WARM FIGHT IN PRIMARY

The Most Savage Factional Conflict in History of State Now On Within the Ranks of the G. O. P.
—Jones Has Hard Fight.

It now looks very much like a hot finish in the ante-primary campaign among republic officeholders, both state and county. Only one more week is left in which the leading candidates and their newspaper organs may continue to tell the truth about each other—and incidentally throw a good deal of mud. Primary day will be Tuesday, September 8, and it promises to be a momentous day in the history of this state.

The republican primary ticket in this county will be a rather formidable and unwieldy affair, about 26 inches in length; the abnormal size of the ballot being made necessary on account of the number of g. o. p. patriots who are willing to serve the dear people. The democratic ticket in comparison is very modest in appearance. The ballot to be used in King county will be about 44 inches in length, a fact that means much grief for the counting boards.

In the state campaign on the republican side interest of course centers in the gubernatorial nomination and the senatorial endorsement. For governor it seems to be anybody's fight between Mead, McBride and Cosgrove, the second choice provision making the result most problematical. It is safe to assume that the other candidates of the g. o. p., five in number, will hardly have so much as a look-in.

The campaign for the governorship is developing some rather grotesque and unusual features. The Mead papers have made the very grave discovery that McBride is the candidate of the saloon and brewery men and that the Royal Arch, the saloon men's organization in this state, has formally, but secretly, endorsed McBride and this cheerful information is being published broadcast in the hope of centering the temperance vote upon Mead. But Cosgrove worries the Mead managers, as the little old man from Pomeroy has been making a herculean effort to line up the church and temperance vote in his own behalf.

The friends and supporters of "Jack" Splawn feel rather indifferent as to which of the three leading republican candidates may be nominated. They believe that after going through the fierce primary campaign it will be pretty nearly the general opinion that none of the trio is really fit to be governor. In case Mead be nominated his extravagant and incompetent record will damn him. McBride would probably prove a weak candidate owing to his new alliances. As for Cosgrove, he simply makes the average voter "tired." The Pomeroy man has been a chronic candidate for the governorship ever since statehood began. In truth, he has had the itch for office so long and has talked about his ambition so much that he has become almost "daffy" on the subject. At all events there are apparently thousands of republicans who will not support Cosgrove for governor if he be nominated, as they do not regard him as being of the right sort of material for such a high office. They are tired of having men of small bore in the governor's chair anyway.

Strange to relate, the Yakima Republic, under the guiding mind of that astute political leader, Col. Robertson, has finally come out for Cosgrove, and thereby, of course, hangs a tail. What effect the colonel's attitude will have on the republican vote of this county remains to be seen, but it is not believed that it will cause any stampede to the standing candidate. This unlooked for attitude on the part of Editor Robertson, who, outside of Yakima county is regarded as Mr. Jones' political manager, is rather disheartening to many of Mr. Jones' friends here. They feel that the greater part of Mr. Jones' support at the primary must necessarily come from the Mead camp, as Governor Mead and John L. Wilson are the natural and most reliable allies of Mr. Jones in this campaign. Jones' friends, they say, are under no moral obligation whatever to support Cosgrove, as the Pomeroy man has always

"BILLY" GOODYEAR VISITS YAKIMA

Candidate for Congress in Third District Delivers
Address Before Bryan-Splawn Club—Makes Fine Impression.

The members of the Bryan-Splawn club, which met at the courthouse last Monday night, and a number of other people who came by special invitation, were entertained in a logical and instructive manner with an address delivered by Hon. William Goodyear, editor of the Colfax Commoner, and democratic candidate for congress from the third district. Mr. Goodyear will succeed Congressman Wesley Jones in the lower house. That he is ably fitted and qualified for the position of representative is the opinion of those who had the honor of meeting the congenial gentleman from the Palouse country on his brief visit here. Mr. Goodyear is not only a well educated and brainy man, but he has other qualifications that fit him admirably for the office he seeks. He has a faculty of convincing people to whom he talks of the sincerity of his position on public questions, and his argument is substantiated by facts of record. His personality is another strong point in his favor. He is both large and fat, wears a cultivated mustache above a double chin, enjoys a good meal like all good Americans, and while he is a highly educated college graduate is, nevertheless, pretty much of a farmer, of which he is not ashamed.

Well, this is the gentleman who addressed the Bryan-Splawn club last Monday night, and he was given a big ovation. He is coming again later in the fall, and at that time will deliver a public speech at the opera house.

Mr. Goodyear attended the big democratic meeting in Ellensburg last Saturday night held in honor of "Jack" Splawn, the Cowboy Candidate for governor. He also delivered an address there. In his opening remarks here before the Bryan-Splawn club he told of the magnificent reception accorded the Yakima man in Kittitas county, and said that "Jack" certainly made good. The brass band turned out to meet him and his speech was continually interrupted with spontaneous applause.

Among other things Mr. Goodyear said during the course of his speech: "In my travels over the state I have noticed the enthusiasm of the democratic party in the present campaign and the apathy of our friends, the republican hosts. Years of extravagance, high taxation and the inefficiency of that spineless specimen of mediocrity who now occupies the chief executive chair has brought about a reversal of feeling. The republicans want a change. They have had unprecedented prosperity and high taxes, and state warrants marked unpaid until there is a demand for a new administration. The republicans of this state favored a continuance of Roosevelt policies. The Chicago convention repudiated them. Hope has fled from the hearts of republicans. This reminds me of the 13th verse and the 12th chapter of Proverbs, which reads, 'Hope deferred maketh the heart sick.'

"President Roosevelt recommended to congress laws that had been repudiated by that body. Among these are the recommendation of the inheritance tax and the true valuation of railroads. The democratic platform is full of Roosevelt policies. Labor went to the Chicago convention and made demands. They got the glad hand and the marble heart. The small bank depositors asked for legislation to protect them against losses. What did they receive? An eulogy on the Elkins currency law, which the Philadelphia North American, a republican paper, characterized as one-half senate and one-half house infamy. The democratic convention granted to labor, to the depositor and the plain people every demand."

Not the least among the interesting features at the Bryan-Splawn club meeting was a talk by Dr. Granville Lowther, democratic candidate for the legislature from this county. Dr. Lowther discussed the platform of the party on the initiative and referendum question, and the proposed guarantee of bank deposits as advocated by Mr. Bryan.

"For 20 years I voted the republican ticket," said Dr. Lowther. "Of late years the party has been drifting away from some of its principles, and the democratic party now stands for policies that I believe in and am going to work for. The democratic party represents the interests of the masses to-day, and the Denver platform if supported by the people, will give them the relief they have demanded and never received."

"I believe in the guarantee of bank deposits. I believe the man and woman who works for their earnings and places them in other people's hands for speculation ought to know that that money is guaranteed to them by the government, state or national. It will give the people confidence in the banking institutions, will increase bank deposits and prevent runs on banks by depositors in times of stringency."

Dr. Lowther's talk was logical and convincing. He will address the Bryan-Splawn club at a big meeting to be held on Monday night, September 7, the night before the primaries. There will be other speakers and a rousing jollification. Everybody is invited to come out.

ORPHEUM A SUCCESS.

Berens & Grafton's Playhouse Doing
Big Business.

The new vaudeville theater on Yakima avenue opened this week under very favorable conditions. The program presented is a good one, and large and enthusiastic audiences have greeted the performers every night.

Next week's program will be even better than the one which will be concluded tonight. This afternoon a matinee will hold the boards.

Miss Graham, a sister of Mrs. James R. Richards, is here on a visit to the latter and expects to remain through the winter. Miss Graham possesses a cultivated soprano voice. She will probably join the Presbyterian choir this fall.

Italian Strikers Beaten.

The striking Italian and extra gang men on the Northern Pacific, or at least many of them, appear to have recognized that they were beaten and have accepted Superintendent Albee's offer of free transportation back to St. Paul, from whence they came.

The Italians working on the Cascade division struck because their wages had been reduced from $1.50 to $1.30 per day. When the Italians refused firmly to work at the latter figure the company brought in a band of 200 Hindus from Portland and a gang of Monte-negrins picked up at Roslyn and Seattle, besides a gang of Japanese. The Italians were very indignant at this and for a time endeavored by force to keep the strikebreakers from going to work, but without avail.

GOOD WORK BY ENGINEERS

Workers From Both Ends of Tieton Tunnel Come
Together With Variation of .01 of Foot--
Shows Good Work Done.

When a tunnel in solid rock over 3800 feet long is started at both ends, and the different gangs come out, or rather, come together with a variation of only .01 of a foot, it is called pretty fine work, and that is what has been done in the matter of the boring of the North Fork tunnel, the breaking through of which occurred the other day out in the Tieton country.

Meany's Triumph.

To Engineer L. G. Meany belongs the credit of the performance for he is in charge of the work in that section, assisted by the usual party of engineers generally used on a job of that kind. In this instance, the technical victory was of a double character, for both the grade and the alignment came out within the almost infinitesimal figure named. That fraction of a foot, as is palpable to anyone taking the trouble to think for a moment, means so little that it is, to all intents, perfection. In engineering work of this kind the men who work with the transit and level do not monkey with feet and inches. The foot is divided into tenths, hundredths and thousandths, on the decimal plan, for the reason that the unlimited amount of figuring which is attached to the business of the engineer is made much easier than if the carpenter's rule were to be used and this holds good throughout the United States.

Metric System Used Elsewhere.

In all other countries, however, the metric system is in use, and the engineers of all foreign nations look with scorn on our method of doing things in the engineering line, contending that the metric system, in that it is purely decimal from start to finish, is the best. For that matter, many Americans agree with them, but efforts to have the government inaugurate the desired change have never met with any success, probably on the principle that the present style has been in use too long to change and that it would involve too much labor in changing tables, etc.

Trail Creek Nearly Done.

Of the 2385 feet of the third tunnel, which is known as the Trail creek, all have been bored except 737, or in other words, more than three-quarters of the work is done.

Diversion Dam Started.

This week the diversion dam work was started, camp being pitched during the latter part of last week. This is located where the canal will come from the river, and is known as the "concrete weir" style. Here the massive headgates will be established, and there are already 40 men at work beside the engineers. This force will be increased to 60 in the near future, or as soon as the men can be obtained.

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 26.—Arrangements were completed today for the departure of Mr. Taft next Friday evening for the Middle Bass island, where he will spend a week fishing. Salem, Ill., Aug. 26.—Although Mr. Bryan arrived at his birthplace at an early hour almost the entire population turned out to greet him. Preparations are being made for the presence of thousands this afternoon to hear Mr. Bryan speak, after which he will leave for Topeka via St. Louis and Kansas City.

SAY HE TRIES TO GLUT LOCAL LABOR MARKET

Men Come All the Way from Seattle to Find There Are No Jobs for Them.

The John Sanger fruit ranch in the Parker bottom is becoming unpopular with a lot of working men, several of whom state that Sanger has been advertising for men to pick and pack fruit until he now has more on hand than he has any use for, and as some of these men have come here from Seattle for the express purpose of going to work out there and have been turned down, their feelings are not of the kindest for the rancher.

Some four months ago, according to the account of Manager Walker of the Red Cross employment agency, Sanger placed an order with him for 150 men for the jobs referred to, the order being sent in that far ahead so as to insure the presence of the men when they were wanted. Walker, not being able to get the desired number here, put an advertisement in the Seattle papers recently, and four men came here the other day in answer to this, who were sent to the ranch. They were turned down, according to their story, and hence sought Walker for a refunding of their fare, which would amount to $9.62 apiece, in addition to their time for the few days spent in coming here and returning to Seattle.

Walker Will Pay Them.
As they were hired by Mr. Walker, he will pay them, since there is no other course to be pursued in justice to the men, but he is not in a very pleasant frame of mind about it.

Walker's statement is borne out by Charles Thompson, a working man, who recently went out to Sanger's to get a job, if possible. Thompson tells a straight story, and has all the appearance of a genuine working man. He states that he was not sent by Walker or by any other employment agency, but that he and his partner were told there was work there by one Kerns, who is running a boarding house on the ranch. The proposition, so he was informed, was $1.25 a day and board, but when the two men got there they were told that they would be paid 5 cents per box for picking prunes, and after two days' work their total receipts were $1.25 for both for the two days' work, after paying their board. They accounted for this partly by the fact that they were not given a full day's work either day, the excuse being advanced that the packing house was "full up."

WIDE HOLLOW PEOPLE GIVE MINISTER MONEY

As a Token of Goodwill and
Is Given Purse.

Showing their appreciation of the work done by Rev. C. W. McElroy, a large crowd of Wide Hollow people gathered Sunday night at the Wide Hollow schoolhouse and listened to the farewell sermon of the minister who is soon to quit his work in the Yakima valley and go to Red Bluff, Cal. After the evening service was over Mr. McElroy was presented with a large sum of money, the contribution of the people. He was formally thanked for his faithful services and the money given him was declared a token of good will and esteem. A pleasant surprise was also tendered Mr. McElroy Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Strauss, of Cowichee. The surprise was in the form of a social to which all the young people of the valley were invited. A pleasant time was enjoyed by all. At the close of the evening refreshments were served.

PACKING OF PRUNES IS NOW UNDER WAY

Redman & Kinyon Sell Their Entire Crop of Italians to
J. M. Perry & Co.

Thirty or more packers of fruit are working under the shade of the massive trees in the front of the old Redman property, just south of the Sanitarium road. The prune crop of the Redman & Kinyon ranch is being harvested and there are some seven or eight carloads to be handled. The entire crop has been sold by the orchard owners to J. M. Perry & Co., to be delivered in boxes at the Perry warehouse in this city. The prunes are of the Italian variety and it was a surprise to many people to know that the packers were at work, as prune packing will not begin on many of the lower valley orchards until Monday. Last year the Redman & Kinyon orchard yielded some nine cars of prunes, but will be a car or so short of that figure this year.

It is mostly Bartlett pears which are being carted in to the warehouse of the Horticultural Union, though all varieties of fruit figure in the consignments.

Five cars were shipped out of North Yakima last evening by the Northern Pacific railroad and there will be as many, if not a car or two more, ready by tonight. To facilitate the work of forwarding the fruit cars the Northern Pacific railroad has put on duty a shipping clerk for night work and will keep a man in that position until the end of the shipping season. J. Blasfield undertakes the duty and goes to work tonight for the first time.

PAY OFF AMADOR DEBTS

A special to the Spokane Chronicle from Wallace, Ida., states that the receiver appointed to straighten out matters of the Amador Mining company, proposes to ship copper from the mine and thereby pay off some of the debts. The dispatch says:

"The Amador will be a producer, shipping copper from the property within 12 months."

Such is the statement vouchsafed by P. F. Smith, receiver for the Amador companies, who since his appointment is effecting a reorganization in the interest of the stockholders in the three corporations involved.

Working in connection with the receiver is Wilbur Gruss, treasurer of the reorganized company, who is trying to assemble all the interests of the stockholders of the old Amador Gold & Copper Mining and Milling company, the Amador Railway company and the Amador Smelting company. He proposes a consolidation of all these operation into one corporation.

The sum of $40,000 is needed to pay off the debts and $10,000 more is needed, according to the reorganizers, in order to start the work again. J. H. Nordquist of this city, mining engineer, after a careful examination of the property, says that it can be made a paying proposition.

Of the stock of the old corporations now in the hands of the receiver, 250,000 shares are owned in this city, 200,000 in Spokane and 1,500,000 in the east.

Engineer Nordquist states that he is willing to lease the mine and fix up the nine miles of railroad at his own expense, involving $3000, if the debts can be paid. Among his plans is the construction of a concentrator.

L. A. Rinehart, who has been critically ill during most of the summer, is now at Portland, where he is reported to be gradually convalescing. Mrs. Rinehart is with him.

WATER QUESTION FOR LAWYERS TO SETTLE

Shortage of Water Brings Up Fine Point Which Will Affect Irrigationists.

An interesting question relative to the rights of water users will have to be decided in the very near future by the prosecuting attorneys of Yakima, Benton and Kittitas counties, for the question has been put up to them by Civil Engineer A. L. Smith, who, on July 20th, was appointed by Judge Preble a Commissioner to act on the dispute. The engineer, not being a lawyer, has therefore passed the matter up to the three legal lights referred to.

A great number of agreements dating from a period as far back as three years ago, were entered into between private parties and the Fowler Ditch company with reference to the water desired by the aforesaid parties, the amounts differing, of course, in relation to just how much ground each man possessed.

Contract With the Government.
The commissioner encloses in a letter to each attorney a copy of the agreement which was entered into between the U. S. R. S. and the Fowler Ditch company regarding the certified limit of the ditch company. A sample copy of a contract which has been entered into between the ditch company and the private party is also enclosed, other contracts varying only in regard to more or less water desired by each resident of the valley, or system of valleys, for this matter involves a wide area of country around this vicinity.

The commissioner says in his letter that the condition will perhaps arise where there will not be sufficient water in the ditch in the natural flow to deliver to all the users the full amount mentioned in their agreement, and the question which puzzles him is whether he is to give each claimant his share of the desired liquid pro rata or proportionally to the amount demanded in case of a shortage, or shall he base the allowance to individual people on the priority of their claims? In other words, shall the old saw of "first come, first served," be placed in use in this connection?

Government's Position.
The reclamation people here contend that they are under no obligation to any one to supply water from their storage basins because of a shortage arising from natural or any other causes, a point which is disputed by many of the users in the country, who are not perhaps up on law, but think Uncle Sam, having done what he has done in this section, should not stop there, in fact has no legal right to stop, but must furnish water under any circumstances, no matter if it does become necessary to take the same from storage.

The reason this question has not been brought up before is simply because up to the present time there has been no shortage in the water supply, and therefore the matter has not arisen, but this season apparently is going to be different from the last two summers and falls, hence the appointment of Commissioner Smith and his subsequent dilemma as to his course in the affair.

The opinions of the several attorneys will, of course, not be returned to the engineer for several days but they should not be delayed longer than a week at most, since the matter affects so many people in the valley at large, and is liable to become so important a factor in the future.

TO ASK BUSINESS MEN TO PAY FOR EXHIBIT

Fruit Growers Will Supply Display for Seattle If Others Support It.

Business men of North Yakima, particularly the dealers in real estate, are to be asked by the Horticultural Union to contribute money towards an exhibit of fruit and vegetables to be made by North Yakima at the Western Washington fair at Seattle early in September. It is considered essential by members of the union, as representing the fruit growers of this district, that Yakima make an exhibit at Seattle both as a courtesy to Seattle and as a business proposition.

There is no doubt in the minds of members of the union that for some reason or other North Yakima is gradually losing the Seattle market, which is one of increasing value, to the Wenatchee growers who are taking advantage of every opening to exhibit and sell their goods there. The Western Washington fair offers an excellent opportunity for the display of the products of this valley at a place where Seattle buyers and consumers will see them. Unfortunately the premiums offered at that fair are so small that no exhibitor in the fruit line can expect to win back the cost of making a display.

North Yakima fruit growers feel that if they are willing to donate the fruit necessary for an exhibit they should find the business houses, especially the real estate firms, which are the ones which will derive the most benefit therefrom, prepared to put up the needed money for sending the exhibit to Seattle and maintaining a man there for a week with it. The Union has gone ahead on this assumption and is now assembling the exhibit. Deputy Horticultural Inspector J. M. Brown is to make an effort to raise the needed money for the display. The argument is based on the general good which will accrue to the community from the effort to place the merit of the Yakima valley before the Sound growers and is expected to prove potent in most quarters.

GAME LAW RULING IS EXPLAINED BY STATE

Sportsmen of Yakima county will be interested in a ruling regarding the open season for game birds east of the mountains made by Attorney General John D. Atkinson at Olympia yesterday. That ruling is as follows:

For grouse, partridges, prairie chicken, sage hen and native pheasant or ptarmigan, August 15, except in Kittitas county, where the open season for prairie chickens will not begin until September 10.

Ducks and other water fowl, September 1.
Quail, October 1, except that quail shooting is absolutely prohibited in Okanogan county.

Chinese or oriental pheasant, September 30, except Okanogan county, where prohibited.

This last clause with regard to the Chinese pheasant will be a surprise to many people.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Baldwin arrived in the city Tuesday night from San Francisco, accompanied by their two children, Rose and Starr Baldwin, junior members of the firm of E. H. HORSE MARKET QUIET

NOW SAYS E. W. DOOLY

Washington, Which Once Supplied Outside Demands, Must Purchase Abroad.

E. W. Dooly, who has just returned to North Yakima from a brief visit to Seattle, speaking of the horse market said that just at this time it is a very quiet one. In Washington, in his opinion, the number of horses bred is becoming less, proportionately if not actually, than was the case a few years ago. On the other hand, he thinks Oregon is breeding more horses each year. The demand for animals is steadily increasing in this section of the country. A few years ago, Mr. Dooly pointed out, he used to ship horses from this state to other places, but latterly he has been buying outside of Washington to supply the home demand. The East, Alberta, and Alaska took a great many animals and this state was able to offer a number to fill the demand. One reason of the present quiet condition was the immense number of horses brought through here by the Milwaukee road in its construction work.

SEATTLE BUSINESS MEN WILL MISS STATE FAIR

Annual Excursion of Chamber of Commerce to End Before State Show Is On.

No visit to the state fair at North Yakima this fall will be made by the members of the Seattle chamber of commerce on their fall excursion to eastern Washington. The general outline of the itinerary has been agreed upon and while a stop will be made at North Yakima the trip will have begun and ended before the fair here opens. The excursion party will start from Seattle Monday, Sept. 21, and make a tour taking a week of time, returning Sept. 26. The route will be from Seattle to Portland, thence by way of the North Bank to Pasco, to Walla Walla, to Lewiston, to Riparia, to Spokane and thence to Seattle over the Northern Pacific railroad with stops at all the important places. The party last year contained 75 business men. That of this year will be larger.

SELAH MAN ASKS SPACE

Will Take a Herd of Brown Swiss Cattle to the Spokane Fair This Fall.

W. E. Bond of Selah, one of the lovers of fancy cattle in this neighborhood, has written to the secretary of the Spokane fair asking that space be reserved for him for exhibition of a herd of 20 Brown Swiss cattle, and incidentally it may be said that these animals are the first of their kind ever shown at the Spokane fair. It goes without saying that they will be shown at the fair here.

Oak Harbor, Whidby island, has the exhibition fever, and has it badly. Last year it came here with a small but creditable exhibition of fruit, vegetables and other farm products made up at the half past eleventh hour and intended merely to indicate its interest in the state fair. This year it has a different point of view. It proposes to make an exhibition of the best it can produce and intends to make that exhibition such an one as will prove conclusively that the west side is decidedly in it horticulturally and agriculturally.

Edward Remy, superintendent of the horticultural department of the fair, says that the exhibits from the various districts will be probably the greatest surprise of the fair. Prizes have been offered for district exhibits. The entire Naches valley is already a competitor under three distinct district headings. Upper Naches, Lower Naches and Fruitvale are preparing to win the prize, so that the entire portion of the river valley under cultivation is in the contest. Mr. Remy says, however, that these districts will have to move some to earn the prize they are after for the Cowiche, the Ahtanum, Wapato, Granger, the Moxee and one or two other sections have already announced themselves as serious candidates for the awards.

A representative of the Yakima Horticultural union is at work now preparing exhibits for the Western Washington fair at Seattle, the state fair at North Yakima and the Spokane fair and at the same time is arranging ahead for the exhibit for the A-Y-P. fair at Seattle next year.

STATE FAIR OUTLOOK BRIGHT AT PRESENT

Quarter of a Million of Dollars to Be Divided Among the Racers and Cattle.

Late closing stakes for the state fair races in North Yakima are open for entries only until September 5, on which date they close also for Spokane and Walla Walla. There is every prospect that the entries for these races will bring out a likely class of animals as there are a number of speedy horses in the West this year, and others to come. This is a slow week with the racing game, there being nothing of particular moment since the Oakland races closed last Saturday. Racing will begin at Marshfield, Ore. August 26 and at Bellingham, in this state, August 25. Just at this time there is nothing doing.

Brooker to Sell Horse.
Fred Brooker has consigned his handsome stallion Zomvert, a son of Zombro, to the combination sale at Portland September 24 and 25. Zomvert, which is called an unusually handsome horse, is five years old, stands about 15.3 and it is declared can pace four heats now in 2:19 or 2:20 without hobbles, weights or boots and can show a mile in 2:16 with the straps. It is also announced that with four-ounce toe-weights he can trot a mile in 2:20. The horse is declared to be a good race prospect and is generously entered for the big stakes being booked, among other things, to appear at the race-track here during the state fair contests. In breeding the horse traces close up to the famous McKinney.

Money for Stock and Horses.

For the North Pacific harness race and live stock circuit, of which the state fair at North Yakima is a member and which will open at Bellingham Monday, stakes and premiums aggregating more than $25,000 have been hung up. This is nearly double the amount of the total of previous years. There are eight cities in the racing game, being Bellingham, Everett, Seattle, Salem, North Yakima, Spokane, Walla Walla and Lewiston. Over 500 trotters and pacers are entered from all the leading establishments this side of the Rocky mountains and some $12,000 of the money is offered for the races here.

Many to Enter Here Only.

Stockmen who own fine cattle will have the privilege of splitting up $100,000 of premiums throughout the cities interested, and Dr. Guy McL. Richards says that without question North Yakima will have the finest display of any of the cities and the best yet shown here. The fair at North Yakima, carrying state honors as it does, it is natural that some breeders will seek the premiums here who will not show elsewhere and this will enhance the number of entries of stock at this show. Another reason for a big exhibit here is that some of the strongest breeders in the country are in the Yakima valley and will make only home exhibits.

STATE FAIR EXHIBITS HAVE BEEN ANNOUNCED

Kittitas Valley Wants Its Old Space and the Ahtanum Proposes Good Display.

Kittitas county, through J. C. Hubbell, who is one of the state fair commissioners, has asked for the space in the horticultural building which it occupied last year with an excellent exhibit of its orchard and agricultural products. It proposes this year to send as much stuff, but of a much finer quality. Word to this effect has reached Superintendent Edward Remy of the fair commission, superintendent of the horticultural end, and he has replied to the Kittitas people saying that the space is at their disposal. While formal application for space has not been made either by Chelan or Spokane counties, both of which are big exhibitors, there is an informal understanding that both will require a great deal of room for their exhibits, each having the intention of making the strongest possible showing at the fair.

Ahtanum Valley Sets Pace.

The Ahtanum valley has set the pace for the others which are to compete for the premiums to be awarded for sectional or individual exhibits. Its display is to be a complete horticultural and agricultural exhibit. The Ahtanum ranchers have asked for a 50-foot space, which is considerable, and it has been allowed to them. In this they will show one or more samples of everything they grow in their valley, and in the opinion of experts it will be superior. The ranchers have formed an organization and are leaving nothing to chance. Already they are busy preparing, selecting and rejecting their possible exhibits and the three sections of the Naches, the Moxee or the lower valley country, if they are to beat them, will have to make a few early and definite moves.

Government Land Suit.

United States District Attorney Avery was before United States Commissioner Cleaver Saturday for the purpose of presenting the government side in the case of 120 acres in the Selah valley upon which he asks to have the patent cancelled. The ground has been held by Silas Gilson and the government claims that the homesteading was at fault and that as Gilson knew this at the time the land should revert to the government. Cull, Luse & Davis, the attorneys for Gilson, are allowed 30 days in which to answer.

HARRIMAN EXPERTS VISIT NORTH YAKIMA

General Superintendents Stop Here on Their Way to Examine A. B. C. System.

Railroad experts from the Harriman system of railroads were in North Yakima Monday on their way east to inspect the new A. B. C. system of train dispatching in use by the Northern Pacific railroad, which system has been installed on the division this side of Spokane. It is said to be the perfection of railroad dispatching and the Harriman people want to know more about it. The special train arrived here at noon from Seattle and remained nearly an hour, awaiting the arrival of No. 5. The party was a large one, mostly wives and daughters of the officials. The railroad men, all of whom are general superintendents in the Harriman service, were W. G. Van Vleck, Houston, Tex.; G. Radetzki, Houston, Tex.; W. R. Hobbs, New Orleans; R. H. Ingraham, Los Angeles; W. L. Park, Omaha; J. M. Davis, Salt Lake; J. H. Young, San Francisco, and M. J. Buckley, Portland. Twice each year the general superintendents of the system meet for general discussion. They have been meeting at Portland. They came here by way of Tacoma and Seattle and will stop at Spokane for a day or two.

The locomotive which hauled the train from Seattle through North Yakima was an oil burner and was probably the first oil burner ever seen in actual service here and the first that ever pulled a train over the Northern Pacific tracks. It attracted a great deal of attention from railroad experts here.

While the train was delayed in North Yakima a number of the passengers visited the fruit warehouses and carried away samples of North Yakima fruit.

FRUIT SAMPLES ASKED FOR HUNTLEY'S OFFICE

Best Yakima Can Produce to be Put in Jars for Display Purposes.

Fruit growers of the Yakima valley are asked to contribute samples of fruit in season to be placed in jars at the office, at Tacoma, of State Commissioner of Horticulture F. A. Huntley. The request comes from Mr. Huntley through State Fair Commissioner Edward Remy. The office of Mr. Huntley is visited frequently by people from various parts of this state and from other states who are desirous of learning about the orchard products, particularly of the Yakima valley. Mr. Remy says that if growers will donate the fruit, leaving it at the warehouse of the Horticultural Union not later than an early hour Thursday morning, and by preference Wednesday evening, he will see that it is properly packed and sent to Mr. Huntley. Mr. Remy says that all such fruit will, when placed in the jars at the office of the state commissioner, be marked with the name and address of the grower. Mr. Remy says he considers it unnecessary to point out that small fruit contributions of the kind needed will cost practically nothing to the donor, but will make a display at the headquarters of the fruit industry of the state which may result in great good to the community and will certainly serve to bring attention to the district.

Suit Over a Horse.
The State Savings Bank, of Manchester, Ia., filed a suit late Saturday afternoon against E. C. Hardison, H. E. Croso, W. M. Ryan and J. J. Wiley for a $3500 note given in payment for a horse bought by them. The bank claims that Wiley promised to sign the note but instead paid $700 as his share on the horse. The bank secured the note from some horse importers who shipped the horse to this city.

COMMERCIAL CLUB IS INCLUDED IN PROTEST

Joins With Shippers in Behalf of Growers Against In- creased Apple Rates.

Yakima's Commercial club, acting in behalf of the growers of fruit in this valley, has sent to J. M. Hannaford, general traffic manager of the Northern Pacific railroad, a protest against the proposed increase in apple freight rates, announced by Mr. Ober, superintendent of the refrigerator car service, to go into effect September 13. The club takes this action on the representation made to it by those actively engaged in handling fruit, knowing that in the nature of things the increased price will come on the growers here, but that they will not realize the effect of the announced rate until it has gone into effect and they have encountered its influence in actual dealing. The telegram of the club to Mr. Hannaford is as follows:

"Commercial club protests against raise in rates on apples in Middle Western territory. Crop is large, prices low and the raise will demoralize business. This telegram is similar in terms to a telegram sent by the Yakima Valley Fruit Shippers' association and the Yakima County Horticultural union to the Northwestern Fruit Distributors at Fargo, N. D., and authorizing that association to represent the people here in protest.

It is altogether probable that a telegram along the foregoing lines will also be sent out in the interests of this community by the Business Men's association.

The Art of Living

Consists in not being a dead one. If you are alive to your opportunities you will realize that the Baldwin Co. is not a dead one. We have no time to get into ruts nor the inclination either. Horatio said: "He who combines the useful with the agreeable, carries off the prize." How fitly that is illustrated at Baldwin's. We have everything that is useful for women in ready-to-put-ons and we display it in a new store which is the most up-to-date store in the valley. In fact it's agreeable.

FOR PRESIDENT

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

JOHN WORTH KERN

PROSPECT LOOKS GOOD

From all over the west come reports seemingly reliable to the effect that Bryan's chances for success in November are improving daily. That he will sweep the most of the states in the west, possibly including the states of this coast, is now coming to be quite generally believed. Bryan has a remarkably strong personal following throughout the west that extends far beyond mere party lines. In both of his former campaigns Bryan carried a number of the western states, and even his political enemies concede that the man is stronger with the western people now than he ever was before.

On the other hand Taft does not measure up to the requirements of the west. To begin with there is nothing about the personality of the man to enthuse over. He is not in any sense a popular hero. He never can play the Roosevelt role simply because he isn't built that way. He is merely a confirmed office holder and a hair-splitting lawyer, who insists upon taking, what he terms, a judicial view of everything. The judicious pose, no doubt, is all right in its place, but it is not calculated to win allegiance or to gain votes. The democrats found that out four years ago.

Neither are the people to be deceived by Mr. Taft's attitude. By nature the man is a conservative. His entire public record both on and off the bench proves that fact. He is not the sort of a man who would stir up the selfish interests with a big stick, for he has neither the courage nor the inclination to do so. As the Saturday Evening Post says: "He is the heir of McKinley rather than the heir of Roosevelt." It is really a piece of deception for Mr. Taft to pose as a reformer for there is really nothing in the candidate's long public career to justify such a claim. The "reformer" pose is therefore but a mere ruse calculated to catch the Roosevelt vote. But the people are getting "wise" to the situation. A careful perusal of Mr. Taft's long and labored speech of acceptance is itself calculated to disprove the claim that the candidate is a real reformer, for he devoted too much of his space in the effort to reassure the financial interests that he would do nothing to injure them.

In the states of the middle west, especially, the tariff question is the paramount issue of the campaign. That section of the country has never been wedded to the republican high tariff fetish and it is believed that Bryan will gain heavily from the opposition through a free and full discussion of the tariff and trust questions. The bank guaranty plank in the democratic platform is also a popular reform in the middle west and is likely to be a potential factor in the voting. The democrats feel sanguine of carrying Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Indiana and they feel that they have a good fighting chance of sweeping Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

This paper is not inclined to place much reliance in the democratic claim of carrying the state of New York, even though cautious republican politicians insist upon regarding it as doubtful. New York is normally a democratic state, but Tammany is always an uncertain if not a suspicious factor in the situation there and there is no telling what that organization will do. The democratic party has a good chance to win this year without the aid of the empire state, and if it can do so it would be a most pleasing result to the rank and file of the party.

Shall the people rule?

THE SPECIAL CITY ELECTION

Next Tuesday the voters of North Yakima will be called upon to ratify the issue of $80,000 of municipal bonds to cover the city's portion of the paving contract and other outstanding municipal indebtedness. The bonds authorized at a special city election held last April having been determined to be illegal, owing to a grossly defective ordinance passed by the council, it becomes necessary to correct the error in order that the city may keep faith with its creditors. Tuesday's election is the natural result of an annoying blunder. But under the circumstances there is but one thing to do to correct it and that is to authorize the bond issue and make it legal. To do otherwise now would be to put the city in a bad light before the world and subject it probably to vexatious litigation in which the municipality would be sure to get the worst of the deal. It is safe to assume that the bonds will be authorized as the people of North Yakima are not repudiators.

Another important proposition will come before the voters at Tuesday's election. This is for the proposed extension of the city limits westward to include Modern addition and other intervening territory, which if annexed, will add about 3000 people to the city's population as well as a very considerable amount of property to the city's tax roll. The people of the district to be annexed, of course, must first vote favorably on the proposition, but there is little doubt but that they will do this as they are anxious to obtain municipal improvements.

The only fault that The Democrat has to find with this annexation proposition is that the city will not take in sufficient territory in the deal. It looks to us as though many small property owners are to be brought into the city, but that a goodly number of wealthy owners are being permitted to stay out. Why this discrimination?

GUARANTEED BANK DEPOSITS

It is said by the opponents of the guaranteed bank deposit plan that it is illegal. How can it be illegal for a bank or an individual to provide prudent safeguards against disaster does not readily appear. The man—or the bank—who lends money on a mortgage can, and does, require a policy of fire insurance upon the mortgaged property, and the individual who lends money to a bank, or puts it there on deposit, would seem to have the same natural and reasonable right to require such insurance as it is thus proposed to provide for. This is the common-sense view of the matter, whatever the legal heavyweights may say about it.

The assertion that it will bring the whole banking system of the country down to ruin," makes judicious people smile, for they see that in actual practice it offers no such menace to the banking system, but, on the contrary, greater security and strength. It has, in fact, already proved itself to be a good law. An Oklahoma bank recently failed. Within a few days thereafter the depositors were paid in full. The great virtue of the plan is that it makes the safety of each bank, in some measure, the concern of all. The fund is accumulated by a trifling tax upon the banks.—Puyallup Tribune.

An officer of the Jones club of North Yakima wishes to know whether the Enterprise favors Jones or whether its attitude is one of indifference. We do not mind informing the Jones club that our attitude is one of deep regret that the Yakima valley has no senatorial candidate that we can conscientiously support. Jones has certainly done nothing to arouse gratitude in the breasts of residents of the lower valley, though we can quite understand why the North Yakima people should praise him all the day long. He has worked hard for the benefit of himself, his home town and his own personal friends and his work has brought results. We deplore the fact that we cannot join in the song of praise, especially as the Jones club has recklessly invested 50 cents in a subscription to this paper, expecting to find it pleasant reading.

ing to find it pleasant reading.—Kiona Enterprise.

And this from Kiona. Et tu Brute!

New York republicans appear to be between the d— and the deep sea. The question that torments the g. o. p. bosses from Roosevelt down is what to do with Governor Hughes. If they renominate the great be-whiskered reformer they fear the so-called liberal element of the party will get mad and bolt the entire ticket, Taft, Hughes, whiskers and all. On the other hand if they should turn Hughes down the law-abiding element that stands by the governor will be sure to take offense and will lay the blame on Roosevelt and Taft, where it would belong. It is a sure game of lose, whichever horn of the dilemma the bosses take. The New York situation is one of the many conditions that point unerringly to Mr. Bryan's election in November.

Mr. Sherman, "stand pat" candidate for vice president, who has been long known in congress as Speaker "Joe" Cannon's handy man, said in his speech of acceptance that the issue of this campaign is not "Shall the people rule?" as laid down by Mr. Bryan, but "Shall the administration of President Roosevelt be approved?" Yes, no doubt, it will be, but the people will do the approving in their own way. They will approve of the administration of President Roosevelt by electing in his place William J. Bryan, his logical successor. They will also approve of Mr. Roosevelt by leaving "Slippery Jim" Sherman at home where he can continue to run his bank.

The Times believes the time has come for the democratic party in this county to get out and make a wide-open campaign. We don't believe in gum-shoe propositions and we don't believe that policy ever got a vote for anybody. Come on out and let's jack the county up and stick a chunk under it. There are some republicans that we can beat this fall by a good campaign, and those we can't beat we can make be good dogs, and that will be good pay for the ammunition burned.—Skagit County Times.

That is the right spirit, neighbor!

Conspicuously displayed on the front page of this paper will be found an appeal for $1 contributions to the Bryan and Kern campaign fund. It is hoped that every democrat and every other supporter of Mr. Bryan, who can, will contribute his dollar to the cause and do so at once. Due credit will be given in the paper for all contributions. The democrat opens this subscription at the earnest solicitation of the democratic campaign committee and will forward all collections promptly to the committee headquarters in Chicago.

Collier's Weekly landed some pretty hot shot in the Ankeny camp last week when it published the Walla Walla banker as one of the "Senate Undesirables." C. P. Connolly, the writer of the caustic article, says that Senator Ankeny bought his way into the millionaires' club and that he has corrupted the political life of this state. Yes, no doubt. But such stuff has no news value. The Democrat published that fact five years ago.

The Democrat would be pleased to see Judge Chadwick of Whitman county nominated as a non-partisan for a seat upon the supreme bench. For eight years Judge Chadwick has occupied the superior bench of Whitman county and has made a splendid record. He is an experienced lawyer and an able jurist and is besides a most affable gentleman. He would be an ornament to the supreme bench and should be elected.

Democrats should remember that they are expected to nominate a precinct committeeman in each of the different precincts of the county at the primary September 8. They will find a blank space on the ballot for that purpose and after the man to be selected has been agreed upon his name should be written on the ballot. The different precinct committeemen when elected will form the new county central committee.

Governor Mead, it seems, was too busy in his campaign work to keep his promise to deliver a welcome speech to the national convention of the American Bar association in session this week at Seattle. His failure to show up was humiliating to the state attorneys, who had the program in charge. Well, anyway, the governor will have plenty of time to keep his appointments after January 10, 1909.

Mr. Harry Collier, editor of the South Tacoma Press, and a well known democrat of the state, is an active candidate for the democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. Harry, it may be said, is as good a judge of men as of chickens and he is a recognized authority on the latter. If "Chicken" Collier wins the nomination we believe that it is a safe bet that he will beat the Hon. "Turkey" Fawcett.

Let every democrat in Yakima county go to the primary on Tuesday, September 8 and do his full duty by his party. Aside from the general interest that should be felt in the nomination of a state and county ticket it should be remembered that a leading citizen of this county is a candidate for governor and that as friends and fellow democrats we owe him a generous support at the primary.

In William Goodyear, of Colfax, the democracy of the third district has a candidate for congress in whom it can take much pride. He is the peer intellectually and by every other standard of fitness of any of the seven republicans who are contending so zealously for their party nomination. Not only that but Mr. Goodyear is very much closer to the people than any of that "bunch".

It is our opinion that Hon. A. J. Splawn is the logical candidate for governor on the democratic ticket for Kit-titas to stand by royally and loyally. He is the right man for the right position, and if elected there will be no "strings" on Splawn. Mr. Splawn is the great commoner of Washington and is thoroughly conversant with all the needs of the state.—Ellensburg Dawn.

Hon. A. J. Splawn is this week making a tour of King county speaking at leading points in that locality in the interest of his candidacy for governor. Later he will visit points in Pierce county and will probably wind up his primary campaign in Spokane. The indications are most promising for his success at the primary.

Lynching negroes and burning their homes at Springfield, Ill. Shades of Abraham Lincoln, whose home it was, what a spectacle for gods and men! It is enough to make the great emancipator to turn over in his grave. In common fairness now we should hear less criticism in the north of negro baiting in the south.

Taft says "the interests of the employer and the employee never differ except when it comes to a division of the joint profit of labor and capital into dividends and wages." This sapient pronouncement is equivalent to saying that "the interests of the employees and the employer never differ except all the time."—Ex.

The New York World is now openly supporting the election of Mr. Bryan and the Herald of the same city is leaning pretty strongly across the fence in that direction. This is adequate compensation for the loss of the "influence" of the yellow journals owned by Wm. R. Hearst.

DECLARATION OF JIMMIE DURKIN

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR ON THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET

The Man of whom the Baptist Minister said: "He is a man of his word"

To My Fellow Citizens of the Common People of the State of Washington:

I want the job—to be the next governor of your state; and in applying for it, you ought to know if I have the necessary qualifications and honesty to be the right man in the right place. I believe I have.

I believe that when a man aspires to public office he should throw himself open for public inspection, and if he cannot stand on his past record, let him go away back and sit down. I have owned bull dogs and game chickens. Fought them? Yes, and I always got the other fellows' money because I had the best. I saw the errors of the past, and have not done this since 1890. There is good and bad in me, and more bad than there is good. But, whenever I have given my word as a business man the good has always come in first, never having broken that word in a business way, and I have been in business over 30 years.

I have been in the whisky business for the past 30 years and am still in it, with no regrets or apologies to make to anyone. I have aimed to conduct my business, and have succeeded in doing it, as well as any banker has run his business in the state of Washington. Abraham Lincoln sold whisky; he made you a good president. General Grant drank whisky; he made you both a good soldier and a good president. And I know of no reason why I have not the business qualifications, along with the necessary honesty, that should go with it, to make you as good a governor as ever sat in the governor's chair from the time that this state was a territory until the present time.

You must not think that it is the salary attached to this office that I desire. It is the honor of being chosen your chief which I covet. So far as the wealth of money goes, I have all that I want, and in saying that, I know that I have more money than all the rest of the Durkins who are left back in Ireland. The salary attached to the position, I will donate to the different charitable institutions of the state.

A Baptist minister in a Sunday sermon said that he wished the opportunity were offered him to decorate a saloon window, that he would not make a pleasing display of it, that he would put in a black background with a black border around it and an imaginary devil in the center. I gave him the chance he wished for, and entered into a contract with him to decorate my windows to suit his own taste. He did so, and in speaking of the affair in a lecture delivered at the Christian church, as reported in the Spokesman-Review of January 1, 1906, he said: "He gave me a square deal. Durkin is a man of his word."

I promise you that if I am elected your next governor, the man with the overalls will get a square deal equal with the man with the silk hat—no better, no worse—just as I gave the minister a square deal, or any other man, white or black, who has ever done business with me. I will be as honest in my candidacy for governor as I was with the Baptist minister.

Of course, I am doing this as a joke; and from a business standpoint to get before the public and jump into the limelight—all for the small amount of $60—and newspaper advertising at that, the best medium in the world for publicity. I have had the experience. I advertised once for cats, in Spokane. Inside of 24 hours from the time the advertisement appeared, I was the proud possessor of 384. I don't advise you to get into trouble with your mother-in-law. But if you do and it gets into the newspapers, you would have to live longer than Methuselah's ghost to ever hear the last of it.

I said I did it as a joke. If you want to, you can by voting for me, perpetrate the biggest joke ever perpetrated on the railroads and corporations in this state. They would not find me a joke, or make me one. It would be business then; as I know from past experience that capital and corporations can always get a hearing, while the interests of the common people cannot get even a look-in. I promise that they both shall get a square deal; and if there is not a law on the statute books that gives it to them, I shall do the best that is in me to see that there is one.

At the time of the agitation as to what President Roosevelt would do at the expiration of his term of office I settled that question so far as I was able by offering to hire him as my advertising agent at a salary of $52,000 per year for five years, guaranteed by a bond given by the Union Trust company, of Spokane, to the amount of $260,000—this from a man who never had a piece of fresh meat until he was six years old; and, looking back on it now, I think it was a piece off the neck. However, it was the best piece of meat I have ever eaten.

I am in favor of organized labor; so, differ from the learned judge of the federal court who says: "Unionism is incompatible with the Declaration of Independence." What is unionism but concentrated force? It was that which gave us the Declaration of Independence! It's the concentration of money that gives us the trusts. Why are the latter formed? To increase the value of the property of the capitalist, which is money, by getting control of the product of labor and either decreasing the value to the producer or increasing the price to the consumer. Generally, they do both, as proven by the records.

Let the laborer and the farmer take a lesson from capital, and organize. If they do not, it will be a question only of time until they are ground down into the dust. How is labor to fight capital? They are direct opposites, always were; always will be competitors, except by organization. One thousand trained soldiers can scatter and whip a mob of 20,000. If the laboring men display their business tact by voting as a unit, as Wall street has done in the past, we will not have to ask the question, "What is Wall street going to do next?" The eyes of Wall street would be on the common people and the capitalists would be asking, "What are the common people going to do next?"

If you but stop and think, this is the grandest and greatest country the sun has ever shone upon. The laboring man has made it so. In case of war, he is the one who is called upon to defend the flag of his country. What does that flag represent? The property that lies in the country. Who owns the property the laborer takes upon himself to defend? Not he, but the man who stays at home, and when the assessor calls upon him, commits perjury to save a few dollars on his taxation; while the laboring man, leaving his aged father, mother, wife and children, gives all that it is possible to give—his life's blood, if it is necessary to have the laboring man form into unions in time of war, it is more than necessary that he should do so in time of peace, to protect himself from being ground down by capital; for there is no animal that runs upon four legs that is more merciless to its own kind, as proven by history, than man against man.

I stand upon the national democratic platform as adopted at Denver. I stand upon the democratic state platform as adopted in Spokane this year, with the exception of the prohibition plank.

There are all kinds of rabies running through the world, and people who can't see as others do who have a special kind of rabies, are to be ground down, if it is possible for them to do so. I am against prohibition; as I believe that the people who have that special kind of rabies would persecute anyone who does not have the same disease, of which they seem to have a plenty. There is not a man, no matter what good he has done in the past, who comes out in favor of moderation in all things—as the Reverend Cardinal Gibbons did in favor of high license and moderation in both eating and drinking—but is attacked by people who are infected with the hydrophobia of prohibition. Speaking of Cardinal Gibbons, they said: "He should change his surplice for an apron and his prayerbook for an ice pick, and to get a job tending bar." For people who speak so disrespectfully of so eminent a man, I have no concern as to what they are going to do, or try to do; it is only a question of time when their rabies will kill themselves by biting off too much and they will lie down and die. Old Man Time—he is coming along—will have the kindness and the mercy to do this for them.

I recognize that there are extremists in the saloon business, as there are among the prohibitionists; and I believe that the best thing is the taking of the middle course, not running to one extreme or the other. To cure the disease of both of the extremes, the prohibitionists as well as the saloon keeper, I would have both swallow a big dose of moderation, repeating as often as required. Jesus Christ, the most unselfish of all men, the one the ministers use as an example of goodness, for the benefit of all mankind to follow, made wine, drank it and gave it to others. Why do the churches still continue to use wine? Why do physicians prescribe spirituous and malt liquors for medicinal purposes? If they are good for the sick man, as the physician must believe, why are they not good as a preventative?

A word to my friends, the farmers of this state. As a boy I used to pick up a rock and throw it in the middle of a pond. As it fell, I noticed that it would make a circle of rings; as I watched the rings going on their way to all parts of the shore, so now I look upon the farmer as the stone that is today being dropped into the pond. As the farmers are the foundation of prosperity—it comes first from him—it is only a question to know that, as he prospers, the circle that surrounds him goes on and on to every part of this broad land.

You have had rats and mice in your chicken houses. You could stand for the mice, but you could not stand for the rats and weasels when they commenced to kill off your chickens. If I am elected governor of this state, there is no ferret ever put into a chicken house that has done better than I will do in killing off the rats that are burdening you down with taxation. I'll not promise you to do all that the other candidates for the office of governor of this state are promising; but I will do more than they can do, because they are pledged to the corporations and trusts in this state. I am a free agent; and it is up to you this year to see whom ye shall choose.

JIMMIE DURKIN.

FRUIT EXPRESS RATES.

Officials of Northern Company Says Yakima Charges Are Unaltered.

J. E. Smith, agent for the Northern Express company, which has been accused by Yakima valley shippers of having raised its fruit rates, denied yesterday that any increase has been made and also that figures quoted are figures given out by him. Mr. Smith asserts that the same rates are in effect this year that obtained last year, the only difference being that this year the company is taking fruit at actual weight and charging accordingly. The entire situation as regards this valley is set forth by H. C. Burton, the Seattle agent of the company, as follows:

"The rate which has been in effect for the past couple of years is 85 cents a hundred pounds on less than carload lots of fruit and 50 cents a hundred on carload lots. In handling this fruit last year we made an established rate based on estimates and charged for peaches on a basis of 18 pounds to the box and cantaloupes at 50 pounds to the box.

"This year fruit is being charged for by its actual weight under our regular scale of freights. In the case of H. M. Gilbert, of the Richey & Gilbert company, of Toppenish, there has been an increase, it is true, for Mr. Gilbert's company enjoyed a special rate. He made a specialty of cantaloupes alone and we made him a rate some time ago of 75 cents a hundred on them. Now we have placed cantaloupes on the same footing as other fruit.

"We are giving the Yakima shippers a regular passenger train service. For heavy shipments we sometimes provide refrigerator cars. The haul is short enough to do away with the necessity for icing in most cases."

SCHOOL TO OPEN IN NEW HOUSE AT NACHES

New Building Will Cost $3200 and Will Be Modern and Convenient.

Work on the new school house at Naches City is rapidly progressing. The new building will be ready for occupancy by the time the fall term of school opens. Few rural districts can boast of as nice a building as this will be when completed. The contract price of the building is $3200. Only two rooms are to be finished at present, but the walls and foundation have been constructed with material of sufficient strength to hold a second floor, on which two more rooms will be located. The dimensions of the building are 40x66. It will be thoroughly modern. The large grounds around the school were donated by the Naches City Land company.

MANY CLERGYMEN TO MEET IN THIS CITY

Congregationalists of Washington Will Hold a Three-Days' Gathering Here.

This city is to be the meeting place, September 15-17 inclusive, of 150 leading clergymen and laymen of the Congregational churches of Washington when the Washington State Association of Congregational churches will hold its annual session here. Among the speakers will be ex-Mayor Jones, of Minneapolis, who is a forceful orator, a clear thinker and an incisive talker. Laymen of the church will have one of the three days of the program as theirs and will endeavor to make it more interesting than any other day of the assemblage. Local Congregationalists are now making the preparations necessary for the gathering of such a body of their fellow worshippers in this city.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

Brief Record of Local Happenings for the Week in North Yakima and Vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. George Donald returned home Wednesday from a 10 days' vacation spent in the Yellowstone Park.

F. P. Hartshorn and wife returned Saturday evening from Lake Kachess where they have been camping for some time.

Mrs. U. F. Diteman and daughters, Miss Marla and Gladys, returned Monday night from a three months' visit in Seattle and Tacoma.

Miss Grace Shannon, who has been visiting in Colorado, has returned to North Yakima, her return trip being by way of the Sound.

Senator Walter J. Reed's condition was reported as being better as the Democrat went to press. The senator is at his home on the west side.

Robert Scott, wife and family, including Mrs. Fannie Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Grazebrook, are camped for the summer at Nahcotta.

Carl Shaw has gone to Spokane to attend the annual session of the undertakers of Washington. He will attend the meetings and present himself as an applicant for a license.

Camping parties have been strolling back home from the mountains during the past week. Cooler weather for the most part sent them scurrying homeward.

James R. Richards, one of the members of the firm of E. H. Baldwin & Co., went to Portland this week on business connected with the popular new suit house on Yakima avenue.

Dr. Sloan and Dr. Porter reached home the latter part of last week from their vacation trip to Alaska. They report a most pleasant time spent mainly in sightseeing along the Alaskan coast.

Charles Talbert, who recently sold his ranch in this valley and went to Seattle, came back from that city a few days ago, and almost immediately had to go to the hospital with an attack of typhoid. He is getting better very slowly of late.

Miss Schoettie of the Yakima Title, Guaranty & Abstract company, who has been absent for a month on vacation, is back again at work. Miss Peck of the same concern is now taking her vacation in Portland and other parts of Oregon.

Miss Lulu Codrey, head trimmer for the E. H. Baldwin & Co. millinery and suit house, arrived last week from Chicago, but has been taken seriously ill and is confined at the Sanitarium on Nob Hill, threatened with an operation for appendicitis.

"Buffalo Bill's" Wild West show is billed to give one performance in this city on the afternoon of September 17. The press agent says that the show carries 500 people and that it is under the personal supervision of "Buffalo Bill," who is now nearly 70 years old.

B. D. Thompson of Granger, one of the five candidates for county commissioner from the Third district at the republican primary, made this office a pleasant call Wednesday. Considerable rivalry has developed in the "East End" as to which candidate will be nominated for that office. Each town in that section of the county has its candidate and considerable ill-feeling has already been aroused.

Jack Shaw, the popular furniture man and undertaker, went to Ellensburg last Saturday on business. Incidentally Jack attended the rousing democratic meeting held in honor of Hon. A. J. Splawn, the cowboy candidate for governor. Mr. Shaw said that the Kittitas valley farmers turned out strong to hear the Yakima man deliver his initial speech at Ellensburg, and that Mr. Splawn was given a royal reception.

Hop Outlook Not Good.

Yakima hop growers, or at least a part of them, are in a quandary as to whether or not they will pick the crop this year. Of course the few who have contracted and have received or hope to receive picking money will doubtless pick, and will aim to keep the harvesting expenses down as low as possible.

But with the majority of growers the question of picking or not picking is still undecided, with the picking season yet but a few days off. Local bankers will make no advances on the hops and the present price offered of about 7 cents for a prime hop, is not very alluring. Growers are waiting and hoping for a better price.

Pickers will receive 75 cents per box this year instead of the old price of $1.

James Barnes in the City.

James Barnes, formerly a real estate dealer of North Yakima, but now located in California, is in North Yakima today on his way east. Mr. Barnes was here about a month ago. He was then on his way east and has since returned to California. This time he will remain in the east some time in the interests of his business. He has the general agency for the sale of a large tract of land at Kerman, Cal. Kerman is 13 miles from Fresno. Mr. Barnes is placing agencies throughout the east and middle west and he says he is meeting success in the disposition of the lands under his supervision.

GETTING READY FOR THE FORMAL OPENING

Y. M. C. A. Building Will Hold Receptions All Next Week—Governor Mead to Deliver Principal Address on Tuesday Evening, Sept. 1.

Governor Mead will be one of the speakers in connection with the formal opening of the North Yakima Y. M. C. A. building, on Sept. 1. Other men of prominence and ability are being communicated with as we go to press for addresses during the opening week.

The Association building has been open for about a month, so far as the shower baths and swimming pool only. This has been very much appreciated and largely used, and now it is the purpose of the management to arrange for a series of receptions that will mark an entirely new epoch in the lives of the young men and boys of this valley. The building is practically completed and most of the furnishing is in the building, the balance arriving, it is hoped, before the first of the month. Many things, unfortunately, will yet have to be omitted for want of funds, but it should not be for long, the need for the different pieces of equipment planned for being too great.

Beginning Tuesday, Sept. 1, there will be, on that and succeeding days throughout the week, different receptions, giving practically every class of persons an opportunity to visit and inspect the building in its "ready-to-use" state. On Tuesday the contributors, members and public generally will be invited to and conducted through the building. On Wednesday the boys from 10 to 15 years of age will be allowed the use of gymnasium, showers and swimming pool for a time, free. The same invitation is to be extended to the young men about that age for another day of the same week. The ladies will be given a special opportunity to inspect the building and equipment. The religious organizations of the city will have special hours, and a day will be set apart for Yakima county residents of the city.

The week will close and culminate in a mass meeting for men on Sunday afternoon, September 6, speaker for which must be announced later.

Everyone should take this opportunity of visiting the Y. M. C. A. building. Only so can the entire aim and scope of the work be comprehended.

Over two hundred young men and boys have already availed themselves of the opportunity to join as charter members, thereby saving the entrance fee, getting extra time on their first year's membership, and securing the special ticket issued to such members. The final date for issuing charter memberships will be September 5, the last week day of the opening week, after which time tickets will date from the first day of the month nearest the actual day of joining and the entrance fee will not be remitted. The association has emphasized this as much as possible, for there is a very general desire to become members of the Y. M. C. A. on its first opening up the work in North Yakima.

In view of the necessity for careful preparation of the building, the showers and swimming pool will be closed entirely after Tuesday next, August 25, to remain closed until after the opening week, except to those who wish to take advantage of the free days for boys and young men.

been tied up more or less with the Ankeny organization and is looking to that crowd for much of his support. They do not believe that Cosgrove and his workers intend to support Jones at the primaries, no matter what they say. Yakima support, they fear, will have the result of alienating many of Mead's friends from Jones, and the Yakima senatorial candidate, they well know, has no votes to throw away.

As for the senatorial fight, there is but little new to record this week. Mr. Jones is making a vigorous speaking campaign on the Sound, but is not apparently getting very large audiences. The principal factor in the Jones campaign is the strong newspaper support that the Yakima candidate is securing, without which there would be but little hope of his success. While Mr. Jones is making some forcible speeches it is the opinion of some of the congressman's friends that he is showing rather too much venom in the discussion of Ankeny and his record and that while he is no doubt telling only the truth that it would sound better and be more effective if coming from some one else.

The Jones papers have been making much of the Collier article which appeared last week roasting the old senator and charging him openly with having bought his way into the United States senate. To this allegation Senator Ankeny, through his attorney, made public answer this week in which the Walla Walla man denies Collier's charge in toto. The senator says in his reply that the ammunition was furnished Collier's by the Jones men and that it is a disreputable piece of business.

It is the opinion of well informed observers that the fight for the senatorial endorsement at the primary is sure to be a very close one, as between Jones and Ankeny. That Judge Snell will be a poor third in the race is clearly evident. Still Snell, it is believed, will receive a very neat complimentary vote in his home county of Pierce and perhaps a light vote in other counties of the second district. The danger in Snell's candidacy is felt to be that he may succeed in pulling sufficient votes away from Jones to defeat the Yakima man. That Snell's support will cut mainly from Jones' strength is generally believed among the politicians.

The Jones organization is a very feeble affair as compared with that of Ankeny. "Boss" Crocker, the latter's manager, is said to have over 40 paid organizers going about over the state and working hard in the interest of Ankeny. In addition he is said to have a paid manager in nearly every county. These men are all picked workers and report direct to Crocker, it is said.

Apparently the boss has made some combinations by means of which he hopes to round up votes in great blocks for Ankeny. The McBride alliance, the labor union support, and the deal believed to have been made with the saloon interests. Then the Ankeny men claim to have made a bargain for the support of the lumbermen and loggers of the West Side, which if true, may mean many votes for him. Largely by reason of the much discussed King county agreement the Ankeny workers claim that the Walla Walla man will go out of King county with a plurality of 10,000 votes over Jones, but this claim is scoffed at by the Jones men.

It looks like a cinch that Ankeny must get a big majority in King county if he is to have any show at the outcome.

Rev. Lee A. Johnson of Sunnyside is picked as the winner of the g. o. p. nomination for congress in the Third district and the Spokane "bunch" are now beginning to realize that fact. As a campaigner, the Sunnyside preacher can show them all a new trick or two. He seems to have the church and temperance element lined up nearly solidly in his behalf. As for his six opponents in the race, each appears to be "knock-

SPLAWN GETS BIG OVATION IN KITTITAS

"Cowboy Candidate" is Greeted With Large Crowd and a Brass Band—Is Now Campaigning in King County.

Hon. Jack Splawn, the cowboy candidate for governor, went up to Ellensburg last Saturday afternoon and was present at a meeting held in that city Saturday night in his honor. The brass band turned out and a large crowd followed the procession to the courthouse, where Mr. Splawn was the principal speaker on the program. He was greeted with more than ordinary enthusiasm and the impression he made upon the Kittitas valley people, according to some who were present at the meeting, was of a nature to impel the strongest support in his race for the nomination.

Jack left for Seattle and points in King county the first of the week in the interests of his campaign for the nomination.

In speaking of Mr. Splawn's invasion of King county, the P.-I., under date of August 25, says:

"A. J. Splawn, of North Yakima, a prominent rancher and candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, arrived in this city yesterday and expects to remain in this section of the state for at least ten days in the interest of his candidacy. Mr. Splawn has not been making an aggressive campaign up to this time, but his interests have been looked after by the Bryan-Splawn club at North Yakima, and many thousand letters have been sent out to the democratic voters. In speaking of his candidacy yesterday, Mr. Splawn said:

"I have not made any fight to secure this nomination, as I filed for the office not of my own volition, but at the suggestion of leading democrats throughout the state, and now that I have my personal affairs in shape I expect to use all honorable means to win. I do not believe that the nomination is an empty honor, as the democrats have a splendid chance to carry this state for Bryan and to elect their state ticket. I am very anxious to see the democrats poll a large vote on primary day, and urge all democrats to turn out on that day and vote for their own candidates and to show the common enemy that we are alive."

"George E. Ryan, who has charge of Mr. Splawn's meetings in King county, has announced the following dates:

"Wednesday evening, August 26, Kent; Thursday, August 27, Renton; Friday, August 28, Auburn; Monday, August 31, Ballard; Tuesday, September 1, Fremont; Wednesday, September 2, Kirkland; Thursday, September 3, Egan's hall, Arcade building."
