STATE PARK REGULATIONS

So that all may have full and pleasant use of State Park areas year-in and year-out, certain regulations have been set forth. Listed here are some regulations which most affect the average park patron.

Fire Precautions

Most important of these stipulations that fires shall not be built, except in the camp stoves or fireplaces provided. However, gasoline or oil camp stoves may be used, with proper precautions, in established campsites or picnic areas where other stoves are provided. All fires shall be extinguished by their users before leaving a park area. Please use care not to throw water directly on hot stone or concrete as it will cause cracking and breaking.

Firearms Prohibited

It is also important to remember that all park areas are game refuges and that it is unlawful to molest, injure or kill any bird or mammal or disturb its habitat in a State Park. Use of firearms is prohibited.

It is unlawful to pick flowers, foliage, or cut, break, dig up or in any way mutilate any tree, shrub, plant or fern, or burn, cut or mutilate any railing, building, seat, fence or other structure within a State Park area.

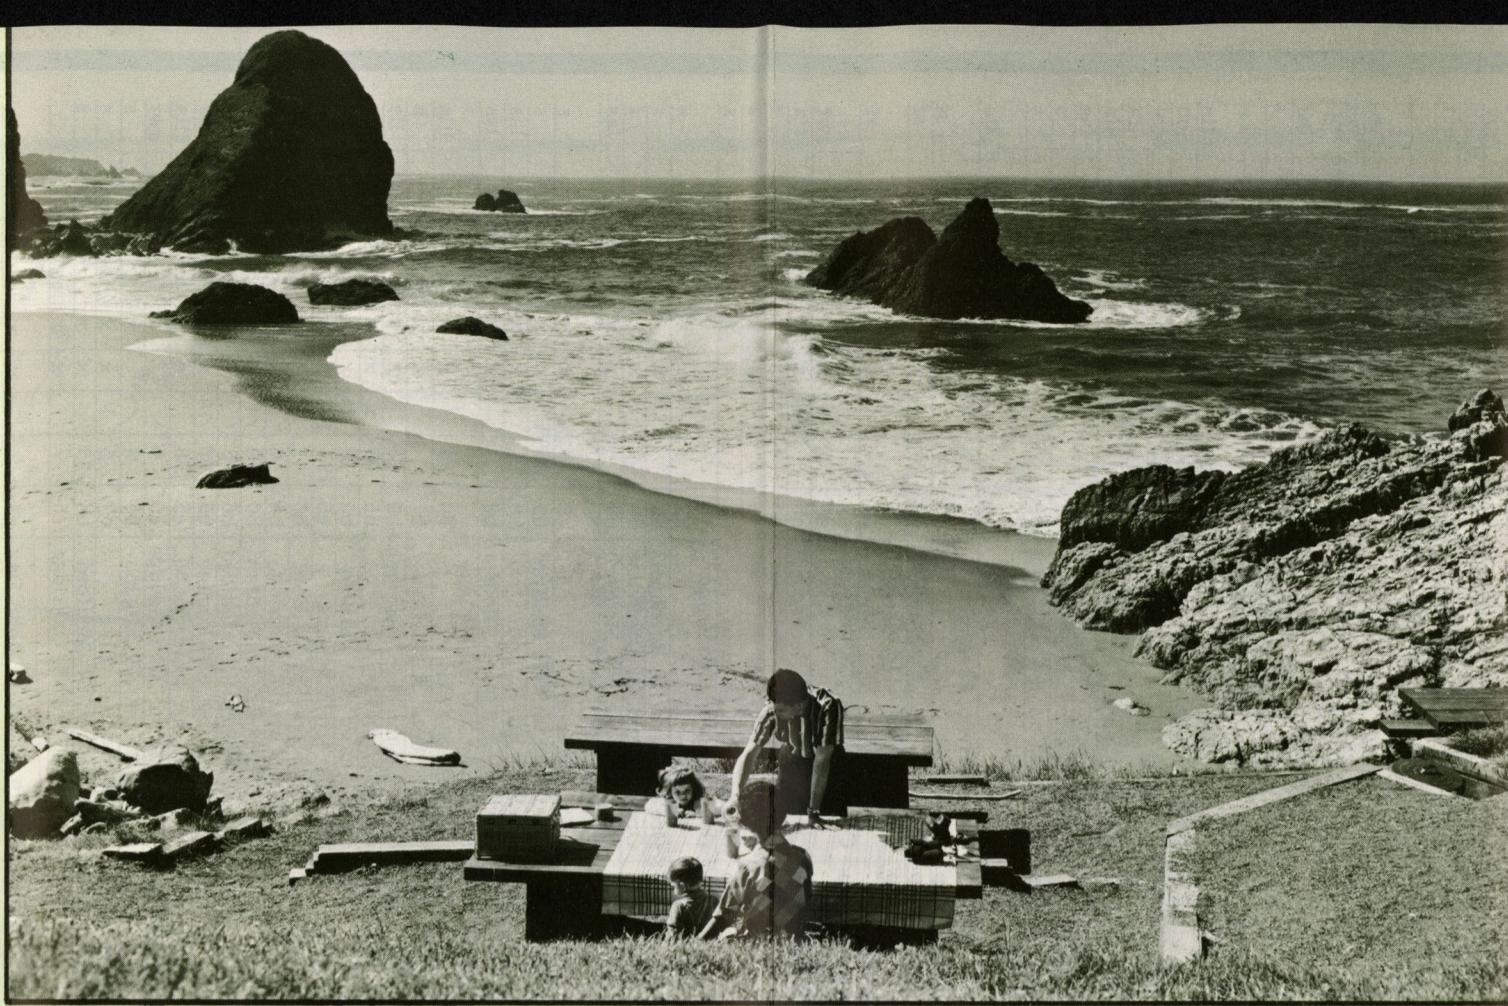

Fishing is permitted in State Parks to all licensed anglers, subject to Oregon State Game Commission regulations.

Boating facilities are provided in many of Oregon's State Parks and adjacent areas. Laws and safety requirements are explained in detail in a free Synopsis prepared by the State Marine Board, State Office Building, Salem 10, Oregon.

Dogs and Pets On Leash Allowed

Dogs and other pets shall be allowed in State Parks as long as they are kept on leash, or are confined in a vehicle. Automobiles, trailers, or other vehicles shall be parked only in designated parking areas.

Most important of all—enjoy Oregon's State Parks—and leave them clean for others to enjoy! Don't be a Litterbug!

A SCENIC SETTING AT HARRIS BEACH STATE PARK ON THE SOUTHERN OREGON COAST

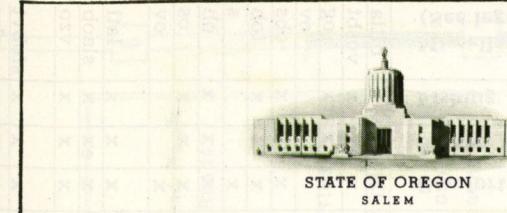

OREGON HAS A GREAT VARIETY OF OUTDOOR RECREATION AREAS

Beginning at sea level on smooth, sandy Pacific beaches, our lands stretch inland across the snow-tipped Cascade Mountains —then to high central plateaus, and on upward again to the lofty Blue and Wallowa Mountains of the northeast.

Within the borders of Oregon's 97,000 square miles are 13 National Forests and over 200 state-owned areas which are dedicated to public enjoyment forever. This folder has been designed to show the principal State Parks, State Roadside Rest Areas, and U. S. Forest Service Camps which are easily accessible by driving Oregon's modern highway system.

All but a few miles of Oregon's 400-mile, air-conditioned coastline are public property. Inland both the State of Oregon and the U. S. Forest Service have set aside verdant valley settings, too, for everyone to enjoy. Rivers and streams, fed by springs and glaciers sourcing in the Cascade Mountains, are graced by State Parks and Forest Camps in many areas. And east of the Cascades are huge, sage-scented high plateaus containing several State Park areas of age-old junipers, as well as acreages of geologic, historic, and anthropologic interest. In the northeastern corner of the state are the pine-forested Blue and Wallowa Mountains, containing recreation unlimited beside snow-fed streams and clear lakes.

It's fun to play and relax in Oregon's variety of recreation areas. Plan now to visit Oregon's outdoor wonderlands this season. Hospitable people, modern accommodations, and facilities will make your Oregon visit a memorable occasion. You'll want to come back again soon!

Dear Friend and Visitor:

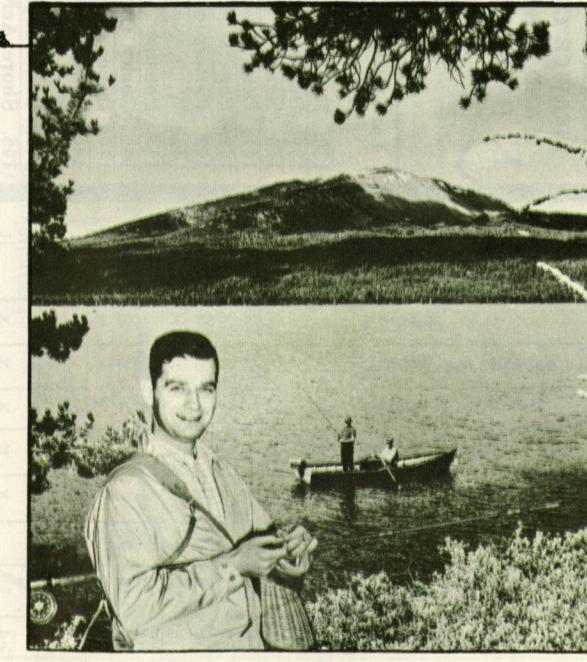

All of Oregon is pleased to invite you to share our state's recreational playgrounds. Tall evergreens, a 400-mile ocean coast, open ranges and snow-capped mountains surrounded by lakes will tempt your taste for outdoor adventure.

Oregon's fine highway system will lead you to a wide variety of choice vacation regions. Public enjoyment of these areas is of prime importance to us, and we may now boast of more state parks than any other state in the nation.

Everywhere in Oregon you may take advantage of excellent facilities offered by state parks, roadside rest areas and forest camps. It is our hope this guide will assist you in locating and enjoying these recreational retreats.

We know you will be delighted with Oregon's magnificent scenery, modern accommodations and invigorating climate. Friendly Oregonians will make your stay here pleasant and relaxing. Won't you make it a point to visit us soon?

Hospitably yours,
Mark O. Hatfield
Governor of Oregon

CAMPING FACILITIES AT TUMALO STATE PARK

OVERNIGHT GUESTS IN STATE PARKS

Guests may use overnight camping and trailer parking facilities for a period of up to one week for which nominal fees are charged. These fees are collected by a park official either after the camper has located for the night at a designated site or upon assignment of a site by the official. No charge is made for picnicking in State Park areas.

Visitors wishing to receive MAIL while camping in Oregon State Parks may obtain mailing addresses and instructions direct from local park officials, or in advance by writing the State Parks and Recreation Division, Highway Department, Salem 10, Oregon.

SEASON OF USE IN STATE PARKS

State Parks normally are open to visitors the year around. In localities where cold weather and snow blocks park access roads, the park facilities, such as cooking stoves, restrooms, tables and water, may not be available. Accessibility to the area is the factor which determines State Park closures and openings for the season. Major season of use is May-September.

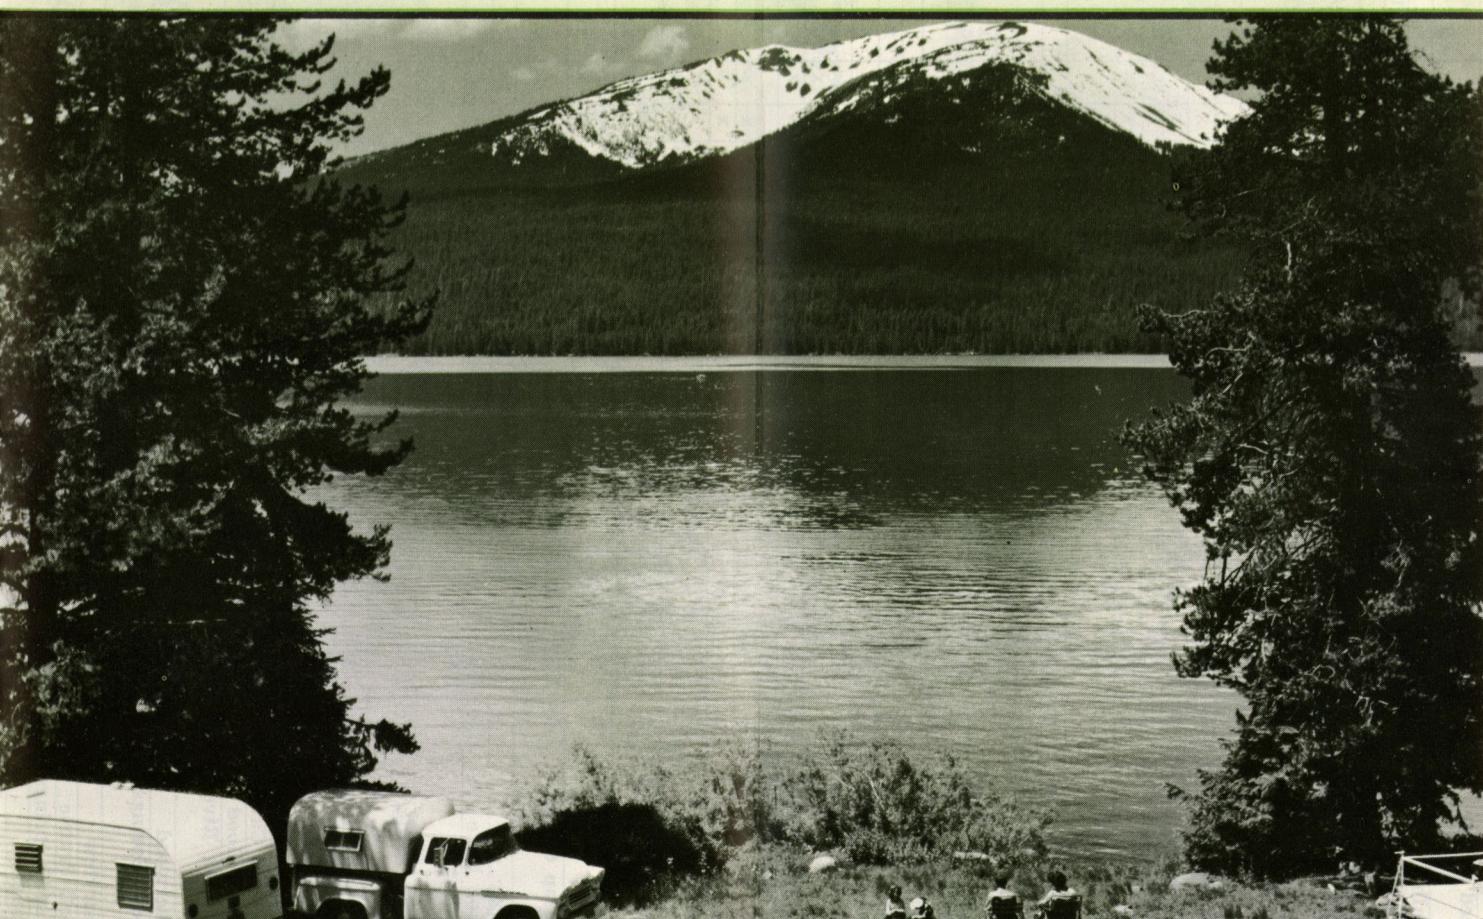

HELP US KEEP OUR HIGHWAYS AND PARKS CLEAN

For the convenience of the traveling public, the Oregon State Highway Department has placed refuse containers at many points along the highway system. Containers also are found in our State Parks, Forest Camps and Rest Areas. Good insurance of clean highways and park facilities is compliance with Oregon law prohibiting throwing of refuse along highways.

U. S. FOREST SERVICE CAMPS

Forest Service camps listed herein are only those located immediately adjacent to State Highways. A complete directory of forest service camps in Oregon may be obtained by writing the Regional Office, U. S. Forest Service, Division of Information and Education, P. O. Box 4137, Portland 8, Oregon.

NATIONAL PARKS IN OREGON

Crater Lake National Park, Oregon Caves National Monument and Ft. Clatsop National Memorial are Oregon's National Park attractions. Crater Lake is accessible the year around via Oregon Highway 62. The lodge is open from mid-June to mid-September. Oregon Caves Chalet on Oregon Highway 46, is open only during the summer months, but guide service is available the year around. Ft. Clatsop is on the original site of the Lewis and Clark headquarters of the winter of 1805-06, four and a half miles south of Astoria near U.S. 101.

STATE ROADSIDE REST AREAS

Roadside Rest Areas, so designated by signs at their entrances, are maintained as a convenience to the traveling public by the Oregon State Highway Department. Each invites the motorist to "stop and rest a while." Most have drinking water, comfort stations and picnic tables and all have safe off-highway parking facilities. Occupancy over 18 hours during any 24 hour period is prohibited.

BLUE STAR MEMORIALS

Since U. S. Highways 99 and 97 have been designated as the Blue Star Memorial Highways in Oregon, Roadside Rest Areas have been chosen as the chief development feature of this theme. In cooperation with the Oregon Federation of Garden Clubs, several roadside areas have been marked with plaques as a "tribute to the armed forces that have defended the United States of America."
