JONES WANTS THE TOGA.

Yakima Congressman a Candidate for the Senate--In Order to Secure Home Support, He Makes a Deal With the Ring. Some Interesting Scraps of Local Political History.

The DEMOCRAT is informed that a very specious argument is being used in order to make votes for the republican legislative nominees in this county. This argument is that, if elected, the republican candidates will probably support Congressman Jones for the United States senatorship. That this statement is true is very likely, as the Republic, the organ of the Yakima ring, from time to time, has urged this point upon the voters in its editorial columns. To those who are familiar with the inside workings of republican politics in this county, there is something amusing in this hypocritical plea for votes. If there was any sincerity of purpose in the minds of those who are making it, or if Jones were worthy of such support, the DEMOCRAT would refrain from criticism; for this paper, though confessedly partisan, is nevertheless animated to a considerable degree with what is known as the "Yakima spirit." What we mean to say is that when a choice is to be made as between republicans for high honors, the DEMOCRAT is in favor of a Yakima republican in preference to a republican from any other part of the state; providing, always, that the local candidate is a big enough man mentally to measure up to the required standard. If he be not such a man he is not, according to our view, entitled to any support whatever.

Now, to begin with, the North Yakima ring, which successfully dictated the nomination of the republican ticket in this county, has no particular love, and never did have, for the Hon. W. L. Jones. If the reader does not believe this statement let him examine the record and be convinced. During the 14 years' residence of Mr. Jones in this county, he never did succeed in getting his name upon the county ticket for any office whatsoever, although he was a constant, perennial candidate for one thing or another for ten long years. The party bosses, let it be known, regarded him as a "Miss Nancy" sort of a politician, whose political success was likely to be inimical to their own. So, among themselves, they laughed at his aspirations and invariably turned him down. Thus Jones was successively defeated for county attorney, member of the legislature, the state senate and lastly for superior judge.

This all occurred previous to 1898. In that eventful year, Mr. Jones again bobbed up, this time for congress. When his new ambition was confided to the party bosses, with the request for support, there were smiles of amusement on the faces of the local managers. They told him they would think it over and let him know later. Subsequently, a conference was held and the matter debated at length. Some thought that Jones' candidacy was an absurdity and were in for putting the "kibosh" on it at once. The veteran boss, however, "the main guy," looked at the matter differently. He informed the others that it was high time that Jones should be recognized, and that he, for one, had grown weary of turning down a man who always came up smiling after defeat. "Let's run him for congress this year," said the big boss, magnanimously. "Jones is certainly entitled to something, and this is a good time to pay him what we owe him. Besides," said he, "the 'pops' are going to carry the state, anyway, so there will be no harm done."

And thus it was arranged. Jones triumphantly carried off the nomination which nobody else wanted. And, strange enough, Jones was elected. Nobody was more surprised, perhaps chagrined, than the local bosses. It was something they had not looked for, nor counted upon, nor desired. It put them in a hole, so to speak; for the personal and political success of Jones, against heavy odds, cast a shadow over them all, and in that shadow they have ever since been compelled to remain. It was a ludicrous situation, but the bosses brought it upon themselves and have since had to grin and bear it.

Mr. Jones, it is needless to say, in his long fight for recognition had the sympathy of the rank and file of his party in this county and, for that matter, a goodly number not of the party. It was felt by a good many people that, if given an opportunity, Jones would make his mark in public affairs. It was this kindly sentiment that enabled him at the last two elections to secure a good deal more than his party vote in Yakima county. But today the situation is changed, and the standing candidate is likely to receive much less than his regular party vote in Yakima county. Some of the reasons for this we will endeavor to make clear, although we lack the space to go into the matter in detail.

Probably the principal reason for Mr. Jones' loss of popularity among the Yakima farmers is because of the championship by him of a bill which he introduced in congress last winter to sell the grazing lands of the government, in this state, to private individuals, presumably woolgrowers. It was an innocent looking bill on its face, and most people could see no particular harm in it until the "little joker" was pointed out to them. This bill contained a provision that no man would be permitted to purchase such land as was covered by the act, unless previously the owner of land adjoining the land which he wished to purchase. Now, inasmuch as the big sheep owners of this valley had been buying up great tracts of grazing lands in the foothills of the Cascades from the railroads, and were naturally desirous of acquiring the government sections also in order to completely control the situation, the people of this county gradually had their eyes opened to the fact that a great wrong was about to be perpetrated upon them unless they kicked and kicked vigorously.

The DEMOCRAT explained the provisions and evil intent of the measure to the people, and led the fight against it. This paper sent out blank petitions for circulation among the people, protesting against the proposed law. These petitions were generally signed, not only in Yakima county, but over much of eastern Washington. When the people learned the true inwardness of the measure, Mr. Jones, it is believed, was deluged with letters protesting against its passage, and, evidently getting scared, he dropped the matter like a hot potato. Thus the incident closed, with the result that Mr. Jones lost support on both sides. Among the farmers, because he had violated the confidence they had reposed in him; among the stockmen, because they found him to be a quitter. Some of the latter condemned him unsparingly, as they assumed that he had deserted their cause after they had lent him great assistance in both of his campaigns.

The people of Yakima, too, without regard to party, have another important grievance against Congressman Jones. During the four years that he has been in congress he has accomplished absolutely nothing of importance for the benefit of his own community. He has seemed to proceed upon the assumption that because Yakima has Jones in congress she does not need anything else. Apparently he has made no effort toward getting the U. S. court to sit here, where much of its business is created. If he did he might offend Walla Walla, Spokane or some other town. It is true he has thrown a "sop to Cerebus" by introducing a bill in congress to appropriate $100,000 to erect a public building here, but as we said before, he couldn't afford to push the bill for fear of offending somebody else.

In the important matter of providing adequate protection to the Rainier forest reserve, in order that the watershed of this valley should not be wholly destroyed, Mr. Jones has maintained a deadly silence. He has been appealed to time and again by local men who have interested themselves in the matter, but Mr. Jones invariably answered such appeals with voluminous letters in which he usually discussed the subject at length, but invariably managed to dodge the real issue, probably for the reason that he did not want to offend the sheepmen. At any rate, he did nothing, and the local committee thereafter centered its efforts upon Senator who acted promptly and positively as was desired.

In the matter of appointments, too, Mr. Jones has disappointed many of his friends. He has turned down men who had stood by him in order to make room for others whom he doubtless thought could help him more in his political aspirations. The result is what might have been expected. Mr. Jones has lost scores of old friends and has scarcely succeeded in gaining any new ones.

The above are some of the reasons why the people of Yakima are not enthusiastic over the proposition to make Mr. Jones a senator, even if the suggestion was a serious one, which it is not.

Mr. Jones, in fact, has had an opportunity that seldom falls to the lot of politicians, so far as a home support goes, but he has failed signally in making the best use of it. Probably because he has made his greatest mistake has been in affiliating with the North Yakima ring, an organization from which he had wisely stood aloof until the present campaign. In this matter Mr. Jones evidently permitted the local bosses to work upon his fears. At any rate, he went into the combination and lent his influence and aid to the ring managers in this county, with the result that by a union of forces in the convention the machine won, hands down. What promises were made Mr. Jones by the ring in order to secure his support is, of course, a state secret, but it can be easily guessed.

The DEMOCRAT, in commenting on the deal the week previous to the late republican county convention, stated that it had good authority for the assertion that Mr. Jones, in consideration of his support of the ring slate, was promised the conditional support of the Yakima delegation for the U. S. senatorship; that is, the votes of Messrs. Englehart, Dunn and Hare, in the event only that there should seem a possibility of Mr. Jones' election.

Jones, seemingly, is carrying out his part of the bargain in good faith, though nobody believes the Englehart will carry out his part of the contract in good faith, even if the "conditions should be right." Indeed, if Englehart or Hare were to make any serious effort towards promotion of Jones they would soon lose caste among their fellow members of the ring.

That Jones, himself, takes the matter seriously is evidenced by the fact that he has canceled the balance of his state appointments and putting in the time until election in this county, using every means at his command to aid in the election of the republican legislative ticket.

GREAT INDUSTRY FOR YAKIMA

A Beet Sugar Factory will Be Established Here if the People Want It--No Bonus Asked For.

Mr. E. D. Comings of Seattle, who has visited this locality several times, is here with the purpose of building a beet sugar factory in the Yakima valley. To say that this is a God-send to our farmers, when potatoes are a drag on the market, and the price of alfalfa low, goes without saying. The beauty about the sugar beet business seems to be that a contract can be made for a good price which will run through a series of years. Therefore, the farmer knows exactly what he is going to get in the way of results before the seed goes into the ground. The many advantages of having this beet sugar plant are the profitable returns of cultivating, the tops to be retained as fertilizers, the pulp to be used for feeding stock, and the increasing value of the land.

The factory proposed to be built by Mr. Comings will require 280 people to

THERE is no question but what it would be a good thing for the tax payers and producers generally, of this state, if the legislature to be elected this fall should be democratic. Republican politicians, especially such as have an ax to grind, will pooh pooh this statement and ridicule it. Nevertheless it is true and is easily capable of demonstration. In the first place if the democrats secure a majority in that body they will settle the question of the senatorship in 15 minutes when the time comes, by electing George Turner to succeed himself. With that question out of the way, the legislature will be at liberty to transact the public business for which it has been elected.

If, on the other hand, the republican party should control the legislature what is likely to be the result? Simply a deadlock between warring factions, a repetition of what has occurred before, with the air so full of scandal and charges and counter charges of bribery that the whole matter would become a stench in the public nostrils. With so many different factions, all of whom are at war with one another over the senatorship and railway legislation, what else can the public look for but a prolonged deadlock and a carnival of corruption that will fill good citizens of all parties with despair and make the taxpayers feel mighty sick?

There are thousands of republicans in this state today who love their party well, but they do not love it defeated this year so far as the legislature is concerned. This may seem paradoxical, yet it is true. In addition to the reasons that we have already given, these independent republicans recognize the fact that Turner can do more in the senate for the material interests of the state during the next six years than any new man could hope to do, as he has both the experience and the ability. Besides they have the fairness to recognize the fact that the man is a giant, mentally, in comparison with the men who hope to succeed him.

There is another fact, too, that these independent voters do not overlook. And that is that the republican party already has such a large majority in the U. S. senate that it is unwieldy and a source of weakness to the party. If the senate was nearly evenly divided it would be a different matter, but that is not now the case, nor is it likely to be for years to come.

This is the condition of things, a knowledge of which is inducing many staunch republicans to hope for the election of a democratic legislature. They know that the election of a democratic majority in that body will do much to purify the political atmosphere in this state and save the taxpayers many a dollar. More than that, it will mean the passage of a railway commission bill. The democratic party, under the leadership of Turner, let it be understood, is in earnest in this matter, while the republican leaders are simply playing politics. With the exception of Gov. McBride and a few others, they don't want a commission at all, but if they must have one, they want one so constituted that it will enable them to hold up the railroads at will.

So, all in all, a democratic majority in the legislature seems to be badly needed, and all signs indicate that it will be forthcoming.

UNDER the present administration of county affairs all three of the commissioners of this county reside in North Yakima. This happy condition of things enables the town to be pretty well looked after. But what about the country precincts, where three-fourths of the county's population resides? Are these people not entitled to some representation in county affairs?

The republican candidates for the legislature are said to be confidently counting on the almost solid vote of the slums of this city, and we presume that they will get it too, as they, doubtless, have the first call on that element.

WALTER J. PURDIN, democratic candidate for county clerk, has been most of his life a resident of the Wenas and is a young man of good ability, who is now making his debut in public affairs. He is a member of a pioneer family and has grown up in Yakima county. If elected to the office of county clerk, as he likely will be, he will, we believe, discharge the duties of that office to the entire satisfaction of the taxpayers.

REPUBLICAN candidates who have been touring the "east end" in search of votes, all come home with the same story (to the committee) of frosty receptions everywhere. Well, what did they expect? Did they presume that the "east-enders" were going to fall on their necks and weep for joy, after the indignities that were heaped upon them at the county convention?

Evidently a number of gentlemen are getting some valuable political experience out of this campaign, at any rate.

Two weeks ago Robertson spoke of Jack Splawn as being illiterate, a man who would be a nonentity in the senate. Last week he said that he was a railroad capper. By next week he will probably convince himself that Jack is a red handed, red whiskered anarchist and therefore a public enemy.

Poor fellow, he has our sympathy, although we are at a loss to know what he has been drinking lately. No wonder the campaign lags, as our neighbor is in no condition to furnish the necessary inspiration.

SOME local republicans, we understand, are complaining because they are not getting, as they allege, the kind of inspiration that they need in a campaign from their local newspapers. They are both such new recruits, says one kicker, that they don't save our principles, see! No, we don't see. We don't want to see, for its none of our funeral. We would take the liberty to suggest though to the kickers the necessity of exercising patience and give the boys a chance to work off that feeling of newness that pervades them.

ROBERTSON of the Republic complains that Jack Splawn is a railroad man and therefore would be an extremely dangerous man to elect to the state senate. Now, in the common, everyday vernacular, wouldn't that jar you? Jack Splawn a railroad capper! Ye gods and little fishes! Why couldn't you spare our feelings, colonel, and break the news gently? It is horrid, colonel, simply horrid, giving the thing away at this late day. You make us all feel just like the old maid who declared that she wouldn't trust any man.

FROM all accounts the trio of republican legislative candidates have had a most delightful time while in the "east end" trying to square themselves with the people on the question of county division. At Prosser, Mr. Englehart on being interviewed by the Record is reported to have said: "I would be in favor of county division if my people were, if you do not come too far up." Capt. Dunn is reported to have said: "I am in favor of county division if my people are, if you do not come too far down." Now which is it to be gentlemen?

DR. C. T. DULIN, democratic candidate for coroner, is a gentleman, who, during his four years' residence in this city, has made friends of all with whom he has come in contact, and is well qualified for the duties of the office. If there be any dead men, therefore, to set upon during the next two years, the public can rest assured that Dr. Dulin, though practical joker that he is, will perform the necessary duties with neatness and dispatch. Let nobody assume, however, that Dulin's candidacy is a joke, for it is nothing of the kind. It is the real thing.

H. H. ALLEN, democratic candidate for county treasurer, is a man whom it will be a pleasure for a great many voters to support. Mr. Allen has lived in this county for nearly 40 years, having come here in his early manhood to make a home in what was then a wilderness. He has, therefore, grown up with the country, and has done his share to make it grow.

Mr. Allen is a man who possesses the qualities that are needed in the treasurer's office—executive ability and good business judgment. He is, also, as all who know him will testify, a strictly honorable, conscientious man and would be more careful in handling the county's finances than he would his own. Vote for honest Henry Allen for county treasurer.

POLITICIANS, like "Yakima" Jones, Ira P. Englehart, Doc Hare and others, go through the country preaching about the great importance of electing a republican majority to the legislature.

Why is it important, or rather, to whom is it important besides the politicians? They say that they want a man to go to the senate who will support President Roosevelt on the trust question. Well, so do we. For that reason we are for Geo. Turner. Turner says that he will stand at Roosevelt's back in any war that he makes on the trusts, and Turner will stick to his word.

Levi Ankeny, on the other hand, believes that trusts are a good thing and has frequently said so. John L. Wilson in a speech delivered at Spokane the other day, boldly went on record as opposed to the Roosevelt policy of dealing with the trusts. Wesley L. Jones, who is also a candidate for Turner's shoes, is also a trust defender. He don't want them monied with at all, for fear we lose our prosperity. Besides, Jones, as a member of the house, was an "insurgent" and lined up with the enemies of the president on the Cuban reciprocity bill. Little fear, indeed, of any of these gentlemen rendering substantial aid to the president in a fight on the trusts.

Why all this hypocritical nonsense among the politicians as to why they want a republican majority in the legislature? Why can't they be honest and say that they want a republican legislature for what there will be in it for them, instead of for the people?

BUT about ten days now remain until the voting citizens of this county, or such of them as may exercise the voting prerogative, will decide who they want for their public servants—or public masters—for the ensuing two years.

The democratic party of this county, though admittedly in a minority, has placed before the people a ticket which it has no right to be ashamed of. They are all representative men who were selected because of their fitness to fill the positions for which they were nominated. They all stand squarely on the reform platform adopted by the convention and, if elected, stand pledged to carry out its provisions.

The people will choose their officers this year from either the democratic or republican tickets. While the socialist and prohibition tickets are also in the field, there is no probability that any candidate on either ticket will receive a plurality of votes. So it necessarily follows that the latter tickets simply fritters away his influence in county affairs.

Now there are a good many things that need righting in the affairs of this county, and good citizens ought to take enough interest in their home affairs to try to make things better instead of allowing them to get worse. In order to do this intelligently it is necessary to act with a common purpose. To do this, under the conditions that exist today in Yakima county, simply means that a little ring of self seeking politicians, who have taken the republican party by the throat, will continue to run the affairs of the county for its own benefit.

We repeat, that if the tax-paying citizens of this county wish to rebuke this selfish ring, there is but one way to do it, and that is to vote the democratic ticket. This may seem to a good many of our readers as being simply a partisan appeal, and in a sense it is, but it is the naked truth, just the same, and if they do not believe it now they will find it out after the election is over.

THE P-I. never wearies in its campaign of misrepresentation of Senator Turner. Scarcely a day passes but that a long, verbose editorial appears in that bitterly partisan paper scolding and condemning the senior senator for something that he did or did not do.

The only perceptible effect, so far, of this shortsighted policy of abuse and vituperation is to powerfully strengthen the feeling in favor of Turner in King county and wherever the P-I. is read.

If that paper had been fair and reasonable in its criticism, it might have been a potent factor in the campaign, but as it is, Turner's chances are certainly much improved. Indeed, he is likely now to receive a large bunch of legislative votes from King county.

If any community in the state should now stand by Turner, that community is Seattle, for he has been the only friend the big town on Elliott Bay has had at court for the past four years. While Messrs. Foster and Cushman have been busily engaged in trying to pull everything worth having to Tacoma, Turner has stood manfully by Seattle. Through him, principally, she got her canal appropriation, her public building appropriation, her harbor appropriation, and, last but not least, her battleship contract. Now, most of the people of Seattle know these things, but they have not found them out through the P-I., for that paper has studiously avoided any reference to the senator's good works in attempting to stir up a bitter partisan prejudice against him.

However, unless the people of the Queen City are different from what they have always heretofore shown themselves to be, they will not be misled by the Wilson organ into opposing the one man who was their champion when they sorely needed a friend to fight their battles.

SOME of the democratic nominees who returned from a trip to the lower end of the county this week report that they met with a royal reception everywhere they went and received assurances of loyal support for the entire ticket from democrats and republicans alike, whom the met.

They found a large number of staunch republicans down there who, they say, are determined to rebuke this year the arrogant leadership of that party, which means, of course, that they intend to help down the ring. This is bull's head news. Let it be carried to Whitson, Englehart and Dr. Frank's committee.

LOOK out for roorbacks between now and the day of election. The North Yakima ring, with defeat staring it in the face, is desperate. It will stop at nothing to accomplish its object, and we understand that it is the intention of the ring managers to spring a lot of lying statements about the democratic nominees at the eleventh hour, in the hope that there will be no opportunity for successful contradiction. This is an old republican trick, and ought not to deceive anybody.

REPUBLICAN spellbinders in this county have to sing a little low about prosperity just now. With the present low price for fruit, hay and potatoes, they will have to "show us."

The scurrilous attack of the Republic upon R. A. Grant ought to help that candidate, and it doubtless will. The people of this city know Grant to be what he is—a fearless and conscientious officer, who can always be depended upon to do his duty.

Speaking of "grafters"—but we don't want to be personal.

That the Yakima ring has become desperate is evidenced by the fact that Congressman Jones has been sent for to help the ring carry this county. Since Jones wants the votes of Englehart, More and Dunn, he felt obliged to respond. While Mr. Jones is on the stump in Yakima county he ought to be asked to explain a few items in his public record that the people here are intensely interested in.

THE official ballot this year will be made up in different form from what it has been in the three preceding elections held in this state, the last legislature having amended the election law.

This year instead of the long, narrow, confusing ballot which the voter used to have to wrestle with, there will be one more easily understood. The party names—republican, democrat, socialist and prohibitionist—appear plainly in the order named. The new ballot is certainly an improvement on the old, which seemingly was meant to confuse the illiterate voter.

COL. MILES CANNON, receiver of the Yakima land office, manager for the St. Paul & Tacoma Lumber Company and president of the Yakima Valley Bank, still finds time after the discharge of his manifold and arduous duties to go upon the stump and assume to instruct the people of this county how they should vote in the approaching election.

We had supposed that the Colonel was so busy drawing checks with which to pay his different salaries that he would hardly be able to find the time to talk to the voters this year and tell them of the great prosperity which he, at any rate, is certainly enjoying at the hands of a republican administration.

We have no desire to hurt the Colonel's feelings, but we cannot refrain in this connection from reminding him of the fact that he is violating both the letter and the spirit of a federal law, which is presumed to inhibit the interference of government officials in elections and particularly elections that involve the local affairs of the people. President Roosevelt has said most emphatically time and again that he would not tolerate such interference on the part of government officials and will doubtless take the same view in Col. Cannon's case, especially when he learns that that distinguished gentleman for several years past has been steadily drawing down from the government the maximum amount of salary in return for a minimum amount of service rendered.

The Democrat cheerfully concedes that Col. Poolah Cannon is perfectly qualified to talk instructively and entertainingly on the issue of "prosperity," especially as viewed from the standpoint of his own experience. It is for the gentleman himself to decide, however, whether or not it will prove profitable for him to continue offending against the law as laid down by President Roosevelt.

THE Republic, the organ of the local ring, is making desperate efforts to make the public believe that the party ticket is sure to be elected and that the boys are fairly clamoring to get into line. The truth of the matter is that a large and very influential element of the party in the west end of the county is not supporting the ticket, or perhaps to be more accurate, a part of the ticket, and cannot be forced to do so. This is because of the ring influence that dominated the convention. It is a matter of principle with the men who take this stand, and they are not obliged to respond when Boss Robertson cracks the party lash.

THE Republic devoted a great deal of valuable space this week in the effort to give Mr. Englehart a good character and a clean bill of health, but it is up to work.

The people who have lived in this county for four years or more and who are not blinded with partisanship, know the legislative record of this man, or all they want to know about it. They know that he ruthlessly violated his public pledge, and that is enough. All the explanations that his fertile brain has since been able to cunger up will not explain away the blackness of that record.

Deaths.

Joseph T. Drake, aged 80 years, died at the residence of his son-in-law, U. F. Diteman, in this city Wednesday evening. Mr. Drake was a descendant of the illustrious Sir Francis Drake. He was a man of sterling character, and made friends of all who knew him. He was born in New Brunswick and had resided in this state since 1887. He leaves a widow and two daughters, Mrs. U. F. Diteman and Mrs. Jennie F. White. The funeral, which was held on Friday, was largely attended.

Perry Dunning, who sustained serious injuries about a year ago while working at the Selah bridge, died at his home on North Sixth early Thursday morning as the result of his long and painful illness. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from the Baptist church, under the joint auspices of the Workmen and the Woodmen of the World. Deceased was 39 years of age.

Mrs. Annie Smith, wife of Willis Smith, aged 40 years, died Wednesday morning at the family residence, 309 South Ahtanum Avenue. The funeral was held Friday.

"Yon Yonson," Oct. 28.

"Yon Yonson," which is as old as the art of fiction, is a story which will pay a return visit this city. During the last ten years "Yon Yonson" has toured the United States of America from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and wherever he has appeared he has become as welcome as the flowers of spring. This is due to the fact that this Swedish-American comedy possesses both humor and sentiment. In viewing this play one is compelled to laugh over the funny incidents, while at other places the tears flow, due to the genuine pathos and soft sentiments pervading the story. Mr. Nelse Erickson of Kullagunnastorp, Sweden, is the actor who is seen this year for the first time in the title role. From more than one source it is learned that Mr. Erickson is the best impersonator of Swedish-American character since the day of Gus Heegge, who was also the author of "Yon Yonson." Others of the company are Harry Bond, Harry B. Roche, Clifton Maynard, Harry Hubbard, Sydney Craven, Patti Ross, Florence Gear, Belle Dolan and Julia Gilmore.

How to Enter a Print Shop.

Parties desiring to enter a country newspaper office at this season of the year should be governed by the following rules:

Advance to the door and give three distinct raps. The "devil" will open the door for you, when you will give him your name and postoffice address, and state that you do not wish to lick the editor. He will admit you to the office and point to the editor. You will then advance to the editor's desk, where he will always be found, and address him in the following way: Extending the right hand about two feet from the body, with the thumb and forefinger grasping a five-dollar bank-note or treasury certificate, and say, "were you looking for me?" The editor will extend his left hand, into which you will drop the note, when he will immediately grasp your right hand and say, "You bet." After giving him the names of your locality, the names of possible subscribers and the number of years you desire to pay for the subscription in advance, you will be permitted to retire with an obligation properly discharged, and the knowledge that the editor is happy.—Ex.

The Engineers have been at work this week locating the site for the Cascade Lumber Company's new mill and other necessary buildings north of town. The main building will be a structure 190 by 40 ft. The expectation is to put in one wood saw this winter that will cut 50,000 ft. of lumber per day. Later another wood saw will be added. The material for the new mill is being sawed by the Company's mill at Easton.

"It goes right to the spot," said an old man who was rubbing it in to cure his rheumatism. C. R. Wild Zebras.

The zebra when wild is a ferocious animal, and an unwary hunter is likely to suffer from its teeth and hoofs. The author of "Kloof and Karroo" says that a Boer in Cape Colony had once forced a zebra to the brink of a precipice, when the desperate creature turned upon him, attacked him with its teeth and actually tore one of his feet from the leg.

Another author writes of a soldier who mounted a half domesticated zebra. The creature, after making the most furious attempts to get rid of its rider, plunged over a steep bank into the river and threw the soldier as it emerged.

While the man lay half stunned upon the ground the zebra quietly walked up to him and bit off one of his ears.

The Penalty of Being Idle.

Idleness is at the bottom of the drunkenness, gluttony and sensuality which compass the destruction of one section of the community at the present time. It is at the bottom of that particular form of heartache which is the plague of women—the heartache of a purposeless, miserable existence. Such women often look forward to marriage to cure them, but when they are married and settled the old malady recurs, and in our own day we see them running hither and thither after elixirs and something. Others try to find a cure in the suffrage and others again in cigarettes.—Sarah Grand.

Telegraphing With Cannons.

When the first vessel completed the passage of the then new Erie canal in 1825, there being no such thing as a telegraph in those days, the news was communicated to New York and to Buffalo by cannons placed within hearing of each other all the way along from Albany to each of the other cities. The signal was passed along in this way from Albany to New York city and back again to Albany in 58 minutes. The experiment was a costly one, but was a success in every particular.

Her Sentiments.

They were looking over the paper together. "Oh, my, how funny!" said she. "What is it?" he asked. "Why, here's an advertisement that says, 'No reasonable offer refused.'"

"What is there odd about that?"

"Nothing, nothing," she replied, trying to blush: "only those are my sentiments."

Holland Customs.

Holland has some peculiar customs. In many towns bulletins are affixed to the doors of houses in which persons are sick in order that their friends may be apprised of the state of their health without knocking or ringing, and in Haarlem the birth of a child is announced by means of a small placard adorned with red silk and lace.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

Several Street Improvements Considered.

Andy Lynch, Formerly of Fire Department, Enters Damage Suit.

The city council convened Monday night in regular session and transacted a considerable amount of public business. Councilmen Liggett, Shaw, Keck and Wyman were present—a bare quorum.

Petitions were read from property owners on both sides of North First street for sidewalks, and the same were allowed.

A remonstrance was read from 41 property owners, representing 96 lots, on North Fourth street, protesting against the grading of that street. After the protest was read, F. M. Spain, who claimed to represent the taxpayers signing the remonstrance, arose and explained the motive of those who objected to the proposed improvement. The speaker commented rather sarcastically on the matter, the effect of which seemed to raise the ire of several residents of South Fourth street, who are anxious to have the street graded. Messrs. Heckman, Harrison, Stewart and Michels replied to Mr. Spain, giving their reasons for the proposed improvement. Keck then made a motion that Fourth street be graded its entire length, which was defeated on roll-call, Keck and Wyman voting aye and Liggett and Shaw no.

Ordinances were then passed for the grading of Wenas and Kittitas avenues.

A bid from C. H. Bruenn of 43 1/2 c. per foot for building a sidewalk on North Fourth street was rejected.

A communication was read from Andy Lynch, making a formal demand for damages from the city. Mr. Lynch claims that while employed by the city in the capacity of driver in the fire department he, through the negligence of the city authorities, was exposed to the smallpox, by reason of which he and his children contracted the disease. For this Mr. Lynch asks damages in the sum of $1000. The plaintiff further alleges that on Feb. 1, 1902, he was kicked by one of the horses of the fire department, whereby his right knee-cap was broken and he sustained life-long injuries. Including hospital fees, doctor bills, etc., the amount of damages asked for by Mr. Lynch is $11,225.65. The plaintiff is represented by H. J. Snively and Thompson & Allen. The former gentleman made a detailed statement of the case to the council in his client's behalf.

Liggett of the cemetery committee asked for further time for making a report looking to the leasing of a portion of the recently purchased tract for cemetery purposes. The committee was instructed to have five acres of the land platted into lots.

Clerk Doust asked authority to draw warrants for the payment of the semi-annual interest on sewer bonds and bonded indebtedness for the sums of $1800.25 and $900.25 respectively. On motion the clerk was authorized to draw the warrants.

The city engineer, on motion of Keck, was instructed to draw plans and specifications for the sewer to be laid in the alley between South Third and Fourth streets.

County Commissioner Dimmick addressed the council asking that a concrete walk be laid on North Fourth street instead of a board walk, as contemplated. After some discussion, the council so ordered.

A Good Play Well Presented.

Mr. and Mrs. James Neill and their company delighted a fair-sized audience at Larson's theater Friday evening in the presentation of "Under the Red Robe," a thrilling drama of four acts from French history of the 17th century. The piece is well staged, and the scenery is elaborate and beautiful.

Mr. Neill, in the leading character of Berault, was at his best. The part enables him to display his really great qualities as an actor much better in comparison than in the play of "Barbara Frietchie," which he and his company presented here last season.

Mrs. Neill, whose stage name is Edith Chapman, in the difficult role of Renee, pleased everyone in the audience, as she invariably does. She is a sweet-voiced woman, who never fails to look and act the part. Frank McVickers, as Cardinal Richlieu, was also very impressive. In fact, the support of the Neills throughout was good.

The show was pretty generally boycotted by local Elks, the reason for which is the feeling that exists among members of that order against Actor Neill that dates from February last when Mr. Neill "balked" in the middle of the ceremony while in the act of being made an Elk at Spokane, the day after he left Yakima. It is said that Mr. Neill, probably as the result of a large diminution in the box office receipts since the unfortunate quarrel began, has seriously regretted the policy that he has pursued towards that powerful order, and would be glad now to join it—if he could.

A Double Wedding.

A double wedding occurred at Wenatchee last Monday which may interest a number of people in this county, as three out of the four contracting parties were former residents of this city. The two happy couples are, or were, W. S. Trimble, formerly editor of the Old Argus here, which suspended about six years ago, and Miss Helen Dixon. The second couple were Joseph Jacobson and Miss Laura Stewart.

Mr. Trimble and Mr. Jacobson are associated together in the publication of the Waterville Press. Both couples will reside in that city. The many friends in Yakima of the two charming brides will wish them joy.

Do You Want to Yawn?

Feel cold, shivering, aching in the bones, lack of energy, headache and great depression? These symptoms may be followed by violent headache, high fever, extreme nervousness, a condition known as malaria. Herbine cures it. Take it before the disease gets a fair hold, though it will work a cure in any stage. J. A. Hopkins, Manchester, Kas., writes: "I have used your great medicine, Herbine, for several years. There is nothing better for malaria, chills and fever, headache, biliousness, and for a blood-purifying tonic there is nothing as good." 50c at Fred L. Janek's.
