Dear Ken:

I received a letter from Puck Hyah Toot today informing me that the roots would not be ready for the feast Easter Sunday as they had hoped, and that the date has been changed to Sunday, April 17.

He also says that there is to be no picture taken during the ceremony "until after dinner. My people get mad at me when I let you do this. So please, no picture taking until after dinner."

It is rather interesting to see the late morning preparations for the feast which begins about 12 o'clock noon. I suspect there will be many visitors there from other reservations and they will jam up the Wanapums and have them thoroughly confused, but I shall ask them to get us a place fixed for one of the servings so you can see just what goes on.

If you could let me know who of you will be coming over, I will write to Puck Hyah Toot and let him know.

Sincerely
