Dear Bert :

A hurried note, because arrangements for a trip to Southern California have just shaped up.

Four of my Indian friends and I will be flying , direct from Portland to Los Angeles, United Saturday and hit there early afternoon.

I don't know where the fellows have made arrangements for accommodations. Several months ago it was the ~~Raya~~ Sheraton Wilshire Motor Hotel as I recall, across the blvd. and a block and half toward ~~town~~ downtown from the old Coconut Grove.

We plan to, as possible, hit the LA County Museum near the Colesium Saturday afternoon, and Sunday want to go over to the Southwest. And I'm going to try and talk them out of hiring a car because we'll be in town until Wednesday evening. So if there is any chance at all we could get together, via phone, and I suspect we'll be at the Sheraton Wilshire, I know you'd like to meet them and perhaps go to the Southwest Museum with us. No long braids but of pretty high quality blood lines.

And I'll try and get a call through although I haven't your listing. So, if you've not moved, I should connect Sunday morning after breakfast.

Hurriedly
