big adversary to worry himself for a considerable time before he showed his hand and tried aggressive tactics and began to mix matters with his big adversary. Then there was something doing all the time. Several times Klank seemed to have the local man in chancery but invariably Larson by his great agility got out of the trap set for him. At the end of 46½ minutes Larson was awarded the fall by Umpire Wood, having got a hammerlock hold on his man with which he bore him to the mat.

After a ten minute rest the two combatants went at it again, the visitor again taking the aggressive. Back and forth the pair surged across the mat. The tremendous strength exhibited by Klank astonished the crowd. Several times he picked the Scandinavian up in his arms as though he were but a child and flung him to the mat. But he never seemed to be able to keep Larson there for the necessary length of time, the local man always wriggling from in under.

At one time Klank took his man by the heels and stood him on his head where he held him for two or three minutes, but he never could get Larson's shoulders to the mat. The two men tugged and worked while the sweat poured from their bodies in streams. It looked for a while like anybody's fall and the excitement of the small crowd of spectators was at fever heat. Finally Larson got a half Nelson on his man and put him down and out. The second fall required 63 minutes of time, the longest ever known in a wrestling match in this part of the country.

At the end of the fall both men were so nearly exhausted that they could scarcely stagger to their feet. The crowd surged about them to offer congratulations. Klank as soon as he got his breath said: "Gentlemen the only trouble with me was that I run up against a better man. I wish to thank you all and especially Mr. Larson for the courtesies I have received." A hearty cheer was then given the vanquished, but game wrestler, and the crowd dispersed.

Christian Endeavor Convention.

The first annual convention of the Christian Endeavor society of the seventh district will be held in this city on November 28 and 29. The exercises will begin at 9:30 a. m. on Saturday, and the business session will begin at 1:30 p. m. A union meeting of all the churches will be held Sunday evening commencing at 6:30 and continuing to 8:30. A good program has been arranged for the event. All visiting delegates are requested to come to the church for assignment to places of entertainment.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

The government and people of the United States are placed in a most humiliating position before the world by reason of the Panama imbroglio. The hasty and pre-determined recognition of the rump government on the Isthmus by the Roosevelt administration is a piece of international sharp practice that may yet lead to serious results; certainly no glory has been won for American diplomacy in this matter.

The fact that Colombia is a benighted, semi-barbarous state and that she objected to our building a canal across her domain has nothing to do with the merits of the case. That that country was wholly and entirely within her rights when she refused to grant the concession to dig the canal in exchange for a ten million dollar bribe no man who is not a fool would attempt to deny. Certainly Colombia had a reason for the refusal, one great controlling reason, and that reason was and is her fear that the government of the United States has designs upon her territory and upon her integrity as a nation. That is why Colombia rejected the treaty and the princely sum offered for its ratification. To have accepted the bribe, for in reality it was nothing else was to have invited American intervention in her domestic affairs. This she was not willing to do, with the Philippine experience fresh in her mind. Hence she rejected the treaty. The statesmen of that country knew that the congress of the United States had directed the president that in the event of the failure to negotiate the treaty with Colombia he should forthwith proceed to negotiate a treaty with Nicaragua. This latter instruction the president has not seen fit to carry out, although he has had plenty of time since the Panama treaty was rejected by the Colombian senate last May. And why has he not carried out the instructions of congress regarding the Nicaraguan negotiations? No satisfactory answer can be made to this question except it be based on the assumption that the president and his secretary of state had full knowledge of the comic opera revolution being hatched on the Isthmus by a lot of French adventurers peculiarly interested in the success of the Panama canal graft. In no other way is it possible to account for the policy of inactivity on the part of our strenuous president for the period of six long months, during which time history was being rapidly made.

Simultaneously with the hauling down of the Colombian flag there appeared off the Panama coast six American warships, sent there to serve notice upon the Colombian government that any attempt to subdue the Panama rebels would mean war with the United States. Three days later the Washington government recognized the rump government set up in Panama and immediately began to treat with it for the desired canal concession.

It is clearly a case of might versus right. Our government is plainly acting the part of the big bully with a weak and defenseless nation. If conditions were reversed and some first class power, like Russia or Germany, for instance, should attempt to enact such a role as Uncle Sam is playing on the Isthmus and attempt to provoke rebellion in any part of United States territory, what a howl would go up from sea to sea in this country and how long would it be before satisfaction would be demanded? And what a righteous course it would be. What a protest went up from millions of loyal American throats when it seemed likely that England and France would recognize the existence of the Southern Confederacy when that institution had a well organized government, a capital and a million soldiers in the field to defend both. Why don't the administration press present this view of the question instead of constantly attempting to befog and bewilder the public mind in the general desire to know the truth? The assumption that "the king can do no wrong" is a rotten theory transplanted from foreign soil and has no rightful place in free America.

This miserable Panama business, when its true inwardness is fully known, may cause the American people to pause and reflect. If they do so they will be likely to locate the responsibility where it belongs. This incident illustrates the character, motive and policy of Theodore Roosevelt better than anything else that has happened during his administration. It shows plainly that he is too dangerous a man and that he is essentially unfit to rule the destinies of eighty millions of liberty-loving people, who collectively constitute the greatest nation that the world has ever known.

THE DEMOCRAT is firmly of the opinion that the interests of the city of North Yakima will be best conserved during the coming year by the election of the "Citizens" ticket in its entirety. That ticket is made up of good, substantial citizens, all of whom are hard headed business men, who, if elected, we believe will perform the duties of their several offices properly and with due regard to the interests of the town. A good deal is expected of the new council, particularly in the way of extending the sewer system and enforcing sanitary precautions. Therefore, the necessity of having practical men in that body to see that the work is done properly.

As this paper stated last week, we have a good deal of respect personally for all the candidates who make up the "Peoples" ticket. They are all good men and good citizens. However it is as candidates for public position that we must judge them. Mr. Fechter, the nominee for mayor, is in most respects an ideal citizen, yet invested with power he is apt to become a dangerous official—dangerous we mean from the standpoint of the interests of the city and of many of its citizens. In his case an otherwise splendid personality is seriously marred by a most autocratic will which renders the man almost impervious to advice unless the same should come from his kitchen cabinet, the individual members of which are not always safe advisers. It follows then that if Mr. Fechter be again elected mayor the necessity of selecting a council to serve with him is not apparent. If Mr. Fechter desires further honors at the hands of the people he ought to select another prize and one that is within his grasp. To be honored five times by election and re-elections to the mayoralty of a town like this is doing pretty well in the opinion of most of the people. North Yakima is no longer a one man town, as the distinguished Col. Boyle used to say.

No one seems disposed to blame the Yakima Herald for taking no part in the city election contest, for when that paper attempts to dabble in politics it usually harms the cause that it espouses as well as burns its own fingers. The Herald, therefore, may be regarded as wise in preserving a discreet silence.

The case of the Republic is in some respects analogous to that of the Herald. It too, through a lack of discretion, has frequently defeated the men and the measures it professed to advocate. Yet when we consider that the Republic is the leading organ of its party in the central portion of the state and its editor ambitious to achieve for himself distinction and high place the wonder is that he can content himself to sit idly on the fence and see the procession go by, turning a deaf ear to the entreaties of his friends and those who naturally assumed that they had a claim to his support.

Still, we appreciate the unhappy frame of mind that the editor of our contemporary is in, in being compelled to choose between his friends on the one hand and his pocketbook on the other. That the latter has triumphed in the struggle is all the evidence that is needed of the colonel's thrifty habits and business sagacity. We would, of course, naturally refrain from calling public attention to the private troubles of our esteemed neighbor were it not for the tiresome paragraphs that so frequently appear in its editorial columns about going "down the line with its friends" and the wholly unwarranted charge that this paper is habitually untrue to its friends.

How the republican leaders in this state do love each other. Below appears an editorial excerpt from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, John L. Wilson's paper, anent Senator Foster. Surely no democratic paper of the state has ever made a word painting of the senior senator that would compare with this:

"It followed as a matter of course that Senator Foster would oppose the retention of Mr. W. H. Ludden in the Spokane land office, notwithstanding the excellent record made by that official. The fact that Senator Foster's faith is pledged has nothing to do with the case; for having started out with a multitude of promises, among them the agreement that he would accept recommendations of the county committees in various parts of the state, and having broken them indiscriminately, he has not occasioned surprise by his recent actions. It would be hard to find in the state of Washington a single county committee with which Senator Foster has kept his word, and the statement is especially true of King and Spokane counties. Having betrayed everybody who aided him in his election as United States senator, having deceived everyone by sharp practice or by downright lying, it was to be expected that he would betray the man who first suggested his election to the senate. Foster is narrow and bigoted, and when things do not go to suit him exactly, he sulks and whines and grovels. His whole career is one of treachery to the men whose efforts advanced him to the high position which, with so little credit to himself and to his state, he is attempting to fill."

We note the fact that ex-Senator Turner states in the most positive terms that he will not be the democratic candidate for governor. Under the circumstances there seems to be nothing to do but to take his word for it.

With Judge Turner out of the race the most available candidate, in the judgment of this paper, is another distinguished democrat of Spokane. We refer to State Senator Warren W. Tolman.

This is a bona fide offer and the Democrat will deliver the goods. Call at once and secure your outfit.

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT

Senator Tolman, it will be remembered, won his spurs as the leader of the democratic minority in the last two legislatures, where he waged a vigorous and continuous battle against the corrupt railway lobby. At each of the last two sessions he introduced the Tolman railway commission bill and detested his measure on the floor of the senate with consummate skill and ability, being an orator and debater of rare power. It is not because of such accomplishments as these, however, that make Senator Tolman an available man for the gubernatorial nomination. His strength lies in his honesty of purpose, his courage and the high place that he holds in the public esteem. With Tolman of Spokane as its standard bearer the democracy of this state would go into the next campaign with some show of success. At any rate the party would have a candidate of whom it might well be proud.

Mrs. Carrie Nation went to the White House one day last week to call on the president to ask him if it is true that he smoked cigarettes and consumed a great deal of whiskey. To Mrs. Nation's surprise, Teddy sent word from his private office that he was very busy and was unable to receive her. The woman from Kansas then contented herself by lecturing Secretary Loeb, who, after receiving a violent tongue lashing, ordered the woman removed from the executive mansion. After leaving the White House Mrs. Nation repaired to the visitors gallery of the senate chamber with the avowed purpose of delivering a lecture to the senators on the evil of hard drink. Before she could do this, however, she was arrested and fined on the flimsy charge of having created a disturbance. It is evident from this that there is somebody that Teddy is afraid of. The strenuous chief had no desire to be interviewed by Mrs. Nation.

ADAM SCHMIDT, a tool of the Ankeny machine at Walla Walla, was convicted of perjury for having sworn falsely in the effort to secure naturalization papers for a lot of ignorant Russians in order to vote them for Ankeny candidates. Judge Hanford handed out to Schmidt a sentence of six years at McNeil's island. This, by the way, is a sentence co-terminous with Ankeny's term in the senate. Schmidt, a poor devil and ignorant foreigner, goes to prison while Ankeny, the beneficiary of the fraud, goes to Washington to mingle with the great of earth. Ye gods! Justice must indeed be blind.

EX-SENATOR TURNER seems to have more influence at the White House than either or both of the two republican senators from this state. For months the two senators have been begging the president to appoint "Hal" Cole receiver of the Spokane land office against the protest of Secretary Hitchcock. When Turner called to pay his respects on his return from England, Teddy suddenly asked, "What kind of a man is 'Hal' Cole?" Turner replied, "He is my neighbor and I know him to be both honest and efficient." That settled the matter in favor of Mr. Cole. He will get the job.

AS THE DEMOCRAT has said before, it has a great deal of respect for the personnel of the "Peoples" ticket. We have no respect, however, for the campaign methods that have been adopted to elect that ticket, or rather a part of it. This thing of working both the churches and the saloons will not be likely to yield the net results desired. Those two organizations will hardly work together in double harness. They never did and they never will.

The Republic apparently is ready to support Mark Hanna for president and any good railroad republican for governor. The belligerent editor of that sheet has for some time been industriously engaged in scattering feathers in order to ensure himself a soft place to light. But the fall is likely to be hard just the same.

The editor of the Washingtonian, who hasn't lived in this town long enough to have worn out a pair of shoes, seems to think that we'll all go to the demimoon bowwows unless the "Peoples" ticket be elected. Oh pshaw, neighbor, you must have wheels in your head. Don't take yourself and the world quite so seriously.

The sultan of Jolo is thinking about setting up a little republican government of his own and as proof of his intentions killed a half dozen American soldiers. This is more blood than was spilled in the Panama fiasco, yet so far none of the great powers of the earth have recognized the independence of Jolo.

The sewer ordinance passed at the last session of the city council appears in this issue of the DEMOCRAT. Property owners, especially such as have not yet connected with the sewer system, should give the ordinance a careful perusal.

It is suggested by an exchange that Senator Morgan ought to go to Nicaragua and start a revolution. No, that wouldn't do. The old man couldn't hope to cope successfully in the secession business with the strenuous Teddy.

EDITOR GUILD has sold the Proser Bulletin to Arton E. Verity, late of St. Paul. Bro. Guild in his valedictory announces that while he has severed his connection with the paper he has no intention of leaving Proser.

THANKSGIVING has come and gone and as usual left in its wake many pleasant memories. The day was appropriately observed in this city and the number of big fat turkeys consumed was a record breaker.

THE Whatcom Blade comes to our exchange table in a much improved form. The Blade is the only democratic paper in Northwestern Washington as the DEMOCRAT is the only one in Central Washington.

THE Republic is going down the line, but not with its friends.

Nearly Dragged to Death.

Walter N. Granger of Zillah, on his way to Sunnyside Saturday evening, accompanied by George P. Eaton, came near being dragged to death by the running away of the team which he was driving. The night was dark. The team was high-spirited and the driver was unacquainted with the road. A barbed wire gate was stretched across the road. The team plunged into this gate. Messrs. Granger and Eaton were thrown out. Mr. Granger's foot caught in the spring of the buggy as he fell.

The team started immediately at great speed, dragging Mr. Granger behind the buggy. The horses ran only a few rods until they came against another barbed wire fence. Here one of the horses was thrown violently to the ground. Mr. Eaton was following after the fleeing team as fast as he could run and succeeded in getting Mr. Granger's foot loose from the buggy just as the fallen horse got upon his feet. The team started again, but Mr. Granger was safe. He suffered only slightly from the accident. The team ran into a fence corner, where they were caught unharmed with only slight damages done to harness and rig.

Mr. Granger passed through this city Monday on his way to Tacoma to receive special medical treatment.

Married at Spokane.

J. A. Brown, a well known real estate man of this city and Miss Anna M. Broyles of Washington, D. C. were married last Monday evening at Spokane, Rev. S. T. Giboney of the Presbyterian church of that city officiating.

The wedding of Monday was the happy culmination of a romance that began several years ago in Kansas when Mr. Brown and his charming bride were both residents of the Sunflower state. They drifted apart however, the lady going to the National capital to live, while Mr. Brown drifted westward to the coast. Years passed away but the old love refused to die. Finally a correspondence opened between the parted lovers and an understanding soon reached. The now happy groom is rather reticent about particulars, but there is no question regarding his responsibility for the lady's trip west. At any rate he met her at Spokane Monday and no time was lost in procuring the necessary license and preacher. The would-be groom admitted that he was a good deal put out when told at the "auditor's" office that it was necessary to have somebody to identify him before the necessary license would be issued. Being a stranger in the city Mr. Brown says he felt very much discouraged, when suddenly the door opened and a familiar face appeared. The newcomer was none other than W. E. Hunt, formerly connected with the Republic, but who now resides in Spokane. The official who had to be shown was soon satisfied and Brown went on his way rejoicing.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown arrived here Wednesday. For the present they are guests at the Pacific hotel, but expect to soon go to housekeeping.

Thanksgiving Day.

Thursday, the National Thanksgiving day, was very generally observed in this city and surrounding country. That a great many turkeys and other fowls were consumed was evident from the great activity at the different meat markets for the first three days of the week. A great many more birds were sold this season than ever before, local dealers say.

Special union services were held at the M. E. church at 11 o'clock, Rev. H. P. James of the Congregational church preaching the sermon. A fine musical program was rendered. The town was pretty quiet after 12 o'clock, at which time all the business houses closed for the day. In the afternoon a number of people attended the football game between the high school eleven and the Sunnyside team. In the evening the attraction was the masquerade ball at the armory given under the auspices of Yakima lodge No. 22, I. O. O. F. The ball was a success in every way and all present had a good time.

"Trip Around the World."

"The Trip Around the World" given Tuesday night for the benefit of the Deaconess Home, was one of the most pleasant and profitable enterprises ever given in this city. The number of coupon tickets sold for the entertainment was 272, which at 50 cents each netted the aid society a handsome sum for the worthy cause for which the proceeds will be used.

The scheme of the entertainment was to have residences fitted up to represent foreign countries with characters from each to wait on and entertain the visitors. The journey was begun at "America," at the M. E. church, thence to Ireland, the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Flint. Here is where the wedding took place, with G. S. Vance as the bride and Harry D. Baylor, as groom, representing Irish peasants. From Mrs. Flint's the journey was continued to Japan, the home of Mrs. William Scott; Italy, the home of Mrs. James Richey; Turkey, the home of Mrs. Erwin; Spain, the home of Mrs. H. J. Rand, and Iceland, the Episcopal rectory.

At every place the attendants, dressed in the costumes of the country, served refreshments. The journey required about an hour and a half to complete. It was full of fun and interest from beginning to end and all who attended were well pleased.

The Woman's Club Entertains.

The Woman's club gave a reception last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Edward Whitson on north Naches avenue. The affair was given in honor of the husbands of the members exclusively, with the exception that all the clergy of the city were invited to be present.

A musical program was arranged for part of the entertainment, upon which appeared Mrs. C. E. Connor, Mr. Warren Erwin, and Mrs. Frank Horsley, all of whom rendered vocal selections. Mrs. George Vance and Mrs. Richard Strobach read two very pleasing selections. The main source of amusement, however, came from the new and popular game of "finch." Prizes were offered and won by Mrs. W. L. Wright among the ladies, and by Warren Erwin among the gentlemen.

There were present about fifty people, all told.

Brick ice cream, cake and coffee were served for refreshments.

Ellensburg's Election.

A mass meeting in Ellensburg last week nominated the following candidates for city officers:

Mayor, M. E. Flynn; treasurer, C. H. Stewart; clerk, George Sayles; attorney, Austin Mires; health officer, Dr. Mahan; councilmen 1st ward, Andrew Olsen and George W. Hornbeck; councilman 2nd ward, R. Lee Purdin; councilman at large, A. M. Wright.

The Dawn says: The real object of the caucus was to put out a ticket to be headed by Dr. Gray, but the caucus was completely captured by the friends of M. E. Flynn, and the organization took complete control of the same and the result is now known to all. We presume the ticket is satisfactory and that no other ticket will be nominated.

Bedford Would Be Judge.

B. S. Grosscup, division counsel for the Northern Pacific at Tacoma, and one of the leading railroad lobbyists and politicians of the state, will urge the appointment of Charles Bedford of Tacoma for the new federal judgeship in this state, should the present congress create that judgeship.

This statement of Mr. Grosscup's intention comes from a most authoritative source. Mr. Grosscup has always been regarded as a candidate for the place himself. He is said to have concluded, however, that no railroad attorney can secure the appointment at the hands of President Roosevelt, and that his best plan is to try to secure the place for his friend Bedford.

Mr. Grosscup was instrumental in the election of both Senator Foster and Senator Ankeny, and believes he will have the controlling voice in the selection of the judge. It is his intention to go to Washington in Mr. Bedford's interests, if indeed he has not already gone.

Mr. Bedford has been a practicing attorney in Tacoma for many years. He was a member of the legislature of 1899, and in the sessions of 1901 and 1903 he appeared in Olympia as a railroad lobbyist. He is employed in Mr. Grosscup's office.

Over a year ago Mr. Bedford went to Washington to oppose the appointment of Clarence W. Ide as collector of customs. Bedford was secretary of the Puyallup Indian commission at the time and the department claimed he went to Washington without obtaining due leave or absence. As a result he was summarily removed from office.

Senator Foster has been endeavoring to secure the appointment of Mr. Bedford as assistant United States district attorney to succeed Edward E. Cushman. District Attorney Fry personally requested the department of justice to make the appointment, but his request was refused. Now Mr. Grosscup has brought Mr. Bedford out as a candidate for the prospective federal judgeship.

Congressman Jones' bill dividing Washington into two federal judicial districts is unsatisfactory to Judge Hanford. Mr. Jones would make the summit of the mountains the dividing line, and have terms of court held at Seattle and Tacoma in the western district, and at Spokane, North Yakima and Walla Walla in the eastern district.

Judge Hanford favors dividing the state so that the northern tier of counties would be in one district and the southern tier in another. That division would leave Judge Hanford to hold court at Seattle and Spokane, and the new judge would have terms at Tacoma and Walla Walla, and possibly North Yakima. Judge Hanford believes that his plan would be the more equitable division of the work.

Judge Hanford's plan is favored by the Tacoma political contingent because under it Tacoma would probably secure the new judge. R. G. Hudson of Tacoma is a candidate for the judgeship, and when the division bill was pending in the last congress he secured the endorsement of the Tacoma Bar association.—Spokesman-Review.

ADDITIONAL PERSONAL AND LOCAL

Herman Frank has gone to Rossland, B. C. He will return to this city before the holidays.

E. L. Boardman left for Moscow, Idaho, the first of the week to look over a newspaper proposition.

Ex-Sheriff Dan W. Simmons is in the city this week. He will divide his time between here and Seattle until spring when he will return north.

Marriage licenses were issued by the county auditor Friday to Charles Gore and Miss Gertrude Pickard, also to Alvie Dee Huggett and Miss Mary Letitia Hess.

Fruit Inspector Beck on Thursday condemned about 8000 fruit trees from the Stark Bros. nursery of Louisiana, Mo. The trees were found to be badly infested with the wooly aphs and a large portion of the affected stock was burned.

James Mabry, a well known pioneer of this city, is said to be very low at his home in the northern part of the city and his death is expected to occur at any time. His disease is consumption against which he has made a splendid but hopeless fight.

Miss May, daughter of W. J. Hackett of the Ahtanum, died at Spokane, where she had been living for some time, Nov. 18, death being caused by peritonitis. The remains were shipped to this city for burial the funeral being held Tuesday from the undertaking parlors of Shaw & Flint. The deceased was 21 years of age and was quite well known in this city.

T. J. Lynch and wife returned Monday from a few days visit with the latter's mother, Mrs. McCarty, who lives with a daughter about 10 miles from Chehalis in this state. Mrs. McCarty is probably the oldest woman in the state. She was 105 years of age on the 10th day of this month. The venerable lady is still in full possession of all her faculties and is phenomenally active for one so advanced in years.

We Want Better Roads.

In the Republican National Platform of 1896 was a plank advocating the improvement of the country roads and a similar plank was a prominent feature in the platform of 1900. The maintenance of good roads is an important matter to residents in country communities, and a prominent feature in the promises of a political party in a campaign that tends toward the improvement of wagon roads is a strong inducement to voters residing on farms and in the hundreds of villages that are dependent upon the farmers' trade to vote the ticket that represents the most valuable promises in that direction.

Throughout the Eastern states where the rural interests have looked forward to the work on the roads that was promised, there is considerable complaining at the laxness of the party in keeping its promises.

During the year 1896 the Department of Agriculture published a circular showing that the losses due to hauling farm produce over bad roads as compared with the cost of hauling over the good roads of Europe was $630,943,110 for the year 1895. If the Republican party had been true to its promises, a part of this vast sum might have been saved to the agricultural interests of the country.

In the census year of 1900 the quantity of farm produce of the country was nearly double that of 1895; consequently the mud tax has increased to nearly a billion and a quarter of dollars each year, not to mention the increase in farm values that would follow the promised road improvement.

In this connection attention has been called to the heroic efforts that the party has made to keep its promises. As a matter of fact, nothing has been accomplished except the making of the niggardly appropriation of $20,000 in 1902—a sum so small that it practically amounts to nothing.

The preventable losses due to bad roads are so large as to be difficult to comprehend except by those who have given the matter close attention, but the most casual observer can see that the Republican party is up to keeping its promises only when it can benefit the corporate interests that maintain the lobbies.—Seattle Times.

The Hop Market.

The hop market has taken quite a slump, with small doings. Last Friday Chas. Kinney sold 77 bales to Fred Alter for 21c, and Stewart & Davenport sold 121 bales to Guy Grafton at the same figure. On Tuesday Knok Bros. of Tampico sold 80 bales for 20½c; A. D. Eglin from the same section sold 90 bales to Carpenter Bros. for 20c and Geo. Ker of Moxee, sold 188 bales to Alter for 19c. The hops included in all these sales represented about the same quality, and serve to show the sluff in prices within a few days.

Deadly Cost of the Philippines.

The nation does all that can be done for its dead who meet their end in the distant islands of the Pacific. They are buried in the soil they loved and their friends are given the opportunity of paying the last tribute of respect to their memories. But why need they have died? Has the mortality of the Philippines not been unnecessary? The war has been over for years, yet the deaths go on. Disease has succeeded sword and firearms and insanity stalks hand in hand with death. Such is the cost. We paid twenty million dollars for islands that we do not want and that so far have failed to even pay interest on the investment and in addition, have cost us millions more and will cost us many millions still. Taken altogether this Philippines situation is the most regrettable feature of American history.—N. Y. World.

The Strain of Rowing.

A medical paper discusses the "health of the oarsmen" and comes to no very definite conclusion as to the effect of training and racing on the after life of the varsity oar. Some years ago the late Professor Morgan, in his little work, "University Oars," gave the results of an investigation regarding 255 who were then living out of 294 who had taken part in the boat races. And his returns seemed to show that oarsmen were rather benefited than injured by the discipline and struggle. It must be remembered that the preliminary sifting of the torpids, the eights and the trials weeds out the weaklings at Oxford who could not stand the strain. And every rowing man knows that the trained man who tumbles back in the boat after a hard fought race is as fit as ever within a minute.—London Chronicle.

His Forenoons Began Early.

When Philip D. Armour engaged a new secretary, he did not tell him at what hour in the morning to report.

The young man appeared at 9, but found Mr. Armour at work. Nothing was said about the secretary being late.

The next day he presented himself at half past 8, only to find Mr. Armour ahead of him.

So on the day following he came at 8 o'clock, with the same result.

Determined to be on hand before his boss, he came at 7:30 the next day, only to be greeted by Mr. Armour with the question:

"Young man, will you tell me what you do with your forenoons?"

Edible to Him.

"You say," tittered the fiancée of the vegetarian, "that you could fairly eat me. Now, isn't that contrary to the tenets of your belief?"

"Not at all," asserted the vegetarian.

"But if you ate me?"

"I should simply be eating a peach."

IS SEVERELY CRITICISED

Roosevelt's Panama Policy a Breach of National Honor.

The action of the administration in recognizing the independence of the republic of Panama and forbidding the landing of Colombian troops to crush
the rebellion, has aroused a great deal of criticism which is not confined to the democratic papers.

The New York Tribune, a rock ribbed
republican paper says;

"It is not the business of the United States to aid rebels in any country by recognizing their independence until that independence is an established fact, or to encourage them by promising such recognition. It is a matter of course, without any special promise, that recognition will be given whenever and where-ever it is deserved. Until it is deserved it is not to be given or promised, and should not be asked. This country could not afford to incur the suspicion of having in any degree encouraged or aided the secession movement, not even if in so doing they secured the canal. The canal would not repay us for the loss of honor and for the loss of the confidence of our neighbors. We could better afford to go elsewhere for a canal, or even to do without a canal, than to incur the reproach of having conspired against the integrity of a friendly sovereign state."

The New York Evening Post, another
republican paper says:

"We threatened to go to war with any nation which recognized that secession
movement numbering millions of men
and with formidable armies in the field.
The dispatches of Seward and Adams are full of protests against recognizing the revolted states. Yet the Tribune's Washington correspondent coolly assures us that this government will presently recognize the state of Panama, which counts within its borders 250,000 people, who are, says this delightful man, 'as industrious as the climate will permit.'
No man in his senses imagines that we could think of thus swallowing our own principles unless the canal were the prize. If we refuse to let troops be moved against the revolutionists, how can we also threaten to recognize them as a government on the grounds that they are too strong for the Bogota authorities? It is very much as if England had guaranteed to close the Potomac and would not let Grant cross to attack Lee."

To Mr. Bryan's Credit.

The course of the prosecution in the Bennett will contest towards William J.
Bryan is indefensible and inexcusable.
Philo S. Bennett, a wealthy tea merchant of New York, was one of Mr.
Bryan's most devoted friends and most enthusiastic supporters. He believed in the man and his political principals. In his will he directed his executors to set apart $50,000 of his fortune for the benefit of Mr. Bryan and his family.

No secret was made of Mr. Bennett's decision to give Mr. Bryan $50,000. The gift was made in a way that practically forbade refusal to accept on Mr. Bryan's part. He accepted it and when a contest was threatened he stated his position in an open, manly fashion.

With that frank statement before the public, the intimation that Mr. Bryan is standing by the will and in declining to compromise is influenced wholly by sordid motives, is as offensive as the insinuation that he exerted improper mesmeric or telepathic influence.

The people of the west do not like Mr.
Bryan's politics. They have repudiated his leadership. But they will resent this gratuitous reflection on his probity
and this slur upon his character and motives.

If Mr. Bennett intended to give Mr.
Bryan $50,000 the executors of the will should see that Mr. Bryan gets the money. As Mr. Bennett intended to give his family the money, he is doing only his plain duty in standing by the will. The people would think less of him than they do now if he should retire from the contest under the loose talk about mesmeric and telepathic influence.

In the interests of a friendship as remarkable as it was creditable, and in the interests of common sense and fairness, Mr. Bryan should maintain the position he has taken.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Sold Their Birthright.

"The people" demanded that they be given a chance. They wanted land.
Here they said, is an immense national domain. It belongs to the people.
Then each one of "the people" was allowed to make an entry. He or she made the entry. But before he or she made the entry it was thought best to make an arrangement to "realize." To go and sit down on the land was irksome. So arrangement was made beforehand with the capitalists and timber land speculators. The "citizen" entered the land. He or she got the title, and for a consideration agreed on beforehand, passed it to the timber capitalist or timber syndicate, and took the money. It is an old story. The business has been going on for years.
But just now, somehow the land office has just found it out. Hence all this racket. The root of the fraud lay in the disposition of members of congress to give "the poor man" or "the poor woman" something out of the super-abundant bounty of the government

The poor man or the poor woman would sell out for what they could get—indeed
were supplied with the money beforehand by the monopolists; and the consequence is that the title to the lands
that were given to "the people" turns up in the hands of a few wealthy men.
And we all roar and howl.—Oregonian.

President Elliott Says No.

It is reported on what seems to be good authority that President Elliott
of the Northern Pacific has turned down the proposition of the Sunnyside and Prosser people for the building of a branch road from Alfalfa to Prosser via Sunnyside. The new president is said to have decided that the building of such a road would be of no particular benefit to the system.

Great disappointment will doubtless be felt in the lower valley as the result of this decision as it is likely that the result of the collapse of the railroad proposition will also mean that the best sugar mill will not be located at Prosser. The decision of President Elliott not to build the road is thus a matter of general regret.

SPEECHES THAT LIVE.

Oratoric Triumphs That Stand the Test of Reading.

It is often said that if a speech reads
well it is not a good speech. There may be some truth in it. The reader cannot, of course, get the impression which the speaker conveys by look and tone and gesture. He lacks that marvelous influence by which in a great assembly the emotion of every individual soul is multiplied by the emotion of every other. The reader can pause and dwell upon the thought. If there be a fallacy, he is not hurried away to do something else before he can detect it.
So, also, his more careful and deliberate criticism will discover offenses of style and taste which pass unheeded in a speech when uttered. But still the great oratoric triumphs of literature and history stand the test of reading in the closet as well as of hearing in the assembly. Would not Mark Antony's speech over the dead body of Caesar, had it been uttered, have moved the Roman populace as it moves the spectator when the play is acted or the solitary reader in his closet? Does not Lord Chatham's "I rejoice that America has resisted" reads well? Do not Sheridan's and Burke's great perora-tions in the impeachment of Warren Hastings read well? Does not "Liberty and union, now and forever," read well? Does not "Give me liberty or give me death" read well? Do not Everett's finest passages read well?—Senator Hoar in Success.

Laughter Better Than Pills.

The cure for the bilious man is a clown, not pills. For indigestion go to a show where there are one or two first class fools who know how to make
"monkeys" of themselves. The fun,
however, should be clean, innocent,
harmless and hearty, with no suggestion of indecency or vulgarity. In other words, the fun should be "hygienic."
Fun that is foul and malodorous is un-healthful.

The best sort of fun for the dyspep-tic is the fun that burlesques the follies and foibles of the odd "characters" you have met. If you can't find the show with the burlesque "artists" who can make you laugh, seek out companions who are jolly and who know the art of clowning.

Don't let any half baked idiot load
your mind with his business or domestic troubles. When you get an hour or two from the desk or store, abandon yourself willingly and cheerfully to the frivolities of a jocular friend.—What to Eat.

A Stubborn Husband.

A most interesting phenomenon is the stubborn husband. He is not a bad man. He is contrary, and he has to be managed. He is usually married to a clever little woman, who is constantly devising schemes to accomplish the things which make their joint lives a success.

He has no suspicion of this. If he had, he would be so mad he could undoubtedly eat her. So all through life she goes on swinging a turnip ahead of his nose to make him go the same as though he were a balky mule. She is a cheery little body, and she grows plump with every year, and she does her smiling behind the door or she chuckles in her sleeve when he is not
by. The stubborn husband is as interesting as a bug.—London Standard.

Marriage by Capture.

Marriage by capture is a very old and very widely spread custom. It prevails among the Hindoos, the Kalmucks and Circassians and the primitive races of Australia, New Zealand and America, but instead of abduction being considered an outrage by these half civilized peoples it is looked upon as a preliminary marriage rite, and, as a general rule, the coy damsel is by no means averse to the mild violence.

Abduction became so common in England in the reigns of the Tudor princes
that a statute was passed on the subject, and this was followed by an act of Elizabeth which took away the benefit of clergy from the offender, and it was not till so late as the reign of George IV. that the crime ceased to be a capital offense and punishable with death.

What the White House Is.

To the American people the White House represents the personality of the president of the United States. To the politician the magic words may stand for the goal of an ambition too often associated with the deepest and most poignant disappointment, while to the historian the name may typify decisions that have marked epochs in the affairs of nations. In the mind of the people, however, the official character of the building has always been subordinate to its domestic uses. Popularly speaking, the White House is the place not where the president works, but where he entertains.—Charles Moore in Century.

A Mistake Somewhere.

"Is it true, Miss Gertie," he said,
"that there are just two things a woman will jump at—a conclusion and a mouse?"
"No," she answered; "there is a third,
Mr. Philip."
After thinking the matter over a few moments he tremblingly made her an offer, but she didn't jump at it. He was not the right man.

Not Appreciated.

Bjens—It certainly seems to me that a man like Bjackson, who has worked hard all his life and brought up a family of sixteen children, deserves a great deal of credit.

Bjones—No doubt. But he can't have it at the stores.—Somerville Journal.

When you have eaten one apple dumpling, you feel like another. Wait
a little, and the desire will disappear.—

Ex-Mayor H. S. Rowe and wife of Portland, Ore., were the guests this week of George Donald.

Special Thanksgiving exercises were held in all the grade schools of this city Wednesday afternoon.

W. L. Dimmick of the Selah, returned Wednesday from his trip to Dayton, where he had been to look after his farm.

Fred Thompson and friend Mr. Vaughn of Billings, Mont., returned Wednesday from Horse Heaven with a large number of geese.

Mrs. A. H. Cousins arrived the first of the week from Seattle to join her husband who will remain here during the winter to buy produce.

Paul Kruger is this week engaged in delivering to his customers a large consignment of fruit trees from the well known Settlement nurseries of Woodburn, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wood, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Florence, arrived here Tuesday from Missoula, Mont., to visit their sons, L. E. and A. Wood, the music dealers.

The Horticultural Union will meet at Woodman hall Saturday December 5, at 1 p. m. All members are urged to be in attendance as matters of more than ordinary importance will be considered.

E. W. Dooley and sister, Mrs. Thos. Dingle, returned Wednesday from Zillah, where they had been to see their father J. W. Dooley, who met with a serious accident Saturday by falling from a load of hay.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Bartholet of Ellensburg spent Sunday and Monday with relatives and friends here. The genial Matt, who had not visited Yakima for nearly a year, was given the glad hand by a number of old tillieums.

Samuel Kershaw, an old Yakima boy who has been engaged in mining ventures in eastern Oregon for the past eight years, is here on a visit to relatives in the Naches. Mr. Kershaw has some valuable mining interests in the Greenhorn Mountain district.

The muddy condition of Yakima avenue is rather provocative of profanity these days. Everybody concedes that the present pavement is a failure in wet weather and already there is talk among property owners for a new pavement of more substantial character.

Prosser's postoffice having become one of the third class, the president has sent the name of Nelson Rich to the senate to be his own successor as postmaster. Mr. Rich was recommended by Congressman Jones and it is thought there will be no question regarding his confirmation by the senate.

The county auditor had a healthy demand for marriage licenses on Wednesday, the day preceding Thanksgiving. The following named victims of Cupid's dart received permits to wed: Benjamin F. Kendall and Miss Clara E. Wise, Harry Forsyth and Miss Pearl Taylor, Benjamin B. Gillespie and Miss Rosa E. Kirby.

Dr. and Mrs. P. Frank entertained a number of their friends at a Thanksgiving dinner Thursday evening. The doctor and his good wife are royal entertainers and those who enjoyed their hospitality on that occasion departed with the feeling that they had never spent a more pleasant Thanksgiving or sat down to a better dinner.

J. W. Dooley, the venerable father of E. W. Dooley of this city, had the misfortune to fall from a load of hay on his ranch near Zillah Saturday with the result that an arm and a limb was broken. At last accounts the injured man was doing as well as could be expected for a man of his age under the circumstances. Mr. Dooley is 68 years of age.

The resignation of Rev. Hamilton M. Bartlett, the popular rector of the Episcopal church of this city has called forth a great deal of regret not only from members of his flock, but from the public generally. Owing to the trouble that he has been having with his eyes, Rev. Bartlett on the advice of his physician has found it necessary to have a rest for a year. It is probable though that he will remain here.

Superintendent Jay Lynch of the Indian reservation accompanied by Special Agent Dickson and Inspector Downs were in the city from Fort Simcoe Tuesday. The investigation of Superintendent Lynch is still in progress by the officials who returned with Mr. Lynch to the Fort Wednesday. While here neither Dickson nor Downs would say anything for publication except that the charges against Mr. Lynch were based entirely on alleged mismanagement and not at all for dishonesty as some people have evidently assumed.

Who Will Be Commissioner?

The death last week of County Commissioner Lafayette Pace of Sunnyside, leaves a vacancy to be filled on the board for which there are already a number of aspirants in the field. The people of Sunnyside seem to feel that they are entitled to have one of their citizens appointed to fill the unexpired term inasmuch as the late commissioner was a resident of that locality. Unfortunately for Sunnyside, however, that town has two candidates for the honor. Dr. C. W. Chamberlain and W. H. Cline are both being urged for the place and each man has the backing of a host of friends. In fact the rivalry for the vacant position between the two men is said to have already aroused a considerable amount of bitterness. Under the circumstances it seems likely that the appointment will fall to some other town in the lower valley as Mabton has a candidate in the person of T. S. Phillips, while strong pressure will be brought to bear also for the appointment of a Kennewick man, as a number of people in this city are interested in having the new commissioner come from that section in order to strengthen the possibility of securing a new bridge across the lower Yakima.

The appointment in all probability will not be made until the regular session of the commissioners court in January, at least that is the view taken by Chairman Lince of the board. The appointment will be made by Superior and Kandle as the law directs.

Held Up and Maltreated a Girl.

Miss Bertha Caldwell, daughter of J. A. Caldwell of this city, was held up and robbed at 6 o'clock last evening while on her way home from the store of the H. H. Schott Co., where she is employed in the dressmaking department.

The robbery took place at the corner of A and Eighth streets, a dark, lonely place. She had been followed, and when she arrived there the robber struck her a blow on the side with a club.

She fell down and began to scream. The ruffian grabbed her by the throat and was choking her when her outcries attracted people living near by.

The robber then took her pocketbook, which contained only $1.50, and disappeared in the darkness.

Miss Caldwell is suffering from the severe blow and the shock.

The officers have been making every effort to apprehend the contemptible footpad who was mean enough to attack a defenseless woman, but so far without success. Miss Caldwell was so badly frightened that she was unable to furnish a good description of the man.

Schwartz-Druse Nuptials.

J. R. Schwartz and Miss Helen Druse were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Druse of Nob Hill. Rev. A. H. Henry of the M. E. church officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and a number of invited guests. The happy couple will make their home on Nob Hill, where the groom is engaged in teaching school. They have the best wishes of a large circle of friends in their journey through life.

Lynch-Painter.

The marriage of Dr. Cornelius J. Lynch, the well known young physician of this city, to Miss Pearl Painter, a popular young lady of Ellensburg, was duly solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Davidson at Ellensburg. A number of people, including relatives and personal friends of the groom attended the ceremony. After a wedding trip to San Francisco the newly wedded pair will be at home to their friends in this city. The Democrat is pleased to tender the usual congratulations.

The Mammoth Cave.

Don't forget the trip through the "Mammoth Cave" next Tuesday evening December 1 at the Congregational church. Rev. O. B. Whitmore has been there and will act as your guide. He will use dissolving stereopticon views with which to illustrate the trip through the eight miles of this wonderful cavern. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church.
