GROWING TREES TO MEET THE NATION'S NEEDS

To the Editor

AFPI salutes the daily and weekly press of the nation as a major contributor in spreading understanding and appreciation of the tree farm concept. "Webster's Third New International Dictionary," unabridged, defines the terms, "tree farm," "tree farming" and "tree farmer." Newspaper editors are largely responsible for acceptance of these additions to everyday language because they have published countless news stories, features, editorials and photos related to tree farming.

It is our hope that you will use the cartoons offered here, or that your own cartoonist will draw on them to create originals with localized messages. Thus you will help to mark the fine progress of the program and speed it to greater growth in your state and the nation.
