OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

RECENT conventions of the democratic party held in the states of Iowa, Nebraska and Ohio, all unerringly indicate what we have pointed out before in these columns was the prevailing sentiment within the ranks of the new democracy, i. e., advocacy of free silver and opposition to trusts and imperialism. The platforms adopted by each of these conventions, as well as that of Kentucky, which was held some weeks ago, endorses in the most unqualified terms, the national platform of 1896 and re-affirms the faith of democracy in the peerless leader of that year and demand his renomination in 1900. These platform utterances go far beyond this point, however, as was to be expected. They announce in the most unmistakable language, the purpose of the democracy to take up the people's fight in the great battle of next year against not only the rapidly growing trust evil, which is menacing the institutions of this country, but the greater monster of imperialism, which has raised its slimy head so recently through the mal-administration of the present national government, that many people are still unaware of the fact that it is already engaged in a death struggle with the republic. It augurs well for the success of the party in the nation that its leaders have already gotten their bearings on the great issues to be passed upon by the people.

RICHARD CROKER, the cunning old political fox, who dominates Tammany Hall, has recently seen a light. He went to Europe three months ago an anti-Bryan man and an "expansionist," but on his return home he has executed a complete somersault and landed squarely on the Bryan anti-imperialist "band wagon." It is probably true, as the imperialists are now saying, that Croker is a man who is actuated entirely by policy and not by principle; but the fact remains, however, that his sudden change of front is of vast significance in the political world. It means, for one thing, that the backbone of the Eastern insurrection within the democratic party is broken, and that Tammany will recognize the leadership of Bryan and aid in his nomination and election. It furthermore means that anti-imperialism will in all likelihood become the leading issue and that Croker regards it as a winning issue. Tammany Hall will now become a hot-bed of anti-imperialism, since Croker has got his bearings, and will no doubt push the good work along until the whole East becomes permeated with the idea that the only way in which a republican form of government can be maintained in this country is by the overthrow of McKinleyism and all that it stands for.

THE traveling peddlers who annually infest the Yakima valley, in their efforts to sell their wares direct to farmers, are not entitled to any consideration at the hands of our people. When close comparisons are made, the goods sold by these "fakirs" are generally found to be inferior in manufacture to articles purchased from the home merchant at the same or a less price. Besides, these parasites are not identified with the interests of the county; they pay no taxes and lessen materially the money in circulation here by carrying all they get away with them. The farmer has nothing to gain and everything to lose by dealing with such people. Besides, when he gets cramped financially, it is not from such people that he expects to get credit, but from his reliable home merchant, who has carried him through the hard times. Nor is this the only reason why he should purchase his goods at home. Every farmer is presumed to have more to sell than to buy, and he naturally looks to his home town to find a customer. Thus, each class is dependent on the other, and as long as society is organized on the present basis, this condition of things will continue, and the traveling "fakir" has no place in the system.

AS AN illustration of the injury done the Yakima valley by the exaggerated and misleading report sent out from here concerning the management of the Sunnyside canal, it is only necessary to mention the fact that Spokane real estate dealers have had the same printed in poster form and are using it for the purpose of keeping intending settlers away from this county. A gentleman from the East, who is engaged in the sale of N. P. lands, while in our office on Wednesday, stated that this report had reached his state and had already had the effect of deterring people from coming out here to investigate the country. If the report had any basis in fact, the people of Yakima would not complain; but that it is false and misleading is proven by the fact that 190 settlers under the canal have signed a statement declaring it to be false in every particular—which statement is published in full this week by our contemporary, the Herald, as its first installment of crow.

THE Oregonian, which never wearies of blowing about the good times that we are now having, has lately been carrying an advertisement in its local news columns of employment wanted by 80 young men who have recently been mustered out of the Second Oregon regiment. Unfortunately these boys have lost their positions by going to war and are now willing to accept any kind of employment that is honorable and that will give them a decent livelihood. It is to be hoped that they will find work, and that speedily; but the fact that they are forced to advertise for it is not complimentary to the people of a great city like Portland and besides seems to give the lie to the windy editorials in the Oregonian, to the effect that prosperity is so rampant throughout the land.

POOR unfortunate Tacoma deserves the sympathy of all mankind. For the past ten years the "City of Destiny" has been robbed and plundered by her public officials until virtually nothing is left to her but her honor, if indeed, she still possesses that. Each successive crop of thieving officials seems to have been more daring and ingenious in theft than the last. To cap the climax, her present republican mayor is under indictment by the grand jury for soliciting a bribe. Nor is this all, for her republican paper, one of the leading organs of the state, is openly charged with having accepted one. Poor Tacoma. She is patient and long-suffering. Will she ever rid herself of the pestiferous vermin that are eating out her very heart and life?

THE offer of Mr. Levi Ankeny, of Walla Walla, to pay the expenses of transporting the Washington regiment from San Francisco to Seattle, when they return home, has elicited much praise from the press and people of the state, and deservedly so. The insinuation thrown out by certain newspapers, that the generous offer was inspired by the political ambition of the donor, is an unworthy one and reflects no credit on those who make it. Nor does the offer seem to us an ostentatious display of wealth. Mr. Ankeny, although a millionaire, is evidently well supplied with the milk of human kindness and probably merely desires to show his appreciation of the state's brave soldier boys, among whom is his own beloved son.

THE late Captain Holton, of this city, was what might be termed a pioneer of Washington journalism. For many years he wielded a vigorous pen for the up-building of Yakima and the surrounding country. Although a strong partisan and relentless fighter, he enjoyed the respect and good will of his opponents. He lived the life of an honest, christian gentleman, and it is a matter of deep regret to all who knew him that the closing years of such an honorable and well spent life should have been clouded with troubles of a financial nature.

Political Gossip.

It seems early for the making of slates for the next year's campaign, but there can be no doubt that the politicians are already laying their plans and stretching their wires in preparation for the hot political contest in 1900. The republican factions are most active and no chance for gaining a point is being lost.

All over the state it appears to be a fight between the Allen-Wilson-Foster combine and the Ankeny-Humes aggregation. For several months it had been rumored that Allen and Ankeny would be rival candidates for governor and a hot time was expected in Walla Walla county where both men have their home castles. But Mr. Ankeny has put an end to speculations on the outcome of this expected contest by positively disavowing any purpose to enter the race for governor.

It is plain that Mr. Ankeny still clings to his ambition to be senator, and that he aspires to succeed Geo. Turner in 1903. There will be a lively contest in 1902 between money bags for the control of the legislature and the professional workers and grafters will reap a harvest.

The Walla Walla banker has just made a master stroke for popularity throughout the state. That was his offer made a few days ago to charter at his own expense three steamers for bringing the Washington regiment from San Francisco to Seattle. The cost will be from $7000 to $10,000. No doubt Mr. Ankeny's motive is purely unselfish and patriotic, but for all that it was a great political move, and one that no rival politician in his own party is able to match. It ought to bind Seattle and King county still more strongly to Ankeny, and will give the generous Walla Walla prestige in every county in the state the volunteers who accept this bounty would be base ingrates if they did not go home shouting the praises of their benefactor.

But the Allen-Wilson men are not idle. They are still sawing wood and cutting persimmon poles. If there is anything in current political gossip the slate is John B. Allen for governor and John L. Wilson for national committee-man, with the hope of succeeding Turner when the time comes.

The Allen men secretly hope that after getting their man in the governor's chair, his popularity will be so great that Wilson will be over-shadowed, and that Allen may go to the senate instead.

The refusal of Ankeny to enter the race for governor gives the Allen men in this county greater hope of controlling the delegation to the state convention. It is said that C. C. Gose, who studied law under Allen, is on the slate for attorney general, and that F. C. Dement has been selected as the choice of the Allen men in this county for delegate to the national convention. The Ankeny men are still inclined to blame Gose for the defeat of their candidate in last winter's senatorial contest, and they threaten to get even at the first opportunity.

The prospects for an old-time factional fight between the republican factions in this county seem bright just now, and the non-combatants on the other side are expecting rare fun in watching the contest.—Walla Walla Argus.

Rough on the Oregon Boys.

It will be remembered that a good deal of feeling was manifested a few weeks ago by the press and people of the neighboring state of Oregon, over the continued refusals of the Second Oregonian regiment to be mustered out at Portland. It seems, however, according to the testimony of one of the members of that regiment now in this city, that they had good reasons for preferring to be mustered out at San Francisco, aside from the extra travel pay secured. Every individual member of the regiment it seems had a just grievance against the state authorities for the shabby treatment received from them. In the first place a rank imposition was practiced on the soldiers by the state in the matter of uniforms, the boys in recruiting, being charged $18 by the state for old uniforms that had been in use by the militia for the period of 12 years. On being mustered in to the U. S. service at Camp McKinley the old uniforms were promptly condemned by army officers and had to be thrown away. The soldiers were also provoked at the malicious and continued attacks of the Portland Oregonian upon their popular commander Col. Somers, an attack believed to have been instigated by political considerations. Even after their arrival at San Francisco, the boys acceded to the request of Gov. Geer to be mustered out at Portland. Providing the citizens of that city would furnish the necessary transportation, costing in the neighborhood of $10,000. This amount it seems could not be raised in the "webfoot" metropolis and the brave boys of the second Oregon were left to the mercy of the Southern Pacific which corporation charged them all the regular fare to reach their homes. This version of the affair it seems has not before been published in the Oregon papers, for the good and sufficient reason no doubt, that it reflects no credit on the people of that state.

A large shipment of the Nazareth waists for girls and boys, 1 to 12 years 25c. This is a waist that thousands of mothers have bought for their boys and girls and found it to be more desirable than the usual kind. The fabric is seamless and elastic with tapes for strength and buttons that won't break easily. Garments are supported from the shoulders and there is less mending to do, to be had at J. J. Macdonald's, First street, south.

GRADE DAIRY COWS.

What May Be Done With Good Bulls and Native Cows.

In an article in The Farmer M. B. Wood favors grade dairy cows and says: Do not expect that a Guernsey or any other bull can do himself credit or do you the good of which he is capable unless you give him a fair class of cows to serve. As to the kind of cows to select, take your native cows, and, as I have said, select them for performance, is, I am sorry to say, few farmers are expert enough to select cows in any other way, and, after all, performance is a sure thing. I suggest native cows for the reason that you will be able to build up a more uniform herd from native dams than you will from a miscellaneous lot of mixtures of several breeds, because the impressibility of your sire will be much more apparent when none of it is needed to counteract characteristics of other breeds. Keep the cows that test rich in butter fat, that give an even flow for a long time, instead of a large flow for a short time; those which milk up close to calving time and which have good, well quartered udders, with fair sized teats set well apart both from front to back and side to side. Keep them when they have roomy abdomens, as the more feed a cow can consume with profit the better she is.

When you start to build up a herd of Guernsey grades, stick to them, as your second and third crosses will show the wisdom of your choice much better than the first cross. Don't buy a Guernsey and then a Holstein and then a Jersey and then something else, because you will not have anything when you get through. This disposition to shift around, together with another prevalent disposition, accounts for the mongrel character and appearance of the cattle in a great many sections of the country.

We will say, now that you have bought your bull and have your first crop of heifer calves, give them good care. I do not mean to fatten them as for veal, but feed them enough bran, oats, barley, to keep them growing throughout the first year. When they are about 15 months old, look them over, and all that have not good constitutions should be disposed of; the others should be served by their own sire. This is inbreeding, but it will intensify your blood and your inbred three-quarter bloods will be as strong in the breed characteristics as ordinary seven-eighths bloods. They will also be richer in butter fats than if not inbred.

Transplanting Berry Bushes, Etc.

In answer to a correspondent Vick tells that currants, blackberries and raspberries can all be planted in October or November or in the spring. A currant bush can be divided into as many parts as will have some root attached, and each will make a plant. This can be done in fall or spring. In the case of fall planting of any of the plants mentioned it will be well to draw some soil up around each of them after setting out and to throw some leaves or litter over them to prevent action of frost.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at Louis O. Janek's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

STATE PRESS OPINION.

It will really be too bad if Mr. Ankeny's present disbursement is productive of no more personal political benefit than his past investments.—Seattle Herald.

Roosevelt is so busy making speeches at county fairs and nursing the buzzing of his presidential bee that the common people are wondering when he finds time to be governor.—Tacoma News.

General Funston, the hero, says that "Capitalists will be the only ones benefited by the retention of the Philippines on account of the cheapness of labor." Funston is anti-expansion and has the nerve to say so.—Exchange.

W. H. Doolittle, who made such a heroic attempt in '96 to convince the people that the issue of the campaign was the tariff and not free silver, is said to be practicing law in New York and trying to figure out with ex-Senator Squire as to whether or no they are political has-beens.—Goldendale Sentinel.

Since John L. Wilson and Levi Ankeny have both declined to become candidates for governor next year the republicans are beginning to get worried. This thing of a republican refusing to run for any office is so unusual that it naturally causes apprehension. Still, they have John B. Allen and Charley Sullivan left.—Tacoma News.

The country papers are in receipt of a proposition to furnish them with Republican editorial matter for 25 cents. These two-bit brains are a vast improvement over the editorial filling usually ladled out by the Republican weakly editors and we have no doubt the syndicate could be jewed down to 15 cents with a Hanna chromo thrown in.—Vancouver Register.

The fury of the proprietors of the "Van Wyck boom" over its untimely collapse is highly comic. It was essentially a boom of a nobody by nobodies. As a "logical" candidate for the presidency, or any other kind, the man who left the bench at Croker's behest to run for governor, and who has since lived on the legal crumbs that fall from the Tammany table, was a simple absurdity.—Tacoma News.

The bondholders and money changers are becoming alarmed over the chance of McKinley's re-nomination. They are of the opinion that his war scandals and expansion ideas will hurt his chances of succeeding himself, so they are hard at work to down Bryan and get the democrats to put up a candidate who will be acceptable to them. They would thus be safe, no matter which side wins.—Tacoma Sun.

And now it is Editor Shultz, of the Tacoma Ledger, who is accused of being "out with the big mit." But the Snoqualmie Falls Power Company refused to pony up and the poor old Ledger finds itself in a very unpleasant predicament. Shultz had better confine himself in the future to writing prosperity editorials and trust to getting a slice of the republican corruption fund in 1900.—Localizer.

The news is perfectly willing that Levi Ankeny should pay all the expenses of the returning volunteers, whether he is doing it from pure and lofty patriotic motives or from a desire to further his political ends. So long as the wealthy men of the country devote their money to a good cause, they are entitled to all the glory they can get out of it, and their motives should not be questioned.—Everett News.

Expansion is a trick word invented to swindle the intelligence of the American people. The expansion that finds favor with Americans is the acquisition of contiguous territory to be settled by American citizens and ultimately added to the sisterhood of states. It is not expansion to conquer and subjugate by force, distant countries with dense populations of alien people whose civilization has little or nothing in common with our own.—Walla Walla Argus.

The time has come for the democratic party of the state of Washington and in particular of King county to take active steps toward an organization of forces for the coming campaign. The weakness of our party locally has always been its comparatively disorganized condition. While the republican party has always been equipped with material, and prepared to meet the conditions of a coming fight, our forces have waited until the last moment to get together and begin the battle.—Seattle Review.

Large crop or nay under catch crop conditions. In many part of the west, where dry midsummer weather is apprehended, Kaffir corn makes a good catch crop. It will grow under moisture conditions where Indian corn would prove an utter failure, and it makes very satisfactory feed. Sorghum is also coming into use as a catch crop to a considerable extent, and those who have employed it in this way speak in high terms of it. Many find that rape makes a good catch crop also, the Dwarf Essex variety, of course, being planted.

Where conditions will permit turnips are proving quite a favorite, and corn, and especially sweet corn where dairy feed is wanted, is proving quite popular as a catch crop. Of course such crops as buckwheat will also be planted in localities where buckwheat growing is understood. Not much buckwheat is grown in the west, but the quantity is increasing. It makes an excellent catch crop because the season for planting it is by preference late. In the east, where it is grown pretty largely, the 2d of July is the traditional buckwheat planting day, but it may be sown considerably later than this. Those who attempt growing it for the first time will need to be cautioned with regard to harvesting. The connection of the grain with the stem is very delicate, and it shatters out easily, so that it must be handled carefully, and old buckwheat growers usually make it a point to cut buckwheat only when the dew is on. Buckwheat blossoms continuously through the season, but the largest grain crop is, as a rule, secured upon the maturity of the first blossoms. One common objection to buckwheat is that it is hard to rid the land of it owing to the fact that it shatters so readily, thus reseeding the soil. One of its advantages is that it is an excellent bee food.

Nice clean eggs always find ready sale. If they are dirty, they should be washed with warm water. A southern exchange says that if this does not take off all the stains cider vinegar will. It will pay to try this if you have a nice lot of fresh eggs that by accident or otherwise have become stained, for a dirty egg is distasteful, even if the egg is all right inside. The sight of it outside is obnoxious to the delicacy of one's taste.—Massachusetts Ploughman.

The affair was a howling success.

A pleasant surprise was given Miss Myra Howlett, on Wednesday evening, when a party of about 20 of her young friends from town suddenly appeared at her home on Nob Hill to spend a few hours. The program consisted of music, whist and dancing, with an interval for partaking of some delicious refreshments. All present report it a most enjoyable affair.

The long delayed machinery for Read's New Steam Laundry has arrived and is being placed in position this week; so that this new enterprise will throw open its doors for business next Monday. It is an up-to-date establishment and will no doubt be a credit to the city and besides will give permanent employment to a number of hands. Read Mr. Read's announcement in our advertising columns.

O. A. Fechter, while on the Sound recently, made arrangements with the N. P. officials for the usual rate of $6.50 for the round trip, return tickets to be good until Oct. 15th. It is believed that at least 3,000 Sound people will avail themselves of the low rates and come over here to aid in harvesting the hop crop. The first trainload is expected to arrive about the 8th or 9th. Picking generally throughout the county will begin Monday, the 11th.

F. H. Spon, the well known rancher of the Upper Ahtanum, informs THE DEMOCRAT, that his hop yard never looked better or more promising for a large crop of good quality, than it does at the present time. He attributes his fine prospects mainly to extra care and precaution in irrigating, having turned the water on just as the vines were beginning to bloom. The late rains, he says, have greatly improved, instead of injuring the crop, which opinion is corroborated by many other growers.

It seems a trifle odd to see a Walla Walla commission merchant in Yakima to purchase fruit, but such is the case. Mr. E. L. Cline of the firm of Cline & Offner, arrived here this week with that object in view, being forced to do so by scarcity of fruit in the Walla Walla and Snake river valleys. Mr. Cline states that the fruit crop in his locality is an almost entire failure, except prunes, which are about one half of a crop. Among his purchases here were several boxes of fine peaches, which he shipped to Walla Walla for the use of his own family.

The body of Mark Boyle, the unfortunate young man who lost his life in the Yakima river last week, was found on Tuesday, lodged in some bushes about two miles below the scene of the accident. The body when found had been in the water for eight days, the discovery being made by the brother of the deceased. The burial took place on Tuesday without an inquest being held as the coronor was not notified. The minister who conducted the funeral services, states that the unfortunate man's neck had been broken, which of course must have occurred when he was suddenly precipitated into the water.

DITTER & MECHTEL, Proprietors.

An Emphatic Statement from the People of Sunnyside.

We, the undersigned, residents of the Sunnyside and using water from the Sunnyside canal, having seen the following dispatch, to-wit:

WATER RIGHTS.

THE DUNKARD COLONY AT NORTH YAKIMA IS DISSATISFIED.

Special Dispatch.

NORTH YAKIMA, Aug., 3.—The Dunkard colonists under the Sunnyside canal are much exercised over their water rights under the receivership as superintended by Walter N. Granger.

A delegation has just returned from a visit to Judge Hanford at Seattle. The committee of Dunkards was represented by Elders Eby and Lichty. They claim that another prominent Dunkard, S. J. Harrison, had lost eighty acres of alfalfa by reason of the scant supply of water and that the colony has expended from $70,000 to $80,000 in improving lands bought from the company, but that they will improve no more unless granted their full water rights.

A colony of one hundred families which was to come soon from the East has been warned not to come until this matter is settled. The delegation is pleased with Judge Hanford's reception and promised to order an investigation.

Being advised that the same has been widely copied by the press throughout the state, we hereby express our utter condemnation of the same, as being unfounded in fact and a malicious slander upon the country.

We desire hereby to express in the most positive manner, 1st:—That the water supply afforded by the Sunnyside canal is ample for all the needs of the country.

2nd:—That the water service has been of an exceptionally good character. This is true within our own personal knowledge, and is amply attested by the crops now to be seen growing throughout the country.

3rd:—That the people of the country generally are prosperous, and as great a degree of harmony of purpose and feeling exists among them as will be found in any community in the world.

4th:—That the management of the canal by the receiver and general manager is satisfactory.

5th:—That we can conscientiously invite settlers to our country, feeling that it offers to the home-seeker greater inducements and advantages than will be found elsewhere in the United States.

The above statement is signed by 190 land owners under the canal, all of whom are using water. From lack of space in this issue, we are unable to publish the names of those who signed it.

Alexander.

There was a youth who kept a store,
And though some might begrander,
He kept a store all through the war
And his name was Alexander.

He mixed his goods with a cunning hand,
And was a skillful brander;
While oft his sugar half was sand—
Some called him Alex-sander.

One day his loved one to him came,
Then lovingly he scanned her;
He asked her would she change her name,
And a ring did Alex hand-her.

"Oh, yes," she said, with smiling lip,
"If I can be commander."
They both then formed a partnership
And called it Alex-and-Her.

F. H. PLUMB, Co. Supt.

Our Brother' the Sultan of Sulu.

This government has made a treaty with the Sultan of Sulu by which he receives as a salary the same sum that he received from Spain as subsidy—said to be $10,000 a year. This is a new business for the United States—to make a "treaty" with one of its own subjects. But the fact of the treaty is not as startling as its contents. It proposes to leave a Mohammedan despot in absolute control of territory belonging to the United States. Not even moral or religious interference is to be allowed, as one article of the treaty specifically bars out missionaries. Slave-holding is to be continued, though the Sultan agrees, as a concession to silly American prejudices to allow slaves, when able, to buy their freedom.

The Sultan of Sulu wanted to fly his own flag, but General Bates, it seems, has persuaded him to fly the stars and stripes.

The sultan maintains a large harem, and frequently beheads his subjects, who are, of course, our fellow citizens. —Tacoma News.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 25, 1899.

Indications point to a new and daring act on the part of the administration in the near future. The army of sixty-odd thousand men, which is being so hurriedly prepared for the Philippines may be intended for use elsewhere. There is talk—only in whispers as yet—inside administration circles about arrangements to buy off Aguinaldo and his principal officers, and thus bring about an early peace in the Philippines; and members of the diplomatic corps have rumors that one foreign government hints of an understanding between Great Britain and the United States, by which the American army in the Philippines and the strong British navy in Asiatic waters may be used to back up a joint demand made by the U. S. concerning the future government of China. This matter has not gone far enough to be publicly discussed, and it may not do so at all, but there are numerous indications, not the least of which is the sudden confidence in administration circles that the Philippine war is almost over, pointing to its probable correctness. Such a move would be imperialism, indeed.

The republicans are evidently weakening on their attempt to make it appear that Col. Bryan is losing strength and prestige in the west. The evidence the other way is to overwhelming for them. Hon. Marcus A. Smith, long a delegate in Congress from Arizona, and who may return to public life as a Senator, after Arizona becomes a state says of the political outlook: "Col. Bryan's name will be the only one before the national convention. He is even stronger in the west than he was in '96. The Chicago platform will be reaffirmed with additional planks dealing with present issues. There has been a revival of faith in the ability of the democrats to win in 1900, and men who thought two months ago that the party had no chance are now declaring that Bryan can carry the country next year. My own opinion is that he will be our next president."

Although there has been no doubt on the subject for some time, members of the administration felt greatly relieved when they knew that Ex-Czar Reed's resignation as a member of the house had been received and accepted by the Governor of Maine. The administration is expecting some hard sledding in Congress this winter, and upon several important matters Mr. Reed is known to oppose Mr. McKinley's policy; hence the relief to know that it is beyond Mr. Reed's power to head a republican revolt in the House. His retirement makes it certain that the House will do whatever Mr. McKinley wishes it to do, but there will be trouble and a heap of it in the Senate, notwithstanding the efforts which have been made to placate certain republican senators with commissions in the volunteer service and other patronage.

Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, must be credited with having the courage of his convictions, since he says in a typewritten interview prepared in his own office: "I believe that the legal enactment of the single gold standard will be of practical and permanent advantage to the agricultural interests of the United States." Later in the same interview he puts his foot into it by admitting that it is the creditor class which is most anxious for the legal enactment of the single gold standard. Wonder how many farmers Mr. Wilson knows who belong to the creditor class.

Secretary Root says, and he ought to know, that Gen. Otis will not be removed from command of the Philippine army.

Mark has Retired.

Mark Hanna has retired from business. It is positively known that he has as much wealth as $7,000,000, netting him an income of fully $350,000 annually. When he went into politics he was worth not to exceed $2,000,000. He has made politics pay by making it "practical." Mark Hanna has no sentiments, ideals or theories to hamper him in his chase after wealth, earned by the sweat and toil of others, and he connected himself with the party that he knew would give him the best returns financially as well as politically. Mr. Hanna is the moving spirit of the republican organization, and because of his connection with it, and the connection of men like him, the party is falling from its high estate and fast becoming the implement of men who are in politics for what there is in it. Its failures of the past twelve months are due to this selfishness and greed, more than to other causes. Where profits and spoils are the desideratum, efficiency and performance are impossible.—East Oregonian.

To Parents.

There is no more injurious practice than that of holding toys close to a baby's face to attract his attention. More cases of cross eyes are caused in this way than from all other causes combined. The strain necessary to focus the eye for so close an object injures the muscles and throws them out of harmony. The more a child can be out of doors, looking at distant objects, the better for his eyes. He should be encouraged to hold his books and playthings at least 15 inches away. If he cannot see so well at that distance do not punish him, but have his eyes carefully examined. He needs glasses, and the sooner they are worn the better it will be for him. If your child shows the slightest tendency to cross his eyes, do not put the matter off a moment. Glasses will cure him at first, but if you wait too long nothing but an operation will do him any good. Glasses ground to fit the eye. Consultation and examination free.

"The Man With The Hoe."

(Written after seeing Millet's world famous painting.)

"God made man in His own image,
in the image of God made He him."
—Genesis.

Bowed by the weight of centuries he leans
Upon his hoe and gazes on the ground,
The emptiness of ages in his face,
And on his back the burden of the world.
Who made him dead to rapture and despair,
A thing that grieves not and that never hopes,
Stolid and stunned, a brother to the ox?
Who loosened and let down this brutal jaw?
Whose was the hand that slanted back this brow?
Whose breath blew out the light within this brain?

Is this the thing the Lord God made and gave
To have dominion over sea and land;
To trace the stars and search the heavens
for power;
To feel the passion of Eternity?
Is this the Dream He dreamed, who shaped the suns
And pillared the blue firmament with light?
Down all the stretch of Hell to its last gulf
There is no shape more terrible than this—
More tongued with censure of the world's blind greed—
More filled with signs and portents for the soul—
More fraught with menace to the universe.

What gulfs between him and the seraphim!
Slave of the wheel of labor, what to him
Are Plato and the swing of Pleiades?
What the long reaches of the peaks of song?
The rift of the dawn, the reddening of the rose?
Through this dread shape the suffering ages
look;
Time's tragedy is in that aching stoop;
Through this dread shape humanity betrayed,
Plundered, profaned and disinherited,
Cries protest to the Judges of the World,
A protest that is also prophecy.

O masters, lords and rulers in all lands,
Is this the handiwork you give to God,
This monstrous thing distorted and soulquenched?
How will you ever straighten up this shape;
Touch it again with immortality;
Give back the upward looking and the light;
Rebuild in it the music and the dream;
Make right the immemorial infamies,
Perfidious wrongs, immedicable woes?

O masters, lords and rulers in all lands,
How will the Future reckon with this Man?
How answer his brute question in that hour
When whirlwinds of rebellion shake the world?
How will it be with kingdoms and with kings—
With those who shaped him to the thing he is—
When this dumb Terror shall reply to God
After the silence of the centuries?

A farmer stepped into a printing office and said to the editor: "I'd like to take your paper but I am too poor." "Go home," said the editor, "pick out a hen, call her mine, sell or save the eggs from her for me, and if she wants to set let her, and next fall bring me all the produce from that hen. I'll send the paper."
When fall came he found, he was paying the price of two papers. After that he found he was never too poor to take a paper. Besides, when he wanted to borrow his neighbor's paper, he was always reading it, so he had to wait until the news was old or take it second-handed. There is nothing like taking one of your own and getting the news from first hands, says an exchange.

Glorious News

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Wash-

Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores.
It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels,
expels poisons, helps digestion, builds

Yakima Crops are all Right.

Mr. Samuel Chappell who has traveled over most of this county during the past three weeks, being engaged in the sale of machinery, informs THE DEMOcrat that with scarcely any exception the crops in this county are equal to if not better than those of preceeding years.
The exception alluded to are confined to certain kinds of fruit, which of course are due in the main to the unfavorable weather of last spring. The shortage of the fruit crop, however, only applies to certain sections. The hop and hay crops in particular Mr. Chappell thinks are all that could be desired and the present prospect for good prices has the effect of making Yakima county farmers feel well satisfied with the situation.

A True Democrat.

Mayor Carter Harrison, of Chicago planned and carried out a programme relative to the reception by him of his numerous visitors, whose object it was to tender advice and make complaints.
He informed his attendant to bring them to him in the order of their arrival.
One day there were many waiting to see him and among them a millionaire banker, who sent in his card with the statement that his business with the executive was urgent and he desired to see the mayor without delay. Harrison sent word back that he would have to wait his turn. He then gave audience to a poor woman with a sick baby who wished to intercede with the mayor in behalf of her unfortunate husband. The millionaire banker and influential politician had to wait. Carter Harrison was re-elected mayor of Chicago against great odds. It is easy for an embryo office-holder to formulate a plan of future procedure, but it takes nerve to promulgate it when the office comes into his possession. Few mayors would make a millionaire banker wait until a poverty stricken woman was given attention, yet by such acts as this Carter Harrison was re-elected to an office to which he had by other means been a disgrace.—Exchange.

A Bad Wreck.

The east bound overland passenger train which is due here at 11:30 p. m. run down a special freight as it was pulling into Ellensburg on Sunday night, with frightful results so far as the loss of property is concerned, although fortunately no one was killed. The wreck which occurred about 10 o'clock, was occasioned it seems by the passenger arriving at Ellensburg slightly ahead of time and at a tremendous rate of speed, thus catching a special freight just as it was pulling onto the siding.

When engineer Burke of the passenger saw what was ahead he immediately reversed his engine and he and his fireman jumped for their lives. The latter escaped with a few bruises, but the engineer was not so fortunate in swinging off, as he had the ill-luck to strike violently in the darkness against a new cross tie lying near the track, resulting in a broken arm and internal injuries which it is believed will not prove mortal.

Meantime the great "Mogul" engine rushed on with terrible force into the rear of the freight train, demolishing into splinters the caboose and several loaded cars ahead and scattering the contents broadcast. The great impact threw the engine into the ditch, where it lay steaming and puffing like the dying agonies of a mortally injured animal. The mail and baggage cars although they did not leave the track were pretty well used up.

The train as usual was crowded with passengers who as may be imagined were panic stricken by the terrible jolting received, many being thrown clear out of their seats, but fortunately none received any serious injury. It required about nine hours in order to get the track cleared of the debris and accordingly the passenger did not reach here until 9 a. m. Monday. A number of Yakima people were on the ill fated train.

At Chillicothe, Mo., Dr. Carl Louis Perin, the palm reader, has been cleverly trapped by a lot of practical jokers. The impression of the palm of the town idiot was taken and sent to the doctor with a dollar and ten questions about the idiot's character and future. In the palmistry department of a Kansas City newspaper appeared the following reading of Jones' palm:

"Chillicothe, Mo.—Live to be 74. Little or no sickness of a serious nature. Success as a politician. Marry in three years successfully. Two marriages; raise three children in comparative happiness. Die fairly well off. Lucky day Friday. Travel extensively and go abroad once. Make no change at the present."

This "reading" has knocked out all faith in palmistry in Chillicothe. The man has been a helpless idiot from his birth.—Ex.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering eighteen months from rectal fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest pile cure on earth, and the best salve in the world. 25 cents a box. A Free 'Ad' Just the Same.

Secretary Fechter of the hop growers association is being joshed a good deal about the following complimentary notice given him free of charge by the Chehalis Advocate:—"The Advocate is in receipt of a letter from O. A. Fechter, secretary of the Yakima Hop Grower's Association, asking us to publish a gratis "ad" of considerable length, calling for hop pickers for the growers of the Yakima country. The "ad" goes on to state that the hoppedicking will commence about Sept. 10th, and that one dollar will be paid. It sets forth at considerable detail the advantages of hoppedicking about North Yakima and closes by saying that further information may be obtained from modest Mr. Fechter. If we publish this lengthy "ad" free and send Mr. Fechter a half dozen copies of the Advocate for nothing he will be greatly obliged. It is needless to say that this man Fechter is a modest man and doesn't want a thing.

The Advocate is of the opinion, in the first place, that the hop pickers of Lewis county can all find profitable jobs at home this year. In the second place we are not in the business of free advertising, just at present."

Expansion is not Popular.

It is odd that the expansionists who have been whooping about manifest destiny and benevolent assimilation, are clinging tightly to Columbia's shoes and refusing to enlist.

After a month of hard work the recruiting officers have succeeded in mustering less than one-third of a regiment at Fort Vancouver out of the four states of Washington, Oregon, California, and Idaho, containing a population of over two and a half millions of people.

These four states are supposed to be extra favorable to expansion, because of the alleged benefit they would receive in increased trade with the Philippines, yet with an estimated fighting strength of 300,000 soldiers less than 300 have enlisted. What does this mean? The imperialistic organs say that the times are so prosperous men will not serve their government for $16 per month. They are wrong. They slander the patriotism of the American people by such a statement. In a just cause—in time of need—dozens and dozens of regiments could be raised in the states named. The martial spirit of the people is not dead, but it cannot be awakened in a cause they know to be unjust and oppressive of the liberty of others. The administration can depart from American traditions as much as it likes, but the great mass of the common people, the reflecting, intelligent producing class, will not follow it in its career of madness.

It also teaches that expansion is not as popular on this coast as we had been led to believe. We have material resources in our own commonwealth that will use up all our surplus energy for years to come in their development, and we do not care to fritter away good American lives for the empty honor of possessing a sun baked, sirocco scorched, fever blasted group like the Philippines.—Tacoma News.

State Fair Notes.

The printer in making up the State Fair premium list, overlooked the special offers of the Yakima Hardware Company, of the Planet Jr. "Universal," Orchard and Hop Cultivator, $50.00, which is to be given to the farmer making the best display of Yakima county products; and the cash offer of $5.00 made by Jewell & Jackson, cigar dealers, premium 391, first $3.00 second $2.00 for the best case of creamery butter, in bricks, to two pounds each, farmers and butter makers should note these additional prizes and compete for them at the Fair, Sept., 25 to 30.

Every family needs an outing in the month of September, and the State Fair offers most extraordinary inducements to those seeking health and comfort and combining business with pleasure. There is not a farmer in the state but has something he can place on exhibition and possibly win a prize sufficient to pay all expenses of a week at the Fair for his family. The premium list is filled with offers of cash for 500 different exhibits. As many articles have second and third prizes offered, there are over one thousand chances to get full value and the attendance cost nothing. Premiums are given away for every product of farm, orchard, garden, dairy, poultry yard and sewing circle. Get a book from Dr. T. B. Gunn, North Yakima, and see how many inducements are made to exhibitors.

The expense of a family in attending the Fair will not be very great. Meals can be obtained in North Yakima and on the grounds at reasonable prices. The admission fee is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, but a season family ticket, admitting an entire family, including children under 21 years of age, is only $3.00 for six days. Teams are admitted under this ticket free, and camping privileges are free also. Tents can be rented in North Yakima for $1.00 for the week. All kinds of provisions may be obtained at the grounds, by delivery wagons, for usual prices. One premium on sheep, hogs, stock or farm products pay all the expenses. In addition there are premiums worth $25.00, to $125.00 which farmers will win.

There will be present the Tacoma Military Band which will play every day on the grounds: great stables of the finest horses, cattle, sheep and hogs in the northwest. coops of valuable fowls and pets; a large pavillion filled with beautiful productions of handiwork; large hall for displaying improved machinery; scores of the best race horses in the west; hundreds of Indians painted and giving war dances, sun dances and other sports; the great "man fish" who smokes, eats and sleeps beneath the water, in a glass cage; and a thousand other things the children will appreciate and talk about for many years. Be sure and make arrangements for attending.

The Trust Puzzle.

The twisting, squirming, and maneuvering of politicians to avoid the odium of trusts and take advantage of the unpopularity of the enormous combinations recently formed, furnish a subject for serious thought, says the National Watchman. There is no doubt that all parties in the next national campaign will adopt platforms violently against trusts. The republican party will be so vindictive in its language against those institutions that no other party can exceed its violent abuse. The question to be solved is: Will the people ever find out who is responsible for trusts? The gold standard is the father of all trusts because gold standard contraction creates falling prices which makes it necessary for business men to combine to save themselves from bankruptcy. Who is responsible for the gold standard, the party led by McKinley or the party led by Bryan? Every trust organization in the United States will contribute its money and its influence to elect the republican candidate. Will this fact satisfy the people that the republican party is the party responsible for trusts. Why should every trust in the United States be republican, from the gold combination down to the manufacturers of matches. If the American people are not stark mad they will have no difficulty in finding out which party is responsible for the trusts, and if they are really opposed to trusts they will vote for the other side. Unless the majority of the American people vote as the trusts vote, the republican candidate will stand no no show whatever of winning in 1900.—Aberdeen Herald.

Where the Bacteria Come From.

We might ask where they do not come from and have a very small list of places for an answer. They come from everywhere where there is dust. Nothing escapes them, everything is infected with them. Fortunately by far the greater per cent of them are harmless, and we forget that they are always present with us. It is only when the dairyman finds his milk off that he begins to inquire as to their birthplace and habitat. Perhaps the most prolific place around the farm is the cowhouse and its surroundings. The decomposing manure and urine form a nest in which bacteria multiply by millions. The silo adds its portion. The holes and corners, in which damp food is left to sour, hold other legions, and in fact every place where organic matter and water come together is a source of germs that come forth to give the dairyman trouble. There are many places where bacteria are useful and in their proper place, but be sure that the milk pail is not among the number. No germs belong there. The corners should not hold bacteria nor the cracks bacilli. See that the sides are not contaminated with micrococci, nor the bottom with diplococci. Keep them in the manure and the silo, where they belong. There they are at home, but in the milk pail they can only cause more kinds of trouble than is necessary, and the life of a dairyman is not so full of gayety that he can afford to decrease it in the least by want of attention to those small bodies which are at once his bane and his necessity.—Hoard's Dairyman.

HARVESTING CORN.

Simple Devices For Facilitating Shocking and Husking.

Not every man knows how to stand up a shock of corn which will not twist or lean into an unrecognizable mass after it has had time to season, says a writer in the Iowa Homestead, from which the cuts are reproduced. When I put up corn by hand, I always use a jack like that seen in Fig. 1. Pull the jack along to the place where the shock is to stand, so that the round pin through the 2 by 4 piece is directly over the place for the shock. Set up four armloads in the four recesses of the jack made by the pin running through at a, b, c and d. When the shock is half or two-thirds made, remove the jack by withdrawing the pin and finish it without.

FOR SHOCKING AND TYING.

Tie the shock when done by means of a contrivance shown in Fig. 2, composed of a pole five or six feet long with a rope put through an auger hole in the pole. This is thrust through the shock two-thirds of the way up, and the rope drawn around the shock as tight as it can be drawn and made fast to the pole while the shock is being tied. A shock made in this manner and properly tied will stand a long time and will stand well. If the corn is to be husked out before it is fed to stock, a husking bench, shown in the second cut, will be convenient. This is carried up alongside of a shock which is tipped over on the bench. The husker seats himself on the seat and begins working the stover toward him, and when he gets a bundle of convenient size it is bound and laid aside, and so on until all is husked. This prevents missing any, and it is far more convenient to sit than to kneel down in the mud or snow.

In hauling in the bundles I have found it very convenient to load from the rear part of the wagon by walking up a running board, which hangs on the rear of the rack and is dragged along to the next shock all the time. The rear post of the hayrack should be removed, and two short, stout corner pieces nailed on just high enough to not interfere with loading, but which will prevent the corner bunches of fodder slipping off. I have never shredded any fodder and know nothing of its value from a practical standpoint, having fed all my fodder in the old fashioned manner. I have seen the corn harvester at work, which seems to me to be a very good thing for those who make a business of using much fodder annually in the feeding ration.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that the city of North Yakima will let a contract for grading the east side of Natches avenue between Spruce and D streets, and the west side of said avenue between D street and Yakima avenue, all of said streets and avenues being in accordance with the plat of said city now on file and of record in the office of the county auditor of Yakima county, Washington, said avenue to be graded to a uniform grade by using the dirt material to be found on the said Natches avenue with the additional borrow of 140 feet at the intersection with Chestnut street and 200 feet joining on Spruce street.

Said contract to be let on the basis that the cuts on said grade, in addition to said borrows, will make all fills.

Sealed proposals for the contract for the above proposed improvement will be received by the city clerk up to the time the bids are opened, on the 4th day of September, 1899, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. of said day.

All bidders will be required to deposit with their bids a certified check for ten dollars on some bank in the city of North Yakima, payable to the order of the city treasurer, as security that said bidder will enter into a contract with said city in the manner provided by law and the ordinances of said city in case such contract is awarded to him. The contractor will be required to enter into a contract and give a bond with approved sureties, as required by laws of 1897, page 57, within three days after notice from the city clerk that the contract has been awarded to him.

The city council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated at North Yakima, Wash., this 22d day of August, 1899.

49-2t [SEAL] H. B. DOUST, City Clerk.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that the board of school directors of district no. 7, will receive bids for the erection and construction of a one-story frame school building situated opposite south-west corner of the state fair grounds, in accordance with the plans and specifications on file in the clerk's office.

All bids to be accompanied by a certified check for five per cent of the amount to be forfeited to the school district in case the successful bidder fails to enter into a contract.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

All bids must be in the hands of the clerk on or before the 5th. of September. By order of the board.

LUCY NICHOLS, Clerk.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Notice is hereby given that the city council will let a contract for the construction of a sidewalk along the west side of Sixth street in said city between the southeast corner of lot No. 8, in and of block No. 110 and the southeast corner of block No. 112, all of said lots and blocks being according to the plat of said city on file in the office of the county auditor of Yakima county, Washington.

Said sidewalk to be eight feet wide and to be laid with planks two inches thick, eight inches wide and eight feet long and surfaced on one side, resting on three stringers, four inches by six inches; said sidewalk to be firmly braced and supported and laid in a good workmanlike manner, on the grade marked out and established in front of said lots and blocks as the same appears from the grade stakes and the data of the survey thereof on file in the office of the city clerk; all material used shall be good common fir lumber. The contractor shall perform all labor and furnish all material.

Sealed proposals for the contract for the above improvement will be received by the city clerk up to the time the bids are opened on the 4th day of September, 1899, at 7:30 o'clock p. m.

All bidders will be required to deposit with their bids a certified check for ten dollars on some bank in the city of North Yakima, payable to the order of the city treasurer as security that such bidder will enter into a contract with said city in the manner provided by law and the ordinances of said city in case such contract is awarded to him.

The contractor will be required to enter into a contract and give a bond with approved surety as required by laws of 1897, page 57, within three days after notice from the city clerk that the contract has been awarded to him.

The city council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated at North Yakima, Wash., August 22, 1899.

49-2t [SEAL] H. B. DOUST, City Clerk.

Congressman Jones talks about Alaska.

Congressman W. L. Jones returned home last Friday night after a six weeks absence in the Sound country and Alaska. In a conversation with a representative of THE DEMOCRAT on the following day, Mr. Jones stated that he had enjoyed his trip remarkably well. That his main purpose in going was to inform himself as to conditions and the class of legislation most needed there. He had visited Skagway, Juneau and Sitka and on investigation had found that the people of that mis-governed country have many just grievances, which it was the duty of the general government to correct.

The greatest need of reform was in the court and school systems of the territory, both of which were antiquated and totally inadequate for the present needs of the growing communities there. The whole territory had but one judge and from him there was no appeal, except only in very important cases, which could be taken to the U. S. supreme court. They really needed three judges in as many districts, the three to sit annually as a court of appeals. The school system—if such it may be called, was simply a travesty, there having been but little attention given to this important matter heretofore by the government.

White and Indian children were obliged to attend the same schools, but against this the white settlers had revolted and demanded separate schools. There existed a very general dissatisfaction with Rev. Sheldon Jackson, who is superintendent of schools in the territory.

Regarding the much talked of boundary line discussion Mr. Jones said that the interest manifested in Skagway was apparently not so great as on Puget Sound, as the people up there seemed to feel that the government would never give the disputed territory up to Great Britain.

The mining resources of Southern Alaska are vast, said Mr. Jones in conclusion. There are in that country thousands of good mining propositions for capital to take hold of. While most of the ore is of low grade, it is to be found in practically inexhaustible quantities and a large number of prospectors as well as many men of large means were now going in to develop these new fields.

An unusually large amount of produce is being shipped out of Yakima this season, particularly eastward, dealers some days being embarrassed to secure a supply. Roasting ears have been in big demand and those having such a product to sell have made big money. H. Kampeter reports that his field has yielded him $90 per acre.
