Dear Mr. Pollard:

Mr. Albert H. Culverwell tells me he contacted you when he was in Portland relative to a picture of Concomley.

I have fairly well determined from my inquiries and research, that no such picture exists.

However, one of my problems is to obtain a likeness of a Chinook man, suitable to help guide me in a sculpture. Mr. Culverwell said your photo files contained a picture of Concomley's grandson I believe.

Would it be possible to obtain a photo copy of that picture, and also a photo copy of any other Chinook man you might have a photograph of that would show either a flattened skull, or the general characteristics of a Chinook face [whether it is broad, or not, the nose characteristics etc]

If so, please send them and I will remit for the negatives. The negative alone would be sufficient and then I can have a photographer make up a print the size I wish.

Sincerely
