Today Demands Men

Insurgent Movement Against Cannon and Aldrich Greatest Issue Before the Americans
By W. A. WHITE

No movement of late years promises so much for reform as the "insurgent" uprising in the republican party. It is a second populist movement and Kansas, the state that took the lead in the first uprising is a leader in this one. The following from the pen of the noted Kansas writer, William Allen White, which appeared recently in his paper, the Emporia Gazette, proves that the fight between Cannon and the people is the great issue in Kansas. What is here said of Kansas applies with equal force to the state of Washington:

Whatever success the forward movement has been in Kansas politics it has been due to the fact that in the main it has been unselfish. Thousands of men in townships and towns and cities have given their time and their money to it without hope of reward. They have not been office seekers. The office seeker has never bothered a man who was elected to any place by the progressive Republicans of Kansas. Patronage has never bothered Stubbs or Bristow, or Murdock or Madison, or any man in the house or senate who got his nomination and election from the people. Patronage is now an obsolete question in Kansas politics. No one cares who or what the men are who fill the offices in Kansas just so they are capable and honest. Stubbs has appointed only one man in all his administration who had applied for the job. He has gone out looking for the best man, and having found him has not cared whether he was a Catholic, Methodist, Quaker, Presbyterian, Republican, Prohibitionist or Democrat if the man could give the taxpayers the best service. In this Stubbs has been like Roosevelt, who had a Democrat or two in his cabinet and never let politics keep a man out of the public service. The forward movement in this state has been and must be an unselfish movement.

And there is a need now of men—unselfish, patriotic, strong, unswerving, to get into this congressional fight. The example of Mr. Mitchell, who is giving up a good law practice to run for congress in the second district, is a case in point. Mr. McNeal is taking the abuse and vilification of the machine in the first district. But men are needed in the fourth and fifth districts—men who are strong, brave, effective men, who can lead the forces of progressive Republicans against those of moss-back Cannonism in this state. The congressional fight is by far the most important fight now before the Kansas people. It shall decide whether Kansas is an asset of New England or an independent American state. In the progressive program of President Taft, in the struggle to free this country from corporate control, Kansas must be represented, as Kansas, not as a province of New England. Cannon is opposed and has said so in a score of public places, to postal savings banks, to the conservation of our national resources, to the licensing of corporations and to further federal control of railroads. Taft has declared for these things, and it will be the aim of Cannon and Aldrich to put jokers in the laws Taft asks for that will make them inoperative and useless.

Kansas should not send men to congress who by their records have shown that they prefer to stand by Cannon rather than by their constituents. Kansas should not send men to congress who in the compromise of government will surrender in advance the rights of Kansas in order to secure the favors of Cannon.

In the seventh and eighth districts Kansas has real representatives, but the other districts showed that they were for Cannon against all other considerations. Mitchell and McNeal and Cranston have stepped into the fight in the first, second and third districts. They should have the undivided support of every progressive Republican in those districts. But in the fourth, fifth and sixth districts—the fight between Cannon and the people of Kansas has not begun.

The times demand men. If this is to continue as a representative government, men who represent the people, and not the interests robbing the people, must be sent to congress. The issue is big and vital. Taxation without representation sent our fathers to war. We have a tax now upon us—the Payne-Aldrich tax—which was imposed upon Kansas because her representatives in the first six Kansas districts represented the desires of Cannon and did not rise insurgent and rebellious for the people of Kansas, whom these men were elected to represent.

The issue will sweep Kansas if unselfish men will get behind it. It is the biggest thing in American politics. The people are united. All that is needed is brave, wise, indomitable men.

Petitions are in circulation asking Messrs. A. E. Knerr and J. M. Richardson to become candidates for the position of school director. These are separate petitions and are numerous signed. It is understood that J. J. Miller, who is a member of the board will not be a candidate for re-election. Mr. Knerr is at present a member.

STEERS ON WINTER FEED.

Coffin Bros. Bring 300 White Faces From Upper Valley.

Three hundred white faced steers, the property of Coffin Bros. of this city have been brought down the valley from their summer grazing grounds in the Kittitas and taken to Parker to the Dunn ranch where they will be fed for the winter. Now that hay is so high in price Messrs. Coffin are considering the advisability of trying rolled barley as a portion of the winter ration. This can be fed as cheaply as a solid hay diet and with as good if not better results.

ALASKA COAL PROBE ON.

Glavis May Not Be Called As Witness in Famous Case.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 18.—The opening session of the inquiry into the filings on 38 coal claims in the Kattalla district of Alaska, known as the Cunningham group, which began here today before Special Commissioner McGee, was devoted to the introduction of documentary evidence. Government attorneys decline to state whether they will call as a witness L. B. Glavis, who had charge of the investigation, and who brought about the present inquiry.

COAL DISCOVERED.

High Grade Fuel in Large Quantities Found Near Nanum District.

Coal in paying quantities has been found in the Nanum and samples are on the way to Seattle to be analyzed. To all appearances the coal is a high grade quality of bituminous, equal in quality to that found in the northern section of the county and mined in Roslyn and Cle Elum. If tests show that the coal is all the finders believe it is prospects will open up and mining will begin.

William Pearson brought samples of the coal to the city yesterday and showed it to friends. He said the discovery had been made near the headwaters of the Nanum and that a 60-foot tunnel had been run to strike the top of the ledge. On striking the ledge one of the men was immediately sent down to have a sample analyzed, while others are working to discover the thickness of the ledge and to develop the prospects still further.

"Kittitas county coal will in time supply all the northwest with fuel," said a business man the other day. "I saw a sample of the Nanum coal and it seemed high grade stuff. I was informed that the prospectors in the Tanum had struck coal and are now working to find the size and the extent of the deposits. There is coal in the Menastash, Green canyon and others and I prophesy that in a few years Ellensburg will be the center of a vast coal field."

FOUR IDAHO COUNTIES TO TRY LOCAL OPTION.

Local option in four counties in Idaho, Wednesday, resulted in a surprise for the "wets." The "Dries" won Kootenai county by 138, Twin Falls by 900, Lincoln by 850 and Washington by 400. Couer d'Alene City went "wet" by 303, the city of Twin Falls went "dry" by a majority of 414; Shoshone went wet by a majority of one. St. Joe, Spirit Lake, and St. Maries were the other towns that voted "wet." In every case the country vote was overwhelmingly in the "dry" column, the thick of the fight centering in the larger towns.

Saturday evening, November 20 there will be held at the Grange hall an initiation of several persons.

The Lower Naches school is preparing to give an entertainment and social Tuesday evening of next week, for the benefit of the library and athletic funds.

Granger and the North Coast railroad have grasped hands and are content for the present to dwell together in peace and harmony. This is indicated by a stipulation filed with the superior court Wednesday in the action of Granger vs. the North Coast railroad. The town agrees to drop its action, which was for the opening of certain streets recently vacated by the county council for purposes of the railroad. In return the railroad agrees to construct a subway or a viaduct over and across South First street in Granger. Such viaduct, if constructed, must be of two steel girders each 40 feet long, supported by iron posts in concrete bases and there must be 13 feet in the clear. The railroad agrees to concrete the sidewalk on each side and across the street.

Granger agrees to dismiss the action as far as it affects Second street south and First street south as far as it affects Third street. The action regarding Third street stands pending settlement.

Work is in progress at the Yakima river, east of the city, and immediately south of the new highway bridge into the Moxee, on the construction of piers which will carry the spans of a bridge to be erected by the street railway company. The piers are being constructed under contract by C. E. Lum. No contract for the superstructure has as yet been made. Just when action in that regard will be taken is not known. It was the policy of the street railway company, in making its contract with Mr. Lum, to take advantage of the recent low water in the river, to get the piers established so that at any time in the future, between now and the next high water, or at any time it considers opportune, it may swing spans and thus carry its line from the city into the Moxee.

A right of way, in the nature of an extension of its Maple street and Sumach park branch, has been obtained by the street railway company to the bridge. Just at present the operations of the street railway company are to the west of the city. These operations, however, have about been brought to a finish for the present, and it is expected that the next scene of activity will be to the south and west of the city.

T. A. Davis has taken out a permit for the construction of a story and a half frame house at the northwest corner of Chestnut street and Seventh avenue South. The building will cost $1900.

Why Prohibition Fails

Some Views on the Subject of Local Option Guided by the Experience of the State of Iowa
By W. P. C. ADAMS

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 11, 1909.
Mr. W. A. Wyatt, North Yakima, Washington.

Dear Sir: In reply to yours of the 10th ult., will say that I have no published statistics at hand dealing with the subject of prohibition.

When I was a young man in Iowa, prior to the adoption of prohibition as a method of controlling the liquor traffic I took an active part in the temperance movement as a moral and ethical question. However, believing then as I do now, that prohibition as a method acts negatively upon minds endowed with reason, I naturally watched the effects of its adoption by the legislature of Iowa in 1882, and when in 1890, after eight years of fanatical enforcement of prohibition laws there was shipped into Iowa and sold to consumers 679,000 tons of intoxicants. I knew that prohibition as an affirmative force was a grievous farce. That the results of its trial had confirmed human experience through all time back to the first decree of prohibition on record, and, although the penalty for its violation was death, yet it was promptly disobeyed, demonstrating to the great law giver that he had at least succeeded in endowing a creature with more than instinct; even with the divine faculty of reason.

Another instance is a fact of record, viz, the introduction of potatoes into France in 1723. The French economist who first introduced them as food for the people had to overcome an established public antipathy to the tuber as fit for human food.

With the aid of the government he had converted all the available parcels of public lands into potato patches, the labor being performed by prisoners and soldiers.

The sale of potato-blossom bouquets at social functions of the elite at 20 francs per bouquet paid all current expenses for seed, etc. When the potatoes were ripe and ready for harvest and distribution among the people for seed a decree of prohibition was promulgated, to the effect that all persons were forbidden to trespass upon these grounds or to remove any of the potatoes therefrom. The penalty for detection was fine and imprisonment. Armed guards, duly instructed, patrolled every public potato patch in France, and what was the effect? Within three weeks after the notices of prohibition were posted the potatoes had all disappeared and the next spring everybody planted a patch of the stolen seed.

Prohibition, acting negatively, had overcome national vanity and public prejudice and the food problem of France was solved.

Our laws, state and national, forbid the sale of intoxicants to Indians. In Mexico it is different. There Indian blood may flow unmixed in the veins of the president himself, and everybody drinks what they like and as much as they please. Yet during the five years I lived among them I saw less drunkenness among the natives than could be seen in almost any railroad town in Iowa on Sunday under prohibition; and why? Because public opinion regards the person who drinks to excess just as we would regard a glutton at our table, hence they are and must be a law unto themselves. This rule and practice also holds good among the nomadic tribal Indians in that country.

One day at Nueva Laredo I followed a band of Kikapooos for three hours, who stoically refused all offers of drink from merchants before they had done their trading. Finally they found a man (Jose Fernandez) who was ready to do business without treating. Fernandez bought their commodities, such as pelts, tanned skins, jerked venison, soap root, fxtley (rope fiber), chilli chipinos, etc., and paid them in money. This they distributed among themselves. Then each bought for cash such goods as he wanted. Then they formed a pool and bought five gallons each of mescaj de meque and aqua diente. Then Fernandez treated all hands to uno copa para cada persona, after which they clinched their packs, mounted their ponies (this band of sober Indians, upon whom the negative effect of free liquor was each a law unto himself) and rode proudly away to their teepees among the mesquites that sheltered their unfenced, un-locked homes.

Local option is simply prohibition in spots. Yours for the cause of individual sobriety and virtue,

ROSE CRITICISED PRESENT MAYOR

Dr. Morton L. Rose Tells Men That it is by Their Votes That Improvement May Come.

Administration of public affairs in North Yakima, according to Dr. Morton L. Rose, has been such as to foster and encourage that which attacks the purity of the home. This fact was declared in the most emphatic terms by the clergyman in his Sunday evening address to his congregation and he declared that the remedy lies with the men of North Yakima who may, by their votes, put an end to existing conditions, and establish city affairs on a clean and proper basis.

A sentence from the republican party platform of several or more years ago furnished the text of the remarks of Mr. Rose. That sentence was "The First Concern of all Good Government is the Virtue and Sobriety of its People and the Purity of the Home." The government of public affairs in North Yakima, Dr. Rose said, did not consider the virtue and sobriety of the people and under the administration of Mayor Armbruster had fostered and encouraged that which attacked the purity of the home.

Under the administration of affairs in North Yakima, said the speaker, by the stimulus of a tax levied upon his energy, the saloon man was forced to ply his traffic with diligence. By the consent of the mayor, he said, brothels were protected and encouraged, to destroy the virtue of the people and the purity of the home. Dr. Rose disclaimed any personal attack on the mayor, saying that official is evidently as good as the people want and that every man who gave his consent and his vote to a continuance of his administration gave his endorsement and consent to the things he does.

Dr. Rose refuted the statement often heard that a man would grow more stalwart and energetic, morally, by contact with evil and the opportunity to overcome it and he defied any person to show him a man in public life who has come up from the environment of the brothel and the saloon. A blow was delivered to the high class saloon when the speaker said that the polished brass railings and the mahogany bar did not alter the effect of the liquor on the individual. Rescue workers in Seattle and Portland had told him, declared the speaker, that in their work among the fallen women of those cities they had found more girls and women recruited from Yakima than from any other section in proportion to population.

All these conditions, the speaker declared, cannot be rectified by prayers alone. Whenever the consent and authority of the men voting in support of the administration are withdrawn they will change. The gambling house, the saloon and the brothel, to play on the sisters and daughters, exist because the men of the city, by their votes, say that they may. The tears of wives, the prayers of mothers and the imperilling of the opportunities of childhood will not change or alter the conditions. But the votes of the men of North Yakima will if it is so desired.

NO CHANGES IN RESULTS.

City Dads Approve of Work of Election Judges, and Decide Not to Make Count of Ballots.

Members of the city council gathered in special session at the council chamber Friday afternoon to canvass the vote of the recent primary election. The matter was largely a formal proceeding, and no changes were made in the figures returned by the judges. Some disputed ballots were looked over critically by Messrs. Shaw, Schorn, Mull and Wight, the quorum present, but it was concluded not to hold any sort of a recount.

At the close of the meeting resolutions were passed declaring the winning candidates the nominees on the two tickets, and then the meeting adjourned. As in all council meetings there was considerable merriment going on as a side-issue. Mayor Armbruster made the hit of the day when he discovered that Councilman Miller had beat him by one vote on what he called "the silver republican" ticket, Miller getting six votes to Armbruster's five.

Out of a total of 2058 voters registered, there were 1563 ballots cast, which was a better showing than had been expected. Of these ballots 1271 were cast on the Business Men's ticket, and 292 on the republican ticket. The votes by the wards were as follows: Business Men's, first ward, 218; second ward, 263; third ward, 153; fourth ward, 202; fifth ward, 195; sixth ward, 240. Republican, first ward, 99; second ward, 34; third ward, 58; fourth ward, 23; fifth ward, 20, and sixth ward, 58.

The several candidates got the following number of votes on the Business Men's ticket: for mayor, P. M. Armbruster, 877; J. J. Miller, 353;

C. E. Lum, 10, and Nelson Smith, 2. For city clerk, J. C. Brooker, 1181; C. M. Hauser, 11. For city treasurer, C. R. Donovan, 1118; Joe Clift, 12. For city attorney, Frank J. Allen, 1136; David Rankin, 19. For councilman at large, Michael Schorn, 783; J. E. Banks, 386; H. F. Marble, 2. For councilman, second ward, D. F. Culver, 145; T. A. Noble, 87; H. R. Doust, 2. For councilman, fourth ward, A. C. Pease, 161; E. F. Moyer, 6. For councilman, sixth ward, Charles Wenner, 138; J. H. Corbett, 77; J. M. Ridgeway, 18.

Totals of votes for the candidates upon the Republican ticket were: for mayor, C. E. Lum, 136; Nelson Smith, 75; J. J. Miller, 6; P. M. Armbruster, 5. For city clerk, C. M. Hauser, 83; J. C. Brooker, 74; C. R. Donovan, 1. For city treasurer, Joe Clift, 192; C. R. Donovan, 25. For city attorney, David Rankin, 194; F. J. Allen, 21. For councilman at large, H. F. Marble, 77; Michael Schorn, 33; J. E. Banks, 32. For councilman, second ward, H. B. Doust, 26; T. A. Noble, 2; D. F. Culver, 1. For councilman fourth ward, E. F. Moyer, 10. For councilman, sixth ward, Charles Wenner, 15; J. H. Corbett, 13; H. Irwin, 9; J. M. Ridgeway, 2.

A review of the votes shows that Brooker, Allen, Donovan, Rankin and Clift all ran ahead of their tickets. According to the vote Mr. Brooker is the most popular man in the city, he receiving a total of 1255 ballots from both tickets. Mr. Allen came next with a total on both of 1157, and Mr. Donovan was the third best, with a total of 1143.

The vote for precinct committeemen in the different wards was badly tangled, and will have to be straightened out by the voters or the nominees. The results are as follows: First ward, C. M. Hauser, both parties; second ward, Nels Short, both parties; third ward, C. H. Bruce, business men's party, J. F. Kauffman, republican party; fifth ward, P. Frank, business men's party, H. F. Marble, republican party; sixth ward, H. Hughes, business men's party, B. O. Lum, republican party. Some of the committeemen chosen are not residents of the wards in which they were elected.

A jury of the superior court will go for an automobile ride this morning. It will start from the court house and make a trip to Parker Bottom, where it will inspect land owned by John A. Molsee and wife, which land is in litigation in condemnation proceedings instituted by the North Coast railroad. Attorneys Snively and Danson of the railroad moved the court Wednesday for a trip of inspection by the jury.

Porter Allenbaugh, and wife, through their attorneys, Allen & Wilson, have begun an action against "Lewella A. Hubbard, deceased." They ask to be placed in formal possession of property in North Yakima alleged to have been purchased by them under contract with the dead defendant, the terms of the contract having been fulfilled since her decease.

CRITICS NOW PRAISE RAILROAD STATION.

Structure Is About Ready for the Tiling of the Roof and For the Interior Work.

Words of praise for the station building which the Northern Pacific railroad is constructing in North Yakima are increasing in number and the progress of the work is being watched with growing interest by many citizens. When the work was in its early stages criticism and condemnation were frequent as it was thought that the building was to be very small, lacking in beauty and adornment and not what had been expected. In justice to the majority of the critics it may be said that they have, nearly all, changed their tune and now admit that the structure, when finished, will be a credit both to the railway and to the city. Those who protested at first in doing so showed their interest. Today they are showing it by taking friends to see what is being done.

The roof of the station building is to be covered with red tiling. An artist or a woman would give the color another name, but in a general way it may be described as red, though from the sample it appears that the coloring will be very soft. The work of placing this roofing will begin in a few days. When this, and the interior decorations of the building have been finished and the site of the present station parked the city will possess a railroad station of which it may feel proud.

MAY OPERATE UPON MAN TO FIND NAME

County Officials Puzzled at Case of "Mosette," Who Knows Nothing of Himself.

What seems to be a genuine case of amnesia, or lost identity, is at present puzzling local physicians and the county commissioners. The victim thinks his name is W. E. Mosette, of Boise, Idaho; and all that is known about him is that he was found in Naches City Friday, wandering aimlessly about. At that time he had no idea of his name or home address. He was taken in charge by Dr. West, and gradually regained his memory to some extent, and made a hazzard at his name and home.

Saturday morning the man was examined by Court Commissioner Cresap and Drs. West and Sloan. A slight abrasion was found upon his skull, with a depression in the bone beneath; and one of his eyes was somewhat bloodshot. It is believed from this that the man has recently sustained a blow upon the head, and that his skull has been forced in and is pressing upon his brain.

He says he does not know how he happened to be in Naches City, and can give no account of his past movements. The man may be turned over to the county commissioners, who may order an operation be performed in an effort to relieve the pressure on his brain. It is thought that possibly the man may have been attacked by thugs and beaten up near his home city, and may have wandered to the Naches, where he was found; but until he regains a further use of his memory, the officers have no clues upon which to work.

H. Saska, a Japanese, was acquitted by a jury in Judge Preble's court Wednesday afternoon of the charge of selling liquor to an Indian.

PRAISE FOR DR. FRANK.

City Officials Deeply Indebted to County Health Officer.

The city health department is very grateful to Dr. P. Frank, the county health officer, for the manner in which he has taken care of the needy of the city. Under the new law all residents of the city unable to care for themselves have been turned over to the county; and the city officials say that Dr. Frank has done very well.

In spite of rumors to the contrary, and the efforts of certain people to stir up trouble between the two offices, it was declared at the city health office that the relations of the city and county health boards were of the best, and that both were working in perfect harmony.

THERE STANDS MASSACHUSETTS.

Senator Lodge went on the platform in Massachusetts in the campaign just closed, and exhorted the people of that commonwealth to give the lie, by their votes, to the defamers of the Aldrich tariff "which means so much to Massachusetts." They listened to him—and then went and voted the democratic ticket. At least some scores of thousands of them did it who hadn't been in the habit of doing it before. For last year Massachusetts went republican by 100,000; the year before by 80,000. This year it lopped off a cipher and went republican by only 8,000. Why? Why was not Massachusetts with its big cotton and woolen mills all fattening off the tariff graft, eager to vote its thanks to the party that had authorized it to levy still heavier tribute on the rest of the country?

Because there are more people, even in Massachusetts, whom the tariff hurts than there are people it helps. And they are finding out the truth. The old fake about the tariff "protecting American labor" is played out. It doesn't. It grinds American labor down to the merest margin of subsistence—and pours the profits, all the profits, into the coffers of the corporations. Here are some figures just come out of Rhode Island, for example, where conditions are almost identical with those in Massachusetts. These figures are from the twenty-second annual report of the Rhode Island bureau of industrial statistics:

Wages of operators in woolen and worsted mills, $8 to $9 a week; 80 per cent of the operatives foreign born.

Wages in cotton mills, $7 to $8 a week; 80 per cent of operatives foreign born.

Wages in silk mills, $7 to $8 a week; 93 per cent of employees foreign born.

Wages in rubber factories, $8 to $9 per week; 70 per cent of employees foreign born.

Clearly protection doesn't mean a penny's worth of benefit to these people. If the tariff were wiped out entirely they couldn't be paid less—because they couldn't live on less. And they have to be kept from starving.

because their services are valuable to their employers, to society, to everybody but themselves! But protection does compel these same miserable, half-starved "protected American laboring men" to pay much higher prices for the cotton goods they buy, the woollens, the boots and shoes, the rubber goods—everything they help to make, just exactly as it compels the Nebraska farmer to pay more. And neither the employee or the farmer gets the remotest benefit. It all goes to the mill owner. All the employee and farmer gets is the privilege of living in the same country with trust magnates worth hundreds of millions of dollars, "earned" by passing the hat around among the rest of us while Uncle Sam compels us to contribute.—Omaha World-Herald.

ENORMOUS TRIBUTE.

The press dispatches say that the price of ready-made clothing will be increased on account of the Aldrich law to the amount of $120,000,000 in the aggregate—that is, that the purchasers of this kind of clothing will have to pay that much more than they did last year for the same amount. This does not cover the increase on other kinds of woolen goods, and it does not cover the increase as heretofore made because of the tariff on wool.

These figures, however, show what an enormous tribute is being collected from the people because of the 89 per cent tariff on woolen manufactures. When it is remembered that the tariff collected on wool amounts to about sixteen millions and that the tariff collected by the wool growers because of the tariff on wool amounts to some thirty millions, if the tariff is added to the price of wool, it will be seen that the manufacturers collect from the consumers a great deal more because of the tariff on wool than wool growers collect from the manufacturers. Who will say that a tariff on wool is in the interests of the masses? Who will say that justice to the wool growers requires that they be protected at such enormous cost to the taxpayers?

BY THE BENEFICIARIES.

When the Aldrich Tariff Bill passed Congress not more than two or three men knew what was in it. Some of the most innocent appearing paragraphs were found to contain unsuspected provisions. For instance:

One paragraph, as the bill passed the Senate, has provided for a reduction of the duty on hewn timber. When the measure got out of conference and was pushed to a final vote it was discovered that a new phrase had been introduced into that paragraph. It read, "Timber, hewn, sided, or squared otherwise than by sawing." The last four words were new, but nobody paid any special attention to them. Later it was learned that hewn timber today is saved, so the introduction of that phrase nullified the meaning of the paragraph. The real hewn timber of mercy has to come in under another general provision that increased the duty.

The joker wasn't put in by any one representing the people. It was the work of the beneficiaries of the lumber schedule. A measure prepared by its beneficiaries never gives the people a square deal.

Concerning President Taft's attitude on the waterways proposition, the Chicago Record-Herald, a republican paper, says: "The federal government, through President Taft, and twenty-three states of the union, through their governors, are flatly aligned against one another on the proposition, 'Shall work be started on the lakes-to-the-gulf deep waterway?' The acute line of opposition, it might be termed hostility, between the national government and the states was drawn this afternoon at the fourth annual convention of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway Association. President Taft, in the most notable utterance he has made on the question of deep waterways, went formally on record as being opposed to immediate action on the Mississippi improvement proposition. He indicated that only in the dim and hazy vistas of the future should work be begun. 'Do it later, some time in the future.' This is the position of President Taft. 'Do it now,' on the contrary, is the cry of the governors of the twenty-three states extending from Minnesota to Louisiana and from Maine to Washington. The president's speech was an intense disappointment to the delegates. The moment he had left the hall the governors of the twenty-three states became extremely busy on the platform he had just deserted, and proceeded to voice sentiments that were not at all in line with those of the president and which evoked a continuous roar of applause from those present."

The home merchant is the one who builds the city, the one who pays the heaviest taxes, who digs down in his pockets to maintain a thousand and one enterprises promoted by the people. The home merchant makes the growth of the city possible. His stock of goods is complete and you will find his prices as low and many times lower than any faking, cheating mail order concern. When you spend a dollar with a home merchant you have a chance to get it back. When you spend it elsewhere, you give your dollar a last fond squeeze. Are you going to invest your dollars at home or squander them abroad?

There are 820 state banks in Kansas. On September 29, the date of the last call, 355 of them were guaranteed under the state guaranty law. That left 465 state banks not guaranteed. Notwithstanding the fact that less than half of the state banks were guaranteed the guaranteed banks showed over two million dollars more of an increase in deposits than the non-guaranteed banks. This would indicate that the biggest and strongest state banks in Kansas are in the guaranty fund.

Under the headline of "The Wisdom of Silence," the Success Magazine prints the following story: "The late Judge Silas Bryan, the father of William J. Bryan, once had several hams stolen from his smoke house. He missed them at once, but said nothing about it to anyone. A few days later a neighbor came to him. 'Say, Judge,' he said, 'I heard yew had some hams stole t'other night.' 'Yes,' replied the Judge, very confidentially, 'but don't tell any one. You and I are the only ones who know it.'"

As he pays his 186 per cent tariff tax on socks, underwear, clothing and other such luxuries, how the breast of the average American toiler and consumer must swell with pride to know that radium, epinephrine, acid, chloroform, blue vitrol and several other such "necessities" are on the free list.

The Nebraska bank guaranty law has been killed by the Federal court, still the people demand and have a right to protection when placing their money in banks. But by the way, what right has a Federal court to interfere with a state law except on a case appealed to that court? Have sovereign states no rights that the Federal courts are bound to respect? If not, this is not a republic, but an empire.—Wichita Commoner.

Gypsy Smith told a Chicago congregation: "There is as much religion in the cutting up of an old dress and making it fit a street waif as there is in the pulpit and there is more religion in the taking of a friendless child out for a ride in your automobiles and leaving the pet dog at home than in going to church on Sunday and forgetting all the good you have learned the next day."

A total eclipse of the moon will take place November 27 and unlike that of June 2, will be visible here. Luna will be totally immersed in the earth's shadow from 2:14 to 3:36 a. m. Central time. The shadow of the earth is so much larger than the moon that at totality the rays of the sun being inward will produce a red halo about the darkened moon.

City councilmen of North Yakima declare that Mayor Armbruster is playing politics with the water plant purchase proposition. The reason nothing has been done in the matter of the negotiations for the plan, the councilmen say, is that Mayor Armbruster, from whom the next move should come, has made no such move, though repeatedly asked to make it. The reason the mayor makes no move is explained in this wise. He thinks the matter of purchase of the water system is one in which the public is vitally interested. He desires to make it appear that he would settle the question but that the council will not let him. He will therefore ask the citizens to elect him to office and a council which will stand behind him, whereupon the water question will be speedily disposed of. He will lay the blame of lack of action, they say, on the council, though in reality he is responsible. This is the political talk among certain of the councilmen.

The water company tendered its plan to the city for $331,000. This was at an informal meeting of the council. At the next regular meeting a committee was named, with the mayor as chairman, to negotiate for a lower price for the plant. A time was set for a special meeting to hear this report. That meeting was never held. Later, however, a part of the council got together at the informal report that the purchase could be made for $310,000. It was agreed among the councilmen to vote to submit the question of purchase to the people.

The report submitted by the water company as to the things it would sell the city at the figure was not satisfactory and a second and more satisfactory inventory was made. Messrs. Allen and Riggs, attorneys, who were representing the city, were instructed to get together on the formal proposition and draw up an ordinance submitting the matter to a vote.

City Engineer Doolittle, while these things were being done, prepared and turned over to the mayor a report, which report is still in the possession of his honor. Upon the turning over of this report by Mr. Armbruster to the city council the question will come up logically for discussion. Not only has it not been turned over to the council but councilmen say that Mr. Armbruster has further blocked proceedings by refusing authority to City Attorney Allen to go to Spokane to arrange preliminaries with the counsel of the water company.

The contention is therefore made by councilmen that the matter is entirely up to the mayor and that he is the person who has delayed action as he has neither produced the report or made answer when asked in council proceedings about it.

Error Results in Peculiar Mix-up on West Side of City.

Through an error one of the leading physicians in the city, the health department was recently notified that there was a case of diphtheria on North Second avenue. City Health Officer Nywening promptly visited the house and posted quarantine notices, much against the wishes of the people living there. Complaint led to an investigation, and it was found that the sickness in the family consisted of a case of typhoid fever.

As soon as the mistake was reported to the health office, orders for the removal of the quarantine were given, and the sign forbidding entrance to the house was removed. The mistake was made through the fact that the doctor concerned recently had several diphtheria cases, and was thinking of this disease when he made out the report of contagious diseases.

MULLINS TO BUILD ON CHESTNUT STREET

Will Erect Building on Property at South Second Corner Just Purchased by Him.

A new building on Chestnut street is one of the certainties of the not very distant future. It will be built by Pat Mullins who, however, may defer all work until the spring of the year. Speaking of the Oxford property, corner Chestnut and South Second streets, purchased by him a few days ago for $25,000 from E. Cosgrove Mr. Mullins said that he proposes to improve the property. He will rehabilitate the present building and on Chestnut street, where there is a 52 foot frontage unimproved, he will erect a three story building and connect it up with the building now on the corner.

Makes a Good Purchase.

In his purchase of the property a few days ago Mr. Mullins paid $6000 more for it than he could have procured it for a year ago. Not only that but, he added "whoever buys it from me now will pay sufficient of an advance to cover the cost of the legal papers at least." Stated in other terms this means that Mr. Mullins believes the property worth $10,000 more than he paid for it. This opinion is generally held by a large number of business men who think that the buy was one of the best transactions in city property which has taken place in North Yakima for a long time.

Those interested in the formation of the new Y. W. C. A. are very anxious that all members be present at the big banquet which is to be given at the Methodist church this evening. Not all addresses could be secured and consequently the invitations sent out do not include the whole membership. To include all, the invitation is extended through the newspapers.

CHARGES AGAINST CHAS.

HAYNES BY ATTORNEY KING

Charles Haynes, formerly of North Yakima and at one time connected with a leading mercantile house here, is held at the county jail on the charge of burglary, it being alleged that he entered the drug store owned by Hodgson and Bannister at Wapato on Thursday night and took numerous articles from the store. Some of these, it is claimed, were found in Haynes' possession, including a watch and a fountain pen, both identified by one of the proprietors of the drug store.

Wapato has had two burglaries recently, one of a pool room and the other of the drug store. The authorities traced the latter case carefully and claim to have the best of evidence against Haynes. He was held to the superior court with bonds fixed at $1,000 by Justice Verran.

Other Charges Made.

Indications are that Haynes has simply jumped from the frying pan into the fire by coming to the county jail from Wapato, for he had scarcely been placed behind the bars when Attorney King, who has been in the jail for some time, heard that Haynes was locked up and made some rather startling charges.

King claims that Haynes collected $27.50 from King's friends, promising to pay the amount on checks which King had passed and for which he had no funds in the bank. King adds that the amount was never used for his benefit, and that he received no assistance from the fund subscribed.

The attorney also claims that Haynes took his keys, including his postoffice key, with the promise that he would deliver King's mail to him at the jail, and that he neither returned the keys nor delivered the mail. He says that mail sent him by his relatives was intercepted and blames Haynes for this. If the latter charge is true, it is the most serious allegation against Haynes.

Sheriff Lancaster was asked by King to have Haynes placed in the same corridor with the attorney, but declined to change his plans of having King on one floor and Haynes on another. The attorney says that he desires to have an interview with Haynes and see what he knows about his keys, his mail and the money subscribed by King's friends.

Monday night a woman called up the mayor and said she had learned that property at the corner of Front and Spruce streets had been bought for immoral purposes. The mayor ordered a policeman stationed in front of the premises. Later it developed that Councilman Smith had purchased the property, and now several questions are being asked all at once.

Among North Yakima visitors are Mr. and Mrs. D. Hewitt of Auckland, New Zealand. The couple have been traveling in America for some months and came to North Yakima on the recommendation of George Wilson of this city.

Charles Hauser of the Horticultural union is among the North Yakima visitors at the National Apple show at Spokane.

SQUABBLE MAY HURT CITY'S

CHANCES OF GETTING PLANT

The absence of interest in the water question at the meeting of the council Monday was the subject of general conversation upon the street Tuesday. Many people wondered what had become of the recent desire to purchase the plant of the Northwest Water & Light company. It was also remarked that for the past three days the pressure had once more become poor.

Mayor Armbruster, when asked about the council's failure to take any action in regard to the purchase of the water plant, had but little to say. "People have been shooting off their mouths to the effect that I was anxious to rush the water purchase through the council," he said. "So, just to refute this statement, I have decided to leave the matter up to the council. If the city fathers really want to purchase the water system, they can go ahead and do so, they have the power to start the ball moving. I shall not bring the matter up during the present council—but I know what the next council will do with the matter."

May Withdraw Offer.

From other sources it was learned that there is quite a possibility of the present negotiations falling through, unless the council takes immediate action in the matter. The water company officials feel that they have not been fairly treated by the councilmen and it was reported that the offer made by the concern would not be held open after the first of the year. It was said that if the city fathers did not take action before the last meeting in December, and so get the preliminary steps under way, that the company would consider all offerings off.

Relative to the recent failure in pressure locally, it was said that the leak at the crossing of the pipe line beneath the Naches river had again broken open; but that workmen were engaged in making repairs, and that a full pressure would soon be restored. The company is desirous of keeping its system in the best possible repair, regardless of whether or not the system is to be sold to the city.

Hitch Puzzles All.

Just why there should be a hitch in negotiations at this time, regarding the purchase of the water works, is not known. After the first hitch in the proceedings, due to a misunderstanding on the part of the councilmen as to what the company had offered for sale, this matter has been thoroughly gone over by attorneys representing the water company and the city, and the water company has agreed to sell the city for the purchase price of $310,000, all the equipment that the city specified in its agreement. Matters had advanced to a stage where the tentative form of the agreement was to be drawn up between the attorneys; when suddenly all action in the matter was dropped.

This cessation of activity coincided with an increased activity in rumors to the effect that the mayor was trying to "boss the whole works." Mr. Armbruster has since up to the council, and that if the people wanted the water system, it was up to them to urge their councilmen to get busy and take up the work. As a matter of fact the mayor, alone, cannot do anything further in the matter at this time; and apparently the council does not care to. So there the matter rests.

ITALIAN THINKS HE MAY

GET MONEY FROM ROBBER

Suit was entered by publication Tuesday in a rather unusual proceeding by Allen & Wilson, attorneys. The suit is nothing less than an attempt on the part of a victim of a hold-up to recover some of the money taken from him by his assailants. And, owing to the peculiar circumstances of the case, the victim will probably get about a tenth of his money back.

Raffaole Cipriani, an Italian laborer, is the plaintiff, and C. Loreto and Joe Croste are named as defendants. The two defendants recently worked for a local railroad company, and they are served with notice in the papers to appear in justice court and show cause why they should not pay to the plaintiff $14.75 each, which sum they are said to owe him. As they will probably not appear, garnishee proceedings have been started against their pay from the railroad.

Some two or three weeks ago the two defendants, so it is charged, attacked and held up the plaintiff, and took from him about $200. At this time they were each of them indebted to him for the sum of $14.75. Immediately after the hold-up the two Italians departed for parts unknown, and have since not been seen. Cipriani, therefore, wants to get all the money he can, and has asked the attorneys in the case to collect for him the $29.50 the men owe him from their paychecks on the railroad. As they will probably not appear to fight the case, the victim stands a good chance of getting at least a part of his money.

It was reported on the street Tuesday that a move was to be made to have the Lund and Shallow saloons closed inasmuch as they were operating without a license. The renewal of these two licenses were recently held up by the council, pending the settlement of a financial dispute on an old assessment district; but the council held the bond and license fee, and gave the saloons permission to operate until the matter was settled. The council having done this, the saloons cannot legally be closed.

An increase of its capital stock from $20,000 to $40,000 has been decided upon by the Valley Hardware company of which Harry W. Sprague and Jerry F. Okey are the officers. Formal notice of this was filed by the corporation with the county auditor Tuesday.

PHYSICIANS REPORT

GENERAL HEALTH GOOD

Inquiry made at the city health office and of leading physicians in the city reveals a remarkable absence of serious illness in North Yakima at this time of the year. The physicians report that typhoid fever has almost completely disappeared, and that the general health of the community is remarkably good. Very few cases of sickness of any sort are reported, and the doctors find that "business is poor," which will be welcome news to the community.

All physicians have agreed, however, that in the present wet weather it is well for parents to see to it that their children are provided either with rubbers or with heavy-soled shoes; as the present conditions are conducive to sore throat, tonsillitis and pneumonia. The common sore throat, the physicians say, may lead to a number of more serious illnesses, and all such cases should be reported to the family doctor at once, and not treated at home.

The fact that the autumn and early winter has passed with such little sickness is considered most creditable to the neighborhood, and to its general sanitary condition. The recent report of the state health board shows that North Yakima, during the years 1907 and 1908 had an excellent record; and the later records as shown by the inquiries made by a Herald reporter, seem to indicate that the record is being improved.

Articles of incorporation of the Evangelical Lutheran Emanuel church of North Yakima were filed Tuesday with the county auditor. The incorporators are Herman Lind of Seattle and A. G. Peterson and Alfred D. Johnson of North Yakima. The church will be governed by the rules of the Evangelical Lutheran Augustana Synod of North America.

Scaffolding has been almost entirely removed from the new Northern Pacific depot, and the building may now be seen in the completeness of its design. Comments made on the structure are generally favorable.

YOUNG WOMEN ARE WINNERS

Membership . . . Required . . . Has . . . Been Reached and Organization Will Be Pushed at Once.

Four hundred and fifty members, forty-four of whom are sustaining, is the record of members of the Young Women's Christian association. This is the number needed for the undertaking and consequently the organization of the association will be made without delay. Incidentally it may be said that the organizers, or as it were the charter members of the association are delighted with the success which has attended upon the efforts to procure among the ladies of North Yakima and vicinity a sustaining membership. They met at the library at 5 o'clock last evening and when it was seen that the required list was made up there was rejoicing. But one little thing was a mar to unalloyed happiness and that was that the sustaining membership list had not reached the total of fifty considered to be essential. However it was determined to make this total before Wednesday next. Volunteers to that list are solicited.

Mrs. E. W. Brackett, by her work in the interests of the association becomes the owner of the gold pin presented by Miss Frances Gage to the worker who presented the longest list of new members to the association. Her list was 68.

A surprise of the meeting was the fact that the south side of the city which has all along been second to the north side in the membership race had taken the lead and is now 10 to the good.

There is to be a membership banquet at the Methodist church on Wednesday, the ladies of the church to serve it, and at that time further reports will be made. Miss Gage is expected to come to North Yakima on Monday.

The three members of the Thompson family, in Highland Park addition, who have been ill with diphtheria, have entirely recovered. Two children and Mrs. Thompson were ill with the disease.

ANOTHER ROAD FOR THIS CITY

Three Big Railroads to Centre Central Washington Traffic in This City Is Present Plan.

That North Yakima is about to fulfill its destiny and become the railroad centre of Central Washington is the belief of business men and others who have been watching the railroad news of late. Following close upon the announcement made exclusively in the Herald Sunday morning, to the effect that the Portland extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul was to tap this city, news was received Monday by way of Spokane that the Northern Pacific cut-off which has been prominently rumored for the past month, has at last been definitely decided upon, and was to reach this city also.

A hint of this plan was contained in the Sunday papers published in Spokane, the announcement there being made locally. A gentleman closely allied with Northern Pacific construction work reached this city Monday afternoon on the west bound limited, and confirmed this Spokane report. He said that Northern Pacific engineers had decided the most feasible cut-off route lay from Connell, on the present main line east of Pasco, almost due west to the Columbia in the neighborhood of White Bluffs, then bending southward through the Hanford country, and thence west parallel with the route announced Sunday for the new Milwaukee line, down through the Moxee, and into North Yakima.

This gentleman, whose identity is withheld at his own request, said he would not be surprised if the present Donald road extension into the Moxee was used for the latter part of this cut-off, so bringing the Northern Pacific into the city along G street. Ample right of way for a double-tracked road had been secured, he said, and he added that the cut-off would be of standard double-track construction.

This is in line with previous reports about the Moxee extension of the Donald road, none of which, incidentally, have been denied by Mr. Donald. Such a route for the Northern Pacific would give that road access to the new wheat country now being developed along the Columbia, and would also add yet another road to the rich Moxee region which is at present much in need of adequate transportation facilities.

The construction of this cut-off, taken together with the construction work outlined by the other roads, would make North Yakima the hub of a veritable wheel of railroads, all tapping rich agricultural regions. Then the city would become the principal shipping point for the Naches, the Ahtanum, the lower Yakima valley, the Moxee, and the territory to the east and north which is now being developed.

Furthermore, this shifting of the Northern Pacific main line to the new cut-off is in line with the announcements made heretofore in regard to the Hill policy in the state of Washington. With the Great Northern building down the Columbia, and making a water-grade outlet to Portland over the North Bank for the produce of the Inland Empire, it has been felt all along that Hill was going to let the present territory of the Northern Pacific shift for itself. With the Milwaukee cutting into this territory from Yakima to the west, Hill has centered his efforts in draining the lower valley through Pasco.

The move of the Northern Pacific, therefore, to extend a line from Yakima through the new wheat country, along the Columbia, and joining its old line at Connell, guarantees this road a continued traffic from the Yakima valley and from the Hanford district that even Hill cannot take from it. The report that the N. P. cut-off will follow this route comes from sources not easily contradicted, and is in line with the reaching out of the Donald road heretofore told in these columns.

Citizens of North Yakima may therefore expect shortly to find themselves in the heart of new railroad construction work, and later to find this city one of the most important shipping points on the Northern Pacific, the North Coast, and the Milwaukee roads.

CAMERON WILL BE FILED FOR PROBATE

The will of the late Samuel J. Cameron was filed with the probate court Saturday by Bruce Milroy. The entire estate is left, without reservation to Mrs. Cameron, to whom are entrusted the three children to be educated by her and be granted equal privileges in the estate. Especial stipulation is made in the will that Mrs. Cameron is to have a free hand in the management of the property without interference in any way from the courts or without any formality whatever, except that necessary in the probating of the will. The document was drawn in August of this year, at a time when Mr. Cameron was in perfect health and when he had every reason to anticipate that his life would be a long one.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION PLAN

Voting Places and Names of Judges and Clerks Are Announced by Secretary.

Candidates for the position of school director of the district embracing North Yakima must be named by petition and the petition must be filed with Secretary B. F. Registration books are now open and will remain open until Nov. 27. Women are entitled to vote in school elections, provided they register. All citizens who have registered this year on the books of City Clerk Brooker are entitled to vote in the school election. STRAHORN BUYS RIGHT OF WAY

Half a Mile Strip Eighty Feet in Width Is Taken From the Wheeler Ranch.

Half a mile of right of way for its railroadline was purchased by the North Coast Friday beginning at Union Gap and running north, or along the line of the right of way of the Northern Pacific railroad. The strip is 80 feet in width and was purchased from Thomas A. Wheeler of Yakima City. The purchase price has not been made public. Negotiations are on foot for a similar strip from the Alex McAllister ranch and from adjoining properties.

The railroad is represented in its negotiations by Mr. Butler, its right of way agent. He transacted his business with Mr. Wheeler Friday evening and came into possession of a half mile strip beginning right at the gap and running north as far as the Barker mill race. This land lies immediately west of the Northern Pacific tracks and adjoins the N. P. right of way.

Representatives of the North Coast have stated that the line proposes to operate a train between this city and Kennewick before the expiration of its North Yakima franchise in March and is preparing to do so.

City Attorney Allen made a business trip to Toppenish Wednesday afternoon.

TAFT'S SPEECHES UNSATISFACTORY

"His Excuses Have Not Excused—His Defenses Have Shattered Confidence in Him—At No Time Has He Sounded the Moral Tone, and His Trip, Now Over, Has Thus Been a Failure."

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The west is dissatisfied with the tariff and, in a measure, with President Taft. After eight weeks of travel covering some 12,000 miles, and a careful canvass of public sentiment in Minnesota, the two Dakotas, Colorado, Montana, Washington, Oregon and California, that is my conclusion, says the special representative of the United Press.

There is no real difference between the "Pacific Coast West" and the so-called "Middle West" on these subjects. Cannon, Aldrich, the tariff and the "central bank plan" are not endorsed by the great body of electors any more in California than in Illinois. When one gets down to the real sentiment of the people—down through the upper layer of "business interests" and the professional politicians—the people are found to be just as "progressive," just as "insurgent" in their thought in Oregon and Washington as they are in states like Kansas, Iowa or Wisconsin.

Politically considered, President Taft's trip has not been a success. His excuses for the tariff have not excused. His defense of Aldrichism has not increased the confidence of the public in the Rhode Island statesman, but has helped to shake the public's confidence in Taft. The average voter does not understand how there can be any partnership between the Roosevelt policies and the Aldrich-Cannon-Payne-Tawney combination. And nothing in the president's speeches has really explained this partnership.

President Taft was stronger before his trip than he is today. The people everywhere have been sincerely anxious to believe in Taft. They took him on the faith of the endorsement he received from President Roosevelt, and they hesitate to think that Roosevelt was deceived. They have been most patient and have hung to the hope that Taft would still "make good."

Accumulating evidence is gradually breaking down that hope. Things like the Ballinger affair have helped. Taft seems in all these things to be on the anti-people side. He begins by endorsing Aldrich; he goes along with a plea for "party regularity" as of more importance than "revision downward"; he builds up Tawney and the Cannon organization in the house of representatives; he recommends the Wall street plan for "currency reform," and at the suggestion that the Roosevelt policies be carried out he responds with talk of "compromise." At no time or place does he sound the moral note.

Such is the complaint as I have heard it on my travels. And then the people have asked me: "What does it all mean? You are supposed to know."

As to that the facts must be the only answer. If President Taft carries on the fight which Roosevelt carried on, then he is faithful to his trust. If he makes peace with the common enemy—the man who violates the law, whether he be rich or poor—then the trust has been betrayed. I have said there is a strong undercurrent of dissatisfaction. This is shown also on the surface in many ways. It was manifest in the coldness which marked the president's reception. It has been many years since the progress of a president has been so faintly cheered.

It was shown also by the editorial tone of the western press. Even the conservative papers in this section have declined to go with Taft in his whitewash of Ballinger, his bill of health to Aldrich, his O. K. of Mr. Tawney, and his statement that the tariff bill is the best measure of the sort that could be had.

Even more significant is the disposition of the professional politicians to trim their sails. Already there are numerous republicans in the house of representatives who are hastening to save themselves by picking Speaker Cannon as the "Jonah" of the ship. They gladly welcome "Cannonism" as the issue, and hope to stave off the popular storm by heaving Cannon overboard. They say they will pledge themselves to vote for some other member as next speaker, and even to try for a "revision of the rules" if they are nominated and returned to congress.

All this is most significant. It means that those veterans of public life have placed their sensitive ears to the ground and have heard the distant rumblings. They are seeking shelter from the storm.

The fight for the control of the house of representatives may be said to be already on. The leaders see that all signs point to an overturning in that body. Either the democrats will control or the republican insurgents will replace the members who worked and voted for the Aldrich tariff act. In either case it is a poor augury for another term for Taft. His fortunes are bound up with men and measures he has tried on this trip to justify. Defeat of that brand of "stalwartism" headed by such men as Tawney, Payne and Cannon implies defeat for Taft.

SALARY MAY BE HELD UP

TROUBLE FOR DR. FRANK

Residents of North Fourth Street Extension Plan Action Before County Commissioners.

As a sequel to the death from malignant scarletina of two children living on the North Fourth street extension, and the reputed failure of County Health Officer Frank to take proceedings against a man named Fyan, from whose unsanitary premises it is alleged the epidemic in the neighborhood started, a movement is on foot to make all the trouble possible for the county health officer.

The latest phase of this movement is to be an attack upon the county health officer's salary, it is reported. The men behind the move do not desire to have their identity revealed at this time, but say that when the matter is brought up in an official way, their names will appear. The plan will come to light in the county commissioners' office at the first meeting of the next month, when the bills are audited.

Protest to be Made.
 At this time a protest against the payment of the county health officer's salary will be filed. Objection to the payment of the salary will be based upon the charge that the county health officer is illegally holding office, according to the laws of the state. The present incumbent of the office was appointed by the county commissioners; and according to the laws of the commonwealth, all county officers should be elected by the people. It will therefore be charged that as Dr. Frank was not elected a county health officer, he is not entitled to the salary of the position.

This matter was brought up under another guise in King county some time ago, when the county commissioners appointed a man jail physician. The matter was taken to the court, and the place was ruled illegal, inasmuch as it was appointive. The jail physician was not allowed any salary under the decision of the court. This ruling, as well as another one in a similar case, will be cited to the county commissioners when the protest on the salary of the county health officer is filed.

Case May Go to Court.
 Should the commissioners not regard the petition favorably, it is reported that legal action will be instituted, and a writ asked to prevent the commissioners from paying any further salary to the county health officer. If the matter is forced into court, it is further said that the county health officer will be asked to refund to the county all money he has received as salary of his office since appointment.

People living in the neighborhood of the Fyan place are much aroused over what they term the lack of action taken in the case by the county health officer; and this official is also severely censured for not quarantining the two fatal cases of scarletina until after one of the children had died. Dr. Frank declares that he quarantined the house as soon as the matter was reported to him, but that the physician in charge did not report the cases in time. The physician maintains that he did notify the county health officer.

Engagement Announced.
 The engagement of Miss Marial James, prominent socially and a singer of note in Spokane, to Edward Arnold, of North Yakima, has been formally announced, and, although the date of the wedding has not been set, the supposition is that it will take place some time this autumn. Mr. Arnold, a graduate of an eastern agricultural college is a well known horticulturist of the Naches valley, having charge of his father's large ranch at Sinclair siding where Mr. Arnold and his bride will make their home.

A hawk, in hot pursuit of a pigeon, flew against a window of the land office in the Miller building Thursday and as a result was unconscious on the roof of the adjoining building for ten minutes. The stork has been flying about the land office lately and has alighted twice, so the representatives of Uncle Sam got nervous when a bird approached. Mistaking the hawk for the other bird they forgot to watch what became of the pigeon.

Messrs Dash & Briggs, North Yakima's newest real estate firm, will open their new offices at 9½ North Second street, Monday. The office is centrally located, is nicely furnished and an ideal place for business. The members of the firm are well known citizens, conversant with every inch of Yakima county, good business men and experienced in the lines they are undertaking.

Quartz mining claims have been staked out by A. B. Wilcox, John Michels and S. S. Foster the claims being just below North Yakima, a half mile south of Union Gap. There are seven claims in all in section 19-12-17.

Miss Ahalt, school teacher of Modern Addition school, who was seriously injured a few days ago in a runaway accident, is able to be at the school again. She has not entirely recovered from the injuries.

A delegation of Knights of Pythias from this city, including the drill team, will attend the district convention of the order in Roslyn on November 27. The local team, which has won prizes at both Ellensburg and Prosser, hopes to bring back a trophy from the coal town.

GRANGE WANTS A GRAND JURY

A grand jury investigation of county administration has been asked by Sunnyside District of Pomona Grange. A resolution to that effect was passed by the grange at its meeting on Saturday last and Judge Preble of the superior court is to be asked to take action looking to the obtaining of such a jury. Action by the grange members followed on an elaborate report made by a committee consisting of R. R. McClure, Frank F. Morris and H. D. Jory. This committee was in North Yakima and spent three days or more in an examination of records in the office of the county auditor. It complains that it had not authority to compel witnesses and for that reason asks for the grand jury which will be in a position to obtain any additional facts, if there are such.

The committee's report, says the Outlook Journal, is not very flattering to the county officials. It was found, according to the records, that there is more or less crookedness in the expenditure of county moneys, and in some instances no records could be found which would show for what purpose the moneys had been used or the extent of the graft.

The investigation was started by taxpayers in this district, when it was stated by Mr. Galtz, overseer of the third district that there were no funds to its credit. Those who had been keeping tab on expenditures in the district, knew there should be in the neighborhood of $3000 on hand and when the matter was brought to the attention of the Grange, a committee was appointed, and Wallace Goodsell as a member of the committee placed the matter before the county board, all of whom, with the exception of Commissioner LeMay, were greatly surprised to learn of the true condition of affairs. The following taken from the Northwest Forum, the editor of which was a member of the committee elected by Pomona Grange, throws some light on the channels in which it appears many of the dollars have gone:

Charles F. Bailey of Granger was a North Yakima visitor Thursday.

Mrs. J. M. Perry has gone to Spokane to the National Apple show.

Harry B. Averill of the Burbank Land company left Thursday afternoon for Seattle.

Mrs. H. C. Hillman, of Seattle, is in North Yakima visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roney.

H. C. Davis has returned to North Yakima from a trip to Granger where he went to look after the construction work on his new dairy barn.

Hay hauling was a very active industry Thursday and an unusually large quantity was placed in cars for shipment.

E. L. Roney, who has been to Spokane in attendance at the National Apple show, returned to North Yakima. He says that the apple display is interesting.

Rev. B. H. Abbott, presiding elder of the Free Methodist church for this district will preach at the Gospel mission at the corner of Second avenue and Chestnut street Sunday.

J. W. Watson, aged about 60 years, a stranger and apparently a friendless man, died in the St. Paul Lodge house Thursday of heart disease. He will be buried by the county.

Ernest Fear has sold for $4000 to Dr. J. B. Burns lot 11 block 291 South Fifth avenue. This is the lot adjoining that at the corner of Chestnut street which, it is expected, will become an important thoroughfare on each side of the tracks. Mr. Fear is increasing his holdings in Skagit county.

John Valentine, the "jack of all trades" who has been employed by Contractor McCloud on the sewer work south of the avenue, found the recent notoriety given him too much for his system, and has been absent from duty for some days, presumably getting used to having become famous so suddenly.

The Central Heating Plant filed its new bond with the city attorney Thursday. The company also applied to the street superintendent for an inspector to watch work through the paved streets, and Mr. Powell was appointed.

One of the finest collections of engravings seen in this city for some time is an exhibition in Mr. Brokaw's gallery at the Flint-Shaw rooms. The engravings and etchings are mostly reproductions of classical pictures. Among the lot is a hitherto unprinted head of Lincoln.

City Engineer Doolittle will open bids for the sewer work in the old city hall this morning. The work will take the place of the present unsatisfactory drain in the building.

Miss Gertrude Storah left Thursday for a visit of two weeks with her brother, Mr. J. C. Storah of Walla Walla and her sister, Mrs. J. C. Kromberg, of Spokane Wash.

An action has been instituted by J. M. Perry & Co., against Messrs. Linbarget & Kelso to recover $100 paid as an earnest in a business deal regarding the sale of potatoes. The defendants answer alleging that they were prepared at all times to carry out the contract, which was for the sale of 72 tons of potatoes at $36 per ton. This was in the spring.

A monster petition is being circulated among the business men and leading citizens of the city in support of O. A. Fechter for member of the board of education. The petition was started out Thursday.
