STREET CARS COLLIDE

Came Together in Fog Yesterday Morning in Seattle—A Number of People Injured.

SEATTLE, Oct. 25.—Between thirty and thirty-five persons were injured, two of them perhaps fatally, in a head-on collision between passenger cars on the Seattle and Renton electric railroad about 1,000 feet south of the Hill brickyard, at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

The accident was due in part to the dense fog, and partly, it is believed, to one of the cars moving from its switch before the motorman was certain that the proper signal had been given.

Twenty minutes before the accident on the Renton line, two of the large cars on the Seattle Electric Company's University line crashed together at Martin street, near the bridge over Lake Union. Both motormen were injured and three passengers were hurt.

From the Renton wreck ten of the injured were removed to Seattle General hospital. The others were taken to their homes. Two of the injured from the University line wreck were taken to the hospital.

Two ambulances and a half-dozen hacks were used to convey those injured in the Renton line wreck to hospitals and their homes. A corps of surgeons were on the scene within twenty minutes to attend those who were hurt.

Around the Court House.

Marriage licenses were issued Tuesday to Arthur Harper and Miss Maude Sherman, John R. Case and Miss Jennie E. Gardner; Louis C. Peterson and Miss Rosa S. Tyacke.

The county auditor issued hunters' licenses Tuesday to Walter E. Dunn, Perry Yeager, W. L. Bradford and Frank Stout.

The fees in the auditor's office for the month of September amounted to $472.65. The report showing these figures was completed Tuesday afternoon.

The will of the late Wm. B. Cole was filed for probate by Attorney J. O. Cull Tuesday. The estate is valued at $2000. Attorney Lee C. Delle was appointed administrator.

RUSSIAN ADMIRAL CRITICISED

German Critic Says Rojestvensky Is Unfit to Command a Fleet.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Lieut. Gen. von Reventlow has written to the Tageblatt as follows:

"Admiral Rojestvensky is an extremely nervous man, who is thrown into violent excitement through trifles. It is all the more remarkable that he was appointed to the command to which he was least suited."

Von Reventlow, who is an authority on naval subjects, blames the admiral for choosing a course in the North Sea where he was sure to find fishing vessels, and omitted adequate scouting measures to determine the character of the vessels sighted. The Russian squadron, he adds, apparently neglected ordinary precautions.

A New Clothing Store.

Edward E. Cline and Julius Herrman of Tacoma are in the city today completing arrangements to put in a new clothing store in the Union block. The name of the place will be called "The Famous" and on next Saturday morning, October 29th, the new clothiers will open for business. The gentlemen are experienced in their line of business and are already the owners of several clothing stores in different parts of the state.

ORPHEUM THEATER.

A Grand Double Bill—From the Ridiculous to the Sublime—Laughter and Tears Mingle Together.

The Orpheum theater, Yakima's most popular playhouse, is indeed a credit to the town and well merits the liberal support of our citizens. Each week the celebrated Orpheum Stock Company presents a better and stronger class of shows. Monday and the following three nights a grand double bill will be presented, consisting of the two well known one-act plays, "Old Gooseberry" and "The Rough Diamond." The former is a laugh from start to finish. Those who enjoy a good hearty laugh should see this show. It is a side-splitter from away back. The bill is well diversified this week. It gently runs from the ridiculous in "Old Gooseberry" to the sublime in "The Rough Diamond." This play is a clean, sweet, pastoral composition, where in opulence, rank and position mingles with homely, simple rural life. It exalts an atmosphere as fresh and fragrant as that of the blooming rose. Delicate comedy, clean and wholesome, interwoven with tender pathos and dramatic climaxes of stirring interest, form the plot. This is a play that sensible people will like; romantic women will admire and matinee girls will revel in. The piece is unimpeachable in moral purpose and abounds in sentiments of uprightness. The illustrated song, "Always in the Way," is full of sentiment and carries conviction deep into the hearts of those who hear it. The moving pictures are a grand series of mirth provoking scenes and situation all the way from "Foxy Grandpa" to the soubrettes.

Amateurs are given a chance to demonstrate their ability and at the same time compete for the prize every Thursday night. All who desire to take part are requested to leave their names and addresses at the box office or consult Mr. Kennedy.

Mrs. Morrissey Entertains.

Freeman, Mrs. Henry Kohls, Mrs. Stohr, Mrs. Gangon, Mrs. Nevins, Mrs. Cleaver, Mrs. Probach, Mrs. Navarre, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Phil Ditter.

Mrs. Morrissey served elegant refreshments following a program.

RUSSIA MUST EXPLAIN

England Sends Russian Government a Polite Note Asking Intentions Regarding North Sea Outrage.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 25.—Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, upon his return from visiting Emperor Nicholas at Tsarkoe-Selo this afternoon drove direct to the British embassy, where he conveyed to Ambassador Hardinge, on behalf of the emperor, a message for communication to King Edward and the British government, expressing the emperor's profound regret at the news of the North Sea incident, and stating that the emperor had not yet received a report from his officers on the subject, but asking the British ambassador nevertheless to convey the assurance that fullest reparation would be made to the families of sufferers.

Later the ambassador went to the foreign office and personally presented a copy of his instructions. The note was couched in a moderate but firm tone. The note stigmatizes the act as inhuman, unjustifiable and deliberate, but makes no direct demands, reserving them pending the receipt of Russia's explanation. Neither does it place a time limit upon the response.

The note recites the circumstances of the affair, saying that a fleet of steam trawlers carrying the established lights was approached by the Russian squadron, which threw searchlights upon the vessels and then deliberately altered its formation.

One vessel was sunk, two fishermen were killed, many were wounded and several vessels were missing after a bombard of the fishing vessels, which lasted for a considerable length of time. The squadron then sailed off, leaving a vessel of small tonnage, which remained on the spot for six hours.

The note points out that the indignation of the British people, heightened by the inhuman conduct of the commanders of the warships in abandoning the sinking, crippled trawlers was further emphasized by the failure of the smaller warship to offer or render any assistance, although it was impossible for it during all that time to have mistaken the true character of the fishing vessels.

The note concludes with the statement that the British government is awaiting Russia's explanation of this unjustifiable act pending the receipt of which it reserves its demands.

NICHOLAS TO EDWARD.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 25.—Emperor Nicholas has telegraphed to King Edward expressing his deep regret at what occurred in the North Sea Saturday and his sympathy with the families of the killed and wounded fishermen.

Echoes of a Dinner Party.

The Rural Spirit of Portland pays a very handsome tribute to Mr. and Mrs. L. V. McWhorter of Fairview for the hospitality extended by that couple to the stockmen who visited the recent state fair. Mr. and Mrs. McWhorter entertained the whole company of stockmen at a superb dinner on the grounds during the fair, for which the visitors were very grateful, so much so in fact that they clubbed in together and purchased for Mrs. McWhorter an elegant silver tea service, which was presented to the surprised recipient by A. J. Splawn in his usual happy manner. The Rural Spirit in its issue of Oct. 7 has written the dinner party up in very handsome style concluding with some very excellent poetry, evidently dedicated to the hospitable hostess, who formerly resided in West Virginia. The initial verse runs thus:

"From the green fields of Virginia,
From the land of far away,
Came our hostess to our West land,
To fair Yakima to stay."

10,000 DEAD BURIED

Jap Soldiers Gather Up that Number of Russian Dead on the Battlefield and Provide Burial.

GEN. OKU'S HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 23.—It is reported unofficially that the right army buried 3,500 Russian dead, the central army 1,500 and the left army about 5,000. The armies average 600 yards apart, and at places only fifty yards separate them. The men are constantly in the trenches, and by placing their caps on their bayonets draw scores of bullets from their opponents.

The Russian artillery is searching the Japanese lines and skirmishes are almost continuous.

The official report of the Japanese casualty from October 10 to October 22 is as follows:

Killed: Officers, 46; men, 823.
Wounded: Officers, 213; men 5,340.
The first indications of winter are appearing. At night the thermometer shows several degrees below freezing point. Heavy clothing and overcoats have been issued to the men, who apparently, are not affected. Elaborate preparations are being made to provide for the comfort of the troops during the winter months.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 25.—There is no news of immediate importance from the far east tonight. The indications are that both sides are heavily intrenching, although it is believed Gen. Kuropatkin will be ready for a forward movement at an early moment, unless heavy Japanese reinforcements compel him to resume the defensive.

Reports that Japanese reinforcements are arriving, taken in connection with the enforced activity of the Russian forces on account of the weather, is felt to be a grave factor in the situation. There is reason to believe that the Japanese are drawing heavily on the Port Arthur army, as well as on Japan, in hopes of securing a numerical superiority that will enable Field Marshal Oyama to inflict a crushing blow upon Gen. Kuropatkin when hostilities are resumed.

Ben Hanford to Speak Tonight.

Ben Hanford, nominee for vice president on the national socialist ticket, will discuss the issues of the present campaign from the standpoint of the working class at the North Yakima opera house this, Wednesday, evening, Oct. 26. Admission 10 cents. All are cordially invited.

Krutz Aboard the Elephant.

The esteemed Republic in publishing the "obituary" notice of the Hon. Ira M. Krutz says that that gentleman received his early political education in Indiana under the tutelage of such splendid old masters as Governor Thomas A. Hendricks and Senator Dan W. Voorhees. The local paper further says that Mr. Krutz continued to be a Democrat down to four years ago at which time he was thrown down hard by local Democratic leaders and that he then announced that he was tired of carrying on a struggle with them and especially so that he was dissatisfied with Bryanism and had remained in the party after 1896 only at the solicitation of his friends and against his own will and judgment.

It is a far cry from associations with such eminent and spotless leaders as Hendricks and Voorhees down to the little coteries of machine leaders that control Yakima county politics, but our friend Krutz seems to have made it without breaking his political neck. The assertion that Mr. Krutz left the Democratic party because that he grew weary of his unsuccessful fight against the party leadership there is much truth. It would probably have been nearer the truth to say that the Democratic party of this county rebelled at Mr. Krutz' attempted leadership. The Republic might have added in the interest of truth that Mr. Krutz in 1900, after the Democratic convention had declined to nominate him for the office of prosecuting attorney, stood up manfully in that body and pledged his fealty to the party ticket. Within 48 hours, however, he was most industriously engaged in an effort to knife it.

The Democrat is no more convinced now than it was four years ago that Mr. Krutz is a competent and fitting man to be elected prosecuting attorney. Why the Republican party of this county should take him to its bosom and nominate him for this important office in preference to a number of its own "true blue" sons is one of the strange findings in the realm of politics that is past finding out.

Notwithstanding all this The Democrat has no quarrel with Mr. Krutz. On the contrary there are some points about that gentleman that we very much admire, not the least of which is the agility and quickness that he has displayed in mounting the back of the Republican elephant and taking the reins into his own hands. A daring feat of this kind calls for some degree of admiration.

Col. Robertson and Mr. Farrell.

"The Farrell private car episode" is a little incident in state politics that worries the soul of Editor Robertson of the Yakima Republic. It seems to worry the Colonel even to a greater extent than it does even some of the gentlemen who have charge of the g. o. p. campaign in this state.

However, there is good reason why Col. Robertson should fret over the "private car episode." The colonel is a man of very acute perception. He sees what a great many other politicians of his own party fail to see, that the offensive personality of Mr. Farrell in the campaign is ruining his party's chances for victory in the state. The colonel therefore is engaged in making a herculean effort to stem the tide of popular disapproval. However, it is like whistling against the wind. The public mind is apparently already set. Whether a man is a Republican or a Democrat if he is a true blue American citizen he will resent being dictated to by a coarse grained railroad worker who is used to herding Chinamen. They simply won't stand for it, and they know that they don't have to.

It is little short of ridiculous for the Republic to claim that Mr. Farrell did not dominate the state convention through the medium of the King county delegations and his numerous horde of claqueurs on the ground. That this man, Farrell, defeated Governor McBride and was chiefly instrumental in the nomination of Mr. Mead is now a matter of common knowledge even among the schoolboys of this state. Col. Robertson, who is himself a man of extraordinary intelligence was on the ground when the deed was done.

It would not be polite, of course, to assume that the colonel is not honest in his vigorous denial that Farrell bossed the job, but the weight of evidence on that point is so heavily against him that he should not complain if the public takes his numerous assurances with a good deal of salt.

Stevenson Versus Farrell.

That George Stevenson, who was de-throned as king of the railroad lobby in this state by J. D. Farrell, is supporting Judge Turner for governor may be a fact as the P.-I. and the Yakima Republic allege. If so, it indicates nothing to the discredit of Judge Turner. It indicates rather that George Stevenson is animated by a feeling of revenge against his former principal, Mr. Farrell, and is endeavoring to do all the harm that he can to that gentleman's candidate for governor, Mr. Mead.

Judge Turner did not solicit the support of George Stevenson, which, by the way is no inconsiderable factor, but as he needs all the help that he can get he would have been extremely foolish to have refused it. So far as the differences between J. D. Farrell and George Stevenson are concerned the people of the state of Washington read of it with entire satisfaction. In this connection they will be apt to think of the old saw that "When rogues fall out honest men sometimes get their dues."

Not Afraid of Comparison.

The Republic says editorially that this paper is edited principally in Seattle and that its own local columns are "rehashed" every morning for the benefit of our readers.

Ordinarily both The Daily and Weekly Democrat contains twice as much home produced editorial as does the corresponding issues of the Republic, and as for a comparison of the quality we are willing to leave that to unbiased readers. As for "rehashing" the Republic's local news we are willing to leave that charge also to common readers for a settlement and only add that we receive fresh compliments nearly every day by reason of having published the local news "first."

We are very much afraid that our ancient contemporary down the alley having got into a fixed habit of prevaricating in defense of a weak, ring ticket, never will be able to tell the truth again.

Will the Organ Answer?

If Doc Hare is such a tremendously useful man in the legislature, as the Republic alleges, why did the editor of that paper in his capacity of chief fuleman of the local machine go to Doc before the primaries were held and inform that gentleman that he would not be permitted to run for the senate and that he might take his choice of running for the house or of being a private citizen? If Doc hasn't got an equal in the county in the way of "influence," why is it that the local "bunco" wouldn't let him go to the senate where an influential man who stands in with the "push" can accomplish something. Will the Republic answer?

"All Shot to Pieces."

When Congressman Jones was asked the other day about the Republican disaffection in Pierce county, he replied they are "all shot to pieces."

The indications are that when it comes to a question between Mead and Turner the Republican party, not only in Pierce county, but also in every other county in eastern and western Washington, will be found to be all shot to pieces.

There must be something back of this heavy artillery fire against Mead and those who are backing him. There must be many people who favor Judge Turner. Who are they?

They are men of both parties who want a railway commission and realize that only through the election of Turner and a rebuke to the railroads will they get it.

They are the men who have come from different parts of the country and believe that the governor should be of the state's best; men who think of Andrew of Massachusetts, Morton of Indiana and of Curtin, Ramsey, Coles, Morgan and others who were state executives because the people thought that men of the first class could ask for no higher honor than to be placed at the head of the affairs of their own state.

The yare men who are tired of having the railroads meddle with politics, state, county, city and town.

They are men who are opposed to the boss rule of a comparatively few politicians who have been trying to run parties in the interest of themselves and not in the interest of the people.

They are men who have had enough of discarded political workers that have held positions from United States senator down and who do not realize that their rejection means that they are no longer wanted in councils where the interests of the state and not the interests of a few aspiring individuals is the matter of prime importance.

They are the people who think the governor should be an honest, fearless, outspoken, experienced individual, and who wish to know where he stands; and who do not care for a chance candidate whose position is defined on nothing and who must inevitably yield to the pressure of the influence that made him.

That is why the organization is so badly "shot to pieces." It is the choice between a big man and a little man. It is an opportunity to correct blunders, rectify mistakes, slough off worthless party tissue and bring health to a great organization. This is responsible for the revolt, and the decision will probably be one of the most pronounced in the history of the northwest.—Review.

Money to Bet on Turner.

Five hundred dollars on Mead, posted with Frank W. Smith yesterday, was covered in two hours by democrats who believe Turner will win. Names are withheld.

"These Mead men had better stay on their own side of the street when they make the crack that they will wager money on Mead to win in the coming fight. If they come over on my side they will have to put up the cash to back their statements," said John Condon last night.

"I am ready to bet any one who will produce the money, $5000 or any part of it, $100 or over, that George Turner is elected governor of the state."

"A well known man in Spokane came to me yesterday with the intention of betting $1000 on Mead, but when he saw that I had the money he decided to only bet me $1000 and had to go out and get $50 of that."

Mr. Condon bet $102.50 with Charles Barth yesterday, even money, that Geo. Turner would be elected governor, and a few minutes later made another bet of $100, even money, on Turner.

I. Brunn, an eastern man, representing Julius Kessler & Co., whisky distillers of Kentucky, said last night: "I will wager $500 or any part of it, that George Turner will be elected governor of the state of Washington, and my company will back me for all I wish to bet. I will bet this much and will wager all that Spokane wishes to take. I have heard of Mr. Turner in the east, and he has a fine reputation. I am sure he will be elected."

As election day draws nearer the betting is getting greater and more money is being put up. The Turner cash is waiting to be taken, but takers are few.—Spokesman-Review.

THURSTON REPUBLICANS IN REVOLT

Like Yakima, Thurston County Has a Ring That Controls It that the People Will Endeavor to Shake Off at the Coming Election.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 25.—(Special correspondence)—Thurston county, in common with almost every other county in the state, harbors within its borders an organized Republican revolt from railroad and corporate dictation of the party, and coupled with it there is an organized protest against local conditions of ring rule. As is the condition in many other counties in western Washington, more particularly perhaps in southwestern Washington, the activities of the revolt are carried on under the pretensions of "regularity" making it impossible to ascertain or estimate with any degree of reliability, the extent of the revolt and the number of votes which will be influenced by it on election day.

As in Pierce county the revolting Republicans, better known perhaps as the "Boxers," are well organized and are working harmoniously among themselves in the common purpose of defeating such Republican candidates as are clearly the subservient tools of corporate interests, and of putting an end to the leadership in this county of the men who are responsible for delivering Thurston county to the railroad forces in the recent Tacoma convention. The leaders of the "Boxer" organization claim that their organization has a membership of 335 Republicans in Olympia and Thurston county, chiefly in the country precincts. The leaders of the organization are well recognized, a campaign fund has been raised by subscription among the members of the "order" and paid workers are employed to carry on the campaign. Just what Republican candidates on the county ticket this organization is making its campaign against the leaders decline to say at this time, but their campaign is very generally against the Republican state nominees, but a few favored men on that state ticket escaping their displeasure.

The most prominent man in the "Boxer" organization is T. F. Mentzer, formerly a Republican member of the legislature from this county, who cut the Gordian knot of regularity and made a powerful and telling speech for Judge Turner and the Democratic state ticket as the presiding officer of Judge Turner's recent meeting at Tenino. Mr. Mentzer is one of the substantial farmers of Thurston county and his move has attracted widespread attention throughout the state, and has carried conviction to many of the wavering Republicans in Thurston county.

The grievances of the independent Republicans in Thurston county are many, but the principal one is the manner in which the machinery has been manipulated for many years in the interests of a few local leaders. These local leaders have feathered their own nests, politically, by trading the influence of the county in state conventions and in the legislature to the railroads and to senatorial candidates for personal advantage.

The present revolt had its inception four years ago and to quiet it the local Republican machine leaders brought out J. O. B. Scobey as a candidate for governor and appealed to the Republicans of the county to give their support to their "favorite son." This was done and Mr. Scobey, having the delegation and the legislative candidates for trading purposes, so used the power thus given to land himself in the berth of receiver in the local land office.

Two years ago, again, the machine leaders brought out a candidate for a state nomination in the person of A. J. Falkner, a pretended congressional aspirant. The delegation to the state convention secured under the guise of being for his nomination was promptly delivered to the railroad forces against the proposed commission plank, and the campaign so managed as to land S. A. Madge in a federal berth, that of deputy collector of internal revenue.

This year the same game was worked, with decorations. C. J. Lord, president of the Capital City National bank, was brought out as a candidate for governor with the understanding that in the melee the local leaders would make the effort to land for him the nomination of a man for state treasurer who would give Mr. Lord's bank the state deposits, a perquisite worth from $15,000 to $25,000 a year in interest. In this campaign Mr. Lord was induced to contribute liberally to the fund for repairing and keeping in order the fences of the organization.

Again this hoodwinking campaign was successful, and in a convention of delegates selected on this major issue the local machine leaders nominated a county ticket which is notoriously weak in several places. The state delegation was delivered in advance to the railroad forces, the county was made a party to the disgraceful subservience of the Tacoma convention to the railroad influence, and the railroad leaders rewarded the local leaders and Mr. Lord by giving the nomination for state treasurer to George Mills, a gentleman whose name had not been mentioned in connection with the office until Joan H. McGraw of the King county steering committee refused absolutely to consider the name of Mr. Scobey in connection with the nomination.

Senatorially Thurston county is counted in the Foster column. Both Mr. Scobey and Mr. Madge received their federal appointments through the grace of Mr. Foster and they have nominated a legislative ticket consisting of men pledged to support that gentleman for re-election. In Pierce county the impression has become almost universal that the elevation of Mr. Mead to the governor's chair is clearly in the interests of the senatorial candidacy of John L. Wilson and the Foster Republicans of that county are pretty generally lined up against Mr. Mead. As the campaign progresses and Ex-Senator Wilson's paper, the Post-Intelligencer continues to devote its political columns to the exploitation of Mr. Mead to the absolute exclusion of all the elements of the campaign which do not contribute to the advancement of Mr. Wilson's personal fortunes, this impression is beginning to penetrate the minds of the Republican voters of Thurston county.

Naturally those of the local leaders who are political pirates pure and simple and working their political games for personal gain and advantage are but little concerned in these conditions. But the sincere Foster supporters who are beginning to appreciate that in Mr. Mead's success there lies an element of danger to Mr. Foster's candidacy are doing some hard thinking about the matter, and some of them are even ignoring the advice of the local machine leaders and throwing their influence in the balance against Mr. Mead's election.

Locally the Democratic county campaign is being aggressively managed on the lines of a general attack all along the line of county mismanagement and incompetency of Republican county officials. In a campaign document which has been given almost universal circulation over the county the Democrats proclaim the issue in these words: "The issue before the taxpayers of Thurston county is whether a coterie of men who have seized upon the local Republican organization to feather their own nests at the expense of the taxpayers, shall retain control or be succeeded by honest men, fresh from the people, who know their grievances and are not tied to corporate chariots or controlled by self-appointed political dictators."

And again: "Under the leadership of this exotic bunch, the local Republican organization has developed into an organized conspiracy for plunder, over the protests of the best elements in the Republican party, and they depend on the cohesive power of plunder to keep their rank and file of the party, if they agree to assist in the raid on the taxpayers' hencoop."

JOE SMITH.

Hot Springs for Turner.

The Green River Hot Springs, west of the Cascade mountains, is one of the smallest voting precincts in the state. All told there are only 25 votes. A poll was taken a few days ago to see how this precinct would go for governor. Senator Turner will receive 24 votes out of the 25, Mr. Mead drawing the lonely, insignificant vote. This is another instance showing the existing sentiment towards the state's candidates for governor. There seems to be an ever growing sentiment towards Turner.

ARE ALL FOR ROOSEVELT

The Trustmakers, the Railroad Magnates and Wall Street Plutocrats Are All for Roosevelt Says the New York World.

A member of the executive committee of the Republican national committee is authority for the statement to a World staff correspondent that "the president of every great railroad entering New York city is supporting President Roosevelt, although these great corporations were not making such big contributions to the campaign this year as they did in 1896 or 1900."

Efforts of the World reporters to verify this statement as to the politics of the heads of the great corporations tended to confirm its truth, but almost without exception high officers and directors of the great corporations refused to be quoted.

A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, which dominates also the Baltimore & Ohio and has a large ownership of the Reading system, is a Democrat, but he is for Roosevelt. His predecessor as president of the great railroad system was Frank Thomson. He was a Democrat. He went over to the Republican party in 1896 and gave much time, money, and influence to aid Senator Hanna. President Cassatt, an abler and still more forceful character and a life-long Democrat has thrown his great influence in the scale for Roosevelt.

Vice-Presidents John P. Green and S. M. Prevost of the Pennsylvania are also Democrats, but they will vote for Roosevelt. They have taken no active part in the campaign.

Northern Securities Directors.

The Northern Securities Company, "the only trust which has been prosecuted," is managed by a board of fifteen directors, all but three of whom are heartily for Roosevelt.

The National City Bank, known as "the Standard Oil Bank," which secured the New York Custom House from the last administration on terms of extraordinary profit for the bank, has twenty-four directors, of which twenty-one are for Roosevelt. Among the Roosevelt directors are Jacob H. Schiff and Edward H. Harriman, the master spirits in the Northern Pacific "corner"; John A. McCall (normally a Democrat, but for Roosevelt); Henry C. Frick, of the Steel Trust; Cyrus H. McCormick of the Harvester trust; P. A. Valentine of the Beef trust, and George W. Perkins, one of J. P. Morgan's partners.

The Life Insurance Giants.

The highest officers of the three greatest life insurance companies in the world, the New York Life, the Mutual Life and the Equitable Society, whose combined income is about $200,000,000 a year, are all for Roosevelt. President McCall did not care to say more to the reporter than the fact that he was supporting Roosevelt, though he had been a Democrat. On the State ticket as between Herrick and Higgins, he did not commit himself. President McCurdy of the Mutual Life, has always been a Republican, and his son, speaking for him, said he was "taking no part" in the campaign. James W. Alexander, of the Equitable, and Mr. Hyde, the Vice-President, both said they deprecated political interviews. They are understood to be very strongly for Roosevelt. John D. Rockefeller is for Roosevelt.

Vanderbilt for Roosevelt.

The Vanderbilts are for Roosevelt. W. K. Vanderbilt caused the largest single contribution that was made by any corporation to the McKinley campaign to be contributed by the Vanderbilt roads. He is taking a less active part this year, but is supporting Roosevelt.

Of the great coal-carrying roads—those composing the so-called coal trust—the officers and directors are nearly all for the Republican ticket.

The Erie railway—President F. D. Underwood, Directors Charles Steele, Robert Bacon, E. H. Harriman, D. O. Mills and Hamilton McK. Twombly, are all satisfied with Mr. Roosevelt, and convinced that he will not "run amuck" against the corporations in future.

The New Jersey Central—Joseph E. Harris (formerly a Democrat); George F. Baker, Harris C. Fahnestock, J. Rogers Maxwell, Charles Steele and Eben B. Thomas, are all for Roosevelt.

The Lehigh Valley—George F. Baker, Beauveau Borie, Joseph Wharton, Norman B. Ream, Charles Steele and Edward B. Stotesbury (the last two partners of J. P. Morgan), are all for Roosevelt. Mr. Stotesbury is serving on the campaign committee raising funds. The Reading Company's directors are almost identical with that of the New Jersey Central.

The Lackawanna directorate includes Messrs. Twombly, Baker, Fahnestock, and Maxwell, and, also, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., James Stillman and F. W. Vanderbilt, all of whom are earnestly for Roosevelt.—New York World.

SOME EXPERT OPINION

What Republican Papers of this State Have Said about Their Party State Ticket and the Man in which It Was Nominated.

Damns the Convention.

"The convention which masqueraded as Republican has met, conquered and adjourned. It was a railroad ratification meeting from start to finish. * * * In attempting to wipe Governor McBride from the political map of this state the leaders in control of the railroad element have unquestionably left McBrideism stronger than it ever was before and his following will have to be reckoned with in the future. * * * The Ledger stands by the ticket and admires the genius of its manipulators, but it does not hesitate to say it damns their conception."—Tacoma Ledger (Rep.), Tacoma, May 12.

Silence is Oppressive.

Thus far not even a shadow of denial has come from any of the accused who are alleged to have nominated the Republican state ticket in the palatial private car of a railroad duke. * * * The silence is oppressively convicting. From various sources come the disgusting description of this night conference in a railroad yard, where half a dozen railroad magnates, absolutely ignoring the wire working of 600 Republican delegates, determined to make a governor out of a man who had never been thought of.—Everett Record, (Rep.), Sept. 9, 1904.

Must Do Their Bidding.

Governor McBride has met defeat at the hands of the railroads and in his place has been elevated a man barely known outside of his own county. * * * Why? Because, in the words of Harold Preston, he has dared to oppose the control of his party by the corporations; because he has time and again offered to stand or fall with that issue; and because, being the strong man that he is, the man of pre-eminent ability in his party, the man of positive character and uncompromising ability, it has seemed necessary to those companies to crush him in order to demonstrate anew to those having political ambitions that no Republican in the state of Washington can aspire to political preferment unless he is willing to bend the knee to them.—Vancouver Independent (Rep.).

Making Democratic Votes.

"When such papers as the Colfax Gazette, and there are several in its class, sneer at men who have been loyal as many years as they have seen the light, they are sneering at better Republicans than themselves. * * * Farrell-Ankeny, Atkinson Republicans may sneer as much as they like, but they only drive more votes to the Democratic ticket, by putting disgruntled members of the party on the defensive."—Wilbur Register (Rep.).

Good Advice for Mead.

"As a friend of Mr. Mead, and wishing him nothing but the best of luck, we desire to offer him a little advice. It is without price, but it will be useful. Mr. Mead, if you have a backbone, have it pulled. The dictators of the Republican party stamped at the height of vertebra. Remember the platform is not to stand on. Don't trust your weight upon it. It is not intended for your guidance. If you accept the platform as meaning anything your future hopes are doomed to blight. Trim your sails to every breeze. Cast away your manhood, and play the puppet to every hand that pulls the strings. Then will your administration look good to the king-makers, and you will retire to private life honored and respected."—Palmer Mountain Prospector (Rep.).

Farrell the Uncrowned King.

"The railroad forces had complete control of the convention. They made the slate and put it through with consummate ease. J. D. Farrell was the uncrowned king who ruled things with an iron hand, the railroad forces (King and Pierce), included, having to obey his mandates. Had it not been for this Henry McBride would have been renominated governor, as a trade had all but been completed with King county, when Farrell arrived on the scene and quickly nipped it in the bud, and thus all hopes of the friends of Washington's model chief executive went glimmering."—LaConner Mail (Rep.).

Charges Proven True.

"Repeated declarations made through the press by delegates and others that J. D. Farrell, agent of J. M. Hill, appeared at the state convention upon invitation, and arrogantly forbade King county's 115 delegates and through them a majority of the delegates in the convention from entering into any agreement by which McBride should become the Republican nominee for governor, or which indorsed his fight for a commission, absolves Republican newspapers and Republican voters from all obligation to support such a ticket.

"McBride has charged the railroad lobby with corrupting legislatures and dominating political conventions. The action of the west side delegations in inviting, caucusing with and bowing to the will of J. D. Farrell, a democrat and a railroad official, proves his charges to have been true."—Lincoln County Times (Rep.).

Republicans Were Buncoed.

"A good many of the Republicans of this part of the state feel that they have been buncoed by the Tacoma convention, and they will not soon forget it. They are not apostates, as the political bosses are pleased to characterize them. * * * But the state machine must not expect to palm off a railroad pass for a ride on the national bandwagon. Tickets won't be worth a dollar a dozen on a Roosevelt special. If the political machinery has got out of order in this state, the republicans may be depended on to make all necessary repairs. They have the nerve even to vote in a Democrat once in a while as a relief measure."—Pomeroy East Washingtonian (Rep.).

The Common Enemy.

"True, the solidarity of the party should be preserved, and all true Republicans stand shoulder to shoulder against the common enemy. But who is the common enemy, or, rather, the worst type of enemy? The rank and file of Democracy, demanding the same principles for which Republicans stand, or a democratic lobby king, who wields the scepter of tyrannical rule over a Republican convention? Eastern Washington Republicans are loyal to the party—the rare more—they are loyal to the interests of their people and refuse to sell their principles for petty offices. The Post-Intelligencer urges them to support a ticket of lobby ridden time servers; but that they will decide in their own good time and way."—Wilbur Register (Rep.).

A flock of tame pigeons is in a way a pretty sight around a farm house stand, but we think they are more of a nuisance than anything else. Recently it has been pretty clearly demonstrated that they may not only be a nuisance in befouling the buildings, but a dangerous medium for the transmission of animal disease from one farm to another, a recent outbreak of hog cholera being almost certainly traced to the passing of these birds from one feed yard to another.

The courts have decided that if you listen to a conversation between your neighbors on a party telephone line and overhear one of them say that you are an old fool or a dishonest man you have no redress in law, because you have no right to play eavesdropper. In order to insure peace and good feeling in a community using a telephone line in common there are a good many things which may be true and which one may think which it is not best to send over the wire.

PLANTS IN BEDROOMS.

They Are Harmless in the Daytime, but Vicious at Night.

In the daytime, when sunlight stimulates their nutrition, plants can do no harm in bedrooms, for then they give off oxygen and are useful in absorbing from the air the carbon which is injurious to animal life. The free use which is made nowadays of flowers and plants in our hospitals is in itself sufficient proof that this is a wholesome means of ministering mental cheer and comfort to the sick and suffering.

At night the case is different. Then all plants and flowers are removed from hospital wards, because they exhale the carbonic acid which they have gathered from the soil and air and thus give off by a process similar to respiration a gas which is injurious.

We may therefore conclude that during the hours of darkness, when the respiratory process is active and the nutritive is at a standstill, plants should have no place in our bedrooms. What is prudent in spacious wards is imprudent in smaller chambers.

The evolution of the Poland China hog from its Arkansas rooster ancestry has been worth untold millions to the country, and a queer thing is that, notwithstanding the success attained within a year or two has ever been done to improve the corn upon which he is fed. It is probably entirely within reason to say that fully as much improvement can be made in the corn as has been made in the hog. A few men are getting on to the truth of this, and more will very soon. The average quality of the corn raised is of the Arkansas rooster type. Selection and careful breeding are going to develop the Poland-China corn before long.

If we were a woman in a well fixed farmer's home and had the responsibility and work of caring for the home, getting three square meals a day for four hungry men and looking after three or four little folks, we would have things in the house convenient for doing the work or we would have a row. We would insist upon having a good cooking range, modern utensils, a hard wood floor in the kitchen, a washing machine which a man could operate, soft water and a sink handy, a kitchen cabinet wherein to keep things, a refrigerator and a clean white-washed cellar easy of access. So much is demanded of the modern housekeeper these days that to compel her to do her work with old fashioned tools and in the old fashioned way is to either send her to the asylum or to the cemetery in short order. Some men whom we know need to take a day off and study this matter.

NOT A CLAPTRAPPER.

An Incident of Alexander Salvini's First Stage Appearance.

Tommaso Salvini, the great actor, although he gave every assistance to his son when he had proved his ability on the stage, was averse at first to his becoming an actor and would not help him to obtain a hearing. The young man's first appearance was made by favor of Clara Morris, his good friend, at a charity entertainment in Yonkers, where he recited "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

He was then very young, very eager and still delightfully queer in his English. A few days before the great occasion some one used in his presence the word claptrap.

"What's that?" demanded young Alessandro at once. "Clap is so," he struck his hands together. "Trap is for rats. What, then, is claptrap?"

"It is a vulgar or unworthy bid for applause," his hostess explained.

"Bah!" he rejoined, with contempt. "I know him. That cheap actor who plays at the gallery. He is, then, in English, a claptrapper, is he not?"

On the night of his debut, although the poor fellow declared he was "sick with the scare," he pulled himself together in time and delivered the poem most strikingly.

"With a bound he was on the scrap of a stage," records Clara Morris, "and his high, clear 'For-w-a-r-d, the Light brigade!' must surely have been heard down in Broadway. It really was a clever bit of work, a trifle too florid, but that was the result of nervousness. The instinct of the actor was twice plainly shown—once when on making a mistake, instead of stammering or going back, he swiftly 'jumped' the faulty lines and dashed on securely with the others, and again when at the close he read with much feeling the words:

"Honor the charge they made,
Honor the Light brigade,
Noble six hundred!"

standing as if looking into an open grave, he plucked the white flower from his coat and cast it down, a bit of business that caught the house instantly. While the people maltreated damp umbrellas and kicked out their gum shoes in giving him a recall he was clutching his hair and wildly protesting to me:

"Mme. Clara, I have never meant that for a claptrap! Never! Never! Just it came to me that moment to throw the flower to the dead! Think me a fool—but not—oh, please not—a claptrapper!"—Youth's Companion.
