Dear Mrs. Wilck:

Shortly before the first of the year I wrote you in detail concerning a manuscript that is well in preparation, and wondering if you would be interested in taking a look at this when it is finished, or if you had a suggestion to make as to a reliable agent, preferably in New York.

I mentioned at the time it was a query only and that my way of doing business was not to put out a flock of queries but to select one person.

I have not heard from you since then and assume that you are not interested, or have no suggestion to make. It may be that the material, although off track, is more acceptable to a hard back publisher. It is certainly not material for Americana, although parts of it will be the only material of that nature prepared in manuscript form to my knowledge.

Should I hear nothing from you within a short time I will assume you are not interested and will attempt to locate an eastern agent.

Sincere Regards
