Dear Mr. Relander:

I read the review of your new book "Strangers on the Land" by John Clark Hunt in the May 10th issue of the Oregon Journal.

None of the bookstores in Portland seem to have it in stock yet, so I phoned the library at the Oregon Historical Society. Miss Pricilla Knuth very kindly gave me your address so I could write to you.

I would like very much to buy a copy. I am much interested in the Yakima Indians, having seen them frequently during my childhood in the Palouse Country.

Information as to where the book may be purchased or if you are distributing it directly, I would like to know. Since it is in a limited edition, I don't want to miss getting it. Please let me know how it is being handled.

Sincerely,

Vera F. Lynch

Dear Mr. Relander:

Inclosed is a check for $2.25 to pay for a copy of Strangers on the Land.

I have ^{not} inquired about your Drummer and Dreamers but intend to.

Writing is my business too, although I have sort of dropped it the last few months. I remarried just after Christmas. Before that my by-line of "Vera Luby Critser" was rather frequent in both the Oregonian and Journal. I did a column for almost six years in the local Enterprise-Courier. At present I am editing the Clackamas County Historical for our Hist. Soc. I have a history of our county started and hope to resume in the near future.

Maybe we'll meet sometime at a writers' get-together.

Sincerely,
Vera Luby
