VOTERS TURNED IT DOWN

Proposition to Bond the City for New Sewer System Failed by 20 Votes.

At the special election held in this city Saturday, May 28, to vote on the proposition submitted by the city administration to authorize an additional bond issue of $60,000, only 429 votes were cast, the result being that the bond issue was turned down by the people. Of the 429 votes cast, 236 were in favor to 193 against, the proposition thus lacking 20 votes of having the necessary three-fifths. The light vote cast, but little more than a third of the total, was something of a surprise when the result was announced as it was thought that there should have been more interest taken in such a vital question by property owners and citizens generally. The light vote cast was partly due to the fact that the election was held on Saturday when business men and their clerks were many of them too busy to go to the polls. Another thing too that worked to the disadvantage of the bonding proposition was the lack of clearness in the way in which the ballots were prepared. It was a common expression made by voters that it would require a lawyer to tell how to vote intelligently. In spite of these handicaps, however, the proposition would have carried easily enough if those who favored it would have got out and worked for it, but it is the old story, "what is everybody's business is nobody's business." On the other hand, those opposed to the bonding scheme worked hard all day getting voters to the polls who took their view of the case.

Another thing that contributed not a little to the defeat of the proposition is the feeling that a number of property owners have that the city council should first settle the water question before it spends any more public money in laying sewers. A number say that that is the reason that they voted against the bonding proposition or else did not vote at all. If the question of making the bond issue is resubmitted by the council before the water question is settled this element will fight it again in a more determined way than before. The mayor and certain members of the council intimated, however, that they might resubmit the question, especially if a strong petition should be presented from property owners requesting the council to do so.

Mayor Fechter says that if the question is not resubmitted the alternative proposition in his judgment will be for the city to dig the long talked of drainage ditch on the west side, the cost of which would be paid out of the current expense fund. The estimated cost of the drainage ditch is from $7,000 to $10,000. This at the best would only, it is believed, prove to be only a temporary expedient in the problem of draining the city and some people seem to think it would be a waste of money to dig the ditch. The whole question will be gone over at the next meeting of the city council next Monday night.

To Celebrate the Fourth.

A movement is now on foot, having been started by a committee of business men, to celebrate the Fourth of July in a proper way. The band boys had taken the initiative in the matter and had begun preparations to hold a big celebration at the fair grounds, as previously noted by the Democrat. Manager Merwin had already started in to arrange for a field day of sports and had struck a bargain with a Seattle aeronaut to make two balloon ascensions during the day.

A number of the business men, however, are of the opinion that the celebration ought to be held in town and have asked the band to hold off for a few days until a citizens' committee can be organized and ascertain how much money can be secured in order to hold a three days' celebration, July 3, 4 and 5.

A meeting of citizens was called to meet at the Commercial club Friday evening to organize the movement.

Will Hunt for Bacteria.

According to announcement a meeting of the state board of health was held in this city last Saturday. During the day a conference was held at the Hotel Yakima, at which Mayor Fechter, City Health Officer Carver and Councilmen Rand, Sinclair and Dudley were in attendance. The meeting was purely informal, the principle subject for discussion being the question of employing Dr. Rose A. Bebb, a bacteriologist recently from New York, who comes to this state highly recommended in her profession. It was finally decided that the lady should be employed to make a thorough search here for the "festive germ" which some of the doctor's claim was the primary cause for what has been termed the "typhoid epidemic" of last fall. The pesky little insect will be traced to its lair, its habits of life analyzed and reported to the state board. For her services Dr. Bebb is to be recompensed in the sum of $750, the state, the county and the city each to pay a third.

The average citizen and taxpayer, it might be added in passing, is inclined to be skeptical as to whether the local officers will get their money's worth out of this latest enterprise on the part of the state board, but of course an ordinary man's opinion does not count for much in the discussion of such a weighty matter. The members of the board left here Sunday for their respective homes.

SUPERIOR COURT NEWS

Cases Set for Trial—Jury Term to Begin June 20—List of Jurors.

Judge Rudkin in open court last Saturday issued a peremptory writ of mandate to the board of directors of the Fowler Ditch company to deliver to Lombard & Horsley 500 inches of water out of that canal, located in the Moxee valley. The case is a very interesting one and was bitterly contested. Bogle & Rigg and J. J. Rudkin represented the plaintiff and Whitson & Parker and Graves & Englehart the defendants, who are the trustees of the ditch company. A number of very fine legal points were raised by the attorney's in the case. The case will go to the supreme court. The divorce case of Thompson vs. Thompson from Zillah was concluded Saturday, Judge Rudkin refusing to issue a decree of separation. The court in rendering judgment in this case used some rather emphatic language condemning the action of the principles in the suit as well as the party named as co-respondent. Judgment was rendered against the defendant for the costs in the case as well as for an attorney fee of $175, for the wife's attorney. W. M. Thompson represented the plaintiff and Fred Parker the defendant. This case will also be appealed to the supreme court.

Grant Parker, the 14 year old boy who confessed to stealing a bicycle was sentenced by the court to the reform school. Subsequently on the promise of the boy's father to look after him the judge suspended the sentence during god behavior.

On motion of defendant's attorney the court reduced the amount of bail in the case of S. J. Graham of the Cowiche charged with raping Ella Morton, from $10,000 to $5,000.

The following prisoners were then arraigned, all of whom plead not guilty, after which their cases were set for trial:

Geo. W. Bonham, obtaining money under false pretenses, trial set for June 20; James B. Gingles, horse stealing, 20th; H. H. Williams, rape, 21st; A. B. Dine, rape, 21st; J. Funnemark, obtaining property under false pretenses, 22d; S. J. Graham, rape, 22d; Robt. Baker, burglary, 23d; E. J. Lamont, grand larceny, 23d; Emil Peterson, burglary, 24th; Jno. Miller, trespass, 24th; Leon Macey, horse stealing, 24th; Louis Pettit, larceny, 24th.

The following list of jurors was selected to serve for the ensuing term, beginning June 20:

S. J. Harrison, A. B. Weed, E. J. Barnes, W. E. Thornton, O. Birney, Chas. Crouse, Owen Thorndin, J. H. Manlove, J. M. Pitcher, Chas. Carpenter, A. P. Eschbach, Frank Holt, Robt. H. Ker-shaw, W. H. Marble, C. Stoffer, A. B. Flint, M. B. Sandmeyer, Michael Schuller, H. E. McPherson, F. C. Hall, W. B. Williams, A. B. Pearson, Marvin Thornton, B. F. Small.

Murdered Two Women.

Postmaster Will Lemon and County Clerk J. W. Day returned Saturday night from their overland trip to The Dalles, Ore., where they went to testify in the Williams murder case. Williams was found guilty of murdering his wife and mother-in-law. The evidence showed that he had killed the two women and buried the dead bodies in the back yard and the crime was not fixed upon him for two years afterwards. Williams will hang.

A Strange Find.

C. L. McGlothlen and son one day last week found floating in the Columbia river near White Bluffs, a derelict ferry boat loaded with a cargo of eighty odd head of sheep bearing the brand of the figure 5. The boat was pulled ashore and the nearly starved, bleating sheep rescued. The owner can have same by proving property and paying expenses. Some wonderful things, it is said, come floating down the majestic Columbia during a period of high water. But probably the strangest sight that Mr. McGlothlen's eyes ever beheld during his 12 years residence on the Columbia was that ferry boat with its cargo of sheep.

To Pick the Best Shots.

Adjutant General Drain is expected by Capt. Dulin to arrive here today. The adjutant general will go with the members of Co. E to the rifle range west of town tomorrow and will carefully watch the scores made with the purpose of selecting 18 of the best shots from Co. E to go to American Lake July 1. The 12 men making the best records at American Lake will go to St. Louis to take part in the international shoot for the president's cup.

NATCHES-WENAS DITCH

Preliminary Survey Shows That 23,000 Acres Can Be Covered by Proposed System.

Engineer C. G. Wands returned to town Wednesday with his force of men, having completed the preliminary survey of the proposed Natches and Wenass ditches.

The intake of the proposed new system was located three fourths of a mile above the Mehaffey ranch in the Nile country. The main line of the canal or trunk line continues at a good elevation down for a distance of 24 miles. At a point about opposite the Abner Sinclair ranch it is proposed to divide the ditch, the main line going around the hills into the Wenass valley, while a lateral would run down at an altitude considerable higher than the level of the present Selah ditch to irrigate the higher lands in the Selah valley. From the point of diversion near the Sinclair ranch the main ditch would be 35 miles in length while the Selah lateral would be 12 miles long. The total amount of irrigable land that could be watered by such a system is computed by Mr. Wands to be 23,000 acres, between 3000 and 4000 of which is located in the Wenass and is now partially supplied with water.

Mr. Wands feels quite enthusiastic over the proposition and says that the scheme is perfectly feasible from an engineering standpoint and that barring a stretch of a few miles where fluming would be necessary that the ditch would be a comparatively cheap one to build.

A meeting of the Wenass people will be held next Monday afternoon to consider the matter of how the scheme can be successfully floated.

Mr. Wands says that his party was troubled a great deal while in the field with rattlesnakes which were found to be quite numerous in the upper valley. Fortunately, however, none in the party were bitten although several of the boys had narrow escapes.

Will Pump Water.

The Columbian Western Irrigation company has been organized in this city, the members of which expect to irrigate two sections of land leased from the state near White Bluffs, the water to be pumped from the Columbia river by means of steam pumps. The incorporators are Albert Stauffer, A. R. Bollenbeck, Peter Pearson, Geo. D. Coffee, W. C. Gilbert, Wm. Marsh and others. Downs & Shanks are the attorneys of the company.

TO DRAIN ALKALI LANDS

Drainage Expert Means Talks on the Subject—Says the Government System Will Do the Work.

T. H. Means, of the reclamation bureau of the government service, who inaugurated the experiments in draining alkali land in this vicinity last summer, left Thursday morning for Fresno, Cal. He will hereafter be connected with the U. S. geological survey having left the agricultural department. L. Carl Holmes will be in charge of the drainage work here for this season. Before leaving Mr. Means said regarding the drainage problem in the Yakima valley:

"I think the experiment will be highly successful. We selected the worst piece of alkali land in the valley—the old Peter Gervais place—and now it is in such a shape that by next fall we expect to plant a crop of alfalfa. The alkali is almost leached out of the land. The drain tile used is four inches and is put down 150 feet apart in parallel rows across the place. This is sufficient to carry off the water on that farm, but it would not be large enough for other parts of the valley. There is more water under this city than there is under the Gervais place. This is occasioned by the difference in the formation.

"We find that any land in the valley can be freed of the surplus alkali. All that is necessary is to drain it. Too many people never take into consideration the necessity of draining their land. It is just as essential to get rid of the underflow as it is to have a surface flow for crops. The underflow in rising brings the alkali to the surface. Evaporation causes the salts to crystallize on the land and unless it is dissolved and washed out it will become too strong for plants to thrive in. If there is plenty of under drainage the surface water will sink down and carry with it the alkali and in this manner it will be carried from the soil.

"It is my opinion that the government will do more extensive work in this line in the future, not only in this valley, but in all parts of the irrigated districts in the country. The government will also do some extensive investigating this summer with the view of doing some permanent canal work in Yakima within the next two years. We are off for California to look over work we have charge of in that state. Mr. Dorsey will return to Yakima this summer, but I probably shall remain in California.

"About draining your city? Yes, I think the drainage and sewer system you voted down last week would have been effective. The sewer mains alone would have been sufficient to carry off the surplus water in many irrigated districts. In Fresno the few breaks in the sewers and loose fitting joints drained that city entirely of the underflow. By putting in the drainage system with the sewer there is no doubt about getting rid of all your surplus water."

Land Office Business for May.

During the month of May 29 homestead filings were made in the North Yakima land office and five desert filings. Five homesteads were proved up on. The cash receipts of the office for sales of land amounted to $1896.68 for the month. This includes homesteads commuted, timber claims proved upon and fractional pieces of land sold.

Watch for the Parade.

The parade of the Norris & Rowe new and greater shows this season promises to be an event of more than ordinary interest. The shows have grown so enormously that the army of acrobats, tumblers, clowns, gymnasts, athletes, equilibristas and riders combined with the congress of marvelously trained animals, makes almost a city in itself under the enormous new tents which houses this really wonderful organization known as the New Norris & Rowe Greater Shows. The costumes for this parade were made especially for it and we are assured that no other attraction has ever gone to so great expense in this matter, however, it is simply a matter of personal pride with Norris & Rowe to have the best and most expensive street display ever exhibited in this section. Dozens of new wagons, spic, span, new, and in all the brilliancy of red and gold paint; dozens of cages of rare and wild beasts, elephants, tigers, lions, tapirs, etc., hundreds of educated poines and horses in all the glory of gay trappings make a veritable feast of color for the eye and a spectacular parade which will be long remembered as one of the best features of the modern big circus. Norris & Rowe will exhibit at North Yakima, Wednesday, June 15th.

Yakima Old Timer Dead.

A recent dispatch from Miles City, Mont., says: Word has been received here from Hathaway that Hiram Crabtree has been found dead in his cabin at that place. He was one of the noted Crabtree brothers who recently were allowed pensions for service in the Yakima Indian war in 1853.

This war was started by Hiram Crabtree's father, who, upon being ordered by the Indian chief to vacate his farm near North Yakima, Wash., refused. The two men were engaged in a general quarrel, Crabtree hitting the chief with an axe handle, killing him instantly.

For Road Improvement.

At a recent meeting of the governing board of the Commercial club it was decided to inaugurate a campaign for good roads. Alex Miller was added to the special committee on good roads, the committee now consisting of Mr. Miller, W. W. Robertson, J. D. Medill and Robert McComb. The committee was instructed to employ an engineer and make a report. The finance committee, it is understood, will solicit funds from business men and property owners in order that road improvement may be begun at once. It is said that the county commissioners feel indisposed to do anything this year outside of repair work owing to a lack of funds for that purpose.

Public sentiment demands that something be done this year towards permanent road improvement and there seems to be no way to get started other than by taking up a collection.

In U. S. Commissioner's Court.

David Beaudry was taken before U. S. Commissioner Howlett Monday charged with "bootlegging" and was bound over for trial in Judge Hanford's court. On Tuesday David Ramsey had the same experience.

On Wednesday Capt. Martineau, a prominent half breed on the reservation, was taken before the commissioner charged by Deputy Marshal Short with transporting liquor across the reservation. The defendant employed H. J. Snively as his attorney and the case will be stubbornly fought in the U. S. court as the point will be raised that a reasonable interpretation of the federal statute forbidding traffic in liquor on the reservation does not mean that whisky may not be transported over a public highway through the same.

STATE PRESS OPINION

What Evergreen State Editors Are Talking About—Different Views Expressed on Current Topics.

If Senator Turner is nominated for governor his majority over Mead will run into the thousands.—Ellensburg Dawn.

It looks as if the Farrell railroad ticket would be pretty well punched before the end of the trip.—Centerville Journal.

A gentleman remarked, while in the Localizer office the other day, that the "state division was all rot." But isn't there danger of rotting the state into pieces.—Ellensburg Localizer, Rep.

The Yakima press is entirely in the hands of "Colonels" and the inference is they know how to put up a hot fight. When it comes to political hot air they are all Major-Generals.—Cle Elum Echo.

Convention cities in the state of Washington had better prepare a little chloride of lime as a safeguard to good health during conventions in the future. The last one smelled pretty bad.—Ellensburg Localizer, Rep.

"When thieves fall out just men may get their dues." Likewise when railroad lobbyists fall out the people have a chance of getting the legislation that has so long been blocked by the corrupt lobby.—Walla Walla Statesman.

The Oregonian is a republican organ, conducted editorially along strict party lines, but it is doing all it can to help elect a democratic governor in the state of Washington by turning its mud batteries on the Hon. R. C. McCroskey of Garfield.—Colton News-Letter.

The republicans who thought it was all right for them to bolt the railroad commission plank in the state platform two years ago are the men who are now making a terrible fuss over the republicans who announce their intention of bolting the lobby ticket.—Colfax Commoner.

Senator George Turner, from some folks standpoint may be considered a political demagogue, but as governor the 4,000 colored votes of this state would have a friend at court, and they would be given recognition commensurate to their voting strength. Turner is their friend.—Seattle Republican.

While it is not likely that Mr. Mead will be placed under the necessity of mortgaging his home to carry him through the campaign, he had best not bargain or sell the same for he will undoubtedly be obliged to continue to make his home in the consolidated city on Bellingham Bay after January, 1905.—Chevelah Independent.

Owing the hoggish action of the late lamented republican convention, agitation has sprung up anew, to form a new state by joining eastern Washington to the panhandle of Idaho and making a state out of it. It would much better serve our interests than the present arrangements, of being hitched to the clam diggers of the Sound.—Waterville Press.

The people want laws made in their interests and they will support any ticket, regardless of politics, that offers to enact and enforce the laws demanded. The republican party, under its present management, has absolutely refused to even offer any assistance, and the people are now turning to the only party that has any earthly show of a victory the democratic, in the hope of being able to secure relief from the galling yoke of corporation bondage.—Ellensburg Dawn.

A Tidal Wave Coming.

By actual count, 297 republicans have openly declared through these columns their resolute purpose not to support the Farrell railroad ticket nominated at Tacoma.

It is a most conservative estimate that where Spokesman-Review reporters have found one indignant republican willing to express his convictions for publication they have encountered four others who privately expressed themselves in the same manner, but asked that their names be not printed. In other words, not fewer than 1,500 eastern Washington republicans have emphatically declared to the Spokesman-Review reporters their intention to repudiate at the polls the ticket forced upon their party by James J. Hill and J. D. Farrell.

These expressions have come to the Spokesman-Review reporters in their usual news gathering rounds, and are not the result of an extensive canvass. As a matter of fact, the reporters have not met on-tenth part of the republican voters of eastern Washington, but the sentiment of those encountered are undoubtedly representative of the rank and file of the party.

This tidal wave of republican indignation will not be stemmed by sneers from the lobby leaders, and their organs. When, for example, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer asserts that only "a total of 40 to 50 men in eastern Washington have been willing to say they would bolt the republican ticket for Turner," it utters a false statement which is patent to every observing citizen of eastern Washington. And when that paper editorially refers to the thousands of courageous, high minded republicans who resent the rule of the lobby as "a few clerks who are doubtless otherwise respectable, but who certainly are not authorized republican leaders," and sneeringly says "they represent very little," it writes itself down a contemptible snob.

The rank and file of the republican party in eastern Washington who are declaring against the Farrell railroad ticket will naturally reply to John L. Wilson and his lobby organ that they will vote for true republican principles as fearlessly advocated by President Roosevelt, and that they will not be led around by the nose by the railroad lobby under the leadership of J. D. Farrell, a democrat.—Spokesman-Review.

Jingoism Run Mad.

The President's wild jingoism threatens to keep a perpetual sword hanging not only over South America but over ourselves. It may seem a small matter to intimidate Honduras, or Colombia, or Paraguay, but let us remember that Latin America has sixty million people, and that if we begin to charge about as the general bully of two continents we may find them all arrayed against us. And if we once became involved in really serious trouble in South America, how long would Europe keep out of it?

The Monroe doctrine means peace, because a European power that challenged it would have to subjugate a South American people, defending its independence, and supported by the United States. The Roosevelt doctrine means war, because it makes us the subjugators and throws South America into the arms of Europe. No European power would be fool enough to court the dangers of an attack on the Monroe doctrine, defended by a solid hemisphere, but there are several European powers that might be tempted by an invitation to help South America to defend its independence against the United States.

Men have grown rich by minding their own business. Nations may prosper through the same policy. Customs at La Guayra may not be the same as at Oyster Bay. A boss at Bogota may issue a pronouncement to accomplish the same result that a boss in Philadelphia would accomplish by stuffing a ballot-box. But if President Roosevelt will only devote his attention to securing a perfect government in the United States the people will not hold him responsible for imperfections of government in South America. There is a good deal of work for a reformer to do at home. Let Mr. Roosevelt congratulate himself that he has not yet taken the oath of office as President of the Western Hemisphere.—N. Y. World.

"Uncrowned King" vs. "Kingmaker."

Austin Mires may be the "uncrowned king of Kittitas," but when it comes to getting results he is not in it with our own Col. Whitson, "the king maker."—Yakima Democrat.

The Democrat is certainly trespassing very close to the border of truth and veracity. Col. Whitson held a proxy and the state convention decided that proxies were "nit," yet he was selected as the temporary and permanent chairman, and Yakima county went down the line with the bakery. Our "Uncrowned King" had a genuine ticket and the say as to how thirteen votes should be handled and Kittitas county went down the line with—"mud." But for sweet Charity's sake we will allow that the unlucky number was the cause of the Waterloo. "Fourteen or nothing" ought to be the slogan of all loyal republicans this fall.—Cle Elum Echo.

THE TRAIL OF LEWIS AND CLARK was the pioneer American trail west of the Missouri river and the results of that exploration of 1804-6 were of tremendous importance to the United States and they were never more apparent than now.

A publication relating to the Lewis and Clark expedition, just issued by G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, stands peculiarly alone. This edition is a two volume, 8 vo one, called "The Trail of Lewis and Clark, 1804-1904". The author, Mr. Olin D. Wheeler, is the well known writer of the popular Wonderland series of the Northern Pacific Railway, in connection with which he made his studies and researches for this work.

Mr. Wheeler has traveled several thousand miles over the route of Lewis and Clark. He has camped out, climbed mountains, followed old Indian trails, and visited remote points made memorable by those explorers. Their route across the Bitterroot mountains has been followed, identified and mapped.

"The Trail of Lewis and Clark" is illustrated in color and half tone from paintings, drawings and maps, by Paxton, DeCamp and Russell, made under Mr. Wheeler's direction, and from photographs taken specially for the purpose. The writer tells his own story and supplements it with pertinent extracts from Lewis and Clark, and a host of other historical and narrative writers that connect the past with the present. Exact excerpts and photographic reproductions, in half tone, from the ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT JOURNALS of Lewis and Clark are given. A chapter is devoted to the Louisiana Purchase, another to the preparatory measures for the exploration, and another to the history of each man of the expedition so far as known, including a discussion of the death of Captain Lewis.

The Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis, and the Lewis and Clark Centennial to be held at Portland, Oregon, in 1905, make this work peculiarly timely because written from the standpoint of actual knowledge of past and present conditions of the old trail and country.

"The Trail of Lewis and Clark" should be found in every public and private library in the land and the general reader will find in reading through its pages of large, clear type that truth is, indeed, stranger than fiction.

The book can be ordered through any bookseller or news stand or direct from the publishers.

North Yakima, Wash., June 4, 1904.

Outside of his circle of personal friends the death of Senator Matt Quay of Pennsylvania has caused no feeling of regret throughout his own state or the country. Although he served a long time in the U. S. senate he was never credited with being in any sense a statesman. He was simply a machine politician of the highest and most dangerous type, that and nothing more. He was undoubtedly a great general in the field of political policies, but his generalship was merely a blight on the record of his party as his political activity was injurious to the government itself. However, the man was something of a genius in his way and must have been possessed of remarkable traits of character, or perhaps to speak more properly, lack of character, to have accomplished what he did in his lifetime.

Quay as a politician was the product of all that is vicious, corrupt and damnable in American political life. Through the use of such tools as blackmail and every other form of political vice the cunning brain of Quay built up a machine which for power and the amount of harm it has worked has never been duplicated in this country.

It is urged in behalf of the late senator that he was a man who was habitually loyal to his friends, who never broke a promise. This is perhaps true in the main and to that fact is due the phenomenal success of the man as a political leader. If he had not been true to his friends they would have turned upon him and destroyed him long ago. In fact his loyalty to his friends and the certainty with which he inflicted punishment upon his enemies was Boss Quay's chief stock in trade.

The painfully long and wicked domination of Pennsylvania by the Quay machine has been a withering curse to that state. During that long period that great commonwealth, once the mother of statesmen, has given the country nothing but the puppets of the great boss. Every decent, self respecting man in the state who refused to recognize the sovereignty of Quay was summarily dealt with. Even the judges on the bench were but creatures of his will and feared his displeasure.

Benjamin Harrison, by all odds the ablest and most fearless republican president since the days of Lincoln, despised Quay and his disreputable methods and finally openly defied him. Harrison succeeded in securing a re-nomination in 1892 in spite of Quay, but the latter by his underground system contributed not a little to his defeat at the polls and made no secret of his satisfaction with the result. Roosevelt, who has certainly demonstrated his claim to be a "smooth politician" has pursued a different course in dealing with Quay. Instead of securing the enmity of the powerful Pennsylvania boss he gained his warm friendship, but only through recognizing his leadership and catering to his every whim. As long as Hanna lived constituting, as he did a dread menace to the fulfillment of his ambition, Roosevelt felt the necessity of Quay's friendship in order to use him to squelch the Ohio senator if the time should come. The hand of death, however, has removed both of these political giants from the stage and none are now left within the party walls that the strenuous chief has need to fear.

The republican politicians of this state are a peculiar lot and never seem to learn from experience. They dwell boastfully on the heavy majority that they assume their party has in Washington, which they seem to think will carry them through regardless of the record they make.

In his they are in error as history abundantly proves. Time and again in the history of this commonwealth, both as state and territory, when the leaders of that party had grievously offended the people their majority has suddenly melted away like snow before the noon-day sun. This was the case in 1884, 1886, 1896 and 1900 while in 1892 the party got through on a close shave. What has happened is likely to happen again.

As a matter of fact the normal republican majority in this state of twenty thousand, or thereabouts is made up in a large measure of men who are really independents, especially when it comes down to state and local affairs. This large class, as a rule, are not in politics for what there is in it and cannot be whipped into line by sordid politicians. They vote as they see fit and will not be dictated to. They feel a greater interest in the welfare of their state and county than in the success of a lot of self constituted leaders who are merely seeking to carry out their own selfish schemes and in doing so often land themselves as well as their party in the ditch.

These independent voters, silent though they often are, are really the salvation of the state. They act as a safety valve as it were and in times of storm and threatened disaster by wisely using their balance of power, guide the ship of state into a safe harbor.

The republican party leaders either deliberately or in a moment of insanity placed the control of their party into the hands of an unprincipled crew of corporation highwaymen in order that they might use it to carry out their own selfish ends. In order to do this they struck down the most worthy leader their party has had since statehood began as well as the great principle that he stood for.

These things have aroused the righteous wrath of the people, or at least enough of them to insure a tidal wave of adverse ballots. The independent voter is not only displeased but he is positively angry and is meditating vengeance. The carnival of corruption witnessed at Tacoma bids fair to result in a general and needed house-cleaning.

The unparalleled political error of the republican state convention in delivering the control of that party to the railway combine has inspired hope in the democratic breast that victory will crown democratic efforts this fall. Under the exceptional conditions prevailing there is some basis for his hope, because an opportunity is now presented such as rarely comes to the aid of a minority party. It rests with the members of that party whether they will take advantage of the blunder their opponents have made.

Under normal political conditions this state is republican by from 10,000 to 20,000 majority; hence, it is only under the stress of exceptional circumstances that disaffection with Republican methods is widespread enough to overcome this. Yet it has been done in the past and it will doubtless be done again in the future. The belief in some quarters that the republican majority is great enough to pull he candidates through on any kind of a platform is liable to receive a sudden and severe shock.

The stars in their courses seem to be fighting for the democrats. When the outlook seemed most hopeless and the gloom of political night had settled upon them, along comes the republican state convention and delivers itself hand and foot to the railroad lobby, while it insults the intelligence of every the chance of he year to the democratic party; let us see if it will be taken advantage of.—Puyallup Tribune, Ind.

Mr. Mead of Bellingham, republican candidate for governor, is evidently scared. Why otherwise would come the announcement at this time that he would sign a railway commission bill in case he should be elected governor and such a measure be passed up to him by the legislature?

The probabilities are that both Mr. Mead and his sponsor and backer, Mr. Farrell, consider it good politics that such a statement should be made at this time. Mr. Mead in his own county, outside of which he is little known, has the reputation of being a good "jollifier." His idea of conducting a campaign appears to be to go about extending the "glad hand" to all the voters he meets and especially such as wield influence. He believes that he can afford to talk freely about his willingness to sign a commission bill in the event of his election should one be passed up to him for he well knows that in case he is elected the complexion of the legislature will be such that there would be no danger of any commission bill passing it. It is evident that this statement on the part of Mr. Mead has met with the full approbation of Mr. Farrell, himself, to whom Mr. Mead is clearly indebted for his nomination to the governorship.

The "sage of Princeton" again rushes into print in support of the candidacy of Judge Parker. He wants to reiterate, he says, now that there is a lull in the Parker movement, his belief that the New York jurist is the proper man to nominate instead of "this man Hearst." The poor, conceited old man is unable to realize that instead of helping Parker he is simply driving another nail in that gentleman's political coffin. The principal reason that there is now a "lull" in Parker's boom can be easily traced to the fact that the "Stuffed Prophet" has espoused his cause.

Seattle Times: The positive knowledge that Senator Turner will head the democratic state ticket this fall is the most welcome political news that has been furnished for many a day to more than three-fourths of the voters of Washington. It was just as disconcerting to the small faction that planned and carried out the juggling that evolved the ticket at Tacoma. Nothing is surer in politics than that Senator Turner will be elected.

The spectacle of a candidate for governor of a great state going about from town to town, if not from house to house, for the purpose of introducing himself to the voters is, to say the least, not very elevating or inspiring. This sort of a campaign might be all right for a man who was after the office of prosecuting attorney or legislator, but it looks like a pretty cheap way of running for the high office of governor.

The most humiliating thing about it is that a man should be in the race for governor who feels the necessity of going about from place to place telling the people who he is. The fact that Mr. Mead is scarcely known in the state outside of his own county is, of course, not his fault, but rather his misfortune under the circumstances. The probabilities are that Mr. Mead's chances of winning the governorship would be very materially improved if he should proceed to go home and get busy in his law office.

Very few people seem to know who, or what, Mead is. The mead known as a commodity, is an oily liquid, colorless, having a burning taste and an odor of creosote, which it resembles; obtained from coal tar. The mead known as a drink, is composed of water and honey, a syrup with sarsaparilla or other flavoring added, and water sometimes, impregnated with carbonic acid gas. Either of these definitions will apply in most respects to the personal Mead, the republican party has drawn out of a section caboose to pose as Governor in a one act comedy on the political stage.—Olympia Standard.

Another Oregon bubble has been burst. Heretofore Hood river strawberries were the first to come over the Puget Sound market following the early California crop, with our home berries coming in at the tail end. It now transpires that Yakima valley berries, near Kennewick, are the first to arrive on this market, sent here under the misleading name of Hood river berries or "Oregon berries." This is in line with the continued desperate efforts still making in Oregon to ignore our Douglas fir by dubbing it "Oregon pine," and so advertising it all over the country.—Seattle Trade Register.

The republican national convention, to assemble at Chicago June 21, will consist of 988 delegates, 708 of whom have been instructed to vote for the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt. The remainder, although uninstructed, are all for the president so that it is virtually impossible that more than one ballot will be required to nominate. To say the least this is a most remarkable state of affairs. As Senator Bailey of Texas says, everybody appears to be for Roosevelt, yet nobody wants him.

Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk of St. Louis now has sufficient votes instructed to insure for him the democratic nomination for governor of Missouri, which is equivalent to election. That is, in case the national convention at St. Louis does not first pick up Mr. Folk and put him in the race against Teddy Roosevelt. It is possible that this may happen though not probable. Folk rings true on every proposition, but is more likely to be called to the White House in 1908.

General Freddie Funston has finally admitted that it was not he who accomplished the great swimming feat in the Philippines, but some other fellow from Kansas. Since Freddy is honest enough to make this fact public after the lapse of several years he ought to go a step farther and resign the command in the regular army secured by false pretenses and rank injustice to the officers of the regular line. But little Freddy has no notion of resigning.

The Republic in its local report of the defeat of the bond issue says that the proposition was beaten because of the strong fight made against it by the small property owners and the populist element. This is about as near the truth as the local organ usually gets. Some people say that the Republic killed the project through its zealous support and yet the Republic is neither a small property owner nor a populist.

The decision of President Roosevelt that George B. Cortelyou, a member of his cabinet, shall manage his campaign has angered a number of the old war horses who disdain to take their orders from an inexperienced young man in politics, who until a year ago was merely the president's private secretary. But they will have to grin and bear it, for Teddy means to run the whole show himself.

Gov. McBride continues to saw wood at Olympia and say nothing. The chances are, however, that he keeps up a terrible thinking and possibly does a little swearing between times.

Senator Tolman of Spokane is out in an interview stating that he will not be a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor. As Senator Tolman's candidacy was contingent upon that of Senator Turner it may safely be taken for granted that the latter gentleman will consent to run for governor and if he does Mr. Mead of Bellingham will hardly get as much as a look in.

Among the New Mexico exhibits at the world's fair is an ancient Spanish map of what is now the territory of the United States. The only cities that appear thereon are St. Augustine and Santa Fe. At the time the map was made it was thought that an inland sea extended from the gulf of California to Puget Sound and it is so represented on this map.

A lawyer in a court room may call a man a liar, scoundrel, villain or thief, and no one makes a complaint when court adjourns. If a newspaper prints such reflections on a man's character there is a libel suit or a dead editor. This is owing to the fact that people believe what an editor says; what a lawyer says cuts no figure.—Ex.

Two eminent republican leaders, Hanna and Quay have within a comparatively short time paid the final debt due to Nature. Of the two Hanna was infinitely the greater and better man. Quay's death, while naturally deplored by family and friends, is in no sense a loss to the country.

Our valued contemporary, the Herald, evidently feels the necessity of saying something good about the state ticket, but hardly knows what to say and keep within the bounds of truth. Apparently the editor realizes that he has a reputation for veracity to maintain, while his paper has a "rep" to make—as a g. o. p. organ.

The prohibition county central committee has issued a call for a mass convention to be held at the court house in this city June 16. This convention is called for the purpose of placing a full county ticket in the field and of selecting a delegation to attend the state convention to be held at Everett July 12.

Miller Freeman, formerly of this city, has leaped into fame by being cartooned in the Seattle Argus as a cross between a Berkshire pig and a Puget Sound salmon. Such is the penalty of greatness. Mr. Freeman is the publisher of two remarkable publications, the "Ranch" and the "Pacific Fisherman."

How many working men of Yakima county are going to the world's fair, shrieks the Prosser Record. Well, we dunno. The editor of this family journal is figuring a little on going for one. We hope that our rather choleric brother of the Record may be able to go also.

The Herald appears to demand credit for having nominated Ira P. Englehart for superior judge. This is rather hard on the judicial candidate. In the last campaign the junior organ was engaged in throwing the sweet scented bouquets at Mr. Englehart's opponent.

The Pasco Express and the Connell Statesman, speaking for Franklin county, heartily endorse the Democrat's suggestion that Attorney E. B. Preble of this city is good timber for the superior judgeship. We are waiting now to hear from Kittitas.

The name of Hon. Henry Drum of Olympia is being frequently mentioned in the state press in connection with the democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. This is a happy thought. No better man could be found for the place.

The Seattle P.-I. keeps on repeating, parrot fashion, that the demand for a railway commission is a purely local and not a political issue. Maybe not, old lady, but it will be before the campaign gets very old in this state.

The Republic continues to hold a post mortem over the result of the Tacoma convention. Cut it out, neighbor, and give us something new. There is no need of any more post mortems until after the election.

Mr. Mead of Bellingham evidently finds that the walking is good east of the Cascades, even though the chances of electing the g. o. p. candidate for governor are not.

A delegate to the Tacoma convention, when asked whether Atkinson was a require a lawyer to draw the salary of State Attorney.—Olympia Standard.

The socialist county convention convenes at Sunnyside today. It will probably be a red letter day for Doc Angus and Bre'r Jory.

The Mayor's Welcome.

The mayor of St. Louis passed a trying ordeal the other day when he welcomed fifteen hundred women of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to what is now the "Exposition City." In opening his address he exclaimed devoutly, "The eternal feminine doth lead us on! I welcome you, wives, mothers, sisters, sweethearts and"—the mayor paused and fifteen hundred pairs of eyes sternly challenged him to complete the category—"and kind friends," he hastily continued, "whose grace, purity and affection ornament the lives of men." Then the audience broke into wild applause, during which interval the mayor wiped the huge drops of perspiration from his brow.—Olympia Standard.

Where Are the Commissioners?

Many farmers in the Belma district report that the bridge across the Yakima here is in a bad condition, and should high water occur during the month of June the bridge will be lost. Where are the county commissioners? Steps should be taken to make the structure safe for passage.—Mabton Chronicle.

Presbyterians and Divorce.

By the narrow majority of eighteen votes in a total of 506 the Presbyterians General Assembly has rejected a resolution advising Presbyterian ministers to refuse to perform the marriage ceremony in the case of persons whose marriage might be forbidden by the Church in which those persons held membership. The Presbyterian church recognizes divorce for infidelity and for wilful desertion, and concedes the right of the innocent party to marry again. The Episcopal church recognizes only divorces granted for infidelity, in which case the innocent party may marry again. The Catholic church recognizes no divorce and concedes no right of second marriage on the part of a divorced person. Had this resolution been adopted Presbyterian clergymen would have been expected to refuse to marry Episcopalians or Catholics, excluded by their own churches from entering into a second marriage.

The small majority by which the resolution was rejected evidences the growing disposition of evangelical churches to resort to drastic measures to check the growing evil of divorce.—N. Y. World.

Light for Mabton and Sunnyside.

A move that may mean a great deal for the development of the lower Yakima valley was begun the past week, the Prosser Falls Light company taking steps toward the establishment of electric light and power in Mabton and Sunnyside. A wire from Prosser would carry the electricity which the company has ample facilities for supplying and Mabton and Sunnyside could be lighted more cheaply than by any other company.—Mabton Chronicle.

Dad's Boy.

The following is the Hatton Hustler man's editorial utterance on the birth of his first son:
"The first son and heir apparent to this print shop made his appearance Tuesday morning. We are not at all surprised, as we had expected it for some time. In fact we missed two conventions and a base ball game on that account. We hope that he will grow up to be a good democrat and never have money enough to have to turn republican. At present he howls like a populist, but we expect his mother to take that out of him in a short time. We hope he won't stop growing as soon as Swanson of the Ritzville Times did, or that he won't overdo it as Haas of the Leader did, and that he won't be a big temperance crank as his grandmother, or as fond of tanglefoot as his dad."

Editor Green's View.

And now as a matter of especial interest in this section of the state, comes the nomination of a candidate for superior judge of Kittitas, Yakima and Franklin counties.

The republicans have nominated Englehart of North Yakima, who was easily beaten for state senator two years ago.

He can be beaten in the coming election if the democrats will nominate a strong man, and put up a vigorous campaign.

E. B. Preble of North Yakima has been mentioned as a candidate. As between Englehart and Preble, The Express would unqualifiedly and enthusiastically support Preble.

Englehart has not a judicial mind, and Preble has.—Pasco Express.

Acute Rheumatism.

Deep tearing or wrenching pains, occasioned by getting wet through; worse when at rest, or on first moving the limbs and in cold or damp weather, is cured quickly by Ballard's Snow Liniment. Oscar Oleson, Gibson City, Illinois, writes, Feb. 16, 1902: "A year ago I was troubled with a pain in my back. It soon got so bad I could not bend over. One bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by F. L. Janek's Drug Store.

Still Hope for the People.

The news that ex-Senator Turner has about consented to accept the democratic nomination for governor is causing cold chills to chase up and down the backs of the railroad lobbyists who dictated the ticket and the platform ratified by the late republican state convention. Railroad politicians now admit in private that a serious blunder was made when some sort of a commission plank was not incorporated in the platform to fool the people into thinking that there was still hope for relief from oppressive freight rates and inequitable taxation through the republican party. Now that the party has thrown off the mask and has come out openly and brazenly as the champion of the corporations and has accepted J. D. Farrell of the Great Northern as its absolute boss, the discerning voters of the state know that there is no hope for a railway commission or for an effective tax commission except through the democratic party. It is no wonder, therefore, that thousands of republican voters throughout the state who value manhood above blind loyalty to the party fetish are in open revolt against Boss Farrell's ticket and make no concealment of their purpose to vote for the democratic nominees.

The disaffection among the republicans of eastern Washington is full as great as in 1896 and there is good reason for believing that the revolt against corporation rule is almost as marked in western Washington.

If the democrats will now do the right thing at the right time, the election of a democratic governor and of a democratic legislature is assured. The railroad lobby will be routed, horse, foot and dragons and "government of the people, for the people and by the people" will be restored in this state.—Walla Walla Statesman.

Poor Politics All Around.

That Senator Addison G. Foster is to be eliminated from the scheme of things political seems to be on the cards. No deadlier blow could have been dealt to his ambition than the combination made by the Pierce county delegation with King county. Supremacy was surrendered without a struggle. Had Pierce stood with Crocker or Baker or McBride in the fight, Foster might have had some glimmering hope; but Crocker and Baker are sore, the McBride faction is sore and Foster is to be made the vicarious sacrifice to this county's perfidy. The election, however, may also insure Sam Piles' defeat, even if the republicans win a majority of the legislature, for eastern Washington members can hardly be expected to support the man whose agents ignored and derided them and forced them to endure the full measure of political humiliation and defeat. Their revenge is being nursed. Nor will it be satiated until they can return to King county an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.—Puyallup Tribune.

"Keep His Hands Off."

John L. Wilson's newspaper, which viciously attacked Governor McBride for enforcing the law by bringing suit against James J. Hill's illegal merger, now asserts that while it is the province of the governor to enforce existing laws he has no business advising the legislature to pass bills. As the P. I. states it, "the question of creating a railroad commission and the question whether it is to be elective or appointive, are for the legislature to determine. The governor has no proper place in such a struggle. He should keep his hands off. The functions of the governor are primarily executive. He is in his position for the purpose of enforcing laws passed by the people's representatives."

Of course the railroads would like a colorless governor of that description—a poor, weak, veritable creature, who would sit quietly in the executive office and "keep his hands off" while Farrell and Chamberlin cracked the whip over the legislators, just as they cracked the whip over the recent state convention.

The P. I. hastens to assure its readers that Mead is such a man. Mead, it declares, will "keep his hands off"—assurance scarcely needed after the shameful exposition made in the Tacoma convention. There was no room for uncertainty on that score after J. D. Farrell, democratic railroad boss, made his dramatic night ride in a special train and gave in pers on the order which promptly resulted in Mead's nomination. That is the sort of governor wanted by the railroads and by their organ, the Post-Intelligencer, but it is not the sort of governor wanted by the people, and moreover, it is not the sort of governor contemplated by the state constitution. The constitution makes it the express duty of the governor to—

"Communicate at every session by message to the legislature the condition of the affairs of the state, and recommend such measures as he shall deem expedient for their action."

That is the sworn duty of the governor of this state, and for performing that duty along identically the lines followed by President Roosevelt in the nation, Governor McBride was marked for slaughter.

The Post-Intelligencer defends this sorry business for the reason that its chief owner, John L. Wilson, hopes that thereby J. D. Farrell and James J. Hill will be induced to support him for the United States senate, and crack over the heads of the legislators the same whip they swung for Mead in the recent state convention.—Spokesman Review.

A Naches Entertainment.

A concert was given at Woodman's hall in the upper Naches Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Naches Presbyterian church, the affair being under the direction of Mrs. Linnie Rowe of this city. A number of those in attendance say that it was the finest entertainment of the kind ever given in that valley and fully deserved the large patronage received.

The program included vocal and instrumental solos, duets and quartettes by the following well known musical people of this city: Mrs. T. W. Davidson, Mrs. J. B. Hedges, Miss Clanche Read, Miss Bessie Hall, the Misses Mary and Anna Campbell, Linnie Rowe, Gretchen Crawford and Messrs. Fred Miller, Harry Brown, James Riley and Herman Crawford.

Quite a large number of young people attended from North Yakima.

Woodcock Academy Commencement.

The graduating exercises of the Woodcock academy occurred Thursday evening, June 2 and were largely attended. Three young ladies finished the course and graduated, namely: Misses Orta Griffiths and Edith Day in the scientific course, and Miss Maud Vivian in the English. After the exercises diplomas were presented to the graduates by Prof. Woodcock.

The graduates took the following subjects for their orations: "The Kingliness of Service," Miss Orta Griffiths; "An American of America," Miss Edith Day; "Victorious over Limitations," Miss Maud M. Vivian. There were also a number of declamations from members of the preparatory class. The academy has closed a very successful school year.

Will-dell of Seattle, George Croston of Hoquiam. SSupreme judges—William McDevitt of Seattle, D. W. Phipps of Seattle. Attorney general—O. C. Whitney of Hoquiam. Governor—D. Burgess of Tacoma. Lieutenant governor—William De Lily of Arlington. Secretary of State—George E. Boomer of Prosser. State treasurer—Bernard Goerkes of Echo. State auditor—A. F. Payne of Bellingham. Superintendent of public instruction—Frances C. Sylvester of Olympia. Land commissioner—J. F. La Clerc of Ellensburg.

The following state committee was chosen: Emil Herman, G. W. Scott, J. J. Hawlans, all of Seattle; J. M. Smith of Tacoma, J. Z. Mudgett of Tacoma, De Forest Sanford of Everett, Max Vetter of Bredablick, O. Lund of Spokane, C. E. Cline of Lyndon.

The three members from Seattle will have general charge of the campaign, the others acting in an advisory capacity.

"The Casting Act."

The big features of the Norris & Rowe Greater Shows that will exhibit here at North Yakima, Wednesday, June 15, is the astounding array of agile athletes and active acrobats, gymnasts and equilibrists, men of marvelous, magnificent and mighty muscle whose dauntless daring and seemingly impossible feats in mid-air make everyone still their breath until the feat is accomplished and then burst into shout of applause and appreciation. For instance, the Belfords, a group of six, perform high above the heads of the crowds. It is called a "casting act" and consists of two of the members hanging head downwards from the top of the tent and the other members of the troupe are thrown with giant swings, double and triple somersaults between the men suspended head downwards. It is surely a wonderful accomplishment and one never before attempted in this country. It is but one of the many marvels this complete circus.

The socialists will hold their county convention in Sunnyside Saturday, June 4. A full county ticket, it is said, will be nominated.

A home talent entertainment was given at the Federated church Friday evening. There was a good attendance and the receipts were very satisfactory.

A large number of people attended the memorial services at the Federated church Sunday last. A very able address of a patriotic character was delivered by Rev. B. Hoadley of the M. E. church.

Kennewick.

Green peas were in the market this week, they sold at 15 cents per pound.

Otto Hanson, contractor, is pushing the work on the Grosscup ditch near Kiona, with energy.

A party is down from Spokane looking up the prospects of Kennewick with a view of starting a brewery.

We have had samples of strawberries raised by R. Gorsuch, Dr. Hewetson and A. Spence and find them superior in flavor to any California, Arizona or Colorado berries. That this is destined to become a wonderful fruit section is now out of question.—Courier.

Where Mead Really Stands.

Albert E. Mead's immediate political sponsor is J. D. Farrell, manager of the Bellingham Bay & British Columbia railroad, which is controlled by the Great Northern. Mr. Donovan was chairman of the Whatcom county steering committee at the Tacoma convention, charged especially with the duty of nominating Mr. Mead either for congress or for governor. It was Mr. Donovan who guaranteed Mr. Mead to J. D. Farrell as a governor the railroad could depend upon.

In the Whatcom county primaries which preceded the state convention A. L. Blavk, mayor of Bellingham, was brought out as a candidate for congress by the McBride and railroad commission forces. The railroad forces brought out Mr. Mead. As local spokesman for the railroads, Mr. Donovan gave out an interview, which was published in the Whatcom Revue of April 29—the day before the Whatcom primaries. In that interview Mr. Donovan said:

"A vote for A. L. Blavk is a vote for McBride. A McBride victory means paralysis of railroad development for years. I can not believe the people will vote for so suicidal a policy either in the county or state."

In the face of this statement from his political godfather, Mr. Mead has the audacity to tell the people that, if elected governor, he would sign a commission bill. Does Mr. Mead dare to say that he would approve a bill which J. J. Donovan, who owns him politically, calls "suicidal" and which Mr. Donovan declares means "paralysis of railroad development for years?" If he does, then he must be written down as a man who would deliberately deceive honest commission voters by false pretenses and humbug. Mr. Mead's political antecedents are too well known for him to hope that honest railroad commission men will give him their votes.—Spokesman-Review.

A FISH OUT OF WATER

The Unfortunate Frolic That Caused Its Untimely Death.

A German scientist—he could only have been a German—once conceived, we are told, a plan to train a fish to live out of water. He placed a thriving little carp in a small tank and with infinite patience and great exactness removed from the tank one spoonful of water every day, at the same time increasing gradually the amount of oxygen in the water. In time the water barely covered the carp, and still it thrived. The quantity of water continued to diminish, and by slowly adapting its method of breathing to the new conditions, the fish began to breathe air and indeed became quite terrestrial in its habits before the tank was entirely dry. The scientist had grown to love the carp. He fed it from his own hand, and now that it was living in the same element with himself he took it from the tank and left it as free to follow its own devices as was the family cat. The little fish also loved its master. It followed him about from place to place, dopping along after him, stopping only occasionally to leap for a passing fly. One day the scientist was crossing a bridge. The carp, as usual, was at his heels, enjoying the pleasant air of the countryside and uttering from time to time a little sound expressive of delight and contentment. About the middle of the bridge a fat housefly was sunning itself on the rail. The carp spied the fly and jumped for it, but miscalculating the distance went over the rail into the river—and was drowned.—Great Round World.

Dressed Turkeys.
Miss Sallie Blake, who lived in Colvert county, Md., some years ago, was in the habit of gathering chicken grapes in the autumn and making them into medicine by preserving them in spirits.

It happened once, after the contents of a jar containing the decoction had been exhausted, that Miss Blake emptied liquor soaked grapes on the ground. Here her fine brood of turkeys quickly gobbled them.

Presently Miss Blake found the turkeys lying on the ground, and not realizing the cause of their stupor she thought they were dead. In order to realize something from the feathers, she had the turkeys picked. The carcasses were thrown outdoors.

The next morning there was a great hue and cry from the servants in the back yard, and, looking out of the window, Miss Blake saw her turkeys walking about absolutely bare except for a few tail and wing feathers.

In order to protect them from the cold, the good woman bought enough red flannel to make each turkey a comfortable garment. Very soon, to the wonder of the neighbors far and wide, Miss Blake's turkeys stalked abroad, wearing their red coats with the same easy grace with which they had worn their feathers.—Youth's Companion.

Queer Revenge.
"Speaking of queer revenge," said an Englishman, "I remember how, according to a friend of mine, the natives of certain villages in India treat their enemies."

"Do you know what they do? They just get a few handfuls of rice and sprinkle it on the roofs of the people they hate."

"Then what do you think happens? Why, then the monkeys come flocking down from all the trees on to that roof after the rice. They eat all there is on the surface of the roof, and then, to get at the stray grains that have lodged in the crannies, they begin to pull the shingles off. Wherever there is a grain to be seen far down in some crack or other place they pull the roof up to get at it, and finally, lo and behold, there is no roof left! The monkeys have torn it all away. Then the man who spread the rice laughs subtly, for he has had his revenge, and yet no one knows and he cannot be punished."

Births.

In the matter of births in general the popular months in their order are January, March, February, April and October. As to the hour of birth, from midnight to 6 o'clock in the morning, 29.5 per cent of the children, from 6 in the morning to noon 24.5 per cent are born, from noon to 6 o'clock in the evening 22 per cent and from 6 o'clock to midnight 24 per cent.

As to the classes arranged according to worldly wealth and without regard to occupation, it has been asserted that 100 rich families will have 313 children, 100 families of moderate means will have 360 children, while 100 poor families will have 370 children. In general, there is a tendency among young couples toward male children and of middle aged parents to female offspring.

Training a Hunting Horse.

The training of a hunting horse is thus described by Sewell Ford in "Horses Nine." When the time was ripe began the hunting lessons. Pasha came to know the feel of the saddle and the voice of the hounds. He was taught the long, easy lope. He learned how to gather himself for a sail through the air over a hurdle or a water jump. Then, when he could take five bars clean, when he could clear an eight foot ditch, when his wind was so sound that he could lead the chase from dawn until high noon, he was sent to the stables of a Virginia tobacco planter who had need of a new hunter and who could afford Arab blood.

Couldn't Find Rosa.

The youngster in the art gallery looked long and earnestly at the painting. Then he read the inscription.
"Do you like it?" asked his mother.
"Oh, I like it well enough," he answered, "but I don't understand it."
"What is it you don't understand?"
"Why, it says 'Wild Horses—After Rosa Bonheur.' I see the horses all right, but where's the girl they're after?"—Chicago Post.

Clews.

"Have you any clews to the murder?"
"We have plenty of clews—too many. In fact."
"Then what are you waiting for?"
"We can't decide which to follow first. If we tried to follow them all, it would take a lifetime."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Chop.

Sadie was eleven and Alice was seven. At lunch said Alice:
"I wonder what part of an animal a chop is. Is it a leg?"
"Of course not," answered Sadie.
"It's the jawbone. Haven't you ever heard of animals licking their chops?"
—Little Chronicle.

Two of a Kind.

Jenkins—What an egotistical fellow Jasper is!
Hawleigh—Not more so than Blare. When the two get together, it reminds me of the law of retaliation; an I for an I, you know.—Boston Transcript.

Very Attentive.

"Mr. Tiffin is awfully attentive to that rich old maiden aunt of his. Haven't you noticed it?"
"Yes; he believes people can be killed by kindness."—Town and Country.

True friends visit us in prosperity only when invited, but in adversity they come without invitation.—Theophrastus.
