Dear Mr. Relander:

As requested in your letter, we are enclosing copy of "Information Circular 7870". There is no charge for publications distributed from this office.

The Bureau of Mines was established in 1910, and the earliest publications on smelting and foundry handling were "Report of Investigation 3920" and "Information Circular 6955". Our supplies of both these publications have been exhausted.

Your nearest public or technical library may have publications or information where you can obtain the publication on this subject around the Civil War. They may also have copies of our publications.

Yours very truly,

Adeline L. Fell
