Dear Click:

Mother gave me your letter and news enclosures just before I came back this week-end, and I went right to work on this matter of fishing rights for the Wanapum Indians. I called Mr. Dwight Hawley and Chet King in for a conference since they have the Fisheries Committee in the House this year, are both connected with the fishing industries, and carry quite a bit of weight with the State Department. After I presented the problem to them, they went over it with the Department of Fisheries, and here is a summation of what their answers were.

Because the Wanapum Indians have no treaty with the Government, they actually legally have no more fishing rights than any other citizen such as you and I in this State. Because of this, there is no way for the Department to legally grant them any special privileges. It is a matter honestly beyond the control of the Department. However, Mr. Hawley and I are going to endeavor, in this session, to try and come up with some way of persuading the Department to allow them to catch enough fish during the next fishing season for at least purposes of survival. Don't quote me on this because it probably can't be done legally, and that is as far as I care to go in written words in what I mean. Just don't give up hope because we may discover an angle or two. Everyone recognizes the humanitarian aspects of this situation and sympathizes with the Wanapum completely. It is just that nobody has been smart enough to figure out a legal way to help them without bringing the whole structure of special fishing rights down on their heads.

I would also like to emphasize that Governor Langlie's proposal had nothing to do with this situation. He is not to be blamed for anything that has been done or not done, and any implications you may have mis-read in his speech are honestly unfounded. Mr. Hawley assures me that there is no valid reason for thinking there is a move afoot to extinguish the reservations.

I promise to do all I can on this, and have enlisted a number of influential members in the cause.

Love to Lorraine, and let me know if there is anything else I can help you on.

Dear Click:

I have been holding your letter of December 23 until I officially became a Member of Congress. Yesterday was the "big day" when I was sworn into office, and it was a thrilling experience.

We had to do some checking around to identify the 838-page report on Indian Land Transactions you requested, and found it to be a memorandum printed for the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs as of December 1, 1958. I was able to obtain a copy from the Senate Committee and am pleased to forward it to you. It is going out under separate cover, marked to your personal attention as you requested.

Sincerely,

CATHERINE MAY, M.C.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FROM THE OFFICE OF U. S. REPRESENTATIVE CATHERINE MAY

WASHINGTON -- As her first official act after being sworn in for her second term as U. S. Representative of the 4th Congressional District, Congresswoman Catherine May (R-Wash.) introduced a bill to fix final construction costs of the Wapato-Satus unit of the Wapato Indian Irrigation Project.

The bill contains several minor changes over a similar bill Mrs. May introduced last year, and directs the Secretary of the Interior to designate within one year from date of enactment the lands that are capable of being served by the irrigation works that have already been constructed.

Mrs. May said that prior to her introduction of the new legislation, approval had been given to the bill by both representatives of non-Indian landowners and water users, and Indian interests.

The Washington Congresswoman said that the legislation is the outgrowth of a desire on the part of the landowners to know with certainty the total construction charges against their lands. Construction has been in process for nearly half a century.

Dear Click:

I certainly have more than a "general" interest in your letter to the District Engineers with regard to the Indian head monument at Ice Harbor Dam. I have informed proper officials of the Army Engineers that I am personally acquainted with you and with your excellent work and you can be sure that I will enthusiastically back it in any way that I can.

I am getting very homesick and hope this session of Congress will wind up before too much longer so I can get out home and see some of my old friends.

Enclosed please find a copy of the letter I addressed to Lieut. General W. K. Wilson, Jr., Chief of Engineers, on behalf of my friend, Mr. Click Relander of Yakima Washington. I believe you have on hand a letter from Mr. Relander under the date of August 8 concerning ~~his~~ interest in the Indian monument for Ice Harbor Dam.

I will appreciate hearing from you as to whether this is a matter that you have under active consideration, and also any information concerning necessary procedures Mr. Relander should follow.

Hope you are enjoying your tour of duty in Walla Walla and I will try to see you later this fall when I get around my district following the adjournment of Congress.

Kindest regards.

Dear General Wilson:

This letter is written on behalf of my personal friend,
Mr. Click Relander, 1212 North 32nd Avenue, Yakima, Washington.

Mr. Relander is well informed on the American Indian and, in fact, is an expert on Indian lore and culture. In addition to his vital interest in the history of the American Indian, he is also a fine sculptor. His work is well known in my home community of Yakima, Washington, and I have long admired his ability and talent.

I understand that a committee composed of members of the Yakima Indian tribe, as well as other local groups, have suggested to your Walla Walla District Engineer that an appropriate Indian monument be placed at Ice Harbor Dam. It is my hope that you and Colonel J. H. Beddow have this suggestion under active consideration and, if you are considering the possibility of the head of an American Indian as a memorial, I would like to highly recommend to you the work of Mr. Click Relander. Because of his background, his long-standing interest in and knowledge of the American Indian, as well as his professional sculptoring talent,
I feel sure he would be a logical choice for every consideration.

Sincerely yours,

CATHERINE MAY, M. C.

Dear Mrs. May:

Thank you for your letter of 14 August relative to the interest of Mr. Click Relander of Yakima in any sculpturing services which may be involved on the Ice Harbor Indian Memorial. The attached copy of a reply to Mr. Relander explains the purpose of the Indian Memorial and the general character of the design currently being considered. At this time it is planned that only a very minor amount of sculptural work may be involved. However, as indicated to Mr. Relander, he will be given every consideration should we require services of this type.

HEADQUARTERS
DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY

Honorable Catherine May
House of Representatives

Dear Mrs. May:

Further reference is made to your recent letter in behalf of Mr. Click Relander who has offered his services in executing any sculptured features for the Indian Grave Marker at Ice Harbor Dam, Washington.

The Ice Harbor Indian Grave Marker is to be erected in response to a request from the Indians for a permanent marker memorializing the Indian graves to be covered by the waters of the reservoir. Interest in this marker is not limited to the Indians of the Yakima reservation but extends also to those of the Colville, Nez Perce, Umatilla and Warm Springs reservations.

After considerable study during the past year, a design has been selected and approved by four of the five Indian groups. Indians on the Yakima reservation have not yet approved the design. We believe that the selected design will accomplish the intended purpose. This design consists simply of a multi-sided shaft upon which will be placed certain characters or designs appropriate to the purpose of the marker. One side will be devoted to Indians of each of the five reservations with lettered plaques, petroglyph specimens and possibly a design or symbol appropriate to the particular tribes represented. The content and arrangement of the plaques will be furnished by the Tribal Councils or other appropriate representatives of the Indians of each reservation but will be subject to certain limitations assuring uniformity of detail and over-all simplicity. The details relative to selection of petroglyphs and design of the Indian symbols or characters are being worked out in cooperation with the National Park Service and Dr. Daugherty of the Washington State University.

At an early stage in the design studies, it was decided that no human figure or other life-like sculptural work would be included on the marker. The aim has been to provide a suitable grave marker appropriately symbolic of the Indians of the area, but exhibiting a maximum of simplicity.

Letter to Honorable Catherine May

It is possible that arrangement of the plaques or design of the symbols may involve some work in which Mr. Relander's services could be utilized. Should this be the case, Mr. Relander's abilities will be appropriately considered.

I trust the above information will be of assistance to you.

Dear Click:

First, I am afraid I have been remiss in not writing to you to let you know how much I have enjoyed reading Strangers on the Land. I have always been most favorably impressed with your writings of the Yakima Indians, and your latest book is the best I have been privileged to enjoy. Robert Jim left several copies with me in my office several months ago when the Yakima Tribal Council was here on tribal business, and I apologize for not writing to you then to let you know how much I enjoyed reading it.

Click, I could not agree with you more over the need for an over-all cleaning out and revising of our antiquated Federal income tax law. I have been urging genuine tax reform ever since coming to Congress, and I am still hopeful that this monumental task can be undertaken. However, all that seems to be accomplished is making the tax laws more and more complicated.

I like your idea of cutting down taxes to force a reduction in Federal spending. Unfortunately, all the Administration has to do is to ask that the public debt ceiling be raised so that it can continue on with its deficit financing of Government spending programs. Such was the case this week when, by a narrow vote, the House of Representatives adopted a bill to increase the "temporary" limit on the public debt from 309 billion dollars to 315 billion dollars. My newsletter for release next Thursday, November 14, discusses this, and I thought you would like to have a personal copy.

Kindest regards.

FOR RELEASE: THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1963

WITH CATHERINE MAY IN CONGRESS
By Representative Catherine May

I believe it is of more than passing interest to note that the day after one Committee in Congress advocated increasing the public debt limit by $6,000,000,000, another Committee gave tentative approval to a bill to raise the pay of high-ranking government officials including Members of Congress. I am opposed to both of these bills.

For the third time during this session of Congress, the Ways and Means Committee has approved increases in the public debt ceiling in order to make it possible for the Administration to continue its plans to increase government spending. During the first term of the Kennedy Administration annual expenditures will have increased by more than $23 billion, as compared with a revenue increase of $13 billion; thus adding between $8 and $10 billion to the public debt each year. Unless spending is cut back before June 30, 1964, the Congress will be asked to increase the debt again to $325 billion for fiscal 1965. If the Administration would abandon the road of increased spending as a means of solving all of the nation's problems, it would be wholly unnecessary to increase the debt limitation.

The bill to increase the public debt ceiling was debated on the floor of the House last week. Because I believe that it is fiscally irresponsible to continue an excessive rate of government spending while at the same time reducing taxes and increasing the public debt, my vote was in opposition to the bill. For the very same reason, I intend to oppose the bill to provide pay increases for the top brass of the Executive and Judicial branches of government and Members of Congress.

This bill would increase the pay of Supreme Court Justices from $35 thousand to $45 thousand. It would raise the pay of the Vice President and Speaker of the House from $35 thousand to $45 thousand. The pay of Cabinet officers would be increased from $25 thousand to $35 thousand. Members of Congress would receive $32,500 in place of the present $22,500.

It can be demonstrated, of course, that the pay of top governmental executives does not match that paid to corporation executives. It is unlikely, however, that the government would ever be able to pay a salary commensurate with what these executives could earn in private business. Even with the big salary increase proposed, such men could be recruited only because of their desire to serve the public and because of the prestige involved. Such justification for the proposed salary increases just doesn't hold water.

If enacted, this federal pay raise would amount to the third pay raise received by certain federal employees in a fifteen month period, and the total additional cost to the federal payroll since October of 1962 would add an annual $1 billion 650 million to the public debt. It seems to me that this is coming pretty thick and fast. Further, many of the proposed increases just don't make sense. For instance, the salary of the Postmaster who runs the Post Office in the House of Representatives Office Building would be increased to the same figure as that of the Post Office Department official who has charge of all Post Offices in the Nation.

And how can Members of Congress vote themselves pay increases while at the same time espousing federal economy?

I propose an alternate plan -- a kind of escalator Congressional salary bill. When Congressmen vote for fiscal responsibility they would get a pay raise. When they vote against fiscal responsibility their salaries would be cut! There is no practical chance that such a measure would get to first base, but I'd bet that under such a system we'd have balanced budgets almost overnight.

Dear Charles:

The Department of the Interior has recommended enactment of my bill, H.R. 10474, to authorize the Kennewick Division Extension of the Yakima Project. I am pleased to enclose a copy of the Department's letter to the Chairman of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

I am hopeful this will pave the way for early hearings in the House of Representatives.

UNITED STATES
DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

JUN - 2 1964

Dear Mr. Aspinall:

This responds to your request for the views of this Department on H. R. 10474, a bill "To amend the Act of June 12, 1948 (62 Stat. 382), in order to provide for the construction, operation, and maintenance of the Kennewick division extension, Yakima project, Washington, and for other purposes."

We recommend enactment of the bill.

H. R. 10474 would authorize the Secretary of the Interior to construct, operate, and maintain the Kennewick division, extension, a 6,300-acre irrigation development of the Kennewick division, Yakima project, Washington. This would be accomplished through appropriate amendments to the Act of June 12, 1948 (62 Stat. 382), which authorized the Kennewick division. The bill provides that financial assistance from power revenues of the Bonneville Power Administration shall be available to repay costs allocated to irrigation which are beyond the ability of the water users to repay and which cannot be met from net power revenues of the Yakima project itself.

The existing Kennewick division serves about 19,000 acres of land. Section 6 of the Act of June 12, 1948, authorized the Secretary of the Interior to construct extra capacity in the division's main canal to provide for the future irrigation of approximately 7,000 acres of land in addition to the then proposed development, and to recognize the cost of providing such capacity as a deferred obligation to be paid at such time as the additional area was brought into the project. The main canal was constructed with extra capacity at a cost of $341,000, which has since been carried as a deferred obligation.

The Kennewick division extension would utilize the capacity thus provided, together with additional works which would be constructed, to deliver an irrigation water supply to the 6,300 acres of extension lands. Specific new works required are a hydraulic pump at the Chandler pumping plant to lift additional water into the main canal, through which the water would flow for 6.7 miles. There it would be diverted into the Kiona siphon, which would carry the water 5,800 feet across Badger Draw to the extension lands. Six relift pump plants, six main canals, a system of laterals and drainage works, and electrical transmission facilities to serve the pumping installations are the remaining new facilities required. Power and energy for irrigation water pumping for the extension will be made available from the Federal Columbia River power system at charges determined by the Secretary of the Interior.

Most of the lands of the Kennewick division extension are presently dry. About 100 acres of the best lands have been planted to dry land wheat. The balance supports only sagebrush and native grasses used for livestock grazing. Under project development the primary land use expected would be for growing feed and general row crops. Lesser acreages of fruit and specialty crops -- grapes, sweet cherries, prunes, peaches, apricots, mint, and asparagus -- would also probably be produced. The soil and climate are well suited to all the foregoing crops.

The Kennewick Irrigation District has long been interested in full development of the irrigable lands in the area. The District supported development of the entire area when the Kennewick division lands were brought under irrigation. Nearly all the lands in the extension have been in the District for many years.

The Kennewick division extension is basically an irrigation development, but benefits to wildlife resources will also be realized. The Fish and Wildlife Service reports that irrigation of these lands will be beneficial to upland game birds. Opportunities to develop significant benefits to recreation, flood control, municipal and industrial water supply, or other purposes are not available.

The total investment in the Kennewick division extension would be $5,250,400. This is made up of $4,720,000 in construction costs, $341,000 in deferred costs of the Kennewick division attributable to enlarged main canal capacity and assignable to the division extension, and the extension's pro-rata share of storage costs of the Yakima project, $189,000.

Of the foregoing costs, $5,115,500 is allocated to irrigation and $134,900 to fish and wildlife enhancement. The costs allocated to fish and wildlife enhancement would be nonreimbursable. Costs allocated to irrigation would be reimbursable without interest. The irrigators would return $1,914,640 or 37.4 percent of the costs allocated to irrigation. The $3,200,860 financial assistance required would be derived from power revenues. The Kennewick division's Chandler powerplant, which is a unit of the Federal Columbia River power system, would provide a portion of the financial assistance. The repayment schedules for the Kennewick division, including the Chandler powerplant, provide that its costs will be amortized before the end of the repayment period for the extension lands. Power revenues theretofore devoted to repaying Kennewick division costs would then become available for financial assistance to the extension. Under the bill the remaining financial assistance required would come from revenues derived from the disposition of power marketed through the Bonneville Power Administration.

Payout procedures now in effect for the Federal Columbia River power system, for which the Bonneville Power Administration markets the power, pool revenues from all units on a consolidated system basis; all financial obligations, including irrigation assistance as authorized, are met from the pooled system revenues. This procedure is generally similar to those employed in the Central Valley of California and the Missouri River Basin. All presently authorized major units of the Federal Columbia River power system will have been paid out before the Kennewick division extension repayment period expires and the financial assistance requirements for the extension will be only a small fraction of one-year's net revenues from the power system.

Policies in effect at the time the Kennewick division was authorized required that all reimbursable project costs be repaid from revenues derived from the project. This required an overall repayment period of 66 years for the facilities built under the 1948 Act. H. R. 10474, which would authorize the Kennewick division extension by adding it to the authorization of the 1948 Act, would make the same repayment period applicable to the extension. We believe that this is appropriate even though current congressional policy is that reimbursable reclamation project costs shall be returned in full within 50 years. The extension water users will be using many of the same facilities, and will bear a pro-rated share of the district operation, maintenance, and replacement costs as do other Kennewick division water users. It is equitable that their repayment obligation should run for the same number of years as other division water users. Irrigation water users make annual payments toward retiring irrigation cost allocations in accordance with their ability to pay. Thus, the effect of a longer repayment period is that the water users bear more of the irrigation costs.

Section 5 of the Act of June 12, 1948, provides that one-fifth of the revenues derived from the interest component of power rates of the Kennewick division, Yakima project, may be applied toward repayment of Kennewick division irrigation costs assigned for return from power revenues. Under H. R. 10474 this arrangement would extend to the Kennewick division extension as well. The proviso appearing at lines 11 through 14 on page 2 is intended to limit the availability of revenues derived as interest for financial assistance to revenues attributable to the Kennewick division power facilities (Chandler powerplant) and insure that revenues derived from the interest component of power rates of the Bonneville Power Administration, which the bill contemplates as the source of supplementary financial assistance for the extension shall not be available for financial assistance to the extension.

A statement of personnel and other requirements that enactment of this legislation would entail is enclosed in accordance with the provisions of Public Law 801, 84th Congress.

The Bureau of the Budget has advised that there is no objection to the presentation of this report from the standpoint of the Administration's program.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Charles:

The enclosed letter from Representative Walter Rogers, Chairman of the House Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation, is in regard to Subcommittee action of my bill, H. R. 10474, to authorize the Kennewick Division Extension.

I regret that circumstances, as outlined, would not permit the Subcommittee to schedule a hearing before now. You may be sure, however, that I will press for early hearings in the new Congress, convening in January.

Best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

COMMITTEE ON INTERIOR AND INSULAR AFFAIRS

House of Representatives, U.S.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

August 28, 1964

Honorable Catherine May
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C.

Dear Catherine:

This is in reply to your letter relative to H.R. 10474 to authorize the Kennewick Division Extension.

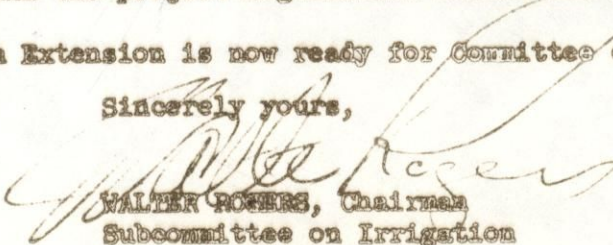

There are several reasons why we were not able to complete action on this legislation this year. First, as you know, the Committee has followed the policy of maintaining a balance between the authorization program and the construction program. In other words, we do not want to authorize projects very far in advance of the time construction can be started. Otherwise, the plans would become outdated and we would have the situation that presently exists in the Missouri Basin. This means that the Committee must place the projects that are ready for consideration in some logical order of priority.

As you may know, the Committee had before it legislation to authorize projects having a combined cost of more than $1.5 billion. The Committee gives consideration to such things as need, feasibility, local support, geographical location, etc. Of course, one of the major factors which the Subcommittee considers is the date when the report on a project is submitted to the Congress because it is at this time that the project legislation is ready for consideration.

Although you introduced H.R. 10474 on March 17, it was not until April that the project planning report was submitted to Congress and the Committee was in a position to request a legislative report on your bill. By this time, the authorization program had been pretty well established with priority given to projects which had been before the Committee for years. In recent years, planning has been outstripping construction and if this situation continues, we will never be able to complete action on all the project legislation before the Committee.

The Kennewick Division Extension is now ready for Committee consideration.

Sincerely yours,

WALTER ROGERS, Chairman
Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation

IN REPLY REFER TO:

Honorable Catherine May
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C. 20515

Dear Mrs. May:

Your communication of November 30 transmitted a request from Mr. Dean Guie of 219 Henry Avenue, Yakima, Washington. Mr. Guie desires copies of two enclosures submitted by Major Granville Owen Haller with his report of the Yakima expedition in October 1855.

According to a memorandum prepared by The Adjutant General's Office, in September 1913, an exhaustive search was made at that time for the original of Major Haller's report and its enclosures and they could not then be found among War Department records. We, likewise, have made careful searches for them but without positive result.

In response to a resolution of the United States Senate, President Franklin Pierce transmitted to the Senate copies of all correspondence between the different departments of the government and officers of the army and navy on the Pacific coast on Indian disturbances in California, Oregon, and Washington, during the period February 1855 through February 1856, and these documents were printed as Senate Executive Document No. 26, 34th Congress, 1st Session. This document, as well as the printed report of the Secretary of War for the year 1855, contain materials pertinent to the Yakima expedition.

Large reference libraries usually have these publications, or can obtain them through interlibrary loan.

Sincerely yours,

Wayne C. Grover

INFORMATION REGARDING BUY AMERICAN ACT

(a) The Buy American Act (41 U.S.C. 10a-10d) generally requires that only domestic construction material be used in the performance of this contract. (See the clause entitled "Buy American" in Standard Form 23A, General Provisions, Construction Contracts.) This requirement does not apply to the following construction material or components:

- A. Asbestos, amosite
- B. Cork, wood or bark and waste
- C. Nickel, primary, in ingots, pigs, shot, cathodes, or similar forms; nickel oxide and nickel salts
- D. Tin, in bars, blocks and pigs

(b) (1) Furthermore, bids or proposals offering use of additional nondomestic construction material may be acceptable for award if the Government determines that use of comparable domestic construction material is impracticable or would unreasonably increase the cost or that domestic construction material (in sufficient and reasonably available commercial quantities and of a satisfactory quality) is unavailable. Reliable evidence shall be furnished justifying such use of additional nondomestic construction material.

(2) Where it is alleged that use of domestic construction material would unreasonably increase the cost:

(i) Data shall be included, based on a reasonable canvass of suppliers, demonstrating that the cost of each such domestic construction material would exceed by more than 6 percent the cost of comparable nondomestic construction material. (All costs of delivery to the construction site shall be included, as well as any applicable duty.)

(ii) For evaluation purposes, 6 percent of the cost of all additional nondomestic construction material, which qualifies under paragraph (i) above, will be added to the bid or proposal.

(3) When offering additional nondomestic construction material, bids or proposals may also offer, at stated prices, any available comparable domestic construction material, so as to avoid the possibility that failure of a nondomestic construction material to be acceptable, under (1) above, will cause rejection of the entire bid.

Dear Click:

I wish it were possible for me to comply with your request for a copy of Document 403 of the 82nd Congress, 2nd session, but this document has long been out of print and it is harder than a needle in a haystack to find for distribution.

I am given to understand by the Office of Army Corps of Engineers in Washington, D. C. that although you probably would not be able to locate a copy to keep, it is available for inspection on the premises at the Seattle, Portland and Walla Walla offices of the Corps of Engineers. In addition, I would imagine Herbert G. West, Executive Vice President of the Inland Empire Waterways Association at Walla Walla would have a copy and probably Herbert K. West, Executive Manager of Port of Chelan County at Wenatchee would also have a copy.

This is about the best information I could give you, Click. The Corps tells me that at one time they considered re-printing Document 403 but it was decided the tremendous cost could not be justified in view of the fact that the 1962 information in the document was outdated. The information in the document will, of course, be brought up to date in the new "Upper Columbia River Navigation Study" to be released sometime in the near future. You may wish to inquire at the Seattle District Office of the Corps of Engineers if it is possible for you to receive such information at the time it is released.

In regard to your request for a copy of the 1966 Agriculture Yearbook, I am pleased to send you a copy entitled "Protecting Our Food," and you should receive it shortly.

Thank you for your complimentary remarks on my address at the Moses Lake Farm Forum.

Kindest personal regards.

First of all, congratulations on your promotion.
You certainly deserve it and I am glad it has come about.

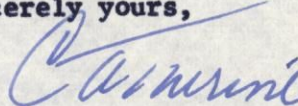

Unfortunately, Click, it was necessary for me to cancel my proposed appearance before the Robert A. Taft Institute for Government at Spokane on October 19 because of legislation scheduled in the House of Representatives this week. A substitute speaker has, therefore, been provided.

John Knievel will be dropping in to see you on Monday or Tuesday of next week when he will be in Yakima.

With regard to your request for the 1967 Agriculture
