

RAISED THE MONEY

Charles Reign Scoville Clears New Christian Church of Debt in Short Time—Many are Converted by Evangelist.

Charles Reign Scoville, the celebrated Chicago evangelist who is conducting revival services at the Christian church, has been meeting thus far with most remarkable success and the new church building is crowded to its full capacity at every service with many people, it is said, unable to gain admittance.

At the opening of the dedicatory service of the new church Sunday morning the evangelist announced that an unpaid debt of $16,000 still remained on the church and that in addition to that amount about $8,000 would be required for furnishings and for the purchase of a pipe organ. Before the dedication service could proceed this amount, he said, must be raised or pledged. And to the surprise of many in the congregation that amount, the whole $24,000, was produced or subscribed in an incredibly short space of time. Certain well-to-do members came through with $500 and $1,000 subscriptions, while that well known pioneer, Henry M. Bicknell, donated the sum of $3000 with which to purchase a pipe organ. Contributions of $100, $50 and $25 were quite common and everybody present, it seemed, gave something. It was a happy day for the workers of the church when they discovered that the money was in hand with which to pay the debt and equip the handsome edifice and the credit for such a happy consummation was cheerfully given to Evangelist Scoville and the resident pastor, Morton L. Rose.

The dedicatory service which followed was impressive. The song service provided by the members of the Scoville party was of a very high quality and came in for much praise. Mrs. Scoville, wife of the evangelist, is said to be possessed of a beautiful soprano voice. The converts gathered in by the evangelist up to Thursday are said to number about 170. This fact together with the financial success of Sunday would certainly indicate that Dr. Scoville is a man of unusual force and power in the way of gathering in sinners.

LOT OWNERS PROTEST

Don't Want Donald Road on G Street—Employ Attorney and Sign Remonstrance to Council.

A number of North End property owners met at Bowman's paint store last Saturday evening and after considerable talking was indulged in signed a remonstrance addressed to the city council protesting against the granting of a franchise along G street to the North Yakima & Valley road for the construction of its Moxee line.

The gist of the protest is to the effect that the building of such a line would have a prejudicial effect on property values and make the strip between G and H streets undesirable for homes. The protestants point out that the company might just as well use the Cascade mill switch, which is located on H street and thus avoid the proposed route through a thickly settled section of the city.

H. F. Marble, engineer of the North Yakima & Valley, says that the H street line is not at all feasible for several reasons that are vital from an engineering standpoint on account of the necessity of bridging the Yakima river at a certain point. Besides a continuation of the mill switch would necessarily run through the Cascade mill buildings and would interfere seriously with that company's boom and pond, which was recently completed at a large expense.

The Valley road's application for a franchise was laid before the city council last Monday night, as also was the signed remonstrance from the property owners.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Senator Aldrich Adopts High Handed Methods in Tariff Matters—New Law Will Afford No Substantial Relief to Consumers—Packers Violate Rebate Law.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—The Aldrich substitute for the Payne tariff bill has finally been completed, or practically so, and made public. The democratic members of the finance committee were given no opportunity even to read the bill before it was reported to the senate, the majority solely by virtue of superior numbers voting down the motion of Senator Bailey to postpone a report until time should be afforded the democrats to examine the measure and at least present their views to the committee. This course was typical of the high handed methods which the majority has pursued throughout the consideration of the measure. The democratic members of the committee were given no opportunity to examine witnesses or even to hear their testimony and, as Senator Aldrich put it, "The majority expects to assume the full responsibility for the bill."

As was to have been expected, the Aldrich bill is not tariff revision in any sense of the word. In fact, the changes from the Dingley law are not so immaterial that in the opinion of many experts it has been simply a travesty on revision and a wholly useless disturbance of business to attempt at all to revise the tariff. "Tariff revision by its friends" has proven a total failure. There are, it is true, a few spectacular changes in the Aldrich bill. A duty of 35 per cent has been placed on foreign built yachts and the duty on champagne and wines has been increased somewhat, but on the other hand the duty on woollens has been increased, lumber is still taxed at $1 a thousand feet, the tax on gloves and hosiery is left the same as the Dingley law and, in a word, there are no material reductions from the Dingley law on any of the real necessities of life.

There is a serious question as to whether the Aldrich bill will produce sufficient revenue to carry on the government and Senator Bailey will introduce an amendment providing for an income tax which is in accord with the views of the President Taft, although there is not the slightest likelihood that the senate will permit any such amendment to be added to the bill. However, the republicans are themselves considerably worried for fear the president will send a message to congress urging that some form of income tax be adopted.

The attorney general has made public a letter addressed to Swift & Co., the Chicago packers, in which he tells them that they have been accepting rebates but that they will not be prosecuted if they will promise to be good in the future. Under the last administration the packers would have been prosecuted for such a violation of the law, despite the fact that it was a custom of long practice and that the packers seem to have been ignorant of the fact that they were violating the law. It must be admitted, however, that it is doubtful if such a prosecution would have resulted in a conviction, so it is perhaps to the best interest of the public that they should be let off with a warning this time and the government thus saved the expense of a useless prosecution.

There will be general satisfaction over the decision of the supreme court of the United States affirming the decision of the Texas courts imposing a fine of $1,600,000 on the Waters-Pierce Oil company, which is merely a branch of the Standard Oil company and ousting it from the state.

After May 23 the use of oil lamps will be discontinued on all through N. P. trains and electric lights will be substituted. Heretofore only the North Coast limited trains have been electric lighted.

MAYOR ARMBRUSTER CHANGES FRONT

Seems to Have Staked Future on Rose Well Deal—In Alliance With Open Town Advocates—Old Time Followers Disgusted.

"What is the secret bond between Mayor Armbruster and J. H. Rose?" is a question that many citizens of North Yakima have asked of each other ever since the advent of the west side man in the mayor's chair last January, or rather since he has come out publicly as a strenuous advocate of an artesian well water supply for the city on the basis of the purchase by the city of the Rose artesian well for a consideration of $25,000.

Many of the mayor's former supporters are at a loss to know why such a change has come over the spirit of his honor's dreams since his elevation to the office that he so long coveted and at last was enabled to grasp through a peculiar situation in municipal politics here last fall.

The mayor, it should be remembered, has for years been identified as the "father of the municipal ownership idea," especially in regard to the matter of a water supply. Until recently the mayor's position was squarely in favor of the construction of a new municipal water system with a source high up on the Naches river. Failing in that the mayor, then a councilman, favored the purchase by condemnation or otherwise of the present corporation water works by the city. His attitude then was to pool any suggestion of an artesian well supply as being utterly impracticable.

Now he is of the opinion that it is the only scheme worth talking about and has for some time been expending his energies in a fruitless effort to line up the council to buy the Rose well. His honor is credited with saying that if the city refuses to buy the well that Mr. Rose will install an independent water supply and that would forever put an end to the hope of building a new system by the city. Therefore, it is buy the Rose well or nothing with him.

In fact it is generally understood among municipal ownership advocates that the mayor has virtually deserted that principle, and that he has made a complete alliance with the "open town" advocates and expects to make the mayoralty race again next December on that issue.

However, it is hoped by municipal ownership advocates that that cause is not dead yet, even though the mayor has seemingly deserted it. A majority of the city council appear to be well disposed towards the proposition of a municipally owned water system and are inclined to follow out the recommendations of Consulting Engineer Roberts in the event that that gentleman outlines a plan that the city can carry out financially.

Engineer Roberts' report is expected early next month.

Jeffries Will Fight.

A New York dispatch of April 20 quotes James J. Jeffries, former world's heavyweight champion, as follows: "I will fight Mr. Jack Johnson. I will defend my title as the undefeated heavyweight champion of the world."

The above announcement was made by Jeffries before an audience that packed the American Music hall after the big fellow had done his stunt on the stage. As a result the audience seemed to go wild. Excited men leaped from their seats and yelled madly with joy, while the women in the audience seemed to be fully as excited as the men.

It will probably be several months yet before the championship fight between the two big bruisers will be pulled off, but that it will receive the close attention of the sporting world is certain. Public interest in the forthcoming fight is no doubt largely due to the fact that Jack Johnson, the present champion, is a negro.

Fred Reed's Joke.

Major Fred R. Reed is building Wendell and he is using the same plans and system as he did when building North Yakima years ago. The town has wonderful possibilities for future development and under the direction of the major it should prosper. Wendell is only a year old and thus far it stands high with other towns in Idaho and in business progress and in the sales of irrigated lands and town property.—The Westerner.

When building North Yakima years ago! Certainly Major Fred must still be using his hot air pump on the newspapers. It is to laugh.

General Superintendent F. W. Gilbert of the Northern Pacific died suddenly at his home in St. Paul last Saturday after a brief illness of pneumonia. Mr. Gilbert was formerly superintendent of this division and had many friends in North Yakima who regarded him highly. The funeral was held at Spokane Thursday. Roadmaster Scow of this city attended the funeral of his old friend.

UP TO HUGHES

President Snubs Senator Piles and Tenders Judgeship to His Enemy—First Skirmish in Senatorial Fight to Succeed Seattle Man.

A Washington dispatch states that President Taft has made a tender of the new U. S. judgeship to E. C. Hughes, the well known Seattle attorney. It is stated, however, that the president coupled the offer of the appointment with the demand that Mr. Hughes first relinquish or dispose of all his corporation connections. This, it is thought, Mr. Hughes will refuse to do and that he has already declined the appointment. Mr. Hughes is associated with ex-senator John L. Wilson in the ownership of the Post-Intelligencer.

The tender of the judgeship to Hughes by the president is regarded as a most emphatic snub to Senator Piles, who warmly endorsed his Seattle law partner, Donworth, for the place. It is intimated that Piles even went so far as to beg the appointment of Donworth, putting the matter up to the president on personal grounds.

The political significance of this fight over the U. S. judgeship is believed by many state politicians to be the first skirmish of the big battle that is to come over the U. S. senatorship next year. Piles is nervously looking after his political fences, there being a rail down here and there.

That Piles will have the fight of his life on his hands next year is a self-evident fact. That John L. Wilson will enter the lists against Piles for the toga that he once lost is regarded as being almost certain. Wilson in spite of certain glaring weaknesses of the man, still has a strong support in every county of the state, and in minds of many unprejudiced republicans he is stronger politically today than is Piles, who in reality is a very weak man and whose record thus far as a senator has proved a disappointment to many of his friends.

But Wilson, it is clearly evident, is not the only man who casts a covetous eye on the toga worn by Piles. It is hinted that Judge Ballinger, now secretary of the interior, has a fond notion that that garment would look well on his own shoulders, although he has made no public statement, of course, as yet, and probably will make none but will quietly place his candidacy in the hands of his friends at the proper time in case his chance looks good.

Congressman Cushman, too, as is well known, has long had an ambition to be a senator, although he may not break into the fight next year. It is generally assumed that Cushman is serving his last term in the house and that he will either retire from the political game next year or make a fight for the senatorship.

What attitude the local Jones contingent will take in the next senatorial fight is problematical. That many of them have no love for Piles, owing to his unfriendly attitude towards Jones last year, is a matter of common knowledge. But who the Jones crowd will support is probably a matter that will not be settled until the senator himself gives his followers a tip.

Sheep shearing is now pretty well finished throughout the valley and the sheared flocks are now being started mountainward in search of green feed. The spring here having been both dry and backward, there is not much grass for the sheep to graze on. Generally speaking, the spring clip of wool is of good quality and the prices offered from from 18 to 21 cents is considered so satisfactory that many dealers have disposed of their clips. A considerable amount of wool is stored in local warehouses.

PEACHES NOT ALL KILLED

Many Trees are Showing Some Bloom—Recent Frosty Nights Thought to Have Worked Some Damage.

The Yakima valley will have a small peach crop, although the bulk was injured by frost. When Prof. W. S. Thornber, of the Washington state college, visited North Yakima with the fruit demonstration train a month ago he said that at times peach trees robbed of their buds by cold would develop leaf buds into fruit buds. This phenomenon is observed here.

W. I. Huxtable, of Nob Hill, reports leaf buds on his trees developing flowers, and that there will be some peaches, although there is no doubt that every original fruit bud was frozen.

Today H. P. James, secretary of the Commercial club, reported that his peaches will bear a partial crop. The trees in this instance are Carmens, an early variety, and Mr. James finds buds developing where every fruit bud was frozen.

At Fort Simcoe, where fruit trees inside the government compound occupy a favored location, the trees are now in full bloom and a good crop from that orchard is expected.

A number of peach growers believing that all hope of a crop this season had gone pruned their trees severely this spring on the theory that they would renew their trees in a no crop year. Later developments may show that such orchardists were rather hasty.

The continued cool nights that we have been having all of the present month has caused fruit growers a good deal of apprehension, especially in districts where the peach, apricot and cherry trees were in bloom. A prospector informed the Democrat Monday that the severe frost of Saturday night in his opinion had done thousands of dollars of damage in that vicinity.

A number of ranchers in the Parker district and around Granger have been experimenting with the fire cure to keep away the threatened frost. Galvanized fire pots heated with crude petroleum are being used, it is said, with good effect in keeping the frost away. The Granger Fruit Growers association last week received a shipment of one carload of fire pots and three of petroleum which were distributed among the members. Each fire pot holds a gallon of the crude oil.

Many Home Seekers Coming.

A conservative estimate of the number of homeseekers who will locate in the state of Washington during 1909 and one which is based on something besides guesswork, is that of A. D. Charlton, assistant general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific railway. Mr. Charlton estimates the number at 50,000, basing his assertion on the business which the Hill system is already handling. The through trains from Chicago on both the Northern Pacific and Great Northern will be an extra inducement to travel, and the railroads are, of course, sparing no effort to bring out the settlers. "Better to bring a homeseeker one way than a tourist for the round trip" might be the motto of the railroad man, who realizes that the upbuilding of the west means permanent business for his line. Eastern Washington, especially the irrigated country, is getting the bulk of the newcomers, according to railroad reports, and this is probably due to the wonderful advertising which the fruit belt has received in recent months. Other communities all over the state are falling in line with the publicity idea, and will make as strong a bid for new citizens as the irrigated country. There is not a county in the state of Washington which does not need new people to settle its land and develop its resources, and they are all going to get a few during 1909.

WE NEVER SLEEP

LOOKING ACROSS GEYSER BASIN AT HORTICULTURAL HALL.

No fairer scene can be offered any place than the outlook from the foot of the Alaska Monument on the grounds of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. Standing directly in front of the great building of the United States Government, the enormous golden eagle on his towering perch of northern gold keeps watch and guard over the most perfect exposition city that has ever been reared. Under his eye are gathered the rarest collection of man's examples of skill and art ever assembled, and these find shelter in a magnificent group of permanent and temporary buildings, whose architectural design and clever construction exemplify the very highest of man's inventive ability.

At night when the long twilight of the northern latitudes close down, the manifold beauties of the spot show their greatest charm. With the fading of day comes the romance of evening and the millions of lamps, made brilliant by electricity, flash their rainbow tints over a land such as fairies might have builded. The rushing, tumbling torrents of the Cascades pour their enormous volume over a bed covered by electric bulbs, and from the quiet pool of Geyser Basin are reflected as in a mirror. Electrolights of French design are lavishly scattered beneath the trees, and from their clear rays the fields of flowers are seen in added hues.

County Superintendent Jacobson is making up a collection of pictures of county school buildings and grounds to be placed in the county A.-Y.-P. exhibit.

E. M. Ford has returned from a winter trip of two months in southern California and Arizona. He says that North Yakima is a better town than any he visited while away.

Joe Bartholet Found Dead.

Joe Bartholet, a well known character about town and a member of one of Yakima's pioneer families, was found dead in his room in the New York lodging house Sunday.

Coroner Rosser was promptly summoned and decided that there was no necessity for an inquest. The fact that a partly used bottle of morphine was found near the bed indicated the manner of death. His relatives say that he suffered much from stomach trouble and kindred ailments and that death was probably caused by his taking an overdose of the drug to relieve pain. The funeral was held Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from the residence of his brother, Frank Bartholet, cashier of the Yakima National bank, with interment in the Catholic cemetery.

Deceased was 48 years of age and had spent most of his life in North Yakima and in Old Yakima. For several years he was engaged in the mercantile business with his brother, Matt, now a prosperous merchant of Ellensburg. Of late years Joe, as everyone called him, took the world easy and was without regular occupation. He had many friends among the old timers who felt much sympathy for him and were shocked to hear of his death. Deceased was a brother of John, Matt and Frank Bartholet and of Mrs. P. T. Gervais, Mrs. O. A. Fechter and of Mrs. Connolly and a cousin of Phil A. and Joseph Dittter.

LOCATE SITES FOR THE CONVICT CAMPS

Committee of State Officials Named to Fix the Exact Places of Operation.

The definite location of the convict camp for quarrying and crushing stone at the Selah gap will probably be made in the very near future. Railroad Commissioner John C. Lawrence, Highway Commissioner J. M. Snow and State Geologist Henry Landis have been named a committee to locate the camps where prisoners from the penitentiary will be employed in getting out material for road building.

These camps have been located in a general way. One is to be at the Selah gap, another is to be near Spokane, and a third will be in the southwestern part of the state. It is the definite location that is now to be determined, so that the work of construction may be begun. This work will have to be rushed if the camps are to be in operation by September as proposed.

Little Trouble at Selah Gap. Little difficulty will be experienced in locating the camp at Selah gap. This was practically decided upon when Prof. Samuel Lancaster and State Geologist Landis were here a couple of months ago. It was then found that the camp could be so located as to be very convenient to the railroad. By running a switch in on one side and then another back from it around the other side, there would be every opportunity to handle the empties and the loaded cars without confusion or trouble.

A number of important matters are to be taken into consideration. Chairman Lawrence has been arranging a conference with traffic officials of all the railroads, at which time he hopes the roads will voluntarily name an actual cost of transportation or even a lower rate for hauling the material, and will agree to some plan of exchange of traffic under which material from any camp will be delivered at slight expense to any railroad station in the state.

Traffic Agreement Necessary. It is self evident that the camp sites selected cannot be on all the roads, and yet that the benefit of the camp may inure to all parts of the state it is necessary the railroads make some kind of arrangement for physical connection of tracks to secure direct hauls and also provide some switching charges. If this would apply only to road material the agreement could be readily made, but the companies fear that if physical connection is made with competing lines and low switching charges are announced all kinds of traffic would be diverted.

But it is recognized that it is important for the success of the plan that the road material be hauled cheaply. It is hoped that the roads will offer a rate down to actual cost, or even cheaper. The claim is made that good roads are of as much importance to the railroads as to any one.

Wash for Nursery Stock. Dipping nursery stock in lime-sulphur wash or other insecticides has recently been much advocated as a substitute for fumigation with hydrocyanic acid gas. The station at Geneva, N. Y., finds, however, that this treatment, if used at all, must be handled with care to secure scale destruction without injuring the trees. With the sulphur wash, exposure of the trees for too long a time or at too high temperature resulted in injury; while with any of the materials used, exposure of the roots to the mixture resulted in serious injury to the stock. For nurserymen the station still recommends fumigation as most effective and least liable to injury, and would advise orchardists to use the lime-sulphur as a spray after the trees are set, rather than as a dip when they are received.—Farm Journal.

DRY LAND OWNERS IN BIG COMPANY

North Yakima several days in the interests of the Land Owners' association of the Horse Heaven plateau. Mr. Mineah was formerly of Eagle Grove, Ia., where he was engaged in the lumber, grain and coal business. Several years ago he became interested in lands on the plateau near Prosser, and he has now given up his business in the middle west and devotes his entire time to farm lands and timber in this state.

Mr. Mineah has been one of the leaders in the movement to form the land owners' association. He, with others, saw that the dry land farmers would be greatly helped by an organization purely for mutual benefit. The work of preliminary organization was taken up and it has been going forward with marked success. Owners of 75,000 acres have already joined the association, and it is now on a solid basis, although only about one-tenth of the owners have been seen.

To Promote Irrigation. The association is a stock concern and each land owner coming in subscribes 25 for each quarter section of land owned by him. Each share of stock belongs to the land. The purpose of the association is given as follows: "Encouraging, promoting and hastening the irrigation of lands in Horse Heaven, for the mutual protection of ourselves and our interests, and for securing the best possible equitable contract between ourselves and such party as may wish to put in an irrigation canal covering our lands."

It is believed that if there is a close association of land owners along the Horse Heaven plateau, which will take care of the contracts and other work incident to the opening of the irrigation of the country, that many delays will be avoided that would be inevitable if it were necessary to go to each individual for contracts. Until irrigation is established it is the purpose of this association to promote the interests of the members by encouraging better dry land farming.

Work on Big Ditch. Already work is under way looking to the irrigation of this plateau. The Klickitat Irrigation and Power company has made surveys for the building of a canal about 100 miles in length. The water supply will be received up near Mt. Adams, and the canal will end above the Columbia river in Benton county. It is estimated that the big ditch will irrigate 38 townships, or 877,800 acres. Of this immense body Yakima county has three townships, Klickitat county 20, and Benton county 15. In addition to a portion of Yakima county being watered by this canal there are a number of prominent North Yakima men interested in the project, either being directly connected with the irrigation company, or as land owners on the Horse Heaven plateau.

SCHOOL SECTION.

Willis Baker returned to his home Saturday. He expects to soon move his family here on his farm to live.

The little son of Chas. Dillon is quite ill with gripe. This is the second sick spell the little fellow has had this spring.

C. E. Lasey and family of Long Prairie, Minn., arrived Saturday to spend the summer with D. L. Lasey, his brother.

Misses Edith and Clara Woolsey of the Ahtanum visited a few days with Mrs. Ed Evans, a sister of the young ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Walters entertained several friends and neighbors Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Walters were quietly married in town Wednesday morning. They received a number of useful and handsome presents. A dainty lunch was served by Misses Minnie and Cora Dillon, nieces of the bride.

LOWER NACHES.

The music at the church Easter morning was fine, a rare treat. Miss Whitmore was accompanied by Granville Stice and Harry White, violinists. The program in the Sunday school was good and of course the display of millinery was very attractive to the on-looker.

Mr. Goodman has moved with his family to Naches City, having rented his ranch to Mr. Sampson, who has also sold ten acres of his ranch.

Mr. Brooks' daughter, Mrs. Shumack, and daughter Mildred, are here for a visit. Mr. Shumack will come as soon as he gets his affairs straightened out.

The Rev. Whitmore had a family dinner Sunday, Easter.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. A. H. Bair and daughter are rapidly mending from their sickness.

Mrs. F. A. Benson's father and mother from Boston are here on a visit for the summer.

"Why we observe the Lord's day," will be the topic of Rev. Whitmore's sermon next Sunday morning. It will also be the topic for the C. E. meeting in the evening. Rev. Whitmore will be the leader. This is a very interesting and instructive subject and you cannot afford to miss it.

Mr. Matt Cramer is putting up a five roomy barn.

Miss Florence White met with a very painful accident Arbor day. While the room bungalow on his ranch, also a school children were gathering flowers one of the boys threw a stone, which struck her glasses, driving some pieces of glass into her right eye. She was attended by a specialist and it is believed her sight will be saved.

Mr. Chris Hensman and family will leave the last of this week for the south, where they will make their home. Their friends wish them success in their new home.

Mr. E. W. Fedderly of Minnesota, a brother of Mrs. Geo. E. Maltby is here. He will buy a ranch and make his home here.

Miss Bertha Kinney is sick at her home. We hear she is improving. Jay Wardwell has moved into his new home. At present he is his own house-keeper.

Ed Kershaw sold the 20 acres of his ranch which lies on the hill to an eastern man last week, at $375 per acre. This is considered a good trade. Ed has set the ranch out to trees and will have the crops raised this year, about 10 acres of potatoes, 10 acres of alfalfa. This 20 joins the fruit ranch of Mrs. W. L. Wright, which she paid for with the first crop she raised, a few years ago.

Mr. Osburn Russell of North Yakima was a visitor in the valley Monday, looking over his ranch here and, incidentally, keeping his eye open for any other good buy that might suit him.

MOXEE.

The two Hill boys, Floyd and Clell, are quite sick with la gripe. A doctor was called Monday but they are better at present. A general epidemic of la gripe and colds seems to have taken hold in the valley.

Mr. Will Gerritsen is setting out a new orchard on his 20 acres.

A program, a basket social and a general good time is being planned by the pupils of the Holland school, to take place next Friday evening. The general public are cordially invited to be present.

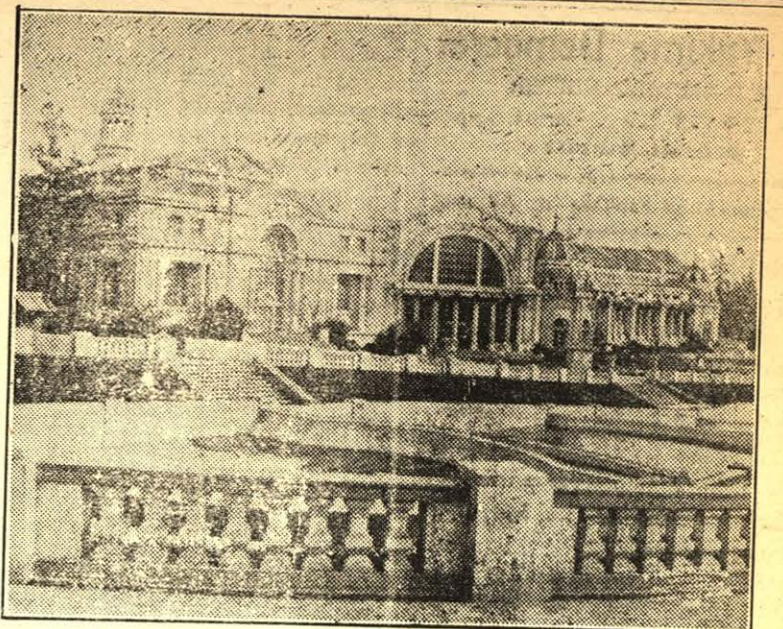

Willie Sonne is now working in town at the box factory.

Will Foster is hauling lumber for buildings on his dry land ranch.

The Moxee Improvement club met Tuesday night at the Holland school house. The principal question discussed was the Moxee telephone line. John Wayneburg, Arthur Champoux, C. Smith, Emil, Alward and J. J. Watter-son were appointed a committee to secure subscribers and to take the preliminary steps to incorporate a new company. They propose to either buy out the present company or to form an independent farmers' line.

PRESIDENT WANTS TO VISIT PACIFIC COAST

Washington, April 17.—Following his belief that the chief executive of the nation should keep in as close touch with the people as the duties and requirements of the office admit, President Taft will, if congress will provide the necessary funds, make a several months tour, covering the west and Alaska. This summer he will spend a month or two at his summer home at Woodbury Point, Beverly, Mass. He

ORIENTAL PALACE AND MANUFACTURERS BUILDING.

The Palace of Oriental Exhibits and Manufacturers Building have a frontage on Cascade Court and Geyser Basin and look across at Foreign Exhibits and Agricultural Palaces; Yukon Avenue separates these magnificent display buildings, and in the back ground the state buildings of Oregon and California are located.

Construction work on these buildings was completed last year and exhibits are being received and placed in position. The Oriental Palace will house the most valuable collection of Far Eastern art that has ever been sent from the Orient, and will present displays from Japan, China, India, Ceylon, Straits Settlements, French Indo China, Borneo, Java and all the eastern countries of Asia.

The Manufacturers building encloses a vast amount of exhibit space and every foot of this has been engaged for display purposes by domestic and foreign manufacturers. The interest manifested in this department of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition is world-wide and competitive displays will be general and comprehensive. Exhibits are being daily received and the heavy work of installation is rapidly being accomplished.

will then devote most of his vacation to golfing and motoring and perhaps take a short cruise along the northern coast. The reassembled Atlantic fleet of 16 battleships will maneuver off the New England coast during the summer and the president undoubtedly wants to see some of the work of the ironclads.

Will Visit Alaska. If Taft goes west he will include Alaska in the journey, sailing from Seattle. No president has ever visited the far northern territory of the United States. The president is particularly anxious to attend the following gatherings: The annual encampment of the G. A. R. at Salt Lake; the Trans-Mississippi congress at Denver; the National Irrigation congress at Spokane; the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle. In addition to this he has prepared a trip along the Pacific coast.

Mr. Taft's tentative plans include a long swing through the southwest and the heart of the south itself. Mrs. Taft, who is as fond of traveling as her husband, would accompany the president on the trip.

The Checking Account for the Farmer

Many farmers keep a checking account with us regularly because it is a great help and convenience in their every day business.

With a checking account you can tell exactly the total amount of your receipts and expenditures for each month for the entire year. When you sell your farm products, deposit your money in the Bank, subject to check. The obligations you have can be cancelled by check. When you make a purchase, pay by check.

We invite you to try this system.

STATE CAPITOL LANDS.

Joe Smith, the able Olympian correspondent of the Spokesman-Review, shows up very clearly in that paper the sinister movement that is behind the scheme to sell off the state lands in order to build a new state capitol that is really not required at this time.

Mr. Smith fully corroborates the opinion expressed by this paper several weeks ago that this scheme to have the state sell off its capitol lands was initiated by the big timber interests, by men who have already succeeded in gobbling up nearly all the valuable timber lands of the state at a mere fraction of their real value. As most of the big tracts that are left are held by the state, principally within the capitol land grant, these timber pirates wish to secure that these timber lands in order to secure the whole available supply. Then they would be enabled to fix the price of stumpage and of lumber to suit themselves. As the value of choice timber lands are steadily advancing in value, naturally these timber lords are anxious to buy now.

Of course, the people of Olympia fall in with this scheme, for its realization means water on their wheel. It means for them that the state would build in their city probably a two million dollar palace for state purposes that would for all time to come settle the long troublesome question of the state capitol location. Therefore in their selfish scheme the timber barons have in Olympia an invaluable ally, for the average Olympia citizen is an expert lobbyist and well knows how to bring the proper degree of pressure to bear upon hesitating state officials.

But this unholy scheme ought not to succeed, but if it does the people will know where to lay the responsibility, which will be at the door of Gov. Hay and his capitol commission.

If the commission should conclude to sell off during the present year sufficient of the segregated lands of the grant to pay off the present capitol fund indebtedness, and thus stop the outrageous increase of interest, public sentiment would undoubtedly say Amen. This was unquestionably what most of the legislators had in mind when they voted for the new law.

There are said to be a number of small and isolated tracts within the grant that the state might sell now profitably. For the most part such tracts are contiguous to timber land owned by individuals or the smaller lumber companies. In many cases the surrounding timber has been cut off, leaving that of the state exposed to fire and perhaps total loss. It would be good business policy for the state to sell such lands and pay its debts, but it should stop at that for the present.

OUR HAMILTONIAN GOVERNOR.

Gov. Hay is accused of advocating a scheme to make all state officers other than governor and lieutenant governor appointive rather than elective, his theory being that responsibility would thus be centered in the governor, who should name all of his assistants, just as the president of the United States does with his cabinet. So enthusiastic is the new governor said to be over his new scheme that he is said to consider the matter of calling a special session of the legislature (which God forbid) in order to have his new idea submitted to the people in the form of a constitutional amendment at the next election.

Gov. Hay is a new man in public life and, of course, has not as yet been well seasoned. Other wise he would not make such a preposterous proposal to the people of this state. Is the governor so guileless as to assume that the people of this state will yield up a sacred birthright to him and his successors? Well, hardly! Shades of Alexander Hamilton and John Marshall! But it is doubtful if even those great men ever advocated a scheme of centralization and one man power so sweeping as this.

Of course, what the governor unquestionably has in mind is the fact that several of the present state officers serving with him are misfits and really ought not to be there. Doubtless this is true, for the people are beginning to take a keener interest in public affairs as a purely defensive measure and in their own good time they will probably clean the whole gang out. In the meantime it is the governor's business to keep an eye on them. The governor's principal complaint is that a majority of the voters have no acquaintance with the multitude of candidates and are therefore apt to make serious mistakes in the selection of state officials. Yes, that is true, but are not such mistakes as apt to include the governor and the lieutenant as well as subordinate officials? Does not the political history of this state prove such to be a fact? The state's voting population is to some extent transient and it is largely new. As time goes on and conditions become more settled this condition will largely remedy itself.

Evidently our new governor is a Hamiltonian, both in theory and in sympathy, for he clearly distrusts the people and their ability to choose their public servants wisely. But his frankness in publicly saying so is refreshing, to say the least, for it is not the way of the ordinary politician.

STOP WHEAT GAMBLING.

A number of petitions have recently been forwarded to congress from various organizations throughout the country asking that body to pass a law absolutely prohibiting future gambling in wheat. The demand for such legislation at this time is, of course, due to the recent terrific gambling in the Chicago wheat pit, due largely to the efforts of Patten, the bull king, and his crowd to corner that cereal. The result of all this manipulation has forced wheat to a higher figure than it had previously reached for a period of 25 years and causing more than a corresponding advance in the price of flour.

There can be no doubt but that congress should pass such a law if it has the power. Those Chicago wheat pit gamblers should not be permitted to gamble in the principal foodstuff of the people, for with wheat and flour at a normal price millions of people find it hard enough to buy bread in this country. The claim of the bull gamblers that their forcing up the price of wheat to an unusual level is a great benefit to the wheat growers should be taken with a good deal of salt as the fact is, according to government reports, not five per cent of last year's wheat crop was left in the hands of growers on March 1 of this year.

The government should find some way to stop gambling in wheat.

The democrats of the senate desire to engraft an income tax amendment on the pending tariff bill. Bailey of Texas estimates that the government might procure additional revenue to the amount of one hundred million dollars per annum in this way. But Aldrich and his crowd don't want revenue bad enough to raise it in that way. That would be to make the rich pay it, which would be an outrage on the republican scheme of things. They would prefer to make the common herd pay it all on what they eat and wear and are forced to have.

The "daylight" saloon law is now in operation in Nebraska. This law fixes the hours for the operation of saloons in that state as between 7 a. m. and 8 p. m., which is about two hours longer than the ordinary business runs. It is believed that the law will work successfully and that it will prove a good regulative measure. The average boozier has long been inclined to wait for the cover of darkness in order to get drunk. The daylight law may help to make that practice unfashionable.

The Schively investigation so far has not proceeded in a manner calculated to inspire the people with confidence that justice will be done and the state's interests will be protected. Valuable time was lost in getting started, which seems to have been a trick on the part of Chairman Allen to give his friend more time to get his office records in shape. If Schively is not guilty, as charged, he really has nothing to fear, but if guilty, as many believe, he should be exposed and promptly fired.

The present city administration should cease its petty bickering and get down to business. Find a solution of the water supply question, gentlemen! Improve and extend the sewer facilities and see that the town is put in a sanitary condition and kept that way.

The people are not clamoring for a city hall this year and it would be well to allow the city hall building proposition go over until the people have had an opportunity to pass on that question in the ensuing election.

Col. Lesh, of weather prophet fame, will not adorn the high station of collector of internal revenue which "Boss" Crocker is forced to relinquish at the instigation of Senator Jones, and therefore hangs a tale. The tale goes away back to 1894 when Lesh wrested a coveted legislative nomination from the future senator. It is possible that Col. Robertson, the weather prophet's political backer, is not familiar with that interesting bit of ancient history.

"Uncle Harve" Scott, the able and venerable editor of the Oregonian, has been offered the Mexican mission by President Taft. But the chances are that the old man won't have it. A man who has for 40 years conducted a newspaper like the "Thunderer" would gain nothing by quitting his job and going to Mexico to play at the job of being a minister. Besides, Uncle Harve don't know how to swear in the Spanish lingo.

Sentiment in Seattle seems to be divided as to whether or not the exposition should be kept open on Sundays, and the Times is making desperate efforts to settle the matter. We don't know, but we suppose the crux of the argument is as to whether or not it will pay. Speaking for the visiting public, we should say keep the fair open on Sundays by all means, but cut out the fakirs and the noisy amusements.

The Irishman who on landing in New York 50 years ago remarked that "the rich ride in chaises," would in this day of rubber tires naturally conclude that they ride in automobiles, as well as some who are not so rich. And North Yakima, by the way, sage brush metropolis though it may be, probably has as many of the "bubble" wagons according to population as any town in the country.

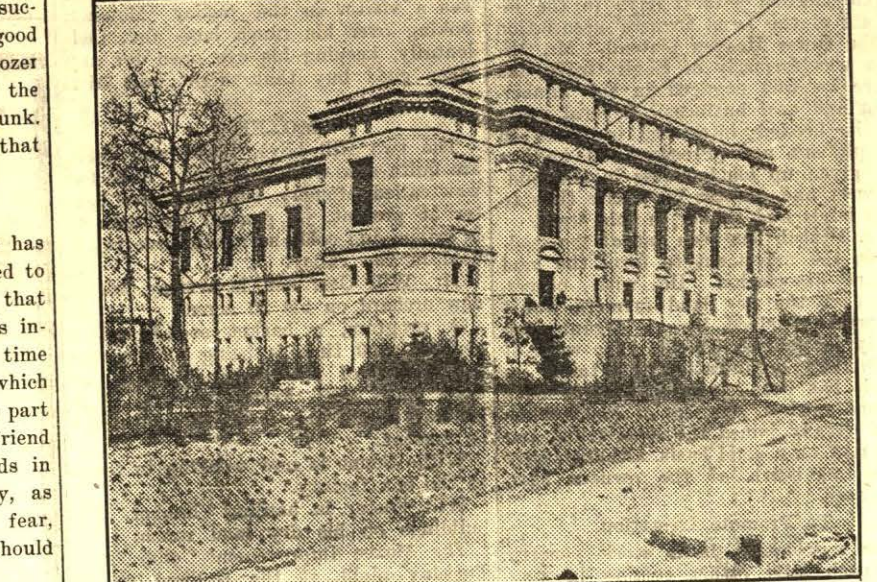

Rev. Scoville, evangelist, succeeded in raising the sum of $25,000 last Sunday for the benefit of the Christian church. Certainly the reverend gentleman is entitled to the belt as a successful financial promoter. Some people here are of the opinion that the trolley line people and the A.-Y.-P. committee might properly make a bid for the services of such an able financier.

The cost of living is getting so high in this country that it will soon seem like folly for a man to live at all unless he has the price in his pocket. Year by year conditions seem to get harder for the rank and file in this country, no matter how hard republican papers and republican orators lie about the situation.

The late legislature passed a law requiring members of the supreme court to wear gowns, much to the disgust of the judiciary. Now if the legislature had amended the act to require its own members to don petticoats not so many people would be inclined to doubt the wisdom of it.

Getting that $25,000 A.-Y.-P. fund isn't really as easy as it looked. But the money will be raised, for it simply must be. Arrangements have gone too far now to stop. Put your money into the pot, gentlemen, and look pleasant. You will find it a good investment.

Spokane is inviting everybody to come to that city next August to help entertain the National Irrigation conference.

THE AUDITORIUM.

The Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle, occupying 250 acres of the campus of the University of Washington, will result in benefits for Washington's seat of learning that the University could not have hoped to secure in many years, had not the great fair of 1909 been planned. So the exposition that will exploit Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippines and emphasize the importance of the growing trade with the Orient will leave, after its gates have closed, a large number of permanent structures to constantly remind the people of the Northwest of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition and the place it will occupy in the history of the Pacific as the medium through which one-half of the world was brought in such close touch with the other and a tremendous impetus to commercial intercourse given.

Seven buildings on the exposition grounds will be left for use of the University and the auditorium, one of the finest of this group, cost the State of Washington more than $300,000. While the exposition is in progress this building will be used for conventions, congresses and conferences, and its hundreds of seats were in place and the building turned over to the exposition management three months before the opening date of the fair.

gress. Since Spokane has induced the state to foot the bill perhaps we may as well accept.

The Post-Intelligencer editorially exults over the downfall of "Boss" Crocker, ditto Yakima Republic. How these republicans do love one another!

The baseball season is now open and the daily papers will have something to fill up on. So perhaps they won't miss Teddy so much.

ROAD FOUND TO BE IN GOOD CONDITION

County Commissioner W. F. Meloy made a trip over his section of the road in Yakima county that will be used in the great New York-Seattle automobile race this summer. He was taken in an automobile from North Yakima to Ellensburg and return by Lee Tittle.

When asked as to the condition of the road, he replied that the trip back from Ellensburg had been made in two hours and 45 minutes, and he said he thought that indicated that the roads are in very good condition. This is good news to those who are especially interested in this race and in automobiling in general, for it is known that the road north from North Yakima is the one which will require the greatest amount of repairing in preparation for the race.

In view of the fact that the entire road from here to Ellensburg is found in such good condition it is possible that a number of the Knights of Columbus will make the trip to Ellensburg by automobile on April 25 for the institution of the new council there on that date.

DEFER APPOINTMENTS

The committee having charge of the appointments of a superintendent and assistant superintendents for the Yakima county building at the A.-Y.-P. exposition, deferred its report to the general committee Saturday, but will announce its selections at another meeting of the county committee which is called for 12:30 next Friday afternoon. This committee has full power to make its own appointments without consulting the general committee. It will meet at 10:30 Friday morning and have a report ready for the general meeting.

Yakima Day Committee.
 A committee composed of E. G. Peck, H. J. O. Pohl and W. P. Romans, was appointed to have charge of the program on Yakima valley day and Yakima county day at the exposition. It will be the committee's duty to manage both affairs all the way through.

W. P. Romans, who has been preparing panoramic views of the Yakima valley, was appointed a committee of one to meet J. A. McCormick, the official photographer for the fair commission, when he visits North Yakima this week. A proposition will be submitted to have lantern slides and illustrated lectures in the good roads building and at other suitable places, typical of the Yakima valley.

300,000 Pamphlets.
 E. E. Sampson, formerly manager of the Horticultural Union, tendered his resignation, as he is moving away, and M. N. Richards, another former manager of the union, was appointed to fill the vacancy.

The advertising committee was authorized to have 300,000 small pamphlets, giving views and information about Yakima county, and 10,000 large ones, on a more elaborate scale, printed and prepared for distribution.

A PORTION OF THE CASCADE COURT.

The Palace of Oriental Exhibits forms one of the twelve mammoth display buildings first completed by the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. Its lines are in pleasing contrast to the Agricultural and Manufacturers buildings, with which they are grouped, and their position overlooks the beautiful formal gardens and water display of the Cascades and Geyser Basin.

The exhibit placed within the walls of the Oriental building constitutes one of the most gorgeous displays of Far Eastern art and manufactured articles ever shipped from the Orient, and is bewildering in beauty and extent. Not a country of Asia is without representation, and treasures of old and modern art, never before permitted to leave the lands in which they were created, will be seen for the first time in the land of the Occident. The matter of arrangement of the Oriental exhibit has been placed in the hands of the most competent and artistic men at command and its display will be worthy of the magnificent collection.

About the Oriental building are gathered the great buildings housing the United States exhibit and the Alaska, Hawaiian and Philippine displays. One of the largest bandstands is within close distance, and from its doors the most noted musical organizations of the world will be heard daily.

RESTORATION OF LAND

People in this section of the state who are interested in the withdrawal and restoration of public lands believe that the policy of the present administration favors the restoration of as much of the public land as possible, so that it may be entered by actual settlers. Some time ago R. A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, restored to public entry about 500,000 acres of land that had been withdrawn in Idaho. Another large restoration has just been made according to the following dispatch just received from Washington: "More than 1,000,000 acres of land were today restored to the public domain by Secretary Ballinger. Of this total acreage restored 400,000 acres are in the Billings and Bozeman land districts in Montana; 250,000 in the Bozeman, Great Falls and Helena land districts, also in Montana, and 327,000 acres in the Evanston land district in Wyoming."

This policy of the administration leads some of the local people to believe that the next restoration may affect the North Yakima land district, by which much of the land that has been withdrawn in this section may be restored to public entry.

Invented Life Preserver.

Howard Crane, a former Yakima boy but for several years a resident of Seattle, has recently invented an automatic life preserver which is said to be far superior to anything now in use. The new invention has been patented both in the United States and in foreign countries.

A few years ago Mr. Crane's brother was lost at sea, being a member of the crew of the ill-starred steamer Valencia, which went down off the west coast of Vancouver Island. As a result of that wreck Mr. Crane worked out his idea successfully.

EXPRESSION OF CONDOLENCE.

Local Grand Army Post on Life and Services of S. G. Cosgrove.

The veterans of Mead Post No. 9, department of Washington and Alaska, Grand Army of the Republic, express themselves on the character and death of their comrade, Hon. Samuel G. Cosgrove, governor of the state of Washington.

It is with deep and sincere sorrow that we note the passing of this exemplary and noble man. And yet from the midst of our sense of loss and bereavement we derive a real and abiding comfort in being able to point all classes of men to his stainless, successful and honorable life as worthy of emulation by all classes of men. We point with pleasure to his early and hearty acceptance of Christ as his Savior and Sovereign, in which faith he stood unwaveringly to the end of life.

We see with feelings of commendation how our comrade in his early manhood bravely turned his back upon the frivolous pleasures and the deteriorating vices of "society" and bent his energies unflinchingly—meanwhile supporting himself—to the acquisition of a college education. Upon this (let the young men take notice) in connection with his Christianity, he built his subsequent career of success and usefulness.

When through college he wisely and appropriately turned his attention to teaching—to an active employment of the intellectual capital he had for years been storing up in himself.

It was in these early days so full of ambitions and hope to a young man, that his country was in deep distress, her life being assailed by mighty conspirators, and he flew to her rescue and together with over a million of other threw himself into the breach to die, if need be, that our country might live. Without attempting details of his military career, it is sufficient here to note the fact that it was soldierly and honorable.

In early life our comrade also chose the legal profession and studied law. Coming to the state of Washington and settling at Pomeroy in an early day, his superior mental endowment, his legal lore and practice, and his sterling integrity and nobility of character, soon stamped him as a leader in his community and also as an important factor in the politics and affairs of the state. He served as a member of the constitutional convention that framed the constitution of the state of Washington. As department commander of the department of Washington and Alaska of the Grand Army of the Republic, our lamented comrade, Governor Samuel G. Cosgrove, is credited with having greatly helped to shape for the better the destinies of the department.

He was also successful as a business man, acquiring a very considerable fortune. For a number of years he aspired to the position of governor of the state of Washington, and though defeated a number of times in nominating conventions, under the "primary law," the "people," independent of "machine politicians," nominated and elected him triumphantly at the last election to the highest position in the gift of the people.

But it seems while our lamented comrade had been fighting bravely in every position in life for that which is honorable and right, insidious disease had been gnawing at his vitals, and at the very point of his greatest victory, election as governor, utterly dethroned him.

And although several months of life still remained to him during which he made a heroic fight for continued life, aided by all the science and art of the medical profession and the kindly ministrations of sympathizing friends, all was in vain. His work was done, and on March 29, 1909, at Paso Robles, California, he sank into the sweet rest of the last long sleep.

We will meet him again. In the meantime his influence for real nobility abides with us veterans who are so soon to follow him into the great unknown.

His life stands out as worthy of imitation by young men and old.

The sincere condolence of the veterans of Mead Post are hereby extended to the bereaved wife and children of our departed comrade.

SELF CONTROL.

It is One of the Perfections of the Gentleman.

A gentleman is gentle, slow to surmise evil, slow to take offense and slower still to give it. A gentleman subdues his feelings and controls his speech. It is sometimes said of a man that "he can be a gentleman if he wants to be," but a man who can be a gentleman when he wants never wants to be anything else, says the Pittsburg Press.

In the cultivation of courtesy self respect must play a prominent part. We must never pass for more than the value we place upon ourselves. To respect others we must first respect ourselves. Whittier said, "I felt that I was in the world to do something, and I thought I must."

One of the perfections of the gallant man lies in the supremacy of self control. Herbert Spencer, speaking of this important attitude of man as a moral being, said, "Not to be impulsive, not to be spurred hither and thither by each desire that in turn comes uppermost, but to be self contained, self balanced, governed by the joint decision of the feelings in council assembled, before which every action shall have been fully debated and calmly determined—that it is which education, moral education at least, strives to produce."

Nelson in Wolsey's Tomb.

Lord Nelson's sarcophagus in St. Paul's cathedral has been aptly described as a secondhand national tomb, for it was originally constructed for another great Englishman, Cardinal Wolsey. Wolsey had cherished an ambition to be buried within the precincts of Windsor castle and caused his sarcophagus to be carved by one of the most famous sculptors of his time. But Wolsey died in disgrace, and the sarcophagus remained empty at Windsor until Nelson's death, when it was thriftily employed to hold the remains of the hero of Trafalgar.

Old Time Punishment.

In "Pike's History of Crimes," volume 1, page 226, is found the following copy of the sentence of an old time traitor: "It is the order of the court that for your treason you be drawn and hanged and beheaded and that your heart, bowels and entrails, from whence come your traitorous thoughts, be torn out and burned to ashes and that the ashes be scattered to the four winds and that your body be afterward cut into four quarters."

Garden Lanterns.

The noted Japanese gardens, famous for their beauty, owe much of their charm to the quaint lanterns which are used in great profusion. The best of their garden lanterns are made of bronze after quaint native designs. Some of them are richly carved and are of great intrinsic value. Many of these lanterns are of great antiquity, and the best examples are seen at Nikko, famous for its exquisite bronzes.

Contest Notice.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office.

North Yakima, Washington, April 8, 1909.

A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by Collin W. Henderson, contestant, against Homestead Entry No. 5912, made February 10, 1908, for Lot 1 and S½NW¼, Range 17 E. W. M., by William Kelly, contestee, in which it is alleged that said William Kelly has wholly failed since making the said entry to establish his residence upon said land or at any time at all; that he has failed to erect any kind of a dwelling house thereon or any buildings thereon since making said entry, or at any time at all, and has wholly failed to maintain his residence thereon and has abandoned said land; that since the date of said entry and prior to the time of filing this affidavit of contest, the said William Kelly presented to the United States land office at North Yakima, Wash., his application supported by affidavit, asking for a leave of absence from said land, and the same was granted by the Register and Receiver; that at the time of asking for said leave of absence the said William Kelly had wholly failed to establish his residence upon said land and had not maintained his residence thereon from the time of making said entry to the time of receiving said leave of absence; that the said leave of absence was fraudulently obtained in that the statements contained in his said affidavit were false and untrue and said leave of absence was secured by reason of the facts, among others, that he alleged that he had established his residence upon said land, when in truth and in fact, he had not and had wholly failed to comply with the law entitling him to a leave of absence, said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond, and offer evidence touching said allegation at 10 o'clock a. m. on May 17, 1909, before the Register and Receiver at the United States land office in North Yakima, Washington.

The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed March 26, 1909, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given by due and proper publication.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

Brief Record of Local Happenings for the Week in North Yakima and Vicinity.

G. W. Hewitt, a Cowiche valley rancher whose family has been living in this city for several months, is reported to have attempted to end his earthly troubles by the old time laudanum route Monday night. However, he appears to have taken an overdose of the drug and with it a quantity of aconite. Either the combined does was too strong or else the two poisons counteracted each other, for the unhappy man was pulled through by the attending physicians without serious trouble. The man is said to have been upset owing to trouble with his wife, who is said to have disappeared from home recently. The couple have three small children.

Hon. A. J. Splawn is engaged in setting out an extensive orchard this spring on his Cowiche ranch. It seems a little odd, Mr. Splawn admits, that an old time cow man like himself should finally catch the fruit growing fever but it is a fact, just the same and he proposes to show his friends that he knows how to bring up an orchard as well as a cow family.

The position of assistant pastor of the First Baptist church has been offered Rev. Charles H. Hunt, the lawyer-evangelist. It is thought that Mr. Hunt, who is at present in the east, will respond to the call. This gentleman has recently made some considerable investments in the Parker Heights district, but expects to reside in North Yakima.

Dr. B. S. Scott, formerly a well known dentist of Tacoma, says that Yakima looks good to him and he has therefore concluded to open a dental office here and will be located in the Miller building. Dr. Scott is an experienced and capable dentist and the Democrat bespeaks for him a share of the public patronage.

Chief of Police Story says that he proposes to enforce the ordinance requiring people in driving on city streets to keep to the right. Carelessness in this respect frequently leads to confusion and accident. The chief has grown weary of warning careless drivers and has ordered his men to make arrests hereafter when they see the ordinance violated. So look out, Mr. Driver.

The Mabton town council Monday evening rejected the application for a franchise made by the Yakima Valley Power company, which has constructed a transmission line from here to Kennewick. The council considered the terms offered for light service as unreasonable.

Dr. Rossiter, who has been taking a post graduate course at Vienna, is now on his way home.

A. E. Chapman, president of the board of trade of Grand Rapids, Mich., is here this week looking over the country.

F. E. Clark, a Parker rancher, who was injured by a runaway team Wednesday, was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital. His injuries while painful are not believed to be serious.

The sub-committee on advertising of the A.-Y.-P. committee held a session in this city Wednesday. The committee, which is composed of Messrs. Gilbert, Bailey and James, has decided to issue 40,000 small booklets and 10,000 pamphlets beautifully illustrated and filled with selected descriptive matter of the Yakima country for distribution at the exposition.

Hattie Peterson of this city has filed an action for divorce against her husband, Jonas Peterson, alleging drunkenness and inhuman treatment.

Mayor C. W. Grant of Toppenish, who has been spending the winter in California, returned recently.

Geo. W. Cary, who with his family has been living at Los Angeles for several months past, returned Wednesday. Mrs. Cary and her daughters will remain there for some time yet.

The reclamation service people are advertising for laborers to work on the Tieton ditch project.

A marriage license was issued on Wednesday to Guy E. Wilcox and Miss Grace Taylor, both of Sunnyside.

Judge Preble held court at Ellensburg this week for Judge Kauffman.

Mrs. C. H. Crane, who spent the winter with her sons at Tacoma and Seattle, has returned home.

Phil Stanton of Cle Elum was in the city Monday. Mr. Stanton says that the snow in the mountains is melting very slowly this spring and that he does not expect to be able to start his Cle Elum-Fish Lake stage line before May 15. However, this is not bad sort of news from the standpoint of Yakima irrigators.

Mrs. J. F. Crittenden, wife of a pioneer resident of Zillah, died Sunday, April 18, the funeral being held Tuesday. Deceased, a most estimable woman, leaves a husband and three children to mourn her loss.

Editor M. E. Randell of the Ellensburg Localizer was in North Yakima Monday evening in attendance on the irrigation congress meeting.

Dudley Eshelman of Tacoma has been a North Yakima visitor this week, having come over to attend the Scoville revival meetings.

E. E. Sampson and family left here Tuesday for their future home at Vernon, B. C., where Mr. Sampson has accepted a position as manager of the horticultural union at that place.

Attorney Floyd Hatfield was in the city Monday evening to attend the irrigation congress meeting. Mr. Hatfield is well pleased with Toppenish and its prospects and with his partner, Mr. Lee, is building up a very lucrative practice there.

Matt Bartholet of Ellensburg was called here Sunday on account of the death of his brother, Joe Bartholet.

Frank Williams, father of the modern Toppenish, is preparing to erect a handsome concrete business building in that thriving burg. Architect Thompson of this city made the plans.

About 40 business men attended the second weekly luncheon at the Commercial club Tuesday. After the inner man had been provided for short but felicitous addresses were delivered by Rev. E. A. King of Seattle, Judge Hunt and others.

Wallis Williams is the latest victim of the automobile fever and has ordered a $2400 "White Steamer," which will arrive next week.

Frank L. Symons and Miss Bertha McClanahan, both of Wapato, were married by Justice Hunt Tuesday.

A number of Yakima men made an automobile trip to White Bluffs Sunday, the return home being made in four hours. The visitors report that White Bluffs and surrounding country are developing rapidly.

The expenses of North Yakima for the month of March were greater than during any previous month of the city's entire history, the total being $12,491.12. The increase in expenditures is charged up principally to the street and ditch department.

Dr. C. B. Alexander, B. H. Harris and B. C. Dunn have filed articles of incorporation of the Mabton hospital association, the capital stock of which is $5000. The incorporators are opening a hospital at Mabton, an institution undoubtedly needed in that part of the valley.

Louis Blumenthal, the well known Jewish proprietor of the Red Front clothing store, died at his home, 217 First street, April 16, from kidney trouble. Deceased is survived by a widow and three sons. The remains were taken to Portland for interment.

Local bakers have increased the price of bread, owing to the advance in the cost of flour, they say. Hereafter there will either be an advance of one to two cents on the loaf or else a material reduction in the size of the loaves.

E. L. Roney has purchased Dr. Lowther's interest in Fancy Fruit and is preparing to make a number of improvements in that journal.

THE CITY COUNCIL

The Usual Talkfest Indulged In—The Big 4, Meigs, Miller, Shaw and Wright Control Body.

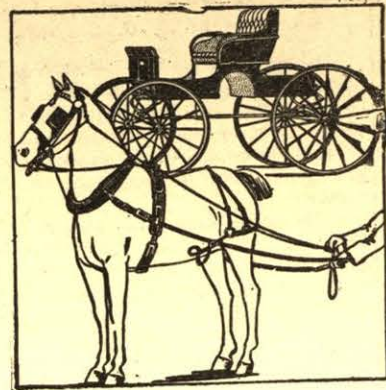

The city "dads" met in regular session Monday evening.

The application of the North Yakima & Valley railway company for a franchise across the north end of the city along G street was read and referred without comment. The introduction of the franchise was immediately followed by the reading of two remonstrances against granting such a franchise. The first protest was signed by some 90 alleged owners of north end property and the second by 27. The application and remonstrances alike went over to the next meeting.

Attorney Fred Parker addressed the council and asked that the liquor license standing in the name of J. W. Byrnes, late proprietor of the Palace saloon, be not revoked. Mr. Parker explained that Mr. Byrnes had died since the alleged violation of law had taken place and had left his family in straitened circumstances. The widow, he said, asked that she be allowed to continue the business until it could be closed out to advantage and would put a responsible man in charge of the saloon. After the usual talkfest the council decided not to revoke the license. The late proprietor had been accused of violating the law by keeping his saloon open on Sundays.

A petition, said to have been numerous signed by residents of Modern addition to have West C street straightened, was turned down without ceremony by the council, the sentiment of that body being that if the Modern addition people desire favors from the council they must first come into the city, which they declined to do last year.

Bids of the Valley Hardware company and M. A. Shippert to furnish a quantity of enameled street signs were read. The bid of the former was 58 cents each, the latter 44 cents. Referred to street and ditch committee for further investigation.

The petition of A. Van Diest asking for a transfer of the Rainier saloon license to himself, on the ground that he had purchased that bar, was refused, objection having been entered against the record of Van Diest as a saloon-keeper.

After the transaction of routine business the council then adjourned. The meeting was attended by the mayor and all the seven councilmen.

Remembered Her Friends.

Josephine Wolf, known locally as "Dutch Joe," who kept a disorderly house in Walla Walla since 1861, died in that city recently at the ripe old age of 70, leaving a fortune of the estimated value of $50,000.

The woman's will was probated this week and it is a most unique document, says a Walla Walla dispatch, for it reveals "Dutch Joe" as being a woman with a well developed sense of humor and of a disposition to remember her friends. There are 21 beneficiaries mentioned in the will, all of whom but one live in Walla Walla, several of whom are prominent business men and heads of families, each being remembered with a bequest. To the "irremovable rector" of St. Patrick's church a bequest of $5,000 is made for the refurnishing of his church. The city fire department comes in for a legacy of $2,000 to be used for building a monument. Her wardrobe and jewels the old woman bequeathed to certain well known society women of the city.

The publication of the will, as may be imagined, caused both excitement and consternation in Walla Walla. Some of the beneficiaries under the will promptly disavowed any knowledge of or acquaintance with "Dutch Joe," while others disclaimed any connection with the woman during her lifetime or of any desire to share in her fortune.

Some people in Walla Walla are said to have extracted a good deal of amusement out of the situation which followed the publication of the will, although it probably didn't seem so funny for the high toned legates.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

MANUFACTURERS BUILDING.

On the eastern side of Geyser Basin, at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, the handsome Manufacturers Building looks across the restless waters of the Cascades and the flashing foam of "Old Faithful," the reproduction of its namesake in Yellowstone National Park.

Its location is the most central of any of the exposition buildings, and its architectural design is especially fitting for the position it has been given. It was one of the first great exhibition palaces to be completed, and before the end of last year was ready for the reception of its vast collection of exhibits. It will house a magnificent assortment of the highest examples of man's ingenuity and invention, and within its walls will be gathered specimens of manufactured articles from the workshops of every nation of importance in the world.

It overlooks the finest of the formal gardens of the exposition, and its splendid line of pergolas, with their vine-covered columns and blossoming flowers, complete a restful and pleasing view. At no part of the grounds can be seen a more beautiful illuminating effect than is presented from the open pergolas during the late evening and early night. A million sparkling electric bulbs flash their white lights through the waters and, scattered throughout the greenery, hundreds of electrolights mingle their many hues with the riot of colors. Looking down the gentle slope of Rainier Avenue the floating craft of two lakes is brought into vision and adds the delights of a broad, light-sprinkled stretch of forest-enclosed waters to the whole effect.
