A GOOD CAMPER WILL

1. Build his fire only in a designated place, and completely extinguish it with water before leaving. Apply water slowly and directly to the fire in a rock stove to avoid cracking or chipping the structure. Where a door to the stove is provided, it will not be necessary to completely extinguish the fire.
2. Burn all refuse possible and place the remainder in the provided garbage receptacle.
3. Share camp facilities with fellow campers when crowded conditions exist.
4. Not deface signs, buildings, tables, or other conveniences.
5. Not pick or dig flowers or plants; chip the bark of trees; tramp through shrubbery; take moss or ferns; cut tent poles or boughs in or near any forest camp.
6. Not wash clothes or clean fish in a lake or stream.
7. Not shoot firearms in the campground or vicinity.
8. Not shoot any fireworks anywhere inside the National Forest.

IF YOU ARE LOST, DO NOT BE FRIGHTENED

Remember the figure 3. Three blasts on a whistle, three regulated smudging smokes, three waves of a blanket, or three flashes of a mirror or flashlight repeated regularly will bring assistance.

The rescue party will answer by two signals. Repeat your distress signal until you are found.

If you must use signal fires or smokes, be sure to clean away the duff and ground litter to mineral soil.

If entering strange country, notify a Forest Officer of your approximate destination.

The rule of three signals for distress is Nation-wide and should never be used except when in actual need of help.

DO NOT MOVE AROUND!

GENERAL INFORMATION

National Forest Administration

Each National Forest is in charge of a Forest Supervisor, whose headquarters is listed herein. The National Forest is divided into Ranger Districts, each in charge of a Forest Ranger with field headquarters. Each Ranger has a staff of summer season Forest Guards who are quartered in patrol stations, on lookouts, and at other key locations on the Forest. The headquarters of Rangers and Guards are not listed in this publication, but most of them are convenient to National Forest highways and traffic routes.

Campfire Permit Requirements

Campfire Permits are required on all National Forest campgrounds except those posted "Campfire Permits not required on this Forest Camp". Campfire Permits are not required for any of the campgrounds listed in this publication.

Road Conditions, Facilities, Attractions, Etc.

All highways, forest roads, and dirt roads mentioned are, in the opinion of the Forest Service, sufficiently good for automobile travel, unless otherwise described.

No charge is made for the use of Forest Camps or picnic areas. Overnight camping is permitted unless otherwise specified in the area descriptions. Toilets not "flush" unless so specified.

Hunting, fishing, berry picking, etc., are not specifically recommended, and may be good, bad, or indifferent, according to season, weather, amounts of previous take, and individual opinion.

Back Country Camps

This record does not include several hundred less accessible or trail camps with rough accommodations provided by the Forest Service for fishermen, hunters, hikers, and back-country travelers.

Information regarding wilderness or remote trips and camps is obtainable from Forest Officers.
