OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

IN re "the third term," the ordinary citizen fails to see any "exalted patriotism" in a public officer declining a nomination for a "third term," or anything else, which, judging by all precedents, the American people will not tolera'e or permit.

THE president-makers are having a busy season in furnishing candidates for that exalted position thus far before the nominations can finally be made. Having tired of enumerating possible democratic aspirants, they now make public the names of various available followers of the G. O. P. The public pulse has been pretty thoroughly felt on the proposition of running McKinley for a third term, and it seems the jury has rendered a unanimous verdict against the attempt. Gov. Odell of New York has loomed up in the political horizon like a lightning bug on a cloudy evening, and several other "prominent" republicans are mentioned in connection with the nomination. But Hanna—O, Hanna can have it if he wants it.

ARTHUR C. PEARSON, owner of about thirty English newspapers and periodicals, was in New York last week, and while there expressed the brutal opinion that all captured Boers should be lined up and shot. If this system had been inaugurated some time ago, he said, the war would now be over. Mr. Pearson evidently overlcoks the idea of retaliation on the part of the Boers if such measures had been adopted by their opponents. Over forty thousand British soldiers captured by the Boers have been liberated because they could not be fed and properly cared for. Fortunately for the British prisoners the officers in command of their armies are not so bloodthirsty as their patriotic fellow citizen, Mr. Arthur C. Pearson.

THE anti-slot machine law is now in effect, but there seems to be an understanding in some of the cities where the interdicted gambling device has been generally in use, that a test case of the enactment will have to be made before the objectional articles are removed. More especially is this the case in the matter of machines used solely for prizes of merchandise. Locally, most of the large machines have been closed, but in some instances it is claimed money prizes are still offered. From a common sense standpoint, anybody who plays the machine hoping for profit is, to say the least, of a remarkably optimistic turn of mind, and those who keep them "on tap" in the face of a popular law are very liable to incite such opposition that a crusade once started against slot machines may run into something more serious and injurious to the occupations of the owners.

A CONFERENCE of self-constituted "political reformers" met in Kansas City, Mo., and attempted to forestall even the socialists by the adoption of a platform demanding government ownership of everything. The nucleus of a new party was formed, and it was claimed by way of vindication of the platform that Wm. J. Bryan is in favor of it and the movement to form a new party. Whatever may be the ideas or intentions of this coterie of reformers, they will probably find that they do not fill a "long-felt want" in their endeavor to organize a new political party. This country has "parties" enough, and no good result can be effected by dividing the strength of the real "reform party" into antagonistic sections. These mistaken "reformers" will not find the country ready to open its arms and clasp it to its bosom as a real savior. Take things easy, gentlemen; there may be necessity for action along your lines when the democracy fails, but until then don't let the enemy "divide and conquer."

THE legislature at its last session provided for a board of geological survey, composed of Gov. Rogers, Lieut. Gov. McBride, Treasurer Maynard, President Graves of the state university, and President Bryan of the state agricultural college and school of science. This board at its recent meeting in Tacoma, elected Prof. Henry Landes state geologist, and Prof. Solon Shedd, D. A. Lyon and W. S. Thyng, assistant geologists. These persons will at once organize field parties and begin the work of making a geological survey of the state. At the outset the work will be along economic lines, and attention will be paid chiefly to the building stones, clays, coal fields, the ores of iron, copper, gold, silver, etc. The The officers of the geological survey desire to extend all the help within their power to everyone engaged in developing the state's mineral resources, and they invite correspondence with all citizens of the state who desire information along these lines. Minerals, ores, rocks, etc., for identification if sent to the state geologist, University Station, Seattle, will be promptly examined and reported upon. Only qualitative tests will be attempted of course, and assays or quantitative analyses will in no case be made. All specimens for examination should be accompanied by some descriptive matter stating the manner of occurrence, depth at which taken, and furthermore they should be ample in quantity.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN went to capture England and got away with their greatly beloved derby. His horse has a Russian name, and he also has some of the Yankee "get there Ely" in his make-up. The uselessness of Europe's carping at American prosperity and imagining how by some commercial or political league of all Europe it can be checked, is apparent by a reference to the pillars by which that prosperity is supported. The United States have 7 per cent. of the world's area and 5 per cent. of its population, and their population is increasing faster than any other country's. Their total wealth far exceeds that of any other nation—is at least fifteen billions greater than Great Britain's—and it is distributed per capita more evenly than any other nation's. Their money investment in colleges and schools of all grades and the number of pupils attending them are equal to those of any other two nations combined. They have 41 per cent. of the world's total railway mileage, and 12,000 more miles than the trackage of all European countries put together. They produce more gold than any other part of the world save Africa, more silver than any other country save Mexico, and coin annually about one-fifth of all the world's metallic money. They manufacture every year a greater total product than England, France and Germany combined. They produce 80 per cent. of all the world's cotton; cotton seed and corn, 40 per cent. of all its steel and other mineral products, 33 per cent. of all its coal, 30 per cent. of all its iron and all its grain, and 25 per cent. of all its wheat. These are the pillars of our Temple of Prosperity. Europe could not even shake them.—N. Y. World.

NEWS reports from Illinois concerning the campaign for the United States senate now being made by Senator Mason and United States Comptroller Dawes confirm the statement made some time ago by The Republic to the effect that Mr. McKinley was taking an active hand in the fight. The fact cannot longer be hidden from the people of Illinois that a national administration is interfering to an unwarranted degree in the politics of their state. It is unmistakably plain that in certain ways the full force of administration influence will be exerted in behalf of Mr. Dawes' election to the senate. Dawes, himself has been armed for the fray by means of important patronage placed in his hands by President McKinley. The administration lieutenants in Illinois affairs are working for Dawes tooth and nail. Between Senator Mason and Comptroller Dawes the choice should be made by the people of Illinois unhampered by outside interference. It is their affair. It is not within the province of any national administration to attempt to dictate such a choice. In this particular instance it does not legitimately matter that Senator Mason is distasteful to Mr. McKinley and that Comptroller Dawes is one of Mr. McKinley's political proteges. It is for the people of Illinois to say, without any assistance from Washington, whether they prefer Mason or Dawes. Under the healthiest conditions of state spirit, the fact that the administration machine is working for Dawes' election would defeat that candidate before the legislature. It would be well if this sort of rebuke were certain every time a national machine interferes in state politics. The people of Illinois possess an excellent opportunity to adequately insist upon their right to manage their own affairs. They should improve it.—St. Louis Republic.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

John Curry is having the ground broken for his new two-story brick, corner A and Second streets.

Marriage licenses were issued last Saturday to Edwin E. Anderson and Miss Elizabeth Brooks; Peter Sybouts and Miss Effie Bakker.

The most ancient of the "old-timers" fails to recall an occasion in June when there was as much rain in Yakima as there has been in the last few days.

There will be a band concert and lawn fete at the home of Prof. Barge, on South Sixth street, on Wednesday June 26, 1901, by the ladies of the Babtist church. Ice cream and strawberries will be served.

The Rattlesnake residents took a census of school children last Saturday, and found that they had 50 children of school age in that community. They will petition the county superintendent to establish a new district in time for a winter term of school.—Prosser Record.

E. W. Smith living two and a half miles south of School Section, brought in a sample of spring wheat nearly five feet in length, just heading out. One of the interesting features connected with this field of wheat is that it has reached its present state without irrigation.

The 10-year-old son of Frank Williams, who has just moved to town from the Nile, got lost on the streets last Monday morning and was not found until Tuesday evening. He had only a few cherries to eat in the meantime, and slept out Monday night. but seems none the worse for his experieuce.

Mrs. Mitchell, residing at 230½ Jefferson street, Tacoma, has written the city marshal here to take up and send home her 13-year-old son, Willie Webster, who left home without leave several days ago. The boy who has lost part of his left foot, was seen here the first of the week, but announced his intention of going on to Michigan.

J. L. Sutton, for the Lamborn-Perris Map Co., has been here several days making a new and corrected insurance map for the government of companies taking risks on North Yakima property Mr. Sutton says so much building has been and is being done in this city that exposures are constantly changing and new maps a frequent necessity.

The 9-year-old son of Wm. Curry had the misfortune to break his right thigh bone last Saturday by being caught in a wheel of a wagon attached to the dray driven by his father. The little sufferer is doing well at present, but as he has for a long time been his fathers's right hand "man", he is greatly missed from his accustomed seat on the truck.

Jim Baker has in the last few days been busy moving old houses to make room for new ones. A frame house on North First street he removed to the rear of the lot, and a better structure will take its place. The large barn on Dr. Gordon's Natcheez avenue lot was also moved several feet, so as to improve the view from the new dwelling to be built.

City Marshal Boyle returned Monday from attendance upon the U. S. court at Seattle. Among the prisoners taken from here for trial for selling whiskey to Indians Ed Martin, the negro, was sentenced to six months in the U. S. penitentiary at McNeill's island; Stanislaus, the Indian, to fourteen months; Edgerton to one month in jail. and Lamont was discharged.

George A. McWain, agent for the Grand Union Tea Co., will open their store next door to the Mikado, on Saturday, June 22, where they will handle a line of teas, coffees, spices, baking powders and other specialties of the best kind, with prices to suit all purses and grades to suit all tastes. With each purchase a premium in graniteware or chinaware or similar is given. Your patronage is respectfully solicited.

Frank M. Williams has sold his Nile ranch, comprisiug 1400 acres, to D. A. Ball. Mr. Ball also gets the newly constructed saw mill, cows, hogs, sheep, chickens and farming implements. Mr. Williams this week purchased residence property on the west side and moved down with his family, and Mr. Ball and family have gone up to take possession of their new home. The purchase price is understood to have been about $6000.

Several days ago three petitions from property owners in the Wenas, Cowychee and Ahtanum valleys were sent in to the secretary of the interior protesting against allowing stock to be herded on the Rainier reservation. It is claimed the petitions were signed by ninety-five per cent of the residents of the three valleys, and each petition bears the affidavit of a responsible party that the signatures are those of only bona-fide residents and property holders in the various valleys.

A telegram was received here Tuesday by John Mull announcing the death near Mt. Carmel, Ill., last Sunday, of E. H. Gardner, brother-in-law of Mr. Mull. Several months ago Mr. Gardner and his wife went to California for the benefit of his health, and a few weeks ago they went to visit relatives in Illinois, where death overtook him. Mr. Gardner was an old resident of North Yakima, and leaves considerable property interests here. He was somewhat past 67 years of age at the time of his death.

Sheriff Tucker returned Tuesday from the Glade with Jerry McGrath, charged with shooting another sheepman named Jake Prahl. It seems that a quarrel resulted from the mixing of two bands of sheep, and statements differ as to who fired the first shot, but a buckshot from McGrath's gun entered the thigh of Prahl and has not yet been extracted. McGrath had an examination before Justice Taggard on Weduesday, and was held in $1000 bond to appear before the superior court, which he soon gave and is now at large.

The closing exercises of the city schools held at Larsons, last Friday evening lasted till nearly midnight and the building was fairly packed. The graduating class composed of Clinton P. Brewer, Effie Jones, Florence McWain, H. L. Hauser, Nellie Rogers, Floyd Hatfield and Bernard Wilkinson, each performed a special part and the school and audience were addressed by Gov. John R. Rogers and Hon Frank P. Graves, president of the State University at Seattle. The young graduates start in life with the well-wishes of at least all North Yakima for them.

John Linder has severed his connection with the Bartholet bar and R. A. Grant has assumed management.

Among the Yakima ladies attending the annual session of the State Women's club at Tacoma this week are Mesdames Larson, McCready, Snyder, Snively and Hall.

The dance of the Modern Woodmen at the armory Thursday evening was a most enjoyable affair, the crowd far exceeding expectations and the music being excellent.

Thomas Lund on Wednesday went to Seattle with his daughter Lena, who will spend the summer with her young friend, the daughter of State Senator Hemrich.

The numbering of houses and placing names upon street corners is rapidly progressing. The mail carriers will know where everybody lives when the free delivery system commences.

C. B. Hopkins, general agent of the Sunset Telephone & Telegraph Co., located at Spokane. has been offered the position of U. S. marshal, to succeed Clarence W. Ide, of the same city.

The Yakima Water, Light and Power Co. contemplates the addition of about $16,000 worth of machinery to its plant, and John W. Taylor, an Indiana expert has been in the city this week preparing plans.

Wm. Wilhite was before Justice Taggard Friday afternoon to answer a charge of resisting an officer the previous evening. It is said "rough" houses were made in various parts of the city during the evening among the "fraternity."

A prize fight between two young bloods was fought out at the stock yards Thursday evening. It was a rough and tumble affair, and while rocks and clubs were barred, weapons were used that would not be allowed under the Marquis of Goosberry rules.

Josephine V. Gould has instituted suit for divorce against her husband George Gould, charging cruelty. The parties formerly resided in Goldendale, but the plaintiff now lives in Yakima City with the minor children, for whose custody she asks in the complaint.

The special services at the M. E. church commencing next Sunday morning will be conducted by the Rev. Fenwick Reed, of Indiana. Mr. Reed will remain here for an indefinite period, in charge of a series of revival meetings, of which next Sunday's service will be the first.

The closing exercises of St. Joseph's academy were held at the school yesterday, and a large number of persons interested in educational matters attended the exercises. The proficiency attained by the pupils, especially the rapid advancement of the Indian children, was wonderful.

MUNICIPAL LEGISLATION

A Short Business Meeting of the City Council.

Council met in regular session Monday evening, Mayor Fechter, Councilmen Donald, Hall, Reed, Shaw and Weed being present.

A petition was read from Frank Cook for reconsideration of refusal by council to grant saloon license, stating he would be greatly damaged if the license was not granted, as he had large investments in the business. The petitioner guaranteed that he would not petition for another license, nor would he sell the property to any person without reservation to the effect that no saloon would be maintained after the expiration of the license. On motion of Donald, under the provisions of the petition, a license was granted, Councilman Reed refraining from voting after stating that he thought under the provisions of the ordinances no such reservations should be required.

Assessment of property for payment of improvements in district No. 76 was approved.

Councilman Hall registered a kick as to the condition of South Second street. and on his motion the street commissioner was instructed to employ sufficient help to place the street in proper shape.

J. E. Merwin appeared before the council on the question of printing and placing names and numbers on streets and houses. He stated that he would place the names upon all streets, painted on tin back grounds, free of charge, provided he was authorized to charge residence houses the sum of from 20 cents up for each number, according to choice of the householder. On motion of Weed the proposition was accepted, the work to be under the supervision of the committee on streets and ditches.

Dr. Frank, the health officer, desired to know why certain bills accruing through and presented by the health department, had not been allowed. Mr. Donald stated for the finance committee that the health committee had neglected to O. K. the bills, and that an itemized account should be presented. Dr. Frank stated that for his part, he was not desirious of attending smallpox patients, as he had found it injurious to his general practice, but that emergencies had required the adoption of strenous measures, and he had acted under instructions from the mayor and chairman of the board of health.

On motion of Hall, the finance committee was authorized to investigate the bills and if found correct, warrants be drawn for the amount in the interim of council.

The request of Mr. Larson to have rocks recently crushed in the test of the rock-crusher removed from his lots was referred to the street commissioner.

Mr. Donald was authorized to grade the street in front of his property on C street, between First and Second under supervision of the city surveyor.

Adjourned.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

Charlie Kampeter Run Down by a Passenger Train.

Early last Sunday morning the community was shocked at the report of the finding of a dead body on the railroad track a short distance from the northern boundry of the city limits. A crowd quickly gathered and followed the coroner and undertakers to the place of the sad accident, and found the mutilated remains of what proved to be the body of Charles J. Kampeter.

The remains were brought to the undertaking establishment of Flint & Shaw, where they were viewed by hundreds of people before they were finally recognized.

An investigation developed the facts that the young man had been in town all Saturday night, starting to his father's home about half-past two o'clock Sunday morning. His father, H. Kampeter, and family live about two miles north of town on the Yakima river, the railroad track being on the direct line of travel to the place.

Young Kampeter is supposed to have been under the influence of liquor, but whether he laid down on the track to sleep or did not observe the approach of the train—in fact, how the accident occurred, will probably never be known.

The east-bound passenger train was about an hour late that morning, and it is therefore supposed the accident occured some time after daylight, or at about 3:30 a. m.

One of his legs was cut off in two places—above and below the knee—and the other was left hanging on the rail, held together by the half-severed ligaments. A number of contusions were also found about the head and face, and the body was generally bruised.

Some slight suspicion of foul play gathered strength as numerous rumors were set afloat, but investigation by the authorities convinced them that the killing was purely accidental.

Charles James Kampeter, as was his full name, was past the age of 25 years, and was buried from the family residence Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Buffalo's Wonder of Wonders.

Not all visitors to the Buffalo Exposition will appreciate the fact that its wonder of wonders is not within but without its gates—in the streets of Buffalo itself.

Every time they board a trolley car in the Exposition city they go riding with Niagara. The traction company has hitched its cars to the great cataract, fifteen miles away, and every nickle it collects is based on power extracted from those mighty waters.

Likewise at night, when the exposition and the city are made radiant with thousands of lamps, reflected in all the colors of the rainbow, Niagara is the lamplighter. The electric company turns on all its currents from the big power-house back of the vast torrent.

Niagara is literally the power that runs Buffalo by day and rules it by night. And the wonder of wonders for exposition visitors to think about is that there is energy still left untapped in those mighty falls equal to the latent power in 200,000 tons of coal per day. And the plans are already drawn by engineers for harnessing it. Niagara is a power-house of continental capacity.

Cutting the grass along the ditches on Natcheez avenue has greatly improved the appearance of that throughfare.

Mysterious Disappearance.

Last Saturday reports came in from Nob Hill that R. B. Johnson, who about two years ago purchased the Hubbard place in that locality, had mysteriously disappeared and was thought to have taken his own life by drowning in one of the numerous large irrigation ditches in the neighborhood while suffering from temporary mental aberration. Searching parties were organized and the water turned off various ditches, but no trace of the missing man could be found. Rumors of various descriptions followed one another in quick succession, and it was even said by those who are always looking for the worst of motives, that he had left his home on account of domestic trouble. Up to this time nothing definite has been learned of his whereabouts, although it is said he has been traced as far as Selah valley, several miles north of his home. It is thought by his wife that he may have gone to Seattle, as matters of business in that city have been worrying him for some time. As to the matter of inharmony in his household, it is emphatically denied, it being claimed that no trouble has ever occured, and no one's home life could have been happier. Mr. Johnson was a man of absolutely temperate habits, and never stayed from home at night. The only solution of the mystery is that business troubles, coupled with active and nervous temperament, temporarily unbalanced his mind. His friends are continuing the search in hopes of ascertaining his whereabouts.

Baseball Items.

The Sunnyside team failed to appear Sunday for the match game advertised to occur between the Sunnysides and the Stars at the new baseball grounds west of town. As this game was thus off, a "catch" nine was picked up and went with a crowd to play the Old Town boys. A clever game was played, resulting in a score of 12 to 13 in favor of the North Yakima boys.

This afternoon a game will be played on our home grounds between the nines of Fort Simcoe Indian school and the High school.

A match game has been arranged for Sunday afternoon between the barbers and saloonists.

Arrangements have been completed for a game on Capitol Hill grounds next Tuesday at 2:30 p. m., between the league teams of Spokane and Seattle. This will be the first professional game played here, and the management of the new grounds hope to see it liberally patronized, in which event it will prove the entering wedge for a series of league games, and probably result in putting Yakima in the league with a team to take in the circuit.

The grounds are now all fenced, the grand stand enlarged to give accomodation to patrons, and the grounds put in general good condition. Arrangements have been made for sprinkling and soft drinks can be had at moderate cost.

Having bought the news business of C. W. Liece I am now prepared to deliver to patrons the Seattle Daily Times, Tacoma Ledger and Tacoma News. Office, First street.

TO TEST SCHOOL BOOK LAW.

Westland Publishing Company Employs Attorney.

OLYMPIA, June 18—(Special.)—The Westland Publishing Company has retained Thomas M. Vance, of this city, with the view of testing the constitutionality of the Gunderson text-book law. It is not the intention to test the right of the extra session to take up matters other than those mentioned in the call of the governor, but the point to be raised is the constitutional right of the legislature to pass a law that, it is claimed, will impair the contract with the Westland Publishing Company, which had already been entered into.

The attorneys for the Westland Company believe that they have a good case, but a difficult problem confronting them seems to be the method of getting the matter into the courts.

BROME GRASS.

Frank A. English Describes His Experiment With This Grass.

Frank A. English of Farmington has contributed the following article on brome grass to the Northwest Horticulturist:

The greatest obstacle to dairy farming in eastern Washihgton was the difficulty of pasturing cows—providing green forage, which is so essential for this enterprise. Our native bunch grass hills, too poor or steep to cultivate, were pastured too close, and produced finally nothing but weeds. The clay soil would not produce alfalfa or other clovers, because the roots could not go down; too dry for any other grasses is this semi-arid country. Through the courtesy of the agricultural department at Washington, D. C., I was furnished some 20 different grass and clover seeds for experimenting, among these Hungarian and Russian brome grass, which I planted in 1898 on the poorest soil I had—dry, clay hills which would not produce any grain or other crops. I sowed the grass early in April on well cultivated ground [one acre] without cover crop; in 1899 gathered therefrom seed enough to sow 10 acres more and sold $18 worth at 20c per pound, besides the straw, about one and a half tons, which the stock preferred to good grain hay. In 1900 we cut from that acre two tons of hay. Now this brome on that acre is up a foot tall (April 20) a perpect sod, lusicious and green, most tempting to any stock. The 10 acres of grass seeded in 1900 [without cover crop] is also a foot high and will produce a fine full stand of seed [intend to seed from it 20 acres more next spring] and am satisfied will grow five feet tall, on the highest cultivated hill in the township and produce surplus seed enough to help others. As the seed is high on account of trouble to gather and clean it, would advise people to grow an acre or two first, produce their own seed, add then seed what acreage they will need. It will not produce a good seed crop more than once in its life, and that is the year after the year of seeding. Plow your ground in the fall well; seed down after cultivating it with a rolling harrow in the spring, and harrow it in or use a planet cultivator to cover it, as soon as one can get on the ground in the spring. Sow it alone—no cover crop. Put on 15 pounds per acre. Wait for a calm day to seed, then let it go. The next year it will kill out any crop of weeds that comes up; no doubt of that. It has two blooms. Wait for the second one, and when it is ripe, cut with binder in bundles, to ripen and dry up, and thrash the bundles with a flail. Sift the seed with a hand sieve or fanning mill riddle. That is all. An acre and a half of brome grass will keep a cow after the the year of seed cutting on produce two tons fine hay per acre, and pasture in the fall. Try it.

Stop Women

from exercising common sense? You can't do it. As the old rhyme runs:

"The man's a fool who tries by force or skill,
To turn the current of a woman's will:
For if she will, she will, you may depend on't,
And if she won't she won't, so there's an end on't."

Common sense tells a woman that when she's sick she needs a doctor.

Common sense applied to advertisements which invite women to "write to a woman because she is a woman and understands women," will show the women so appealed to, that it's no use to write to any woman about disease unless that woman is a physician.

Common sense used in the reading of such advertisements will discover that no claim is made in them to a physician's knowledge or diploma. And that is not because the claim would be morally culpable as a lie, but because it would be legally punishable as a fraud.

Common sense has brought more than half-a-million women, afflicted with some form of female disease, to Dr. R. V. Pierce as one of the most expert physicians in the United States in the treatment of female diseases. Dr. Pierce is a specialist. He has given more than thirty years of active practice to the treatment and cure of female diseases. Dr. Pierce is not a "physician" by courtesy. He is a physician regularly graduated, legally empowered to practice and with thirty years of experience in the treatment of diseases of women, which he has made his specialty.

The offer of free consultation by letter made by Dr. Pierce is an honest offer, backed by a medical institution, with a world-wide reputation, a staff of nearly a score of regularly graduated physicians, and a practice which reaches every state in the Union.

Write to a doctor. That's the first thing. Write to the doctor. That's the next thing. The woman's doctor, is Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Juvenile Discouragement.

Elsie—Mamma, there's a funny old man in this Pickwick book that's always telling his son to beware of the widows. Why is that?

ANNOYS THE PRESIDENT.

Are Porto Ricans and Filipinos Subject to Immigration Laws?

Associated Press Dispatch—The status of Porto Ricans and Filipinos as regards citizenship is worrying the administration. The question of extending the contract labor and immigration laws to Porto Rico and the Philippines is causing serious irritation. It is expected test cases will soon be brought in the lower courts aid carried to the United States supreme court.

When the question of citizenship as applied to natives of new possessions comes before this high tribunal, administration officials will be more annoyed than by the question of tariff.

The state and treasury departments are at variance in establishing precedents. Filipinos destined to participate in the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo were refused admittance at San Francisco because of their physical condition and were sent back to their homes.

On almost the same date, Ambassador Choate was instructed by Secretary Hay to grant Filipinos in London cedulas, which practically recognizes them as American citizens and would entitle them to land at San Francisco or elsewhere without reference to their physical condition.

Just preceding this Commissioner Degetan, of Porto Rico, was admitted to practice before the supreme court, although the law stipulates that none but citizens of the United States can have that privilege.

If Porto Ricans and Filipinos are held to be citizens of this country the contract labor and immigration laws cannot be applied against them. When a test case was made of a Porto Rican brought in under contract, the issue was avoided by having the man released.

Flattery From the Mirror.

Does your mirror do you justice? You may think not. Or perhaps you would like it to flatter you just a little. If so, you can arrange it so the glass will reflect in a more complimentary manner than usual. If you do, you only have to know the milliner's oldest secret, and the thing is done.

Did you ever notice the softest drapery of pure white hung about a mirror? That is the trick. After your mirror of faultless glass is thoroughly polished frame it in pure white gauze, with the material gathered in the center at the top and falling wavelike on either side. Then notice the effect. The true tints of the complexion will be there a little emphasized. The expression of the countenance, the light of the eye, the color of the hair, will be accurately reflected, all softened and made more harmonious than your mirror showed them before the gauze was used. You may believe that that subtle bit of white materially makes the glass tell nearer the truth than it did without it.

Thoughts on Marriage.

A little girl in Ireland was asked what was the sacrament of matrimony. She said, "It's a state of torment into which souls enter to prepare them for another and a better world." "That," said the curate, "is purgatory. Put her down to the bottom of the class." "Leave her alone," said the parish priest. "For anything you or I know to the contrary, she may be perfectly right."

"Courting," said an Irishman, "is like dying. Sure, a man must do it for himself."—E. J. Hardy's "Concerning Marriage."

FIRST OF PISTOL EXPERTS.

"Wild Bill" Hickok and His Remarkable Feats With a Pistol.

"Wild Bill" Hickock was the first frontiersman who recognized the importance of proficiency in the use of the six-shooter, says E. C. Little in Everybody's Magazine. This was the real secret of his supremacy. He was an unerring marksman, and shot as accurately under fire as when firing at a mark, apparently taking no aim.

Probably no man ever equaled him in the lightning-like rapidity with which he could draw a weapon in time of emergency, and in the thorough self-possession that made it possible for him to take advantage of every opportunity in savage conflict. He had a standing order to his deputies that they should not rush in on him in any of his affrays, and especialy should not come quickly up in his rear.

By forgetting this Williams met his death, Hickok taking him for an enemy, and firing so rapidly that it left no opportunity for recognition. He readily killed the wild goose across the Smoky Hill with his revolver. Riding at his horse's highest speed he fired shot after shot into a tin can or hitching post a few rods distant. Standing at one telegraph pole, he would swing rapidly on his heel and fire a pistol ball into the next telegraph pole.

These were some of the simpler feats he performed day after day on the street to settle little wagers. He could shoot a hole through a silver dime at fifty paces and could drive the cork through the neck of a bottle and, at thirty paces, knock out the bottom without breaking the neck He could do what the fancy shots of the present day do, and possibly some of them equal him as marksmen with a revolver, but it must be remembered that he was the first to acquire this skill, and that he shot just as well with others shooting at him, and at a man as steadily as at any other target.

An Uncouth Mode of Burial.

Of all the modes of burial ever practiced by creatures in the shape of human beings the method of the Queensland nomads is certainly the most uncouth. After drying the corpse in the sun and knocking out its teeth for keepsakes they deposit it on a framework of rough poles and bury it under a few armsful of rushes and old kangaroo skins, leaving the bush wolves to sing its requiem.

No member of the dead man's tribe will settle within a mile of his grave for fear of being haunted by the spooks making the burial place their midnight rendezvous. The metaphysical opinions of the Australian aborigines prove indeed that savages can be afflicted with an abundance of supernaturalism without betraying a trace of anything deserving the name of religious sentiment.

They believe in evil spirits whistling in the blasts of the storm wind and try to exorcise them by spitting in the direction of the sky, but for the conceptions of the deity, of future existence, of repentance, atonement and conscienoce their language has not even a definite word. From somewhere in the land of their forefathers—eastern Asia, perhaps—they have imported a notion faintly resembling the Buddhist doctrine of metempsychosis and believe that animals may be reborn as men and men as human beings of a superior rank.

The Midway at Buffalo.

It is to be presumed that the Midway is a feature essential to all exhibitions of this sort, no matter how serious their ostensible purpose; probably the Midway consession not only supplies much of the money necessary, but the Midway attracts more than half the visitors.

The list of Midway attractions is a tremendous one. There are an Eskimo village, a glass factory, a captive balloon, an old plantation, with dozen of darkies, a "beautiful Orient," with more or less beautiful inhabitants, a trip around the world, a Colorado gold mine, a Philippine village, an old Nuremburg village, the streets of Mexico, darkest Africa, a house upside down, a gypsy camp, a representation of the Johnstown flood, infant incubators, a Japanese village, a wild animal show, an Indian congress, etc., etc. All of this is already in full blast, and mostly wholly inoffensive, a vast aggregation of catch-penny devices, a sort of glorified Coney Island. The clergymen of Buffalo have taken exception in the press to some of the Midway features, although it is as a whole no better and no worse than that seen at Chicago, with the exception of one feature which it is surprising the clergy have not had surpressed. In one building, a vulgar canvas imitation of an Egyptian temple, called "Jerusalem," there is supposed to be a representation of the Crucifixion. A loud-voiced "barker" stood in front of this structure, which was placarded inside and out with pictures of Christ, inviting people, in a offensive mixture of religious and profane talk, to come in and see the show. -New York Post.

Americanized.

I love my transatlantic brother well,
I hate his foes infernally;
With conscious pride I feel my bosom swell
When he greets me fraternally.
Yet might it not, I sometimes ask, befall
That his loved presence might begin to pall?

His kodak on my privacy intrudes,
His beef fills to satiety,
His canned goods crowd what late were solitudes.
His heiresses society.
'Tis his—one drop of sweet in bitter cup—
'Tis his alarm wakes my servant up.

His oil my lamp, his corn my belly fills,
He builds me my machinery,
And boards that tell the phrases of his pills
Adorn my native scenery;
While in the tube—so Yankeefied we are—
I ride perforce in his triumphal car.

He wins our races, teaches us to ride—
'Tis true, I'm very sure it is—
Our markets find all stocks are dull beside
His versatile securities;
And near at hand, I hear, the period is
When all our ships and shipyards shall be his.

He fills my cosmos, and I can but see,
As every Tom and Jerry can,
Soon I, my kin, race, clime and land may be Essentially American,
And I may own, of comfort quite bereft,
That there is nothing really English left.
—London Chronicle.

The Hostess' Funny Story.

"A very dignified young man took a seat in a smoking car," said the hostess, who joined in the after dinner story telling. "Near him were three traveling salesmen, well dressed, jolly fellows, one of whom suggested a game of cards, and the others agreed. They appealed to the young man to take part and make up a four handed game.

"'Thank you; I never play cards,' came the response to the invitation.

"'I am sorry for that. Will you have a cigar with us?' added the spokesman, producing his case.

"'I am obliged to you, but I never smoke,' replied the dignified young man.

"They thought they would jolly the young fellow out of dignity, so the leader produced a 'traveling companion' and asked:

"'As you do not play cards nor smoke you will not refuse to join us in a drink?'

"'I thank you, gentlemen, but I never drink.'

"With this a venerable man with ministerial aspect sitting in the seat behind the young man reached forward and tapped him on the shoulder.

"'I have heard what you have said to these men,' said the sedate old fellow, 'and I admire you for the stability of character which has enabled you to shun bad habits. I have a daughter in the parlor car, whom I should like to have you meet.'

"'I thank you, sir,' replied the young man, turning about and facing the gentleman, 'but the fact is I never intend to marry.'"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Cheered by It.

"You are sure you can support my daughter in the style to which she has been accustomed?" asked the heavy father.

"Sure," answered our hero, with the assurance of youth.

"Well, I'm glad to hear it. It's more than I can afford any longer."—Indianapolis Press.

WHISKEY AND TURPENTINE.

Five Plugs of Chewing Tobacco for an Appetizer.

Ashland, Ky.—Peter Stronger, who is 65 years old and a grandfather, said in a saloon recently that men of today were not as the boys of old. "Why, you can't even drink as we used to," he declared contemptuously.

In a moment a dozen men were shaking fists and money in his face. "Put up or shut up," they shouted.

"I'll drink a pint of whiskey and a pint of anything else you want and eat a quarter's worth of tobbaco; here's my money to prove it."

Stronger shoved out a handful of bills. The crowd decided upon whiskey and turpentine. Two pint cups were filled and set on the bar before Stronger. He took a big drink of whisky and chewed up a 10-cent plug of tobacco before the crowd realized he had really begun. Then he drank the turpentine at a gulp and ate another plug of tobacco to take out the taste. The last half pint of whisky made him feel fine.

"Mr. Barkeeper," he said, "if you'll set me out another of the same, I'll be obliged."

The barkeeper did so. Stronger got through with one plug of tobacco and then felt badly. They called a doctor and filled him full of hot water and mustard. Three hours later he ate beefsteak and onions with corn-pone for supper.

A Pair of Lovers.

Two American men in Venice spent their first evening loafing round the lagoons in a gondola, it being moonlight, of course, and all the rest of the sentimental, charming things it is always in Venice.

"Here comes a gondola," stage whispered one American to the other, "that probably contains a pair of lovers. See how absorbed those two dim figures evidently are in each other. Gondolier, other gondolas, the witchery of the moonlight and the place—to all of it they are oblivious. Oh, what a spot for sentiment! The air is full of it!"

And as the two gondolas glided past each other the Americans heard the unmistakable accents of a fellow countryman, "I'll see your three and raise you five."—Philadelphia Record.

Her Resource.

"I recognize the fact, of course," the young man said, "that woman is handicapped in divers ways by her sex. Under stress of emotion a man can relieve the pressure by going out and getting drunk, but there is no such safety valve for woman. She must suffer and do nothing."

Reassured.

"Well, femininity is becoming very aggressive."

"It seems so. But when I am at home and Henrietta is out lecturing I get my book of choice selections and read, 'The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world.' And then I feel perfectly content."—Washington Star.

The two had always lived happily together until some meddling and greedy republicans carried Mr. Flag thousands of miles away from home on the pretext of a mission of mercy in behalf of liberty, and than forced him to engage in an occupation which his helpmeet, the constitution, could not tolerate. Then these same unprincipled republicans, desiring to retain Mr. Flag in the Philippines for the protection of their mercenary schemes, and fearing that his faithful helpmeet, the constitution, would follow and recall him to the path of rectitude and justice, applied for a divorce on the ground of incompatibility.—Colfax Commoner.

It is noteworthy that Governor Rogers vetoed "five bills" passed by the first session of the present legislature—and that the senate passed all of them over the governor's veto at the extra session while the house concuring with the senate in only three, should approve those three out of the five which apparently will come to naught at the hands of the supreme court by reason of constitutional defects, or interference with valid contracts already extant. In that case the governor's "five vetoes" will have been sustained "four times" out of five by the house and supreme court.—Seattle Times.

A Filipino Sweetheart.

Something like a gleam of sunshine among the dark shadows of war and bloodshed is the lIttle story told in a "special" to the New York Tribune of a method adopted by a Filipino maiden to secure the release of her lover, an insurgent soldier, captured by the Americans. It serves to show that a lover is a lover and a woman a woman the world over, in all climes and under all suns. The incident is related by a South Dakota officer stationed at Manichug, in a letter home. A picture of the officers South Dakota sweetheart occupies a conspicuous place on his table. He writes as follows:

"The other day a Filipino girl from Penaranda was here to see about the release of her dark skined lover, a lieutenant in the insurgent army, and as I was the commanding officer (the captain was in San Isidro), she tried all the arguments in the catalogue to get him free. But I couldn't see it way until she picked up ---'s picture and ask me if that was my wife. I told her no, it was my sweetheart, but that I expected some day in the near future to make her my wife.

"Then she asked me how I thought my sweetheart would feel were she in her position and myself a prisoner. It caused me to change my mind, and I turned her lover loose, on his promise to remaim neutral and never again to bear arms against the United States. They went away happy and are now married and live in Penaranda.

"Yesterday I received a present of a dozen chickens and a little note in Spanish telling me that I was the subject of their evening prayers and hoping I would return in good health to 'Estados Unidos' and live long and happy with the 'mucho bonito senorita' to whose picture they owed so much.

A Brutal Assault.

On Wednesday morning Marion Tweedy appeared before Justice Taggard and was fined $10 and costs, amounting to $16, for assaulting A. Greenwalt, on the Ahtanum Tuesday afternoon.

The statement made by friends of Mr. Greenwalt, who is about 70 years of age and has been under medical treatment for the past three months, is that Tweedy, who is a lessee of the Greenwalt farm on the Ahtanum, made an unprovoked assault upon the decrepet old man, kicking and beating him into insensibility.

The appearance of Mr. Greenwalt's face shows the effects of horrible treatment, the nose being broken and the face generally beaten black and blue.

It would hardly seem possible that as aged and infirm person as Mr. Greenwalt could give sufficient provocation to a young and able-bodied man to make a personal attack upon him, much less abuse him after the manner clearly shown by the injuries.

It is said that the matter is not yet finally settled.

Returning Home.

John Lynch arrived home Thursday from Ann Harbor, Mich., where he has been taking his second year in the university law department.

Cornelius Lynch, M. D., his brother, will return to his Yakima home in July from Louisville, where he graduated from the Kentucky School of Medicine last August. He has just finished a year's practice in the hospital and resigned his position as assistant surgeon in the college. Dr. Lynch took the highest honors in a class of 64 members in his graduation. He studied with Dr. P. Frank in preparing himself for the course, and will have charge of the office practice this fall while Dr. Frank takes a post graduate course.

The Lynch brothers are both Yakima raised boys and amply demonstrate that the arid belt is not behind in the grade of intelligence of other sections of the country. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lynch, who have resided in Yakima county for years.

Prevent His Hanging.

A recent dispatch from Tacoma says: The attorneys of Eben L. Boyce, the condemmed wife murderer, have taken a new tack in a fight for the life of their client They confidentially assert that the Rands law was the law in effect at the time Boyce's death sentence was signed and the day fixed for his execution. This assertion they base on the fact that June 12, the day Boyce was brought before the court, was just ninety days after the closing day of the regular session of the legislature, and declare that laws passed by the legislature take effect in that time.

This being the case, Boyce, they contend, should have been sentenced under the Rands law and not under the old law which was already inoperative when the judge signed the death warrant.

"The supreme court of the slate has held," said Attorney O'Brien this afternoon, "that laws passed by the legislature take effect ninety days after the adjournment. Boyce was sentenced, according to this ruling, on the day the Rands law became effective. As he was sentenced under the terms of the old law he cannot possibly be executed under the Rands law, and he cannot be hanged by Sheriff Hartmann as directed by the court, for the old law, which might have given him authority so to do, was superseded.

"It it be objected that the Rands law was repealed, this is swept asi de by the fact that the new law was not signed at the special session until the afternoon of the 12th of June and Boyce's death sentence was signed and the date of his execution fixed on the morning of that day."

Nic Harting this week has been proudly displaying a box or strawberries one of which measured 3¼ inches in diameter and 9½ inches in circumference and weighted two ounces. Only 14 of the berries could be crowded into a regulation-sized box.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Fata Morgana.

The fata morgana is a singular aerial phenomenon akin to the mirage. It is seen in many parts of the world, but most frequently and in greatest perfection at the strait of Messina, between Sicily and Italy. So many conditions must coincide, however, that even there it is of comparatively rare occurrence. To allow of its production the sun must be at an angle of 45 degrees with the water, both sky and sea must be calm, and the tidal current sufficiently strong to cause the water in the center to rise higher than on the edges of the strait. When these conditions are fully met, the observer on the heights of Calabria, looking toward Messina, will behold a series of rapidly changing pictures, sometimes of most exquisite beauty.

Castles, colonnades, successions of beautiful arches, palaces, cities, with houses and streets and church domes, mountains, forests, grottoes, will appear and vanish, to be succeeded perhaps by fleets of ships, sometimes placidly sailing over the deep, sometimes inverted, while a halo like a rainbow surrounds every image. It is supposed that the images are due to the irregular refractive powers of the different layers of air above the sea, which magnify, repeat and distort the objects on the Sicilian shore beyond, but to the Italians these singular appearances are the castles of the Princess Morgana, and the view of them is supposed to bring good fortune to the beholder.

Skeleton In the Closet.

The original of the singular saying, "A skeleton in the closet," which is found in almost every language in Europe, is found in one of those curious collections of stories which the monks of the middle ages were foud of making both for their own amusement and for the instruction of youth. In one of these collections, compiled by an unknown hand about the middle of the tenth century, there is a story of a wealthy lady who, having a secret grief, confided it to a friend who was apparently a perfectly happy woman. She was the wife of a nobleman who lived in his castle in the south of France. She and her husband were outwardly on the most loving terms. Not a care cloud seemed to cast a shadow on her path.

After hearing the story of her afflicted friend the noble lady took her by the hand and led her to a secret chamber adjoining her bedroom, there opened the door of a closet and exposed a skeleton. "Know, my friend," she said, "no one is happy. Every day I am forced by my husband to kiss this grinning death head, which is that of a gentleman who was my husband's rival and whom I would have married had not my parents willed otherwise."

A Simple, Bashful Maid.

"I am glad your name is Mary," said Mr. Slowcoach to his sweetheart, whom he had been courting for several years.

"Why so?"

"Because I was reading today and came across a line which said, 'Mary is the sweetest name that woman ever bore.'"

"That is poetically expressed. I've heard my father say it to my mother, whose name is Mary. It is from some poet, isn't it?"

"I believe so."

"But I have also heard my father say that there was even a sweeter name than Mary."

"I think he must have been mistaken," said the lover as he tenderly pressed his sweetheart's hand.

"No; I do not think he was mistaken."

"What was the other name?"

A beautiful blush suffused the charming maiden's cheek, the silken lashes fell and veiled the lovely eyes, and in a tone as soft as the whisperings of an Æolian harp she murmured:

"Wife."

Unclaimed Moneys.

Nearly every bank of old establishment has on deposit sums of unclaimed money. The aggregate of all these sums, if it could be told, would astonish the world. These moneys in the Bank of England are estimated variously, some placing the aggregate amount at less than $500,000 and some at many times that sum. In the Bank of England, as in all banks in this country and in England, the total amount is made up of small sums. According to law, the Bank of England should give public access to the list of such lost moneys, whereas it never does anything of the sort. When challenged, it invites legal action, but no one cares for a legal contest with the Bank of England, so the question never is faced.

How do these unclaimed moneys accumulate? Largely through the omission of stockholders to claim dividends and through the fact that many people die without leaving behind them a strict account of their investments.

Forethought.

"Your letters to me," said his affianced bride one day, "are so cold and formal."

"Surely, my dear," exclaimed the literary celebrity, stung by her reproach, "when they are published after my death they will be found to be models of composition, breathing the most exalted sentiments and couched in absolutely correct English."—Chicago Tribune.

The Sicilian woman is generally illiterate and is proud of being so. In native parlance such a one "sees with two eyes only." Those who can read are said to see with four eyes.

There is a patch of ground in Colorado, six miles by three, which yields $20,000,000 worth of gold a year and will not be worked out for a century.

The King's Finger Bowl.

When a member of the royal family comes to dinner, it is a point of etiquette to provide none but the illustrious guest with a finger bowl at the end of the banquet. The other diners must get on somehow without that convenience.

The reason is a curious one. In early Georgian days one never knew who was loyal. Every other man might be a Jacobite in his secret heart. Now, it was a piece of Jacobite ritual whenever the toast of "The King" was drunk secretly to pass the goblet over any water that happened to be by the drinker. This was supposed to convert the toast into that of "The King Over the Water," the exiled Stuart at Rome or St. Germains.

On this becoming known the court insisted that there should be no water within reach of any guest, and the prohibition still holds.—London News.

Varicose Veins.

An exchange gives the following cure for varicose veins, contributed by a person who was cured by it in less than three weeks: Peel a potato; grate it fine; place it on a white cloth long enough to well cover the ulcer. Warm it a little and apply in the morning. Renew at noon; also at night before retiring. Let it remain all night. Put on three new poultices next day just the same and continue to do so until the ulcer is entirely healed. Wash the ulcer every time the poultice is renewed.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Chas. S. Johnson has leased the new Lillie lodging and boarding house, which is now called the West Avenue Hotel, across the track on Yakima avenue, and newly furnished throughout. G. I. Tougaw hrs charge of the dining room and everything in connection with the house will be run in first class shape.

HarryS ullivan, Claude Johnson and three other men from Seattle whose names are unknown, reached North Yakima Wednesday evening after a thrilling experience with train robbers just west of the Cascade tunnel. They were in a freight car, when five men with guns and knives came in and "went through" them, realizing over $50 in cash, besides watches and trinkets. Three of the men are at work here now and propose to try and apprehend the robbers, as they think they got much the worst of the deal, having previously paid the "brakey" their fare to Ellensburg.

Frank Jordan is improving his lots, on the west side and started in with the construction of abarn. Last Tuesday evening, accompanied by his wife and two children, he went after business hours to put in afew spare moments in weather-boarding the framework. The bracing of the frame had been removed without hisknowledge, and while he was at work putting on boards Mrs Jordan and the children were inside the framework, when a sudden gust of wind toppled the structure, which fell in and threw theinmates to the ground. Fortunately no one was hurt, the weight of the sides falling in such a way that, while the occupants were thrown the ground, they were protected and escaped miraculously without injury.

Hnmp yourselves, my brother painters,
Turn your notions inside out,
Clear your brain of moldy corners,
Think of what you are about.

Move your intellect so massive,
Get your thoughts a-runniug hot—
What about the work called "dobbing"
Is it rite or is it not?

Seems to me opinions differ,
And its mighty hard to guess
Who is the best sign writer
In this golden west.

And, you bet, there will be scrapping
In a manly sort of way—
Lots of chin and chatter,
Long before I break away.

Now I have a peaceful nature—
Like to have my days pass well;
Never even think of quarreling,
And a fight I've never seen (well).

So brother "dobs", my heart beats sadly,
When I think of troubles, blight,
Resting on myself and o hers
When I want to do the right.

So I'll quote my proposition,
Gently place it on your mind,
Tell you of its settling substance
Of the great results you find.

A Literal Construction.

In a school for colored children there was a little boy who would persist in saying "have went," says a contributor to The Christian Endeavor World.

The teacher kept him in one night and said:

"Now while I am out of the room you may write 'have gone' 50 times."

When the teacher came back, he looked at the boy's paper and there was "have gone 50 times." On the other side was written, "I have went home."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

IN ie "the third term," the ordinary citizen fails to see any "exalted patriotism" in a public officer declining a nomination for a "third term," or anything else, which, judging by all precedents, the American people will not tolera e or permit.

THE president-makers are having a busy season in furnishing candidates for that exalted position thus far before the nominations can finally be made. Having tired of enumerating possible democratic aspirants, they now make public the names of various available followers of the G. O. P. The public pulse has been pretty thoroughly felt on the proposition of running McKinley for a third term, and it seems the jury has rendered a unanimous verdict against the attempt. Gov. Odell of New York has loomed up in the political horizon like a lightning bug on a cloudy evening, and several other "prominent" republicans are mentioned in connection with the nomination. But Hanna—O, Hanna can have it if he wants it.

ARTHUR C. PEARSON, owner of about thirty English newspapers and periodicals, was in New York last week, and while there expressed the brutal opinion that all captured Boers should be lined up and shot. If this system had been inaugurated some time ago, he said, the war would now be over. Mr. Pearson evidently overlcoks the idea of retaliation on the part of the Boers if such measures had been adopted by their opponents. Over forty thousand British soldiers captured by the Boers have been liberated because they could not be fed and properly cared for. Fortunately for the British prisoners the officers in command of their armies are not so bloodthirsty as their patriotic fellow citizen, Mr. Arthur C. Pearson.

THE anti-slot machine law is now in effect, but there seems to be an understanding in some of the cities where the interdicted gambling device has been generally in use, that a test case of the enactment will have to be made before the objectional articles are removed. More especially is this the case in the matter of machines used solely for prizes of merchandise. Locally, most of the large machines have been closed, but in some instances it is claimed money prizes are still offered. From a common sense standpoint, anybody who plays the machine hoping for profit is, to say the least, of a remarkably optimistic turn of mind, and those who keep them "on tap" in the face of a popular law are very liable to incite such opposition that a crusade once started against slot machines may run into something more serious and injurious to the occupations of the owners.

A CONFERENCE of self-constituted "political reformers" met in Kansas City, Mo., and attempted to forestall even the socialists by the adoption of a platform demanding government ownership of everything. The nucleus of a new party was formed, and it was claimed by way of vindication of the platform that Wm. J. Bryan is in favor of it and the movement to form a new party. Whatever may be the ideas or intentions of this coterie of reformers, they will probably find that they do not fill a "long-felt want" in their endeavor to organize a new political party. This country has "parties" enough, and no good result can be effected by dividing the strength of the real "reform party" into antagonistic sections. These mistaken "reformers" will not find the country ready to open its arms and clasp it to its bosom as a real savior. Take things easy, gentlemen; there may be necessity for action along your lines when the democracy fails, but until then don't let the enemy "divide and conquer."

THE legislature at its last session provided for a board of geological survey, composed of Gov. Rogers, Lieut. Gov. McBride, Treasurer Maynard, President Graves of the state university, and President Bryan of the state agricultural college and school of science. This board at its recent meeting in Tacoma, elected Prof. Henry Landes state geologist, and Prof. Solon Shedd, D. A. Lyon and W. S. Thyng, assistant geologists. These persons will at once organize field parties and begin the work of making a geological survey of the state. At the outset the work will be along economic lines, and attention will be paid chiefly to the building stones, clays, coal fields, the ores of iron, copper, gold, silver, etc. The The officers of the geological survey desire to extend all the help within their power to everyone engaged in developing the state's mineral resources, and they invite correspondence with all citizens of the state who desire information along these lines. Minerals, ores, rocks, etc., for identification if sent to the state geologist, University Station, Seattle, will be promptly examined and reported upon. Only qualitative tests will be attempted of course, and assays or quantitative analyses will in no case be made. All specimens for examination should be accompanied by some descriptive matter stating the manner of occurrence, depth at which taken, and furthermore they should be ample in quantity.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN went to capture England and got away with their greatly beloved derby. His horse has a Russian name, and he also has some of the Yankee "get there Ely" in his make-up. The uselessness of Europe's carping at American prosperity and imagining how by some commercial or political league of all Europe it can be checked, is apparent by a reference to the pillars by which that prosperity is supported. The United States have 7 per cent. of the world's area and 5 per cent. of its population, and their population is increasing faster than any other country's. Their total wealth far exceeds that of any other nation—is at least fifteen billions greater than Great Britain's—and it is distributed per capita more evenly than any other nation's. Their money investment in colleges and schools of all grades and the number of pupils attending them are equal to those of any other two nations combined. They have 41 per cent. of the world's total railway mileage, and 12,000 more miles than the trackage of all European countries put together. They produce more gold than any other part of the world save Africa, more silver than any other country save Mexico, and coin annually about one-fifth of all the world's metallic money. They manufacture every year a greater total product than England, France and Germany combined. They produce 80 per cent. of all the world's cotton; cotton seed and corn, 40 per cent. of all its steel and other mineral products, 33 per cent. of all its coal, 30 per cent. of all its iron and all its grain, and 25 per cent. of all its wheat. These are the pillars of our Temple of Prosperity. Europe could not even shake them.—N. Y. World.

NEWS reports from Illinois concerning the campaign for the United States senate now being made by Senator Mason and United States Comptroller Dawes confirm the statement made some time ago by The Republic to the effect that Mr. McKinley was taking an active hand in the fight. The fact cannot longer be hidden from the people of Illinois that a national administration is interfering to an unwarranted degree in the politics of their state. It is unmistakably plain that in certain ways the full force of administration influence will be exerted in behalf of Mr. Dawes' election to the senate. Dawes, himself has been armed for the fray by means of important patronage placed in his hands by President McKinley. The administration lieutenants in Illinois affairs are working for Dawes tooth and nail. Between Senator Mason and Comptroller Dawes the choice should be made by the people of Illinois unhampered by outside interference. It is their affair. It is not within the province of any national administration to attempt to dictate such a choice. In this particular instance it does not legitimately matter that Senator Mason is distasteful to Mr. McKinley and that Comptroller Dawes is one of Mr. McKinley's political proteges. It is for the people of Illinois to say, without any assistance from Washington, whether they prefer Mason or Dawes. Under the healthiest conditions of state spirit, the fact that the administration machine is working for Dawes' election would defeat that candidate before the legislature. It would be well if this sort of rebuke were certain every time a national machine interferes in state politics. The people of Illinois possess an excellent opportunity to adequately insist upon their right to manage their own affairs. They should improve it.—St. Louis Republic.
