

PRESIDENT SPENDS $291,000 A YEAR

Champ Clark, of Missouri, Fights Bill to Raise Chief Executive's Salary to $100,000 and Gives His Reasons.

Washington, D. C. March 2.—On the evening preceding the 22nd of February, Washington's birthday, congress adjourned until the 23rd inst. and went by steamers, special and regular trains and automobiles to Old Point Comfort to witness the naval pageant of the incoming fleet which by arrangement completed its round the world cruise on this national holiday. Your correspondent accompanied a large party—composed mostly of members of the house of representatives, and arriving at Hampton Roads early on the morning of the 22nd, we landed for an hour at Chamberlain's hotel and after breakfast again boarded the excursion steamer and sailed down the harbor some 15 miles following the president's boat, the Mayflower, which soon dropped anchor at the Connecticut, the flagship, hove in sight, passing the president's yacht with boom of cannon, followed by 24 powerful ironclads, each of which fired salutes as they passed the president's yacht. The spectacle was quite impressive to those cognizant of the great money cost of these immense modern leviathans and of the great expense of keeping them afloat. To those who looked on without a taxpayer's conscience the procession of slowly moving ships at a distance of 600 feet apart, one looking very much like the other in the mist and rain, became a little monotonous. Sixteen of the vessels were painted white and had anything but a war worn and storm-beaten appearance. Seven of them, that had not been around the world, but had only gone out in the Atlantic to meet and escort these vessels home, were of a dark grey color. At a given signal the ships all dropped anchor in the deep water of the bay in front of Chamberlain's hotel and of the village of Old Point Comfort. At this moment two score of steam vessels, excursion boats, tugs and others opened the throbbles of their whistles and for 15 minutes there was such a din as only a chorus of fog horns can make. As night came on and darkness intervened the ships were outlined by hundreds of electric jets while searchlights played in every direction, lighting sea and land and sky and demonstrating how difficult they could make it for a torpedo boat or other lurking enemy to approach without detection.

Congress has returned from its excursion and is probably no worse off from irregular meals and a sleepless night than from the ordinary dissipations of Washington life continuously indulged in by members and senators and their families. The house has voted against increasing the president's salary from $50,000 to $100,000, but has compromised on $75,000. Two weeks ago it was thought almost beyond doubt that the president-elect would receive the increase to $100,000, but the bill having failed in the house there can now be no $100,000 salary during Mr. Taft's administration for it would be unconstitutional for him to sign a bill increasing his pay. Mr. Clark, of Missouri, was active in opposing the increase to $100,000. He stated that the income of the president including perquisites was now $291,000 a year and that these figures were made from data for the appropriations committee. He contended that it was a mistake to suppose that the only compensation the president received was $50,000 a year when in fact his salary and perquisites amounted to $291,000 and that a careful examination would show that the president of the United States lives as well as any potentate in Europe and has money to spend for luxuries and traveling expenses.

Mr. Gillette, of Massachusetts, took the opposite view, supporting the amendment to increase the president's salary to $100,000. He informed the house that it cost President Roosevelt $50,000 a year to live at the White House in his ideal hospitable way. The bill, however, was passed allowing a salary of $75,000, but omitting the $25,000 for traveling expenses.

Attorney General Bonaparte, Dr. Wiley and President Roosevelt have again shown themselves to be authoritative and good judges of whiskey and the wholesale manufacturers and dealers who have been putting forth a diluted colored and flavored imitation will now be compelled to call it by its proper name, "Imitation Whiskey." This is as it should be. Among the many good things to the credit of the present administration there is nothing better than its contention for pure food, pure drink and pure medicine. It is really refreshing to see whiskey and whiskey dealers given a black eye. The more the pure food and drug act is opposed the stronger becomes the position of the president, the attorney general and Dr. Wiley.

SCHOOLS AT EXPOSITION

Yakima Pupils and Students Are Preparing Work for the A-Y-P.

The schools of North Yakima are to have an exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle. Work is now being prepared by the students to be exhibited at the fair. It includes manufactured articles of the manual training department, sewing work from the department of domestic science and art work by the students from the grade schools and high school.

"We are going to have just as good an exhibit from the schools as the county will have from the fruit growers," said Superintendent Reed today. "The students are taking a great interest in the work. They have become true boosters and are going to show that Yakima can do other things besides raise fruit."

It is probable that pictures of the school buildings and grounds will be placed with the exhibit and somebody will likely have charge of the display most of the time.

FRUIT GROWERS' TRAIN.

Experiment Station Professors Will Be in Yakima Next Thursday.

All arrangements for the first Northern Pacific fruit growers' demonstration train to be run through the Yakima valley, March 10-12, have been completed. The train is to be operated under the auspices of the Washington State college experiment station. At each stop in the valley there will be lectures, followed by demonstrations of the best methods of orchard cultivation and fertilization, pruning and spraying. The schedule is so arranged that the train will be in North Yakima from 3:45 to 6 o'clock on Thursday, March 11.

EAST SELAH CONFERENCE

Promoter O'Bryan of Pomona Project and the Land Owners Try to Get Together—Government to Institute Friendly Suit to Test Water Right.

Several conferences were held this week in the farmers' room of the court house between Clark O'Bryan, the promoter of the North Yakima & East Selah Irrigation Co., and his attorney, Carroll B. Graves, on one side, and a crowd of land owners under the Pomona Heights project, on the other.

It developed that the affairs of the company are in a rather tangled and unsatisfactory condition, due primarily to the uncertainty at present existing as to the validity of the company's claim to the use of water from the Yakima river, or as to whether any right that the U. S. government will consent to recognize, exists at all.

Mr. O'Bryan made a statement at the meeting, narrating the result of his recent visit to Washington, D. C., and his consultation with Secretary Garfield. The net result of the interview seems to have been that the secretary consented to ordering a suit brought at once to test the validity of the East Selah company's claim to water. Mr. O'Bryan felt sanguine, as did also his attorney, Judge Graves, that the trial of the case will result in the company's right to water being fully recognized. Judge Graves then addressed the meeting, dwelling on the legal points involved. Mr. O'Bryan assured the land owners that he had made all necessary arrangements to finance the project and that construction funds would be immediately available as soon as the company's claim to the water was fully established.

The land owners, of course, had their grievances to recite. They had been promised water by April 1. The use of the water for the present year they were willing to forego under existing conditions, but they wanted assurances that the company would not be placed in the hands of a receiver as the result of creditors pressing their claims. They complained, too, of their taxes, their holdings, it seems under the proposed ditch having been assessed last year as irrigated lands, although still dry. A committee was appointed to lay the matter before the county commissioners to ask that the mistake be rectified.

The conference apparently resulted in a better understanding all around and in a disposition to stand together until both the company and its patrons get out of the present troubles.

NEW ROAD DISTRICTS

Commissioners Plan to Form Three More in the County.

The county commissioners have taken action looking to the division of the road districts of the county, providing for six districts, instead of three as at present. The actual division has not yet been made, but no doubt will be. The districts will be as follows:

District No. 3 will remain as it is at present, corresponding to Commissioner District No. 3. This embraces all the southeastern part of the county.

District No. 1 embraces Fruitvale, Coviche and the Naches valley.

District No. 2 embraces the Moxee valley east of the railway track, taking in Yakima City and Fairview precinct.

Part of Nob Hill, the Ahtanum and Hopdale will constitute District No. 4. That part of Commissioner District No. 2 south of Union Gap embracing Parker, Wapato and Ft. Simcoe will constitute District No. 5.

East Selah and the Selah valley and the Wenas valley comprise District No. 6.

KITTITAS HIGH LINE

Ellensburg Delegation Holds Conference with Reclamation Officials—Resurvey to be Made of Upper Valley Project—Prospect of Early Construction.

The reclamation service, or rather the secretary of the interior, has granted the petition of Ellensburg people for a resurvey of the proposed Kittitas high line ditch with the object of seeing if it be possible to construct the same for a less sum than the original estimate of $65 per acre. Senator Jones is credited with having brought influence to bear on the secretary to induce him to authorize the new survey.

A delegation of Ellensburg business men called on the local reclamation officials here last Friday and held a consultation regarding the purpose of the bureau concerning the Kittitas project, which the people of the upper county are extremely anxious to have undertaken right away. It is understood that the reclamation officials held out little encouragement to the Kittitas delegation of undertaking the work at any early date. However, they are said to have intimated to the Ellensburg people that they would do everything in their power to facilitate an arrangement whereby the government might consent to release an adequate supply of water for the proposed ditch providing the people up there chose to finance their own project. This would be along the lines of the Kittitas company agreeing to pay its proportionate share of the cost of storing the water at the lakes.

Such an arrangement, it is said, would be eminently satisfactory to the Kittitas people, providing that they can secure the needed supply of water as soon as they are ready for it. It is understood that they have already made preliminary arrangements to finance the project.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER IS CHARGE NOW MADE

James Coosei Palcanute, the Indian who has been confined in the county jail since last July and who has wanted to get out because no charge had been filed against him and he had had no preliminary hearing, has no further cause to complain on that ground. There is now a charge of murder in the first degree against him and his trial will probably be held at the next jury term.

Writ is Dismissed.

Coosei Palcanute was taken before the superior court on Tuesday afternoon on a writ of habeas corpus. His hopes for release on this ground were dashed when Prosecuting Attorney Ward presented an affidavit signed by Sheriff Lancaster to the effect that the writ had not been served upon him by the clerk of the court as required by the law, but that it had been served by the attorney for the prisoner. On this showing the motion to dismiss the writ was granted and the Indian was remanded back to jail.

But in order that there might be no question as to the charge on which he was being detained the prosecuting attorney filed a direct information charging that Palcanute killed two persons on the reservation last July. On this information a warrant issued and Palcanute was again arrested.

Killed Man and Woman.

The crime with which Palcanute is charged is the killing of Tsile Coosei Palcanute and Wilgus Strong, by shooting them with a rifle. The one bullet killed both. The evidence indicated that the killing was intentional and therefore the charge of murder in the first degree is made. Tsile Coosei Palcanute had a child in her arms when she was shot. She was killed instantly, but the child was not injured. Strong was badly wounded and he died within a few days.

The prisoner says that the killing was accidental. He says that he had come to the conclusion that he had nothing for which to live, and accordingly he took the rifle and started out to shoot himself. He says that Tsile, who was related to him, and Strong attempted to take the gun away from him and in the struggle which followed the gun was discharged accidentally with fatal effects on the other two.

Palcanute was arrested and placed in jail. The prosecuting attorney had reason to believe that the prisoner would enter a plea of guilty and consequently no information was filed.

LOWER VALLEY IS PROSPEROUS

Towns of Sunnyside and Toppenish Will Expend Thousands of Dollars in Substantial Buildings This Year.

That the entire Yakima valley is going to boom this spring and summer is already apparent in the general activity indicated in the building enterprises of the lower valley towns. Sunnyside, Outlook, Granger and Toppenish are showing early signs of a prosperous year for already the song of the hammer and saw is heard from morning until night.

The business manager of The Democrat made a trip through the lower valley the first of the week. He was impressed with the wonderful growth of Sunnyside and Toppenish. In conversation with Frank Williams, one of the largest property owners in Toppenish, The Democrat representative ascertained that $100,000 would not cover the expenditures of contemplated residences and business blocks for the reservation metropolis this year. Some of these buildings are already in the course of erection. At Toppenish also the Northern Pacific is going to build a new depot which is to cost in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Sunnyside is forging to the front. New business blocks are going up, and the many new residences which have lately been erected give the enterprising little city a most metropolitan air.

J. B. George, one of the leading merchants of Sunnyside, who last fall completed a magnificent new brick store building on the main street of the city, is now preparing to build again. Mr. George has great confidence in the future of his home town, and he says the business men of Sunnyside this year will invest thousands of dollars in new and substantial buildings.

Granger and Outlook both appear active. The old frame buildings are being supplanted with substantial brick and stone structures. The farmers all wear good natured smiles, and the trade at the various mercantile establishments throughout the lower valley is brisk, indicating prosperous conditions.

There is a feeling generally that 1909 is sure to prove a banner year, and where optimism is so prevalent good times are bound to prevail.

NORTH COAST REORGANIZED

Road of Mystery Re-Incorporates with Capital Stock of Five Millions—Proposed Lines to be Constructed.

The North Coast railroad company has become a $5,000,000 corporation through the filing of additional and revised articles of incorporation with the secretary of state at Olympia. Embodied in the articles are announcements of plans of the company which have been previously anticipated by the officers in statements published in North Yakima. These include the construction of the main line, branch lines, electric feeders, power plants and power transmission lines.

The incorporators are Robert E. Strahord, R. J. Danson and E. D. Doyle. The two latter are attorneys for the company. The following is a review of the incorporation papers sent out from Olympia:

"The main line, estimated to be 350 miles when constructed, will extend from Seattle to Spokane, passing through King, Pierce, Lewis, Yakima, Benton, Franklin, Adams, Whitman and Spokane counties. Walla Walla connection is to be built from some point in Benton or Franklin county, a distance of 75 miles. From some point on the main line in Spokane county not designated a branch will be run to Farmington, in Whitman county; from a point in Adams county a branch will be built to Davenport, Lincoln county, and another to the west to Wilson Creek, in Douglas county.

Commissioners' Court.

The board of county commissioners, in session this week, transacted a considerable amount of routine business.

Clarence Starcher, of Fairview, and George Davenport, of Mabton, were appointed fruit inspectors for the county until the new horticultural law goes into effect.

The commissioners decided to reopen for travel the abandoned Cowiche Canyon road. A good deal of work is required to put the road in shape and when finished it will be much more convenient for Cowiche valley residents than the present Wide Hollow road.

L. D. Humphrey, of Nob Hill, was appointed road supervisor for Nob Hill, Wide Hollow and Ahtanum districts. There will be a total of six supervisors appointed in the county in all.

The commissioners decided to open a new road from the north end of the Fourth street bridge down the left bank of the Yakima river to connect with the Moxee road, thus giving the people of that valley another outlet to the city.

Louis La Vigne was in the city this week from his Columbia river ranch. He reports much activity in that section this spring.

Don't be reckless, especially in your lying.
Don't give to the Lord and then go out and rob a widow.
Don't acquire the borrowing habit, or the day will come when you will run out of friends.
Don't marry an indolent man expecting him to brace up, or you may have to take in washing to pay for the brace.
Don't be so mean minded that you can see no good in a man. He may be the first to loan you money in time of need.
Don't lay up everything for a rainy day and go hungry all through life. Besides, where you are going it may never rain.
Don't spread butter on both sides of your bread just because you have $3 in your pockets. An earthquake may come along and shake the change out of them.—Denver News.

Development of a Chick.

The development of a chick within the egg is one of the most wonderful things in nature. At the end of the fifty-eighth hour of incubation the heart begins to beat, two vesicles are seen and a few hours later the auricles also appear. On the fourth day the outlines of the wings may be perceived and sometimes of the head also; on the fifth day the liver is visible; on the sixth other internal organs appear; in 190 hours the beak is fully formed; in 200 hours the ribs are clearly developed; in 240 hours the feathers are visible; in 268 hours the eyes appear; in 288 the ribs are completed and the feathers on the breast; in 330 the lungs, stomach and breast have assumed a natural appearance. On the eighteenth day the first faint piping of the chick is sometimes audible.

Noisy Old London.

Modern cities are not as noisy as those of other days. For example, in London in the time of King George II. the streets were still cobbled and the pack horse of Elizabethan memory had been replaced by heavy carts and wagons. Barrels of beer and heavy cases were dragged about on drays of iron without wheels, and to add to the tumult heavy signs in immense frames of ironwork hung out in front of shops and houses and croaked interminably. Street cries never ceased for a moment all day. All the smaller necessities, such as pins, thread, string, ink, straps, fish, milk, cakes, bread, drugs, herbs, matches, were hawked in the streets.

STAMMERING.

The Cure That One Sufferer Invented May Help Others.

Among the minor arts of great importance is the self cure of stammering, which comes upon so many in early youth. In the memoir of the author of "John Inglesant," which his widow prepared, we read a rather touching confession. "I contracted the habit of stammering," wrote Mr. Short-house to Lady Welby, "as a delicate little boy of three at a large day school. It was not such a misfortune as might be supposed. For without this thorn in the flesh John Inglesant would never have been a writer or conceived, and much which is very dear to me in philosophy would have been unknown." Few stammerers can bring forth a classic from their affliction, and some would even refuse the author's fame at the price of the speaker's embarrassment.

In many cases the self cure of stammering is easy. The present writer was a sufferer when a boy at a day school. He set himself to invent the cure, it was absolutely necessary, he found that the opening syllable of a sentence should be said several times before the sentence was under way. Thus as the billiard player waggles his cue before the correct stroke. It occurred that the stammering might be cured silently. So that little boy stammered firmly to himself with tightly closed lips, imagining himself to be speaking. It was easy enough, when the requisite number of "tut-tut-tuts" or "gug-gug-gugs" had been achieved in silence to start the sentence. Since then he has never stammered.—London Chronicle.

"Talking" in England.

English people are not only the worst talkers in the world, but they have, in addition, a natural suspicion of any one who can string half a dozen sentences together without stammering. In fact, to have any degree of fluency of speech lays a man open at once to the charge of not being "sound," while a woman who can talk at all inspires universal terror.—Ladies' Field.

Why They Left.

A comedian appeared in a four act comedy in a western mining town, according to the Buffalo Commercial. At the end of the third act the miners rose in a body, gathered up their belongings and started to depart. The comedian, in dismay, rushed before the curtain. "Gentlemen," he said, "there is another act yet." "Yes; that's why we are going," said the miners.

THE BUSHMASTER.

A Reptile Famed For Beauty, Agility, Savageness and Venom.

The Brazilian surucucu is a reptile that reaches a length, it is said, of twelve feet, and for beauty, agility, savageness and venom is excelled by none in Brazil. The old Dutch settlers gave it the name of the bushmaster, a title it well deserves. The beautiful glints of light on this reptile's scales excel those on a humming bird's breast. It is of a reddish brown color, with varied markings. It fortunately is chiefly nocturnal and only frequents dense woods, as a rule not coming near houses.

The finest specimen I ever saw was about eight feet long and had six fully developed fangs, three on each side, as well as eighteen in various stages of growth, nine on each side. The front fang was one and three-fourths inches long, exclusive of the bony base. The effect of a lunge from such a serpent can well be imagined. This is called "surucucu," as it is said to make a hooting noise at night, and "de fogo," as it is said to approach a light at night and try to get as close as it can.

It has a curved claw on its tail, which the natives say it uses to dig into the ground as a fulcrum for its leap on its victim. The natives have a great dread of it, as well they may, the size of the poison sacs being so great, as well as its own size, agility and proved savageness.—London Standard.

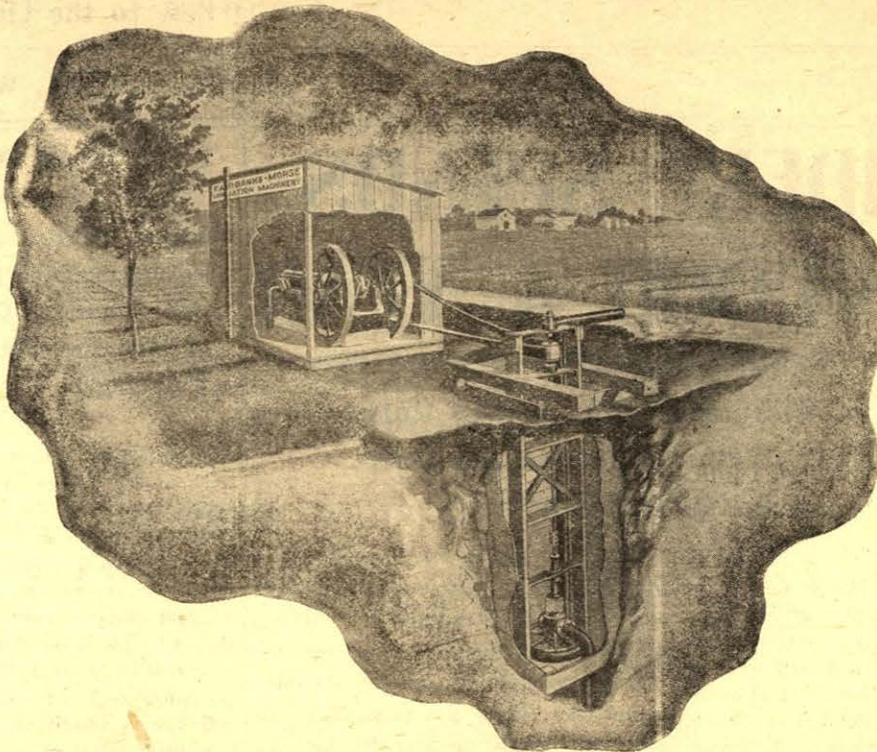

THE FRIGATE BIRD.

It Has the Greatest Wing Power of Any Flying Animal.

It has been demonstrated that the wing area of different flying creatures varies from about forty-nine square feet per pound of weight in the gnat and five square feet in the swallow to half a square foot per pound of weight in the Australian crane. The frigate bird has the most wonderful wing power of any of the flying animals, being able to cut the air at the rate of 100 miles an hour and live continually on the wing day and night for a week or ten days. Ornithologists of note even give it as their opinion that a healthy individual of this species would be equal to the task of making a trip around the world without once closing its wings in rest. It is also claimed that some species can remain motionless in the air for hours without flapping their wings. That they can exert three times the horsepower per pound of weight that a man can and about the same amount more than a

A PUMPING PLANT

Equipped with a Centrifugal, Duplex or Triplex Pump Driven by a Fairbanks-Morse Engine or Motor.

In order to assist prospective users our Messrs. Gordon and Fry have prepared a tabulation which presents the subject in a somewhat original manner. Many manufacturers and dealers will read this tabulation and immediately cry "my pump will deliver more water." Lest this ridiculous statement deceive the unwary, we point out that the amount of water delivered depends on four factors: First, a properly proportioned design for the runner and casing. Second, the diameters of the inlet and discharge pipes. Third, the "head" of water against which the pump acts. Fourth, the speed of the shaft. The manufacturing world does not bring forward pumps more accurately designed and proportioned than the above mentioned. We have always advocated liberal inlet and discharge openings, which are invariably found ample in these pumps. The "head" of water against which the pump acts is a fixed condition which we cannot control and which must be accepted. Hence, allowing that the pumps are equal in design and that the motive power is ample, the ONLY factor which can vary the amount of the discharge is the speed. The greater the speed of the runner the more water is pumped and the more power consumed. There should be—in fact, must be—a point of maximum discharge with minimum expenditure of power, which means the most economical performance. WE KNOW THIS POINT. We have determined it accurately by long experience with each pump. While our pumps will discharge as much water as any manufactured, we rate them at the proper point where power is not wasted.

We have not attempted to present an exhaustive tabulation which will apply to any and all installations, but merely to give certain specific information on certain assumed specific cases.

HOSPITABLE FOLKS.

One Never Beholds a Small Dining Table in Brazil.

The Brazilians are a most hospitable people. Although they have large families, they take in all their stray, unfortunate relatives. It is not unusual to find households of twenty-four persons or more. Ofttimes the host and hostess have no children, and the family is made up of sisters and cousins and relatives-in-law. One never sees a small dining table in Brazil. It is always a very long board in a very large room. When it is not to be all occupied the cloth is spread only at one end. No effort is made at artistic effects. Rigid rules for table deportment are not observed. You will not gain the frowning enmity of your hostess if you splash her table linen with wine. If she notices it at all she will think good naturedly that these things cannot be helped.

Bread comes by the yard to eat with coffee in the morning. The midday breakfast is begun with salad and ends with guayaba jelly, cheese and a delicious little cup of black coffee.

Dinner is a repetition of breakfast in dishes and in order of serving, excepting that soup is substituted for salad at the beginning and more desserts are offered.

Her First Stage Speech.

It was at the mature age of three that Mrs. Kendal—then Madge Robertson—made her first appearance on the stage. The theater was the Marylebone, in London, then under the management of her father, and the play was "The Seven Poor Travelers." Her part was that of a blind child, and at the rehearsals it had been impressed upon her that she must keep her eyes shut in order that the audience should think she could not see. "Under the circumstances," says a writer, "it need hardly be said that the first thing she did on going on the stage was to open her eyes as widely as she could. Sitting in the front row of the pit, which then corresponded to the boxes, 'Baby Madge' saw a favorite servant who had been allowed to go to the theater in order to witness her debut. For the part the child had been provided with new shoes. Proud of their possessor and with supreme disregard for the eternal fitness of things, the little girl stalked down to the footlights and, addressing the servant, said, 'Sarah, look at my new shoes!'

A Friend of Washington.

While many persons have known Lincoln and Grant and a few were acquainted with Washington and Lincoln, so far as I am aware but one person was ever born into this world who knew the triumvirate of uncrowned American kings. That individual was Horace Binney, leader of the Philadelphia bar and among the foremost leaders of the profession throughout the land, with whom I spent a memorable hour in the year 1874. During that delightful interview he stated that when a youth his home was near President Washington's Philadelphia residence that he had met him almost daily for several years and that he frequently held conversations with the general Mr. Binney also mentioned the interesting fact that he had been acquainted with every president of the United States up to the time of Grant, during whose second administration he passed away at the great age of ninety-five.—General James Grant Wilson in Cornhill Magazine.

A MODERN ARCADIA.

Nowhere Are Life and Property So Safe as in Labrador.

A traveler who recently visited the coast of Labrador says that nowhere on earth are life and property held so sacred as in that little known and barren land. A thousand miles of lonely seaboard, along which is scattered a population of some 10,000 people, about one-third of whom are white, would seem to give every opportunity for crime, yet there is no police officer of any kind, no court and no jail. Nor are they needed. The only criminal charge within fifty years was one against an Eskimo, who shot a rival in love.

In addition to the resident population the coast is visited every summer by about 10,000 Newfoundland fishermen, and, while Newfoundland itself is not by any means free from criminals, none appear to come among the fishers or else the example of the natives of Labrador causes them to refrain from any wrongdoing while there. Years ago a circuit court visited the coast every summer, but as it found nothing to do it was abolished. Now should any serious charge be made against a man a magistrate would be sent from Newfoundland to investigate it.—Harper's Weekly.

RUSSIA'S ARGUS EYE.

The Keen Watch That is Exercised Over All Postal Matter.

In the Russian post office a watchful eye is kept on all newspapers and magazines, and any matter officially considered objectionable is ruthlessly "blacked out." A similar surveillance is extended to private correspondence. The task thus undertaken is a gigantic one, but the Russian official system has proved itself equal to the undertaking.

In every post office of importance there are officials constituting the "black cabinet," whose duty it is to examine the letters received. According to the system followed in the Moscow post office, all the letters are handed over to the "black cabinet." Then one official sorts out all those which are addressed to suspected families, another all those addressed in suspected handwriting, while a third arranges the remainder in little heaps and then draws at random several letters from each heap. All the letters selected in these various ways are then opened and examined.

In this ingenious way the Russian government strives to keep a continual check on the free intercourse of its subjects, and it is not surprising that "underground" means of communication have been developed.

Hiccough at Dinner.

Many persons are debarrassed from dining out owing to their liability to contract hiccough during a meal. As a rule when caused by food it comes on at once, and equally as a rule the food causing it is hot. Soups are more likely to provoke hiccough than solids are. It is a good plan to forego soup, which can be done without causing remark, says Home Notes. Or one may eat a little bread before taking it. A third plan is to drink a little cold water and to take the soup in very small sips.

Guess that was going some; but what has that got to do with the Merchandise Line? Simply this: So long as you deal with "The Emporium" you don't need to ever wonder if you are paying double what an article costs, because that will never go at this store. That kind of business is worse than being a highway robber or a horse thief. Sell Dependable Merchandise at a Reasonable Price, stand behind every item that goes out of the store with a binding guarantee that if it is not satisfactory in every way return same and we will GIVE YOU YOUR MONEY BACK. THAT IS JUST WHAT THIS STORE WILL DO.

For Ladies

The day of a "corset is only a corset" has passed

Once a customer is induced to purchase a Gossard, that customer invariably becomes a convert to Gossard for life, simply and wholly because of its merits. The proper figure of today follows the slender, girlish lines of beauty. The hipless effect is now in greater favor than ever before. Where the Gossard is worn the hips incline to the lines of youth and the waist is given symmetry and lengthened.

ST. FRANCIS HOTEL

NOW IN NEW HANDS

The St. Francis hotel in Seattle, which brought on the troubles and litigation of Mrs. Bertha B. Johnson, of this city, in the last year, has changed hands. It has not passed into a new ownership and will hereafter be known as the Hotel Kennedy.

H. E. and W. F. Kennedy, two well known Seattle men, who were among the largest creditors of Mrs. Johnson, are the purchasers. The old hotel will be completely renovated and $15,000 will be expended on new furnishings and decorations. A large billiard room will be added to the present appointments. The new management intends to make the hotel one of the select hostleries of the city.

Since Mrs. Johnson abandoned the hotel last September until the settlement was made a few weeks ago, the hotel property was tied up in the litigation. Immediately after the settlement arrangements were made for the transfer, which is now announced.

NO NEW STATES THIS SESSION

Committee on Territories Decides Against Arizona and New Mexico

Washington, Feb. 27.—There will be no statehood legislation for New Mexico and Arizona at the present session of congress. At a meeting of the committee on territories today all members, regardless of party, in a sensational scene, abandoned consideration of the house bill.

The members of the committee left the room without anyone suggesting further meetings for its consideration. This remarkable action occurred at the conclusion of the reading of the statements presented by Senators Nelson and Beveridge, charging corruption, jury bribing and various other offenses against certain officials and leaders of what was termed the "gang" which is in control of political affairs in New Mexico.

HAUL STEAM SHOVEL THROUGH MOUNTAINS

J. D. Lennington has returned from Bumping Lake where he assisted in placing the big 45-ton government steam shovel. Mr. Lennington says the task of removing the shovel from the cars at Naches City and transporting it to the lake, 47 miles away, is one of the biggest undertakings the government has taken hold of here for some time. It took the men eight days to go from Naches City to the lake. A flat car bed was hauled up into the mountains by eight horses over rough roads and mountain passes.

Eighteen miles from Naches City the men found snow and were compelled to again move the big load of machinery, this time from the wagon on which it rode to a huge bob sled. Some of the way was very dangerous. The flat car bed on which the steam shovel rested, is 30 feet long and when the teams tried to draw the sled past huge rocks that projected from the walls of the canyon, the men found they had a task to perform that required the skill and nerve of every man on the job.

Beside the main load of machinery there was another load of tools which followed. Eight horses pulled the massive shovel through the mountains. Six men comprised the party. Nine miles was the greatest distance traveled in one day. The men were compelled to rest two or three days enroute. It was considered remarkable that the horses stood the trip as well as they did.

"The big shovel is now about ready to operate," said Mr. Lennington today. "It will be used in dredging and in the construction of the big dam. No one who was not in the party, realizes what a job we had on our hands. It required all the nerve and hardiness that we fellows had to get through with the job."

"There is now seven feet of snow on the level near Bumping Lake. The government employees, of whom there are about 25, are getting along fine and are comfortable and contented. A saw mill owned by the government is now operating and is cutting about 45,000 feet of lumber per day. This is used in building bunk houses, storage sheds, etc. The government also has a large wood saw which cuts wood for the camps."

"From what I could learn work on the dam is to be pushed rapidly from now on. When spring opens the force

MINISTER DYING IN CALIFORNIA.

Rev. S. L. Burrill, Who Went South for Health, Reported Worse.

Rev. S. L. Burrill, a retired Methodist minister of Nob Hill, who went to Los Angeles about three months ago for his health, is reported to be in a dying condition. Letters from California received a few days ago indicated that the aged minister was improving, but word was received this morning that his condition had changed for the worse. J. R. Burrill, of Lind, one of his sons, left for Los Angeles this morning. There are two sons living in North Yakima.

The Rev. Burrill is one of the best known ministers throughout central Washington.

EMBEZZLER GIVEN TERM

T. H. Bolin, the embezzler whose arrest was made possible by information furnished the authorities by Miss Edna Beck, of North Yakima, has been sentenced to a three year term in the Utah state penitentiary. Word to this effect has been received here by Orlando Beck, father of Miss Beck. Bolin was a buggy and wagon salesman. He spent some time in this city last summer and promised to marry Miss Beck at Christmas time. Shortly before the time set for the wedding Miss Beck learned that her fiancée was charged with embezzling a large amount of money from the Studebaker company, at Provo Utah.

Miss Beck, at the request of the Provo authorities, wrote a decoy letter to Bolin while the latter was in St. Louis. When Bolin called for the letter at the St. Louis postoffice he was promptly placed under arrest by detectives. A reward of $100 was offered for Bolin's arrest. This, it has been learned, went to the St. Louis officers of the law.

TRACK TEAM TO ORGANIZE

High School Boys Getting in Shape for Athletic Events.

The high school track team is beginning to be organized in preparation for field day events. The boys had a good team last year, defeated all other schools in this part of the country and came out second in the big meet where large cities of the state were represented. This year the boys hope to take first place, no matter if the big city high schools have many more to pick from. The boys will go into practice in the next few days to limber up and get in good shape before the series of school athletic events are held.

MINIMUM FEE SCHEDULE ADOPTED BY ATTORNEYS

A schedule of minimum fees was adopted by the Yakima County Bar association at the meeting held on Friday evening in the courthouse. The schedule submitted by the committee was adopted with a few alterations. This schedule of fees does not change in any material manner the fees that have been charged by the attorneys of the county in the past but it puts all upon a uniform basis, so far as the minimum charge is concerned.

A committee of three was appointed to prepare bylaws, of which the schedule will be one, to be presented at a meeting of the association to be held in two weeks. This committee is composed of Attorneys C. E. Udell, H. M. Taylor and W. B. Clark.

The schedule adopted last evening does not apply where an attorney is retained under contract or by the year at a general minimum fee which was agreed upon. At the meeting last evening Vice President Cull presided.

ASSESSOR SINDALL APPOINTS DEPUTIES

Men Who Will Assess Property of Yakima County This Year Have Been Named.

Assessor J. W. Sindall today appointed his deputies who will make the assessment of the property of the county this year. This list appointed by Mr. Sindall follows:

List of Deputies.

Tampico, W. A. Ayres; Ahtanum, E. Woodcock; School Section district, A. A. Dutcher; Nob Hill, L. D. Luse; Fruitvale, W. W. Burgess; Wenas, W. L. Ogden; Outlook, Henry Scheyer; Wapato district, H. L. Jones; West Sunnyside, A. L. Yakey; Zillah, I. E. Waggoner; Mabton and Glade district, George Paswater; Moxee, D. L. Peck; Parker district, George Dunn; Selah, I. E. Stevenson; Lower Naches, Ira Patterson; Upper Naches, W. S. Clark; Fairview, R. R. Jenkins; North Yakima, B. F. McCurdy and R. G. Brautigam.

In addition to these regular deputies Mr. Sindall has appointed three men who will have charge of the assessment of all improvements to real property in North Yakima and the other towns of the county. These men are James Haynes, Nessly and George Eswine.

Their Duties Explained.

The deputies came in for their books and supplies this morning and Assessor Sindall took advantage of the occasion to give the men instructions. He told his deputies that their duties were as important, in so far as they applied to the assessments and the valuation of real property, as those of the superior court. He urged the men to be absolutely fair, and above all not to permit friendships or dislikes to enter into consideration. He wants an absolutely fair and impartial assessment made, and Mr. Sindall felt confident that his men would do their work honestly.

COWICHE ENTHUSIASTIC

Ranchers Will Boost the Yakima A.-Y.-P. Exhibit.

The ranchers of the Cowiche valley plan to set a pace in supporting the Yakima A.-Y.-P. exhibit that will keep the other parts of the county busy to follow. A meeting of the Improvement club of the valley has been called for Saturday night when the raising of the funds and the procuring of the exhibit will be discussed. It is probable that several members of the Booster committee will be there. The ranchers of that valley are enthusiastic and splendid results are expected.

STIFF WHEAT MARKET RAISES FLOUR PRICES

All Grades Advanced 5 Cents per Sack—Eggs Unchanged But Demand Is Strong.

Flour has advanced 5 cents per sack on all grades. The change took effect February 27 and is caused largely by the stiff prices on wheat which are prevalent. Butter and eggs remain about as they were quoted last week. Creamery butter is selling for 80 cents and ranch butter for 25 cents per roll of two pounds. Fresh ranch eggs are retailing for 25 cents but an advance is expected within a few days. The strong demand for eggs has caused some of the ranchers to hold off, say some of the dealers. If the price is boosted it will be because the farmers are keeping their eggs at home and not because there are no eggs. Many eggs are being held now for setting.

Potatoes Unchanged.

Potatoes are unchanged although the dealers look for either a rise or fall in the market very soon. Producers are being paid from $20 to $22 per ton. Green stuff is rather scarce. Cabbage is selling at 6 cents, but the supply is short. The last sweet potatoes are being sold at 5 cents per pound straight. The season for this product will be over in a few days. Turnips, parsnips, carrots and rutabagas are selling for 2½ and 3 cents per pound.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bodi, formerly Miss Dora Pahlitzsch, of this valley, visited at the home of the latter's parent last Thursday. They are residing in North Yakima.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich, a boy. Calamity Jane struck the steam baler that came through Selah last week with a vengeance. They were a week getting from the Ahtanum to this point. Two miles further the coal wagon broke down, but crossing the Wenas creek capped the climax. First the engine got stuck, then an attempt was made to pull the cook shack over the bridge; they then found out that the supports were in the way and it had to be pulled out backward, breaking the reach in so doing. After this it was hauled through the creek by four horses and in going up the bank turned over. At this juncture the atmosphere turned blue for 15 minutes. One man wanted to split the blanketly blank thing into small pieces and feed them to the fishes. It was decided at last to proceed without it, which they did without further mishap. The owners of the outfit have contracted to bale 250 tons of alfalfa on the Foller and other ranches in the Wenas valley. The hay was bought by the Wiley Brothers of the Ahtanum, who intend to ship it to the Sound.

DARR TAKES CHARGE OF YAKIMA RESERVE

A. L. Darr, who has been chief assistant to Reservation Engineer William H. Redman for the past year, went to Fort Simcoe this morning to take charge of the Yakima Indian reservation engineering work, pending the retirement of Engineer Redman and appointment of his successor.

Darr Available Applicant.

It is known that Darr is an available applicant for the position and is acceptable to Redman as his successor. The last year he spent as chief assistant to Redman has made him acquainted with the reservation and its projects under way, and he understands the field better than anyone else next to Redman.

No information is given out by the department as to the permanent appointment of an engineer to succeed Redman. The temporary assignment of Darr to the position is taken to mean that the department has not yet settled the matter to its entire satisfaction, but the action is considered by his friends to mean that the department will allow Redman to have a voice in selecting his successor.

Engineer Redman has private interests drawing upon his time which make it impossible to devote his services exclusively to the reservation. He has also expressed himself as being tired of the job and weary of the red tape which surrounds government officials in the discharge of their duties.

YAKIMA VALLEY TO BECOME A PARADISE

Intensive Ranching and Good Roads Will Bring Results
Not Yet Dreamed of.

"When the people of this valley have come to practice intensive farming and ranching and when they have constructed a net work of good roads the Yakima valley will be a paradise." This is the statement by Prof. S. C. Lancaster, of the University of Washington, who was here to inspect the proposed quarry at Selah Gap and who gave two lectures on good roads on Saturday afternoon and evening. State Geologist Landis heartily agreed with Prof. Lancaster.

"The results that will be obtained in this valley are beyond the expectations of your most enthusiastic boosters," continued Mr. Lancaster. "Here you have the most productive soil in the world, five acres of which is sufficient to support a family, not only in comfort, but also in luxury. The time will come when the average ranch in the valley will be five acres. The entire valley will then have the appearance of a continuous city.

Tells of Germany.

"Take some of the countries of the old world, notably Germany. The soil there does not compare with that of the Yakima valley, but by the practice of intensive farming an enormous population is supported. That country, however, has always been alive to the necessity of good roads. I went there expecting to find the chief highways the construction of the old Roman days. There are a few of those roads still in very good repair, but I was chiefly impressed with the new roads that are being constructed. The most modern road machinery is being used, principally in the valley of the Rhine, in the construction of the finest roads to be found anywhere. Germany has spent $8,000,000 a year in the last 10 years in building roads. Good road building is one of the chief policies of the government, and the people have been educated up to it."

These and many other facts were told by Prof. Lancaster in his lectures on Saturday afternoon and evening. On account of the brief notice that had been given there was not a very large attendance, but the audience appeared to be very much interested. Many views were thrown upon the screen, a number of them showing the kind of roads that are being constructed in Germany and France, and also illustrating the practical methods of road building.

Road Repair Important.

Prof. Lancaster said that the repair of roads is almost as important as their original construction. It is in this that the property owners along the roads may do excellent work. He said that road maintenance in this valley presents a problem not found everywhere, because of the long dry seasons and the amount of dust. But he believed that methods would be devised to meet this problem satisfactorily and economically.

Prof. Lancaster and State Geologist Landis will both recommend the purchase by the state of the Selah Gap quarry. This quarry contains the best road building material, and is so located that it can be operated economically.

P. C. SCOTT MAY HAVE TAKEN HIS OWN LIFE

Opinion Given That He Took Cyanide of Potassium in the Jewelry Workshop.

The sudden death of P. C. Scott in the workshop of Dunbar & Nelson's jewelry store Monday is mystifying to his friends and several doctors. The report started that he died of alcoholism. This statement is denied by his friends and a number of physicians express doubt if death was directly attributable to excessive drinking. Scott's friends and former associates believe he committed suicide.

Sweetheart Dead in San Francisco.

Scott received word from San Francisco about ten days ago that his sweetheart had died. His friends say this caused him to drink heavily for a day or two, and he had been under the influence of liquor to a slight degree ever since. He has talked with most of the young men about the Empire hotel, where he roomed, continually mentioning the death of his "girl." Beyond this he gave no information that would lead to a reason for his deep despondency that had been noticeable for the past week. He had talked of death on several occasions, though he did not express a desire to take his own life. At different times he told how deeply humiliated he was at his conduct while intoxicated, saying he had gone to places and done things in North Yakima that were foreign to his nature.

Cyanide Missing.

An investigation into Scott's actions today disclosed the fact that he was accustomed to use cyanide of potassium in his work as a jeweler. There were no indications of poisoning but the physicians who have discussed the effect of cyanide say he could have taken the deadly drug when he went to get his tools and died in the manner witnessed in the back room of the jewelry store. A glass half filled with a solution of cyanide of potassium was found on a work bench and the can, which had formerly contained the dry form of the poison, was empty. It is not believed that he drank any of the solution but the absence of the dry cyanide can not be accounted for.

Died Like Whittaker Wright.

It is now believed that Scott committed suicide in the same manner as Whittaker Wright, the mining promoter and organizer of the London & Globe company, when he was sentenced to seven years imprisonment in England for fraud. Wright had a small powder of cyanide in his pocket, presumably prepared to take his life if sentenced to prison. Scarcely had the judge pronounced sentence when Wright took the powder and called for a glass of water. Those in the court room thought the powder was nothing more than a stimulant, but Wright was writhing in death by the time the glass had been drained. It is thought that Scott took his life in the same manner.

Picture of Girl Found.

All of the young man's effects were taken from his room last night and packed for shipment to his sister, Miss Mattie Scott, at Frankfort, O. Letters were found from relatives and from a woman in San Francisco, but no announcement of a death in that place. Scott had two pictures in his room, one of a mother and the other of a daughter. He had shown these pictures to his friends and said the mother thought he was in love with her, but he loved the daughter. All he would say after he began to drink was "My little girl is dead."

Spent Days in His Room.

The greater part of last week Scott spent in his room. He complained to some of the young men about not visiting him, saying he was lonesome. Saturday night he was sober, he had nothing to drink Sunday except whiskey from a bottle which his friends had diluted the night before without his knowing it. Monday morning he was sober and had told that he proposed going to work again.

At the hotel Scott was a favorite. He was above the average in intelligence and frequently entertained friends with accounts of his travels. Among his effects were found a book containing a record of the Scott family, which traces his lineage back to Sir Walter Scott.

May Hold Postmortem.

The physician who was called to attend Scott when he was dying has not signed a death certificate. He says he is not certain as to the cause of death and the case may be placed in the hands of the coroner to determine the cause by a postmortem examination.

TOILETS OF ANTS.

Combs, Brushes, Sponges and Soap Used in Making Them.

"Ants have fine and coarse combs, sponges, hairbrushes and soap. They are remarkably clean."

The speaker was a nature student. He bent over the artificial ants' nest, or formicary, that stood on his table under glass.

"Watch this lady making her toilet," he said. "She won't mind."

The little black ant seemed to be carefully tying and untying knots in herself. The small black body twisted and turned. The tough little black limbs darted through the air.

"That is her fine tooth comb she is using now," explained the student. "It is affixed to the tibia of the foreleg. It has a short handle, a stiff back and sixty-five fine teeth. Nothing can escape it."

"Now she is sponging her back. Yes, the tongue is her sponge, the flat surface of the tongue. The tongue's edges are her brush. They are equipped with hemispherical bosses—short, stiff, blunt bristles. See her brushing her left foreleg with it. Doesn't it work admirably?"

"Now she is combing the hairy underpart of her body with her coarse comb. It is attached to the tarsus and has forty-five coarse teeth, an excellent instrument for rough work."

"She is giving her legs a good soap bath now. She draws them, you see, through her mandibles, or upper jaws. The mandibles are serrated, and they secrete a fluid that is quite like soap-suds, a superb toilet lotion which cleanses the skin and makes the hair brilliant and supple."

"Brushes, combs, toilet lotions, soap and sponges—nature has given them all to the little black ant."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Forests of the Amazon.

According to some astronomers the greenish patches on the planet Mars indicate woodland regions, and a scientist predicts that centuries after the rest of this earth has become as barren as the mountains of the moon Martian astronomers will still distinguish here bright green spots of considerable extent near the east coast of South America. The forests of the Amazon valley, he thinks, are practically extermination proof. An average of 1,000 rank trees, shrubs and creepers cover every acre of ground and a year's neglect is enough to obliterate all traces of the British Medical Association at Oxford. An extraordinary story of the imposition of one will upon another was told before the psychological section of the British Medical Association at Oxford. Dr. Eldridge-Green said that he was talking with a patient on the subject

FISHING FOR BIRDS.

Catching Gulls and Albatross With Rod and Line.

Curious though it may seem, it is a fact that birds are caught with rod and line in many parts of the world. The pastime is declared to be almost as fascinating as fishing. Gulls in Newfoundland are caught in this way in large quantities. In New England fishing for gulls and petrels is an important industry.

The method of bird fishing is practically the same as that of ordinary fishing. Two men go out in a dory and throw pieces of cod liver on the water. When large quantities of birds have been attracted to the spot more cod liver is thrown out on a hook. This the birds greedily swallow and thus fall easy victims.

Albatross are fished for in the same way off the Cape of Good Hope. A piece of pork is attached to a long line and thrown overboard. The bird will eye it for a long time, gradually and cautiously making toward it. Suddenly he will seize it and hold it in his beak. When he discovers that he is caught he will sit on the water and vigorously flap his wings. However, he will be drawn into the boat and made a captive.

Albatross fishing is good sport, since the bird requires careful handling. So long as he pulls against the line it is easy enough. The moment, however, he swims forward the hook will drop from his beak unless it is skillfully manipulated, and the bird will find himself free.

The Briton and Washing.

We have come to look upon water as meant primarily to wash in, as an aid to ablation rather than a thing of beauty. A story of a Somersetshire peasant will illustrate what we mean. The individual in question had never seen the sea until he was taken to Weston-super-Mare on a "choir treat" excursion. Naturally the vicar, the curate and the rest of the tenors, trebles and basses as soon as the esplanade was reached gathered around to see how the first sight of the ocean would strike the natural man. Will it be believed that the words struck from him by the view of "the unfurrowed deep" lying in vast expanse before his eyes were these: "If I'd known what her were like, I'd have brought down a bit of soap and had a good wash." The iron, or, rather, the soap, had entered so deeply into his soul that he could only conceive the sea as a huge washing place.—London Spectator.

FLAG OF TRUCE FLYING

The Pomona Heights purchasers, after a meeting with Clark O'Bryan, the promoter of the project, in the farmers' room of the courthouse Tuesday afternoon, made a temporary adjustment of their difficulties. A committee, consisting of E. L. Perrin, B. O. Thrall and J. T. Handsaker, was appointed to meet the creditors of the North Yakima & East Selah Irrigation Co. in an effort to induce them to not attempt to foreclose their liens by suit or ask for the appointment of a receiver until after the water rights question is settled in court and the company gets on its feet again.

Taxes for Wet Land.

Another point of great difference between O'Bryan and the purchasers of the land arose over the payment of taxes. The county assessor, anticipating that water would be on the land April 1, the same as the owners, made the assessment on the basis of irrigated land. The purchasers made a complaint at the meeting about this assessment. Their contracts provide that they shall pay the taxes and they are opposed to paying on anything but a dry basis.

Week's Respite.

Delbert Parker, H. R. Linde and George R. McDonald were appointed a committee to confer with the county commissioners and prosecuting attorney with a view to having the assessment changed back to dry land. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the farmers' room at the courthouse, to hear reports of the committees and settle on some definite policy.

Because It Was True.

City Editor (to reporter)—Look here, what do you mean by writing, "Among the prettiest girls at the dance was Lieutenant Rogers?" The lieutenant is a man, I believe. Reporter Cudd—Yes, I understand that; but you see he spent the greater part of the evening among the prettiest girls there.

Fiction.

"What are you writing about, Hawley?"
"A story. I'm going in for fiction."
"Really? For a magazine?"
"No; for my tailor. He wants his money, and I'm telling him I'll send him a check next week."

The Man Under the Bed.

Mrs. Timid—Did you ever find a man under the bed? Mrs. Bluff—Yes; the night we thought there were burglars in the house. I found my husband there.

Not the body but the soul strikes the blow in which lives victory.—Maga.

SHERIFF MAKES REPORT

Sheriff Lancaster today submitted to the county commissioners a statement of the cost of boarding the prisoners in the county jail for the last month. This statement shows that the actual cost was 13½ cents a meal, for which he was allowed 20 cents, showing that the margin of profit was only 6½ cents a meal. This would indicate that the difference between the cost and the amount allowed by the commissioners has not been as great as was believed by some.

Sheriff Lancaster says that he suggested to the county commissioners shortly after his election that there might be a saving made in the board of the prisoners. He asked for a month or two in which to keep an account. The result of this account he submitted to the commissioners today.

The sheriff says that he does not believe the margin indicated is exorbitant. He thinks there should be a small margin for the extra work involved in making the purchases and keeping the accounts. He does not want a cent to which he is not entitled, and it is his intention to conduct the sheriff's office on as economical a basis as possible.

THE CLIMBING PERCH.

An East Indian Fish That Travels Over the Land.

As a rule, fish come out of the water only at the end of a line or by other involuntary process, but the climbing perch of the East Indies thinks nothing of leaving a pool with which it is not satisfied and starting overland in search of one more to its taste.

This usually happens as a result of the evaporation of a pool in the extremely dry season. When the fish decides that the water in the particular pool formed during the rainy season is in danger of drying out completely they make all preparations for moving and late at night or early in the morning deliberately climb the banks and start off in search of some more commodious pool or stream not in danger of going dry. When the journey is made at the hour it usually is the fish are favored by the heavy dew which lies on the grass, but if an emergency arises they will boldly strike out at noontime along the dusty road.

They travel by means of the strong bony fins which are full of sharp spines, like those of the common perch. They have a receptacle in which they carry water with them to moisten their gills. It is said that they will live several days out of water, and with the assistance of the dew laden grass the fish that starts in search of a satisfactory pool or stream is practically sure of living until it finds it. — Brockton Times.

Origin of "Jesus".

The members of the Society of Jesus appear first to have been given their familiar short name, "Jesus," by none other than Calvin. Pope Sixtus V. attempted to change their name from "Society of Jesus" to "Society of Ignatius," after their founder, Ignatius Loyola, but the attempt miscarried, and the Jesuits have never become "Ignatians," after the model of the Franciscans, Dominicans and Benedictines, although their enemies in Spain used to call them "Inglisias" (Inglo being the Spanish original of Loyola's Christian name). In France after their expulsion in 1765 those who ventured to remain temporarily called themselves "Fathers of the Faith," or "Clerks of the Sacred Heart."—London Chronicle.

The Daytime Nap.

Prolonged "forty winks" during the day are severely condemned by many doctors on the ground that they affect one's regular sleep. Scientists have found that in the ordinary course in the human being there is the greatest vitality between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. and the least between 2 o'clock and 6 o'clock in the morning. Long sleeps during the day interfere with this order of nature, sometimes causing headache. The nap of forty winks, but only forty, proves refreshing to many because it is too short to have any injurious consequences.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

Brief Record of Local Happenings for the Week in North Yakima and Vicinity.

Postmaster Lemon and E. J. Wyman have purchased a tract of land in Wide Hollow from O. F. Noble. The purchasers expect to further improve the land this spring by planting thereon a commercial orchard.

A special meeting of the Fruitvale Improvement club was held Wednesday evening with a large attendance. The object of the meeting was to make arrangements for a suitable exhibit from that section in the county display at the A.-Y.-P.

The Yakima Valley Electric company, a Strahorn corporation, announced this week that sub-power stations of the company would be established at Sunnyside and Kennewick. Nearby towns will be supplied with light and power from the sub-stations.

The Yakima Valley Transportation company this week applied to the county commissioners for a franchise to extend their lines over the two main roads of the Fruitvale district. The petition will be considered by the board on April 6.

The Dan W. Nelson farm of 60 acres, situated in the lower Naches valley, was sold this week to the Yakima Land company for a consideration of $10,500, or $175 per acre. The purchasers, it is said, contemplate dividing the farm up into 10 acre tracts and placing the same on the market in the spring.

The appointment of Clarence Starcher, of Fairview, as fruit inspector, by the county commissioners this week, seems to meet with general approbation among the fruit growers, as the young man, having made a careful study of horticulture, is believed to be competent. The appointment was made on the recommendation of State Inspector Huntley.

Messrs. Cline and Loudon, of the First National bank, have announced their intention of erecting a two-story business building this spring on their East Yakima avenue property, between Third and Fourth streets. The plans are now in course of preparation for the new structure, which will be a substantial one.

The city board of health, on the recommendation of Health Officer Nywenning, ordered St. Joseph's academy, the Catholic school, closed Monday. Dr. Nywenning traced five cases of scarlet fever to pupils of that school and as it is feared that other pupils might be exposed to the disease it was thought advisable to close the school for a short time.

Judge Preble last Monday granted a divorce to Jerry Okey, manager of the Valley Hardware store, from his wife, Sadie M. Okey, or Mrs. Walter Forbis, as the lady is now known. The court also granted the custody of the child, Madeline, aged 12 years, to the father. Judge Preble in passing on the case, declared that the divorce procured by Mrs. Okey in Idaho in 1905 in his judgment is invalid. The case has attracted a good deal of attention locally.

Dr. B. F. Roller, the Seattle boxing champion and wrestler, has been a Yakima visitor this week. Dr. Roller owns 40 acres of land in the Selah on which he contemplates planting an orchard in the spring in order, as he says, "that I may have a nice and profitable place to retire when I get through with the boxing game." Dr. Roller is a fine specimen of physical manhood. He is very highly impressed with North Yakima and surrounding country.

Judge Preble on Wednesday committed to the asylum at Medical Lake S. Sutherland, recently an inmate of the county jail, who, the officials of the sheriff's office say, has made four ineffectual attempts at suicide. It is not claimed that the man is insane except in a temporary sense, as the result of hard drinking. But while in that condition he is said to be dangerous not only to himself but to those about him. It is not expected that he will be detained long at the asylum.

Mrs. Mary Geer Conrad, aged 63, wife of J. H. Conrad, a well known Yakima valley pioneer, died at the family home in the Upper Moxee last Tuesday, Feb. 23. The funeral was held from the residence Thursday afternoon with interment in the Holland cemetery. Besides her husband deceased leaves four sons and two daughters to mourn her loss. Mr. and Mrs. Conrad settled in Yakima county in 1876, having come west in that year from Urbana, Ill. For many years the family resided at Tampico in this county.

Reservation Engineer W. H. Redman has resigned his official position with Uncle Sam, although the job still sticks to him, and his resignation has not yet been accepted by the powers that be. In the meantime A. L. Darr, who has been Mr. Redman's assistant, is looking after the work of the office and it is thought that he will finally be named as his successor. Mr. Redman, who is a civil engineer of recognized ability, has been in charge of the reservation work for 12 years and his retirement is regarded as a distinct loss to the service.

AN IMPORTANT INVENTION

New Furniture Polish Is to Be Manufactured on Large Scale in This City.

North Yakima has a new industry. At present it is not of large proportions but it gives promise to develop into an industry of much importance. It is the manufacture of a furniture polish, the invention of O. Bergeron, who believes he has a preparation that is better than anything that has yet been put upon the market.

For two years Mr. Bergeron has been experimenting with various combinations of liquids that he knew had merit in the furniture polishing line. He secured a number of preparations that gave splendid results but did not come up to the high standard he had set. In addition to putting a polish on furniture Mr. Bergeron wanted a preparation that would be always ready and would not have to be shaken up before use. He also wanted something that would not freeze, but could be used at all times in any climate, and last but not least, he wanted something that would not injure the hands when it was being applied.

After two years of constant work Mr. Bergeron was finally rewarded. He says his preparation comes up to every requirement and does more in the way of polishing and renovating furniture than any other polish will do. He called it Bergeron's Furniture Polish, but after seeing the result of its application he added the word "Ideal". He says that fittingly describes it.

So confident is Mr. Bergeron of the results of its use that in order to advertise it he is giving away samples to all ladies who call at his store for it. He is already making preparations for its manufacture on a large scale and looks to the time when a plant for that exclusive purpose will be in operation here. He intends that North Yakima shall be the headquarters.

NO RAISE FOR PRESIDENT.

House Thinks $100,000 a Year Too Much for Executive.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—The house today rejected the senate provision increasing to $100,000 the salary of the president.

WIRELESS TELEPHONING

Residents of North Yakima may have the privilege of witnessing a test of wireless telephoning. P. H. How, manager of the United Wireless company, is in Seattle trying to arrange with the company to send its test machines to North Yakima for a public demonstration. The new invention has been tested in California with a great measure of success. Some time ago the company promised Mr. How that it would send its apparatus here for a test. Correspondence has been carried on resulting in Mr. How going to Seattle Sunday for a conference with officers of the company.

In addition to making a request for a local test of the wireless telephone, Mr. How will also discuss the proposition to establish a wireless telegraph station in North Yakima. It has been practically decided by the company to put in a wireless station here but a site has not been located. This will be the first wireless station this side of the Cascades and will place North Yakima in direct touch with the entire Pacific coast and all points in Alaska.

WANTED---A TRADE MARK

Will T. Elwell Believes Publicity Cause Would Be Aided By an Official Seal.

"North Yakima wants a trademark—needs it—and will probably get one if the new momentum lasts," said Will T. Elwell today.

"The publicity of both city and county has made rapid strides since the different organizations adopted the unit idea and jumped into team work. The foundation is in and already the superstructure is up and is receiving the trimmings. This year no other place is going to have it on Yakima county—she will be it.

"Just at this time it would be a fine thing to adopt a general trademark—some design symbolical of this section. It should be so suggestive as to speak of Yakima at a glance. Possibly the figure could effectively embody a typical Indian head with a weaving of fruits and other leading features.

"With a popular, official trademark more value could be wrung out of the advertising than one would imagine. Every dollar spent on publicity would increase the value of the design in which all advertising would focus. It would work out like the rolling snowball.

"Large business concerns long ago found out the value of a symbol by practical experience. Think, for instance, what 'Gibraltar' is now worth to a certain insurance company, or the bunch of grapes to a baking powder company. "At this late hour even Seattle has discovered that she has no official, permanent, symbol and is forthwith proceeding to get one. Why not Yakima?"

Poole to Live Here.

Arthur Poole, a well known Yakima man, who has lived in Los Angeles for the last three or four years, told friends in the city today that he would return to this city to live. He will return to Los Angeles in a few days and will come back to Yakima inside of a month with a view to permanently locating here. It was stated this afternoon that Mr. Poole has become an active member of the new Central Washington Development & Investment Co.

"LUCKY" BALDWIN'S WILL

Relatives Say They Are Satisfied and None of Them Will Contest.

Los Angeles, March 3.—The will of E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, the turfman and plunger, disposing of property valued at about $25,000,000, was filed in court today. All the near relatives are recipients of large bequests and it is understood the disposition of the property is satisfactory to all the relatives and there will be no contest on their part. Baldwin's daughters are well provided for. The widow shares in the San Francisco property valued at half a million, her share of the estate being less than $200,000. H. A. Unruh, business manager for Baldwin, is made executor of the will and is a beneficiary to the extent of 100 acres of land valued in excess of $25,000. A clause of the will provides against a possible contest.

In addition to containing a forfeiture clause in connection with all bequests the document says: "I declare that I have no issue now living other than my three children hereinbefore named and that there are no children living of any deceased child of mine."

Another provision is that any person who may establish a legitimate claim shall receive $10 "and such person shall take no other or further share in my estate." The will was executed November 4, 1908.

YAKIMA! MY YAKIMA!

(Tune—Maryland, My Maryland.)
Where is a fairer land than thee?
Yakima! My Yakima!
Home thou shalt ever be to me,

Yakima! My Yakima!
Prosperity has come to thee,
For more than gold thy orchards be,
To every one who trusts in thee—
Yakima! My Yakima!

Apples that rival Hesperide's,
Yakima! My Yakima!
Are shipped far over the seas,
Yakima! My Yakima!
Here upon all thy land around
Nature's best gift to man is found—
He takes from thee in duty bound—
Yakima! My Yakima!

Beautiful land, to thee I bow,
Yakima! My Yakima!
Plenty to all thou dost endow,
Yakima! My Yakima!
Birds and bees thy praises sing,
Thy summer smiles joys to them bring,
And He on high shall be thy King—
Yakima! My Yakima!
—Jessie White.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
