Dear Lee:

I'd have sworn I have sent you all my Paiute material, but in Bringing my files up to date this afternoon I encounter the enclosed which I had set aside to be included with one of the previous dispatches, and it accidentally got into another file.

I'm sending it AIRMAIL, because I have extra envelopes of that category, and because the one exchange of Army Communications may be of value to you, even at this late a date.

It contains a list of names of "Good Indians" and other material that might give you a good personal slant on a certain phase of the Paiutes.

Sincerely
