OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

FOR many good reasons THE DEMOCRAT regrets having been drawn into a controversy with the Seattle Times, and we feel somewhat the necessity of craving pardon from our readers for taking any further notice of the ravings of the veteran editor of that paper regarding us. THE DEMOCRAT, sorry to relate, has fallen into dispute with the writer of editorial "hog-wash" in the Times, because we mildly intimated, a few weeks ago, the desirability of having a state democratic paper. The proposal was promptly endorsed by most of our democratic exchanges, including the Seattle Review. For this suggestion we are execrated and excommunicated from the fusion fold by Editor Blethen, the alleged boss of the silver republican party in this state, and in a column of "rot," in a recent issue, we are denounced as a "kicker," who has been having "conniption fits" ever since fusion was first consummated in 1896, and that we are now endeavoring to disrupt and destroy fusion. The editor of the Times then calls upon the leaders of the democratic party to "squelch" us and some other democratic editors in the state, who have dared to assume that their souls are their own and have refused to "bend the pregnant hinges of the knee" to the autocrat of the Times office. The Times cannot conceal its contempt for the opinions of country weeklies and arrogates to itself the whole sum of human knowledge; yet it rarely expresses an editorial opinion that is not based either upon gross misrepresentation, egotism, ignorance or scurrility, and usually with all these basic evils in combination—clothed in language, too, that would shame the "devil" in the composing room. Now, as the brilliant colonel has gone out of his way to attack and misrepresent THE DEMOCRAT and its editor, particularly in relation to the question of fusion, it is pertinent to remark right here that we favored and warmly advocated the idea of a fusion of all of the anti-republican elements in this state, at least two years before the befogged editor of the Times had conceived the idea that it would be a good business stroke to change his politics. And we will further say to him, that we favor fusion now, except that we stipulate that it must be fusion based upon principle, and not upon the selfish desires of a raft of political grafters and fakirs, whose only desire is to reach places of profit. We confess a feeling of reluctance to going into another three-ringed circus with Colonel Blethen as doorkeeper, ringmaster and clown, all combined. Engineered by such a disinterested patriot as the editor of the Times, of course none will dispute the possibility of a successful outcome; but what would be gained for the cause of reform and good government? In reply to the charge of the gifted editor of Seattle that we are a "kicker," we feel prompted to reply that we are, at least in a measure. We have, for instance, kicked, and most vigorously, too, against the pressure brought to bear by an alleged reform editor to induce fusion members of the last legislature to vote for a goldbug republican candidate for the senate, and a candidate, too, who was seeking to buy the honor with cash, and who subsidized newspapers to accomplish his purpose. We have also registered a kick against reformers in this state being constantly dictated to by an organ that is run in the interest of a trans-continental railroad company, which has no thought save for its own advantage. Oh, yes, colonel; we confess to being somewhat of a "kicker," and we are opposed to fusion, but only to that kind of fusion that you represent and stand for.

THE president's message to congress is not a noteworthy document. Like all other state papers that have emanated from the same source, it is dull, prosaic and dreary. True, it is written in a smooth, easy and even elegant style; but it contains scarcely an original thought or sentence calculated to impress the people with the belief that its author is in any way above the dead level of mediocre statesmanship. From the standpoint of Wall street, the president has made a marked advance in his financial recommendations, for he now declares at last—though with evident fear—in favor of legislation that will maintain gold alone as the permanent standard of value. Concerning the trust question, the president in his brief discussion of that evil, furnishes evidence of having had "his ear to the ground." He recognizes the justice of the people's complaints against the practice of these gigantic monsters of trade; but he suggests nothing that would provide an adequate remedy. Having built his political house on the shifting sands of high tariff sentiment, the president lacked the courage to advise the lowering of his Chinese tariff wall, although he understands thoroughly that a lower schedule would quickly knock the props out from under the great majority of the trusts. In his treatment of the foreign relations of the government, the president exhibits plainly his disposition to fawn upon and bend the knee to powerful countries like England, Russia and Germany but for weaker nations like China, Italy and Turkey, he evinces a feeling of ill-concealed contempt. Concerning Cuba, he writes beautifully of the system of pacification now in vogue, but he holds out no hope to the unhappy people of that island of ever finally attaining the freedom that was sacredly pledged them by the last congress. Regarding the conquest of the Philippines, McKinley contributes nothing that is new. His treatment of that perplexing subject is glossed over in the characteristic McKinley fashion. Liberal quotations are made from the report of the commission of college presidents that was sent over last winter to interview Aguinaldo. No comment is made on the disastrous failure of Otis as commander. On the contrary the country is given to understand that the president still has unbounded confidence in him. In his long dissertation on the Philippine imbroglio, only a slight reference is made to the notorious treaty made with the Sultan of Sulu and no mention of the price paid to that polygamous old savage to induce him to keep the peace. The president probably rightfully concluded that a full exposition to congress of that "league with the devil" would be untimely in view of the righteous indignation manifested by that body over the prospect of fellowship with Brigham Roberts.

THE hired "editor" of an envious local contemporary—who has watched the rapid growth of THE DEMOCRAT with marked disapproval—refers to this paper as a "moribund sheet about the size of a checker board." The "editor" further gravely remarks that as this paper will pass out with the administration of Aguinaldo; that he does not feel like advertising us by particular notice. Well! Well! We feel obliged just the same for what advertising we have received; but since the Herald has suggested size as a method of comparison instead of evidence of brain labor, we don't see that it has much edge over us, especially if its "patent innards," which nobody reads, be left out of consideration. For the information of our valued contemporary we will further state that we won't suspend publication, even though Aguinaldo gets licked. While our income is not as great as that of the New York World or the Yakima Republic, for instance, still we are doing fairly well, not having to lease our plant and pay a luxurious salary for the services of an alleged editor; besides we have picked up a good many readers that our dear only contemporary has lost during the past year. So don't worry about us, old girl. We'll get along.

THE terrible mine disaster at Carbonado, which occurred on Saturday last, is heartrending in the extreme. In a twinkling the explosion of the deadly damp snuffed out the lives of thirty-two men and inflicted on a number of others wounds perhaps mortal. Public sympathy goes out to the stricken widows and orphans that are thus thrown helpless upon the world. Much suffering will result among the families who have lost their bread winners unless charitably inclined people shall stay the hand of want. Leading state papers have thoughtfully opened subscription rolls and started the lists with generous donations. It is to be hoped that the generous public will make a liberal response.

In Our Power.

To all country publishers:

The paper trust has raised on us the price of paper from two dollars sixty-five cents up to three dollars and twenty-five cents—an increase of sixty per cent, and are going to raise it higher. It is in our power to break this trust down and we will do it if we are not poor cowards. Let every one unite and demand that our government manufacture paper for sale at cost of material and good wages. Let us demand for congress a bill to that effect.

Government is already doing its own printing and makes much of its paper. All it need do is extend the business and a very little charge will give a big revenue too, at this very time when it is needed. Come now, all hands Heave O, Heave together. Let all printers in this great republic call on their government to break down this monopoly of the chief means of extending knowledge; a monopoly that favors a few by rebates and oppresses the remainder of us.—Salem Sentinel.

"Remember The Maine."

Lincoln J. Carter's grand spectacular production "Remember the Maine" will be presented at Mason's opera house on Tuesday, Dec. 19. It is a finished production in every respect, being complete in scenery and other effects. Like all of this famous author's plays, it is interesting and pleasing. It is of the ordinary melodrama sort, with a vein of comedy running through it, with exciting climaxes and powerful speeches, wonderful mechanical effects, and prettily costumed. The parts are all well taken by a capable company, who deliver their lines with stirring effect.

The story of the play is an interesting one, being of the military sort, and cannot help but arouse the patriotism of an audience. It tells the story of the blowing up of the Maine, giving a realistic reproduction of that incident, showing the arrival of the ill-fated battleship in Havana and her destruction, and as the plays runs on, showing the cowardice of the Spaniards and the courage of the Americans. The scenery used is of a very attractive nature, being new and bright.

The play closes with Dewey's victory at Manila, which is the best representation that has ever been given by any company of this battle. Pictures of Lincoln, Dewey, McKinley and others, presented in the center of a handsome drop, are followed with a representation of peace, making a grand finale.

ANOTHER RAID BY BURGLARS

Good Work Done By the Police Officers.

Sneak thieves are still periodically getting in their work on the business men of this city, the latest victim being John Porter, the veteran tailor who is doing business in the Bailey building on south First street.

Two bold bad men on Monday night—presumably about the hour of 11 o'clock—began operations to gain an entrance through the rear window. After removing two panes of glass, the rascals found themselves still unable to enter the building on account of the window sash being nailed down tightly from the top. They then by means of a claw bar, which they had previously secured from Thos. Harvey's blacksmith shop, succeeded in prying a panel out of the door thus enabling them to reach in and slide the bolt back. They then packed off a quantity of valuable goods including two full bolts of cheviot suitings and a pair of pantaloons that had just been finished. The value of the stolen goods in all, fell but little short of $100.

The two chaps were caught in the office of the Hotel Bartholet about one o'clock the next morning and placed under arrest by Marshal Grant and assistant J. C. Liggett and placed in the county bastille. The burglars had succeeded in caching the most of the goods but had offered a portion of them for sale, the tip was given the officers and they thus succeeded in running their men down. The burglars proved to be none other than Geo. Williams and Frank Lee, both of whom had been liberated on Monday from the county jail, having served their time on a sentence received for petty larceny about a month ago.

They were given a hearing before Justice Taggard on Tuesday and pleading not guilty, were bound over to the superior court.

Mr. Porter, the victim of the burglary, located here some three months ago, coming from Spokane. He naturally feels much put out about the matter as he is a comparatively poor man and feels the loss keenly.

Newspaper Changes.

Numerous changes have been made in the ownership and management of newspapers in this state recently. The Piper brothers, who have made such a conspicuous success in running the P.-I. have retired with the sale of that paper. The new ownership of the big daily is thus far veiled in mystery.

The Tacoma Ledger has been purchased from Editor Schultz and the Wright estate by a new company headed by C. J. Lord, a bank president of Olympia.

The Tacoma News, which is one of the best paying newspaper propositions in the northwest, has put in a new plant of its own, taken on a new dress and now flies the name of its owner, Col. Sammie Perkins at its masthead. Editor Archer has retired from the editorial sanctum of the Seattle Herald and has been succeeded by Eugene Way. The Herald since its inception has been ably edited and its influence has been felt, particularly with reference to needed municipal reforms.

The Yakima Orchestra has concluded to give a grand masquerade ball on Christmas night, Dec. 25. Liberal prizes will be given. A first class time may be expected by all who participate. 12-3

Four reasons why many of our first families go out of their way to trade with Pearson:

Do you know that many of our customers are the wealthiest and most particular in this town? They are the people who have tried other stores but were never fully satisfied until they came here.

WHY?

FIRST—Because we sell "guaranteed groceries." No auction goods; no seconds.

SECOND—Because we give your money back the minute you want it.

THIRD—Because our groceries are fresh and clean and pure. Nothing allowed to become shelf-worn.

FOURTH—Because our prices are lower than any other grocer who sells good groceries.

Can't Hoodwink the People.

Why should the republican party put an anti-trust plank in its platform? Is not that party now in power? If it is opposed to trusts, it has the opportunity to act now against them. If it does not tear down the tariff walls, refuse to grant other special privileges during the coming session of congress, where will a man be found who is so utterly unsophisticated as to have left the least iota of confidence in republican platform declarations? Surely not outside of an insane asylum will such a one be found. For years and decades that party's platforms declared for bi-metallism, yet was careful to restore silver to its proper money function, and finally when driven to take a stand the administration came out flat-footed and cloven-hoofed for the single gold standard, although elected on a platform declaring in favor of bi-metallism. The same course will be taken with regard to trusts. The platforms will declare against them, while republican administrations (if there are any more) will continue to grant the special privileges on which monopoly rests. When finally driven to an unequivocal stand, the republican party will declare that trusts, private ownership of public property and absolute monopolies are good things, and the president's hands must be held up in sustaining them. This is prophecy, Watchout for the cloven hoof.—Seattle Herald.

For Genuine Democracy.

The reform democrats of this country will never for the sake of promised victory at the polls make peace with such men as Whitney, Gorman, Cleveland, Olney, Bynum, Carlisle, Hill or any other of the plutocratic set of goldbugs who deserted Bryan and the people in 1896

A democratic victory made possible at the cost of self respect and an abandonment of principle will never be be courted by men who are true democrats and who place their country above party. If we are to have misgovernment the Register-Democrat prefers that the republican party be responsible for it. If we are to have democracy we demand the clean, genuine article and not the moth-eaten, brass-plated, job lot which the people were given under Cleveland and Carlisle. We want no half-baked, goldbug democratic republicans like Bynum, Morton and Whitney. They belong in the ranks of the party of imperialism, of plutocracy, of empire—the present so-called republican party. Democratic victory made possible by an alliance with such as they would be ten times worse than defeat, and defeat would be the fitting reward for such a perfidious bargain. The new democracy under Bryan will bring to its support the best brain and patriotism of America. It will earn a victory whose fruit for good will not be forgotten during the Twentieth century.—Vancouver Register.

The New York World, Thrice-a-Week Edition.

Almost a Daily—At The Price of a Weekly.

The most widely circulated "weekly" newspaper in America is the Thrice-a-Week edition of The New York World, and with the presidential campaign now at hand you cannot do without it. Here are some of the reasons why it is easily the leader in dollar a year journalism.

It is issued every other day, and is to all purposes a daily.

Every week each subscriber receives 18 pages and often during the "busy" season 24 pages each week.

The price is only $1.50 per year.

It is virtually a daily at the price of a weekly.

Its news covers every known part of the world. No weekly newspaper could stand alone and furnish such service.

The Thrice-a-Week World has at its disposal all of the resources of the greatest newspaper in existence—the wonder of modern journalism—"America's Greatest Newspaper," as it has been justly termed—The New York World.

Its political news is absolutely impartial. This fact will be of especial value in the presidential campaign coming on.

The best of current fiction is found in columns.

There are only some of the reasons; there are others. Read it and see them all.

We offer this unequalled newspaper and THE YAKIMA DEMOCRAT together one year for $1.50.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

A Special Bargain For Newspaper Readers.

The Semi-Weekly Republic and The Yakima Democrat Both
One Year for $1.50.

A word about its superiority. The Semi-Weekly Republic is so well known that about all that is necessary to secure a subscription is to call attention to it. It is the best general newspaper of its class published, and has a larger circulation now than any other news Weekly or Semi-Weekly. It has command not only of all the great sources of news from the Daily and Sunday Republic, but also receives the special service of the New York Herald and New York Journal. The telegraphic and cable-service of The Republic and the papers mentioned have never been equal in the history of journalism in this or any other country.

It has so many advantages as a news gatherer, that no other paper can claim to be its equal. The whole field of news is covered thoroughly. The special features and illustrations are always the best. More noted writers contribute to its columns than to any other paper of its class. LATE STATE NEWS

A meeting of the state board of audit and control took place at Tacoma on the 8th.

Spokane people have announced their intention of making a fight for the next democratic state convention.

Ex-Senator Warner Miller of New York has purchased the entire water power at Kettle Falls, the consideration being $50,000.

Owing to the heavy wind and high tide in Seattle harbor on the 8th, a large section of the Arlington wharf slid into the bay causing heavy damage.

The Seattle Democratic club was organized in Seattle on the evening of the 8th. The avowed purpose of the club is to reorganize the democratic party in that city.

State university students at Seattle have refused to pay fare on the street cars unless given seats. Their determined stand has resulted in a better car service.

According to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer the value of freight shipped from that city to points in Alaska during the current year, will exceed nine million dollars.

The relief committee at Carbonado has issued an appeal to the people of the state asking for contributions to aid the sufferers of the recent mine disaster at that place.

The United States Master in Chancery on the 9th sold all the lands and improvements of the Everett Land Co. for $750,000. W. J. Rucker of New York was the purchaser.

An effort is being made among Seattle and Spokane capitalists to organize a company to build a railroad from Republic to Grand Forks, B. C., a distance of 35 miles over an easy grade.

The receipts of the Spokane exposition fell $3000 short of the expenses. The directors of the company, however, state that they are not discouraged and will give a still better fair next year.

The management of the Lakeview rolling mills, according to the Tacoma News, are considering the advisability of moving their plant into the city of Tacoma in order to handle their ocean trade to better advantage.

An explosion caused by fire damp occurred in shaft No. 7 at the Carbonado coal mines on Saturday, the 9th. Thirty-three miners working in the shaft were instantly killed, many of the bodies being mutilated beyond recognition.

Ernest Henchbach of St. Cloud, Minn., a passenger bound for Portland, was killed at Centralia on Monday by attempting to board the moving train when pulling out. The unfortunate man was an operator by trade and about 35 years of age.

The business men of Tacoma are making active efforts to get a regular steamship line started from that city to Cape Nome. They are also through their representatives in congress endeavoring to get a law passed establishing a mint in that city.

A large number of Cape Nome miners and prospectors have organized an association to prevent legislation at Washington at this session in the interest of certain corporations which are accused of a conspiracy to secure valuable concessions which would take in practically all of the gold bearing territory along the beach. The miners have employed Col. James Hamilton Lewis of Seattle as their attorney.

Presents for the Insane.

MEDICAL LAKE, Wash. Dec. 11.

To the patrons and friends of the Eastern Washington hospital for the insane—This letter is not intended to suggest a duty or a privilege so much, as to aid in directing the benevolence of those who are sympathetic and generous. The season of the year is drawing nigh which custom has specially dedicated to kind deeds and the bestowing of gifts. Children, especially look forward with glad hearts to the coming of Christmas. They do so because of the material expressions of sympathy and affection with which their friends shall then gladden their lives. Let me say to you that the inmates of this institution may be considered in a special sense as children during Christmas time. If there is one thing more than another which they retain it is the child-spirit, which is often so susceptible and responsive to sympathy and affection when expressed in the way of material gifts.

It takes but little to bring increase of cheer and happiness to the hearts of these patients at this time. I feel that many would regard it as a privilege, rather than a duty, to send some little token which would add cheer to the lives of these unfortunate people. It is our purpose to observe the festival of Christmas here, not merely by appropriate exercises, but also by bestowing gifts to each patient if possible. It is hoped, therefore, that not only the friends and relatives of patients will remember the occasion as desired, but that others, also, may do likewise. For we may have many here who seem to be alone in the world, without friends or relatives. They, too, should be remembered. All gifts will be duly acknowledged and faithfully administered.

WASHINGTON LEPTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8, 1899.

Democrats have every reason to be pleased with the outcome of the first week of congress. Mr. McKinley and the majority in both house and senate have committed the republican party irrevocably to the perpetuation of the single gold standard. Mr. McKinley in his message to congress, the republican senators by the gold standard bill, introduced by the chairman of the finance committee, and the republican representatives by the action of their caucus in endorsing the gold standard bill, prepared last summer under McKinley's order by a committee of which Speaker Henderson was chairman, and ordering it railroaded through the house. In addition, the republican representatives have gone back on all their professions of reform and unanimously adopted the old Reed gag rules, and the republican senators have decided upon the grab policy of increasing their own and reducing the democratic representation on all the senate committees. These things will all be understood by the people, and they will all mak democratic votes. That's why the democrats in congress are pleased with them; they enjoy seeing the republicans helping along their own defeat.

Representative Richardson, of Tennessee, the new leader of the house democrats, and Representative Bailey of Texas, the old leader, where both among the thirty-one members who voted against the resolution denying Roberts, of Utah, the right of being sworn in, in advance of the investigation of the charges against him. These votes were not cast in favor of Roberts, but as a protest against the method in which the republicans purposed to get rid of him. Mr. Richardson explicitly stated that if Roberts were shown to be guilty he would vote for his expulsion from the house, adding: "If there is one thing the American people are a unit upon, it is that the American home shall be preserved in all its loveliness, sweetness and purity."

Mr. Roberts stirred up the administration menagerie by saying that Mormons, against whom the charges of living in polygamy had been brought, had been named for federal positions in Utah by Mr. McKinley and confirmed by the Senate. Grosvenor, of Ohio, and Daltzell, of Pennsylvania, sought to defend the administration by denying the statement of Mr. Roberts, but their denial could not change facts. Senator Rawlins made the same statement more than a week ago, and proofs of its truthfulness will doubtless be forced upon the investigating committee's attention by Roberts.

Knowing that he has absolute control of a majority in both branches of congress, Mr. McKinley must have chuckled to himself when he wrote in his message of the Philippines: "The future government of the islands rests with congress." So far as the present congress is concerned, Mr. McKinley knows that it will pass no legislation, dealing with the Philippines, or anything else that is not ordered by him.

One clause in Mr. McKinley's message created consternation among the senators and representatives from the tobacco-growing New England states—that saying, "Our plain duty is to abolish all customs tariffs between the United States and Porto Rico and give her products free access to our markets." Several conferences have been held, and Representatives Hill, of Connecticut, and Lawrence, of Massachusetts, are threatening to lead a revolt in the house against legislation in line with that recommendation, unless an exception is made in favor of their tobacco-raising constituents. It's the old, old argument, "Give my products protection, but give us free trade in the other fellow's products."

Senator Chandler has aggravated the matter by introducing a bill providing that both Cuba and Porto Rico shall have absolute free trade with the United States, which indicates his belief that the free Cuba spoken of so prettily by Mr. McKinley is still a long ways off.

At a caucus attended by the eight independent senators, as the populists and silver republicans are called, it was decided to act with the democrats upon all party questions during the present session of congress, as in the last congress.

Senator Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the democratic senate caucus, who has been authorized by the caucus to arrange the democratic representation on the senate committees, says he will enter a vigorous protest against the carrying out of the republican programme of decreasing democratic representation on the senate committees, but as the carrying out of that programme is necessary to give the gold men control of the senate committee on finance, and that control is necessary to get the gold standard bill favorably reported to the senate, which will not countenance the house method of sending the bill from the caucus to the calendar, without the intervention of a committee, the protest is likely to be unavailing.

There are few, if any, better parliamentarians in the house than Representative Richardson, of Tennessee, the democratic leader in the house, and even with the obnoxious Reed rules, which have been adopted "lock, stock and barrel" by the republicans, in force, he will doubtless find many opportunities to give the slim republican majority trouble and at the same time to show up for the benefit of the country the weak spots in the McKinley legislative program.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Gorton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me and thank God, I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at Louis O. Janeck's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

STATE PRESS OPINION

"Getting ready for the Nome rush" has already become an every day expression in Seattle. The Nome rush promises to be as madly indulged in as was the Klondike rush.—Seattle Republican.

Here is a good one, for these days of censorship, given by the Chicago Tribune: "Truth arose again, with great difficulty. 'I am not crushed,' it said, 'but I am pretty badly censored.'"—Seattle Herald.

After our work of "benevolent assimilation" in the Philippines has been fully consummated, what a magnificent crop of carpet-baggers will develop in this country. As Carl Scurz aptly put it the islands will be a green pasture for needy politicians.—Seattle Review.

McKinley's secret understanding and sympathy with the British government ought to insure him the Irish vote in 1900! No? Then perhaps his sympathy and comfort for England in her attempt to crush the Boers in the land of their birth ought to secure him the solid German vote next year! No? But he will ask it just the same. See if he don't.—Vancouver Register.

Now many republican leaders are advocating a plan to disfranchise the southern negroes in party conventions. They want delegates elected according to the number of votes cast for the party instead of in proportion to population. By this means it is hoped that there will be fewer delegates from the south to sell out to the rich candidates. They remember the way "Alger bought John Sherman's niggers" once upon a time.—Walla Walla Argus.

The grand right and left seems to have been called with Seattle and Tacoma newspapers. Following close upon the sale of the Post-Intelligencer to parties unknown but guessed at, comes the sale of the Tacoma Ledger to a company headed by Bank President Lord of Olympia. The Tacoma News has also taken a fresh start, and has bought its own plant, enlarged and moved to new quarters, and S. A. Perkins has put his name at the head. It is more than probable that politics and the approach of another campaign are the causes of the changes, but with Lord, a hard-shell democrat running the Ledger, Perkins, Mark Hanna's ex-secretary, running the News, with Blethen, a Blaine republican, running the Times, and the Post-Intelligencer, for reasons of its own, keeping its ownership secret, it will not be surprising if the people turn to the country press for an honest expression on political matters.—Monroe Monitor.

FOR SALE—An 80-acre tract of good unimproved agricultural land in the artesian district of the Moxee. A good bargain. Inquire at this office.

Parties wanting Christmas trees or evergreens can procure the same from me by leaving their order with Taylor & Denley, J. A. Kleis or North Yakima Milling Co. Place your order early.

Never keers for any news—
That 'ere feller with the blues!

Sun may do his best to shine—
Blossoms purple on the vine;
Win's may sing in music sweet,
Rivers ripple at his feet;
An' the birds the boughs along
Jest may split their throats with song—
But he's lonesome as you choose—
That 'ere feller with the blues!

Where'd they come from? Day by day,
You kin see 'em on the way,
Jest a-tredgin' up the slope—
Drownin' all the bells of Hope!—
Comin' in the door to chide you,
Drawin' up a chair beside you,
Sayin', "Hello! What's the news?"—
Them exasperatin' blues!

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

"Remember the Maine," Lincoln J. Carter's great war drama, is billed to appear at Mason's opera house on next Tuesday evening.

The feeling among the business men on Yakima avenue is beginning to crystallize in favor of having that thoroughfare paved between the depot and the Hotel Yakima. The feeling seems to be that the present muddy condition of the street is a serious detriment to business.

The successful applicants for teachers' certificates at the November examination are as follows: J. G. Aldrich, Cassand Boggs, C. A. Clark, Opal R. Heller, Tillie Leininger, C. W. McCurdy, Jennie R. Matterson, T. Milner, Ward Penning, J. E. Trainor, Mrs. Mary Neale.

E. Van Diest has opened up a neat and very attractive looking grocery store in the Conolly building, formerly known as the Vienna. His stock is new and fresh and Mr. Van Diest is a very courteous gentleman to deal with. His business announcement will be found in another column.

John Waldo Ellis, field superintendent for the children's Home Society of Whashington located at Seattle, is in the city looking after the interests of his society. He will occupy the pulpit of the M. E. church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Will take for his subject, "What Shall Be Done With that Homeless Destitute Child." Mr. Ellis is desirous of procuring good homes for boys.

Mrs. J. W. Downer, an old pioneer of Yakima county, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. C. S. Rinehart in Olympia, on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Downer, until a few weeks since, were residents of this city, where they have many friends who will deeply sympathize with Mr. Downer in the loss of his aged companion.

The Prosser Record in its last issue announced a change of management, Editor Turner retiring to make way for S. H. Mason, an attorney who recently located in that thriving burg. The new manager announces his intention of putting up a good, live, readable paper and further states that he proposes to work unceasingly to bring about a division of Yakima county. Such a policy will not be likely to strengthen the paper any in this part of the county.

The Nelson Rich Irrigation company has begun an action in the superior court against J. G. Fairfowl et al, successors of the Dell Haven irrigation district, for the right of way for a ditch that the plaintiff in the action purposes building near Kennebec. The case will come up at the January term. It is understood that the defendants will resist the condemnation of their property for such a purpose as it will seriously interfere with their own plans for the completion of the old Y. I. and I system.

H. B. Scudder received a letter this week from Mr. Cooper, the well known western land agent at Tacoma, stating that he had made arrangements with the freight department for the transportation of one car of Yakima sugar beets to the Corbin factory at Waverly free of charge. This act of generosity on the part of the railroad, will, Mr. Scudder thinks, insure the owners of beets here about $6 per ton for their product. The car of beets will be shipped in a few days and tested thoroughly by Mr. Corbin. It having been already demonstrated at Pullman that the amount of saccharine matter in the Yakima beet is phenomenal, it is highly probable that the test to be made at Waverly will determine Mr. Corbin to locate a sugar-making plant in this city.

A deed was executed in the Sheriff's office on Thursday conveying the California hop ranch in Parker Bottom, to Geo. E. Shaw assignee of the Solicitors Loan and Trust company, the consideration being $18734.57. The sum of $19 had to be expended in revenue stamps to make the conveyance.

The Christian church has secured the services of W. S. Crockett, of New Whatcom, for their pastor. He comes well recommended as a man, a preacher, and earnest worker in the church. He will take charge the first week in January, and the church expects to accomplish much good under his leadership.

The Masonic fraternity will hold a meeting this evening for the annual election of officers for the ensuing year and all members are expected to be present. Arrangements are being perfected for a proper observance of St. John's day—Dec. 27. The lodge is also preparing to give a grand ball on New Years night.

S. Mires was fined $10 and costs in Justice Taggard's court on Monday for shooting off his revolver within the city limits. The affray for which the accused was taken into custody occurred in an avenue saloon on Saturday night and the melee while it lasted is said to have been quite lively.

Attorney Fred Parker on Saturday received a telegram from the attorneys of the Northern Pacific land department, in which the offer was made to quit claim on the Leaming tract north of town, in consideration of a sum being paid which would be less than the cost to the defendant of an appeal to the United States supreme court. Mr. Parker promptly accepted the offer.

Bryan Will be the Nominee.

"In my opinion," says Senator J. P. Jones of Nevada, "William J. Bryan is a much stronger man today before the people than he was three years ago. His own state has given him a wonderful endorsement. The republicans and the gold bugs sent an immense amount of money to defeat him, but principle won against boodle." "Are you confident Bryan will be renominated and will be elected?" "Is not the country prosperous?" "Suppose we do not have these revivals of prosperity, there is not enough money in circulation and every wave of monetary prosperity is followed by a corner in the money. The single standard gold people want a contracted currency."

WASHINGTON MEMORIAL.

Interesting Exercises—Eloquent Address by Judge Preble.

The memorial services held at Mason's opera house on Thursday evening under the auspices of the local lodge of Redmen to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the death of General George Washington, was a decided success, although unfortunately the audience was not as large as had been anticipated, in fact only about one-half of the seats in the hall were occupied, which made a showing anything but flattering for the patriotism of the people of this city.

The stage was elaborately and beautifully draped for the occasion. A solid background of flags added much to the stage scene. At the front of the rostrum, leaning against an altar decked with evergreens and surmounted by a flag, stood a veiled portrait of America's greatest hero—General George Washington, whose death, which occurred December 14, 1799, the meeting was called to mourn.

The exercises were opened by Rev. A. H. Lyons, with a few appropriate remarks on the solemnity of the occasion and the grandeur of the character of George Washington, to honor the memory of whom this meeting had been called. A suitable selection was then rendered by the orchestra accompanied by Miss Bunnell on the piano.

Walter Gervais, the sachem of the local order of Redmen, then came forward, and after being introduced by Mr. Lyons, assumed charge of the meeting. The beautiful ritualistic work of the order, or at least that part of it which pertained to the service, was then given by the officers of the tribe.

At intervals during the ceremony the audience arose and sang those patriotic old hymns, "America" and "Star-Spangled Banner."

The orator of the evening, Hon. E. B. Preble, was introduced and made what everyone voted at the close, a very eloquent and appropriate address. The speaker began with the assertion that Washington was not the equal in oratory or as a writer of many of his contemporaries such as Franklin, Hamilton, or Paine; but that in all the characteristics that go to make a really great man, he was far beyond any of these. Himself a born aristocrat, reared in the lap of luxury—according to that time. The owner of vast estates, living happily with a most lovable wife, Washington at the call of his country to war against a foreign tyrant, left behind him a life of luxury and ease and went forth to battle. For nearly eight years Washington struggled on at the head of the continental army, fighting always against the greatest odds.

With a price upon his head, denounced as a rebel and a traitor by enemies abroad and Tories at home, he still persisted often under the most discouraging circumstances. None but a brave, resolute and truly great man could have succeeded in such a hazardous undertaking. In peace he was still greater than in war. Had he but given the word his enthusiastic countrymen would have made him a king, but the offer of a crown this man—the greatest of all Americans sternly refused and told the people that they should govern themselves. At his death the people felt bereft of both a leader and a friend. History is searched in vain for another such a man as was Washington.

The speaker then dwelt upon the value of liberty—the liberty inherited from our fathers—and said that as long as the American people cherished liberty and were willing to die for it the nation would safely endure, but if that spirit should die and the people willingly or thoughtlessly allowed themselves to be deprived of their liberty—that priceless gift of heaven—then the nation's decay and death would be as certain as the fate of any of the great nations of antiquity.

The speaker on concluding was loudly applauded. It was evident that his auditors fully agreed with the statements made.

Viavi—Nature's Own Remedy.

Nature, it should be always remembered, is the kindest, the surest and the best of all physicians. The great merit of the Viavi system is that it works in harmony with and aids nature in resisting and conquering disease. The principle on which Viavi cures is that of assisting instead of forcing nature. The Viavi remedies are particularly adapted to the various ailments that women are subject to. It assists nature in overcoming the disease and in building up the wasted tissues. This system has not only cured thousands of women of dangerous ailments and restored them to health, but it has given them back their lost beauty of which disease has robbed them. A Viavi course of treatment not only works a lasting and permanent cure, but it teaches the unerring laws of nature, which enables patients to thereafter care for themselves. Women suffering from nervousness resulting from derangement of the generative organs should not fail to learn of the wonderful curative properties of Viavi.
