PRES. ROOSEVELT INJURED

Thrown From His Horse While Riding His Head Strikes a Rock and He Is Rendered Unconscious.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 .- President Roosevelt came a cropper while attempting a high jump a week ago last Sunday. This fact became known last night for the first time.

The president was thrown from his horse while riding at high speed toward a ten-rail fence. The horse stumbled and fell. The president struck on his head, and was stunned for several minutes. He was then too dizzy to remount, and for some time could not regain the use of his arms and legs. He was alone at the time

Finally ne was able to remount, and joined his orderly, who was waiting for him. The president, in falling, struck his head a glancing blow on a stone, which raised a large lump on the side of his head and cut a long scalp wound above the right ear. The cut reached down into the forehead.

During the two or three days following the accident the president saw but few vsitors, it being announced that he was busy. The wound and the bruises are still visible on the president's scalp and forehead.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPH

Station at Seattle Fast Nearing Completion - Tacoma to Have Similar Station.

SEATTLE, Nov. 4.-With the excep tion of installing the receiving and transmitting machinery, the work of erecting the local station of the Pacific Wireless Telegraph company was completed yesterday. The station is located on the top of Queen Anne hill, in the rear of 1613 Fourth avenue north.

The main feature of the station is a high pole on which the machinery will be placed. This pole is made of two spiced sections and is 182 feet from the ground at the top. The work of splicing and erecting this pole has been under the charge of Mr. Nordyke, and required eight days' labor to complete.

Mr. Nordyke goes today to Tacoma. where he will superintend the erection of a similar station. The other station which will be in communication with Seattle will be located at San Juan island, some sixty miles from here.

Chester A. Congdon, the well known eapitalist of Duluth, Minn., and president of the Ontario Land company, was in the city Wednesday, leaving for home Thursday morning. In conversation with the editor of The Democrat, while here, Mr. Congdon said:

"I am a Republican and a strong supin Washington I would certainly vote the Democratic state and county tickets this year. The Republican party in this state and county needs a good shaking up. The party has permitted itself to get too much under corporation influence in this state and deserves a sound thrashing; and I have reason to believe that the same thing applies to Yakima county. I am a heavy taxpayer in this county and I declare to you that I don't like the way that county affairs are being run here. A good, ound beating would learn some of your politicians a thing or two."

CHEFOO, Nov. 4 .- "Port Arthur is doomed." Associated Press information from sources of unquestionable reliability are that the Japanese have gained positons to place the east side of the town at their mercy and are now able to enter the main forts at a signal. The Japanese calculate that if the Russians do not surrender now they may be able to prolong the fight by making a final stand at Liao Ti promontory and Tiger's Tail for a month longer, with the mere hope of continuing the struggle. Long before the second Pacific squadron arrives in the Pacific the Japanese flag, it is now believed, will wave over the wrecked citadel.

J. Lamb of Seattle Treated to a Dose of Cloral and then Robbed.

SEATTLE, Nov. 4.-Charged with drugging and then robbing a helpless victim, Matt McQuade and Jack Mc-Donald are in the city jail. The robbery is alleged to have been committed in Victor's place, a saloon on Sixta avenue south, yesterday morning. The arrests were not made until last evening. J. Lamb, the victim, says that he was robbed of a $300 draft and $60. The draft was found in the possession of McDonald when he was arrested.

Lamb was drinking in Victor's place with several men. He became drowsy and remembers little of what happened afterward. When he awakened his money and draft were missing and he had all the symptoms of a man who had been drugged.

Yesterday afternoon he reported his loss to the police and told of the circumstances. Patrolman Mayou was notified of the case and arrested Mc-Quade. When searched at the police station a bottle of chloral was found in the possession of the prisoner.

The description of the second man wanted was given to Patrolman Burkman and Crandall. They combed over the resorts in the southern part of the city and in a saloon near the limits they arrested McDonald as answering the description. At the patrol box, while the arresting officers were waiting for the wagon, Crandall noticed McDonald trying to drop a piece of paper unnoticed from his hand. His fist was forced open and the draft stolen from Lamb was found in it.

Election returns will be received here on Tuesday night from all parts of the United States. Arrangements will be made with the Democratic and Republican campaign committees to receive Bre'r Robertson's inconsistencies are ofttimes glaring, but never more so than when he allows full swing to his peculiar political effervescences. Any ex-Democrat who claims affiliation with the colonel's "party"-which means the ring-is always highly spoken of by that doughty distributor of whitewash; but let an able and collarless Republican like Senator Warburton take the stump against the iniquitous railroad gang, and diatribes of abuse immediately flow from the tar-stick of the would-be "molder of public opinion." / Senator Warburton's eminent and consistent position on the questions of the hour place nim upon a pinnacle far above such picayunish platitudes as passed upon him by yesterday's Republic. As the jack rabbit said to the "cottontail" when the coyote was after them: "Get out of the way. while I show them one that can run! Things are liable to develop the fact that the smaller animal will outstrip its larger competitor.

> In order to becloud the real issue, some of the Republican press are trying to "ring in" a lot of rot to convince the people that Senator Turner is mixed up politically with Stephenson. the railroad lobbyist. The unsupported statement that he, together with the editor of the Spokane Review, had a consultation in the editorial rooms of that publication with Mr. Stephenson, has been so thoroughly punctured by all parties concerned, that it seems only a paper relying upon the ignorance of its readers would attempt to again foist the story upon them. The Republie has apparently just got on to the first part of the chestnut. The "worm" will be found later.

The esteemed Herald remarks that the enthusiasm aroused here by Senator Turner's visit was ephemereal as compared with the lasting results of Candidate Mead's speech. As far as heard from, the farmers in attendance upon the Republican meeting remem ber more about the remarks of Mr. Dovell than those of his side-partner, Mead, and it rather stirs their bile when they recall the speaker's assertion that the railroads came more nearly paying their full quota of taxes than the property holders. They do not feel inclined to give Mr. Mead an opportunity to appoint a "hog commission," as advocated by the Republican speaker.

If betting on the result has any effect upon the election, Senator Turner is already elected. Here, as else where in the state, he is a favorite with the sportively inclined. Six hundred dollars have been wagered in the last few days on the gubernatorial result, and now "Gov." Lowe has posted $500 with Patterson to indicate his faith in the "winning" ability of the Democratic

The estimates and predictions of the respective chairmen of the Democratic and Republican county committees make quite interesting reading, and their prophecies are so far asunder as to leave ample room for lay speculation. Fortunately, the time for mental strain is short, and next Tuesday the result will show who is the true prophet.

A feature of the campaign has been the declarations by old time party men that they would mean continued control of state rupt politicians.

of Roosevelt as earnestly as they have urged the election of other Republican candidates in the last 40 years or more. The matter of party loyalty is not involved. The question is whether they are to have something to say about state government or whether everything is to be turned over to unscrupulous politicians who yield to railroad dictation and run the state government in the interest of these great corporations.

This is a revolt based on the highest and best principles. There is no intention to desert one party for another. It is merely a resolve to rescue the state from the clutches of the railroad agents and manipulators and to turn it over to the people. The design is to administer a rebuke that will show Republican leaders that the party can not retain supremacy unless it repudiates railroad A contemporary asks if it is "neces- bossism and resolves to act for the peo-

Washington's Immortal Advice.

The Farrell-Wilson managers, having failed to win the public respect and confidence by their policies or their nominees, are making desperate efforts to inflame the partizan spirit to a degree where the indignant voter will be persuaded to forget his duty to his country and his state and swallow the nauseous dose that was concocted at the Tacoma convention.

Against that unpatriotic spirit Washington warned his countrymen in his memorable farewell address to the American people.

"Let me now," said Washington, 'take a more comprehensive view and warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party generally. This spirit, unfortunately, is inseparable from our natures, having its root in the strongest passions of the human mind. It exists under different shapes in all governments, more or less stifled, controlled or repressed; but in those of the popular forms it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst

"The common and continual mischiefs of the spirit of party are sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it."

It seems sublimely fitting that in this oung commonwealth that bears the nmortal name of Washington, the people, more, perhaps, than in any other state of the Union, have nourished the fine spirit of party independence. In every county Republicans and Democrats vie with each other in the exhibition of that rugged spirit. Thousands of democrats will vote for President Roosevelt, and thousands of Republicans will support the admirable state ticket put forward by the Dem-

They act on the doctrine that parties vere made for the people, not the people for parties.-Spokesman-Review.

Hill Fights Roosevelt and Turner.

While James J. Hill, head of the Northern Securities monopoly and the Great Northern, is fighting Roosevelt in the nation, J. D. Farrell, Mr. Hill's Pacific coast assistant, is running the Re publican organization in this state and fighting Turner. Hill's activity against Roosevelt is as notorious on Wall street as Farrell's activity in Washington state. The motive for this seeming double dealing stands out where all may see it Hill is seeking revenge on all those pub lic men who took active part in the enforcement of the law against his Northern Securities railroad monopoly. He is bitter against Roosevelt for pushing the suit before the United States supreme court, and he is bitter against Governor McBride and Senator Turner for their aggressive and fearless course in the same issue. He will never forget that Senator Turner volunteered aid and counsel to President Roosevekt's attorney general, and that Senator Turner also wrote a vigorous letter to the governor of this state, expounding the law against Hill's monopoly and urging rights and liberties.

Hill has a double incentive to fight Turner and support Mead in this state. He is desperately opposed to the creation of a state railroad commission. He has worked so long with a free hand and under cover that the prospect of state control and state publicity seems more than he can endure.

It ought not be difficult for the intelligent voter to choose the right side in this gigantic struggle. Flushed with dangerous power and pride, James J Hill is fighting President Roosevelt and Judge Turner. For doing their plain duty they have incurred his bitter hostility. Is it not the duty of Washington voters to rally to the support of Roosevelt and Turner?-Spokesman-

How to Vote.

A vote for Judge George Turner and the Democratic state ticket is a vote to rid the state of the insolent and iniquitous rule of the railroad lobby. A ross in the circle at the top of the Democratic ticket does the business.

SMART SET FRIENDSHIPS.

They Usually Have a Purpose, Social, Political or Financial. There are friends in what is labeled "the smart set" whose motto in life would appear to be, "Banish dull care." These are the people who give those cheerful dinners where nobody cares a rap for precedence. Everybody takes his affinity in to dinner. The host starts off with the prettiest girl, and the hostess is taken down by some beardless boy. It is Liberty hall, with nicknames for all present, abundance of "chaff" and stories something more than risky. They are all great friends, of course, and call each other "dear things" and know exactly how much is meant by that, while they smile sweetly and say "Cat!" in connection with most of them behind their backs. Few of these so called friendships in society are made without a purpose, either political, social or financial. The peeress wants a "tip" from the millionaire, either a Stock Exchange tip or one affecting coin or copper or whatever his special line may be. Our "nice" friends are nice in so far as they are useful to us. At the same sime, in justice to society. it ought to be pointed out that no one is taken in by these interested friendships. The people who only make friends calculating how much they will benefit thereby are seen through by everybody and disliked so openly that only their toadies fail to let them see it. -London Outlook.

The Finishing Touch.

The small boy with his eyes open often knows more of things as they are than the artist who draws things as they are not. An illustrator who is winning laurels by his fine work maintains that his most valuable critic is his son, a boy of twelve.

He knows little about drawing, says the artist, but he has a quick sense for beauty and a keen imagination as well. Not long ago I had to make a drawing of a street full of people running to a fire. I flattered myself I had made a lifelike and moving scene and submitted it to my boy with a feeling of satisfaction He surveyed it for a moment, hands in his pockets, head on one side. Then "The people are all right, but where's the dog?"

"The dog?" I inquired. "What dog?" "Any dog," he said in a tone of pity for my duliness. "Why, father, don't you know there's always at least one dog running alongside and getting under everybody's feet when you're going to a fire? Haven't you ever been to a SHORESHER SERVICE fire, father, or seen a crowd going to

When I thought it over I knew he was right, and the dog went in .-Youth's Companion.

Getting Into a Life Buoy.

The average person in danger of drowning usually attempts to lift a life buoy over his head, with the result that he is immediately plunged deeper into the water. A good swimmer can do this with a sudden upward jerk, but with the nonswimmer it is almost an impossible feat.

What he should do when he has seized the buoy is to place both hands, palms downward, on the buoy on the part nearest the body, pressing it downward and slightly away, when the farther part of the buoy will rise out of the water and actually fall over the head. The arms can then be put through easily, "and there you are."

Why He's for Turner.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 3 .- To My Old and My New Republican Friends: I am for Roosevelt and Turner. My Sweet potatoes, per lb4c first vote was for Lincoln, my last for Potatoes, per ton.......$13.00 Roosevelt, and I have always voted for every Republican president.

Why am I for Turner? First, because I have known him intimately ever since he came to this state; have been with him in his home and in his offices know him to be strictly honest and honorable. Money will not buy him. I have seen him tried, or rather. heard him tried, in his office. I was sitting in one of his office rooms and he in the other room. A friend of his came in and wanted to employ him to get possession of a large amount of money from his wife. After Turner had questioned him, Turner said:

"You can not get this money honorably." The visitor said: "I do not care whether honorably or dishonorably.

just so I get possesion of it." Turner said to him: "You can not hire me to take your case."

I have been in the mining business with Turner for several years, and he would not allow anyone to do anything that would be detremental to the company we were interested in.

Now, in case you vote for Turner and he is elected, you will be just as proud home about 90 days. He went back east of your vote at the end of his term as governor as you are now of your vote Boston. Mr. Shannon made a record for Roosevelt. The broad and liberal trip in returning from the Bay state minded men of the United States will He left Boston at noon on Sunday, Oct. look with greater interest to our young 30, and arrived here Thursday afterstate, and say: "That state has broad noon at 2:30 o'clock, November 3, takintelligent people," and we would draw that class of people to our state.

Turner is like Judge Brents of Walla Walla, who was never known to go Massachusetts will give its usual maback on a friend.

It is such broad minded republicans as I have referred to who will elect Turner, and if Roosevelt had a vote in this state he would vote for Turner. A. L. DAVIS.

MONEY NOT TAKEN

S. I. Lowe Deposits $500 in Yakima National Bank to Wager on Senator Turner-There Are no Takers, Betting was quiet Thursday on the result of the coming election for governor. It is almost a foregone conclusion now that George Turner will be the next governor of the state. There was a little money the first of the week to wager on Mead, but today the situation is changed. S. J. Lowe deposited $500 vesterday afternoon with J. D. Cornett eashier of the Yakima National bank to bet on Mr. Turner and it is there now waiting to be covered, provided there are sufficient Mead followers in the city who feel confident enough to take a chance. A great effort is being made to raise the money to call Mr. Lowe. So far the movement has been unsuccessful but a few of the most radi cal say the "Governor's" money will be covered. Mr. Lowe told the boys that it didn't make any difference to him how they raised the money. They could dig it up in $5 and $10 pieces for all he cared. A number of Republicans will work hard from now until election months ago to visit friends in the east, night to raise the money to call "Governor" Lowe. It is doubtful whether they will succeed. There are thousands of dollars in the state of Washington to wager that George Turner will defeat Albert Mead for governor.

The New Power Site.

The Northwest Light and Water company has started a force of men at work on the preliminary survey for the proposed improvements to be made and the new power house to be built about eleven miles up the Naches river. The proposed site is situated at a point to give excellent power for the generation of electricity. The Wapatox ditch will furnish the water for the power at that

The company will necessarily have to expend a large sum of money and a great deal of work will have to be done before the proposed improvements are completed. As soon as the excavating for the building is finished the survey for the change in the course of the Wapatox ditch will be commenced and ented till completed. The compa ny desires to enlarge this ditch so that it will carry a larger amount of water.

May Prosecute Case.

County Attorney Fred Parker is looking up the law with the view of prosecuting the father of Miss Florence Keagle, who died at their home on the Rattlesnake Tuesday, November 1st from typhoid fever. The father of the girl is a Christian Scientist, and it is said would not permit a physician to see his daughter during her illness. The neighbors urged upon him the necessity of calling in the services of a doctor, but he would not heed the remonstrances. It is thought that a complaint will be filed on the county attorney's recommendation.

A Record Trip.

Thomas A. Shannon returned Thurs day afternoon from Boston, Mass. Mr. Shannon has been away from to attend the G. A. R. encampment at ing him four days and nights and 2 1-2 hours to complete the distance across the continent. Mr. Shannon says that jority for the Republican nominee for President, but will elect a Democratic governor.

Died From Chloroform.

Wickliffe Smith, a young man in the employ of the Northern Pacific at Prosser, died at Prosser Wednesday morning from an overdose of chloroform administered, it is said, by Dr. Pallister, a Prosser physician.

Smith in some manner got a hand mangled while a freight train was switching in the Pasco yards and was brought to Prosser for treatment. The Prosser doctor, it is said, gave him chloroform in order to perform the necessary operation and while under the influence of the drug the patient died. Coroner Frank went down to Prosser Wednesday night to learn the facts in

On Wednesday evening at their home on North Fourth street, Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Clemmer were very happily and completely surprised by a large number of their friends. The occasion of the surprise was to commemorate the fifth anniversary of the surprised couple's marriage. The Rebekah lodge organized the party, which was headed by Mrs. Frank Shardlow and Mrs. Geo.

A program of music was carried out by A. E. Poole and Mrs. Clemmer. Games were played and a fine luncheon served, followed by cigars for the gentlemen. The lodge presented Mr. and Mrs Clemmer with a costly upholstered leather rocker. A. E. Poole made the presentation speech. A clover-leaf cen ter table was also presented to them by the barbers of Mr. Clemmer's shop. Phose who took part in the surprise were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Day, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Heinbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. W L. Potter, Mr and Mrs. H. L. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Schleif, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stusey, Mr. and Mrs. French, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Baumer, Mrs. B. B. Coombs, Mrs. E. Van Norman, Mrs. Sarah Hinman, Mrs. A. Duliin, Mrs. Edward Armitage, Mrs. G. Bivens, Mrs. A. Fausit, Mrs. N. Caseres, Mrs. A. G. "BRUTAL COLT TRAINING.

How Farmer Perkins Used Strategy and a Bull Whip.

is a right way and a w way of breaking a colt to halter. The latter method is described by Sewell Ford in "Horses Nine." Blue Blazes the colt in the story, was owned by s Michigan farmer. He had been fright ened by the first attempt to bridle him and had broken away. He was promptly declared to be a vicious colt.

"We'll tame him!" said Farmer Perkins. Under his coat he hid a stow halter and a heavy bull whip. Then holding a grain measure temptingly be fore him, he climbed the pasture fence

In the measure were oats, which he rattled seductively. Also he called mildly and persuasively. Blue Blazes was suspicious. Four times he allowed the farmer to come almost within reaching distance, only to turn and bolf with a snort of alarm just at the cru cial moment. At last he concluded that he must have just one taste of those

"Come, coltie! Nice coltie!" cooed the man in a strained but conciliating

Blue Blazes planted himself for a andden whirl, stretched his neck as far as possible and worked his upper lip inquiringly. The smell of the oats lured him on. Hardly had he touched nis nose to the grain before the measare was dropped, and he found himself roughly grabbed by the forelock. In a moment he saw the hated straps and ropes. Before he could break away the halter was around his neck and buckled firmly.

Farmer Perkins changed his tone. Now, you ngly little brute, I've got you! [Jeck.] Blast your wicked hide! [Slash.] You will, will you? [Yank.] I'll l'arn you!" [Slash.]

Man and colt were almost exhausted when the "lesson" was finished. It left Blue Blazes ridged with welts, trembling, fright sickened. again would be trust himself withit reach of those men; no, not if they of fered him a whole bushel of oats.

A Mystery Explained. "I don't understand," said the ignoramus at the academy, "why they al ways put the baldheaded men up in the front row." "That's easy." butted in the usher.
