OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

AFTER a nine month's sojourn in Peking the American troops Wednesday "hailed down the flag" and departed leaving a small legation guard behind. And instead of fierce denunciations of the "impious hands" that dare to "haul down the flag" there are only expressions of pride and satisfaction. The N. Y. World says: "After Mr. McKinley had repaired his initial blunder in announcing an aggressive policy in China—and he speedily reversed himself—his Chinese policy has been flawless. It has been patterned closely upon Washington's ideal of a foreign policy—'setting an example of an exalted justice and benevolence.'" With the cordial co-operation of Gen. Chaffee and his officers and men, Mr. McKinley has made the Chinese feel that their suspicion and hatred of foreigners ought not to include the people of the Great Republic. While the soldiers of the other civilized powers have been looting, burning, abandoning themselves to gross and bloody appetites, the soldiers of the Republic have been conducting themselves like gentlemen and men. While the governments of the other civilized power have been going through China's pockets like so many highwaymen, the Administration of the Republic has been protesting against outlawry and doing all in its power to shame and persuade the others to a course of decency and civilization. And even the Roosevelts and Lodges and Beveridges are swelling themselves upon the nation's departure from the basic principle of the "strenuous life."

THE question as to whether the constitution follows the flag has at last been passed upon by the U. S. supreme court, but in such a disjointed and unsatisfactory manner that it does not greatly enlighten the public as to what the law of the case really is. Elsewhere in this paper will be seen the gist of the opinion rendered. In one case it is emphatically held that the territory recently wrested from Spain is part of the United States and therefore not subject to tariff laws as applied to foreign countries. In the other case the court decides that as territories of the United States, they are under the control of congress, which has a right to pass laws requiring the payment of export or import duty upon goods going into or from the territory. Of the nine judges on the bench, four rendered dissenting opinions in each case, so it will be seen that there was a very small margin in favor of the judgment announced, which may be changed in the "twinkling of an eye," as was the case in the question of constitutionality of the income tax law before the same body, when the change of one judge's opinion rendered the judgment exactly opposite the conclusions at first reached. In the first case here decided it is generally considered that a body blow was given to the policies of the administration, but in the second the contentions of the government are fully sustained. It looks like a case of "you pays your money and takes your choice," but leaves the question in doubt.

THE startling fact has been discovered that there is a possibility of all the twelve persons at present resting under the death penalty going scott free, owing to the failure of the last legislature to insert a saving clause in the amendment there passed providing that all convicted murderers should be turned over to the warden of the Walla Walla penitentiary for execution there. The U. S. supreme court has rendered a decision in a case taken up from Colorado, under a similar statute, discharging the prisoner. Prosecuting Attorney Fulton of King county has submitted the facts to Governor Rogers, and it is thought that it may possibly be necessary to call a special session of the state legislature to remedy the defect in the law. Meanwhile, the attorneys representing the convicted murderers are watching every opportunity to take advantage of this deplorable condition of affairs on behalf of their clients.

AS the outcome of a spirited debate between United States Senators B. F. Tillman and John L. McLaurin at Gaffney, both of them have put their resignations in the hands of Gov. McSweeney of South Carolina, to take effect November 15. They have resigned with the understanding that they are to go before the people of the state in a joint canvas, and that the sentiment of the people is to be voiced in a democratic primary to be held in November. Mr. Tillman was last summer re-elected to the United States senate for six years, and McLaurin has yet two years to serve. Should Tillman be sustained, McLaurin's seat will be vacant. If McLaurin is successful he will succeed to Tillman's long term.

LAST Tuesday the U. S. supreme court sustained the decision of the supreme court of the State of Washington in the case of Charles W. Nordstrom, convicted of murder in King county and under sentence of death. The interesting feature of this case is that Nordstrom has been fattening in jail for the last nine years, with the death sentence staring him in the face. As a mandate was issued by the court ordering the sentence to be put into effect, the murderer may at last fully realize that "though the mills of the gods grind slowly, they grind exceedingly fine."

THE British losses in South Africa from the beginning of the Boer war up to the first of May were through death, 14,978; wounded, 17,209. There were in the hospital April 15th, 13,797. In dead and wounded soldiers in the Philippines, the United States has sustained a loss of 6,260 since the beginning of hostilities. Is the result worth the cost to either Great Britain, who still has an army of 249,000 in the field, or the United States.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON has requested that the time for the yacht race be postponed until some time in October, in order to give time for necessary repairs to Shamrock No. 2. As the race was billed for August 20, it would seem that the extension of time requested would be long enough in which to build an entire new yacht, and this may be what Sir Thomas secretly contemplates.

A TRIP around the city in a buggy or on a bike will be worth the while of those interested in its advancement. While great stress is laid upon the construction of new buildings, the improvement of streets has not received merited notice. It is a real pleasure to travel over the newly graded thoroughfares, and the general appearance of the improved districts is added to by at least 1000 per cent.

THE rate war between shipowners on the Sound has resulted in the reduction of first-class passage to Alaskan ports to $5. Thus is proven the old adage, "time is a great leveler," for the people traveling to Alaska now can even up the exorbitant charges heretofore made by the transportation companies.

THE state supreme court, in a case before it last week decided that under the common law judgments, unless renewed, will lapse after a period of six years. This decision is of great importance, as the old law regulating the life of judgments had been repealed and only the common law could govern in the premises.

SENATOR FAIRBANKS has been formally declared an aspirant for the republican presidential nomination in 1904. Hanna doesn't care how many candidates there are; he will either be president himself, or, what is better, a president maker.

VOL. 1, No. 1 of the Sunnyside Sun reached the DEMOCRAT office on Monday. The paper is neatly gotten up and reflects credit upon the little village from which it emanates. William Hitchcock is the editor.

NOW that decoration day, the prize ball games and the dog and pony show have become things of the past, let's get in and whoop it up for the grand Fourth of July celebration.

"THE white man's republican party" in the south seems to have "died a-bornin'" to judge by the deathlike silence which now obtains among its progenitors.

READ our liberal club offers in this paper.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

City Marshal Boyle sold four horses from the pound last Monday, realizing the sum of $24.75.

The sensational case reported last week from Ellensburg has resulted in the marriage of the parties.

Robert McKuen, father of Mrs. L. B. Kinyon, died at the home of his daughter last Monday at the advanced age of 78 years.

Goldendale is again a "dry" town, the city council having recently rescinded the licenses of the two saloons doing business there.

Marriage licenses were issued Saturday to Walter J. Chambers and Miss Mary Shields; William D. Ingalls and Miss Inga Forgeron.

W. D. Ingalls of Wide Hollow and Miss Inga Forgeron of Battellelake, Minn. were married at the residence of Rev. G. Stiversen, Saturday May, 25th.

Miss Jane Wilson, sister of Mrs. John Siverly, died at her home on the Ahtanum last Saturday, aged 63 years. Miss Wilson was a confirmed invalid.

County Surveyor Marble has for several days been engaged in making a map 6x12 feet for the use of the county. This is the largest map ever made of Yakima.

John Michaels has leased the building formerly occupied by Metcalf's paint store, near the Hotel Bartholet, for use by commercial travelers as sample rooms.

John A. Shoudy, founder of the city of Ellensburg, and well known as one of the pioneers of this section, died suddenly at his home last Saturday from pneumonia.

Joseph Lemont, claiming relationship with ex-Secretary Dan Lamont, was held by Commissioner Howlett on Wednesday to answer before the U. S. Court on a charge of selling whisky to Indians.

A rose carnival will be held at the armory Wednesday, June 5, with a chorus of fifty girls in a "Quarrel of Flowers." Ice cream and strawberries will be served. An admission fee of 35 and 25 cents will be charged.

The county commissioners will shortly be called upon to build three 80-foot spans to connect with the main body of the Parker-Simcoe bridge, the main span at present occupying an isolated position in the middle of the Yakima river.

The Woodmen of the World on Wednesday evening elected the following officers for the ensuing term: H. J. Rand, C. C.; Joel Shomaker, A. L.; F. Uhlrich, escort; Henry Leach, watchman; F. A. Bohne, secretary; A. J. Chambers, manager.

The Woodmen of the World will have an oyster supper shortly, the date as yet to be settled, as the result of a contest for new members. The captains, W. W. Pettijohn and J. A. Williams, will assess the losing company for the expenses of the supper.

Stephen Sherwood has contracted with A. E. Howard for the construction of a two-story brick, 25x90, alongside the Kelso & Foster building on North Second street. The contract price is $4000. Excavation for the foundation began Tuesday.

Nels and Fred Marrs returned last week from a sheep-shearing tour of Idaho and Montana. The former says that since the season started, March 14, he has sheared 4502 sheep, the largest run made by him was 240 head in less than nine hours time.

J. H. Phirman, who recently sold his meat market in Yakima, is now engaged in buying cattle for the Portland stock yards, making his headquarters in The Dalles.—The Dalles Mountaineer.

John Mull on Tuesday received a letter from his son Harry, who is in business in Seattle, stating that his room was entered on Tuesday night while he was asleep and the sneak-thief got away with all the money to be found in the room, about $14.

The Ellensburg Dawn notes that "our boys and girls went down to North Yakima last Saturday and met defat 16 to 15." We have several fat folks 16 to 15 in the city, but it was understood that the Ellensburg team was here to play ball and not on an excursion to visit a dime museum.

The Yakima City schools, which have been under the tutelage of A. W. Schwartz, J. A. Jacobson and Mrs. Laura Jacobson during the session, closed for the term last Friday evening. A crowd of interesting parties here went down to listen so an elaborate and well rendered program.

The new Christian church in Zillah—the first built under the Sunnyside canal—will be dedicated on Sunday, June 2nd. Rev. W. F. Cowden of Tacoma, will conduct the services assisted by W. S. Crockett and N. Richardson of North Yakima, S. J. Harrison of Sunnyside and other ministers.

A. J. Shaw returned Tuesday from Webfoot, whither he went last week in search of Geo. Barrick, in hopes of being able to release himself from the onus of a bond given in the superior court here to insure the appearance of Barrick to answer to a charge of murder. His trip was fruitless.

"The Cadets' Picnic" is an interesting skit to close the commencement days on the High School during the week of June 14. Prof. Wilson will have charge of a class of seventy-five pupils, and Lieut. W. L. Lemon will instruct them in military tactics. The performance is announced for the Larson.

An entertainment consisting of vocal and instrumental music and recitations will be given in the Woodmen hall in Zillah, on Friday evening, June 7. Strawberries and ice cream will be served at the close. The proceeds are to be applied to the purchase of an organ for the new Christian church.

The band boys have taken charge of the Fourth of July celebration, and have already met with great success in securing subscriptions. The present intention is to have the main features of the celebration at the state fair grounds, which the commissioners have generously offered for the occasion without charge.

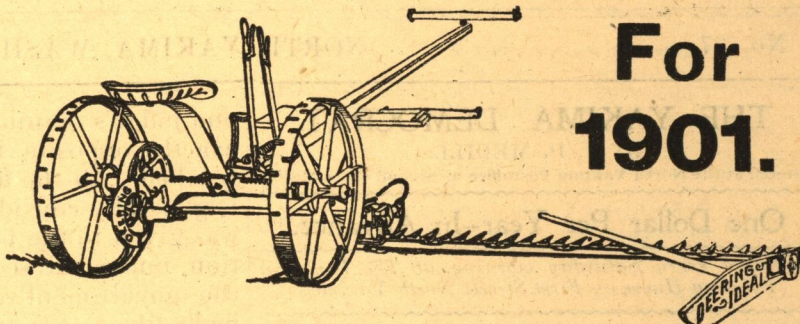

H. M. Gilbert, manager of the Excelsior ranch on the Indian reservation at Toppensh, reports thirty acres of canteloupes and 150 acres of watermelons up and growing nicely. These are planted for the early melon crop. An additional forty acres of canteloupes and 150 acres of watermelons were planted this week.

A TEMPEST IN A TEA-POT.

The Bill Posters' Ordinance is Put to the Crucial Test.

The entering wedge of what is liable to terminate in a cause celebre in the courts of Yakima was started last Tuesday by the arrest of Henry B. Guin on a warrant sworn out by Edward Fournier, charging Guin with circulating posters within the city of North Yakima without first having obtained a license as provided for by the ordinance regulating bill posters.

The first blood was drawn before Judge Rudkin on a writ of habeas corpus brought by H. J. Snively on behalf of the defendant. The proceedings on this line were quashed, and the case was taken before Judge Taggard for adjudication. The defendant demanded a jury, which, being empaneled and sworn, after hearing the testimony, promptly returned a verdict of not guilty.

As a matter of reprisal Mr. Guin proposes entering suit in the superior court against the complainant for false imprisonment, claiming damages to the tune of $1000.

Mr. Fournier declares his intention of having the defendant rearrested and taking a change of venue before another justice.

Some of the partisans of Mr. Guin express the determination of appearing before the council and having the bill boards of Mr. Fournier removed, as in contravention of the ordinance regulating wooden structures within the fire limits.

As a matter of fact, it is understood by all classes that the ordinance requiring a $10 license from persons engaged in the bill-posting business is not supposed to cover the circulation of dodgers by the business men of the city when advertising their wares or making special announcements to their patrons and the general public; nor is the simple fact that a man pays the fee for engaging in such business supposed to give him a double-barreled cinch upon every business man who desires to make use of the circular as an advertisement for any special purpose.

From an interested standpoint newspapers would be generally benefitted if the "dodger" plan of advertising could be abolished entirely; but the habit has grown of circulating them in order to attract public attention, and it surely cannot be the policy of a city council composed of business men to legislate business men out of business. As the matter now stands the city is out several dollars over and above the amount received for bill-posters' licenses.

Memorial Day Observed.

The attendance by country people at the Decoration Day exercises held Thursday was very meagre.

The young soldier boys in uniform, preceded by the Yakima band and followed by 52 battle-scarred Union veterans, paraded the streets, finally winding up at Larson's opera house, where a musical and literary program was rendered. The address of the day was made by Congressman Jones, and was an able and patriotic effort. The opera house did not afford room for half the crowd who desired to attend.

Earlier in the morning the G. A. R. and W. R. C., with hundreds of people having friends or relatives asleep in Tahoma cemetery, proceeded to the graveyard to decorate the graves of former loved ones. After the ceremonies at the cemetery were completed, the crowd returned to town, large numbers going to partake of a repast spread by the W. R. C. in the hall of the Syndicate block.

Following a recommendation from the mayor, all business was suspended from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

A base ball game played in the afternoon between the High school nine and a picked nine from town designated as the "Stars", resulted in the school boys getting only 4 scores to the Stars' 24.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

On account of unavoidable delays, work on the Yakima improvement did not start until Wednesday afternoon, but Mr. Burlingame now has his force started and declares his intention to prosecute the work with all despatch.

A. L. Aikins has purchased of Mart Schichtl an interest in the machine shop on Front street which is to be enlarged and several new machines will be placed in position. The books and accounts will be in charge of Mr. Aikins and Mr. Schichtl will give his attention to the machinery. Increase of business has made the above changes necessary.

John Lemon, Bert and Will Murchie returned Sunday from a two months' trip in the Big Bend, where they have been engaged in rounding up forty-one head of horses belonging to Lemon and purchased by the Murchies, who will break them for the markets here and on the Sound. They report crops in the Big Bend as in fine condition.

The annual session of the Red Cross society of Washington was opened in the Baptist church last Tuesday. A number of representatives from various parts of the state were in attendance. The first evening was devoted to a reception of the state conventions' delegates at the Episcopal rectory, where music and refreshments regaled the guests. Business was all completed Thursday evening, when the convention adjourned.

The recent round-up of horses on the Cowychee disclosed the fact that indiscriminate "slickearing" had been indulged in by some party who has not the fear of God or the law in his composition. It is claimed by some of the stockowners that suckling colts, still running with their dams, had a brand closely resembling a figure 5 freshly laid on, and that in some cases older animals had been "mavericked." Owners of horses on that range are keeping a close lookout for the guilty party and it said that "string"-ent measures will be adopted to stop the practice.

A crowd of friends and neighbors of Prof. F. H. Plumb and wife gathered at the family residence on Saturday night, greatly surprising the estimable couple, the occasion being the twenty-second anniversary of their marriage. Refreshments were furnished by the surprisers, who passed a most enjoyable evening. Those present were W. F. Tuesley, wife and mother, A. E. Howard and wife, C. E. Lum and wife, Fred Parker and wife, Jas. R. Coe and wife, Mrs. Mert Martin, Mrs. Readle, Mrs. D. L. Bryson, Mrs. Connor, Misses Lela Hawkins, Opal Heller, and Edith Haworth and E. R. Leaming.

IT DOES AND IT DON'T.

Recent Decision of the U. S. Supreme Court Anent the Tariff Laws of New Possessions.

The United States supreme court on last Monday handed down opinions in cases involving the relations of this government to its insular possessions.

Of the several cases decided the two which attracted the greatest share of attention of the court were what is known as the De Lima case and that known as the Downes case, and of these two the opinion in the Downes case is considered the most far reaching, as it effects our future relations, whereas, the De Lima case dealt with a transitional phase of our insular relations.

The De Lima case was the first to receive the attention of the court, and as it appeared to be quite sweepingly opposed to the government's contentions, many persons precipitately arrived at the conclusion that the government had been worsted all along the line. This view suffered a decided change when the conclusion was announced in the Downes case. The court was very evenly divided on both cases, but political lines were not at all controlling.

The De Lima case involved the power of the government to collect a duty on goods imported into the United States from Puerto Rico after the ratification of the treaty of Paris and before the passage of the Puerto Rican act. The court said the government's contention in this case was substantially a claim that Puerto Rico is a foreign territory. The entire case turned upon that contention. The court held that the position was not well taken; that Puerto Rico was not at the time foreign territory, and that therefore the duty which had been collected must be returned.

The decision in the Downes case followed the history of the dealings of the United States with Puerto Rico a step further. That case dealt with the legality of the duties on goods imported from Puerto Rico into New York after the Foraker act providing a duty on goods shipped from Puerto Rico to the United States. In this case the court held that such exaction was legal and constitutional.

The point of the two opinions considered collectively is that Puerto Rico was never after the acquisition of that island foreign territory; that until congress acted upon the question no duty could be collected, but that as soon as congress outlined a method of controlling the island's revenues that action became binding; in other words, that congress has power under the constitution to prescribe the manner of collecting the revenues of the country's insular possessions, and has the right to lay a duty on goods imported into our insular possessions from the United States or exported from them into the United States. It holds, in brief, that for taxation purposes they are not a part of the United States to the extent that goods shipped between their ports and the United States are entitled to the same treatment as though they were shipped between New York and New Orleans.

Justice Brown delivered the court's opinion in both, and there were vigorous dissenting opinions in each. In the Downes case four of the nine members of the court united in an opinion, criticising in strong language the opinion of the majority in that case. In the opposing opinion the chief justice and Justices Harlan, Brewer, and Peckham united, and the chief justice and Justice Harlan presented their views in written form. Justices Gray, Shiras, White and McKenna also, while agreeing with the conclusion announced by Justice Brown, announced that they had reached the conclusion by different lines of argument, and Justices Gray, White and McKenna announced opinions outlining their respective positions. Justice Shiras, Justice White and Justice McKenna also dissented in the De Lima case, uniting in an opinion. Justice Gray also presented an independent and dissenting opinion in that case.

The other cases decided by the court were Goetz vs. the United States, involving duties on importations from Puerto Rico, and Crossman vs. the United States, duties on Hawaiian imports being involved. In these two cases the De Lima decision and assessment of duties prior to enactment of legislation for the islands was held illegal.

The assessment of duties was also partly sustained in the cases of Dooley and Armstrong vs. the United States. The duties were held legal when made during military occupation of Puerto Rico and prior to ratification of the peace treaty, but illegal when levied after the peace treaty but prior to the passage of the Foraker act.

The small court room was crowded throughout the day, prominent government officials and many prominent attorneys being present, and the proceedings were followed from start to finish with keen interest.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, May, 24, 1901.

The pooh bah of the army and the idol of pink teas, officially known as Adjutant General Corbin, has scored again. He will go junketing to the Philippines, and he will go clothed with authority to make any changes in quartering or providing for the soldiers that he may see fit without referring them to Washington for approval—authority which properly belongs only to the commander of the army, and which, as a matter of fact, Gen. Miles has never been allowed to exercise. It is announced that Gen. Corbin is to go to the Philippines as the personal representative of Mr. McKinley and Secretary Root; that he is charged by the latter with the duty of arranging a cheap scheme for the maintenance of the army in the Philippines, which can be put in the annual report of the secretary of war in the shape of a recommendation for congressional action, and by the former with the task of finding out anything that can be made use of in his annual message to congress. Wonderful man, that fellow Corbin! If he had not got into the army, society, and politics, he might have made a first-class confidence man. When it comes to persuading somebody over him to give him what he wants he never fails.

Representatives Davis, of the Jacksonville, Florida, districts, is in Washington. He says the people of Jacksonville are meeting the great disaster visited upon the city in the same spirit that the orange growers of Florida met the destruction of all their orange trees by frost in 1895—a disaster three times as costly as the Jacksonville fire—and that the city will be rapidly reconstructed.

Col. John G. Madison, of Ky., expresses himself very vigorously about Ex-Gov. Taylor. For instance, he said: "Kentucky stands in a false position before the nation today. Within the state itself there has been almost a complete revulsion of such public sentiment as was opposed to the efforts to apprehend Taylor and bring him to trial, but outside people know nothing of this, or so little about it that it has not altered the impression that Taylor is the victim of persecution. Many men who even yet hold Taylor blameless for the death of Goebel, now believe that for the good of the state he should surrender himself for trial. The testimony of former Gov. Bradley, and others, has tended to dispel the belief that a Goebel suspect cannot get a fair trial in Ky., and they concede that if Taylor is innocent he has everything to lose and nothing to gain by being brought to trial. At the time of Goebel's death there was no doubt more or less thirst for revenge and a determination that someone should be made to suffer for his murder, but all that is now passed. Kentuckians are proud of their state and its good name, and to a man they realize that any injustice in the case of Taylor would be quickly taken up and made the pretext of attacks on the commonwealth. If Taylor will surrender himself, he can have as fair a trial in Kentucky as he could in the district of Columbia, and should he be acquitted, he can live in perfect safety and at peace with his neighbors."

The first annual report of Gov. Allen, of Porto Rico, has been made public. Naturally, he says the government of which he is the head is the best that could have been given the island, and incidentally he tosses a few bouquets at congress for its part of the work. He explains the lack of progress on the island by stating the ease with which its natural products support the natives without work. This may be true, but it doesn't exactly square with the cabled departure of 400 Porto Rican laborers for Hawaii, where they hope to make a better living than they have been able to do at home, which appeared in the papers at the same time that Gov. Allen's report did.

There are some queer stories being told around Washington about attempts to manipulate the report of the Isthmian canal commission, which is expected to be completed in five or six weeks. The preliminary report which was sent to congress last winter, it will be remembered, was strongly in favor of the Nicaragua route for the canal. According to these stories, attempts are being made to have the full report modify the declarations in favor of the Nicaragua route so as to make it appear that the commission regards the Nicaragua and Panama routes as equally feasible, from an engineering point of view, and to get something into the report about the alleged political disadvantages of the former. All the members of the commission are gentlemen of honorable standing as well as of eminence in their profession and it is not believed for a moment that they will knowingly allow themselves to be used by the Panama lobby in such a manner. The commission is already committed to the engineering advantages of the Nicaragua route, and with the political aspect they have nothing whatever to do, and for them to even touch upon it in their report would be not only to bad taste but going outside of their duties.

A Cowboy Ball.

(The Northwest.)

Git yo' little sage-hens ready,
Trot 'em out upon the flo.
Limp there, you cusses! Steady,
Lively now! One couple more.
Shorty, shed that old sombrero,
Broncho, douse that cigarette;
Stop that cussin', Casimero,
'Fore the ladies! Now, all set!
S'lute your ladies, all together!
Ladies opposite the same;
Hit the lumber with your leathers!
Balance all an' swing your dame!
Bunch the heifers in the middle;
Circle stags and do-se-do!
Pay attention to the fiddle!
Swing her round and off you go!
First four forward! Back to places!
Second follow—shuffle back!
Now you've got it down in cases—
Swing 'em till their trotters crack!
Gents all right a-heel and toin'!
Swing 'em, kiss 'em if you kin -
On to next and keep a-goin'
Till yer hit yer pards ag'in!
Gents to center; ladies round 'em—
Form a basket; balance all!
Whirl your gals to where you found 'em;
Promenade around the hall;
Balance to your pards and trot 'em
Round the circle double quick!
Grab and kiss 'em while you've got 'em;
Hold 'em to it if they kick!
Ladies, left hand to your sonnies!
Alamen! Grand right and left!
Balance all an' swing yer honeys!
Pick 'em up and feel their heft!
Promade like skeery cattle;
Balance all an' swing your sweets!
Shake yer spurs and make 'em rattle;
Keno! Promenade to seats.

A Big Picnic.

A movement is on foot among the lodges of this city to have a big gala day sometime during the summer, and hire an excursion train and spend the day in North Yakima. The initial steps have already been taken by some of the lodges and all the others will soon fall in line. At their last meeting the Odd Fellows Lodge took a vote on the proposition and it was carried unanimously; the same result will almost certainly follow when the vote is taken by other lodges in the city. The agent of the Northern Pacific at this place has already been consulted to ascertain the probable cost of the train and the thing is being talked of industriously. Roslyn alone can furnish over 1,000 lodge people, almost every one of which will only be too willing and anxious to take a trip to the fair queen city of the Yakima valley, and enjoy a view of her fruits and flowers. Besides the lodges of Roslyn it is more than likely that the lodges of Cle Elum, Thorp and Ellensburg will be glad to take a day off and join the procession to North Yakima. Of course any one who wishes will be at liberty to go and it is probable that a great many will avail themselves of the opportunity. It is thought that the present time that about the time fruit is ripe in the Yakima valley will be the nicest time to take the trip, but that point will be determined later on.

In view of the fact that the mines in Roslyn have worked continuously for the past two years the people feel in need of a rest and a day of recreation and therefore the idea of a trip to North Yakima was evolved. The arrangements will soon assume definite shape and as soon as that time arrives the fact will be announced in the Miner. J. Y. Paton has been made the secretary and wishes to open correspondence with some of the leading citizens of North Yakima in regard to making arrangements. From this time forward the watchword will be, "On to North Yakima!"—Cascadia Miner.

STATE PRESS OPINION

The vertical system of writing has been condemned by the school authorities of New York City. As a fad it has probably nearly run its course.—Ellensburg Capital.

Albany received a touch of military government last week when troops were sent up from Brooklyn to quell the street car riots. The soldiers fired into a mob, killing three persons, two of whom were merchants and wholly innocent of disturbing the peace.—Walla Walla Argus.

Our county will soon be overrun by the sheep from the Yakima country. The sheep commissioners should quarantine every band from that direction for six months and give our home grazers a chance.—Localizer.

The announcement that the Cuban constitutional convention has practically accepted the Platt amendment occasions no surprise. It does not appear that there was any possible alternative.—Post Intelligencer.

Despite the assertions of the republicans, the capture of Aguinaldo seems to have contributed a good deal more toward ending the war in the Philippines than the defeat of Bryan.—Colfax Commoner.

A Friend's Advice.

The woman who has proved the healing power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, becomes at once its friend and advocate. Whenever she finds another woman suffering as she did, she tells the story of her cure by the use of "Favorite Prescription." Only this explains the widespread popularity of this great remedy for women. An advertisement such as this may induce some suffering woman to try the "Favorite Prescription." But if it did not cure her, that would be the end of the story. But the real advertising grows out of the fact that "Favorite Prescription" does cure ninety-eight women in every hundred who give it a fair and faithful trial. It regulates the periods, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I was so weak I did not have breath to walk across my room," writes Miss Isabel Miller, of New Providence, Calloway Co., Ky. "My periods occurred too often and the hemorrhage would be prolonged and the loss of blood very excessive. I also had spells which the doctor said were fainting fits. I did not gain strength from one monthly period to another; was very weak and nervous all the time. My feet were swollen and so sore I could not bear my weight upon them. The doctor told me I would never be any better. I lived in this way from sixteen years old to twenty-three, when the doctor gave up my case. About three weeks after this I was advised by a kind friend to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which I did and before I had taken two bottles of it I could work all day. I took in all six bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and about five vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. I have never had a return of this trouble since, and never can praise Dr. Pierce's medicines enough, for I know they saved my life."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets keep the bowels in healthy condition. They are a lady's laxative.

Facts About Ants.

When two ant armies meet, their engagement becomes a series of separate duels. When two ants meet in fight they first throw acid on each other and then clinch in a death struggle.

Huber and others who have watched ant battles record the fact that ants sometimes hold on to each other for three days and nights; or until one or the other succumbs.

The species Myrmecina Latreilli do not fight; but, when attacked roll themselves up into a tight ball. Their bodies in this position are so hard that their enemies can make no impression on them. Another species, the Tetramorium Coespitum, feigns death when attacked, and thus escapes punishment.

Sir John Lubbock records that in many ant nests are to be found certain tiny insects, much smaller than the ants, which seem to bear to the ants the same relation which domestic pets do to man.

These little insects run about among the ants, do no work, and follow their own bent in indulging in pastimes. The young ants associate mainly with these insects. They have been observed at games which resemble hide-and seek.

The little insect technically called the Stenamma Westwooden, a wood insect, goes into the nest of the red ant, and becomes a dog of the tribe. It is often seen riding on the backs of the red ants, as if in play.

Ant nests are at times very large. A species in South Africa builds its mound from twelve to fifteen feet high. Lubbock mentions that ants build fine roads leading to these mounds.

The interiors are hollowed out in hexagonal shaped compartments.

Ants seem to be acquainted with the principal of the arch; often their roofs are supported by this architectural device.

Many ant villages bury the dead in cemeteries on the outskirts of the mounds. When an ant dies two or more ants bear the body, followed by a train of mourners. The deceased is buried in an excavated grave.

Dr. Gredler, of Botzen, tells how he watched a train of ants extract sugar from a glass on a ledge above the window.

A string was the only means the ants had of reaching the glass. After passing up and down the string with grains of sugar for several hours the ants finally deputed four of their number to stay in the glass and shovel the sugar over the rim. This saved many trips up and down the string. The ants on the window sill picked up the grains and made off with them, finally emptying the glass.

Prof. Leukart tells how he attempted to prevent ants from getting down out of a tree by surrounding the base with tobacco water. The ants, with captured insects in their mouths, came down the tree and found their exit cut off. They dropped their burdens in the water, and when a pontoon had been made, crossed over dry-shod.

Tar was next placed around the tree. The ants resorted to the same device and escaped; but did not return to that tree.

The forming of the pontoon bridges here narrated is similar to the instance spoken of by Captain Dreyfus in his diary.

Studies have been made of the weight-lifting powers of ants. They have held strings in their nippers on the ends of which would be weights from five to ten thousand times their own weight.

If a man 150 pounds in weight could lift as much as an ant in proportion to size, his capacity would be 1,500,000 pounds.

There are more than 1,000 species of ants known. Darwin proves that they have been the principal agents in bringing about cross fertilization in flowers by running from plant to plant and carrying the pollen, or fructifying element.

Ants are great insect destroyers. Prof. Florel found that ants brought into a single nest 28 insects per minute, or about 1,000 insects per day. This was a small nest of not more than 5,000 ants.

In tropic countries ants keep houses free from rats in certain districts. The formidable Driver ant of West Africa drives out vermin and very often the inhabitants of certain houses. These ants have been known to kill snakes four feet long.—N. Y. World.

TO COMBINE AGAINST US.

Germany and Great Britain Are Greatly Disturbed Over Increasing Competition.

General Manager Gustav H. Schwab of the North German Lloyd Steamship company in America, who has been in Europe for the last two and a half months, in an interview upon business conditions in Europe said:

"While in Europe, especially in Germany and England, I saw that the business men there were much disturbed over the increasing competition from this side and seemed to fear the increase in power of industrial combinations. The alarm is so great that I am certain that some scheme of self-protection on the part of the governments affected will undoubtedly be perfected.

"Of course there are great difficulties to be met in forming an industrial and commercial combination against the United States, but there is every reason to believe that earnest efforts—efforts that may have serious consequences to the trade of this country—will be made.

"I heard similar talk in Germany, which resulted in my becoming firmly convinced that commercial and international peace between this country and the European nations imperatively calls for certain concessions on our part, without affecting our own industries. Unless we do make some kind of concessions, Europe will, as sure as fate, put some kind of a restraining duty on American products."—Ex.

The New Capitol Building.

A dispatch from Olympia, dated May 25, says:

This morning at 10 o'clock, Gov. J. R. Rogers, on behalf of the capital commission, bid in the Thurston county courthouse for $166,000, and it is now the capitol building of the state of Washington. After the sale the capitol commission held a meeting and transacted all business necessary to complete the sale. D. B. Garrison was elected permanent secretary. The McElroy house, situated in the same block where the capitol stands, was purchased by the state for $4,000, and will be advertised for sale with another house in the same block already owned by the state. These houses, when sold, will be removed to make room for the addition to be built.

The commission accepted Architect Richie's plans for the construction of the new part. Architect Richie, Secretary Garrison and Attorney General Stratton were appointed a committee to prepare the specifications for bids. The specifications are to be ready by the 5th of June, when an adjourned meeting will be held in Tacoma.

Specifications will also be prepared for the improvement in the old building. These improvements will not exceed $2,000 and are to be finished before August 1, so the capitol can be occupied by that time, when the lease expires on their present quarters.

The county will occupy the McKinney block, the present quarters of the state, for six months or a year, when a new courthouse will be finished. The intention is to build a courthouse, the cost of which will not exceed $20,000.

RESPONSIBLE FOR MURDER.

The Founder of the New Zionite Sect in Chicago and His Checkered Career.

John Alexander Dowie, the "faith healer" and founder of an alleged new christianity, has been held, with several of his followers, in the Chicago courts on a charge of being criminally responsible for the deaths of two women members of this flock, who were not allowed the service of medical practitioners in what proved fatal cases of sickness.

Interest in Dowie reached to inquiry into his history. It was found that from a penniless prisoner in an Australian prison "Dowieism" has changed him to president of a bank, owner of a fortune of $5,000,000, proprietor of the greatest religious city planned since the Mormons settled in Utah, czar of a faith cult numbering 40,000 followers, head of a "college," publisher of a newspaper, and owner of "hospitals." In thirteen years John A. Dowie, convict, has become "Dr." John Alexander Dowie, millionaire, wearer of royal purple robes, "emperor of Zion," faith healer, defier of the state legislature.

Thirteen years ago John A. Dowie came near riding on a rail in the town of Sydney, Australia. Today he rides forth in his private carriage, attended by footmen. When he began crying his religious wares in Chicago in 1892 he preached in a rickety, one-storied frame building at Stony Island avenue and Sixty-second street. Today he controls "hotels," "synagogues," bakeries, shops, stores and "homes" in large numbers. Out at Waukegan 6,400 acres of land, held by John Alexander Dowie, is being cleared for the rising of Zion City. Within the great house which is to be occupied by "Dr." John Alexander Dowie, "General Overseer of the Christian Catholic Church in Zion," is to be placed $50,000 worth of furniture.

"The pope of Rome has a palace and magnificent furniture," said Dowie recently, "because he is the head of a great church. I am the head of a church too, so why should not I have the same kind of things?"

John Alexander Dowie has never explained where the money came from which created all these things. The explanation is made by the Rev. Samuel H. Stokes, one of the revolvers.

"Thousands of dollars a day are gathered in by John Alexander Dowie as the 'tithes' and 'offerings' of poor, deluded souls in all parts of the country."

Into the hands of Dowie each week goes at least 10 per cent of the earnings of every follower of Dowieism. He claims that from 50,000 to 60,000 men and women pay these offerings over to him. What the amounts received each day, each week, or each year aggregate is known only to Dowie.

In return, those who obey his orders blindly receive his injunctions as to what constitutes "holy living."

"Holy living," says Dowie, "means no smoking, no drinking of liquors, no going to theaters, no joining of secret societies, no taking medicine or drugs."

Believing in the efficacy of prayer and Dowie for every human ill, they may die in pain, without medical attendance, as did Mrs. Emma Lucy Judd and Mrs. Lousia Christensen for whose deaths Dowie has now been held by the authorities.

Dowie claims to have made over $5,000,000 out of and for his religion. He came to America from Australia in 1888, landing in San Francisco.

Dowie's money-getting ability was first demonstrated immediately after the landing at San Francisco. He was sitting in a temperance hotel and had just told his wife that he had "asked God for $250." A few minutes later, so Dowie contends, a man he had not seen for months came up and handed him $250.

Two years on the western coast brought little advancement and Dowie went to Chicago in 1892. He asserted that he wanted to "fight the devil on his own ground."

In 1895 the "Christian Catholic Church in Zion" was planned. He selected elders to help him. He organized his whiterobed choir of men and women and made plans for satin-lined robes for himself. He wrote songs for his singers, set up a printing plant, and began issuing a weekly paper. His sermons were all taken in shorthand and reprinted in the Leaves of Healing, and these were scattered everywhere. He drew members from churches of every creed.

Last Tuesday the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stump, residing in Oak Flat on the Natchez, about 20 miles from town, fell into the Selah ditch and was drowned. It was several hours after the disappearance of the child before the body was found, floating down the ditch nearly six miles from home. The sad death of the little one arouses the sympathy of the entire community for the afflicted parents.

The house of Charles Martin, a painter, situated on South Seventh street, was burned to the ground Tuesday afternoon, together with all the furniture and contents. The fire department responded quickly to the alarm, but the distance was so great from the engine house that the fire had nearly burned itself out before the apparatus arrived. The family were all away when the fire broke out, but it is supposed it was occasioned by a defective flue. The loss amounts to about $700, partially covered by insurance.

Man and Beast.

Nothing can be so terrible to an animal as a human being. There are times when the brute seems to recognize instinctively that man belongs to a higher order of creation and is stricken with a feeling akin to awe in his presence.

In a small African village, some years ago, there was a scare about some leopards which were said to have killed a number of goats. Accordingly two white men, accompanied by several natives, set off to hunt them. Presently they found a place in the long grass where it was evident that one of the brutes had recently lain, for the ground was still warm.

The natives formed a ring round it, and the hunters got their guns ready. After a little while the leopard emerged from the long grass and was fired at and wounded, but not fatally. With a great bound he sprang on one of the white men and brought him to the ground. Holding his victim, he turned and growled savagely at the others.

The natives gave a wild yell of fear, and then like a shot the leopard sprang away. He had not been frightened by the guns, but the yell terrified him.—Youth's Companion.

ABOUT A MINX.

How She Shocked the People of Lindenthorpe.

Miss Betty Mayne had been back in Lindenthorpe for a week, and for a week Lindenthorpe had been shocked. Miss Mayne felt hurt. When she returned, she had been homesick for the sea and the seaboard folks, left behind when her aunt carried her up to town years before, and friendliness was in her heart toward them. Instead of receiving the same, she had been met with envy and jealousy and all uncharitableness. Partly it was her fault, partly theirs. They only remembered her as the imp and scapegoat of the village, who played on the rocks all day long with bare feet, and they resented her grown up fashionability. She could not help realizing that she was better dressed, knew more of the world and was in many ways a hundred years ahead of Lindenthorpe. Then, again, Mr. Silas Attenborough, who always did the right thing, and whose actions, accordingly, were viewed with an indulgent eye, had seemed in danger of doing the wrong thing. "Moonstruck," Miss Griggs declared him to be. And the minx was not even flattered.

It was on Sunday that the shock of shocks occurred. To begin with, several minutes after service had begun Miss Betty Mayne walked in—almost strolled in—as cool as a cucumber, and clad in the most outrageously fine dress, and stood in the entrance (instead of modestly finding herself a seat), poking away at the stones with a green parasol until Mr. Attenborough, who was churchwarden—the youngest churchwarden Lindenthorpe had ever had—rose in his Sunday best to show her to a place.

People were more disgusted than surprised when Miss Mayne, after fanning herself ostentatiously for some time, rose and stalked out of the church by the front door. Such behavior was to be expected from a minx. It was what followed that left Lindenthorpe resigned to anything short of an earthquake. Miss Mayne wandered down toward the beach in a pensive mood and took a seat on a bit of sandstone. She was a pretty sight in blue and gold, whatever Miss Griggs' opinion might be. A churchwarden is at liberty to differ from a Sunday school mistress on a question like this, and Mr. Silas Attenborough as he walked from church down to the sea and saw the minx on the rock differed in toto from Miss Griggs. He felt a desire to rebuke the minx for her conduct in church that morning, but was it wise to venture to the rocks? He was in his Sunday clothes and not very sure of foot among slippery weeds. Nevertheless, his sense of duty being strong, Mr. Attenborough crossed the Rubicon and at length reached the sandstone rock. The minx nodded to him. "I saw you in church this morning," she said.

"I see you," said Mr. Attenborough gravely.

"It was very funny," she went on. "The very first thing I noticed was a chalk mark on your coat from leaning against the pillars, and I do believe you've got it on still."

This was hardly the conversation Mr. Attenborough had pictured to himself, and he rubbed the chalk away before replying.

"It seemed you left church avore t' sermon?"

"Dreadfully ventilated, isn't it?" she said, nodding. "I really wonder people don't get suffocated sometimes."

"It were a powerful sermon."

"Short ones always are, I think. Or did you come after me before it was finished?"

"Come after"—Mr. Attenborough was taken aback. He had hurried certainly, but he hardly expected the minx to notice that.

"Coom after avore t' sermon was finished?" He recovered himself indignantly. "I shouldn't think of it. But"—

"You didn't expect to see me here?"

Since the minx sat on a rock in full view of the shore, Mr. Attenborough evaded what seemed a fruitless question.

"It's agreeable by t' sea here avore dinner," he remarked.

"The same as ever," she said—"all Lindenthorpe's the same as ever—the sea, and the village, and the folks. They might have slept and never waked since the day I left, seven years ago. Oh"—she roused herself to sudden animation—"but I'd like to shock them!"

"Shock 'em!" said Mr. Attenborough, aghast.

"Shock you all, because I detest people who can be shocked, and if I knew for certain that I detested Lindenthorpe I'd be content to leave it and never see it again." She sank back against the rock.

"Would yew now?" said Mr. Attenborough, astonished.

She nodded. "It's quite true," she said.

"I don't think I'm easy to shock," he said guardedly.

"You?" She shook with laughter.

"You? Why, you were shocked in church this morning. You'd be shocked if I were to push you into that pool. You're shocked now at hearing me suggest such a thing."

"T' church is different," remarked he, hastily edging from the pool. "But out of t' church I'm not easy to shock."

"You think so?"

"Solemn trewth," said Mr. Attenborough decidedly.

"Perhaps you're right," she said.

"But"—she pointed a finger toward the shore—"is that Miss Griggs over there?"

He followed the direction of her finger and saw that most of the congregation were assembled in groups about the shore.

"Tis, indeed!" he groaned. "An Miss Griffin an t' whole Sunday school watching us. I think that we shud be getting back."

"Don't let me keep you," she said.

"It is not keeping me. 'Tis only"—He looked about him for an excuse.

"Zip me! T' sea!"

"What do you mean?"

"T' sea," said Mr. Attenborough.

"T' coom up!"

She sprang to her feet in great indignation.

"This comes of your talking. Why couldn't you keep your eyes open—what is to be done?"

"Could yew wade?" suggested Mr. Attenborough apologetically. He knew nothing of the rocks and what depths cut him off from the shore. Only he remembered that in old days the imp of the village knew every inch—

"Wade? In my best things?" Her scornful tone made him feel more at fault than ever.

"P'raps they'll send us a boat," he said.

"After we're drowned?"

"P'raps I could—take yew over to t' shore?"

"See how deep it is first," she said imperiously.

He let himself down gingerly and the water closed over the knees of his best trousers.

"Think yew would like to be carried?" he asked dolefully, stretching out his arms for her to hurry. But she kept him there while she struggled to hide her laughter, and then said threateningly:

"If you drop me, I shall never forgive you!"

"And if I doan't drop yew?" said he.

"Lindenthorpe never will."

"Coom!" he said. And at that she let him take her in into his arms. The folk of Lindenthorpe on the beach were taking much interest in the proceedings.

"The minx!" said Miss George. "Did you ever?" The churchwarden was splashing through pools of water, regardless of his appearance, and only careful to protect the affected burden in his arms. Most of Lindenthorpe was assembled on the shingle when he reached the uninvaded sand. Miss Betty Mayne made no motion of descent.

"Shall I set yew doon here?" he asked.

"No," she said: "it's damp; I should wet my shoes. Carry me right up to the shingle."

He breathed hard, not because of her weight, which was nothing, but because of the publicity of the thing.

"Whom be I carrying?" he asked.

"Be I carrying ma sweetheart?"

"If—you will," she said, stormed by his unexpected boldness. He put her down in the middle of the assembled folk, some of whom feigned to be watching the sea. Miss Griggs happened to be the nearest, and she shook her head archly at the churchwarden.

"I'm shocked," she said. "We're all shocked, Mr. Attenborough."

"Are yew?" said he. "I'm—I'm sweet-rted."—King.

Sheriff Tucker on Wednesday arrived from Spokane with William Hall in custody, charged with defrauding Mrs. Elmer of a board bill. Hall was given a trial before Judge Taggard, the matter being adjusted by Hall leaving an old family heirloom in the shape of a gold watch to guarantee payment on the amount due, with costs. On Thursday, Hall took the train for Spokane to resume his position as chambermaid in a livery stable, promising to liquidate as soon as he earned the "needful."

Louis Joerdens, who returned to Chehalis a short time ago, practically relieved of rheumatism, had a reattack of the malady and has found it necessary to return to his old Yakima home, tendering his resignation as guard in the state reform school.

The steamer "Spokane" has been placed in service between Coeur d'Alene City and St. Jo River points. The boat will make regular round trip leaving Coeur d'Alene Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, after arrival of train from Spokane.

THE LIGHTSHIP.

When boats come home across the bar
And winter's sunlight dies afar,
When green and purple dusk creeps down
And hides the harbor and the town,
Each night far out to sea a beam
Of pale, wan light sends forth its gleam
Across the peaceful, dark'ning tides
And marks the lightship where she rides.

When, tempest tossed, the ships slip by
The foam hid headland, and the sky
Is torn with wrack of scudding cloud,
And winds of winter cry aloud,
Lo, through the roar of crashing wave,
Above the tempest's moan and rave,
A voice comes o'er the troubled tides
And marks where yet the lightship rides!

A DEAL IN WHISKY.

The Profits Were Not So Large as the Buyers Expected.

"There are tricks in the whisky business as well as in others," said the drummer for a large compounding house, "and I remember once how the firm I was with got stuck. One day a man drove up in a one horse wagon carrying one barrel of whisky, which he wanted to sell. He told us some kind of a story about an old uncle dying and leaving it to him; but, as he couldn't afford to use as good liquor as it was, he had concluded to sell it."

"We took the barrel into the house, and, prying out the bung, we slipped in the siphon and drew off a glass of it to sample. And it was fine. The barrel showed age, and the liquor tasted it. It was worth $10 a gallon if it was worth a cent, but we didn't give the man any such pointers. We knew by the weight that there were at least 40 gallons of it, and we made him an offer of $150 for the barrel. He higgled awhile, but took the money at last and drove away."

"In the course of a couple of weeks we concluded to put that whisky in bottles and sell it as case goods, so we set the siphon to work at the bung and began to draw it off. After the fourth bottle had been drawn the siphon refused to work, and we examined it to find what was wrong. We could not get at it that way, and, as the contents seemed to be all right, we set the barrel on end and bored another hole in it. Then the siphon worked, but the liquor was much paler, and one of the men tasted it. By George, it wasn't whisky at all! It was only water, colored somewhat from the charred inside of the barrel."

"That scared us, and we smashed the head in to see what was inside, and we saw in a minute. The wily cuss had filled a can with fine old whisky to the bung where we made the examination before purchasing, and when that had been emptied the whole story had been told. He had probably paid $8 for the gallon to fill the can, and we sold it for $2.50 a bottle, but we didn't get a blamed cent for the 30 gallons, more or less, of water that filled the rest of the barrel."—Washington Star.

The Tamahac or Tomahawk.

Tamahac eventually came to designate the "war hatchet" of the Indian, supplied by the military commanders of the whole continent in equipping the warriors on the many expeditions in which French and English were constantly engaged, and was furnished the Indian allies of the English in our war of independence.

This weapon was either in the form of a spear or hatchet blade on one side, while upon the opposite side there was a cuplike cavity, with a small hole extending into the eye of the weapon, into which a tough handle of wood was fitted 18 inches or two feet in length. The handle was perforated almost its entire length, and below the hollow of the bowl it was bored at right angles to this perforation, a suitable stemhole for the passage of the tobacco smoke when the implement was in use as a pipe.

Identified by a Blind Man.

A blind man picked out his dead wife in the New York morgue a few days ago by his delicate sense of touch, says an exchange. Two women, both of the same name and both of whom died in Bellevue, were taken to the deadhouse at about the same time. When the morgue keeper caught the blind man's right hand and guided it to an upturned face, he said, "No, no; that's not my Mary!" The drawer was closed, and the next one was pulled out. The sightless man laid down his stick this time and used both hands. His face was transfigured as the tips of his fingers rested on the sharp set, cold features. "Mary," he whispered, "I have found you, dear! How thin your face has grown! How cold you are, Mary—how cold!" The blind man had made no mistake. The dead woman had been his wife.

A Story of Patti.

Patti once went on an excursion with a party of Americans, among whom was a young chap who could play on a banjo and sing "coon" and "rag time" songs like a professional. He did not intend that the great singer should judge of the quality of his art, but by accident she had a chance, and to the young man's joy she fell hilariously in love with every "rag time" melody he sang. This was a secret between the two until one evening Patti consented to sing for the company. Several listeners went mildly insane when the great artist, after a little preparatory "patting," sang "Mamie, Come Kiss Your Honey Boy."

"Yes?" she said. "Alone, were you?"

TULIP CULTURE.

Winter Blooming in the House. Planting Season in the Garden.

The tulips are perhaps the most desirable of all the hardy bulbs, as the colors of the flowers are so charming and the different varieties are so numerous and their culture is so easy. They can be had as parlor or dining room ornaments as early as the middle of winter or before by being potted in September or October. Potted early in September they will generally be in bloom by Christmas and New Year's, and by potting new bulbs at intervals of ten days or two weeks the bloom may be continued into April or until the ones planted in the garden produce flowers.

A FATAL RUNAWAY

A Frightened Animal Causes the Death of an Aged Man.

At about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening a shout from guests sitting under the veranda of the Hotel Bartholet attracted the attention of people in the neighborhood. A horse attached to a road-cart had started up First street and got beyond the A street crossing, when it was scared back by people in an attempt to stop it. The frightened animal turned quickly and came back down First street at almost lightning speed. On reaching the crossing on the south side of Yakima avenue, the animal collided with William Long, an old and feeble resident of the west side. The shaft struck the unfortunate man in the side and the horse is supposed to have kicked or trampled upon him as it rushed on to collide with a wagon standing at the hitching rack a few feet further on, where the cart was upset and dragged nearly a full block before the frenzied animal tore loose from the wreck.

The unfortunate man was conveyed into Sloan's drug store, where his injuries were found to be of such a serious nature that he was taken to the hospital. The intense pain and swelling prevented a thorough examination, but it was ascertained that at least two ribs had been broken and internal injuries received from the wound caused by the shaft.

At seven o'clock in the evening at the hospital death relieved the terrible sufferings of the old man, who had been for several years almost a confirmed invalid.

A wife, two sons and a daughter survive him, and a brother in California was notified by telegraph of the sad accident. The family had moved here a short time ago from the neighborhood of Toppenish, where they had lived for several years.

The horse and cart belonged to Bud Simmons, and had been tied to the rack north of the Hotel Bartholet. A stray scrap of paper carried by the wind under the animal's feet is supposed to have caused it to jerk loose and start upon its fatal journey.

County Commissioners in Adjourned Session.

The county commissioners met Monday pursuant to adjournment from April 5. Frank Horsley, chairman of the board, and W. I. Lince and W. L. Dimmick, commissioners being present.

A number of errors in tax assessment were up for adjustment, and occupied the greater part of the day.

Bids for the construction of the new bridge across the Yakima at Alfalfa were received as follows:

Puget Sound Bridge Co.....	$4605.55
C. H. Bruenn.....	4485.00
D. A. Ball.....	4250.00
James Stuart.....	4200.00

The bid of James Stuart being the lowest and best, a contract was ordered entered into with him, the bond for the performance of the work according to the plans and specifications having been entered.

The previous appointment of H. P. Simpson as sheep inspector was approved, the commission to hold good until the second Monday in January, 1903.

A large number of claims for services rendered and material furnished the county since the April session of the board were audited and adjusted, and on Tuesday at noon the board adjourned.

until the next regular meeting, which occurs Monday, July 1.

A Beneficial Improvement.

The upper Cowychee is proud of the wonderful reservoir for storage of water for irrigating purposes which was started two years ago by B. F. Barge, of this city, and John O'Neal and others of that fertile valley. The work has been carried on without ostentation, and is now past the period when success was doubtful. The reservoir is situated in a canyon between two abrupt hills, the storage of water for summer use in the cultivation of crops being effected by the building of a dam across from hill to hill. The lake formed by the accumulation of water now covers 160 acres of land, the average depth being about seven feet, which can be increased to about double the present depth. The reservoir, at its present capacity, is calculated to irrigate about three sections of land, which would be untouched if only the natural flow of water from Cowychee creek were relied on. Mr. O'Neal now has a large orchard and various crops covered by the flow from the reservoir, which it is expected to increase from year to year. A boat does service on the lake for pleasure trips in hunting ducks, geese and other water fowl, which flock in by thousands to take advantage of the opportunities offered by this addition to nature's bequests to her creatures.

The people living in the neighborhood say that when it becomes generally known this feature of the Cowychee will make it one of the most popular summer resorts for pleasure seekers to be found anywhere.

At Larson's Theatre.

James A. Herne's "Sag Harbor" is one of the biggest, if not the biggest theatrical success of the current New York season. This attraction has been booked for Larson's theater Thursday, June 6th. It is worthy of uncommon congratulation that this dramatic prize has been secured for our city, and lovers of the play may be assured that the cast and production which Liebler & Co. will present here, will be in every respect identical with those offered in New York during the recent long run of the play at Hammerstein's new Theatre Republic. "Sag Harbor" has but just closed its triumphant run of three months in New York and a return engagement of several weeks in Chicago and is now playing its way to this city. The reception of this latest play by James A. Herne in the metropolis was extraordinarily enthusiastic. In the opinion of the critics "Sag Harbor" is the greatest play that Herne has ever written and almost all the New York papers reiterated what the Chicago papers said last year, i. e., that "Sag Harbor" is better than "Shore Acres". An interesting feature of the engagement here will be the appearance of Mr. Herne's two daughters—Chrystal and Julie, both of whom are said to have inherited to a remarkable degree much of their distinguished father's talent. Their mother was known to the stage as Katherine Corcoran, one of America's leading emotional actresses.
