OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA

THERE is a growing disposition among the legal fraternity in this state to begin an agitation with the purpose in view of taking the election of supreme and superior judges out of the mire of party politics. The plan of procedure, it is said, will be to induce the incoming legislature to submit to the people at the next general election a constitutional amendment that will provide for a special election every two or four years for the express purpose of electing judges. The proposed amendment will also define the manner in which nominations shall be made, which could only be by petition. The candidates would be presumed to have the endorsement of the different bar associations which organizations are of course in a better condition to judge of the qualifications of candidates than are political conventions usually controlled by leaders who have their own ends to serve. This seems to be a very reasonable and much needed reform and is calculated to divorce the judiciary effectually from partisan politics. Under the present system these high officials are usually nominated to office either for geographical or purely political reasons. There is really no reason why this should be so except that it is the will of the political bosses. When a man is elevated to the bench he is not presumed to recognize officially either politicians or parties. Then why should the public care what political organization a judge should see fit to vote with if he makes a fair and impartial magistrate. As it is now the state may be deprived of its very best material for judicial service from the fact that many attorneys will not curry favor with the political bosses or else belong to the minority party, which unrighteously precludes them from ever attaining judicial honors.

IT is to be hoped that the scheme recently mooted by some of the leading citizens of this city for the construction of an airline electric road from North Yakima to the growing towns of the Sunnyside district will take tangible shape. Indeed the matter which has hitherto been kept from the public, may be said to have already progressed so far that a syndicate of capitalists have agreed to send a representative here soon to expert the proposition and report on the feasibility of the project and the prospect of the earning power of the proposed road when completed. The most favored route for such a line is said to be through the Moxee valley over a low pass through the hills—where the grade is represented as but little more than two per cent—from there through Parker Bottom to Zillah and thence to the town of Sunnyside. The road would thus run practically all the way of its forty miles in length through an extremely rich agricultural country that has already much business to offer such an enterprise and which will in a few years have several times more. The convenience and great saving that such a road would afford the farming communities that live adjacent to the proposed line would be difficult to estimate. To the merchants and property owners of this city the realization of such a scheme would of course mean much in a business way, which fact should spur the people of the county seat to work in a united way to bring the thing about.

THE recommendation made in the biennial report of the state board of control for the establishment of a state poor farm would appear to be a very wise one. The report plainly sets out the facts that under present conditions the two insane asylums of the state are in an overcrowded condition. Instead of asking for an appropriation with which to build extra room at the present institutions the board asks the legislature to grant the sum of $45,000 with which to purchase and stock a state poor farm. It is intended that the poor farm shall accommodate about 150 patients now confined in the asylums of the harmless and weak minded, but nevertheless physically able type, the support of which element under present conditions is simply a burden to the state. This class do not properly belong in an insane asylum at all, but are sent there only for want of a better place. The most of them are quite able and willing to labor, which opportunity is largely denied them where they now are owing to the lack of facilities. It would seem that this new institution ought to be created by the legislature, as it is calculated to solve a vexed question and save the state a good deal of money. And we might casually mention the fact right here that Yakima county is the proper location for the institution. Our location is central and our climate and soil guarantee the production of the most prolific and profitable class of crops. This is a matter which the Commercial club ought to take up and push if it desires to render this community a real service.

WASHINGTON makes a very gratifying showing in the census returns. Our population as announced is 518,103 as against 349,390 ten years ago, which means an increase of 48.2 per cent. When we come to consider that a period of intense financial depression existed during at least one half of the past decade the percentage of gain is really a wonderful one. A similar rate of increase during the next 10 years would give the Evergreen state a population of something over 750,000. Under any reasonable apportionment bill this state is entitled to an additional congressman which would give us three. The population of Yakima county which is given at 13,462 hardly comes up to expectations, but is, nevertheless, a very fine showing when we consider that in 1890 we had but little over 4700, showing again of nearly 200 per cent., which is exceeded by but one county in the state, Okanogan, which having a very sparse population ten years ago, shows a slightly greater rate of increase. Under fairly favorable conditions this county with its wide expanse of territory may reasonably be expected to duplicate this gain during the coming decade, which would give it in 1910 a population of over 40,000. At any rate it is not a wild prediction that we will have over 30,000.

DURING the past two years especially, the business men of this city, or at least a majority of them, have been the prey of advertising "fakers" and "grafters." Some of this class have been outsiders attracted here by the fact that Yakima has been reported to be a rich field for the craft, but the majority belong to the home species and usually aim to work the already over-taxed business man on the ground of charity or benevolence. In the great majority of instances the money expended in this class of advertising is simply thrown away, as such mediums are very little read by the public and seldom have one-half the circulation that they are purported to have. The "grafter" invariably retorts that the newspapers are against his occupation from a feeling of self interest. Undoubtedly this is true to a great extent, as the newspaper manager well knows that the prudent business man aims to spend a fixed amount yearly in advertising his wares and that when he reaches his limit he usually quits. He knows also that what the "grafter" receives is charged up as though it were against him. The business man depends on the local press to aid him in selling his wares. He does not depend on the "grafter." Therefore why should the latter expect so large a share of the reward? Besides a community owes something to its worthy newspapers for services honestly rendered, while it owes nothing to the tribe of "grafters."

WILLIAM J. BRYAN struck the keynote of the next presidential campaign, says the Aberdeen Herald, when he said that the contest between plutocracy and democracy cannot end until one or the other is completely triumphant. In these words he at once recognizes the nature of the conflict in which he has been thus far a magnificent leader, and indicates the patience and endurance which it demands of those who enlist upon the democratic side.

P. J. Flint and wife left on Monday for a visit in California.

Mrs. H. F. Rock, of the school section, is reported to be very ill.

Miss Grace Bunnell has accepted a position in the music store of Briggs & Dam.

E. B. Hayden, an ex-postmaster of Tacoma, was visiting friends here this week.

Ira J. Gano and Miss Margaret J. Keys, received a license to wed on Thursday.

The Yakima county teachers' association will meet today at the Woodcock academy.

Martin Baker was bound over by Commissioner Howlett on Tuesday for "bootlegging."

R. E. Smith, the stationer, is enjoying a visit from his father, Jas. W. Smith, of Los Angeles.

It is said that Captain J. H. Thomas will soon re-embark in the real estate business in this city.

The Fin de Seicle club gave its first dance of the season at Mason's opera house on Tuesday night.

S. J. Cameron returned home on Thursday morning from a sheep buying expedition to Pendleton, Ore.

Ben E. Snipes is a guest of H. H. Allen. Mr. Snipes returned home about three weeks ago from Cape Nome.

Justice Taggard on Wednesday united in the bonds of matrimony Louis Fulkerson and Miss Myrtle Hinkle, of Tampico.

Mrs. Maude Smith, nee Steiner, of Prineville, Ore., is here visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Reed.

Rev. H. M. Bartlett, J. J. Rudkin and Geo. Bosdet spent most of the week hunting the festive goose in Horse Heaven.

Geo. Murray, the well known passenger conductor on this division of the Northern Pacific, died in Spokane last Sunday of typhoid fever.

Mrs. Watt and daughter, the mother and sister of Earl B. Watt, left for their home at Forest Grove, Ore., after enjoying a most pleasant visit here.

Rev. Thomas Pearne, the leading divine on the reservation has gone to Washington to pow wow with the great father over reservation matters.

Henry Kampeter while riding home on horse back last Friday night was suddenly thrown from his horse with the result that his collar bone was broken which will have the effect of laying him up for sometime.

John Richmond, of Yakima City, has returned from Humboldt county, Cal., whither he went sometime ago to bring home his wife and child who have been visiting there for several months with Mrs. Richmond's parents.

Edith Coy McAllister has begun suit for divorce against her husband, Alex McAllister, the well known sheepman of Yakima City. The wife's complaint alleges cruelty as the cause of action. The couple were married last June.

Two draymen, Messrs. Minner and Curry, got into an altercation at the freight depot on Monday and resorted to the so called manly art to settle their differences. The result, it seems, was that the latter got the best of the argument.

Lee Cody, of this city and Alex. Brandenburg of Toppenish will leave tomorrow for their old home at Memphis, Mo., on a three months visit to relatives. Mr. Cody will visit his sister, Mrs. W. A. Cox, at Medical Lake for a day or two before resuming his journey.

Public sentiment seems to be crystallizing in favor of the paving of Yakima avenue and the hope is generally expressed that the new council will take speedy action in the matter. The street is now in a most deplorable condition and some of the business men are complaining bitterly.

Six homestead locations were made at the land office on Thursday, two by Spokane men in the Horse Heaven country, the others by James J. Hayes, Samuel Hayes, Peter Schuller and Norman Carr, of Ellensburg, on land in Kittitas that is expected to come under the proposed new ditch.

As was announced exclusively in THE DEMOCRAT last week, E. C. Burlingame has been awarded the contract for the construction of the "high line" canal in the Moxee. On Monday the energetic contractor was on the scene of operations with a force of men and teams and began work. The promoters of the scheme hope to have water for irrigation purposes by May 1st.

A number of ranchers who were in town on Wednesday were taken unawares by the sheriff to serve as jurors. Some 50 or 60 talesmen were summoned in all. This action was necessary because of the fact that the five men accused of box car robbery had to be tried separately and regular panel jurors were disqualified from sitting in more than one case as the evidence against the men was of a similar character.

Richard Golden, in the character of "Old Jed Prouty," the down-east tavern keeper, and his splendid company delighted a fair sized audience at Larson's theater on Wednesday night. Until about five o'clock it seemed uncertain as to whether the play would be put on the boards or not, owing to a dispute over the percentage to be paid between the company and the theater management. It is generally conceded among theater goers that the company is the best that has visited Yakima this season.

Deputy Marshal Dilley in obedience to an order from Judge Hanford of the federal court, has removed all U. S. prisoners from the county to the city jail, where they are now being boarded and looked after by Marshal Grant and his assistants. His honor is said to have ordered this step taken as a result of representations being made to him that unjustifiable cruelty had been practiced on one of the prisoners by a deputy sheriff. This version of the affair is indignantly denied at the sheriff's office, where they claim that the change was brought about by local influence.

It is understood that the State Board of Audit and Control will recommend in its report to the legislature that a tract of land be purchased in this valley for the purpose of establishing an industrial home calculated to care for that class of insane patients that are able and have the disposition to work. There are said to be 100 of such at Steilacoom and 50 at Medical Lake. This labor Mr. Snively thinks could be profitably employed in the production of hops, hay and fruit in this valley. The conditions surrounding the asylum at Steilacoom and Medical Lake practically forbid the carrying out of such a program at those places.

A Raise in Salaries.

The result of the new census makes Yakima a county of the 14th class and will have the effect of increasing the salary of the court house officials as follows: Sheriff $1500, now $1200; treasurer $1500, now $1400; clerk, $1400, now $1200; auditor $1500, now $1400; attorney $1200, now $900; school superintendent, $1200, now $750. In short the classification while it may be a good thing for the office holders, will mean an additional expense to the taxpayers of this county of nearly $2000 per annum. According to the state constitution, however, the change cannot effect any of the present officials.

Brown's in Town.

"Brown's in Town" is the clever title of the latest farce which will be given its first presentation in this city Monday, Dec. 17. The lines in "Brown's in Town" are said to be brilliant and witty and upon investigation one finds that there are a great many reasons for Brown remaining in town. One of the principal reasons is the fact that he wishes to keep his marriage a secret from his father, who does not want him to take a wife until he reaches the age of twenty-five. Brown is an assumed name, and is a good fellow—not the farce comedy good fellow, but a manly man. The tone of "Brown's in Town" is said to be above the average farce, but it is none the less amusing, and it is all the more agreeable for that.

Beit's Gold Trust.

Mr. Alfred Beit, of London and South Africa, whose ambition it is to become the richest man in the world, is justified in his argument that, since the world's diamond output has been monopolized under syndicate control, the gold output may be manipulated in similar manner.

It is but natural, therefore, that a man of Beit's daring, energy and vast financial aspirations should be planning to effect a combination which shall virtually amount to a gold trust.

Provided that he marshals sufficient capital behind him in the movement, the thing is simple. It is merely a question of buying up the gold producing mines in all quarters of the globe and of placing his syndicate representatives in control of the properties.

The cable story from London which tells of this gigantic scheme being now put under way by the Anglo-African multi-millionaire is right in declaring that its successful culmination would place all the great powers of the world at the mercy of Beit's colossal gold trust. About the only government secure against such a combination is Russia, which itself owns and operates the Russian gold mines as state property. The remaining powers would apparently be helpless against the Titanic combine.

This would mean that Beit and his associates would control the money supply of the world. It brings to the front the concrete materialization of the monopolistic combine as the master of governments. Just what would follow the full development of this condition it is not easy to foretell. The gold magnates would be more powerful than kings or presidents or other accepted rulers. The gold trust would be a supreme autocracy. Its government would be the government of men by the dollar. Are the best fruits of civilization to be found in such government.—St. Louis Republic.

At Hanna's Command.

Not more convincing proof of the potency of Mark Hanna's influence in controlling American public affairs of the present time could well be possible than is found in the fact that the ship subsidy bill is the first measure to be taken up by the United States senate in its resumption of unfinished business.

The ship subsidy bill is quite generally understood to have been framed for the especial and well nigh exclusive benefit of the Hanna-Payne-Frye standard oil syndicate. It was Senator Hanna's masterful will which compelled the senate to consider this measure ahead of all other bills now awaiting senate action. It was Senator Frye, the bill's sponsor, who led in its discussion, arrogantly demanding favorable action.

Back of Mark Hanna and Senator Frye and the syndicate interests that are to profit from the proposed tax of $200,000,000 levied upon the American people, stands President McKinley, indebted to Mark Hanna and to the syndicates for his election and re-election to the presidency. All the influence possible to the administration will be exerted in behalf of the ship subsidy bill, the word of command for a solid republican support having been spoken in the president's message to congress. The ship subsidy bill is typically a party measure.—St. Louis Republic.

Dr. Burns, the new physician, has purchased the fine residence property of J. E. Ryan on Natchez avenue.

Robert W. Scott, son of County Assessor Scott, was married on Tuesday to Miss Elsie French of the Natchez.

Samuel Sturman and Miss Jessie Deboer of Sunnyside, received a license to wed on Monday, as did also A. R. Parker and Miss Nellie Lamberson of the Natchez.

A. B. Weed, who is now the owner of what was known as the Schlotfeldt block on the avenue, had the name of the former owners chiseled from the facade this week.

A Mr. Cultum of Stanwood, Wash., was in town this week with the object in view of looking up a location for a creamery. The gentleman ought to be able to find what he wants in this county.

T. A. Davis, the marble man, expects in the near future to erect a neat and commodious building on his property situated on West Yakima avenue, in which to carry on his growing business.

S. O. Ewing, who sold out his coal business several months ago is now engaged in the sheep business, having recently purchased a band consisting of 2000 head, which he is wintering in the Moxee.

Superior court was forced to adjourn on Monday until the following morning owing to the non-arrival of several witnesses in the Kiona robbery case. Their absence was due to the delayed train from the east.

The new officers elected by the local post of the G. A. R. on Saturday last, are C. V. Bissell, commander; L. R. Lovell, senior vice-commander; J. G. Peck, junior vice-commander and N. H. Yeates, quartermaster.

A. R. Dennis on Monday bought the lease and fixtures of the building occupied by B. N. Coe & Co. as a news stand and has turned the same into a most inviting looking cigar store with club rooms in connection.

Rupert Hand of Spokane, a cousin of the late Lewis Hand, has applied through his attorneys, Jones & Guthrie, for letters of administration on the estate of the deceased, whose death was chronicled in this paper last week.

Under the new legislative apportionment to be made by the legislature this week, Yakima county will be easily entitled to a senator and two representatives. This fact has already set some of the local politicians to figuring.

The militia boys had a good turnout on Friday night at their first ball of the season in the armory. The boys are now planning a grand military ball on Washington's birthday, which they say will be the biggest thing in that line Yakima has seen for many a day.

Herman Falk, a newcomer from Johnson county, Iowa, who has purchased a home in the vicinity of Sunnyside, made this office a call on Tuesday and left his name on our subscription book. Mr. Falk thinks that the rapid settlement of the Sunnyside district is something phenomenal.

Justice Taggard on Sunday last tied the matrimonial knot that now binds together A. J. Moreira and Miss Daisy Wheeler. The bride is the 18 year old daughter of Frank Wheeler of this city, while the groom who is a native of Portugal is employed as a section man on the railroad.

The pupils of Fairview school under the management of their teacher, Miss Hagy, will give an entertainment consisting of recitations, dialogues, etc., on Friday, the 21st inst. A small admission fee will be charged and the proceeds will be used to purchase decorations for the school room.

Geo. LaRoche is regarded by his friends as one of the luckiest men in the community, because of the fact that he discovered and filed recently upon a quarter section of land in the Moxee which will be under the new ditch. The land was covered up under old and now worthless filings and was not supposed to be open for entry.

Miss Ella Bryson, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bryson, was married at her home on Saturday evening to Mr. Martin Martin, a popular young clerk in Schott's department store. The newly wedded couple have commenced keeping house in the Scott residence on Fourth street.

N. H. Lillie, better known as "Vade" Lillie, has concluded to try life in the Philippine islands for a while. He has accordingly leased his fine ranch at Toppenish in tracts to Messrs. Gilbert and Bounds of this city and some parties in Seattle. Mrs. Lillie and the children will continue to reside in East Portland.

Attorney Will Thompson appeared in the superior court on Monday demanding the body of Williams, the man arrested about a month ago at Union, Ore., on the charge of being the murderer of W. W. Scott of Kiona. As there was no tangible evidence on which to connect Williams with the crime he was accordingly released. Williams claimed to be a coal miner by trade and there is nothing to strengthen the suspicion that he was Scott's murderer.

A Change About the Place.

The place don't seem just like it did before she went away,
It's all so still and lonesome—not a word from her all day,
The old mare whinnies still when I go to the stable door,
But, somehow, things seem different since she ain't here no more.

The vines creep up along the porch just as she trained 'em to;
The flowers grow along the fence, just as they used to do;
The house is left just as it was, but still it seems, today,
As if it wasn't just the place from which she went away.

The sun still gets to peepin' in that window over there
Along to'rds breakfast time, and there's her high backed rockin' chair;
The creek's still flowin' where it flowed—the water cool and clear—
But still, somehow, it ain't the place it was when she was here.

The hedge still fences in the lane, just as it did when she Would come, at dinner time, and call across the fields to me—
But where that steeple peeps above the hill she's sleepin' now,
And everything's got all turned 'round, it seems to me, somehow.

This doesn't seem like home no more, and often through the day
I get to thinkin' 'tish' her, but me that's gone away—
That she's at home there on the hill, a callin' soft and low,
And that I'm goin' back, and glad it's nearly time to go.

—Chicago Times-Herald.

Quits Pulpit to Tramp.

Rev. Charles Merriam, of Highland Congregational church, of Lowell, Mass., a Yale graduate and a former editor of the Yale News, in an old suit of clothes and a flannel shirt, with his belongings strapped in a blanket, left his home on May 11 and roughed it for three months, going from Boston to Portland, Me., and from there to Colorado. He has just returned to his pulpit. He mingled with the laboring folk, working as a deck hand on a canal boat and resorting to conventional travel only when he had to. His aim was to study the people. One of his most interesting experiences was on the canals of New York State. At Troy he shipped on an old-fashioned mule power canal boat and went 352 miles. He lived in the crew's quarters, took a hand in all the work and learned locking and steering. He says of his associates:

"Strange men I found these poor fellows—these offscourings of the earth. Coarse, profane, even evil, yet under this rough exterior I found often a marvelous amount of mental capacity. Poor fellows. They all wanted to get away from the life, but they never do."—Ex.

Paid Dear for His Leg.

B. D. Blanton of Thackerville, Tex., in two years paid over $300 to doctors to cure a running sore on his leg. Then they wanted to cut it off, but he cured it with one box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Guaranteed cure for Piles. 25c a box. Sold by Quiett & Ayres Drug Co.

A Good Move.

The lawyers of the state have started a movement to take the judiciary out of politics. The plan provides that the supreme and superior judges shall be elected at the judicial election; that no general election nor municipal election in cities of over 10,000 inhabitants shall be held within 60 days of said judicial election; that nominations for judges of the supreme and superior courts of the state shall be made by petition, and that no candidate who shall knowingly accept the nomination or endorsement of any organization or party shall have his name printed on the official ticket, nor shall any votes cast for him be counted. A constitutional amendment is required to effect his change from the present system, but if the bar of the state will give active support to the movement it will not be difficult to succeed. The only opposition is likely to come from politicians, and if they are given to understand that the movement is popular, they, too, will support it. We all know the strength or weakness which a party nomination carries. But the lawyers of the state are not the only ones interested in securing a non-partisan judiciary. Every citizen should be interested. If the coming legislature will only submit the amendment to the voters, they will do the rest. And the legislature will submit it if their constituents will give them to understand what is wanted.—Mt. Vernon Argus.

Boers Will Be Welcome.

There would be an eminent fitness in the establishment in this country of a settlement of Boers from the downtrodden Transvaal. There is no country that can offer them land upon conditions so favorable to their future prosperity. And as a protest against British oppression, their settlement here would be in accordance with the proud precedent of our history.

One of the earliest and most notable colonies established in this country, that of Massachusetts Bay, owed its origin to the persecution by the British government of the Puritans. The largest accession to our population from any single country relative to its size came from Ireland between 1841 and 1860—people driven from their homes by the famine caused by English misrule. And the largest contributions of all to our composite nation since 1841 have been made by the people of Germany, millions of whom have here found a refuge from the oppressive burdens of militaryism.

The territory of the United States has indeed from the beginning provided an asylum and a home for a vast multitude of victims of tyranny and misgovernment that have come to it from nearly every country in Europe. So that if any large number of the Boers should elect to settle in this country they would find their surroundings congenial and their welcome as hearty as that which we have extended alike to the Germans, the Irish, the Poles, the Scandinavians and the Italians. Uncle Sam's latchstring, as Mr. Lowell says, is one "that never was drawn in against the poorest child of Adam's kin," and it is out for the hard-pressed people of Oom Paul.—N.Y. World.

Glasses are often an improvement—always so on the face of one who really needs them. They drive away that squinting, drawn, unnatural expression seen in defective eyes.

The old style, heavy bowed, ill-fitting and ill-looking spectacles, fitted by one's self or incompetents, have given people the idea that glasses detract from one's appearance. Our light, strong, serviceable glasses enhance rather than spoil the looks of the wearer. Eye defects a specialty.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7, 1900.

The republican leaders in congress are on their knees to the brewers, begging to be let off with a small reduction in the tax on beer, instead of the entire war tax as demanded by the brewers. All this has been brought about in a week. A week ago the republican members of the ways and means committee refused to even consider a reduction in the beer tax. Since then Representative Babcock, who was chairman of the republican congressional committee and knew all about campaign contributions and promises, has succeeded Dolliver, of Iowa, who has gone to the senate, as a member of the ways and means committee, and has told the republican members thereof a few things, as Mr. Hanna has also done. Now it is no longer a question of whether there will be a reduction of the beer tax, but of how small a reduction the brewers can be cajoled into accepting. The bill as reported from the ways and means committee makes a reduction of 40 cents a barrel in the beer tax, but it is not yet certain that the brewers will accept that.

While the democratic caucus on the army bill which was railroaded through the house this week, did not agree upon any party policy in opposing the bill in the limited time allowed them were practically unanimous in objecting to the imperial powers given the president, of increasing the regular army from 58,000, the minimum number provided by the bill, to 100,000 men whenever so disposed and of retaining it at the highest figures as long as he wanted to. The democrats agreed that it was more power than congress ever placed in one man's hands and more than should be given to any man. Other objectionable features were pointed out by democrats, but that is all that they could do. Mr. McKinley's orders had been issued to Speaker Henderson, and of course the bill was passed.

Senator Clay, of Georgia, made a strong point against the ship subsidy bill, to admit that if it became a law the annual subsidy of a twenty-one knot ship would be $304,000. Senator Clay also called attention to the fact that the ten and twelve knot ships which carry the agricultural products of the country will not receive more than one-third of the subsidy provided for the fast passenger vessels which carry no agricultural products. Senator Vest offered an amendment to the bill repealing all laws prohibiting the purchase of foreign built ships for use in the foreign carrying trade of the United States or imposing taxes or restrictions upon such, and giving American citizens the right to purchase vessels anywhere and for any purpose and to have them registered as ships of the United States.

Representative Crumpacker, of Indianapolis, has introduced an apportionment bill which cuts down the congressional representation of four southern states—North Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana and Mississippi—but nobody has any idea that the bill will ever receive any serious consideration. Crumpacker himself says the bill represents only his personal views and was introduced without any assurances that it would be supported.

Senator Tillman got a bill through the senate without opposition, appropriating $70,000 for a government building at the Interstate and West Indian exposition, to be held at Charleston, S. C., Dec. 1, 1901, to June 1, 1902, and $250,000 to aid the furtherance of the exposition.

It is understood that the revival of the grade of vice-admiral, recommended by Secretary Long and provided for in the bill introduced by Senator Hale, is to make a place to which rear Admiral Sampson can be promoted by Mr. McKinley. Rear Admiral Schley has many warm friends in congress and they may have a word or two to say about this scheme before it gets through.

Students of human nature as exhibited in the political world are trying to reconcile Mr. McKinley's words with his acts. In the closing paragraph of his message were words which read like a patriotic warning to congress not to be led into making extravagant appropriations just because there was a lot of money in the treasury, and now Mr. McKinley is using all his power to drive objecting republican senators into the support of one of the most extravagant appropriations ever before congress—that for ship subsidies, which will put millions into the pockets of the already rich owners of the fast mail and passenger steamships and next to nothing in the pockets of those who own the slow freighters, which carry our manufactures and products.

With the taking of the vote in the house on the oleomargarine bill one of the longest and most bitter fights that ever took place in the house, in which there was no partisan politics, was brought to a close, although it will doubtless be renewed in the senate.

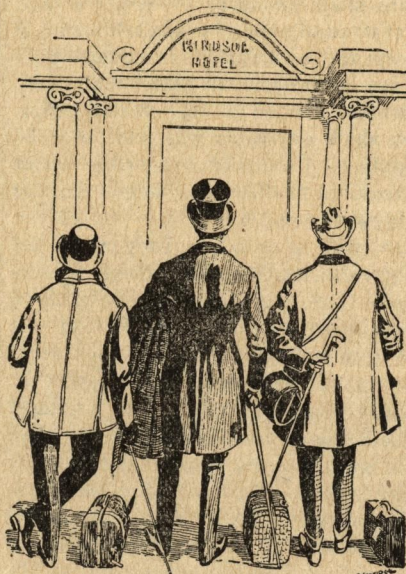

Senator Pettigrew reminded the administration that he was still in the ring, and that he had heard about the suppressed report of the expert accountant on the stealings in Cuba, by offering a resolution calling for any additional information that had been received by the government about Cuban finances. The resolution was sent to the committee on relations with Cuba, to die.

Where the Bacteria Come From.

We might ask where they do not come from and have a very small list of places for an answer. They come from everywhere where there is dust. Nothing escapes them, everything is infected with them. Fortunately by far the greater per cent of them are harmless, and we forget that they are always present with us. It is only when the dairyman finds his milk off that he begins to inquire as to their birthplace and habitat. Perhaps the most prolific place around the farm is the cowhouse and its surroundings. The decomposing manure and urine form a nest in which bacteria multiply by millions. The silo adds its portion. The holes and corners, in which damp food is left to sour, hold other legions, and in fact every place where organic matter and water come together is a source of germs that come forth to give the dairyman trouble. There are many places where bacteria are useful and in their proper place, but be sure that the milk pail is not among the number. No germs belong there. The corners should not hold bacteria nor the cracks bacilli. See that the sides are not contaminated with micrococci, nor the bottom with diplococci. Keep them in the manure and the silo, where they belong. There they are at home, but in the milk pail they can only cause more kinds of trouble than is necessary, and the life of a dairyman is not so full of gayety that he can afford to decrease it in the least by want of attention to those small bodies which are at once his bane and his necessity.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Brown's in Town.

The lively farce, "Brown's in Town," comes to Larson's Monday, Dec. 17, where the audience will surely laugh over the string of complications which are said to furnish endless fun through the three acts. The author has done some clever work as a farceur in this play, both in ingenious arrangement and abundance of farcical incidents, with catchy songs, bring music, and also in the crisp and buoyant humor of the dialogue. The story tells chiefly of the troubles which surround a newly wedded young couple who wish to keep their marriage a secret until they can devise some good reason for breaking the news to the groom's father, who strenuously objects to his son's marrying until he reaches a certain age. Many friends and relatives disturb the early connubial happiness of the young couple who hide in a nearby country place and assume the name of Brown, and the plans and subterfuges necessary to get rid of them are cleverly worked out. The farce is played throughout with invigorating briskness.

Redemption of Arid Lands.

While our state has many thousand of acres of land in the eastern district, that but await natures life-giving element—moisture—to make it blossom with promise and develop golden harvests, our people should find a lively interest in the efforts of an organization known as the National Irrigation association, whose labors have culminated in the ninth annual session of an irrigation congress, held in Chicago, Nov. 24th.

Resolutions were adopted by the congress placing the great benefits to be derived from a systematic method of utilizing the waters now running to waste before the president and national legislature, with a view of obtaining an appropriation adequate to promote the grand object.

Every western paper is interest in seeing this development accomplished. What would be the result of an appropriation of eight or ten million dollars spent annually in the west for irrigation construction! The immediate stimulation would be enormous and the future benefit greater. This policy should be inaugurated and the western press should urge it with one voice. It is a national matter; it can be productive only of great good; the east is responsive; will the west be aggressive; it is time to work.

It is the opinion at Washington that $30,000,000 will be appropriated by this congress for river and harbor improvements. Of this the western half of the United States will get, judging by previous records, a couple of million or so. Whatever are her possibilities, it is not contended that the west is as important or influential as the east. She has not yet the dense population; but why should she not get at least a fair share of this great appropriation? Why should she not get a fourth of it, to be applied to the building of great storage reservoirs to be filled with flood waters for use in irrigation, under a system of internal improvements?

The government is spending large sums in aiding in development of foreign trade and the opening of foreign markets for American manufacturers. It is believed that we should push our goods into every market of the world and sell them. The belief is also gaining ground that the government should also develop its home market for American products and manufacturers. This it could do by reclaiming the 75,000,000 acres of western arid land and setting them with thousands of industrious home builders. Eastern merchants are more than willing to see such an undertaking. The west should take the initiative.—Olympia Standard.

A "Sure Thing" Bet.

Those who are unsportsmanlike enough to bet on a sure thing might try this: A bets that B cannot endure a piece of ice on his arm for two minutes, A to select a place between the fingers and the elbow. B bares his arm, and A puts a lump of ice on the pulse in the wrist. In 41 seconds usually the pain becomes so great that B gives it up. This catch originated on the London Stock Exchange. It is said that Guy Kickalls, the oarsman, is the only one who ever endured the pain two minutes.

A Denial.

"So," exclaimed Senator Sorghum indignantly, "that man told you my vote was for sale?"

"He said so in so many words."

"Well, you can go to him and refute the calumny. It's for rent once in awhile, but never for sale."

Nominate at the Primaries.

The Commoner is pleased to note that a bill is to be introduced at the coming session of the legislature providing for the nomination of candidates at the primaries and doing away with caucuses and conventions. The bill is to be patterned after the one passed in Minnesota, which has worked very successfully.

This method of making nominations has always been favored by the Commoner. It is a step toward direct legislation. It will result in the nomination of better men and do away with the trading and jobbing, characteristic of conventions. The people who are to elect the officers are the best judges of the candidates to be nominated. In a convention made up of a comparatively few delegates, the friends of the various candidates, can form combinations and as a result not the best men, but the best traders and wire pullers, too frequently secure the nominations. But when the rank and file of the party have the right to vote directly on the men to make up their tickets, trades cannot be made and the judgment of the people will overcome the schemes of the politicians.—Colfax Commoner.

If the state will now offer a bounty for each gallon of oil produced from wells drilled in the state we may be able to defy the trust octopus.—Tacoma News.

While the republicans indignantly denied that their party favored either imperialism or trusts, before election, now that danger of popular revolution has passed, some of the more daring leaders declare that the result is an expression for a stronger form of government and has completely settled the ascendancy of the trust in American business. It is reported that there is war in the republican camp of this state over the disposition of the federal positions during the next four years. John L. Wilson, who was reported to have relinquished political ambition, finds it impossible to gracefully accept the position of a has-been, and is struggling to keep his friends in their positions. Senator Foster claims that he is IT, and that his friends should have the salaries. The democrats are not concerned with the political features of the case, but as citizens they are as much interested in seeing proper appointments as anybody and if the Foster slate is correct as published, the overthrow of Wilsonism will not prove any gain to the public service.—Mt. ### Against Colonialism.

The Massachusetts anti-imperialist leaders and especially the Springfield Republican, which has championed the cause of freedom and American institutions with so much ability are to be congratulated on the demonstration of their influence. It is to be noted that plucky Representative McCall, of Boston received 3,200 more votes than were cast for McKinley in his district. Mr. McCall was one of the handful of republican members of the house of representatives who had the courage to stand out against the president's abandonment of plain duty in regard to Porto Rico last winter. This is a significant straw. It shows that a large number of Massachusetts republicans are opposed to the whole imperialist project. We do not think there can be any doubt that on that single question, if it could be submitted by itself, the people of Massachusetts and of all New England would show a large majority against colonialism.—Hartford Times.

Russ, Son of Benjamin.

It is reasonably certain that the United States army will suffer no irreparable loss through the discharge from its line of commissioned officers of Lieutenant Colonel R. Harrison, son of Benjamin of that ilk, once president of the United States. Colonel Harrison did not rise above mediocrity in the profession of arms.

Nevertheless, there are many mediocre officers still in the service, and likely to remain, and it is certain as well that Russ Harrison would not have been "fired" had it not been for his father's folly in daring to antagonize the McKioley crowd during the late national campaign. As the son of one president and the great grandson of another, who was a famous soldier in his day, the young fellow had some claim to be allowed a career in the army. His father, however, seems to have "queered" his boy with the McKinleyites.

It was Benjamin Harrison's declaration that the passage of the Porto Rican tariff bill "constituted a wide departure from right principles" which made Russell Harrison's discharge from the army certain. A president who had reversed himself on that measure at the dictation of the sugar trust, and who knew he was wrong in so doing, could not forgive such an utterance. It was not possible to reach and punish Benjamin Harrison, but Russ was within easy arm's length—and Russ got it good and hard in the jaw, the concussion knocking his shoulder straps off.

And so it goes in these petty days of the Hanna-McKinley syndicate control of government. Nobody cares a snap of the finger that Russ Harrison must now take off his uniform—but it's such a spiteful little way of getting even with a confessedly great constitutional lawyer who dared to tell the truth of McKinley's violation of the American constitution.—St. Louis Republic.

Synopsis of Report of Mining Engineer Wood on the Blue Jacket Mine Near Nelson Siding.

John Michels, of this city, who is president of the Blue Jacket Mining company, has lately received a very flattering and optimistic report on the company's property, which is situated near Nelson siding on the line of the Northern Pacific road in Kittitas county. This report was made by Mr. W. J. Wood, an experienced mining engineer, who has lately been employed to expert the property.

Owing to the fact that quite a large number of Yakima people are financially interested in this enterprise, we publish a synopsis of the report of Mr. Wood in order to show an experts opinion on the intrinsic value of the Blue Jacket property.

"The Blue Jacket is conveniently located in the foot hills of the Cascades near Nelson Siding which is about six miles west of CleElum. The property is situated about one half a mile from the railroad and parallels the Yakima river which flows by its base.

So accessible is the Blue Jacket that it can be reached and worked at any season of the year. In his report the expert says: "There is a well defined ledge of porphory with iron capping and blue limestone for a foot wall, outcropping at a high attitude, which is all of 500 feet above the river, sufficient to make a large lift for tunneling or sinking shaft. The work done on the property is in the shape of tunneling, sinking pits, prospect holes in places which exposes the mineral zone showing the full extent of the vein matter, carrying large values. The vein resembles a true fissure, the foot wall being of a light blue limestone and the hanging wall of iron capping, which has peacock colors passing through it; it is the country rock for porphory, in other words it is an up shoot and a mineral dyke, carrying a large vein of mineral, which indicates a rich ore deposit. The ore is of a porphory character and assays taken from the different prospect holes and pits, demonstrate the value therein to be all the way from $4.40 up to $43 per ton as follows:

No. 1.....	$4 40
No. 2.....	4 90

"These samples were all taken out at the time of the development of the mine some few years ago, and promise greater value on working deeper. I estimate that with a proper and sufficient development of the above properties as shown by the recent values found to both class the land as a good mineral zone, with mineral in character to pay upon an investment."

Down on Wilson.

The spectacle of Senator John I. Wilson in Washington seeking, to dispense the federal patronage in this state is highly amusing, if not to say extremely ridiculous. The administration knows that he is no longer senator; that he has been turned down hard in the politics of the state, and that he has himself announced and amid his own tears, too, that he had withdrawn from politics. Yet in the face of these facts, Wilson is in Washington to interfere with the appointments for this state. Senator Foster, being a republican and under a republican administration, is the one to name the federal officers. What right has Wilson in Washington for this purpose? Certainly he has none. He is simply making a sorrowful spectacle of himself. He must know that the suggestions made by the republican senator will be approved by the administration when the time for final action comes. To oppose Foster's recommendations, is certainly like Wilson, but it will avail him nothing. He is a back number.—Walla Walla Union (Rep.)

The Paying Subscriber.

How dear to my heart is the steady subscriber, who pays in advance at the birth of each year, who lays down his dollar and does it quite gladly and casts 'round the office a halo of cheer. He never says stop it, I can't afford it, nor I'm getting more papers now than I read; but always send it, the family likes it, in fact we all think it a real household need. How welcome he is when he steps into our sanctum. How he makes our hearts throb, how he makes our hearts dance! We outwardly thank him, we inwardly bless him; the steady subscriber who pays in advance—Ex.

Commercial Club Doings.

At the meeting of the governing board of the Commercial Club on Saturday night it was decided by a majority vote on the recommendation of the entertainment committee to remove the partition between the assembly room and the card room in order to furnish more space for the season's entertainments.

A motion for the appointment of a permanent committee on immigration and advertising was carried. President Horsley appointed as such committee Messrs. Hall, Larson and Hough. A suggestion from Dr. Gunn that the committee take steps to acquaint the emissaries of the Boer colonists with the advantages of the Yakima country was favorably acted upon.

A proposition to hold the club's socials in the Mason opera house was voted down.

Dr. Chas. E. White was elected as a member of the club.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Wm. M. Duffy and Miss Olive Thomas were granted a marriage license on Thursday.

Miss Lilly Michels, the charming daughter of Landlord Michels of the Hotel Bartholet, will be married at 3 p. m. on Christmas day to Mr. J. Branshaw of St. Paul, Minn.

Dan Sinciair, of the Natchez, recently made a trip through the Willamette valley, presumably in search of a new location. On his return Mr. Sinclair immediately took his fine ranch off the market and says now that Yakima is good enough for him.

Superior court adjourned on Thursday evening until Saturday morning. This was made necessary by the fact that the cases of Barrick and Steyens, accused respectively of manslaughter and grand larceny, were set for Friday, and neither could be tried, for the reason that the former had jumped his bail and the prosecuting witness in the latter case failed to appear.

There was a scene at the "Jed Prouty" show at Larson's theater Wednesday night which was not down on the bills. It seems that Manager Bosdet, of Mason's opera house, had made a prior contract with the company, which he afterward canceled, at their request, for a small consideration in the shape of an order on the company's treasurer. The latter refused to honor the order, which precipitated a row. He subsequently paid it, however, on pain of having the company's effects attached. The claim being a just one, those familiar with the facts characterize "Old Jed's" roast before the curtain line as being in exceeding bad taste.

Superior Court Grist.

The first four days of this week were occupied by the Superior Court in the trial of the five prisoners held for the looting of a Northern Pacific freight car at Kiona in October last. It was presumed by the court officials that after Watson, the first to be tried, had been convicted that the others would take the cue and plead guilty, thus saving the county the expense of a series of trials, but the culprits steadfastly refused to do this and each demanded a jury trial. This has been given them and the result is a conviction in each case. Being without money the prisoners were unable to employ counsel and Judge Davidson appointed the following attorneys to defend them: Vestal Snyder for Watson, Ira P. Englehart for Porter, W. P. Guthrie for Wilson, H. J. Snively for Dillard and I. M. Krutz for Williams.

The attorneys put forth their best efforts in behalf of their clients, but the evidence was too strong to prevent conviction.

The latter attorney caused a ripple of amusement in the court room, when in his plea to the jury he likened his client in his forlorn and penniless condition, to the "meek and lowly Nazarene." This touching comparison, however, did not seem to affect the minds of the "gentlemen of the jury."

When the case of Geo. Barrick was called, the accused failed to appear. It developed that he had skipped out last week leaving his bondsmen in the lurch. Barrick had been indicted for manslaughter being accused of the murder of a squaw below Yakima City last June. Barrick was out on $500 bail, and his bondsmen are A. J. Shaw, E. W. Dooley, J. A. Orchard, S. W. Ferris, S. E. Jones and E. C. Richards.

Church Notices.

The deep interest still continues at the Christian church. Elder Crockett will fill the pulpit of Evangelist Vail, at Seattle Sunday morning and evening. The subjects presented this week are of deep interest to everyone in or out of the church. The subject Friday evening will be "The Highest Crown," Saturday evening, "The Debt I Owe." Meetings will continue over Sunday. Everyone invited to make one of a large audience.

The annual meeting of the Congregational church will be held Dec. 27th. At 6 p. m. the ladies of the church will serve dinner in the church parlors for all members and supporters of the church, after which the regular annual business of the church will be transacted. 14-2t

Angora Goats.

The Angora goat is probably destined to become one of the most valuable of the domestic animals, and recent manifestations being shown in behalf of the goats are something that they have long deserved, and the growers have quickly grasped the opportunity to demonstrate the merits of the goat, and they have now almost entirely abolished the prejudice which has so long existed against the Angora venison as a food, says E. H. Jobson, secretary Sierra County Goat and Sheep Growers' association, Lake Volley, New Mexico, in Shepherd's Bulletin.

There are more goats in this immediate vicinity than there are in any other one community, there being nearly 18,000 head, ranging from 300 to over 2,000 head in each flock. The average price obtained for our mohair, for a six months' clip was 23½¢ per pound. This is a good average, and is self-evident as to the grades of our goats.

There are four growers of goats who are paying special attention to the breeding of fine stock, and the result during the past three years has developed some very fine stock, and for which good prices have been obtained.

In the writer's opinion there is a great future before the Angora goat, because of its many fine points, and the valuable use that can be made of it on the farm. The hair from an Angora goat makes a fabric that rivals that of silk. A good goat will produce from four to six pounds of this class of mohair, which ranges in price from 25 to 40 cents per pound, according to the length, quality and luster of the hair.

The most valuable services that can be had from an Angora goat on a farm is in clearing brush land. There is nothing that kills brush and trees quicker than the constant nibbling away of the tender leaves and bark which constitute the best feed for goats, although they eat any class of food that is fed to domestic animals. There is no reason in the world why the Angora venison should not be considered as dainty a meat as that of the deer. If the health of the animal is a criterion as to the purity of the meat, there is no meat as pure as that of the Angora goat.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

At the annual meeting of the fire department on Thursday night officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: Chief, C. M. Hauser; assistant chief, Volney Taft; secretary, J. C. Liggett; treasurer, A. R. Sinclair. The boys concluded to give a mask ball at Mason's opera house on Christmas night and the usual committees were appointed to have charge of the matter.

The following prizes will be offered: Best costumed couple, $10; best waltzing couple, $5; best sustained character, $4; most comic character, $4; best Martha Washington, $2.50; best squaw, $2.50; smallest couple, $2; largest couple, $2; first couple in cake walk, $10; second couple, $7.50; third couple, $5. There must be not less than eight couples to take part in the cake walk; no gentleman dressed as a woman can compete for prizes.

Shocks From Live Wires.

"It is a singular fact," said an electrician of this city, "that the human body is capable of becoming more or less inured to shocks from live wires. I suppose the average scientist would scout the idea, but what I say is borne out by everyday experience. The employees of a big electric light works, for instance, are continually receiving shocks that would disable an ordinary man, but are apparently none the worse for the experience.

"I remember some time ago a couple of young fellows came in contact accidentally with a live wire at a manufactory here in town, and both received exactly the same current. One of them was a helper around a dynamo and had met with mishaps of that sort before. He was knocked off his feet and momentarily stunned, but was all right in less than two minutes. The other man, who was a stranger, fell over as if struck by lightning, and it was fully half an hour before he showed the least signs of returning consciousness. He was laid up for several days and, oddly enough, was much the more powerful physically of the pair.

"I have known several cases of practically the same sort. The motormen on the street cars frequently 'get the current,' as they call it, especially in rainy weather, when wet wood becomes a conductor. They tell me they don't mind it much for the first few times."

May a Woman Tell Her Love?

It is true it is unconventional for a woman to tell a man that she loves him unless the man has persuaded her to make such confession. But is there any good reason why a woman should not take the initiative? Is she any less a woman for doing so? A shy and timid man may not know how to tell a woman that he loves her. Should the woman, who is of firmer faith and stronger mind, stand halting and waiting for a confession that may never come? Why should she suffer in silence? By so doing may she not lose the man who loves her and also the happiness of a lifetime as well?—New York World.

Mutual Aid.

From the time that the mother binds the child's head till the moment when some kind assistant wipes the damp from the brow of the dying we cannot exist without mutual aid. All, therefore, that need aid have a right to ask it from their fellow mortals. None who hold the power of granting aid can refuse it without guilt.

Told of Daniel Boone.

"Whar yer goin'?"
"Goin west, stranger."
"When yer goin'?"
"Goin now, stranger."
"Ain't got no boat. How yer goin ter git ercross?"

"Boat! Thank er crick like this here's goin ter stop me? Goin ter ride cross, stranger."

He meant what he said, for the speaker was Daniel Boone, and he sat his horse, gun in hand, on the bluffs where the custom house now stands and gazed across that "crick," the mighty Mississippi, toward the west "whar he wuz goin."

This was further back than the memory of the oldest inhabitant of Memphis extends, but tradition says that it took ten men to hold Daniel to keep him from wading his horse across the Mississippi.—Memphis Scimitar.

For Company.

"You are so preoccupied sometimes," said Mrs. Fourthly, "that I don't feel safe in letting you go out alone."

"That is to say, my dear," replied the Rev. Dr. Fourthly, with his benevolent smile, "when my mind wanders, as it does occasionally, somebody ought to go along with it."—Chicago Tribune.

The Sower.

By Edward Markham, author of "The Man With the Hoe."

Soon will the lonesome cricket by the stone
Begin to hush the night; and lightly blown
Field fragrances will fill the fading blue—
Old furrow scents that ancient Eden knew
Soon in the upper twilight will be heard
The winging whisper of a homing bird.

Who is it coming on the slant brown slope,
Touched by the twilight and her mournful hope—
Coming with hero step, with rhythmic swing,

Where all the bodily motions weave and sing?
The grief of the ground is in him, yet the power
Of the earth to hide the furrow with the flower,

He is the stone rejected, yet the stone
Whereon is built metropolis and throne
Out of his toil come all their pompous shows
Their purple luxury and plush repose!
The grime of his bruised hand keeps tender white

The hands that never labor, day nor night.
His feet that know only the field's rough floors
Send lordly steps down echoing corridors.

Yea, this vicarious toiler at the plow
Gives that fine pallor to my lady's brow,
And idle armies with their boom and blare,
Flinging their foolish glory to the air—
He hides their nakedness, he gives them bed,
And by his alms their hungry mouths are fed.

Not his the lurching of an aimless elod.
For with the august gesture of a god—
A gesture that is question and command—
He hurls the bread of nations from his hand;

And in the passion of the gesture flings
His fierce resentment in the face of kings.
This is the earth god of the latter day,
Treading with solemn joy the upward way;
Strong to make kind the grudging ground,
and strong

To pluck the beard of some world honored wrong—
A lusty god that in some crowning hour
Will hurl grey privilege from the place of power.

These are the inevitable steps that make
Unreason tremble and tradition shake—
This is the world will climbing to its goal.
The climb of the incurable sure soul—
Democracy whose sure insurgent stride
Jars kingdoms to their ultimate stone of pride.

Throne That Was Never Called For.

On the eve of the Franco-German war when the Emperor Louis Napoleon entered upon the conflict which ended so disastrously to himself and his countrymen, a couple of strangers appeared at a German town. They brought with them a large packing case, which on their arrival was carried to a hotel. Here the unknown visitors remained some time and eventually disappeared without paying their bill, which amounted to a considerable sum.

The landlord, whose curiosity had often been aroused with reference to the possible contents of the case, at last determined to open it and on doing so found a handsomely designed and richly upholstered state chair. This was adorned with the French imperial arms, eagle and Louis Napoleon's monogram, and beneath it was a musical box which played when the cushion was sat upon.

It is supposed that the throne—for such it is believed to have been—in the event of success attending the French army was to have been used by the emperor at Berlin after the capture of the German metropolis. Fate, however, spoiled the imperial plans, hence the sudden and precipitate flight of the custodians of the chair. The widow of the hotel keeper a few years later sent it to England, where it eventually found a purchaser.—Stray Stories.

A Bad Symptom.

"Has George ever hinted that he had thought of you as a possible wife?" asked the anxious mother.

"No," replied the girl, a faraway look in her eyes, "and I'm afraid he never will."

"Why," said the mother, "I thought—"

"It doesn't matter what you thought, mamma, dear," interrupted the daughter. "Only last night he complained of feeling drowsy, and it wasn't 9 o'clock."
