

SAD NEW YEAR FOR CHURCHILL

Jury in Famous Murder Trial Deliberates Thirty-Seven Hours and Returns A Verdict of Manslaughter.

"Guilty of Manslaughter" is the verdict of the jury in the case of the state against Charles Churchill, who shot and instantly killed David Ray Zeigler on the 7th day of last October in front of the Sherman saloon in this city. Churchill was charged with murder in the first degree. Hon. H. J. Snively defended the prisoner, Attorney Henry H. Wende, assisted by Harcourt M. Taylor, prosecuted the case, and Judge E. B. Preble presided. The trial lasted almost two weeks and cost the county approximately $3,000.

When it seemed that the jury had hopelessly disagreed, and after deliberating just 37 hours, the twelve tired jurymen announced to the bailiff in charge that they were ready to render a verdict to the court. The news that the jury had agreed upon a verdict was promptly communicated to the lawyers in the case, the presiding judge, and the relatives of the prisoner. When Sheriff Edwards told Churchill that the jury had agreed the latter was visibly affected showing great mental distress. It had been a trying ordeal, indeed, for the prisoner. He hardly knew what to expect. It is said that he had hoped for a disagreement, but when told that he must go and hear the decree of fate, a cloud came over the guilty man's face, and he seemed to anticipate the worst. What did the New Year hold of happiness, of hope, for Charles Churchill? What of joy for the gray haired mother the wife and four children who sat clinging to the prisoner at the bar of justice during the brief interval between the time when the jury filed into the box and the verdict was read by the clerk?

A death like silence spread over the empty court room. Be sides the court officials, the lawyers in the case, and a very few disinterested people the big hall was practically deserted. Sitting beside the prisoner was his faithful wife and near her with hoary locks bowed in grief sat the patient mother. In the prisoner's lap and clinging to his knees prattled his four little children all of whom were too young to realize the gravity of the moment but all of whom seemed to feel that something unusual was about to take place, and they knew it was all about papa. The oldest little girl sat in her father's lap patting him on the face in a loving and devoted manner. The wife sat with one arm around her husband's neck.

"Gentlemen of the jury have you arrived at a verdict," inquired Judge Preble, who spoke in a low but firm tone of voice? "We have, Your Honor," answered Foreman Turnell. The verdict was then handed to Deputy Clerk Ward who read the words "Guilty of Manslaughter."

Such a New Year's greeting as that which fell upon the ears of the Churchill family. The prisoner broke into tears while the wife clung to him and cried aloud. The little children touched by the grief of their parents began to cry, and the scene was one that even brought tears to the eyes of the men who witnessed it. But there is another side to this case. What of the widowed wife of the dead man? Could Churchill hear in that verdict the words, "My God, Charley, don't do that." Did he see the helpless form of Zeigler stagger from the door of the saloon on that fatal night and then sink to death in his life blood that ebbed from those mortal wounds inflicted by the murderer's weapon? Yes, there's another side to this case. Only a just retribution has been meted out to the prisoner.

Monday marked the closing day of the long and tedious trial. It was given over entirely to the arguments of Attorney Snively and Prosecuting Attorney Wende. Both of these able lawyers held the attention of the jury and spectators throughout the entire day and until 8:45 p. m., Monday. Mr. Snively spoke for over four hours. Prosecuting Attorney Wende concluded his argument within three hours. The court room was crowded to its full capacity while the lawyers spoke.

The charge to the jury was long and quite plain. Judge Preble attempted to be fair in all of his instructions, but if at all he showed any favor it was on the side of the defendant. Attorney Snively admitted himself that the charge was perfectly fair.

The Crime.

On the afternoon of October 7th, 1907, Charles Churchill, his brother Shell and Ray Zeigler were drinking in the Van Diest saloon on North Front street. The men had previously been on bad terms and while under the influence of liquor hostilities were renewed. They fought in the saloon and Churchill got the better of the fist fight, according to eye witnesses. Zeigler was considered ordinarily the best man, but he was much drunker this day than was Churchill, and the latter threw him on the floor of the bar and then he and his brother kicked him, according to some witnesses to the affair. The men were separated for the time being, but Zeigler is said

REMARKABLE CAPTURE OF A GOLDEN EAGLE

T. S. Darby, While Hunting Jack Rabbits, Takes Alive A Monster Bird.

The remarkable capture of one of the largest Golden Eagles ever seen in this valley was effected last Sunday by T. S. Darby, a resident of Fruitvale. The bird weighs about 40 pounds and measures six feet and eight inches from tip to tip. It is a beautiful specimen of the American eagle. Mr. Darby has sold the bird to the well known butcher, H. J. Rand, and the latter is now having made a cage in which he expects to exhibit the eagle to the patrons of his butcher shop on Yakima avenue.

To capture a full grown eagle and in the manner described by Mr. Darby is something out of the ordinary and probably will not occur again within his life time. He was out hunting in the upper Cowichee at the time and had just reached the brow of a hill and started over, when suddenly in front of him, but a few feet distant he discovered the eagle beneath a sage brush devouring the remains of a jack rabbit. quick as a flash Mr. Darby brought his gun to his shoulder and as quickly did the eagle rise in its flight and make off carrying the rabbit in its talons.

It is probably due to the fact that Mr. Darby's gun was loaded with bird shot that he did not kill the eagle when he fired. Had he been hunting wild cats and cougars, rather than jack rabbits, he no doubt would have been carrying buck shot, and in that event he certainly would have killed the bird, instead of merely stunning it, as he did. When he pulled the trigger of his gun the ferocious looking fowl tumbled headlong into the snow as though it had been hit by a bullet from Sheriff John Edwards' trusty Colts revolver. Mr. Darby ran quickly to where the bird had fallen and discovered at once that it was only stunned. He immediately seized it and securely tied its feet. A few moments later and the bird had thoroughly realized its predicament and began to fight for liberty. In talking about the capture Mr. Darby said it required no little ingenuity to get the eagle home alive. It had only been grazed on the head with the small bird shot and was otherwise uninjured.

This is the second eagle that has been captured this fall. E. D. Palmer, of Nob Hill, possesses one measuring seven feet from tip to tip which he captured last October in a similar manner. He shot at a grouse which was being pursued by an eagle killing the grouse and stunning the eagle. It is a rather remarkable coincidence that these birds should have been captured in this manner.

AN UNTIMELY DEATH

Two-Year-Old Child of Logan Roberts Passes Away.

The 2-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Logan H. Roberts, of this city, died at the family residence Wednesday night of concussion of the brain.

The accident which resulted in the child's death was most singular. The father was alighting from a buggy holding in his arms the little girl when his foot slipped on the icy sidewalk and in falling the baby's head struck the stone pavement. The accident was not thought serious as the child played around home all Sunday afternoon and complained very little. Monday, however, developments pointing to concussion of the brain set in and an examination of physicians proved that the case was quite serious. The child grew steadily worse, although every effort was made to save it, and at a late hour Wednesday night died. The parents are prostrated over the death.

NORTH YAKIMA BOYS WIN RIFLE CONTEST

Lewis Bolles Defeats Champion Berg on Local Range—Tacoma, Spokane and Seattle Beaten.

The North Yakima Rifle club demonstrated the superior shooting ability of its members in the contest held last Sunday on the local target grounds. The local club belongs to the Washington State Rifle association. It was competing with Spokane, Tacoma and Seattle for the bronze mug offered by the National Rifle association. The respective teams shot on their own grounds. The North Yakima boys defeated the other contestants with the remarkably good score of 430. The trophy offered for the successful team will therefore be sent here.

Major W. L. Lemon was in charge of the contest held Sunday on the local grounds. Sergeant Ben F. Linse was the official scorer.

Individual Scores Made.

In the individual contest two sighting shots were allowed on each range, one being for 200 yards, the second for 300 yards and the third for 600 yards. Seven shots were allowed for the record. In the 200-yard competition the score stood as follows:

W. A. Berg30
J. M. Curry29
H. R. Humphrey28
L. L. Bolles31
William Hope29
At 300 yards the score stood:
Berg31
Curry33
Humphrey33
Bolles29
Hope27
On the 600-yard range the score was:
Berg26
Curry28
Humphrey27
Bolles29
Hope20

The day was clear and still, every condition favoring a good record. Bolles beat Berg, who won the Roosevelt trophy in the national contest last spring, in both the 200 and the 600 yard scores. Curry and Humphrey tied in the 300-yard score, each making 33 out of a possible 35. The points made in each case were the possible score out of 35 shots. It will be seen from the score that the Yakima riflemen are maintaining their reputation as crack shots.

North Coast Active.

The North Coast railroad is active now in the matter of purchasing right of way for its new line through Adams county, and is endeavoring to get settlement without condemnation suits, and in some cases pay as much as $60 an acre for the land taken.

From what can be learned the company will have a junction at a point near the Northern Pacific tracks, four miles east of town where the line from Walla Walla to Davenport will intersect the line from Spokane west of Connell. —Ritzville Times.

Death of Mrs. Leach's Father.

Mrs. John C. Leach, of this city, received a telegram on Christmas eve, from Lakeview, Minn., informing her of the death of her father, B. Ackerman, who was 80 years old. Mr. Ackerman had many relatives in this community who extend sympathy to Mrs. Leach in her bereavement. Mr. Ackerman was known by others here who became acquainted with him when he visited North Yakima some time ago.

Train No. 18 leaving Tacoma at 7:55 a. m., known as the Kanaskat accommodation train, has been taken off and the train running opposite is also discontinued. The Puget Sound Limited, running between Portland and Seattle and known as Nos. 13 and 14 have been pulled off. The Grays Harbor express, Nos. 9 and 10, have also been discontinued. Nos. 39 and 40, passenger trains on the South Bend branch, have been taken off.

Henry C. Ewing, of the Seattle firm of Calhoun, Denny & Ewing, is in the city this week with a party of people looking for prospective investments. Mr. Ewing is working in conjunction with the Inland Real Estate company.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET IN TACOMA

Central Committee Will Celebrate "Jackson Day" With Magnificent Banquet on Jan. 8—Yakima Wants State Convention.

A meeting of the Democratic State Central committee has been called to meet at the Hotel Tacoma, Tacoma, at 10 a. m. on Wednesday, Jan. 8, popularly known as "Jackson Day," as it will be the ninety second anniversary of that distinguished general's defeat of the British at New Orleans.

In addition to the regular committee members it is expected that some two or three hundred prominent Democrats throughout the state will be present as numerous invitations have been sent out by the chairman.

The central committee has been called together to name the time and place for the meeting of the Democratic state convention which in turn will select ten delegates to represent the state of Washington at the Democratic National convention, which will convene at Denver, Col., July 7.

It is the desire of local party leaders to entertain the next state convention here at North Yakima. So with that object in view of J. D. Medill, who represents this county on the state committee, will endeavor to persuade that organization to name North Yakima as the place for holding the state convention. It is possible that a delegation will go over to Tacoma from here to participate in the "love feast" and at the same time to do missionary work to procure the convention for this city.

The Spokane Democrats are making an organized effort to secure the convention under the lead of that tireless worker, H. D. Merritt. It is announced that a delegation of at least forty will go from that city to Tacoma to try to land the convention.

Unless the new direct primary law should be declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court there will be but one political convention of each party held in the state this year.

SALOONS MUST CLOSE

Prosecuting Attorney Wende Wants the Law Observed.

"In reviewing the criminal calendar for the last term of the superior court I find in nearly every instance that whiskey has been at the bottom of the trouble," said Prosecuting Attorney Wende to a Democrat representative. "Whiskey caused Charles Churchill to kill Ray Zeigler. It incited murder in the heart of Matsui, the Jap, and it drove Joe Flannery into the mad frenzy which caused him to take the life of his wife. And not only in these cases, but in the many cases of larceny, misdemeanors of all sorts liquor has played the chief role in the drama. I am convinced that the time has come for Yakima county to enforce the state law governing the sale of liquor on Sundays, and it is my intention to close all saloons on the sabbath," concluded the energetic prosecutor.

This declaration of Mr. Wende has put the saloon men on their ear, figuratively speaking, and many of them have said they would try for a "blue Sunday." They declare that all drug stores, cigar stores and other places that keep open house on the sabbath must go. Excitement is anticipated.

James Leslie, formerly with the Richmond Paper company, of Seattle, has resigned his position on the road and accepted the business management of the Yakima Republic, succeeding G. H. Ingham, who will leave for Walla Walla in a few days.

WENDE'S FINE RECORD

Democratic Prosecuting Attorney Makes Remarkable Showing.

That the taxpayers of Yakima county are being well represented in the office of prosecuting attorney, needs but the casual scanning of the record made by the present incumbent, for those interested in the affairs of this office, to ascertain these facts. The record of Attorney Henry H. Wende is certainly an enviable one, and reflects great credit upon his ability as a lawyer, as well as his tendency to attend strictly to the business of the prosecuting attorney's office.

During the last term of the criminal court Mr. Wende has tried 22 cases. Of these 22 cases three have been for murder. Of the three murder cases he secured verdicts of murder in the first degree, murder in the second degree and manslaughter. Of the 22 cases mentioned he has secured 19 verdicts, of guilty, one acquittal and two disagreements.

The Emporium began this week one of the most remarkable cut price sales that was ever launched in the valley.

SHEEP MEN TO MEET

Sheep men of Washington have been called to meet at North Yakima January 7 to organize into a society having as its general objects the best interests of the wool and mutton men of the state. The meeting will be rather a re-organization of the moribund Washington Association of Sheepmen which has for some time been without visible signs of existence. The call has been issued by Sam Cameron, president of the state fair commission, and a liberal response to the appeal is expected. The meeting will retain the old organization and if possible place it on a stronger footing than it has ever known.

National wool growers are to meet at Helena, Mont., in January at which time action will be taken regarding national legislation and also with reference to the attitude of the present administration towards the public domain and the use of the same by those who wish to graze stock thereon. One of the objects of the meeting here January 7 will be to select delegates for that national gathering. It has been considered the part of wisdom to send delegates representing a state organization and all that it means, rather than have one or two individuals attend representing only their own interests.

GUARANTEED DEPOSITS

The Oklahoma legislature has passed a law guaranteeing depositors in state banks, following the plan as advocated by Mr. Bryan. The new law imposes upon the state the duty of close surveillance over state banks. Should any bank become insolvent the law provides that a tax shall be levied upon all other banks to make good the defunct bank. The theory of such legislation is unquestionably right not only as applied to state banks but national banks. When government licenses a corporation to do business in its name, to solicit and use the savings of the people it falls short of its duty when it fails to give the public adequate protection against dishonest or incompetent men engaged in the banking business. Fortunately there are not many of this class, but when one is uncovered a whole train of misfortunes follow in his wake and the unprotected depositors are made to suffer.

Common sense is on the side of the new policy. If the national and different state governments were to guarantee the depositors in all banks the chances of another disastrous panic sweeping over the country would be reduced to the minimum. Depositors under the proposed system would know that their savings were safe and thus feeling secure would have no cause to get stampeded like a lot of sheep and make runs on the banks, withdrawing their money and hoarding it away where it can be of no possible use to anybody. Neither would the banks hoard money, as they are doing now, in order to protect themselves against any future run.

A majority of the banks for some reason are said to be opposed to the government guarantee plan. To a man up a tree it would seem that in doing so that they are simply standing in their own light. Public sentiment is already nearly crystallized into the determination to reform the banking system and when all is said and done public sentiment rules this country.

The people are going to have either guaranteed deposits, or else a government system of savings banks. It will be one or the other. If the bankers are wise they will assent to the guarantee plan. The other, if it comes about, would have a disastrous effect on their business and would be apt to prove a dangerous rival.

NO CHANCE FOR HUGHES

The biggest man in the republican party today is Governor Hughes, of New York. Hughes, it is said, is the one man in the whole opposition that William J. Bryan stands in any fear of. Hughes is a man who gets results. He is a reformer who reforms. He doesn't waste his time and energy in so often barking up the wrong tree as does one, Theodore Roosevelt. Hughes is a masterly man and what is better, is his own man. Neither the bosses nor the interests own him.

But one of the most likeable things about the man is his indifference to high honors, his refusal to turn his hand over to aid his own presidential chances. Therein he resembles closely certain great men of the past. At all events it is something of a relief to see an American public man assume such an attitude, instead of spending his time in scheming for office, as certain members of Roosevelt's official family are doing. Governor Hughes may yet become a formidable candidate for the presidency, although his chance of securing the nomination is not bright for the reason that the administration is using all the tremendous power at its command to bring about the nomination of Taft. In this it is likely to succeed by reason of its ability to juggle the rotten delegations from the south, where the republican organization is pitifully weak and is cursed with unworthy leadership.

The next democratic national convention will convene at Denver, Tuesday, July 7, 1908, the chief duty of which will be to nominate the next president and vice president of the United States. It is very likely that the ticket named will be Bryan with some leading eastern democrat, possibly Chambers, of New York, as a running mate. It is setting a new pace for a national convention to meet in a place as far west as Denver. But the selection is a very satisfactory one to the west, even though certain eastern cities are disgruntled over the matter. Denver, by the way, is nearer the geographical centre of the country than Chicago and will give the convention a royal welcome. Besides Denver is a paradise in July as compared with the sweltering climate of many other cities and the eastern delegates when they arrive there will be satisfied with the meeting place.

A democratic love feast, under the auspices of the state central committee, will be held at the Hotel Tacoma, January 8, Jackson day. At this meeting the policy of the party in this state for the ensuing campaign will be discussed, also the time and place for the meeting of the state convention to elect delegates to the national convention at Denver, July 7, will be settled by the state committee. A number of prominent democrats of the state other than members of the committee are expected to be present. Spokane promises to be on hand with a big delegation, the object being to have that city named as the place for the meeting of the state convention.

President Roosevelt is said to have read the riot act to Secretary Cortelyou and to have informed the "gum shoe" statesman that if he didn't quit knocking the Taft boom that he would be bounced from the cabinet. No doubt the president did right if this story is true. Cortelyou may be all right in a clerical position, but in the role of a statesman he is a mere travesty and excites public contempt. To assume that anybody outside of the interests would want him for president is absurd. Cortelyou is a joke.

The verdict of manslaughter brought in by the jury in the Churchill case, after being out for 37 hours, is, we believe, reasonably satisfactory to the public. It was feared, and with reason, that the jury would hopelessly disagree, but, being composed of good, level-headed citizens, a verdict was finally reached, which like most verdicts was the result of compromise. The cost of trying such cases is enormous and the taxpayers hope that the case has been finally disposed of.

Ex-Senator Watson C. Squire in a recent interview in the New York Tribune said that the republicans of this state are practically unanimous for the nomination of Taft. We doubt if the venerable statesman has sized up the situation correctly. There are at least two eminent republicans of this state that we know who are not enthusiastic supporters of the fat secretary, namely, Colonel John L. Wilson and Colonel William Wisdom Robertson.

This is a good time of the year, Mr. Subscriber, especially such as are delinquent, to settle up the old score with your local newspaper. The Democrat has hundreds of dollars due it in the way of unpaid subscriptions, which, were it paid, would aid us materially in producing a better paper. The most of you have enjoyed a most prosperous year and can well afford to square up. The newspaper earns its poor stipend. At any rate this one aims to.

The Washington correspondent of the Oregonian reports Mr. Roosevelt as boasting that he considers Taft as good as nominated already and cites a number of states that will be for him, including Washington. The democrats have no objection to the nomination of Judge Taft. He is an able man, true enough, but there are weak spots in his judicial record that would make him a most vulnerable candidate.

An interesting fact of the times is the great growth of the prohibition movement throughout the different sections of this country, especially in the states of the south, Alabama being the latest addition to the list of prohibition states. But in the north the cause is making steady progress also. Indeed, right here in Washington the signs are not wanting that prohibition is soon to become a living issue.

The fact that the republican committee of New York refused to endorse Gov. Hughes for the presidency appears to have tickled the crowd about the White House immensely. No doubt such action was inspired by Mr. Roosevelt himself. The president hasn't had much use for the New York governor since the latter made it known plainly that he refused to kow tow to him.

The present session of congress is merely a "talkfest". If that body would get down to business for two weeks it could easily put through all the business that will be disposed of through the coming long session. But the calico statesmen would not do it. They prefer to talk, talk, talk until the country gets thoroughly tired of them and their long-winded speeches.

Apparently many sections of the east have been feeling the result of the present panic more keenly than that of 1893, this being especially true of the poorer class of people. Thousands of men are out of employment in the industrial centres and this fact taken with the present extreme high cost of living makes the situation rather binding on hundreds of thousands.

The Ankeny press bureau has again become a very busy organization and is apparently obliged to work overtime. It is quite evident that the venerable senator has been playing the role of Santa Claus and has distributed an unusual amount of Christmas presents among the boys. It is always easy to tell when the old man has loosened up a bit.

Senator Ankeny seems to have got his campaign bureau well in operation, and the Standard is in receipt of a number of articles for publication to show that he should be re-elected. It is needless to say that they have reached the wrong channel for aid in fence-building. The state should elect an abler man for that high position.—Washington Standard.

The talk of running Mr. Roosevelt for a third term has now pretty well died out and apparently nobody is now so foolish as to predict his renomination except Bourne, the new senator from Oregon. It is likely enough that the Webfoot senator knows better but continues to boost Roosevelt merely to get himself talked about.

That gubernatorial boom of John L. Wilson doesn't seem to expand as was anticipated and begins to show the earmarks of the hothouse article. If Colonel Robertson of North Yakima persists in his intention of naming the next governor it is now up to that distinguished leader to trot out a more popular candidate.

It is reported from Washington that President Roosevelt has determined to oust Foraker from the senate and displace him with his son-in-law, Nick Longworth. But if Teddy has no better luck in ousting Foraker than he had when he started a war on Tom L. Johnson he will probably wish he had not tackled the job.

The Mabton Chronicle issued a very handsome special during the holidays containing a very comprehensive write-up of Mabton and leading citizens. The special is a credit to Mabton and Editor Pacius.

G. O. P. editors and spellbinders cannot with decency in the next campaign repeat the old threadbare lie that panics occur only during democratic administrations. The effect of that silly lie heretofore on ignorant voters has more than once had the effect of keeping the republican party in power.

The year 1907 has now taken its place in history. It has been a year of great achievement. It is to be hoped that 1908 will prove equally as good and prosperous a year for the people of this country. However, it must be admitted that the outlook is not now so full of promise as it was a year ago.

The banks of North Yakima passed through the recent panicky season without scarcely a jar and were not compelled to resort to the use of clearing house currency to protect themselves. Yakima has every reason to feel proud of her financial institutions.

Now that Armbruster is down and out Colonel Robberson finds it rather dull as he has nobody to chastise daily except President Roosevelt and Governor Mead. And probably those distinguished gentlemen don't mind it much, and indeed, why should they?

The Yakima country enters upon the new year with confidence and good cheer, regardless of what the feeling may be elsewhere. This wonderful section made a good record of improvement during 1907 which it bids fair to surpass at the end of 1908.

The Post-Intelligencer in an editorial in last Sunday's issue referred to "that ridiculous person, Levi Ankeny, senator from the state of Washington." How the republican leaders do love one another!

The Democrat wishes all its readers a happy and prosperous New Year.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

Something general in the way of improvement in market conditions is expected with the advent of the new year. While no decided or radical changes are anticipated there are already signs of improved conditions along many lines. Mill operations in the sound country, railroad construction work and general ranch improvement and development have already begun or are planned for. These things call for an almost immediate response in the market figures. From the standpoint of the man with something to sell the conditions appear to be better. Recent reports in Sound papers were to the effect that hay and grain were expected to show weakness but this prophecy has not been realized. While there is no special activity in these lines there is no reason for a blue feeling. While little business is being done figures are not changing and old quotations stand.

Wheat Market Inactive.
The wheat market is inactive and will probably remain so for a time yet. The lowest quotations made locally on barley have been cut off leaving the higher figure as the standard. Hay is a movable proposition and what is done by the holder is largely up to his business capacity and his ability to impress on the buyer the excellence of his stock.

With regard to potatoes there is a wide difference of opinion among those interested as to supply and as to the prospects. The tendency now and here is upward but the transactions are from hand to mouth and it isn't potato weather. Sound cities are declared to be getting along from day to day awaiting a break put it is positively asserted by some who claim to know that they are not carrying large stocks. One grower reported to the Republic within the week that he had been offered $17 for his stock but the figures are exceptional and general dealing such as it is is below that quotation considerably.

Wheat, is said to remain in first hands to the extent of about 30 per cent and some holders declare that they are unable to sell. This state of affairs is, however, not that which the buyer talks. He says the percentage in first hands is smaller than stated and that those holding can let go whenever they want to and will find a market.

Apple Trade Looks Up.
Yakima apples of the better grades are declared to be finding more appreciation in the sound markets than was the case two weeks ago. This is due to the two facts that the apples there have been pretty well cleaned up and the second fact that the Yakima stock is of much better quality than dealers thought would be offered at this time.

Butter fat is undergoing the effects of the influences which prevail at this time of the year and while prices for butter have remained unchanged there is little profit made in any branch of the industry and creamery men would not be surprised if an advance was called for within a few days. There has been a good supply of inferior eastern stock this year which has had the effect of keeping prices below what would have been the case without such competition. Weather and feeding conditions, together with bad roads, have reduced the supply of butter fat to the creameries and anything like a revival of general buying will see an advance.

Meats Become Stronger.
Meats are steadily becoming stronger in price, beef and hogs in particular, sharing in the advance. Poultry is in especial demand just now and some centres are complaining of a scarcity. There has been a slight advance of quotations for live birds to the poulterer. Seattle quotes a marked advance in the figures, retail, for turkeys and declares that dealers there have felt out the country and have been unable to learn of any procurable stock.

REPUBLICAN PARTY SADLY DISRUPTED

Roosevelt's Ambition to Leave Behind Him Harmonious Organization Won't Be Realized.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 27.—It is said to have been the ambition of President Roosevelt not to leave behind him a disrupted party but keen observers of events political are convinced that Mr. Roosevelt's hopes are to be disappointed. Never did the democracy contemplate a campaign in which the opposition forces were more seriously disrupted. Nor is there the slightest prospect that the republican party will ever be reunited, whatever may be the result of next June's convention, or next November's election. It requires but a brief retrospective glance to confirm the truth of this statement.

Few of the men who read this letter can fail to remember what the republican party was before it was subjected to the cyclonic influences of Theodore Roosevelt. Beginning with the night when an assassin's bullet laid Abraham Lincoln low, the republican party has been a party of special interests. From its fostering of the carpet bagger in the south to the enactment of the Dingley tariff bill, it has stood for the fostering and cultivation of private industries which under its liberal contributions, made at the expense of the whole people, have grown into trusts which now sap the vitality of the nation and render the efforts of the industrious, the energetic and the young futile, in the face of unfair and all powerful corporate competition.

With the advent of Theodore Roosevelt, who was nominated for the vice-presidency in order that he might be destroyed, the party has been driven lither and yon, by a man who was trying to graft the policies of Bryan on the voting Hanna stock, because his foresight was so great that he perceived that a revolution against his party was fast approaching. But while Mr. Roosevelt has converted a great number of the rank and file of his party to the democratic policies, he has never been able to reach the politicians who know no method of politics save the Hanna brand. Four years ago, the politicians, muttering deep curses and driven along by the whip and spur of popular opinion, nominated Theodore Roosevelt again. But this year he has eliminated himself from further consideration and has left the party to select its nominee from the field of likely candidates.

The field consists of William H. Taft, Charles Warren Fairbanks, Charles F.

Hughes, Philander Knox, Joseph G. Cannon and George B. Cortelyou. Of Fairbanks, the corporation lawyer and railroad attorney, who waxed fat financially by wrecking railroads and having himself appointed their receiver, so much has already been written that anything more here would be superfluous. Suffice it to say that he is the ideal candidate of the Republican party, but his record is so malodorous that he stands little chance of being nominated. Taft is the staunch advocate of the Roosevelt policies. He stands for control of the corporations, for revision of the tariff, for the protection of the Philippines against a horde of Republican sharks who would exploit the archipelago for their own pocketbooks. He is, in a word, the embodiment of everything that is repugnant to the Republican politician and consequently the field is against him. He must be dunned or Republicanism will hear its death knell. Hughes is generally regarded as the most likely candidate as he is backed by all the corporate interests in New York, the men who can be counted on to contribute liberally to the Republican campaign fund. Joseph G. Cannon is also making gains. He has not hesitated to prostitute his power as Speaker to secure the support of members of congress and he is the arch stand-patter of the party, which means, of course, that the protected interests of the entire country will be for him. Philander Chase Knox can be summed up on a word, the word of a witty Democratic Senator who said, "Whenever I see Know I smell Standard Oil, hear the hum of the Pennsylvania Railway and the brilliant reflection of the Steel Trust furnaces." That is about all there is to Mr. Knox. I have not mentioned Foraker for no one takes his candidacy seriously. He is merely in the field, backed by the interests, to prevent the nomination of Taft. One more name I have mentioned, that of George B. Cortelyou. He has practically withdrawn from the race, if he could ever have been considered in it at all. His whole backing consisted of the banks into whose coffers he has poured millions in profits as the result of the late panic.

This then is the field from which the distraught Republicans must select a candidate. If they select Taft the Republican politicians will be against him and again Mr. Bryan's election is made certain. At least that is the way it is outlined to your correspondent by such men as Senator Culberson, Mayor Johnson of Cleveland, and other Democrats of equal prominence.

The resignation of Admiral Brownson, who, as chief of Navigation, was practically the head of the Navy Department, affords another instance of the personal dictatorial methods of President Roosevelt. Admiral Brownson wanted the hospital ship Relief captained by a sailor. Surgeon General Rixey is the President's personal physician and he won. Therefore Admiral Brownson, who is a man of convictions and spunk, resigned and his resignation is a great loss to the navy, which has made more genuine progress under his direction than it had made in years previously.

WHITMAN WANTS A MILLION
Directors Agree Upon Endowment to Enlarge Scope of the College.
Rev. H. P. James and J. J. Rudkin of North Yakima, members of the board of directors of Whitman college, were present at Walla Walla at a recent meeting at which steps were taken to raise $1,000,000 in order to bring the institution up to the conception of President Penrose. Details have not been made public but the authorities of Whitman feel that with the growth of this state the institution should keep pace and should have 1000 pupils by 1910. The proposed enlargement scheme involves the construction of two science buildings at a cost of $200,000; three dormitories, $150,000; a heating plant, $40,000; library, $50,000; chapel, $50,000; conservatory, $75,000; academy, $50,000; art school, $50,000; making a total of $665,000. The endowment would cover five science departments, $500,000; library fund, $100,000; 20 professorships, $600,000; making a total sustaining endowment of $1,200,000.

Scholarships Are Idle.
Funds which would help two North Yakima boys attend two of the leading universities of the United States are lying idle in Seattle because there have appeared no fit applicants for the assistance. Two scholarships of $300 each provided by the Yale and Harvard clubs of Seattle compose the fund and from no part of the state has there come forward an applicant. The conditions are few, scholarship being the main point. It is the idea of the Yale and Harvard men that $300 will pay half the expenses of a student at either institution.

When everything was cheap it took two big fellows like me, 325 lbs. each at 3 cents to buy 1000 feet of lumber.

Now it takes two little fellows like me, 225 lbs. each, to buy the same 1000 feet of lumber.

The Week End Society Event

Leap Year Party.

The leap year party which was given Wednesday evening by the young ladies of St. Margaret's guild was a decided success. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion in holly, mistletoe and greens. In one corner of the hall was suspended a half moon and star of evergreens lighted with colored lights. When the orchestra played the "Moonlight" waltz the hall was darkened except for the light which radiated from the large moon and star. This dance proved so popular that it was repeated by special request later in the evening.

The grand march began at 9 o'clock sharp and was led by Frank Sharkey and Miss Lucile James and Warren Erwin and Miss Myrtle Clark. The hall was largely attended and the young ladies seemed to enjoy the freedom which this particular season of the year gave them.

Misses Diteman Entertain.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Diteman was the scene of a charming holiday party given by the Misses Diteman. Red Christmas bells hung from the chandeliers and from them festoons of red crepe paper lead to the corners of the rooms. Over the doors were such warnings as "Leap Year," "Last Chance," etc.

In the arch between the parlors was hung a miniature keg which excited much curiosity during the evening. Mistletoe formed a conspicuous part of the decorations and afforded much fun for everyone. Grand was the game that was played at 14 tables. The first ladies prize, a hand painted plate, was won by Miss Florence McCoy. The second ladies' prize, a silver paper knife, was awarded to Miss Marjorie Moran. Arthur Karr was successful in carrying off the first gentleman's prize, a beautiful picture which was painted by Miss Gladys Diteman. Walker Moren was given a beautifully bound copy of "Reveries of a Bachelor." A delightful program of musical numbers was given by Dr. Charles Keeler, Warren Erwin, Miss Nita Foster and Miss Barbour. The guests were given paper and pencil and told to guess the contents of the small keg which hung in the doorway. Charles McKen and Herman Crawford cut for the prize, which was won by the latter, and consisted of the good luck inn which was in the keg. Following the refreshments the tables and chairs were moved back and the floor cleared for dancing. Mrs. John McClure, Mrs. D. E. Lesh, Mrs. J. W. Thomas and Mrs. F. C. Hall assisted Mrs. Diteman in serving delicious refreshments.

Boys' Fraternity Entertain.

The Misses Bessie Howard, Lisle Gamble, Grace Oviatt, Della Schott, Anna Erwin, Frances Van Vliet, Elsie Leeper, Edna Walker and the Messrs Bert Lyons, Clyde Samson, Horace Doust, Carl Beam, Lester Palmer, George Stacey, Reed Thomas and Raleigh Johnson were entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Johnson, 312 North Seventh street. The bride has been living with her parents on Capitol Hill and was formerly a teacher in the city schools. The wedding was attended only by the parents of the bride. After the ceremony the couple left for their future home in Canada.

Methodist Men's Club Organized.

A club was organized by the men of the Methodist church Friday evening in the church parlors. George F. McAuley was elected president, George H. Ingham, vice president; H. D. Hunt, secretary, and Logan H. Roberts, treasurer. A constitution and by-laws were adopted. The club is to meet in the evening of the second and fourth Mondays of each month in the church parlors, the next meeting being set for January 13.

Tika Kuntux Bridge Club.

The Tika Kuntux Bridge club met Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. M. M. Englehart, 315 South Fourth street. The afternoon was spent in playing bridge, after which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Vivian Englehart.

Whitehouse-Fix.

Married Christmas night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter White, of the Cowiche. Miss Lydia Fix and David Whitehouse, of North Yakima. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Hess in the presence of friends and relatives. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk trimmed with lace and carried a dainty bouquet of white carnations. Miss Margaret M. Jack, of Ellensburg, acted as maid of honor and was very pretty in a gown of white silk mull. Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Miss Lily Whitehouse as the wedding party took their places. The house was beautifully and artistically decorated with Christmas greens, holly and mistletoe. After the congratulations following the ceremony, the following guests and relatives sat down to a bountiful six-course wedding dinner.

Christmas Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Crocker entertained at dinner Christmas day in a very charming manner. Poinsettia, pepper berries and calla lilies were used to decorate in a most effective manner. On the place cards were printed Christmas carols, which were sung by the guests before the first course. After each course, toys were given to each guest by different members of the dinner party. This presentation of toys came as a surprise and furnished much amusement. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Meigs, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bond, Miss Howland, of Everett; Miss Corren, of Moline, Ill.; Dr. Charles Keeler, little Doris Meigs and Beatrice Bond and Miss Katherine Scott.

Rev. and Mrs. Morton L. Rose Receive.

Rev. and Mrs. Morton L. Rose, of the First Christian church of this city, entertained at a reception Friday evening to the large circle of friends which they have made during their seven years' pastorate in North Yakima. The reception was held in the Christian parsonage, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. In the receiving line with Rev. and Mrs. Rose was Mr. and Mrs. McPherson, members of Rev. Rose's pastorate in Tacoma, Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Vail and a number of the officers of the church and their families. Several of the friends of Rev. Rose discovered that the date set for the reception was also the 25th anniversary of their wedding, and in consequence they were the recipients of many beautiful presents of silver, cut glass and china.

Their exercises will be followed by a musical selection after which the Woodmen will install their officers.

Brides Club.

The Brides' club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. F. H. Brush, 402 South Fourth street. The afternoon was occupied with needlework and later dainty refreshments were served.

Minnesota Society Banquet.

Without a doubt the fourth annual banquet to be given by the Minnesota Society January 21st will surpass anything ever attempted by the "Gophers" before, and that is going some. The various committees are busily engaged getting affairs in shape. They have engaged the Tieton hall which is much more roomy than any hall they have occupied before.

There will be a grand march and games of various characters, a lunch music, short speeches and much time for visiting and the renewal of old acquaintances. The room is large enough that the crowded conditions existing on past occasions will not prevail.

Benedicts Receive.

The Benedicts received in a very delightful manner New Years day at the home of F. C. Hall, 116 North Naches avenue. Punch was served in the library and tea and wafers were served in the dining room. The gentlemen receiving were as follows: F. C. Hall, D. E. Lesh, H. H. Lombard, U. F. Dite-

SAD NEW YEAR

to have made threats that he would beat Churchill's head off when they met. He said to one man, according to the testimony, that he did not need a gun to whip that ———, referring to Churchill. Three hours after the first altercation and when Zeigler was helplessly drunk, and could not have whipped a child, he staggered out of the Sherman saloon and started up the street. He saw Churchill and made an attempt to advance upon him. Churchill was standing a few feet away and deliberately drew his revolver and shot Zeigler dead in his tracks. The plea entered was self defense. The defense tried to prove that Zeigler had not only threatened to take Churchill's life before night, but that he advanced upon the prisoner with his hand at his hip pocket as though he was about to pull a gun. The state discredited this testimony with a preponderance of evidence. Zeigler was unarmed at the time. The state proved that the threats of Zeigler against Churchill showed at no time that he had intended to engage in a deadly weapon fight with the prisoner, but left the inference that he wanted to engage him in a fist fight. The trial was one of the most remarkable in the history of Yakima county.
