FOR A BEET SUGAR FACTORY

Largely Attended Mass Meeting Wednesday—Effort Will Be Made at Once to Secure the Required Acreage.

Business men and citizens generally, with a fair sprinkling of farmers, probably numbering 100 in all, responded to the call for a mass meeting at the Commercial club rooms Wednesday evening to consider the proposition made by C. W. Adams, representing the newly organized North Yakima Beet Sugar company, for the establishment of a factory at or near this city.

Vice President Moore of the Commercial club presided and introduced Mr. Adams, who addressed the meeting a considerable length and along the same lines as he did before the governing board on Tuesday evening as narrated in yesterday morning's Democrat. He said that his company is now ready to talk business with the people here regarding the location of the factory at or near this point. He explained that the factory which his company proposed to erect would have a capacity for consuming 600 tons of beets daily and would cost when equipped about $700,000. Owing to the mild climate here the campaign, or sugar making season would last, he thought, from 100 to 110 days.

The concessions that the company would require from the people here are first, a site to consist of 80 acres conveniently located for shipping purposes and such use of water as the factory would require to go with it, and contracts with surrounding farmers to grow an aggregate of 4000 acres of beets. No cash subsidy was asked for or wanted.

It is necessary, Mr. Adams continued, that an early decision be reached by the people for two reasons: First, in order that the farmers could plan for next year's crop; second, that the company might lose no time in placing their orders for machinery which must be in place and ready for operation by Sept. 1, 1905.

Mr. Stone was next called on and read a carefully prepared paper of considerable length on beet culture, the manufacture of sugar from beets and the profits of the industry. It was an excellent paper and received close attention.

The chairman then called for remarks and D. E. Lesh, A. B. Weed, Edward Whitson, W. W. Robertson, Prof. Barge and others responded. The tenor of all the remarks being to the effect that the company's proposition should be accepted and the effort be made at once to secure the needed contracts with farmers which are to cover a term of five years at a rate of $5 per ton for the beets.

This being the sense of the entire meeting a motion was put and carried for the appointment of a committee from the club to begin work to secure the necessary contracts. Chairman Moore will announce the personnel of the committee today. Messrs. Whitson and Rankin will continue as a committee to secure a site. It is generally thought that the Old Town site will be selected.

DIED IN BUGGY

W. E. Clemm Dies While on the Way to This City to See a Doctor.

The spectacle of a dead man sitting up in the seat of a buggy riding into town on his way to the undertakers is rather an unusual and gruesome sight, but it was witnessed by a few people in this city about 5:30 last evening.

W. E. Clemm was the dead man's name. He came here from Seattle with his wife and 14-year-old daughter several weeks ago to pick hops. Last Saturday the family went to work at picking apples at L. D. Humphrey's place on Nob Hill, living in a tent. Mr. Humphrey, on being interviewed by The Democrat last evening said:

"Mr. Clemm came to my place last Saturday with his family and I engaged them to pick apples. Mr. Clemm was sorely afflicted with asthma, complicated, I think, with heart trouble. When I went home in the afternoon I found him in bad shape physically, so I suggested that he had better come to town with me and see a doctor. He agreed, and I hitched up my horse and buggy and he got into the rig and started to town with me. Before we had gone very far Mr. Clemm complained of feeling worse and appeared to be in great misery. When we got as far as the Lesh residence the man gave a deep gasp and slipped down from the seat. I stopped the horse and on examination found that my man was dead. I lifted him up in the seat, took a scarf from around his neck and tied the body to the seat. I then brought him to Sessions' undertaking parlors. The unfortunate man, I think, had little or no money outside of what the family earned working for me. I think that the county will have to bury him."

The deceased, his wife says, was 48 years of age and had poor health. He has a brother-in-law named John LeClair, who lives somewhere in this vicinity. A telegram was sent to relatives in Portland regarding the disposition of the remains, but no answer had been received up to the time this paper went to press.

Coroner Frank viewed the remains at the morgue, but on ascertaining the facts of the man's death deemed no investigation necessary.

Old Pioneer Passes Away.

Dr. Thomas McAusland died at his late residence, 315 South Second street, last night about 10 o'clock. The deceased was 90 years of age and an old pioneer of this valley. He came as early as 1874 and has lived in the county for 30 years. He has a great many friends among the old timers and was a highly respected citizen.

The funeral will be held from the residence at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. E. L. Sessions has charge of the remains. The deceased was a continuous resident of Yakima City for 28 years.

TURNER, TONIGHT

Ex-Senator George Turner, Democratic Candidate for Governor Will Deliver an Address at Yakima Theater.

(From Friday's Daily)

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Yakima theater will be crowded to its capacity with people eager to hear the democratic candidate for governor, Ex-Senator George Turner, speak on the political questions of the present campaign. The recent speech of Senator Turner in Seattle, when he addressed one of the largest audiences ever accorded a campaign orator, has won for him additional support from all sections of the state. The speech of Judge Turner on this occasion made hundreds of votes for him, and tonight he will touch upon the same issues. In company with Mr. Turner will be one of the democratic candidates for congress, Howard Hathaway of Everett, also George Mudgett of Spokane, candidate for state treasurer, and Arthur Jones, a campaigner of state reputation. These gentlemen comprise the party of democratic leaders who will arrive on the North Coast Limited at 2:30 this afternoon and occupy the stage this evening at the local opera house.

Hon. H. J. Snively, chairman of the campaign committee, will have charge of the meeting. Mr. Snively will make a few preliminary remarks. The democratic candidates for county offices will also occupy seats upon the stage. The central committee has engaged the services of the Yakima Cornet band and nothing has been left undone to make the meeting a rousing success.

Auction Sale of Lots.

E. H. Kohlhasse, owner of Lund's addition to the city of North Yakima, announced that he will hold another auction sale of the unsold lots in that addition which will be held tomorrow, Saturday afternoon, the sale beginning at 2 o'clock. Any person has the privilege of selecting a lot and having the same put up at auction and sold to the highest bidder.

Quite a number of the lots were sold at the auction Wednesday, but a number of very choice locations remain unsold, affording people with limited means an opportunity to secure a site for a home at a very reasonable cost and on easy terms of payment.

Mr. Kohlhasse, who is from Seattle, has concluded to make his home in Yakima, and will himself make some extensive improvements in the addition by erecting a number of neat cottages thereon.

The farmers report that the recent rains have left the roads in comparatively good condition. But little damage was done by the rain except in a few cases where the last crop of alfalfa was still in the field.

JOHN POPE COMMITS SUICIDE

In a Fit of Despondency He Takes His Own Life on Sunday Morning.

At 11 o'clock Sunday morning, John Pope, a man 50 years of age, shot himself with a 38-calibre pistol. He died at 1:45 in the afternoon.

The dead man came here last July from Roslyn, Wash., where he had lived for many years and was highly respected in that community. He had conducted a confectionery shop there and this summer was induced by a real estate man of this city, J. P. Mayer, to sell out his interests in Roslyn to come here and invest in real estate. He put $1350, about all the available cash he had on hand, in a piece of land west of town, known as the Modern addition. It seems that this property was encumbered in some way which he did not know at the time of investing. It was necessary for him, in order to keep the property, to make additional payments upon it. This he could not do. The thought of losing everything he had was more than the unfortunate man could stand and he gave up to his despondency by killing himself.

He leaves a wife and no children. They had been out walking together yesterday morning and had just returned to their home. She was in the front yard when a pistol shot rang out, coming from their bedroom. Going in quickly she discovered her husband lying in a pool of blood. He had shot himself with a 38-calibre pistol, the bullet entering just above the right ear and coming out two inches above the left ear. He was unconscious but did not die until nearly two hours later.

Coroner Frank was promptly notified of the suicide. He arrived soon after on the scene but did not deem an inquest necessary. The evidence of self destruction was beyond question.

The body was brought in to Shaw & Flint's undertaking parlors. The home of the deceased was out near the power house. James Ash, of Roslyn, brother-in-law of the deceased arrived last night on the late train. He came down to make arrangements to have the body shipped to Roslyn for interment. He says the deceased has several hundred dollars in bank and considerable unencumbered property. The wife of the deceased is almost distracted.

The Car Famine.

North Yakima has sent a petition to the Northern Pacific railway asking for 100 cars daily to move its surplus of agricultural products to consuming markets. Farther east the wheat raisers of the Inland Empire are demanding that cars be supplied them to forward from 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels of grain already sold and in warehouse to its destination. On Puget Sound, Gray's Harbor and Willapa Harbor lumber and shingle manufacturers are clamoring for rolling stock to supply the improving demands for those products, and while the railroads are pushing traffic to the limit the lack of facilities for caring for the crop and industrial movement of the Pacific Northwest is admitted. The call for 10,000 cars to move wheat eastward has been an unusual factor in the traffic situation this season, and the record crops of cereals and fruits, the early sale of the former and the constant expansion in demands for cars from manufacturers and for general freight operations have rendered it next to impossible to give an adequate service at this season of the year. A revival of the movement for the establishment of great car manufacturing works on Puget Sound will now be in order.—West Coast Trade.

BEET SUGAR FACTORY

The Proposition to Establish One Here Seems Assured—Committee now at Work.

Vice President E. B. Moore of the Commercial club, yesterday announced the personnel of the two committees on finance and acreage which he was authorized to appoint by the beet sugar mass meeting held Wednesday evening. The committees appointed follow:

Finance—W. A. Bell, I. H. Dills and Alex Miller.

Acreage—E. J. Wyman, Stanley Coffin and Frank Horsley.

Edward Whitson and G. S. Rankin are a standing committee to receive and consider propositions for sites for the proposed sugar factory. It is understood that three sites are under consideration, two near the Old Town and one between this city and that place. One of these three in all probability will be chosen.

The committee appointed to secure the necessary contracts with farmers for the cultivation of the 4000 acres of beets to supply the factory will go to work at once. Public meetings, it is said, will be held at various points with the object of working up interest in the movement preliminary to the work of soliciting the contracts.

A great deal of interest is manifested among local people over the new project. A number of leading citizens expressed themselves on the streets yesterday in the strongest terms in favor of accepting the company's proposition.

The Car Famine.

The freight car famine at this point is still on, in fact there is at present a more marked shortage of cars with a bigger demand from shippers than at any other time this season. This is due to the great demand for cars for wheat shipment at competitive points in eastern Washington. Agent Meeks has apparently done and is doing everything in his power to relieve the stringency, but without much success.

This condition of things is growing unbearable, so the shippers and farmers say. But how to remedy it is the question.

Schools Are Crowded.

The city schools are again in a crowded condition and it looks as though some measures will have to be taken soon to alleviate the situation.

At a recent meeting of the school directors of this district this matter was discussed. Prof. Barge, one of the directors, was instructed to try and procure suitable temporary quarters in which to hold school. The board has ordered a few supplies for the physics and biological departments. The president of the board and superintendent of the city schools was instructed to formulate a suitable tardy card for the convenience of the teachers.

Funeral of Dr. McAustland.

Arrangements have been made to hold the funeral of the late Dr. Thomas McAustland this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence of Mrs. W. J. Ostrander, 311 South Second street. Mrs. Ostrander was a niece of the deceased.

The services will be brief and will be conducted by Rev. Alfred H. Henry of the Methodist church. All the old friends of Dr. McAustland who desire to attend the services will be welcome.

The pall bearers are: Dr. Taft, G. W. Cary, Walter J. Reed, G. A. Leach, T. G. Redfield and W. D. Walker.

Visiting the Synods.

Rev. J. H. Loughlin of San Francisco, representing the Presbyterian Foreign Missionary board of the northwest, visited here this week. He left Tuesday afternoon for Seattle. He is on a tour visiting the various synods of the northwest. Rev. Loughlin was for 23 years a missionary from the Presbyterian church to China and spent that many years of his life among the orientals. He now has charge of the Chinese missionary work in San Francisco.

Accepted Kennewick Bridge.

County Commissioner Lince returned from Kennewick Thursday afternoon. He had gone down to inspect the new bridge which has just been completed.

The bridge crosses the Yakima river about 6 miles below Kennewick and two miles below the Nelson Rich ferry. Mr. Lince thinks it is the best bridge ever built in the country. He spoke very highly of the mechanical construction.

The contractors were Hugh Stewart and Charles Bruenn.

Memorial Services.

On Thursday afternoon, October 20th, at 2 o'clock, memorial services will be held at Yakima cemetery in memory of the two beloved daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Loudon of the Moxee valley. Services will be conducted by the Rev. James M. Thompson. All friends of the family are cordially invited to attend.

Tom M. Word, sheriff of Multnomah county, Oregon, was in town Thursday. He came after a suspect and found him here in charge of Sheriff Grant. Mr. Word is the only democratic sheriff ever elected in his county. He knows R. A. Grant personally and has a high opinion of his ability as a sheriff.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY

Items of Interest From Different Localities Sent in by the Democrat's Correspondents.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Mabton Sittings.

F. H. McCoy of North Yakima was in town renewing old acquaintances Tuesday.

George Mathieson of Sunnyside has the contract for putting in the 2000 feet spur leading east from Hub spur. Twelve teams are now at work doing the grading.

The general merchandise stock of Noah Beckner was purchased by the Yakima Grocery company on Thursday. It is the intention of the company to sell out the entire stock in Mabton and have rented the Beckner building for that purpose.

George W. Chapman, who can truly be called one of the pioneers of the Yakima valley, died at his home here on Thursday morning at 11:30, after an illness of about two months due chiefly to stomach trouble. He was born in Detroit, Mich., January 3, 1840, and was consequently in the 65th year. He came west in 1889 and settled in Mabton in the following year and has made this his home ever since.—Chronicle.

Wapato.

We are going to have sidewalks. Hurrah for Wapato!

Mr. Wise has moved his family back to Wapato for the winter.

Mrs. McCredy was a North Yakima visitor the first of the week.

Frank Jones has commenced work on his new residence in Wapato.

The ladies of Wapato met at the residence of Mrs. McCredy Wednesday afternoon and organized for the purpose of securing funds for building sidewalks. They concluded to give a basket social Halloween night. They already have quite a number of donations of money and work. Look out for our announcement next week.

Selah.

School has commenced with a good attendance.

Major Orth, the expert well digger, has just finished a well for the lower school house—a much needed improvement.

H. H. Schott has several teams hauling his hop crop to the city.

Earl Baker had the misfortune to cut his foot with a corn cutter one day last week.

Henry Delude is baling hay at Mr. Baker's.

Apple picking is at full blast in the Selah.

M. N. Snodgrass and sons are running their dryer and are turning out dried prunes done to a turn.

Mrs. Rudle, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Lynn Taylor, has returned to her home in Seattle.

Mrs. W. R. Edwards, formerly a resident of Selah, but now of Tacoma, has been visiting with her brother, J. D. McIntosh.

The Republican leader of Selah seems to have a considerable of a job on hand to keep the boys in line this year.

Kennewick Happenings.

L. G. Moore is the enterprising citizen who is responsible for that long stretch of new sidewalk along the west side of Yakima street. It is a great convenience to those who journey along that way.

Principal Baker of the city school reports the schools in a very satisfactory condition. The attendance is increasing so fast that it will soon be necessary to add another teacher to the present staff. Rumors are also rife that we are to have additional school room.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster and their son Lester and his wife, arrived in the city by this morning's train from Pleasant Valley, Montana, and will start at once to improving the land they recently purchased. They have bought lots in the city and will erect residences on them, beginning the construction some time next week.

S. A. Dickey, county superintendent of schools, was here today and met a delegation of the residents of the lower end of the valley for the purpose of considering a petition for a school in that part of the country. Mr. Dickey recommended the establishment of the district and the election will be held at once. The schoolhouse will be located in the neighborhood of section 23.

A wolf chase is the latest on the tapis and is being promoted by the sports of this city. The hills to the south and west of this place are full of prairie wolves and it would be an easy matter to jump enough to make two or three days full of sport. There is a large number of dogs in the district that have reputations as wolf chasers and no doubt if the affair is properly advertised a number of good dogs will be brought in from the neighboring places by gentlemen who enjoy the chase. The date for the hunt has not been set, but it will be some time next month.—Courier.

More Hop Deals.

Guy Grafton bought yesterday 126 bales of hops from Cameron Brothers and 77 bales from George Eglin, for which he paid 30 cents per pound. These were the only deals made on the local hop market.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sheldon, aged 59, died at her late home on the school section Wednesday night after a long illness. She leaves a husband who is in very poor circumstances. A Chandler and his charitably disposed neighbors, quickly raised a fund to defray the funeral expenses. The burial took place in Tahoma cemetery Thursday afternoon.

Farmer Todd's Dates.

Farmer Todd has been secured by the Democratic campaign committee to speak at the following named points next week:

Toppenish, Monday evening, Oct. 17, 7:30 o'clock.

Zillah, Tuesday evening, Oct. 18.

Wapato, Wednesday evening, Oct. 19.

Farmer Todd is a good speaker and a clever entertainer. He probably understands the inside of state politics as well as any man in the state. A number of the Democratic candidates on the county ticket will be in attendance at the meetings. It is to be hoped there will be a good attendance at these meetings.

Ellensburg Paragraphs.

George Turner speaks here next Saturday afternoon.

Henry Bonniwell of Yakima registered at the Vanderbilt last Saturday.

B. F. Barge of Yakima spent a few hours here last Saturday, on his return from Seattle.

Miss Florence Wilson spent Sunday in Yakima, the guest of Miss Gertrude Harmeling.

The latest scandal is the elopement of Mrs. Carrier, the wife of a farm hand, with another man named Luterill, taking three children with her. They were not well known here.

C. B. Graves returned on Monday from his eastern trip, which included a visit to the big fair. He also attended the international law congress in St. Louis as a delegate from this state.

Is a Marked Contrast.

The marked contrast between the positions occupied by the two candidates for governor is one of the notable features of the campaign. Judge Turner represents an idea. He is advocating a reform. He is speaking for something that is distinct and tangible. He favors a railroad commission and he is arguing for it openly, forcefully and convincingly. There can be no doubt among the voters as to just where he stands on this issue or on any other issue that has been brought forward in the present state campaign. If elected governor the people know just what his policies will be, what he will do and how he will do it. He has been free, frank and fearless in his public utterances and the voters who favor him know just what to expect from him.

Mr. Mead, on the contrary, has devoted several weeks to offering explanations that explain nothing. At one moment he has declared that he will approve a commission bill if one is passed by the legislature, and at another he has said that he can not promise to approve or to disapprove any piece of legislation until it has been duly presented to him for consideration. The people do not know definitely from Mr. Mead's public utterances where he stands on a single problem that is now under consideration in this state. His campaign has been one of dodging and qualification. Not once has he come out into the open and declared himself without shuffling and evasion. As to what he would do or as to what he would not do if elected governor he is a perfect enigma, and he has been talking to the people for more than a month.

Will the people of Washington favor a hesitating, negative, uncertain candidate of this sort? Are they not likely to fear that a man who dodges issues on the stump will dodge responsibilities if placed in a position of authority? This is no time for experiment with a man who can not express their beliefs clearly, concisely and unequivocally. The people want as governor a man who knows and can speak his own mind and in respect to this qualification Mr. Mead is woefully deficient.—Spokesman-Review.

The father of George G. Mills of Olympia, republican nominee for state treasurer, has announced to his friends that he will not vote the Farrell state ticket.

"I suppose I'll have to vote for George," he said, but he declared plainly that his son is the only man named on the Farrell ticket who will receive his support. The elder Mills, who is a pioneer of Thurston county, lives on a farm near Olympia.

Can You Eat?

J. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Christman, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach, I lost all strength and ran down in weight. ## HOW MEAD GOT IN THE SWIM.

The Story of How His Nomination Was Brought About by Railroad Influence—Rotten Primaries Defeated His Opponent, Mayor Black.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Oct. 12.—(Special)—That A. E. Mead was the original "Farrell" candidate for governor is indicated in the most positive and reliable manner by the fact that J. D. Farrell came to Bellingham on the eve of the Republican primaries last spring to contribute to the effort to control those primaries in Mr. Mead's interest, and by the fact that he did contribute materially to that end.

In the spring primary fight the contest in Whatcom county was between the railroad commission faction of the Republican party and the railroad faction. Two years ago the fight was waged on similar lines and the railroad forces controlled, leaving the mill full control of all the machinery of the party for the campaign this year. The commission forces contested with the railroad forces for the control of the city at the first municipal election after Whatcom and Fairhaven were consolidated in Bellingham, and the railroad forces were defeated, the commission forces electing A. L. Black the first mayor of the new city.

Mr. Black's success in being the first man to stand successfully against the railroad forces for several years gave him a great deal of prestige, and as the spring campaign approached, his friends urged him to permit the use of his name as a candidate for congress. To this Mr. Black consented and the commission faction of the party rallied strongly to his support.

Lobby Gets Busy.

The railroad leaders perceiving that they must bring out a candidate of their own if they would successfully resist the commission movement immediately sought a candidate for the same honor. They called a conference which was held about April 1 in the office of C. W. Howard, local attorney for the Great Northern railroad, and attended by Mr. Howard, his law partner T. G. Newman, H. A. Fairchild, chairman of the Republican county central committee and recognized leader of the railroad forces, Harry and Ed Thomas, business manager and editor, respectively, of the Bellingham Reveille, a publication controlled by the Great Northern interests, Representative L. N. Griffin, T. W. Gillette and E. W. Purdy.

At this conference it was agreed to bring out F. F. Handschy, the present county treasurer, as a candidate for congress, and a committee was appointed, of which Mr. Fairchild was chairman, to see Mr. Handschy and urge him to make the race. But Mr. Handschy, realizing that it would be impossible for Whatcom county to get a congressional nomination at the hands of the railroad forces, declined to consider the proposition.

Mead Was Second Choice.

Thereupon a second conference was held and Mr. Mead was agreed upon as a candidate. Mr. Mead had served one term in the legislature and two terms as prosecuting attorney and his course and conduct in those offices left nothing to be desired by the railroad henchmen. As a means of inducing Mr. Mead to enter upon the very unpromising campaign proposed the railroad managers agreed that if he would permit the use of his name, while its use was essential, they would then make an effort to give him the nomination for superior judge at the fall convention. The railroad forces had already brought out on congressional candidate in the northwest in the person of Frank H. Brownell of Everett, who was a favorite protégé of the Hill interests, and the Whatcom county railroad leaders realized that there was no hope of securing a congressional nomination for their candidate from the railroad forces.

As a congressional candidate Mr. Black made his campaign as a Republican on the Republican state platform of 1902, which included the railroad commission plank. Because he stood on that issue and opposed the control of the party in the county solely in the interest of the railroad lobby Mr. Black met the violent and bitter opposition of the railroad leaders.

Used Coercion and Fraud.

In the primary fight misrepresentation, coercion and the votes of persons not justly entitled to vote were used against him, and these it was that accomplished his defeat and the endorsement of Mr. Mead by the county convention.

J. J. Donovan, general manager of the B. B. & C. railroad and the Bellingham Bay Improvement Company, was interested in behalf of Mr. Mead's candidacy and used the power of his position and the properties he controlled to that end. As a means of intimidating the men in his employ he caused the B. B. I. lumber mills at Bellingham to be closed down and announced that the closure was for an indefinite period. This closure was announced in the Reveille on April 26, four days before the primaries. The Reveille said:

"The B. B. I. Co. will pay off its mill hands today up to date. The payroll contains 200 names. J. J. Donovan, general superintendent of the company stated yesterday that all the mill hands were being paid off to date and it was impossible to tell when the mill would resume operations."

Done to Change Votes.

Absolute proof that this move on the part of the company was made for the purpose of influencing votes in the primaries is contained in the fact that the mill, instead of closing down for an indefinite period opened up again four days after the primaries had been held. This fact is chronicled in the Reveille of May 5 in this language:

"The B. B. I. mill will reopen its plant with a full crew in all departments tomorrow."

Additional evidence to the same effect is contained in the fact that even while the mill was closed down for an "indefinite" period for the purpose of influencing votes in the primaries, the company had chartered several vessels to come to Bellingham to load lumber yet to be sawed after the mill resumed operations again. This is proven again by news item in the Reveille, of which the following are samples:

"The steamer Rainier left San Francisco last Monday (the second day after the primaries) and is expected to arrive some time between now and Saturday at the B. B. I. mill."—Reveille, May 5.

And again:

"The ship Lucerne is expected at the B. B. I. mill in the near future. She is a South American vessel, and it will be her first visit on the Bay. She is now up Sound."—Reveille, May 5.

Even before the mill closed down the steamer Rainier had been chartered to return for a cargo of lumber, which was yet to be sawed after the mill reopened after its "indefinite" political close down. This is shown by the following news item in the Reveille on April 27, three days before the primaries and on the day after the mill closed down. The item says:

"The Rainier will make a return trip to the B. B. I. mill the last of next week."

The commission leaders called the attention of their workers to the announcements of the coming of vessels as indicating that the close down was a case of "four-flushing" on the part of Mr. Donovan in Mr. Mead's interests, but they were without a newspaper organ of general circulation and unable to get the fact effectually before the voters in general.

Donovan Speaks for Mead.

The B. B. I. mill was not the only one which closed down for the purpose of influencing the voters in the primaries. No less than four other of the leading mills of the county closed at the same time, and in all some 1000 men were thrown out of employment. As a means of impressing upon these idle men that they would not be returned to work unless the primaries were controlled by the railroad forces Mr. Donovan gave out an interview which was published in the Reveille on May 29, the day before the primaries, in which he said:

"The result in next Saturday's primaries may mean more to this county than a presidential election. It may prove better to have many miles of road fairly taxed rather than rob and ruin the few miles we already have. Governor McBride's ambition has closed his eyes to justice and to truth. His slogan is rule or ruin and it speaks ill for our future policy if our people endorse that policy. A vote for A. L. Black's candidacy is a vote for McBride. A McBride victory means the paralysis of railroad development for years."

Again on the following day, the primary day, Mr. Donovan in a communication to the Reveille, said:

"The directors and officers of the B. B. I. Co. and the B. B. & C. R. Co. are citizens seeking to advance the best interests of this county and they are supporting Mr. Mead because he has a good record and is not the tail to the McBride kite. * * * Again I repeat, a vote for Black is a vote for McBride and a slap at the railroad builders."

With all the leading mills in the county closed down and the 1000 or more idle men in Bellingham and men being paid wages for the day for voting the Mead tickets, with no requirements of citizenship or registration required in order to vote it is easy to see how the vote cast at the primaries exceeded the legally registered vote of the city by 50 per cent and how it was that the Bellingham precincts returned Mead delegates to the county convention.

Farrell Took a Hand.

J. D. Farrell also took a hand in achieving the result. For many years the merchants of Bellingham had been praying for terminal rates on grain and flour from eastern Washington, and Mr. Farrell went to Bellingham, held a conference with leading business men, and granted those rates on the very eve of the primaries. This portion of the story is told in the Reveille, with a great blowing of trumpets, on April 29, the day before the primaries. On the same day the Reveille contained a communication from J. L. Byron, a local supporter of Mr. Mead, in which Mr. Byron said:

"Allow me at this time to review briefly the political situation and give my reasons for supporting Mr. Mead. Whatcom county wants a congressman and if the right man is endorsed we can get it. What I mean by the right man is one who would not be opposed by the controlling forces, and such a man is the only one who can win."

This is the kind of a man the Whatcom county manipulators had in mind in supporting Mr. Mead. One who would not be opposed by the "controlling forces," one who was supported by J. J. Donovan, the general manager of the B. B. & C. railroad and one in whose interest the Great Northern was willing to make sacrifices. Supporters of Mr. Mead are loudly declaring that he is not the railroad's candidate, but none of them have explained Mr. Donovan's loyalty or Mr. Mead's action in making Mr. Donovan the chairman of his delegation to the Tacoma state convention.

JOE SMITH.

At the Boiling Point.

In western Washington republican revolt against the methods of the railroad lobby is even more outspoken than in eastern Washington. Indignation over there is at the boiling point in many places. In Mead's own county of Whatcom, for example, it has developed into open rebellion, and the anti-Mead and anti-railroad forces have put an independent legislative ticket in nomination against the lobby ticket, and so great is the feeling against the lobby methods that the election of the independent ticket is freely predicted.

The reason that republican indignation is more bitter in western than in eastern Washington is that the party in western Washington has felt the railroad lash more tryingly than it has ever been felt over here. A great many republicans who have not studied the commission question as it has been studied in eastern Washington are saying, "We have never looked into this commission problem, and are not yet decided whether we want a commission, but we will not endure longer the crack of the railroad whip in our primaries and conventions." In western Washington the railroad agents have been bold and insolent to a degree unknown in eastern Washington. On this side of the mountains they have been overawed by public sentiment, and have worked under cover. In western Washington they have stood in the open and enforced their demands with pride and insolence.

Especially has that been the case in the three large counties of King, Pierce and Whatcom, where the railroad forces have meddled in city as well as county politics. In those counties the better elements of the party are in open revolt. As Ex-Congressman Doolittle of Tacoma forcibly expressed it, they propose to purge the house of their fathers of the unclean agents of the railroad lobby, and when that is done, to fumigate the old mansion and restore it to its former wholesome condition. — Spokesman-Review.

The Prohibition Program.

The prohibitionists have placed a strong ticket in the field in this county. Wisely they have left one place on the legislative ticket vacant and have made no nomination for sheriff. This will leave it open for members of the party to vote for Lee A. Johnson for representative and H. A. Webber for sheriff. These gentlemen can be trusted to do the right thing on any and all occasions and are entitled to the votes of all good citizens. The convention appointed a committee on the nomination of judge of the superior court, but it will be just as well if it fails to act. The democrats have in Judge Preble a man whose reputation for honesty and decency is such as to commend him to every honorable man in the county. He is a man of large legal attainments as well. If an able, honest and conscientious judge is desired vote for Mr. Preble. — Sunnyside Sun.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. #### Don't Look So Bad.

The situation at the present time looks good to the Democrats nationally. The campaign managers seem to feel confident that Parker will win out in New York and there is apparently a good deal of reason for optimism in the Empire state. Mr. Roosevelt, as a matter of fact, lacks the popularity in his own state that he apparently enjoys in other states. When he ran for governor of New York in 1898, when he was fresh from the Cuban war, he carried the state by only 18,000. Two years earlier Black for governor carried the state by over 200,000 and two years later Odell won by 110,000. There is, therefore, good reason to question Mr. Roosevelt's popularity in New York.

Among the other doubtful states of the east the Democrats feel sanguine of winning, is West Virginia and New Jersey, with an equal chance of carrying Rhode Island and Connecticut. In the central states Democratic hope is centered in Indiana and Wisconsin. It is very probable that the former state will be won as the Democrats now have a strong organization in the Hoosier state and under the leadership of Chairman Taggart, who knows the state like a book and is himself a remarkably able and cunning politician, the prospect for success looks good. In Wisconsin, where the Republican party is split into bitterly warring factions the chances seem to favor Parker as the LaFollette men are daily becoming more bitter at the national administration on account of Roosevelt's sympathy for the Spooner crowd.

In the west the Democrats are making a hard fight for Montana, Colorado and Nevada, representing a total of 11 electoral votes. The chances of securing all three of these states is most excellent. In these states the miners are thoroughly organized and the great majority of them are opposed to Roosevelt on account of the opposition that he has manifested at different times to union labor and because of his failure to interfere in the Colorado troubles. On the other hand the union miners are well satisfied with Judge Parker's record. On the bench Judge Parker decided that eight hours should constitute a fair day's labor and this and other decisions will bring him a good deal of support from the labor unions.

The assumption that Mr. Roosevelt is sure to win is pure buncombe. It is idle to deny the fact that his chances at this time seem the best to win since it will be necessary for him to capture but one or two of the doubtful states, but the assertion that Teddy has a lead-pipe cinch on the result is balddash. Like Blaine in 1884, he may go to the polls serenely confident only to meet his Waterloo.

The People Won't Stand for It.

So far as the campaign in the state of Washington is concerned, it is a fight this year between the producers on one side and the corporations and their lackies on the other. The question to be settled in this campaign is as to whether the corporations shall rule the state or whether the people through their chosen representatives, shall have a hand in it. THIS IS THE ISSUE. Let no man deceive himself.

The active leaders of the Republican party in this state are panic stricken and well they may be for defeat stares them in the face. The wisest among them already see the handwriting on the wall and are looking for cover.

The railroad newspapers may hammer away at George Turner's political record all they please and the railroad orators on the stump may pump hot air until they are black in the face, but still they will be unable to convince the honest, independent voters of their own party that the Republican leaders of this state have not sold out to the railroads and what is more to the point that they have not sold the party out.

The supporters of the Farrell state ticket say "Why drag the railroads in to this fight; what have they got to do with it?" Our answer is that the railroads were not dragged into this fight, but that they forced themselves into it. It is they who made the issue and making the fight. No matter what the result of this campaign will be, since the railroads take the stand that they do there will be no let up on them until they are driven out of politics where they have no business to be.

The majority of the people of this state are too patriotic and to independent to allow J. D. Farrell, an under-trapper of James J. Hill, to dictate to them who that they shall have for their governor and other state officers. They simply won't put up with it and they don't have to.

Doolittle a Hard Hitter.

There has been a great deal of solicitude displayed by my friends concerning my course during this campaign. As an American and a self-respecting citizen, I saw here an opportunity to do the proper thing, and while I still have the old love for the party and the affection I still entertain for it, it warms my heart to its core, nevertheless, here, with the people on one side and the railway corporations on the other, I felt that I had the courage to go before the citizens of my own state, who would believe what I told them and what I said when we reasoned together during this campaign, even though it was at some little cost to myself.

Now, my friends, I see that some people think that it is to their interests to go about over the state and say that Senator Turner is only using the governorship as a stepping stone to the United States senate again. The only ambition that man has, and I am authorized to say it now, is to be elected governor of the state of Washington, and to serve it to the end of his term, and when he is elected and enters upon that service, and when he has completed it, we will have abundant reason to be as proud of that service as any state in the American Union as to be of the service of its governor.—Speech of Ex-Congressman Doolittle at Tacoma.

The Other Presidents.

The opinions of other presidents of the United States, as expressed by President Roosevelt in the various books of the author, will be of interest to every one, irrespective of party predelection. They are as follows:

Thomas Jefferson: "The scholarly, timid and shifty doctrinaire. Was the father of nullification and therefore of secession. Cheap pseudo-classicism that he borrowed from the French revolutionists. Constitutionally unable to put a proper value on truthfulness."

Andrew Jackson: "The ignorant, headstrong and straightforward soldier. Of strong, narrow mind and bitter prejudices, with few statesmanlike qualities."

John Quincy Adams: "Went altogether too far in his non-partisanship. Colorless administration. Serious fault of paying too little attention to party."

James Buchanan: "And his time-serving comrades. Weak and unstable."

Zachary Taylor: "Neither a great statesman nor yet a great commander; but he was an upright public servant, and a most kindly, honest and truthful man."

Martin Van Buren: "Faithfully served the mammon of unrighteousness. Succeeded because of and not in spite of his moral shortcomings."

Franklin Pierce: "A small politician, of low capacity and mean surrounding, proud to act as the servile tool of men worse than himself."

James K. Polk: "Excepting Tyler, the very smallest of the line of small presidents who come in between Jackson and Lincoln."

Abraham Lincoln: "Not only the greatest American, but the greatest man of the nineteenth century."

James Monroe: "Colorless, high bred gentleman of no special ability, but well fitted to act as presidential figurehead."

John Tyler: "He has been called a mediocre man; but this is unwarranted flattery. He was a politician of monumental littleness. * * * His chief mental and moral attributes were peevishness, fretful obstinacy, inconsistency, incapacity to make up his own mind, together with inordinate vanity."

Oregonian versus Railway Commission.

The Oregonian, which by the way, takes a very deep interest in Washington state affairs for an outside paper, is very active in its efforts to aid the Farrell railroad ticket. It is especially hostile to a railway commission and hereby hangs a tale. According to the Spokane Review the Oregonian is opposed to the establishment of a commission in this on the ground that the effect of such a law would prove a serious handicap to the trade of Portland merchants in this state. If this be true it is certainly a very weighty reason from the standpoint of the Oregonian for "knocking" the commission movement, as its first duty is to its own people.

The Oregonian is an able and influential newspaper, but it seems that it never will be able to realize the fact that the state of Washington is no longer under some sort of vassalage to the mother state of Oregon. The veteran editor of the Oregonian is a man who lives much in the past, a habit of which he will doubtless never be able to cure himself. It has also become a fixed habit with the redoubtable Col. Scott to leg most industriously for the wholesale merchants of Portland as against those of the growing cities of this state, wherein lies his bitter hostility to a railroad commission law in this state.

The circulation of the Daily Democrat keeps on increasing at a very satisfactory rate. An average of 25 subscribers a day are being added to its list. Many of our readers have expressed themselves to the management as being pleased with the paper and say that they want it to continue on the ground that a daily paper with a fearless and honest editorial policy is what is needed in this neck of the woods and that The Daily Democrat fills the bill.

It must be understood, however, that if the friends of the paper want it to continue they must help it along. Starting a daily paper and placing it upon a firm and substantial basis is not an easy matter. It is usually more than any one man can do either physically, mentally or financially. So if you are interested in the welfare of The Daily Democrat subscribe for it, furnish it what news you conveniently can, speak a good word for it to your neighbor. All these things help to make a newspaper.

You Can't Blame Him.

The Yakima Republic has the habit of sticking to a lie with the same degree of tenacity that a hungry dog clings to a bone. Although the editor of that paper knows better he continues to insist that the Democratic nominees for the legislature from this county, if elected, will not vote for a railway commission, but that they would vote for George Turner for the office of United States senator.

The Republic man although not possessed of a mighty intellect, has a wonderful imagination, as well as extraordinary perceptive faculties. He sees things that the ordinary man can not see. Under the hypnotic spell of his imagination fallacies become facts, the unreal becomes real, and hidden things become visible to his mental eye.

It is probably not the colonel's fault that his mind works in a circle—it is rather his misfortune. Since it is a natural failing it is evident that he must have been born that way.

The Democratic nominees for the legislature have declared and will declare again as many more times as is necessary, that if elected they will support a railway commission bill. In addition to their promises, which we will say right here are good, they are bound by the county platform in the most unmistakable language, if elected, to support the railway commission. If they are elected and don't do it they will deserve to be treated as traitors and publicly scourged and denied all right to associate with honorable men.

However, the Republic man in his sane moments realizes as well as everybody else that if the Democratic legislative nominees are elected that they will not violate their pledges to support the railway commission or any other legislation that is demanded by the people. That is probably the real reason that he does not wish them to be elected. If the Democratic nominees for the legislature should be elected it would leave the North Yakima Republic ring, of which the distinguished editor of the Republic is regarded as the strongest link, in a most ridiculous attitude, for the local gang would then have nothing to trade to the railroads.

About Congressman Jones.

Congressman W. L. Jones is credited with having stated in recent speeches that if Mr. Mead was not elected governor it would be idle to expect Republican members of the legislature to vote for the passage of a railway commission bill.

Such a statement coming from Mr. Jones is not at all surprising. In the first place the congressman is such an extreme partisan that he can see no evil in his own party and no good in the opposition party. In the second place Mr. Jones has no sympathy with the demand of the producers of this state for a railway commission. During his whole public career he has never evinced the slightest sympathy for the movement in this state looking to proper regulation of the railroads. The reason for this is plain enough to those who understand. It is because that Mr. Jones feels that he is under deep personal obligations to the railroad managers. It is they who have kept and are still continuing to keep Mr. Jones in public life. This fact was proven conclusively at the Tacoma convention when Mr. Jones used all the influence at his command to aid in turning down Gov. McBride and against inserting a railroad commission plank in the state platform.

It is just as well for the voters of this county, regardless of party who favor proper regulation of the railroads, to bear these facts in mind. Heretofore Mr. Jones has received a loyal support from the people of Yakima county. A goodly number of Democrats have been in the habit of voting for him on the plea that he is a home man and would look out for home interests in congress. He has not done this to any extent. He has apparently spent the most of his time looking out for his own interests.

Living as he does in an agricultural community, where every man, woman and child have a personal interest in securing improved shipping facilities and lower freight rates it would seem that Mr. Jones, dependent as he is on the good will of these people for his political life, would naturally be in sympathy with such a movement, but unfortunately he is not. Such being the case it would be well for railway commission advocates and Democratic voters particularly, to ask themselves this question: What have we to gain by voting for Mr. Jones?

Public Money for Private Purposes.

It is understood that the Republican board of county commissioners this week ordered that an advertisement be inserted in the official paper for bids for the boring of an artesian well in the vicinity of White Bluffs. The well, it is said, is to be an experimental one and is to be sunk on the condition that if it shall prove a success a land company, on whose property the well is to be located, is to pay the cost and if the well should prove a failure the county will be out the cost. This action is taken presumably on the recommendation of Chairman Lince of the board, who recently visited White Bluffs with the object of investigating the feasibility of the scheme and reporting favorably—to the company.

We are not a lawyer but nevertheless we are firmly of the opinion that the board of county commissioners has no more right, either legal or moral, to use the public funds for such a purpose than it has to suspend the constitution of the state of Washington. If the board has the authority to expend county money for any other than strictly public purposes where does it get it?

This paper does not wish to "knock" any legitimate enterprise that promises to make for the development of the resources of this county, and would gladly do what it could to aid the White Bluffs project in a legitimate way and be glad to see it succeed, but we regard it as a rank piece of injustice that public money should be used in this manner. How do the people who pay the taxes like the Lince scheme?

We Need Good Commissioners.

The Democratic party of this county is particularly fortunate in the character of men selected for county commissioners. All three are men possessed of business ability and good horse sense. If elected to serve the people they would without doubt prove a great improvement over the present board, which has squandered public money with a lavish hand and shown itself to be generally incapable of looking after the county's interests in a satisfactory manner.

Messrs. Biehn, Crosono and Moore are all in favor of making good roads and of going about the business in a systematic way. They all realize that a great deal of public money can be wasted in roadmaking as has been done under the present regime.

On general principles it is high time that there should be a general shaking up in the court house of this county and a good place to begin is with the board of county commissioners. The commissioners are the most important officers in the county. Every other man who works for the county is presumed by the law to be in a measure under the authority of the board of commissioners, and if we have a weak and extravagant board of commissioners the whole service that the county receives is apt to be demoralized.

Malignant Partisanship.

The present board of county commissioners is just about as unfair and unjust as it is incompetent. In the selection of election officers the board gave two of the three officers in every precinct to the Republicans. This of itself was certainly going as far in the direction of partisanship as decency would permit, but the board did not stop there. The Republican committee demanded everyone of the election inspectors in the county and these were given to that party over the emphatic protest and plea for justice made by the county democratic committee. Heretofore it has always been customary to alternate the inspectors between the two leading parties. When a fusion board of commissioners was in control from '96 to 1900, the practice was followed of appointing two of the three election officers from the same party in alternate numbered precincts. Thus the officers were equally divided, which is as fair a system as could be devised.

One would naturally think that the present board, after each of its individual members had failed to receive recognition from the late Republican county convention, would not be imbued with such a malignant partisan spirit, but unfortunately such is not the case.

An Ideal Candidate.

If E. B. Preble should be elected to the bench, and the indications are that he will be, the people of this judicial district will have a judge that they may feel proud of. Any man who would have to go before Preble as a judge, no matter whether he should be a friend or a foe, a pauper or a millionaire, would receive justice and equal consideration, no more and no less.

That Mr. Preble is eminently qualified for a seat on the bench all lawyers who practice at this bar will readily agree. In addition to his extensive knowledge of the law—for he has been a student all his life—Mr. Preble has the judicial temperament, the even poise that we all so much admire in a man who occupies the dignified office of judge. Vote for E. B. Preble and you will make no mistake.

The "Pinto" Ticket.

A prominent Republican has suggested to this paper the propriety of calling the local ticket of his party in this county the "pinto" ticket.

Pinto, according to the dictionary, means mottled or spotted. So what the gentleman doubtless meant was that the ticket is spotted—there being a few, a very few Republicans on it.

Professor Barge, who is now quite enthusiastic over the candidacy of Mr. Mead, should allow his mind to revert back occasionally to the third legislature when he and Mr. Mead were fellow members. The professor is on record as having stated that his opinion of Mr. Mead at that time was that the Whatcom politician was "pretty small potatoes."

Professor Burge, on his return from Republican headquarters at Seattle, announces in a local paper that Mr. Mead will have a majority of 10,000 over Judge Turner. Seattle is a great hot air town and the professor has evidently been taking a fill.

Willard J. Marble, Democratic nominee for the office of county surveyor, is a worthy young man who is well qualified for the duties of that position. He served a several years' apprenticeship in civil engineering, learned his profession thoroughly and is competent to perform any class of work in the province of the county surveyor. Last, but not least, he is an honest young man, and if elected could be depended upon to see that the county gets a square deal.

No mistake will be made in electing Willard J. Marble. The story of how the Democrats have rushed in and taken possession of the Republican party of this county reads like a fairy story. This fact probably accounts for the apathy of the present local campaign. A Republican was heard to remark the other day that "It won't make any difference as the Democrats are bound to win no matter how the election goes."

If the people of the Yakima valley want a beet sugar factory now is the time to get in and secure one. The offer now made is a bona fide one and if this community wants the factory they can get it by complying with the conditions which seem to us reasonable enough. Let us make a united pull and secure it.

Our contemporary, the Republic, is daily running a cut and accompanying sketch of some one of the local candidates. Aside from the monetary consideration Colonel Robertson probably feels the necessity of introducing the g. o. p. nominees to the public.

From what a number of taxpayers say the county commissioners will here no well until the court first gives them permission to use public money in that way.

MEAD'S RAILROAD AFFILIATIONS.

Shown Up Plainly By His Lining Up With the Railroad Faction in the Recent Whatcom County Convention.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Oct. 12.—(Special)—Local political conditions in the 41st senatorial district in this county offer A. E. Mead, the railroad candidate for governor, a magnificent opportunity to prove to the railroad commission Republicans of the state that he is friendly and in sympathy with their demand for the enactment of a railroad commission law. If he is sincere in his pretended sympathy for the commission idea he can demonstrate it by advising his friends in Whatcom county to support the railroad commission Republican legislative ticket in his old legislative district. If he neglects to do this, and particularly should he advise his friends to support the railroad legislative ticket, it will be the most conclusive evidence of his sympathies.

Both tickets are Republican so there is no party reason in the way of Mr. Mead should he desire to show his preference for the commission nominees. The railroad ticket claims to be the regular Republican ticket, its nomination having been accomplished in the regularly called district convention, but the nominees on the opposition ticket challenge the fairness and honesty of the methods by which the results in that convention were arrived at, and present the most conclusive evidence in support of their contentions. Fenton Merrill, the commission candidate for the state senate, in the announcement of his candidacy, openly charges that the majority of the convention was overthrown "by the noisy interference of outside boosters, by coercion, duress and fraud."

The facts surrounding the convention were these. To begin with it was not called under the primary election law, caucuses were not required to be held, voters were not required to be registered, or even to be residents, and the machinery was completely in the hands of the Mead-railroad faction of the party, the official call itself being signed by A. E. Mead as secretary of the county committee. This is not an innuendo in Whatcom county since the railroad forces which have long been in control have always found it to their advantage to hold "irregular" primaries. From time to time the railroad commission minority on the county committees has tried to have the primaries called under the law, but they have been unsuccessful.

Instead of holding caucuses for the nomination of candidates, as is done in most counties in the state, the precinct committeemen in the respective precincts sent out word in the respective precincts inviting Republicans who desired to do so to submit any names they desired placed on the ballots.

In certain precincts, which were known to be close, Cedar and Lynden for instance, the committeemen declined to accept the lists of names submitted by the commission faction and printed on the official ballots only those of the Mead faction. The precinct committeemen also appointed the primary officers and the primary officers ruled that no ballots would be accepted or counted except those officially recognized by the committeemen. This left the commission men no opportunity to vote in the primaries for their candidates. In Lynden they accepted their medicine and permitted the Mead faction to have the delegation without protest. In Cedar a rival primary was held and a contesting delegation sent to the convention.

Contest in Sumas.
In the town of Sumas the commission leaders suspected that if they presented their nominees for delegates to the committeemen they would not be placed on the ballot and they took the precaution to hold a caucus in the regular way. The announcement was made that it would be held and it was open to all Republicans. All nominations offered were accepted and printed on the ballot. The precinct committeeman was out of town and R. S. Lambert assumed to act in his stead. Mr. Lambert caused to be printed a ballot without the names of the caucus nominees. He also appointed officers for the primary. When the primary was opened a few of the Mead men gathered at the polls and resolved that no ballots be accepted except those prepared by Mr. Lambert, thus denying the commission men the opportunity to vote in that primary for their candidates. The commission men thereupon opened another polling place where they accepted all ballots offered, whether their own or not. In the Mead primary 62 votes were cast, in the commission primary 66. The rival delegations presented their contest to the district convention.

The convention met Friday, Sept. 30. It was called to order by H. A. Fairchild, chairman of the county central committee, leader of the Mead faction, and not a resident of the district. Two candidates were nominated for temporary chairman. The Mead men nominated Frank W. Bixby and the commission men named Peter Harkness. The issue was clearly drawn. There being contesting delegations from Cedar and Sumas the chairman ruled that none of the contestants could vote. The ballot resulted in a victory for the commission candidate, Mr. Harkness, by a vote of 110 to 123, showing a clear majority of 13. Committees were appointed and an adjournment was taken to give them an opportunity to prepare their reports.

Boosters Interfere.
When the convention reconvened the hall was crowded with spectators and the scenes of the afternoon were so noisy that it became absolutely impossible to transact any business. The committee on credentials was not ready to report but was ordered by the convention to appear with its findings. After some delay it returned a report finding that the commission delegations, or as they were known in the convention, the Merrill delegations from both Sumas and Cedar were entitled to seats.

This report aroused the railroad faction to the extremity of their situation. The report of the committee was unanimous. Had it been voted on at once it would have been accepted, and the Merrill majority of 13 would have been increased by the addition of 12 votes. So the railroad forces began to fight for delay. A motion was made to amend the report by providing for the recognition of the Mead-Hunter delegations instead. Then the storm broke. The noisy boosters in the lobby literally howled down any and every effort to transact any business whatever. Every effort on the part of a Merrill man to address the convention was drowned with jeers, shouts, even with threats of personal violence. Mr. Hunter took the floor to speak and was listened to with comparative quiet, showing the source of the disturbance. Mr. Merrill tried to address the convention and was silenced by the howling mob. Mr. Fairchild talked with a reasonable degree of attention. Mr. Moultray, a commission leader, appeared and his voice was silenced by the mob. This disgraceful proceeding lasted until 7 o'clock, when some one turned out the lights and the convention was forced to adjourn until the following day.

Traded County Nominations.
The county nominating convention was to meet the next morning at 10. The district convention convened shortly before that hour and adjourned until afternoon. This gave the railroad forces their opportunity. Having full and complete control of the county convention they offered county nominations, deputys in county offices, places under the state administration in case of Mr. Mead's election, and such other patronage as they had in sight, as inducements to change votes in the district convention from Merrill to Hunter.

The district convention reconvened later in the day. Two Merrill delegates were absent under circumstances which are open to the suspicion of undue influence. Several delegates had been switched from the Merrill to the Hunter side. The mob of boosters was present in force, and individual delegates were in many instances under the espionage of railroad leaders.

Three Votes Were Taken.
An order was made excluding all spectators, but it was not enforced, the railroad boosters refusing to leave the hall. The question was put and the roll called on the amendment to the report of the credentials committee and the result showed more votes cast than there were delegates seated, the tally showing 122 for and 127 against the amendment. Another vote was taken and the result showed 120 for and 119 against. Charges of error and fraud were made and a third roll call was ordered. Each senatorial candidate was permitted to name a teller to keep track of the result, but no tally sheet of the vote by precincts was kept on any of the votes. The third vote showed 119 for and 118 against the amendment and the chairman announced the amendment carried. The report was then adopted giving the Hunter-railroad forces 12 additional votes in the convention, and making Mr. Hunter's nomination secure.

The writer has been told many stories by reliable and trustworthy men, both Republicans and Democrats, of coercion, corruption, deceit and improper influences used to change votes. These stories need not be repeated, nor endorsed here. The facts as set down speak for themselves, and show how it happened that a majority of the district convention was over-ridden, and a candidate entering the convention with a minority, secured a nomination.

Why the Fight Was Made.
Before Mr. Hunter was nominated the railroad forces in the state felt reasonably secure in the belief that they would control 21 of the Republican members of the next state senate against any regulative railroad legislation. Fourteen holdover Republican state senators voted against the commission bill last year. Five other Republican senators who voted against the bill have been renominated. Two Republican nominees in Pierce county were in the state convention and opposed the commission plank. They needed the twenty-second to make their control of the senate safe, provided their Republican nominees win. The methods resorted to by them in this contest show how determined they were to get him.

Mr. Merrill and the candidates for the house who worked with him, have come out as independent candidates on a railroad commission platform and have been endorsed by the Democratic district convention. The contest affords Mr. Mead an opportunity to show his preference and his acquaintances here are watching his course with intense interest.

Governor LaFollette's Victory.

The decision of the Wisconsin supreme court sustaining the regularity of the La Follette ticket could hardly have been a surprise to anybody except the Spooner faction and a few over-confident democrats.

In spite of the snap decision of the republican national committee at Chicago, it seemed fairly obvious that the supporters of Governor La Follette were in the majority at the state convention and that a ticket nominated by bolters could not be regular.

There is talk among the Spooner faction of appealing the case to the United States supreme court, but it is safe to say that no such appeal will be made. There seem to be no grounds on which a United States court could interfere in a purely state matter.

The "stalwarts" have been beaten, and if they are not prepared to accept the result they must keep an independent ticket in the field or vote for the democratic candidate for governor. In either case they might feed their grudge against Governor LaFollette without seriously imperilling the prospects of the national ticket. But with a supreme court decision against them there appears to be a very slim chance of their making an effective campaign against La Follette. Regularity is a magic word in western politics.—New York World.

Good Meetings at Prosser and Kennewick.
E. B. Preble, George F. McAulay, R. A. Grant and C. C. Case, nominees on the Democratic county ticket, who attended Farmer Todd's meetings at Prosser and Kennewick Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, returned to the city yesterday and report that largely attended and enthusiastic meetings were held in both places and that Farmer Todd is an able and impressive speaker. They report further that the prospect looks good for the Democratic county ticket in the east end of the county.

Corbin versus Cupid.
General Corbin's recommendation that army officers be not permitted to marry until they can prove their ability to live within their incomes sounds rather strange, coming as it does from an army officer who happened to marry a wife credited with a fortune of a round million. The lowest pay of a second lieutenant, $1,400 a year, is considerably more than twice the average wage of American workmen, yet if American workmen refused to marry until their incomes exceeded $1,400 a year the threat of "race suicide" would really amount to something. Adjutant General Corbin has exerted a great influence in army circles—an influence not always for the betterment of the service. But when he attempts to fetter the limbs of Cupid or put the little god out of business upon his own military motion, he has tackled a job that will prove much easier of accomplishment than that undertaken by King Canute when he attempted to control the tides by his royal ukase.—The Commoner.

Good For Children.
The pleasant to take and harmless One Minute Cough Cure gives instant relief in all cases of Cough, Croup and LaGrippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect right at the seat of the trouble. It draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes and cures permanently by enabling the lungs to contribute pure life-giving and life sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues. Sold by C. C. Case.

DOCTOR DARRIN COMING

This Eminent Specialist to Visit North Yakima
Oct. 24 to Nov. 6.

Will Have His Offices at the Hotel Yakima.

This far-famed physician (late from Paris, London and New York), who has achieved a great reputation throughout the coast, and the northwest, by his wonderful cures, will shortly favor North Yakima with a limited visit of two weeks only, commencing Oct. 24, and remaining until Nov. 6, and will have his headquarters at the Hotel Yakima, where the afflicted can consult him free, and the worthy poor receive the benefit of his wonderful skill without fee nor price.

Dr. Darrin comes to us laden with testimonials from throughout the whole northwest, and the authenticated reports of some of his cures seem nothing short of miraculous. So many thousands are already acquainted with his mode of treatment it seems necessary only to say that he uses little or no medicine in the majority of cases, and perfects his cures by his magic skill and mysterious power.

Unlike other physicians who have become eminent in their profession the Doctor's charges are extremely moderate and reasonable, according to circumstances and ability to pay, and he will not undertake any case that he cannot cure or benefit. Consultation is free to all, for should there be any cases that are incurable, he will immediately discover them on consultation, thus saving his patients any further expenditure of money and time which they might otherwise squander.

Dr. Darrin has an enviable rank in his profession as a wonderfully successful physician. He is essentially original in his method of practice, and those who have been under his treatment are surprised at the newness and novelty of his system of practice. His honesty and straightforward advice before taking a case has won for him the confidence of his patients as well as the general public. The doctor is a gentleman of genial, social nature, and his private practice is marked by the formation of a personal friendship with those with whom he comes in professional contact. He is without doubt one of the most thoroughly qualified physicians now before the public.

After Japanese Preacher.

There is a Japanese preacher in town who is trying to regulate the morals of his fellow countrymen. He is not popular with the majority of the Japs here and it appears that a clique among them has been formed to give their reverend brother all the trouble and annoyance possible. This preacher, who professes to be a Christian, called upon some of his people at the Olympia House last Saturday night. While there he was attacked by the inmates of the Japanese joint and in the scuffle a good deal of the furniture and fixtures in the house were broken up. A warrant was sworn out against the preacher and an effort made to prove that he had been responsible for the damage done at the Olympia hotel. The trial came up Monday evening before Judge Lynch. Special counsel was employed to assist the prosecution, but the evidence in the case and circumstances strongly favored the preacher. He was acquitted by the police judge and the operations of this tough gang of Japanese were ordered looked into.

Beekeepers' Meeting.

There was a very good turnout Saturday at the called Beekeepers' meeting, which met at the Farm and Home office. An organization was formed to be known as the "Yakima County Beekeepers' Association," and in order to be eligible to membership a person must own as many as twenty-five colonies of bees.

J. W. Thornton was made president; Mrs. Cole, secretary and Mrs. Thornton treasurer. There were enrolled eleven members. The next meeting will be held on the first Saturday in November at 1 o'clock in the office of the "Farm and Home." At this time the adoption of a constitution and by-laws will be passed upon. The object of the beekeepers' association is to work together for the benefit and development of the honey industry. To establish a price for honey in this county. Everyone interested in bees are invited to attend the association's meetings.
