

THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT

"How to the Line, Let the Chips Fall Where They May."

NORTH YAKIMA, WASHINGTON, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1909

No. 51

VOL. 16.

WOULD-BE SENATOR.

Hon. Leigh Richmond Freeman, of this city, the well known editor of the Northwest Farm & Home and a pioneer resident of the state of Washington, has but recently announced himself as a candidate for U. S. senator to succeed Senator Sam H. Piles, subject to the decision of the republican primary. Mr. Freeman announces that he has already opened headquarters in Seattle and that he intends conducting a most vigorous campaign.

The new candidate further announces that he will make his campaign on the issues of good roads, irrigation and conservation. Mr. Freeman is one of the original good roads advocates of this state and has done much to promote that movement. He also styles himself the "father of irrigation," and not without reason, as Mr. Freeman, with a few other far-seeing residents of Yakima, aided very materially in paving the way for the reclamation service to enter the Yakima valley a few years ago. We refer to the good work done during the legislative session of 1905 when a party of individuals banded together, with headquarters both at North Yakima and Seattle, and endeavored to secure the passage of a bill by the legislature which would permit themselves as a corporation to acquire certain valuable water rights in the lakes at the head of the Yakima river. These parties had the moral support of Senator Reed and Representative Hare of this county, but were opposed by the second representative, Lee A. Johnson of Sunnyside, who fortunately was chairman of the house committee on irrigation. The bill passed the senate and would in all probability have passed the house and received the signature of Gov. Mead had not it been for the terrific fight made upon it by a few earnest, determined men from Yakima and Kittitas counties, who understanding the true import of the proposed legislation and believing, as they did, that the passage of the bill would have the dangerous effect of keeping the federal reclamation service forever out of the Yakima valley. By their united efforts the bill was killed in the house. At the head of this opposing lobby stood Leigh R. Freeman with his mighty voice hurling defiance at the men who through their control of the sources of the life giving water of central Washington would "forge the shackles of slavery upon generations yet unborn." Mr. Freeman remained at Olympia throughout the greater part of that session and it is only fair to him to state that he paid his own expenses.

Whether or not Mr. Freeman's candidacy will conflict with the political interests of the Hon. W. L. Jones remains to be seen. To a man up a tree it is something of a puzzle how a seventh rate county like Yakima can reasonably expect to furnish the state with both of its U. S. senators. We have heard it mooted, however, that Mr. Freeman will claim an official residence in the neighboring county of Grant in order to avoid such a controversy. In case it should develop that public sentiment will demand a western Washington man as the successor of Piles, Mr. Freeman, his friends say, will be equal to the emergency by again taking up his domicile at Anacortes, where it is said he still retains large property interests.

Probably the most formidable opponent that Mr. Freeman will meet in the senatorial field in his fight for a toga will be former Senator John L. Wilson of Seattle. Other aspirants are said to be Gov. Hay, Judge Burke, E. T. Trimble and ex-Governor McGraw, all of Seattle, to say nothing of little Sammy Piles who, of course, wants to hold his job, but who, it is generally conceded, won't have a look in. It will thus be seen that our Mr. Freeman is trotting in rather fast company.

MORE GRANGE MEMBERS.

It is proposed to increase the membership of the State Grange in Yakima county to 3500 members. This was the announcement made by Hon. C. B. Kegley of Palouse City, who was in North Yakima the other day as the guest of Harry Y. Saint.

Mr. Kegley is looking over the field here for the purpose of resuming organization work in the county. He is the master of the State Grange. There are now 1000 members below the gap, and it is hoped to secure 1500 members above the gap by the time the work is completed.

The Grange is the strongest organization for farmers in the United States. It claims to have no political affiliations, but that it stands for good legislation. The initiative and referendum and the recall are among its principles. Kittitas county is very strongly organized, and it is intended to organize Yakima county as thoroughly.

SEN. CHAMBERLAIN TALKS.

Senator George E. Chamberlain in an interview given The Democrat during his visit to this valley the past week, declared that the senate committee was more favorably impressed with the irrigation projects in this valley than any they had yet visited.

The popular senator of Oregon was not a stranger in Yakima and stated that he felt as though he were in his home country. In fact, he claims this region as a part of the "Oregon country." When given a fine apple by a member of the reception committee, he laughingly remarked that it was a very fine apple—so good indeed that he suspected it came from Hood river.

Asked what he thought of the trouble between Secretary Ballinger and Chief Forester Pinchot, he replied that he was not well enough acquainted with the situation to answer, but was inclined to minimize the trouble. "Both," he said, "have the best interests of the reclamation service at heart, but differ in their methods of procedure. Under Secretary Garfield certain so-called lax methods were allowed that Ballinger now wishes to discontinue."

"This is not a political matter," he continued, "when it comes to Western enterprises in reclamation and kindred matters, we are all just Western Americans boosting for the best country under the sun."

Discussing the tariff bill recently enacted by congress, Senator Chamberlain was emphatic in his belief that the people of all sections would soon discover that it was not a reduction downward.

"It will open the eyes of the people of all sections and as a consequence I look for the next congress to be controlled by the Democrats and the insurgent Republicans."

"I do not think a new party will enter the arena of American politics, but think rather that the insurgent Republicans and the independent voters will be attracted to the Democratic party. This will give us an opportunity to appeal to the voters of the country with strong candidates and just principles and we will gain a great victory over the disrupted and corrupt Republican party."

A Good Position

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of wireless or railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective and since the wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country, there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance for advancement. The National Telegraph Institute of Portland, Or., operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of railroad and wireless officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details.

From Midas' Mines.

This year's gold receipts from Alaska are breaking all former records. Every boat from the north reaching Seattle brings a load of yellow treasure and reports are that the present season is seeing more extensive operations than ever before. The new governor of Alaska, Walter E. Clark, is expected to arrive from the east early next month. He will go to Juneau at once to assume his new duties.

Big Money for Pears

The pear growers of Yakima valley are not inclined to grumble this season. W. P. Sawyer of Parker, the well known grower and shipper of fancy pears, has shipped seven cars of the fruit so far and from the first car reported at New York he received $3.12 per box. The old Forman ranch will produce more pears than it did two years ago—its banner year. A good peach crop was also raised on this ranch. The owners expect to get $5 a box for their Buere d'Anjou pears.

New Investment Co.

Articles of incorporation of the Larimer Investment company, a real estate and well drilling concern, have been filed with the county auditor. The incorporators are John L. Larimer, Royal A. McClure and Charles E. Tascher of Seattle; George W. Sherwood, John H. Bruff and Harvey C. Reeks of North Yakima. The capital stock is $50,000 and the head office or principal place of business is to be in North Yakima.

A new boy recently arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. De Legasse of the Moxee, just in time to aid in the harvesting of the hop crop.

J. D. Cornett, president of the State Bank of Toppenish, is spending his vacation in Seattle, going over on Sunday.

SENATE COMMITTEE OUR FRIENDS

In Speeches Saturday Evening Before Commercial Club, Declare Themselves Favorably Impressed With Yakima.

Many of the citizens of North Yakima were present last Saturday night at the reception tendered to the senate committee on irrigation at the Commercial club rooms. President Miller made a short speech of welcome to the visitors, after which the members of the committee composed of Senators Carter of Montana, Paynter of Kentucky and Chamberlain of Oregon each addressed the club and citizens.

Senator Carter made the first address and soon had all present as friends with his good humor and his praise of the "imperial" Yakima valley.

Already, according to Senator Carter, $50,000,000 have been expended in irrigation works in the United States and $40,000,000 are now needed to complete the works in process of construction or in contemplation. Ultimately $500,000,000 will have been expended in reclaiming the arid lands of this country. This will exceed the total cost of the Panama canal which has been the dream of mankind for four centuries. The reclamation work already begun will be a more enduring economic improvement to the people than the construction of the great Isthmian canal.

A review was given of the interest of congress in the Panama canal and its tardy interest in the reclamation work. The instruction to the irrigation committee to make the tour now in progress is a sign of an awakening condition at Washington regarding the great Northwest. The committee is examining to ascertain how the reclamation law is being administered.

Senator Chamberlain followed Senator Carter and made a strong plea for cooperation between the people and the reclamation service. He brought out the fact that the government was building for the future as well as the present and that necessarily the work was being done slower than some desired.

Senator Paynter of Kentucky followed with a glowing tribute to the West and especially to the Yakima valley. He declared that he had been so impressed with this valley that he expected to buy a fruit orchard and become one of us. He described the Ohio valley and showed what had been done there without irrigation and thought that with irrigation this valley would equal if not excel the Ohio. The blue grass country of his state, he declared, was the best soil to be found in the east, but he had to acknowledge that 10 acres of Yakima valley land would produce as much profit to the farmer as 200 acres of the famous blue grass soil.

Promise to Fruit Men.

President Elliott, of the Northern Pacific railroad, said he had been three weeks in Washington but had just been able to join the senate committee here and he was glad to be able to show the members the climax of irrigation development and the best people who live anywhere under irrigation works. He reiterated the suggestion of Senator Carter regarding cooperation and declared that he expects to see 500,000 people located between the mouth of the Yakima river and the base of the Cascades. He asked for consideration for the railroad when that subject is up for consideration. The officials of the road have to legislate for 50,000 stockholders and employees as well as for the people along the line of the roadbed. As president of the National Apple show Mr. Elliott asked for the cooperation of the people of this valley, told of a silver cup offered for the best 10 boxes of apples raised anywhere along the line of the Northern Pacific and brought down the applause of the house when he declared that he proposed to see "that the people of the Yakima valley and of all other sections who exhibited at Spokane this year will be given a fair show."

Thomas Cooper gave an amusing account of his experiences as an agriculturist. The meeting was then declared informal by President Miller of the Commercial club and apples and cigars were passed to those present.

During the day the senatorial party, accompanied by President Elliott and a number of local men, visited the works in the Tieton. The trip of 50 miles covered a large part of the country to be irrigated. The canal, the tunnel and a camp or two were investigated and a reclamation camp meal was partaken of. The party left North Yakima at an early hour this morning for Seattle.

WILL BUILD LATERALS.

D. H. Traphagen of Seattle was the lowest of six bidders who offered to do the work of constructing the Naches lateral of the Tieton ditch for the reclamation service. Mr. Traphagen's bid is $31,500, being nearly $10,000 lower than his nearest competitor. The contract called for the building of nearly 18 miles of laterals and the work must be finished by April 1, 1910. Thomas Dingle of this city and W. A. Fisher of the Naches were unsuccessful bidders. The bids will have to be forwarded to Washington for inspection and final action.

The reclamation service hopes to have water ready for the land along the Naches, embraced within unit 1 of the project and consisting of 9000 acres, ready for use next spring. Whether the remaining 22,000 acres of the Tieton project will receive water for use in 1911 will depend materially on the size of the appropriation to be made by Secretary Ballinger.

Reached the North Pole.

The news reached the world on Wednesday, coming from Copenhagen, that Dr. Frederick Cook, an American, and well known Arctic explorer, had succeeded in reaching the North Pole on April 21, 1908.

Dr. Cook in his dash for the pole was accompanied by only one white man and a small party of esquimaux. The pole, he says, is located in a dreary waste amid the eternal snows of the Arctic ocean, where no animal life of any kind exists. He planted the American flag.

Dr. Cook is said to be supplied with plenty of proof to substantiate his claim of having reached the pole. His claim, however, is generally credited by scientists.

Bradstreet's reports that commodities prices are still moving upward and show an increase of about 10 per cent in 10 years.

GOOD FRUIT CROP.

The fruit dealers of this city have been working overtime during the past three weeks in buying, packing and shipping Yakima fruit to market.

The Bartlett pear crop is now pretty well out of the way and a few days more will finish up. The market for Bartletts has kept up well and both growers and dealers have reason to feel satisfied with the outcome.

The prune crop, too, all things considered, has proved quite satisfactory. The demand of the Eastern market has kept fairly strong for green prunes and the crop will net growers about 1 1/2 cents per pound. The Horticultural Union has sent 20 cars of prunes East so far, an average of about two per day.

The demand for summer and fall apples has been better this year than usual, prices varying from $1 to $1.50 per box. No contracts have so far been reported for future delivery of winter apples, but the demand is sure to be good and prices will rule high. Yakima apples, it is thought, will not show up more than half a crop this year.

A few peaches, mostly Elbertas, are finding their way to market, coming from Parker Heights. They are beautiful and command for the grower from $1.25 to $1.50 per box. W. N. Irish purchased several boxes for the Yakima exhibit at the fair.

Grapes are beginning to show up quite plentifully. The quality is said to be fine, but the crop is rather light.

MAKES LOWEST BID.

The lowest bid for the construction work on the Naches ridge under the Tieton, of which there are about 18 miles of laterals, was made by D. H. Traphagen of Seattle, who agrees to do about 120,000 yards of excavation for $31,500. His bid was some $10,000 inside his nearest competitor.

No award will be made until the bids are gone over thoroughly. Each bid is looked into as well as the standing of the bidder and recommendations from the local reclamation office to higher officials are in order.

SCHIVELY IN LUCK AGAIN.

J. H. Schively, state insurance commissioner, will not be called to trial in the superior court of Spokane county at the September term of court. Schively is under indictment in two cases growing out of the grand jury investigation of the Pacific Livestock association, one for embezzlement of about $2600 of the funds of the association and the other for perjury before the grand jury.

The Schively cases, and likewise those against Judge Gordon, ex-counsel for the Great Northern railroad, will not be reached for the reason that the prisoners detained in jail, including the defendants in three homicide cases, must be tried first. The criminal docket for the September term is full and the Schively and Gordon cases could not be reached.

Insurance Commissioner Schively may have a harder fight before a jury in Spokane county than he had in the senate at Olympia. On one of his visits to Spokane Schively said that the grand jury indictments in the livestock case worried him a great deal more than the impeachment proceedings.

Newspaper Man Appointed

Newspaper men of the state rejoice in the selection of F. A. Hazeltine of South Bend as president of the board of regents of the state university. He succeeds F. D. Nash of Tacoma. Mr. Hazeltine is also at the head of the State Editorial association. The regents have authorized the adoption of the West Point fatigue uniform for the cadet corps. Military instruction will be compulsory for all freshmen and sophomores.

Our Humane Governor.

Since June 1, 1909, Gov. M. E. Hay has granted seven full pardons; seven conditional pardons. He has discharged 17 convicts from the penitentiary and released 25 on parole. Clemency has been exercised under the secret system. The governor requires all to pledge themselves not to drink any liquor. On the first of every month, they must report to some person whom he designates, showing how much they have earned and what has been done with the money. The governor says he believes in encouraging men who have shown a disposition to behave themselves while in prison.

To Boost Yakima Fruit.

Yakima fruit will be on display at the opening of the Donaldson Fruit house in Minneapolis at the land and irrigation congress in Chicago and at the National Apple show in Spokane. This was the result of a meeting of citizens of the Yakima valley held this afternoon. The costs of the exhibit at Minneapolis and Chicago will be $1200, the Spokane exhibit will cost $2500 or more. Half of the expense will be borne by lower valley towns and the remainder by this city.

AN ARTISTIC WINDOW.

Valley Hardware Company's Exhibit of Brass Furnishings.

One of the most complete as well as artistic displays of brass goods for building purposes ever seen in this part of the country is now on exhibition in the north window of the Valley Hardware company's store. The line embraces everything imaginable in brass furnishings, such as knobs, door plates, bolts, shields, coats-of-arms, knockers, hangers, hinges, etc., and in every conceivable style, ancient, mediaeval and modern. Some are highly polished, some are in bronze effect, and some have the old Roman copper finish. It is well worth the time of anyone to visit the window and see this beautiful display. Everything needed for the finishing of store buildings, residences or bungalows is on display. The artistic arrangement of the window is to be credited to Mr. Fry and he has certainly shown some ability as a decorator. Some of our large department stores would do well to engage him. A man that can take cold, hard brass designs and create a pleasing picture with them, should certainly be capable of arranging an enviable dress goods display.

UNION SCALE BUT OPEN SHOP.

Employees of the Northwest Light & Water company who belong to the Electricians' union have been agitating for a closed shop. A decision was reached yesterday whereby the company will pay the union scale but will maintain an open shop as heretofore. It has been the habit of the company to hire as it pleased, although the most of the men which it has hired have been union men.

Inman & Rose, funeral directors, will move their mortuary chapel and undertaking rooms from West Yakima avenue to the Gleason building, opposite the postoffice.

MONEY IN HOPS.

Hop picking begun this week in a number of yards in the Yakima valley, some growers starting in Monday, others the middle of the week. The reason given for starting in so early by certain growers is that they are short of kiln capacity for drying, a fact that makes it necessary for them to prolong the season.

However, most of the growers will start in to pick next Monday, although a few do not expect to begin before Wednesday, the 8th. All seem to have their pickers engaged, almost the entire crews, outside of the Indians employed, being secured here at home.

The market apparently still remains firm, the price quoted being around 21 and 22 cents. However, there is little or no buying being done of new hops. The growers are all supplied with picking money and there is little disposition to sell now until the crop at least is in the bale. As a majority of the growers have contracted a portion of their crop they cannot tell what portion they will have left until the hops are in the bale and weighed up.

The weather so far, though warm, is ideal for the hop harvest. But the same is said to be true in Oregon, where with good luck the growers expect to harvest 80,000 to 90,000 bales, which, if they do, may have a material influence on the market value of the entire crop.

George Ker, the well known manager of the big Moxee ranch, rented his private yard of 30 acres for the season last spring to Frank Jackson and Walter Camp of this city for a consideration of $1, the contract binding the lessees to cultivate the yard well and leave it in good condition. The outlook for a fair price was so gloomy at the time that Mr. Ker decided not to take the chance himself, but that it would be better to have his yard well cultivated than to lie idle. Jackson and Camp therefore took the chance and the yard for the season with the result they will clean up a profit of at least $5000 on the deal. This incident well illustrates the speculative feature of the hop growing business.

New Militia Company.

A second company of the National Guard will be formed in North Yakima. The decision is the outcome of the necessity for military quarters for Company E. There is not money enough to provide suitable quarters and there will be no appropriation for an armory until the next legislature. The formation of an extra company would mean extra disbursements from the state of about $3000, while the military tax upon the county would not be changed.

Back to Yakima

T. W. Davis of Saginaw, Mich., formerly of the Moxee, left North Yakima Wednesday on his return to his Michigan home. While here he purchased 20 acres of land near Wapato. After he had sold his Moxee 10 acres Mr. Davis realized that he had made a mistake, so he at once returned to this city and looked about for a new holding.

Grandview Incorporation

Grandview has decided to incorporate and has named city officers to act until the regular election is held as provided for in the charter. The citizens selected to serve their town are: Dr. Pool, mayor; Prof. Bennett and Messrs. Fisk, Elser, Moulton and Robinson, councilmen and A. W. Hawn, city treasurer.

Senator Piles remarked before leaving Washington that he would not be a candidate for re-election. He has evidently "beaten the party to it." It would occur to the average observer that the senator will have all his time taken up explaining the "true statement of the case" in the Sullivan will contest. That is the paramount question with the senator at the present time.

REFUSES A HIGH PRICE.

George Davenport of Grandview does not think $700 an acre enough money for which to part with 10 acres of land which he holds near Grandview. He was recently offered this amount but refused to sell, although he was at one time on the point of closing the bargain.

COURT WORK WILL OPEN ON SEPT. 8

Next Wednesday, September 8, will be the first motion day of the fall term of the superior court. The court will open at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and it is expected it will be a busy day for the court and attorneys, as there will be many matters up for consideration that have been held over since early summer.

On the following day, Thursday, September 9, all of the non-jury cases will be set for trial. From now on there will be considerable activity around the court house.

To Construct Laterals.

Such of the Tieton lands as can be watered by 18 miles of laterals will have water for crops by next spring if an effort of the reclamation service to that end is carried out as designed. Bids for the work, which involves the removal of 120,000 yards of earth, have been asked. The work must be completed by April 1 of 1910.

The territory which will come under the water to be distributed is situated near to Naches City and is technically described as townships 11, 12 and 14 north, 16 east; townships 11, 4, 12 and 13, 14 north, 16 east; townships 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 18, 16, 15, 22, 26, 35 and 36, 14 north, 17 east; townships 1 and 12, 13 north, 17 east; townships 7, 13 north, 18 east.

Work must begin within 20 days of the time that the contract is signed by the secretary of the interior and a penalty will be exacted for every day over the stipulated time taken by the contractor to complete the work.

Return Their Salary.

To receive salary for services performed, or alleged to have been performed, and then, by order of the court, be compelled to return it to the county, is the semi-serious condition that confronts the county officers of Yakima county. This is because of a decision of the supreme court which appears to indicate that legally they are not entitled to the money. The county officials raise no question over the matter. Acting under a consensus of the best legal advice obtainable, in which all the leading lawyers of the county were represented they procured the money. Subsequently the supreme court decided a case which made it appear that the act was not according to law. Therefore, without question, the warrants are being returned and the matter will be dropped. In other counties the situation which arose here was met by the county commissioners at the time by allowing the increases. This action was not followed in Yakima and therefore the various county officials will draw the pay allowed for an eleventh class county, though Yakima is officially a seventh class county and in some departments is doing more work than is done in third class counties.

The money to which the county officials appeared entitled in equity if not in law was an aggregate of about $4000, running as high as almost $1200 in the case of the county superintendent of schools and as low in some cases as $280. In the cases of those officials who are allowed a "per diem," the amount they will ultimately receive will be almost as large as was allowed under the higher classification of the county.—Herald.

Will Build Dam.

It has been discovered here that the flooded condition of the basements of this city is not due to irrigation seepage, as has been believed, but to the fact that this city is located over the old course of the Naches river, and that the water of which complaint is made flows through the gravelly soil from that river. This has been almost positively demonstrated, and following this discovery the city engineer is now preparing to build a concrete dam across this old course near its source, believing that this will put an end to all trouble.

Contract for Elks' Temple.

The contract for the Elks' temple, a two-story building to cost $21,000, has been awarded to W. E. Smith, a local contractor. Mr. Smith promises the lodge that it will be in its new quarters this fall.

Firm Changes Hands.

Messrs. G. W. Stevens and G. K. Mudd, two hustling young real estate men of Garden City, Kan., have recently purchased the Nob Hill Real Estate & Brokerage company, located at the corner of North Third and Chestnut streets. The above named gentlemen are experienced in the several lines which they propose to conduct and will undoubtedly get their share of the business in the vicinity. Not only will the firm transact a general real estate and brokerage business, but they will also operate a first-class employment bureau for men and women and a quick messenger service. Out of town people will find them prompt and trustworthy for the securing of labor of any description. You are invited to place your want help with them and they will furnish you, free of charge, anything in the line of skilled or unskilled help. The firm also invites you to list your property and business with them as they have special facilities for making speedy sales. Their ad will be found in another column of this paper.

Program Arranged.

The program for the teachers' institute has been completed by County Superintendent Busch and everything is in readiness for the meeting. Mr. Busch expects this institute to be the most successful ever held in the county. He has a large corps of instructors, among them being Prof. Lull, Prof. McMahon and Prof. Papeer of the state university; Prof. Wilson, Miss Hoffman and Miss Housely of the Ellensburg Normal schools, and J. M. Layhue of the state office. Among local teachers he has asked Superintendent D. C. Reed to give a talk on the beautifying of school grounds and school rooms; James T. Keppel to give a plan for the unification of science in the high school, and Prof. Davis and Miss Anthon to conduct round tables on debating and athletics. Miss Baldwin will demonstrate to the institute how physical culture and expression should be taught. Prof. Howard will conduct a class in penmanship; Miss Snyder in drawing; Miss Hinman and Miss Keppel in reading. There will be a rural section, which will be of value to the country teachers, and Prof. Harry Sharpe will give daily instruction in music.

Fire Loss Not Great

Forest fires that were raging in the timber belt in the Simcoe mountains, in Klickitat county, during the fore part of August are under control and doing no damage at present. Fire wardens are still having some trouble with the fire near the summit of the Yakima road, and are inclined to the belief that this fire is kept going by an incendiary; it has burned over a large area, but the country at this place is not heavily wooded and very little damage has been done to standing timber. Reports sent out from there regarding damage to timber in other sections of the timber belt have been greatly exaggerated.

Academy Heights Sale

Judge George Green of Green Bay, Wis., purchased 23 acres of Academy Heights land from the Yakima Realty & Investment company for $14,000 this week. Although his wife is very much pleased with the place, they will not make it their home; they will consider the property more in the light of an investment, but will probably spend many of their summers upon it. Judge and Mrs. Green have been in the valley for some time looking at property and observing the fruit industry carried on here.

Bids have been advertised for by the county commissioners for the construction of three bridges across Satus creek on the Goldendale road. Bids will be opened September 18.

RESTORE 36,000 ACRES OF LAND TO ENTRY.

Registrars of the land offices at Walla Walla and North Yakima are said to have been notified by the secretary of the interior of a large area of land formerly under the proposed Hanford government reclamation scheme. The land was withdrawn from entry at the beginning of the irrigation activity in that part of the state. The proposed government project has been abandoned, however, and the land is just being returned to entry. According to the conditions as announced, the 36,000 acres of valuable land are not subject to entry until September 7. The notice of the restoration contains a warning to the effect that no person can gain any right whatever on the lands before that date. Following the custom usually accompanying such land openings in the west, it is expected that there will be a grand rush for the most choice portions as soon as occupancy is legally permitted. The land becomes subject to entry under the conditions of the public land laws of the United States on and after September 7, the land being under the jurisdiction of the land offices at Walla Walla and North Yakima.

Hop Season Is Now On

Hop picking in the Yakima valley commenced last Monday and in nearly every part of the county the work is now in full operation. There is a scarcity of pickers this year, however, owing possibly to the fact that the fair at Seattle has retarded a good many of the Sound pickers from coming. There are at the present time in the neighborhood of 700 men, women and children at work—about two-thirds of the demand. The estimated yield for the valley this year is between 14,000 and 16,000 bales. Expert labor can make $4 a day.

Fruit Pickers Wanted

The opening of the harvest season has caused an increase in the demand for labor, and fruit growers and hop yard men are making a bid for available hands. The fruit season received a fresh impetus last Monday by the beginning of picking and packing operations. Many orchards are arranging for help and fruit boxes preparatory to the rush of the season. The demand for labor in the Yakima valley will be strong from now until the middle of October in order to handle the crops with speed.

STRAHORN ROAD IS NORTHWESTERN

Belief Is Now General in the Northwest that North Coast Is Terminal Link.

It is generally believed here that the Northwestern is behind the railroad now building from Armstead, Mont., to St. Anthony, asserts a report from the latter Idaho town. The western terminus of the Northwestern is Lander, Wyo., and efforts have been made for years to get an outlet to the Pacific, thus making the road a transcontinental route. The proposed plan is for the construction of a section of the road from Armstead to Salmon City, which is now going west through north central Idaho to Lewiston, into southwestern Washington, and on to the Pacific coast. Having started the work out of Armstead and continuing it well into Idaho, the construction of the link between Lander and St. Anthony will be taken up, and from there the line will be built to Armstead. This would form a Pacific outlet and terminal for the Northwestern.

Will Open Central Idaho.

Leaving St. Anthony, the Northwestern proposes to build north parallel to the Butte-Salt Lake branch of the Oregon Short Line through the eastern section of Idaho, skirting the border of the Yellowstone park, where a pass is located, allowing the line to push on direct to Armstead. From there the present route of the Pittsburgh & Gilmore will be followed to Junction, thence up the Lemhi river to Salmon City. Leaving the latter place, the Northwestern follows the easy grade of the Big Salmon river across north central Idaho to Goff, where the stream takes a big bend to the north, and then west to Lewiston, where it strikes the Snake river and follows this stream into southeastern Washington to Pasco, with a branch of the main line completing a loop through Walla Walla.

North Coast Is Link.

At Pasco the line connects with the Spokane branch, which is now being promoted at the North Coast line, constructed by R. E. Strahorn, the financier who has puzzled the railroad world through his activity in the proposition to build a line from Spokane to Seattle. With the two roads connecting at Pasco, one of the thriving little cities of southeastern Washington, a northwesterly direction is taken to Seattle, where it is claimed that terminal right of way has already been secured. This would give the Northwestern its Pacific coast terminal, and make it a transcontinental railroad.

Construction has been begun on the Palouse branch of the mysterious North Coast road between Spokane and Tekoa. Workmen under the direction of Contractors Washcock & Chew, to whom the contract for 10 miles of heavy rock work five miles south of the city was recently awarded, are actively engaged at the confluence of Hangman and Marshall creeks in tunnelling through heavy rock formation. Large gangs of men are scattered over a distance of several miles south of Marshall, working from the mouth of the creek eastward.

Nine Months' Work.

It will take nine months to complete the work on this 10-mile branch from Marshall south. It is estimated that no less than five tunnels of a distance of one mile will have to be constructed.

The formation of the country through which the North Coast branch will run is decidedly rocky, which will require more than the usual time in getting the roadbed in shape.

General activity along construction lines is now being assumed by the North Coast. Some of the steel for the branch from the Columbia river to Attalia has arrived at Granger, Kennewick and Attalia and workmen are preparing to lay the tracks east of the Columbia toward Walla Walla.

In the Yakima valley large construction crews have arrived and have begun work on part of the main line in Yakima county as far west as Nite.

Steel for the North Coast road is arriving daily over the Northern Pacific the O. R. & N. from the Colorado Steel works at Pueblo, which has the contract for 75 miles of steel. A majority of this is being sent to Kennewick and Granger. The supplies received at Granger are used on the main line in the eastern part of Yakima county.

SEEKING BOOK FUNDS

Library Board Wants Levy Raised to Half Mill

Members of the library board called upon the city attorney this morning and asked if the present ordinance could be changed so as to allow them a levy of one-half mill for the library and book fund. It was pointed out that more money was needed to maintain the institution as it should be kept up, and if the city attorney gives a favorable opinion, steps will be taken to increase the library's income.

CITY QUARANTINES ALL VALLEY HOGS

Dr. Nywening Takes Stringent Action to Protect Meat Consumers of City.

"We have quarantined all hogs entering the city," said Dr. J. Nywening, city health officer, today, "and we will keep them in quarantine for a week after their arrival here. If, after that time, no signs of pleuro-pneumonia appear, we will permit the animals to be slaughtered, but before any carcass is sold we will make a bacteriological examination of it, so as to doubly safeguard the people."

So serious has the strange epidemic that is effecting all the hogs in the valley become, that these stringent measures were decided upon as necessary by Dr. Nywening today. The outbreak of disease is causing the city health officer a great deal of extra work and while he was busy at his office this afternoon examining specimens of meat, he said:

"This city is badly in need of a meat inspector," said the doctor. "This is all his work, and it is crowding this department to do it. As a matter of fact, we are now doing county and state work. This epidemic appears to be affecting all the valleys, and we ought to have the state officers over here, but we can't get them to come. The situation is very serious, and apparently we can do nothing to better conditions; we can only guard the public health by closely watching the meat that is sold."

Asked if there was any danger of the disease spreading to the other livestock, Dr. Nywening said:

"I cannot say just at present; but I believe there is. I am not sufficiently familiar with the bacteria in this case to say; but I see no reason why it should not spread, as any other infection."

Asked how the disease spread, the doctor was equally at sea.

"That is the mysterious part of it," he said. "It has broken out in so many places at once. I was inclined to think at first that flies were carrying it—a fly can easily carry 500 bacteria on one of its feet—but I doubt if these insects travel over such a wide spread area as appears to be affected. The disease is evidently contagious, and as it takes but about a week to run its course, it is very hard to combat."

"I received a telephone call just a few minutes ago from a rancher in the Moxee, who reported that a 400-pound porker of his, which apparently was in prime condition yesterday, was very sick today, and he wants to know what he can do to save the rest of his animals. The condition is certainly very serious."

According to estimates made this afternoon there have been over 300 hogs that have died of the disease during the last ten days, and in four cases of slaughtered animals that were examined today were found bacteria when the flesh was given a microscopic examination.

A WONDERFUL APPLE DISTRICT

Council Valley, Idaho offers perhaps the very best opportunities for the fruit grower of any section in the west. At an altitude of 2910 feet; surrounded by timber-covered mountains; with abundance of water for irrigation; with splendid shipping facilities over the Pacific & Idaho Northern railroad and land still selling as low as $60 per acre Council Valley indeed is worthy of careful investigation.

Apples have been grown in Council Valley for twenty-five years without a single failure and this year there is not only a full crop of apples but there is a fine crop of peaches, pears, prunes and all tender fruits as well. Forty-four plates of Council Valley apples won first prize on county sweepstakes at the Idaho State Fair at Boise last fall.

Six boxes of Council Valley apples at the National Horticultural congress at Council Bluffs, Iowa last fall won Seventeen prizes competing with the best from everywhere.

It will pay to investigate Council Valley. For full information regarding apple land investments in Council Valley address E. W. BOWMAN, "Sign of the Big Red Apple," Council, Idaho. 198-4t

A SHAMEFUL SPECTACLE.

What an impotent body, our state senate must be is evident in its failure to impeach Schively and remove him from office after that crafty, grafting official had publicly confessed his guilt on the charge of malfeasance in office. Yet the vote to impeach this notoriously dishonest state official was never greater than 26 out of the 42 senators present and voting.

The verdict in the Schively case was no great surprise to those who kept themselves informed as to the situation; in fact, such a verdict was anticipated by many. Gov. Hay in his carefully prepared statement to the public, explaining his defeat in the Schively verdict, says that he was not aware or could not believe that Schively had behind him a lineup of 14 senators, who, disregarding their oaths and all the damning evidence offered, would stand together as one man to acquit Schively, though clearly knowing that official to be guilty.

From this admission it may readily be seen that the governor did not realize fully the vicious nature of the gang that he was up against. Our well meaning but sadly inexperienced governor has at least the opportunity of learning something new every day.

Schively, providing he escapes punishment as the result of his criminal trial at Spokane next month, will feel that he has been fully vindicated and that he can safely continue his grafting methods in office. To be sure the general public still regards him as a thief, but that fact wouldn't disturb the pleasant reflections of a case hardened sinner like Schively, not so long at any rate as he is getting the money.

The republican party of this state is responsible for Schively and other state officials of his caliber, of whom the public is anxious to be rid. That party is also responsible for the immoral minority of the senate who defended Schively and condemned his acts.

Since the republican party is helpless and powerless to purge the state house the people themselves must assume that duty at the next election.

PRESIDENT ELLIOTT'S VISIT.

Much significance is attached to the recent visit of President Elliott, of the Northern Pacific, to this city and the Yakima valley. Ostensibly his coming here at this time was for the purpose of meeting with the senate irrigation committee, of which he was a welcomed visitor, but aside from merely paying a friendly visit, Mr. Elliott had a more important mission. His private car was sidetracked here for several days while he traveled overland in parts of the county yet undeveloped and remote from railroads and what he saw and what plans he formulated as regards future branches of his road will undoubtedly be public property at no distant date. He traveled over the lands to be watered by the Tieton project, through which a branch line has already been surveyed and also through a portion of Klickitat county. By rail he made all of the branch lines in this county. He was seriously impressed with the "new" portions of Yakima county and remarked that the Yakima county was an empire in itself, which in the near future would become the homes of thousands of eastern colonists.

Senators Jones and Piles eulogize the new tariff bill and say that it is a revision downward. Congressman Poindexter bitterly attacks it and says that it is a revision upward. All of these men are republicans, elected by the same voters. They differ so radically in their political views that it must require very elastic consciences for supporters of the congressman and visa versa. No honest man can commend the position of Piles and Jones without criticizing the position of Poindexter, nor praise the record of Poindexter without thereby attacking the record of the senators. Yet the Commoner predicts that the next republican platform will eulogize and point with pride to the records of all three.—Colfax Commoner.

Gov. Marion E. Hay will not be able to adorn his belt with a Schively scalp, and thereby hangs a tale, that is as long as the moral law. If Hay had used the wisdom of a longshoreman, he would not have incurred the heavy expense incident to an impeachment trial. There is one thing that was plainly apparent in this entire Schively matter, either Bell was too ignorant to give the governor any legal advice or Hay was too stubborn to accept it, after receiving it. The enormous expense entailed in trying "to get" one lone man has cost this state a pretty penny and Schively is still on the job.—Tacoma Forum.

The secret of the popularity of Senator Chamberlain with the people of Oregon is due to the wonderful personality of the man. The senator is an earnest and intelligent worker, and is thoroughly devoted to the interests of the people of his state. But in addition to being a good worker he is what the world calls a good fellow. Chamberlain is an optimist and can see not only the bright side but the humorous side of things. But these excellent traits alone do not explain the wonderful political success that this man from Mississippi has met with in Oregon, playing as he has against heavy odds. Senator Chamberlain has cultivated a memory for names and faces, a happy faculty that probably means thousands of votes for him in every campaign. So well equipped is he for the game of politics that he can afford to laugh at the republican majority of Oregon.

Assistant General Passenger Agent A. D. Charlton has given out the statement that next year there will be 125,000 settlers come to Washington. He states this figure does not include those who drew lands, but to the contrary, those who were unsuccessful, are going to locate anyway, and hundreds of inquiries are pouring in daily regarding Washington lands for sale. Mr. Charlton also states that the maximum travel for the year has not yet been reached, as the middle states farmers will not be able to get away until the middle of September and it is then the heaviest travel is looked for.

The recent supreme court decision denying the right of county officials to increase their salary for any reason during their terms of office in accordance with a provision of the state constitution fell like a thunderbolt in the midst of the bunch of Yakima county officials, including two commissioners, who had just withdrawn their greedy hands from the county treasury, grasping money that they had every reason to know did not belong to them. Yet they took the money, about $4000 in all, smugly assuring each other that it was right and just that they should take it. But nobody else was of that opinion, as they have found out since.

The absence of Senator Jones from the public reception tendered his fellow members of the irrigation committee of the senate by the Commercial club of this city last Saturday evening has not been explained, although a matter of common comment about town. Surely nothing short of death or serious illness could have justified Senator Jones in staying away on that occasion, but the real reason seems to have been neither of these. Is senatorial courtesy after all but a mere dream?

Since the acquittal of Schively "Grandpa" Nichols has a right to feel aggrieved. No doubt the old man feels like kicking himself for allowing Gov. Hay to bulldoze him into resigning from the office of secretary of state. But Nichols didn't have the nerve to face the music as Schively did. Speaking of Schively's nerve—but what is the use—it's the limit.

The result of the Schively trial has proven conclusively that Washington has as rotten a combination of men as ever disgraced a commonwealth.

FORTUNES MADE FROM FIVE-ACRE ORCHARDS.

The farm unit in the irrigated fruit districts of Washington has gradually been lessened, following the development of irrigation, until it is said that the five-acre tract has been found to give the best results. It was not so many years ago that wheat-raising was the prevailing industry, even in such famed fruit sections as Yakima and Wenatchee valleys. Though irrigation has been practiced almost from the time of the coming of the railroad to Washington, its real success dates back a period of perhaps only 15 years, when it began to be demonstrated that the "big red apple" of Washington perhaps had no peer in any part of the United States, and that this apple was the product of irrigation; then irrigation and orchard planting received its first great impetus. The railroad tonnage from the irrigated districts grew marvelously, and in these districts wheat-raising had to give way. Wenatchee and Yakima came to be names associated with marvelous fruit production. The farms gradually grew smaller as orchard planting continued. Today the family with five acres of land in the favorable fruit districts of Washington has the assurance of an independent income. The well-cultivated tract is said to often yield from one to two thousand dollars per acre annually. As an average case of the profits that may be expected might be taken the affidavit of one Yakima man. His 35-acre orchard returned $12,700 the first year that it came into bearing. The second year this amount was increased to $24,000 and the third year gave an equally good return.—Pacific Monthly.

"MANY COCAINE FIENDS."

MR. EDITOR:—In your issue of last week was an article entitled "Many Cocaine Fiends." This article reports that the state board of reform for Cheyenne, Wyoming, says that cocaine is acknowledged to be at the bottom of more crimes than all other causes put together. It says further that more persons are addicted to the habit of using cocaine in those states where prohibition of the liquor is enforced than in those states where liquors are sold. It seems certain that persons must have some form of stimulant, and if they cannot get whiskey or beer they will turn to some other form of stimulant.

To one accustomed to the arguments of the whiskey men this seems funny. In the first place, they have always argued that "There is more liquor drunk in the states where they have prohibitory liquor laws than where they have licensed saloons." In Kansas they could always prove there was more drunkenness than in Nebraska or Missouri or any of the licensed states. Now in this article they acknowledge that in prohibition states, where they cannot get whiskey and beer they must have some form of stimulant, and say "they turn to cocaine."

We do not believe there is more cocaine used in the prohibition states than in the licensed states. We do not believe that the state board of reform in Wyoming said there was more crime caused by the use of cocaine than all other causes combined. If they did say so we do not believe they were correct. In fact we do not believe much of anything the liquor men put out as an argument to perpetuate the liquor traffic. They are interested in checking the progress of prohibition because they make money selling intoxicants, and they talk in this direction of their money interests.

Go into our courts and note the causes of crime, and it will not appear that "more of it comes from the cocaine habit than from all other causes combined." Drunkenness and disorderly conduct is the record opposite most of the names of persons brought into the police court. Two chums met on the street, they are "hale fellows, well met," and one proposes to the other "let us have a drink." We never heard them say "let us have a dose of cocaine." How many cocaine shops are in North Yakima? The druggists sell it incidentally, but there are more than a score of saloons with their clerks and manager in which the sale of liquors is the only business. The cocaine habit has its evils, but the liquor business has its manifold evils. LEROY.

FESTIVAL OF FUN IS COMING

H. M. Lake, the veteran showman and well known show pilot, is in the city preparing for the coming of the great Parker Shows, which appear in this city September 13 to 18 inclusive. Mr. Lake was interviewed last evening by a Democrat representative in reference to his big amusement enterprise, and had this to say:

"The C. W. Parker shows transcend in scope, magnitude, method and merit anything of the kind that has ever appeared in the city, and, while North Yakima has had other carnivals and other carnival companies, nothing has ever before been offered that might, by the wildest stretch of the imagination, be classed in the same category with the maze of attractions which we will bring to this city.

"The equipment is different, the methods are different, the shows are different. The business is handled on a business basis by business men who are sensible of their responsibilities and appreciate the necessity for business methods. Everywhere there is evidence of system and discipline, and each department has a responsible head that directs and accomplishes.

"The shows are unusually large and elaborate for tented exhibitions, and everything is equipped with an eye single to the safety and comfort of the patrons. The various attractions ing animate, scenic, electrical and mechanical shows and amusement devices, as well as a high class vaudeville company, under the alliterative and semi-euphonic title of 'The Broadway Belles,' the predominating feature is undoubtedly the big three-ring animal circus owned and controlled by Al G. Barnes, the veteran showman and animal master. His collection of wild and domestic animals embraces almost every known species and includes lions, tigers, hyenas, pumas, bears, elephants, leopards, camels, monkeys, dogs, ponies, goats, a boxing kangaroo, a school of educated sea lions and the only forest bred lion in the world that has been taught to retain his seat on the back of a galloping horse. The work of Millie Barnes and the riding lion, Nero, Martha Florine and the Persian leopards, Aurelia Altamore and the Nubian lions cannot fail to please and amaze all that witness the performance. The act of the young lion master, Edwin Kelly, with the man-eating lion Caesar Wallace, is so thrilling and sensational that a sign of relief invariably follows the young man's exit from the cage in safety.

"Among the larger and more pretentious attractions the Broadway Belle are heralded as presenting the best in vaudeville, and the eight young ladies and four men who comprise are housed under individual pavilions and fitted with roomy, well appointed stages, arenas, etc., while comfortable high back folding chairs provide the seating facilities. Taken in their entirety the Parker shows are extremely cosmopolitan in character and embrace the best features of the circus, hippodrome, stadium, park and theater. Among the several open air features may be mentioned 'The Great Beno' in his unparalleled exhibitions on the balancing trapeze and Japanese wire, while the two Latlups, the world's foremost net divers, ascend a frail ladder to almost unbelievable heights and simultaneously dive headforemost into a small net, from which they emerge smiling and with apparently as much unconcern as if it was no unusual thing to go whirling through space with as much speed as if shot from a catapult. It is seldom that one sees a woman so daring as the lady member of this team, and their act alone, which is free to all who care to witness it, is alone worth going miles to see.

"While there are almost a score of interest compelling attractions, includ-

the company present an unusually high-class, well balanced, straight vaudeville program that fairly teems with merit and is quite devoid of suggestive or objectionable features. The work of Biff and Bang, 'suicide comedians,' is especially commendable, while the vocal chorus and ensemble numbers add to and give finish to a bill that would do credit to some of the larger houses on the leading vaudeville circuits. There is an illusion show called 'Pharaoh's Daughter' which provides mystery enough, in addition features some beautiful spectacular dances, poses, plastique and pictorial song numbers, all enhanced and thrown into pleasing relief through the medium of the many electrical accessories which have gained for this attraction the title of 'Parker's Electrical masterpiece.'

"Altogether we have the biggest carnival company that ever dared to make a western trip, and you are absolutely safe in assuring the public one grand, big, eventful week of fun, education and hilarity. Ours is the big, clean, moral carnival you have so often read about."

WOMEN'S TAILOR

This Is What Your Home Papers Say About Me

Yakima Democrat

Tailor to the Women.

Another proof that Yakima is fast assuming the proportions of a metropolitan city is evidenced by the fact that we can now number among our better class merchants an up-to-date ladies' tailor, in the person of Mr. C. T. Manhart. Mr. Manhart is lately from Chicago, where, for a number of years he conducted a fashionable ladies' tailoring establishment in the Masonic Temple. Like a great many other successful eastern merchants, Mr. Manhart could not resist the "call of the west." During one of his pleasure trips out here he espied the Yakima country and immediately became infatuated with our section and its environments. Not only did he decide to locate here, but he showed his faith in our future by investing several thousand dollars in the peerless fruit lands of the Selah valley.

The women of Yakima and vicinity have always sorely felt the need of an establishment where high class tailored garments could be procured, and they are fortunate in having Mr. Manhart locate here. The entire front of the Yakima Business College block has been leased for his business and he assures us that he has equipped it with everything necessary to turn out metropolitan suits. Chicness, style, individuality and quality, together with perfect fit and Chicago prices are Mr. Manhart's promises to the ladies of the great Yakima country. His advertisement appears in another column.

Yakima Herald

CHICAGO MAN LOCATES.

Invests His Money in Lands and Will Go Into Business Here.

C. T. Manhart, who has for 18 years conducted a fashionable ladies' tailoring establishment in Chicago, is now a resident of North Yakima. About a year ago Mr. Manhart visited the Yakima valley and things looked so good to him that he decided this was the spot for a future home. He went to Chicago and immediately began making plans for closing out his extensive business and removing his family to North Yakima. Before returning to Chicago, however, he purchased a nice little bit of Selah valley land, believing an investment of this sort just the thing for a rainy day. He is now here with his family, and has taken up his residence.

Mr. Manhart is also opening in the Business College block an establishment similar to the one he conducted in Chicago and will do fashionable ladies' tailoring, thus enabling the ladies of this city to get as good in the wearing apparel line as anything the big cities of the country can afford.

PROMINENT TAILOR LOCATES.

Well Known Maker of Ladies' Apparel Comes From Chicago.

Manhart, the ladies' tailor, who for 18 years carried on a successful business in the city of Chicago, has located in the Business College block in North Yakima. He has fitted up apartments in suite No. 311 and has a cosy office, a neat workshop and a modern fitting room.

Mr. Manhart visited the west a year ago and decided to locate in this section on a ranch. He was identified with the fruit business in Michigan, having owned 100 acres of choice land in the fruit belt, on which was planted 5000 trees. The lure of the tailoring business with which he has been identified so long was too strong and he decided to open up a business and at the same time live in a country home. He thinks the combination ideal and he believes that the prospects in this country are much better and the life more ideal than they are in the Windy City.

North Yakima is a well advertised city in Chicago and people from the "great central market" are daily seeking locations in this section.

Mr. Manhart speaks rather modestly about his business, but it was learned that he did the tailoring work for William Jennings Bryan's family for a number of years and that he made the gown in which Ruth Bryan was married.

Former residents of Chicago who have come in contact with Mr. Manhart and his work believe that the ladies of this community are fortunate in having at their service such a high class tailor.

CLEAN FRUIT BRINGS BUYER.

Learns From Toppenish Fruit He Found in Europe That Scale Is Not Predominant Here.

Because fruit packed and shipped by Messrs Richey & Gilbert of Toppenish was clean and free from pest, in addition to being fruit of the highest quality, Carl Basedow, representing Ph. Astheimer & Sohn, of Hamburg, Germany, is now in the Yakima valley seeking to make arrangements for direct shipments. The Gilbert fruit which fell into the hands of the German firm was part of a lot sent to Liverpool or some other of the British ports and it served as a good advertisement as a good article always does.

Were Afraid of Pest.

Mr. Basedow explains that his people, while they knew of this as a fruit
section knew also that the San Jose scale was to be found on the western coast of America. There are very rigid laws in the European countries regarding infected fruit and they had not sought to purchase here, the reports of the presence of the scale having scared them off. Examination of the Richey & Gilbert fruit which accidentally reached them having revealed that the scale was absent they decided to make direct connections with shippers here.

W. N. Irish of the Horticultural Union impressed upon Mr. Basedow that as rigid laws regarding fruit pests exist here as anywhere in the world and are as rigidly enforced, and that the result was illustrated by the conditions which had led the visitor to seek this section.

Buyers Visit the Growers.

The German visitor called upon various
of the fruit growers and shippers
and made business arrangements which will result in shipments direct to Germany.

Apple buyers representing Bloch &
Co., of St. Louis and H. M. Wagener
& Co., of Chicago, were in North Yakima Thursday and called on growers and shippers. They declared that as is usual at this time of the year the difference between the buyer and the grower are too great to permit of business being done. The grower, they say, has a very high idea of the value of his fruit, per box, while on their part they have not yet the nerve to rise above the prices they came west prepared to offer.

HOGS ORDERED QUARANTINED.

Deputy State Veterinarians Jones and Calkins Take Steps Towards Stamp- ing Out of Hog Cholera.

Acting under instructions from State Veterinarian S. B. Nelson, Dr. C. B.
Jones, deputy state veterinarian, placed a quarantine on all Yakima Valley hogs pending the stamping out of hog cholera, in a chronic form, which has been killing swine in the Yakima valley the past two weeks at a rapid rate. The telegram sent to Dr. Jones is as follows.

Pullman, Wash., Sept. 2.

Quarantine entire section, then individual herds. Kill all sick ones. Dr. Calkins will arrive Friday to help you.

(Signed) S. B. NELSON.

The disease is diagnosed by the state officials as chronic hog cholera after a consultation with Will Adams of the State Pure Food board.

State Deputy Jones visited the butcher shops of the city Thursday and secured the promise of all butchers not to sell or buy any hogs until notified by the state officials. The cooperation of the farmers and others is asked in stamping out the disease.
Prosecutions will follow any attempt to dispose of infected pork through the channels of trade. This with the edict of the city health authorities that a ban be placed on pork as a health precaution, places a complete quarantine on the sale of swine. Butchers report a noticeable falling off in the pork sale since the news of the disease became general.

Kill Sick Hogs.

Thursday seventeen hogs were killed by Deputy Jones. All were affected with hog cholera. Six were condemned and their slaughter ordered. Friday Deputy Jones will investigate conditions in the Wenas, and states that he expects to order the killing of at least twenty-five hogs basing this upon advice he has received from that section.
Deputy Calkins will arrive Friday to aid in the work of stamping out the disease.

FOUR THOUSAND ACRES RESTORED

Large Tract of Government Land Near Sunnyside May Be Entered This Fall.

Notice of the restoration of about 4000 acres of government land in the Sunnyside district was received at the local land office this morning. The total amount of land restored under the order received this morning is about 40-000 acres, but the amount of government land included, and upon which entry may be made according to the conditions of the notice, is about 4000 acres. The remainder of the land is state and railroad land.

All of the government land which is restored is above the Sunnyside ditch.
It is possible that some of this land may be watered by pumping from the Sunnyside ditch. However, all of this land will come under the proposed high line ditch, which has been under consideration for a number of years. This ditch will be an extension of the Kittitas high line ditch, which has already been begun.

Settlement November 20.

This land which is now restored to entry is subject to settlement on Nov. 20, 1909, but will not be subject to entry, filing or selection until Dec. 20, 1909, at the land office in this city. All occupation and settlement between August 8 and November 20 is forbidden.

In view of the statement made by Senator Carter at the time of his recent visit here with the senate irrigation committee, this land is considered very valuable. Senator Carter said that it would be a matter of only a few years when the high line ditch would be constructed and all of the irrigable land in the valley would be under water. It is expected there will be a rush for this land at the local land office when the date for filing arrives.

Notice of Restoration.

The full notice of the restoration of these lands, with the detailed descriptions, follows:

Notice is hereby given that the acting secretary of the interior has vacated departmental order of withdrawal in so far as the same affects the withdrawal for irrigation purposes under the act of June 17, 1902 (32 Stat. 388), for use in connection with the Yakima (Sunnyside) project, Washington, of the following described lands in the state of Washington, and by his authority such of said tracts as have not been heretofore finally restored and are not otherwise withdrawn, reserved or appropriated, will be subject to settlement under the public land laws of the United States on and after November 20, 1909, but shall not be subject to entry, filing or selection until Dec. 20, 1909, at the United States land office at North Yakima, Washington, warning being expressly given that no person will be permitted to gain or exercise any right whatever under any settlement or occupation begun after August 8, 1909, and prior to November 20, 1909, all such settlement or occupation being forbidden:

TIGERS WILL BATTLE AGAIN WITH INDIANS

Missing Men to Be Replaced by Classy Players—They Promise a Fast Game

Members of the disbanded Tigers and the disbanded Toppish aggregation are going to try to pick up a little easy money by playing an exhibition contest next Sunday. Capt. Kruse of the Indians is keen for a game and Capt.
Kohls of the locals, in the absence of Manager Payne, who is sick in the hospital, is taking affairs in hand.

Toppish has signified his desire to pull off a game and a letter was received today to the effect that the Indians would be here in their warpaint.

Neither team will have the regular lineup. A few have gone forth to other parts since the ending of the season in the Yakima Valley league series. Some of the familiar faces on the Tigers' team will be missing and some of the Indians who have played regularly in the team will not be there. However, a lively contest is promised. Each captain has said that he will strengthen the team with good fast men and they promise nothing but first-class baseball.

TAKES ISSUE IN SALOON PROBLEM

Nebraskan from "Dry" City, Lincoln, Claims That Local Option Helps Business.

"Eliminate the saloon and you will find that business will pick up and a healthier condition of trade will be seen in every quarter, that families will be better supplied with food and clothing and that we will have a more healthy, a morally better and a people more fit to do battle with the problems of our community," said J. T. Roberts, a former resident of Lincoln, Neb., today. He has recently made his home in North Yakima.

"My former home city has gone through the experience and I know whereof I speak," continued the gentleman from Nebraska. "We have tried out the liquor question from about all standpoints and every step towards eliminating the traffic in liquor has proved a decided benefit to the greater majority.

Not a Solution.

"First we tried the 'daylight' saloon.
Under that arrangement saloons were allowed to sell liquor from 7 in the morning until 7 in the evening. Indications were that business was bettered
but it was not a solution of the liquor problem. Workmen would go to the saloon after they had finished their work, drink what they could hold and put in a supply of bottles for the evening. The effects were demoralizing. Many is the man who spent his money at the expense of his family. In a great many instances children of those same men were in need of clothing, families were poorly fed and a dissatisfied condition existed.

"Then came the campaign for the elimination of the rum house. Lincoln is a city of over 50,000 inhabitants and the local option vote carried.

"What was the effect?

Conditions Bettered.

"Local option as it exists today is not a solution of the liquor problem.
When the local option law went into effect 'bootleggers' began to work and different schemes were devised to peddle liquor. In several instances the authorities feared to stop the traffic. They did not know exactly how much authority they had in the matter but it remains a fact that under the local option system business conditions were bettered.

"Take the experience of one bank which catered to the saloon trade. It is a strong example and a decided proof that business is bettered with the eliminating of the liquor traffic. This bank fought against the local option clause tooth and nail; but it lost out. It had expected that the business would fall off materially as a result of doing away with the saloon. It had perhaps the greater share of the business of the saloon element and it is natural to expect that its directors would fight where business was at stake.

"But the results were astonishing.
Instead of decreasing the business of the institution, its business was increased. At the end of a month from the time the law went into effect, the deposits had increased and there were 1300 more depositors on the records of the institution than there were at the beginning of the month.

"Another example is the town of York, Neb. It is a thriving little place of about 9000 inhabitants and the police force consists of one policeman of a salary of $60 a month. The total number fined for intoxication in one year was eight and the arrests for disturbances and misdemeanors in the same period were six."

Good Livestock Exhibit

That the livestock exhibit at the Spokane Interstate fair, held this year

PIPE PROBE BEGUN BY CITY ENGINEER

Four Places to be Opened up on East D Street Today

--20 Places Picked--Pressure Test Will be Made After Pipes are Uncovered.

City Engineer Doolittle this morning put out a gang of four men uncovering pipe in the neighborhood of the junctions of North Second, Third and D streets, where he will make his first investigations of the condition of the present water company's plant. Mr. Doolittle has selected this location for the first "opening up" because on the three streets mentioned at this point there is a virtual tangle of pipes of different classes and sizes, all of which were laid in different years.

With about four excavations in this locality the city engineer will be able to examine nearly a dozen different kinds of pipe. Aside from this nest of holes, he has also given his workmen orders to open up about 20 other places in the city, and this full score of holes will be all, in his opinion, that will be necessary. In this way every class of pipe that the water company has laid will be exposed to view, and a thorough test can be made of the system.

Will Make Thorough Test.

"I was ordered by the council to make a thorough investigation of the pipes of the Northwest Water & Light company," said Mr. Doolittle this morning, "and I am following out instructions to the best of my ability. After procuring a detail map from Superintendent Arrow-smith, showing the different classes of pipe, and the years in which they were laid, I selected such places in the city as would give me a view of all kinds of pipe, and there I ordered excavations made. I went at it from an engineering standpoint, to see the greatest variety of pipe with the least possible number of holes, and I have picked the places without the aid or advice of anyone."

"What I want is to find out what this system is worth and the condition it is in. If the city is going to pay over $300,000 for a municipal water plant, I think we ought to know what we are going to get. I have instructed my men to dig down to the pipes at the places I have marked on my maps, and then to open up a trench for the length of one section of pipe, so that we can see two joints and a complete length of each class of pipe."

Note Pipes Under Pressure.

"After the pipes are all uncovered, I shall try to make arrangements with the water company to give us a 90-pound pressure for a whole day, using their pumps to keep up the force of the water. On the day that this test is made I shall spend the entire time going about from excavation to excavation, making careful note of the condition of all the pipes under the continued pressure, the leakage, if any, and such other details as may come under my observation. In this way I believe we will get a thorough and accurate idea of the condition of the entire present system, and then I shall be able to make my report to the city, as required by the council."

"Mr. Arrowsmith has been very kind so far in this matter and has furnished me with a map of his system, on which he has marked all the details regarding the age and size of the pipe. To get this information he has had to go through his office files and I presume he has had a great deal of work. It is on this map of his that I have based my own plans for the opening up of the streets."

Chance For All to See.

"The pipes will be left uncovered for a few days, until my test is completed, and during this time there should be ample opportunity for members of the council and others to make an examination of them. Of course my own examination will be independent of theirs, but I know they and many of our citizens are anxious to see the pipes for themselves, and ample opportunity will be given for this purpose."

Mr. Doolittle expects the holes along D street, between North Second and Third, to be opened to their full size today, and believes that the other places he has chosen as test spots will be uncovered by the latter part of the week. Arrangements for the pressure test will probably be made early next week and soon after this has been made the pipes will again be covered.

It is possible that the test may be made before the council meeting on Monday, but it is very unlikely that Mr. Doolittle will have his complete report ready in time for the coming session of the city fathers.

City and County News

It has been decided not to hold a Labor day celebration in North Yakima this year, owing to the fact that arrangements for the same were started too late.

News comes from Seattle that Mrs. A. E. Fawcett, proprietor of "The Chap-ean," is ill at the Lincoln hotel in that city suffering from nervous prostration.

C. D. Murane, wife and two children, were among the passengers on the ill-fated steamer, Ohio, which was lost in Alaskan waters last week. Mr. Murane was en route to Valdez to assume the duties of the office to which he was recently appointed by Judge Cushman; that of prosecuting attorney for Alaska.

W. L. Dimmick, of the Selah, has concluded to make his future home at Billings, Mont., and expects to remove there with his family during the present month, having sold his farm in the Selah. He has purchased a large block of wheat land in eastern Montana and he expects to cut it up in smaller tracts and market it.

Attorney Geo. F. McAulay and family are enjoying a visit at the exposition this week, leaving for Seattle Wednesday.

T. G. Redfield is back in his office again after taking in the Irrigation Congress at Spokane and later the exposition in Seattle. He thinks that the Yakima exhibit is fairly good, but still much in need of improvement.

Secretary James of the Commercial club is back at his desk again after spending a vacation of two weeks with his family, who have spent the summer at Seattle.

R. L. Wyatt, Western representative of the U. F. Federal company of Chicago, arrived in North Yakima last Monday for a short visit with his brother, Walter A. Wyatt, manager of the Democrat.

Wednesday was the warmest day of the season so far in this valley. The thermometer registered 98.

The warm weather of the first part of the week was broken by a genuine thunder shower Wednesday night.

Frank N. Shuler of Wichita, Kan., arrived in this city Tuesday and will spend a few days with A. L. Miller of East Spruce street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris of Montrose, Penn., arrived in North Yakima last Wednesday and will make their home here. They are the parents of Mrs. J. V. Ellis, jr., of this city.

Eugene Hall, a rising young Chicagoan, is in the city looking over the country and getting acquainted with friends. Although Mr. Hall holds the responsible position of assistant business manager of the Lewis Institute, a preparatory school for young men who are desirous of a practical education, still the spirit of the west has captured him and now that he is here he is extremely enthusiastic about what he has seen and more than ever desires to get into things, so to speak, out in this big country. Mr. Hall married the daughter of Senator Billy Mason, of much fame in Illinois.

Alex Beddoe has secured $2 from the county auditor as bounty on two coyotes killed in the county, and L. G. Metcalf has drawn down $1 on a similar claim.

Dr. Rosser and son, Leslie, started this morning for a visit to the fair. Mr. Leslie Rosser will go from Seattle to Wenatchee, in which place he is a member of the high school faculty.

Miss Marian E. Coumbe, daughter of W. E. Coumbe, 415 North Third street, accompanied by her parents, departed this morning for Seattle, where she will take a year's course in the Academy of the Holy Name.

The fees in the office of the clerk of the superior court for the month of August amounted to $347.50. The month of August is the lightest month in the year, owing to the fact that it is vacation time for Judge Preble and many of the attorneys.

The Eagles will give a ball on the evening of Labor day, September 6. The committee on arrangements is as follows: S. J. Cameron, J. E. Merwin, A. Daverin, Cad Sloan and Herman Lovenstein. The following compose the floor committee: Cad Sloan, William Morton, S. V. Sayles and Herman Lovenstein.

Charles Penticoff, with his wife, mother, son and sister, all of Freeport, Ill., are spending a few days in North Yakima. They stopped off here on their way to the fair and will return by way of San Francisco. They are old friends of C. Roy King and the latter was much surprised to meet them on the street here yesterday.

The Northern Pacific Railroad company has granted a rate of one fare for the round trip from points between Pasco and Easton to Seattle and return for Yakima Valley Day, September 22. Tickets will be on sale Tuesday, September 21, and good returning up to and including September 28, allowing a week stop-over at the fair.

The yearly meeting of the board of trustees of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at the rooms of the association Tuesday of next week. The meeting is one of considerable importance to the association as matters extending over quite a period will be discussed.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC IS NOW VERY GOOD

Traveling Agent Says Northern Pacific Has About All It Can Handle.

Webb F. Sater, of Tacoma, traveling passenger agent for the Northern Pacific, has been in North Yakima several days. He has been assisting Mr. Heffner of the Donaldson company of Minneapolis in closing the arrangements for the exhibit of Yakima apples by that company this fall.

Speaking of the business of his road at the present time Mr. Sater says that it is very good. In fact if it were much better the road could hardly handle it. Thousands of people have been coming west this summer and the Northern Pacific has handled its full share of the traffic. It has been necessary to run many of the trains in two sections, and in this manner the great crowds have been handled very satisfactorily.

Mr. Sater believes that there will be a great crowd from the valley for the Valleys of the Yakima Day at the exposition. He has been through the valley several times and says he has received only the most encouraging reports. The company is prepared to furnish the best of accommodations, and says that there will be no cause for complaint.

E. B. CRESAP,

Administrator.

HIGH PRICED FRUIT.

A sample of Yakima fruit brought Carl Basedow, of the firm of P. H. Ascheimer & Son, from Hamburg, Germany, to the Yakima valley. The Germans were much taken up with the appearance and the flavor of sample apples from this section that they decided that they were worth while and told their representative to visit the valley. They got a sample from the British market.

For the past 15 years the German firm has been buying the eastern product. They had heard of the fruit of the northwest but a representation that it was diseased with scale kept them from buying the sun-kissed apples of the Yakima. Mr. Basedow has become convinced that the representation is false and has come here for the purpose of establishing direct communication with the shippers of the valley.

HOGS HAVE TYPHOID.

Because of the striking similarity between the symptoms of the disease which is at present epidemic among the hogs in the valley and typhoid fever, City Health Officer Nywening today issued orders quarantining all local porkers for at least 10 days, during which time butchers will be forbidden to sell or buy any valley product. In addition Dr. Nywening wants to urge all citizens to cease serving any form of pork for a time, merely as a matter of public safety.

Accompanied by Deputy State Pure Food Inspector Adams, Dr. Nywening today made another inspection of the hogs at the local slaughter house. Six were killed and post mortems on all revealed the presence of the germ that so closely resembles the typhoid germ. The symptoms of the sick hogs are almost identical with typhoid symptoms, and examination made of the intestines of animals that have died from the disease show the same ulceration as in typhoid.

REMEMBER THE DATE--SEPTEMBER 13th TO 18th

In view of these facts, while not yet sure that the hogs actually have typhoid, Dr. Nywening has ordered the stringent enforcement of quarantine noted above, and issued his warning to the public.

"I am going to send some cultures of the bacteria removed from the hogs to the state laboratory," said Dr. Nywening, "and I am not going to tell them where the culture is from. I'll bet a dollar they will diagnose the disease as typhoid, and if they do, it will be a pretty conclusive proof as to what the disease is. The difference is so slight that I would not care to say it was not typhoid."

Reports from outlying districts show that the ravages of the epidemic are increasing, fresh cases of death and sickness being reported daily. State Veterinarian Nelson has issued orders that all hogs that show symptoms of illness are to be killed; and tomorrow a special inspector will come here to make a careful study of the situation.

So far the disease has not been communicated to any other stock, but whether or not cases of typhoid in the city may be traced to the diseased meat remains to be seen. In any event, Dr. Nywening desires to be on the safe side, hence his ban on pork.
