THE EX-SENATOR'S VISIT.

John L. Wilson Talks Politics to the Democrat Man.

John L. Wilson of Spokane, former U. S. Senator and a prospective candidate for the same office, bobbed up serenely in Yakima Tuesday morning while on his way home from Seattle.

The DEMOCRAT man spied the statesman in conversation with a number of his local lieutenants, and scenting an interview lost no time in making himself known and beginning the pumping process with the following result:

Reporter—"Mr. Wilson, in brief, what is the political situation in the state at this time?"

Mr. Wilson—"You can assure your readers that it always gives me great pleasure to visit Yakima. I adore your climate and I like the people here."

Reporter—"Yes, but the campaign is coming on and the public would like to know what you are going to do. Are you a candidate for senator, and if so do you expect to be able to swing a majority of the next legislature?"

Mr. Wilson—"As I said before, I enjoy your climate immensely and this bright June sunshine makes a fellow feel good."

Reporter—"Yes, it has that effect on me too, but what do you think of the attitude of Gov. McBride and his pet nobby, a railroad commission?"

Mr. Wilson—"I think that your city authorities have acted most wisely in the matter of trimming up these street trees. It will give them a new lease of life."

Reporter—"Yes, Yes, but do you know senator that the newspapers are saying that Ankeny's boom is beginning to assume big proportions?"

Mr. Wilson—"Well, I don't know what papers, democratic papers?"

Reporter—"Well, not the P. I., at any rate. But by the way, Mr. Senator, I noticed that you were not present at that Colfax mass meeting, called for the purpose of getting an expression from senatorial candidates on the railroad question."

Mr. Wilson—"Well, that's easy, I simply wasn't invited. You don't think that I could be so ungracious as to go without an invitation do you?"

Reporter—"You have been to the Sound lately and no doubt have sized up the situation there. Does it look good to you?"

Mr. Wilson—"Yes, very good. The republican party will elect 71 members of the legislature on the west side, which will be a clear majority."

Reporter—"How many out of that number will be Wilson men?"

Mr. Wilson—"Now you are getting down to details and I don't want to talk about details."

Reporter—"Oh, excuse me, but I thought that being a newspaper man yourself you wouldn't object to a mild sort of an interview."

Mr. Wilson—"I am not much of a newspaper man myself, at least not enough to hurt, but I always try to treat the boys fair when they try to pump me. But you have succeeded better than most of them."

Reporter—"The Times says, Mr. Wilson, that you have been playing a big hand in King county politics lately. How about it?"

Mr. Wilson—"It is hardly fair to it to hold me responsible for what the Times says? No, I was over there on business and made arrangements to have a new block built for the use of the P. I. But say, young man, you must be getting dry. Let's call this thing off."

HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

Class of 1902 Graduates with Honors and Receive Diplomas—A Memorable Occasion.

Larson's theatre was packed the evening of the 13th from pit to gallery with an audience that came to witness the graduating exercises of the High school, to hear the essays and to see the graduates receive their diplomas which they had earned after four years of hard study. Each of the 15 graduates had a part in the program with the exception of Miss Lela Hawkins and Archie Norton. The young lady, although present, had been estopped by illness from taking part. Young Norton, who is now holding a position at Ritzville, was also present and received his diploma but took no part in the exercises.

The affair was entirely in charge of the class itself, David Jungst, its president, delivering the address of welcome. At the conclusion of the program the diplomas were presented to each of the graduates by President Barge of the school board in an appropriate speech.

The graduates each performed their parts of the program well, there being but little evidence of stage fright manifested. The following is a synopsis of the program:

FRUIT GROWERS' UNION.

The New Organization will Handle the Fruit Grown by Its Members.

A number of fruit growers met at the court house last Saturday afternoon for the purpose of completing their organization and outlining a plan of action. W. L. Wright acted as chairman and J. M. Brown as secretary.

State Commissioner Van Holderbeke was present and gave the meeting a practical talk. He strongly favored the principle of co-operation among the growers and demonstrated how well the plan worked in the great fruit growing districts of California, in the matter of marketing the product. In the matter too of purchasing supplies money could be saved through co-operation, as the union would buy in large quantities and therefore at the lowest rates. Mr. Van Holderbeke served notice that the state law governing the sale of insect infected fruit would hereafter be more rigidly enforced and asked the growers to co-operate with County Inspector Beck in the matter of strictly enforcing the law.

The committee that has been engaged in formulating a constitution and by-laws, reported progress and announced that a draft of each would be ready for submission at the meeting to be held today. The constitution, it is understood, will contain a clause that will bind each member to turn his product over to the union for marketing. It further provides that the business of the union shall be conducted by a general manager who shall be paid a salary for his services.

Kittitas "High Line" to Go.

F. D. Schnebly, editor of the Ellensburg Localizer, accompanied by his cousin, Henry Schnebly and the latter's two sons, came down from the "burg" Tuesday to tender filings on a body of timber land in upper Kittitas county.

Editor Schnebly made this office a pleasant call and showed us a telegram received from J. H. Wells of New York on the day previous, which announced that he, Wells, had finally succeeded in raising the necessary funds, $600,000, with which to build the long talked of "high line" canal in Kittitas county, which when completed will irrigate about 60,000 acres of land above Ellensburg. According to the surveys that have been made the proposed canal will have its intake near the Yakima river at a point near easton and would be over 40 miles in length.

Jay Lynch Gets the Place.

Indian Agent Jay Lynch received advice from Washington late last week that he had been appointed to the position of bonded superintendent of the Yakima reservation and thus the matter is finally settled. Mr. Lynch will begin his services as bonded superintendent July 1. In his new position he will be under the civil service rules. The salary of the office will be the same as that which he received as agent, $1600 per annum.

Mr. Lynch naturally feels much gratified over the outcome of the matter and to know that the position was given him on account of his qualifications and good standing with the bureau of Indian affairs, which is usually almost hypercritical in its requirements. There is said to have been a good deal of political pressure brought to bear by the congressional delegation from this state or a portion of it, to secure the appointment of another candidate, but the matter on being brought to the attention of President Roosevelt was settled in Mr. Lynch's favor on the ground that his qualifications for the office had been proven by long and satisfactory service.

The Coming Fruit Crop.

P. J. Flint, who has an orchard of 120 acres on his big Parker Ranch, says that the prospect for a big crop of fruit this year on his place is excellent with the exception of Bartlett pears and certain varieties of apples. Soon after the fruit set, in the case of the Bartlett's, for some unexplained reason much of it began to drop off, until now, he thinks, there will not be much more than one-third of a crop. Last year this variety bore most bountifully, some orchards in the valley producing returns as high as $600 per acre.

The peach crop this year will be large, notwithstanding the fact that the growers have all been industriously at work for several weeks with large forces in "thinning." Mr. Flint states that this operation alone this year will cost him about $600.

Rose Carnival a Big Success.

The Rose Carnival held at the armory Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Christian church was an entire success and was largely attended. The hall was handsomely decorated for the occasion and the great quantity of beautiful and fragrant roses on exhibition gave the place a most inviting appearance. The rose exhibits called forth much praise from visitors. The winners of the first and second prizes for the best exhibits of home grown roses were Mrs. Wesley Ramsey and Mrs. Fred Chandler. An interesting program was rendered, consisting of vocal solos by Grace Clark, Nita Foster and Bessie Boyle; piano solos by Bessie Patton and Daisy Boyle. Vocal selections were also rendered by the Junior Orchestra and the male quartette consisting of Messrs. Vance, Bullock, Fry and Morgan.

A beautiful flower drill given by 16 young ladies in white was a particularly nice feature of the program. The affair ended with a reminiscent talk by Rev. M. L. Rose, a former pastor. The success of the affair reflects much credit on the ladies of the church, who worked very hard to make it a success.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

The republican majority in both branches of congress is hopelessly divided on the question of reciprocity with Cuba and as a result chaos reigns. Senator Foster of this state, who has been voting with the beet sugar men has deserted that crowd and gone over to the enemy, having presumably been whipped into line by the president.

On the Nicaraguan canal question also, the junior senator has shown himself to be a turncoat. The dispatches of Tuesday state that he has announced his intention of voting for the Panama canal substitute which provides for the purchase of the half completed route across the isthmus from the bankrupted French company which claims to own it, notwithstanding the fact that many eminent engineers have condemned that route, which at best is of but questionable value. But the Panama scheme is favored by Mark Hanna and all of that crowd, not because they want a canal there but because they don't want one anywhere. They well know that the house which passed the Nicaragua bill almost unanimously will never vote to accept the rotten Panama substitute and thus they will be able to defeat all canal legislation. This unrighteous scheme Foster now agrees to support and without regard as to the wishes of his constituents who are almost unanimous for the Nicaraguan route.

In strong contrast to the weak and vacillating course of Senator Foster stands the record of Senator Turner on this great question. The latter gentleman by study and research feels convinced that the Nicaragua route is the most feasible and cheapest and in a masterly speech recently delivered in the senate, gave his reasons for supporting it. Mr. Foster, on the other hand, seems to be not only incapable of making a speech but to hold fixed views on any great public question. He is apparently more interested in securing fat jobs for his henchmen.

The Newlands irrigation bill has now passed both senate and house and the objections of the president having been previously met by those in charge of the measure it is now in a fair way to become a law. It was a hard matter to get it through the lower house, as Henderson, the bull-headed speaker, bitterly resisted its passage, but his friends pulled it through at last.

This bill, if its provisions are honestly carried out, will prove a great blessing to the arid sections of the west. It provides for the gradual redemption of arid lands in 12 states and territories. The means with which to operate is provided for by segregating the net land office receipts of the government in each state and placing the same in a fund where it is to be used exclusively for the purpose of redeeming desert lands in that particular state. Thus the government appropriates no money directly from its treasury, but merely follows a just policy that it ought to have begun long ago.

This is as it should be. For many years the policy of the government, dictated as it often has been by selfish eastern interests, has been to milk the west for the benefit of the east. This condition of things is now beginning to change. The west is growing stronger and is now getting in a position to enforce its demands for justice.

SOME writers are fond of asserting or assuming that women will not stand up for the reputation of their sex. This mistake was made recently by a leading actor before the footlights of a Chicago theatre when he laid especial emphasis on the following lines attributed to Gen. Dumas in "The Lady of Lyons":

The man who sets his heart upon a woman

Is a chameleon and doth feed on air;
From air he takes his colors, holds his life;

Changes with every wind, grows lean and fat,

Rosy with hope or green with jealousy.

Oh pallid with despair, just as the gale

Varies from north to south, from heat to cold.

Oh, woman, woman, thou shouldst have few sins

Of thine own to answer for; thou art the author

Of such a book of follies in a man

That it would need the tears of all the angels

To blot the record out.

Before the actor was half way through the lines the ladies in the audience began to hiss and before he finished matrons and maids were on their feet shouting their indignation and firing paper missiles at the luckless actor's head.

GENERAL speaking the Walla Walla Argus has heretofore been a pretty strenuous advocate of reform, or rather what it has taken for reform. Latterly, however, it has begun to "wobble" and has shown a marked inclination to scramble into the Ankeny band wagon as well as to politically cuss the governor and his "hobby," a railroad commission.

It is a matter of regret with us to see so many of our exchanges in Eastern Washington flapping to Ankeny and becoming mere adjuncts of his literary bureau. This thing of trying to manufacture public sentiment in order to elect a millionaire to the U. S. senate is, of course, no new thing, but there is something so un-American about it that disgusts so many people that the would-be beneficiary usually fails to accomplish his object. Mr. Ankeny without doubt has as much right to aspire to the senatorship as any other citizen of the state and to go after the prize as many times as he sees fit, although most men if they had had his experience would have been satisfied long ere this to have quit the game. If he has anything to recommend him for the high place to which he aspires aside from his money, the people of the state, outside of his own section, have never yet found it out. The spectacle of a lot of hired claquers shouting for a candidate should not move the people to accept him and will not unless political virtue is dead within the citizenship of this state.

AN Ellensburg gentleman who visited Washington City recently was taken by Congressman Jones to call on the president. "Teddy" greeted his visitors with his usual urbanity and after swapping compliments with "Yakima" Jones turned the conversation to Washington politics. In the course of the talk the president is said to have remarked: "The little birds (republicans) out in Washington don't seem to dwell together in peace and harmony in the party nest, now do they Mr. Jones?" "Teddy" is evidently dead next to the gang of quarrelsome pie hunters who run the politics of this state.

THE Washingtonian is in eruption again over what it terms a horrid conspiracy by local democratic politicians for the purpose of destroying a great industry—the sheep business. This week it belches forth its emphatic disapproval of the whole wicked program and as usual with g. o. p. papers puts the whole blame on the shoulders of the much maligned Snively. The fact that Mr. Snively has taken no part at all in the agitation to close the forest reserve to Colonel Boyle's friends has nothing to do with the case as viewed through the editorial spectacles of the Washingtonian chief. Evidently the galled jade is beginning to wince.

THE democratic state committee has been called to meet in Seattle on the 26th in order to name the time and place for holding the state convention. Opinions of prominent party men seem to differ much as to the advisability of holding an early or late convention. The Democrat is of the opinion that no convention should be held this season prior to Sept. 1st, as there is no occasion for a long winded campaign this year. Long campaigns, as a rule, are expensive to all who participate and by distracting public attention interfere to much with people's every day business affairs.

THE coronation of King Edward, which is set for the 26th, from the English standpoint is a historical event of the first importance. As a result, "Lunnon" town, the provinces and all the colonies are agog with excitement. To the average American all this great pomp and display seems like a foolish waste of time and money, for the king, even when crowned is but a figurehead in his own government and is permitted to have but little to say. Nobody blames King Ed though, for he has waited a long while for his inning.

THE merchant who would leave a city for New York in a stage coach today instead of a Pullman would not be further behind in business principles than the man who quietly sits down without advertising and expects the rapid moving, hustling world to bother itself in hustling him up so as to do business with him.—Exchange.

LAWYER PICKRELL of Colfax is an avowed candidate for Yakima Jones' seat in congress as is also Col. Ridpath of Spokane. The former candidate is said to have the support of the Ankeny faction and may be able to land the nomination, that is if he can manage to deliver legislative votes from Whitman county.

THE great rush of settlers to file on land in the Fort Hall (Idaho) Indian reservation that was thrown open this week, shows how scarce land fit for settlement is throughout the west. Ten or fifteen years ago scarcely anybody would have wanted such land.

BREX GOODYEAR of the Colfax Commoner shies at sight of a congressional nomination and says nay, nay, Pauline. Our brother is a wise man in his generation, but there is work for him in the state senate.

SENATOR TURNER has had the large fund of information sent him from Yakima pertaining to the Rainier Forest Reserve printed in pamphlet form. The Democrat acknowledges the receipt of a copy.

THE poor old Herald gets angry and scolds like a fishwife whenever its attention is called to the fact that it has been scooped in getting the news. Poor old lady.

Chance for an Argument.

A humorous cuss from Kansas, says the Virginian Workman, wants to know "where is the state of matrimony?" Well, as near as it can be located, this happy state is one of the United States. It is bounded by hugging and kissing on one side and cradles and babies on the other. Its chief production is population, broomsticks and staying out all night. It was discovered by Adam and Eve while trying to find a passage out of Paradise. The climate is rather sultry until you pass the tropics of housekeeping, when squalling weather sets in without sufficient power to keep all hands down. For the principal road leading to this state consult the first pair of blue eyes you chance to meet.—Yeoman Shield.

The Bribe Courtesies.

For many years it has been the custom for the railroad companies to send passes to the newly elected members of the legislature. The railroad companies say it is merely an act of courtesy, and many perfectly honest and well meaning legislators accept the statement and take the passes. Almost any man, with free transportation in his pocket, will ride on the railroads to the extent of $100 a year. Some will ride out four or five times that amount. Should the railroad officials come to these men and offer them $100 or $500 in cash, they would indignantly refuse it, regarding the offer as bribery. But the object of the railroads is the same in both instances and it would be no worse a crime to accept the money than to take the pass.

The people of the state are willing to pay their servants. They allow ample funds to pay for the transportation and expenses of the members of the legislature from their homes to Olympia and back. Members draw this mileage and if they are riding on passes, put it in their pockets, and when the do it virtually accept a cash bribe from the railroads and place themselves under obligations to the people who furnished the passes. They may not admit, even to themselves, that they have incurred any obligation, but when a man receives cash or its equivalent from another person, without having earned it, he cannot but feel that he owes something for it. Legislators and railroad officials may persuade themselves to regard this giving of passes as an act of courtesy, but the public regards it as an act of bribery. The framers of the state constitution held this view and expressed it in Art. XII, Sec. 20, as follows:

"No railroad or other transportation company shall grant free passes, or sell tickets or passes at a discount, other than as sold to the public generally, to any member of the legislature, or to any public officer within the state. The legislature shall pass laws to carry this provision into effect."

Every member of the legislature takes an oath to support the constitution of the state and yet legislature after legislature has killed the anti-pass bill, introduced in accordance with the mandate of the constitution, and the members who voted against the measure have, by so doing, violated their oaths and committed perjury. There is no use in mincing words over this matter. The time has come to speak plainly and the editor of the Commoner desires to say here and now that he will not support any candidate for the legislature who is not willing to pledge himself to vote for an anti-pass bill and to refuse to accept a pass from any railroad company.—Colfax Commoner.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Peace Ordinance Passed—Also Ordinance Granting Franchise to Cascade Lumber Company on "H" Street.

A regular meeting of the city council will held Monday night with the mayor and all the councilmen present except Moran.

A petition was read from Thos Lund for saloon license on lot 32, block 11. Same on motion of Shaw was granted.

A resolution of intention to establish a sub-sewer district for the purpose of laying a 10-inch main on Seventh St. from Beech to North D St. and thence to alley between First and Second was read and passed as was also a resolution to lay a sewer on Selah St. between A and West Yakima avenue.

The long peace ordinance, containing 68 sections, then received its third reading and passed after two amendments offered by Liggett had been accepted.

An ordinance granting a franchise and right-of-way to the Cascade Lumber Co. to build a railroad on H street from Seventh street to a connection with the N. P. tracks was granted after some discussion.

The committee on streets and ditches was instructed to wet down the macadam on Yakima avenue between Third street and Natches avenue.

The city attorney was instructed to report at the next meeting as to the method of electing a plumbing inspector. Marshal Grant asked that small lights be placed in alleys in rear of Yakima avenue. Referred.

Council then adjourned.

The state supreme court is expected to hand down decisions in a few days in the cases at bar regarding the tenure of office of the present governor and the two extra members of the supreme court, White and Hadley, who were appointed for two years only by the late Gov. Rogers.

A very large number of lawyers in the state are apparently of the opinion that the court will decide that a governor must be elected this fall and that Justices White and Hadley are but defacto members of the court and must retire at the end of their two year term. Such a decision if not based on law would apparently have for a foundation good common sense.

At Hymen's Alter.

Col. Amasa C. Walker, the well known sage and philosopher of Zillah, has finally seen the error of his ways and will renounce bachelor life Sunday.

Tomorrow he will lead to the altar Mrs. Alice Douglass McElvie, a charming lady who resides near Zillah. The wedding ceremony will be of a private nature and will be witnessed only by relatives and a few intimate friends. It is understood that the happy couple will spend the honeymoon on the Sound. Col. Walker came to town Thursday after the necessary license. He told a few friends what was going to happen and laid the injunction of secrecy upon them. Such news, however, was too good to be kept long on ice and it leaked out before the prospective bridegroom had got started out of town. The Democrat extends congratulations in advance and wishes the happy couple a safe and pleasant voyage on the matrimonial sea.

Sewing Done by Ants.

Ants are credited with so many marvelous accomplishments that a new one would be remarkable to the noteworthy. Mr. E. G. Green of Ceylon, an authority upon insect habits, has, however, made an observation which is well worth putting on record. He has watched red ants holding grubs in their mouths and using the web they spin to repair a rent in their nest.

Some leaves which had been fastened together by the ants were separated by Mr. Green, and in a short time after he saw small white grubs being passed backward and forward across the gap. Closer observation showed that each grub was held in the jaws of one of the worker ants, and its movements were directed as required. A continuous thread of silk issued from the mouth of each grub and was used by the ants to sew up the rent in their shelter.

There were no grubs in the neighborhood, and those used were obtained from a nest at some distance. This deliberate use of a naturally formed web as a sewing thread is as astonishing as any instance of the intelligence of ants yet observed.

Peculiar Trees.

The visitor to the Falkland Islands sees a number of what appear to be weather beaten, moss covered boulders of various sizes scattered here and there. On attempting to turn one over he is surprised to find that it is anchored to the ground by roots of great strength. These are not boulders. They are trees. No other place in the world can show such a peculiarity of "forest" growth. The Falkland Islands are exposed to a strong polar wind which renders it impossible for trees to grow in the proper form. Nature has consequently adapted herself to the prevailing conditions and produced this strange form of plant life. These "living stones," as they are called, are quite devoid of "grain," and it is next to impossible to cut them up and utilize them for fuel.

Its Changing Value.

It was right that the gallant act should be rewarded, but what should she give him?

Ha, a kiss, of course! Were there not men who would pay a great price for that? Truly it was quoted high.

"That," she said as she bestowed it, "is easily worth $100."

"It was," he answered, "but it is not."

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"While in your possession it would bring a good sum," he said, "but in mine it cannot be exchanged for the price of a meal."

However, he was a prosaic sort of fellow at best, and besides he was hungry.—Chicago Post.

Cleanliness in Cooking.

Says a Chinese writer of the eighteenth century: "Don't cut bamboo shoots (the Chinese equivalent of asparagus) with an onion knife. A good cook frequently wipes his knife, frequently changes his cloth, frequently scrapes his board and frequently washes his hands. If smoke or ashes from his pipe, perspiration drops from his head, insects from the wall or smut from the saucpan gets mixed up with the food, though he were a very chef among chefs, yet would men hold their noses and decline."

Canaries.

Canaries, which were originally green and gray in color, were native to the islands from which they take their name and were first taken to England on ships plying between English ports and the south of France. From this stock have been derived a number of distinct varieties, such as the crested, the green, the lizard, which imitates the reptile in its variegated markings, and the Belgian, which has a strange humpback appearance.

The Peanut.

In Tennessee and Georgia the peanut is known as a goober. In Alabama and the western gulf states a ground pea, in the southeast of the United States and in the West Indies a pindar or pindar and in various parts of England a jurnut, an earth nut or a manila nut.

The "Hoppickers" returned from Ellensburg Sunday night feeling somewhat chagrined at the result of the game that day in the "wind" city. The Ellensburgers took the game by a score of 11 to 10 by reason mostly of the rank decisions of the umpire, who, they say, gave them the worst of it in every close decision.

A large house greeted Kathryn Kidder and her company Thursday night in the presentation of the "The Country Girl" and Miss Kidder is certainly a very talented actress and has a splendid support, but it strikes a good many people that she has a rather poor chance to shine in a piece with so weak a plot as "The Country Girl."

Maxey to be Appointed.

Word was received here Friday from Congressman Jones to the effect that he and Senator Foster had practically decided to recommend the appointment of S. W. Maxey of Ellensburg to be register of the U. S. land office in this city to succeed Walter J. Reed.

This information caused a flutter of excitement and a flood of angry comment among the friends of Mr. Reed, who is a candidate for reappointment. Some of Mr. Reed's supporters declared that if he is to be sacrificed in spite of the good record he has made in the office that they will get even with the powers that be. It is also said that if Mr. Reed is turned down that he will be groomed for the nomination to the State Senate.

Influenza.
It is very well known that the influenza is not an exclusively modern complaint, but I am not sure whether a curious reference to it by Bower, the continuator of Fordun's chronicle, has been noted. Writing of the year 1420 he says that among those who died in Scotland that year were Sir Henry St. Clair, earl of Orkney; Sir James Douglas of Dalkeith, Sir William de Abernethy, Sir William de St. Clair, Sir William Cockburn and many others, all by "that infirmity whereby not only great men, but innumerable quantity of the commonalty, perished, which was vulgarly termed le quhew [le quhew a vurgaribus dicebatur]" (Bower, xv, 32.) Now, "quh" in Scottish texts usually represents the sound of "wh" (properly aspirated). Therefore it seems that in the fifteenth century the influenza was known as "the whew," just as it is known in the twentieth century as "the flue."

I have refrained from quoting at length Bower's explanation of the cause of the epidemic, but there seems little doubt that the disease was identical with that with which we are so grievously familiar. —Notes and Queries.

Barometric Bees.
Whoever observes these interesting insects finds it easy enough to foretell exactly the kind of weather to be expected. At least this is the opinion of many raisers of bees.

Generally the bee stays at home when rain is in the air. When the sky is simply dark and cloudy, these busy workers do not leave their dwelling all at once. A few go out first, as though the queen had sent out messengers to study the state of the atmosphere. The greater number remain on observation until the clouds begin to dissipate, and it is only then that the battalions enter into search of their nectar. A bee never goes out in a fog, because it is well aware that dampness and cold are two fearsome, redoubtable enemies. We do not mean, however, that the bee is a meteorologist in the absolute sense of the word. Its cleverness consists in never being taken unawares, for it possesses untiring vigilance. Often one may observe the sudden entrance of bees into the hive when a dense cloud hides the sun and even though the rain is not in evidence. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Changed Times.
Times have changed indeed from the time when Sydney Smith complacently observed that the United States had so much wilderness clearing to do that it might well take its literature, learning and luxury in the bulk from English factories.

"Why," he had asked, "should the Americans write books when a six weeks' passage brings them, in their own tongue, our sense, science and genius in bales and hogheads? Prairies, steamboats, gristmills, are their natural objects for centuries to come."

We might almost reverse this and ask, "Why should the English fill at ease when a six days' passage brings them our sense, science and genius?"

For the time at least the Rev. Sydney Smith's chief notoriety seems to be that he was the author of certain observations—whose truthfulness has proved as brief as it was bitter.—Harper's Weekly.

Seven Years in Bed.
"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but, "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed by W. E. Ayres. The Irishman's Request.
In the days when flogging was in vogue as a punishment in the British navy a Scotchman and an Irishman, on the arrival of their ship in harbor, obtained leave to go ashore for a couple of days, and they overstepped the period of leave granted them. When they did put in an appearance, they were ordered 50 lashes each. On the day of the punishment a parade was ordered to witness the infliction of the flogging.

When all was ready, the Scotchman asked as a favor to be allowed a piece of canvas on his back while he received his flogging. The captain granted his request and, turning to the Irishman, asked him if he required anything on his back while he was being flogged, to which he replied, "If ye please, yer honor, I'd loike to have the Scotchman on my back, if ye wouldn't mind."

It Was His Deal.
A mining engineer who has returned from Alaska brings, among other interesting things, evidence that the higher the latitude the greater the latitude. Watching a poker game in which the stakes were heavy he saw a player give himself four aces from the bottom of the pack.

Burning with indignation at such shameless cheating, he turned to a bystander and whispered, "Did you see that?"
"See what?"
"Why, that fellow dealt himself four aces!"
"Well, wasn't it his deal?"

Why We Bathe.
Professor Vivian Lewes, at the London institution, recently furnished the following answer to the question, "Why do we bathe?" Twenty-eight miles of sweat glands in our skin are discharging 26 ounces of water per day and leaving upon the outer surface of the skin a full ounce of solid matter. These are aided by the oil glands of the hair, which facilitate the adherence of external dirt. Hence the refreshing character of the morning bath and the necessity for grease absorbing alkalies in soap.

Softening the Parling.
Twelve was on the point of striking. "To think," cried the fair girl in anguish, "we will never see each other again till tomorrow night!"
"Bear up, sweet one!" was his encouraging remark. "Time will pass. Besides, I'll write to you when I get home and in the morning."—Philadelphia Times.

Changed by Circumstances.
"Where's your watch?" asked the observant man.
"Why, here it is," replied the man whose prosperity had slipped a cog or two recently.

"But that's a silver one. The one you used to carry had a handsome gold case."
"Well—er—circumstances alter cases, you know."—Philadelphia Press.

Slow Work.
"Marla, you let that young Bobster stay last night until 1 o'clock."
"But, mamma, you told me I must give him time to propose."
"But five hours!"
"Why, mamma, you know he stutters."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
