Dear Mr. Click:

The purpose of this letter is to inquire whether you have knowledge of any Indian petroglyph or pictograph that might be obtained by our department or whether you know of any individual, city, or organization that might be interested in donating such an artifact to us for permanent installation in the new Fine Arts building about to be completed on our campus. For many months I have attempted to gain information and contact people for assistance toward this objective but with no success.

Since this is the state institution of higher education nearest the original location of many fine petroglyphs and since the new art building will serve central Washington through its gallery and educational programs in the arts, it would seem very appropriate to feature such a prehistoric example of man's expression of his activities through art. If available and a choice were possible, we would prefer a configuration that included representations of both man and animal forms.

A place has been provided in an interior wall just outside the gallery entrance for the installation. Of course, if a piece is received as a gift appropriate recognition would be established.

Your early reply and any helpful information would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Louis A. Kollmeyer
Chairman: Department of Art
