'Twas A GREAT GAME.

The "Fat" Nine and the "Slim" Aggregation Meet on the Diamond—
A Drawn Battle.

A picked nine of fat men, known as the "Colts," played a select aggregation of slim men, styling themselves the "Fairies," at the Capitol Hill grounds Wednesday afternoon and furnished a lively hour's sport for about 300 people. The game resulted in a draw and was declared off at the end of the fifth inning at the suggestion of the fat men, it is said. The slim men were willing to go on with the game, so they claimed, to determine the championship. At the end of the fifth each side had piled up nine runs and as honors were even it was deemed a good time to quit, although the bleachers protested loudly against calling the game.

Some very good work was done on both sides at times. The features of the game were a home run made by the fat men, a three-bagger made by Col. Robertson for the slims. The latter's brilliant work with the bat at a critical stage, by means of which he brought in two men on bases, saved the day for the "Fairies," enabling them to tie the score. As was to be expected, the fat men got in their work at the start, making five runs in the first inning, but their luck didn't hold out.

The two nines gave a street parade before repairing to the grounds, keeping step to the rag-time music of Prof. Merwin's "Hayseed" band. The net receipts went into the Hoppickers' fund. The following was the line-up, that is, for the first inning:

Supreme Court Reversed.

The supreme court has handed down a decision reversing that of Judge Davidson rendered in December, 1900, in the McAllister divorce case. At that time Judge Davidson refused to give a decree to the wife on the ground that the cause of action was insufficient. This judgment the supreme court has reversed, reversing the marriage tie. Since the case was tried here a child has been born of the union, a fact which the supreme court takes cognizance of and in the instructions to the lower court directs that provision be made for its maintenance and support in connection with the plaintiff. The parties to the suit are well known residents of Yakima City. Whitson & Parker represent the plaintiff and H. J. Snively the defendant.

All Games Stopped.

On Saturday last County Attorney Guthrie instructed Sheriff Tucker to close up all gambling games and gambling devices in the city. The order was obeyed literally, the sheriff and his deputies served personal notice on all proprietors and not a wheel turned after 12 o'clock Saturday night. Even the merry click of the slot machines is no longer to be heard, the order of prohibition including that form of gambling also.

This step is said to have been taken by the prosecuting attorney under the pressure brought to bear by prominent church people. The order to close, however, was not issued until after a conference had been held with the mayor and other city officials.

When asked how long the games are to remain closed, the word "indefinitely" trips easily off every official tongue. Nobody cares to say just exactly how long, but the feeling seems to be pretty general that the prohibition of open gambling will last long enough to rid the town of a number of undesirable characters who in the role of "boosters" and "sidewalkers" have had a tendency to give the town a hard name.

The "Blue Jacket" Bonded.
John Michels, and J. H. Needham, president and secretary, respectively, of the "Blue Jacket" Mining Co., report that they have bonded that promising property to ex-Judge E. F. Hunter and associates of Chehalis for the sum of $50,000. The conditions of the bond are that the parties are to begin work at once and prosecute it vigorously and to put in within 90 days a 10-stamp mill with which to treat the ore. The mill to be enlarged in capacity as fast as may be deemed necessary.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

Second Street to be Macadamized—Extensions to Sewer System Planned.

The city council met in regular session Monday night, the mayor and all members of the council being present except Moran.

The following petitions were read by the clerk: From G. A. Bailey asking that a fine of $2.50 be refunded for tying team to street tree, refused. From F. D. Clemmer asking the city to remove the shack of "Indian Sasie" from his premises on Fourth St., granted.

A resolution of intention for the macadamizing, curbing and guttering of Second street between B and Walnut was read. After some debate the resolution was passed.

Chairman Sinclair of the finance committee then made a report in which he advised that certain smallpox bills that had been approved by the Health Officer be laid over to the next meeting.

City Engineer Marble then submitted to the council a plan for the extension of the sewer system. The engineer in effect, recommended that a 10-inch trunk line of sewer be laid on Seventh street from Beech street on the south to E street on the north, thence westerly seven blocks to Front street. The engineer explained that the grade was such that it was practically impossible to extend the sewer north from the present terminus on Second and other streets. He further explained that the cost of laying the proposed sewer would be about 90c per foot, which would make the total cost in the neighborhood of $7000. Of this amount the city would have to pay for the sewer laid in 1700 feet of street crossings and in addition possibly for three blocks on north Seventh street, where the abutting property was probably not of sufficient value to stand the assessment. The balance of the expense would have to be borne by the abutting property.

After considerable debate a motion was passed instructing the city attorney to draw up a resolution of intention to form a sub-sewer district along Seventh and E streets. The attorney was also instructed to draft a resolution for the establishment of a sub-sewer district on Selah street between Yakima avenue and A street.

R. Strobach and H. B. Doust were authorized by the council to each renew an insurance policy of $1500 on the city hall, which were about to expire.

Mr. Evans, a colored man, then appeared before the council and asked that he be re-imbursement for the price of a cow which he claimed to have lost while under quarantine. Consideration of the matter was ruled out of order by the mayor, who stated that the city was in no way responsible for the value of the animal. During the discussion of the matter a sharp colloquy occurred between Health Officer Frank and the claimant.

A number of local draymen then addressed the council asking in effect for passage of some desired amendments to the dray ordinance and its more rigid enforcement.

Sinclair brought up the matter of city ditches overflowing and the consequent formation of cesspools in some of the streets. This, he thought, was the cause of sickness and the nuisance ought to be abated. The members all seemed to be of this opinion and the matter was referred to the street and ditch committee with power to act. After the transaction of some minor business the council then on motion of Shaw, adjourned.

Death of Mrs. Jacobs.

Mrs. Bessie Jacobs, wife of Spencer Jacobs, who resides on the School section, died Sunday evening about 7 o'clock from a complication of diseases. She had been ill but a comparatively short time and the final summons came rather unexpectedly to the sorrowing relatives and a large circle of friends. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young, and was a little past 33 years of age. She leaves besides her husband, two children aged 4 and 2 years to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother.

Early Morning Fire.

The fire department responded about 1:30 a. m. Monday morning to an alarm turned in from 101 N. Third St., the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ingelman, what was formerly known as the Howlett property. The woodshed on the rear of the lot was found to be in flames and while the fire was quickly subdued by the chemical engine it was not before the small building and contents were entirely destroyed. How the fire got started is a mystery to the owners, but it is assumed that a tramp may have entered the house to sleep and carelessly started the fire. The loss on the woodhouse and contents amounts to about $150.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

THE "water cure," evidently is not practiced exclusively by certain American officers on unruly and recalcitrant natives of the Philippines. This inhuman mode of punishment, it seems, is now being used on the soldiers themselves, by petty officers. "The Manila American" bearing date of February 13, narrates at considerable length the application of the dreaded "water cure" to Private Edward Richter of Co. I, 28th Infantry, stationed at Desmarinas, province of Cavite. Richter, says the Manila paper, was thrown into the guard house for some petty offense and in a manner known only to soldiers, received liquor from his friends on the outside. Naturally enough he subsequently grew sufficiently boisterous to irritate Lieut. Sinclair, battalion adjutant of the regiment, who peremptorily ordered the drunken soldier to lie down and keep still. The order was not immediately complied with by Richter and as a result the officer grew very angry. He promptly ordered the drunken man removed from the guard house and that he be bound and gagged, which was done. A five gallon can filled with ice water was then produced on the lieutenant's order and poured on the face and into the mouth of the helpless man, a dipper full at a time.

The poor, unfortunate soldier squirmed and wriggled as much as his bonds would permit. Being gagged he could not speak, but his face bore the picture of agony and despair. During the progress of the torture he began to bleed at the ears and to vomit, yet the hard heart of his persecutor, who stood by, never relented and the torture continued until the five gallons of freezing water had been spent. Meanwhile the poor wretch died in convulsions. When his struggles ceased, the cords that bound him were cut, the post surgeon sent for and an effort made at resuscitation but without avail. Richter was dead, a victim of the "water cure," a hideous form of torture borrowed from the Spaniards.

It ought not to be a surprise to any body that Major Waller was acquitted in his trial by court martial that has just been concluded. His judges in this farcical trial were his military associates who, it is fair to presume, are his intimate friends and sympathizers. To expect a jury of Waller's friends, therefore, to find him guilty would be expecting too much. Waller was charged with cruelty in its most revolting form during the Samar campaign. The senate investigation among other things revealed the fact that he had ordered the summary execution of nine native guides simply because they refused to go out and dig roots for his command.

Waller has shown himself to be a cruel, blood thirsty monster, but he is no worse, if half as bad as his superior officer, General Smith. Smith is the military genius who thought to conquer Samar on the plan adopted by Ghengis Kahn. He ordered his subordinates to subdue that island with fire and sword. "Kill and burn" were his instructions. All men, all women and all children over the age of 10 years, he said, should be put to the sword.

What a burlesque, what a parody is this on the boasted ideals of American civilization. Has it remained for the free soil of America, the boasted land of the free and the home of the brave to develop such an ungodly, unrighteous and inhuman monster as this man Smith has proved himself to be? "Kill and burn," forsooth, the innocent as well as the guilty. When pray, since the time of the would-be Christ killer, Herod, has such an infamous order been issued by a commander representing a civilized nation?

Perish the memory of the ignoble Smith and all of his kind. He is not a soldier, but a human butcher. He is a cur, who unfortunately for his country's honor, was clothed with a little brief authority which he lacked the sense and the humanity to use with discretion. If justice could have its due he would be kicked out of the army, which he has disgraced. Thus rebuked he might in time be forgotten.

Gov. McBride in his open letter to the republicans of the state, which was given to the press last week, clearly lays down the gauge of battle to the railroads. It is a very able letter. It is full of meat and is pointed enough to suit the taste of even the most extreme anti-monopolist. His excellency even grows sarcastic in describing the pernicious influence of the lobby and its wanton interference with all manner of legislation as may be seen from a few pungent excerpts from this remarkable letter which we print elsewhere.

The DEMOCRAT believes that the governor is to a great extent right in the position that he has taken on this vexed question of railroad regulation, yet we have serious doubts whether he has adopted the best method of bringing about the reforms that he desires.

In the first place the governor, it should be noted, makes his appeal to his fellow republicans as though all the political and civic virtue in the state is to be found within the republican party. In this he shows himself to be a rather narrow partisan. In the second place he attacks the railroads with such force and even venom that he is apt to create the impression in the public mind that he is actuated by motives other than for the public weal. The governor is thus apt to neutralize or even to provoke into open hostility a large number within his own party who might otherwise be induced to support him.

The governor would have done better had he cast his partisanship behind him for a time and made his appeal to the people of the state, regardless of party. He is not likely to win his fight within the republican organization. That party is so completely honeycombed with corruption influence and so thoroughly imbued with the spirit of latter day commercialism that it will no longer harken to the voice of justice.

COL. BLETHEN wires his paper, the Seattle Times, that he has been to see Jim

Hill and that that great man is very angry because the State of Washington has brought suit against his Northwest Securities Company. "Why should I continue to favor a state which brings suit against me," roared the magnate, and why should he continue to do so, echoes the Times. Well, we give it up, we don't know. Like a good many other worms of the dust we had supposed that Mr. Hill, in blowing in so much money in improvements in this state, was doing it for his own benefit and for his own satisfaction, just as any common mortal would do. We hadn't suspected that he was doing it for the public benefit. But perhaps he has and if such is the case it is a mighty mean trick for Gov. McBride to sue a great public benefactor like Mr. Hill. And the public, too, is apt to look at it that way. The distinguished Col. Blethen has really rendered us all a great service by calling attention to the matter.

It is a matter of some surprise that a man of the common sense of Bro. Robertson, of the Yakima Republic, should, in criticising the vacillating course of the Seattle Times, in politics, dominate its editor as "Old man Blethen." The Standard has no more admiration for Mr. Blethen's weather-vane course than its sand-hill contemporary, but it does have some respect for the proprieties, and for our neighbor to hurl the adjective "old" at a craftsman, a condition that he himself is rapidly nearing, is as silly as it is ineffective. Mr. Blethen's age has done more to do with the candidacy of any other man for U. S. senator than principal had in converting Mr. Robertson to the republican party. It is only an indication of hatred which belittles the individual using it, to indulge in personal invective in public discussions. —Olympia Standard.

The Washingtonian, with the perverseness that has characterized its editor throughout a brilliant but tempestuous career, must needs endorse the pending Lacey bill for the leasing of public lands. It is needless to say that the DEMOCRAT is opposed to Mr. Lacey's bill and all other bills that provide for leasing the public domain to sheepmen, cattlemen or anybody else. All such schemes to dispose of the comparatively small amount of public land that still remains in the hands of the government is born of selfishness or else of ignorance.

The manner in which the republican railroad papers comment on the open letter of Gov. McBride is amusing to the average reader although the subject is doubtless a painful one to the paid editorial scribes. The P.-I., for instance, says that no man has a right to dictate to the party. That the edict of the party in convention assembled is irrefutable. If that is so then why did the P.-I. bolt the nomination of Humes?

The Tacoma News refers to the neighboring city of Seattle as Jimhillville. Now that is really unkind. Let the Times, which speaks for the great transportation king, deny the soft impeachment.

Extracts From Gov. McBride's Open Letter.

"But to see the railroad lobby in all its glory, or deformity, one must be at the capital during a legislative session. Its leaders come early. Temple Flat is furnished for the fray. At the first sign of insurrection against railroad rule an alarm is sounded, and the recruits come pouring in from the four quarters of the state until the hotels are crowded and the streets resound with the tramp of the Hessians. ***

"The lobby, at times, has invaded the legislative chambers themselves and brazenly issued its orders; and it has even been known to hide a venerable state senator in the woods back of the capitol that he might escape voting upon a railway measure. And if one has the hardihood to object to this, the cry is raised that he is imperiling our trade with the Orient! ***

"Is there an assessor today in the whole state of Washington, in any county wherein is situate railroad property, who has not in his pocket a free pass? If so, it is safe to venture the assertion that it is because he has refused to accept it. ***

"Is there in the state, in any county where the railroads have property, a board of county commissioners whose individual members are not recipients of favors from the railroads? If so, it is not the fault of the railroad lobby. ***

"Is there in the entire state, in any county where the railroads own property, a prosecuting attorney who does not travel at the expense of the railroads? If so, it is because he has conscientious scruples on that score. ***

"The lobby, sneering at civic virtue, mocking at good citizenship, is hard at work throughout the state seeking so to shape things that it may control primaries and conventions. ***"

Too Rich to Marry.

When Edwin Owings Towne wrote the beautiful comedy "Too Rich to Marry" he did not do so in a hitor miss manner. He wrote it with a thorough knowledge of the people whose old ways he was borrowing to furnish the comedy of the piece.

The beliefs of the religious sect known as Dinkards, their quaint characteristics and their queer ideas of the world, afforded Mr. Towne plenty of humorous situations and enough pathos to make his comedy highly entertaining, and far above the average in quality.

Mr. Towne has a thorough knowledge of the Dinkards, their manners of living, their beliefs and their quaint ideas, so that one who sees his picture comedy "Too Rich to Marry" will receive the right impressi n about the Dinkards. Mr. Towne has studied them and lived among them, and knows whereof he writes. The comedy will be at the Luson theatre soon.

A Sad Ending.

The remains of Mrs. Glen E. Castle were brought here Thursday for burial from Spokane by the bereaved husband, accompanied by Mrs. Cheney of the Moxee, the mother of the deceased, who went up to Spokane Monday, but arrived too late to see her daughter living.

The circumstances attending the tragic death of Mrs. Castle are particularly sad. The lady had recently adopted a baby and found it necessary to leave her bed in order to warm up some milk for the youngster. In lighting the alcohol lamp her night dress was caught by the flame. The frightened woman turned and ran out of the house, but missing her footing in the darkness by stumbling on the porch steps, fell and broke a limb. She was thus rendered powerless to help herself and before aid reached her she was so badly burned that death resulted in a few hours. She bore her affliction bravely, being conscious to the last, her final words being a request made to her husband to care for the little waid who was the innocent cause of her death.

Burial was made in Tahouma cemetery Wednesday afternoon. Relatives and friends of the deceased followed the remains to the grave from the depot.

Mayor's Proclamation.

It is an honored custom throughout the United States to observe the 30th of May of each year as sacred to the memory of the nation's dead. As we hope to perpetuate the virtues of loyalty and patriotism, which are the nation's brightest ornaments in time of peace and its strength in time of war, we should earnestly strive to perpetuate this custom. I therefore recommend that the people of North Yakima on Friday, May 30, unite with all true Americans in paying tribute to the fallen soldiers of their country in such manner and with such ceremonies as may seem proper to them. At the request of the veterans of the G. A. R., and as a matter of propriety, I further recommend that all places of business in the city be closed on that day between the hours of 1 and 5 p. m. O. A. FECHTER, Mayor.

A Great "Mephisto."

A large audience turned out Tuesday evening to see the celebrated Lewis Morrison and his company play "Faust." Morrison's presentation of the great spectacular play while different in many respects from the original piece, is certainly brilliant and never fails to please. The great actor's daughter, Miss Rosa bel, plays the extremely difficult part of "Marguerite" and she makes a perfect and most lovable heroine, too. That Morrison, himself, is almost unrivaled as "Mephisto" is of course everybody's opinion...

LOCAL AND PERSONAL
Col. Miles Cannon journeyed to Ritzville Thursday.
A. L. Patrick of Roslyn was a visitor in Yakima Thursday.
The city treasurer's call for warrants appears in this issue.
Wanted-To buy a good second-hand road car. Inquire at this office.
Dell Hisecock returned Thursday from a business trip to Gray's Harbor.
Secretary Gunn of the State Fair commission returned from a visit to the sound Thursday night.
Fred Brooker expects to leave today for Seattle, taking with him Chester Abbott. Mr. Brooker has entered the horse for a number of coming races on the sound.
Dame Rumor has it that there are to be two pretty June weddings in which two popular young men of Yakima will figure conspicuously. We are prohibited from publishing any particulars at present.
The Aurora Mill and Tunnel Site company, the owners of what is known as the Lynch group of claims, in the Cle Elum district, let a contract this week to John Burke of Roslyn to cut 300 feet of crosscut tunnel, to be completed within a year, at a price of $6.50 per foot.
It is rumored that a new bank to be organized under the state law, with a capital of $50,000, will open for business in North Yakima during the coming summer. Coffer Bros., W. S. Reed, Alex. Miller, Miles Cannon and George L. Allen are said to be the parties who contemplate starting the new institution.
Messrs. Horsley, Cornett, Line, Houser and Jordan attended the grand lodge Knights of Pythias this week at Tacoma, the latter gentleman being the accredited delegate for the lodge, and Mrs. C. M. Houser from the Rathbone Sisters. All report having had a most pleasant time in the "City of Destiny."
Judge Erwin was placed under arrest at Tacoma last Saturday on instructions telegraphed by Sheriff Tucker. The arrest was made at the instance of Mrs. Erwin of this city, his former wife, who complained to the court here that alimony due to the extent of $250 had not been paid. Judge Erwin paid over the money and was released. Accompanied by his bride he has since left for Alaska.
I. H. Dills returned Tuesday from attendance on the annual meeting of the Hub Mercantile company at Sunnyside. G. S. Rankin was elected president, Mr. Dills vice-president and treasurer and J. H. Bilger secretary and general manager. The company is doing a thriving business with stores at Sunnyside and Mabton. A new store building 70x100 feet has just been finished at the latter place.
Judge Rudkin, under the instructions of Gov. McBride, has been holding court this week at Colville, Stevens county, for the purpose of trying Prosecuting Attorney Bailey of that county on the charge of perjury. Wednesday's dailies contained the information that the case had been dismissed by Judge Rudkin on the ground of insufficient evidence. The charges were evidently based on jealousy and ill-feeling.
Ward's hotel, one of the old landmarks of the town of Prosser, burned to the ground Saturday morning, the fire starting about 8 o'clock. The building was no longer in use as a hotel but had for some time been doing service as a tenement, there being six families housed in it at the time of its destruction. The fact that there was not a vacant house in town compelled the burned out families to resort to tents. The household goods were practically all saved, but the loss on the building amounts to about $2000, as there was no insurance.
Get an estimate from Bruenn the contractor on that new house.

"QUEEN ESTHER" CANTATA.
A Large Audience Well Pleased With the Rendition by Home Talent Thursday Evening.
One of the largest audiences that has ever been drawn to Larson's theater filled that house to overflowing Thursday evening to witness the presentation by home talent of the great biblical cantata, "Queen Esther."
It was a good natured audience, too, disposed to laugh at anything laughable and to render liberal praise where praise was due.
The entertainment was given under the direction of Professor Robinson and that gentleman received many compliments on the thorough manner in which he drilled his class, considering the short time in which the preparations were made.
We regret that lack of time and space forbids in this issue a detailed account of the presentation. All the participants performed their several parts well and are entitled to credit. The singing, whether in solos, duets or concert, was exceptionally good, the chorus of over eighty trained voices producing a grand effect. The feature that probably most pleased the audience was the splendid work done by the king's maidens and pages. The performance was repeated Friday evening.

M. E. Conference in Session.
The Dalles district conference of the M. E. church met in this city last Tuesday. The opening sermon was preached that evening by Rev. Walter Skipworth of The Dalles. The first business session of the conference began Wednesday morning with Presiding Elder Warner in the chair and Rev. C. D. Nickelson acting as secretary.
The sessions of Thursday were devoted mainly to committee work. During the day the Rev. Robert Warner, who for the past six years has been the popular presiding elder of this district, delivered his valedictory address. Bishop Cranston of Portland, Or., arrived Tuesday and that evening delivered a masterly sermon.
The Epworth League convention for The Dalles district met Friday morning and will continue throughout today. There are quite a number of delegates in attendance.
Good Show for Chamberlain.
L. B. Rinehart returned Thursday morning from his former home in Union county, Oregon, where he was called some weeks ago on account of the serious illness of his aged mother. The venerable lady, who is now in her 95th year, has since recovered and is now enjoying her usual health, with the prospect of rounding out the century.
Mr. Rinehart, who was for years a member of the Oregon legislature and is well posted in Westport politics, says that Chamberlain, the Democratic candidate for governor, is going to win over the Republican candidate. The Democratic candidate is a man of pleasing personality and is intensely popular throughout the state. Furdleton and his opponent is a banker of Furdleton and is an ex-Democrat, having deserted his party in 1896. He is but little known over the state and is seemingly at a great disadvantage on account of not being a public speaker. Mr. Rinehart says that while the Democrats will probably not be able to elect a majority of the legislature, they are sure to largely increase the representation of the party in the two houses.

Can you afford to buy a new machine

Every two years, which you are obliged to do if you buy a light, poorly constructed machine. It is just the same as trying to haul heavy loads on a light wagon when you try to cut heavy alfalfa with a light machine.

If we felt like bothering our customers to read testimonials, we could fill a paper full. There are 500 men in the county using McCormick's and after they use them once wouldn't have anything else. We have already sold two cars and any one desiring one out of the third car, please get your order in soon.

We are having a car of buggies or wagons come in nearly every week now. We buy in large quantities and ship everything in carload lots, enabling us to make prices which cannot be equaled, quality considered.

We also have the largest stock of HARNESS AND SADDLERY in Central Washington.
