THE GOVERNOR DIDN'T COME.

His Excellency Avoids Yakima on His Junket About the State.

The people of North Yakima have not yet had an opportunity to extend the glad hand to his excellency, Gov. McBride and thereby, perhaps, hangs a tale. Twice now within a week the governor has disappointed the leaders of the faithful, hereabouts, without apparently a good reason therefore and as a natural result the boys are beginning to feel a little sore over the matter.

His excellency was billed to arrive here on Saturday, Feb. 1st, but for some unexplained reason he failed to show up. It was then announced authoritatively last week in the senior republican organ that the governor would positively be here on Saturday, Feb. 8th, and that he wasn't coming to see Snively either. In anticipation of a visit from the official head of the party in this state, considerable preparations were made by local party leaders. The old wheel horses were nearly all on hand to welcome him and presumably to tender advice regarding appointments in case their opinions should be asked for. A meeting of the county central committee was hurriedly called to meet at the office of Col. Howlett on that day to make recommendations for appointment and give the workers a chance to get acquainted with the new dispenser of state patronage. Editor Robertson, not to be outdone by any of his co-workers, had written a red hot editorial for his paper commending the governor for his fight upon the railroads. But alas! They were all doomed to disappointment. Metaphorically speaking, the feast was made ready, the guests were all present, but the bridegroom came not.

The faithful felt disappointed, then naturally enough, they felt displeased when they found out as they did afterwards that his excellency had deliberately canceled his Yakima appointment in order to make a new one at Ellensburg that enabled him to meet and confer at that place with some of his close party friends. It was given out that he had stopped off at Ellensburg in order to visit the Normal school at that place. It probably did not occur to the gentlemen who made this explanation that the Normal school is never in session on Saturdays. At any rate such was evidently not the reason why the governor stopped off in that town instead of coming to Yakima for the Ellensburg dispatches to the Sunday dailies state that his excellency never went near the Normal school and was closeted all the afternoon with certain Ellensburg politicians and that he left that town at midnight for Spokane.

The truth seems to be, judging from the governor's actions, that he does not wish to confer with regard to appointments with the Yakima politicians. It has been stated, and not without authority, that Gov. McBride regards Yakima county as a Wilson stronghold and therefore considers it useless, with the purposes he has in view, to distribute any of his prize packages in this neck of the woods. As is well known, the governor has begun a fight with the railroads and is at the same time already actively engaged in promoting the senatorial boom of his former law partner Hon. Harold Preston of Seattle. In order to maintain his position he of course needs the support of an organization—a machine in fact—and that is what he is just now engaged in building. That he is not looking to Yakima county to furnish any part of the new machine is now a self evident fact even to the most superficial of observers.

Smallpox Scare Subsiding.

Dr. P. Frank the efficient health officer of this city, informed the Democrat Friday that the smallpox epidemic that has been to some extent prevalent in this city for the past two or three weeks was now on the wane and is well under control. He stated that the number of houses under quarantine numbered 22 instead of 34 a week ago. In several instances also, where houses are yet under quarantine, patients have recovered but of course cannot be given their liberty until the signs of the disease have disappeared and the patients as well as the houses thoroughly fumigated. The health officer further stated that while there are a few quite severe cases the majority of them are of a mild type and under proper treatment will soon recover. The health officer and his assistants have been kept very busy attending to their duties. They feel that they have the disease now under perfect control although they have relaxed none in vigilance.

Opening Club Ball.

The opening ball given by the Commercial Club in the new quarters in the Clogg block was the event of the season. In spite of the conditions that operated to keep many people away, the function was well attended. Felicitous speeches suitable to the occasion were made by President Englehart of the club, L. H. Clogg the owner of the building and Mrs. Vestal Snyder president of the Woman's club. After the speechmaking was over a mock session of the Woman's club was held which afforded much amusement and kept the benedicts and bachelors present convulsed with laughter. After the mock session a short musical program was rendered after which dancing began. A committee of the Woman's club served an elegant lunch in the banquet room. The tables were most beautifully and profusely decorated with flowers. The entertainment was voted a decided success by all in attendance.

Jury Finds For Aumiller.

The right of way condemnation suit of R. S. & C. Irrigation Co. vs S. E. Aumiller, et-al was tried before a jury in the superior court Thursday. Most of the day was consumed in taking evidence the case going to the jury about 7:30 p. m. About 9:30 a verdict was arrived at which gave the Aumillers a judgment for $683. The case will probably be appealed to the supreme court.

WAS A FALSE REPORT.

Health Officer Frank Corrects Misleading Statements in Local Papers.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT: I take this means of correcting statements that appeared in two of the local papers last week. The purport of such statements was that as the health officer of this city I had condemned or had caused to be condemned as unfit for domestic use the crop of ice recently harvested on what is known as the Sinclair or mill pond.

I desire to say in this connection that as health officer of this city I did nothing of the kind and that the items referred to are wholly untrue and misleading as well as mischievous. As far as I know the quality of ice mentioned is as good as any in this vicinity.

You will please publish this statement over my signature and oblige.

Yours respectfully,

P. FRANK,
Health officer of the city of North Yakima.

Central Committee Meets.

The republican county central committee met Saturday afternoon according to program. The meeting place was in the joint office of Col. Howlett and Col. Taggard on First street.

Chairman S. J. Cameron presided and a fair representation of the membership was present. There were three reasons given for calling the meeting as viz; to enable the members to meet the governor—who never came—to endorse candidates for appointment as State Fair commissioners and to fill certain vacancies on the committee. It was the sense of the meeting that one of the late Gov. Roger's appointees on the State Fair commission ought to resign and make room for another republican. It is no secret that Secretary Gunn is the man whose scalp the local republicans are after. It was determined by the committee to recommend two men for appointment, one to fill the place of President J. M. Baxter who has resigned, and the other to succeed Dr. Gunn who has not yet resigned and doubtless has no intention of doing so. The present republican members of the board are A. B. Weed and E. F. Benson, these gentlemen it is understood will be asked to remain as well as A. J. Splawn, who is of course, a democrat. With both Baxter and Gunn supplanted by republicans the reorganized body would stand 4 to 1. Heretofore the commission has always been more evenly divided politically, the party in power being satisfied with three members out of the five.

High School For Zillah.

A movement is on foot to establish a high school at the town of Zillah. The plan proposed is to form a high school district from Zillah and five surrounding districts making six in all, namely: Zillah, Liberty, Alfalfa, Toppenish and the two Parker districts.

E. J. Jaeger the Zillah merchant, is the prime mover in the matter and is quite enthusiastic on the subject of the union high school. On being asked about the matter recently Mr. Jaeger said: "The proposal to establish a high school at Zillah will be a success because the people of that locality now feel the necessity for such an institution. In the territory that will make up the district there are now over 100 pupils ready to take up the high school course. During the coming season we expect to erect at Zillah a $10000 building to accommodate the high school. The parents down there all take to the idea because it will enable them to keep their children at home."

Abolish Yakima Indian Agency.

The commissioner of Indian affairs according to recent press dispatches from Washington, has made a recommendation to congress that the office of Indian agent at Fort Simcoe be abolished and that the agency be placed in the hands of a bonded superintendent. The dispatches further state that it is believed in Washington that politics is at the bottom of the matter and that it is done to prevent Senator Foster from making a new appointment to fill the office now occupied by Agent Lynch.

The term of Mr. Lynch expires next month and it is well known here that Senator Foster means to or has recommended another man for the place. Under no circumstances, it is said, will he consent to the reappointment of Mr. Lynch. It will be necessary for congress to take affirmative action before the agency can be abolished.

Don't "Monkey" With the Boxes.

A false alarm was turned in to the fire department from the west side Wednesday morning and again from the same district Thursday forenoon. Chief Hauser thinks that these two alarms were turned in either by mischievous boys or else somebody who mistook the fire alarm box for a mail box. The chief had some cards printed this week one of which have been nailed to the pole supporting each box and which reads as follows:

"Notice.—Unlock and open box with key chained to pole. Give the crank on inside one full turn to the right. Be sure and lock box again. Warning.—Any person caught meddling with the box or turning in a false alarm will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

At Hymen's Altar.

A requisition on the professional services of Judge Taggard was made Thursday afternoon by a happy couple from the neighboring town of Sunnyside. The candidates for hymenal bliss were Mr. Frank L. Lyon and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Bicknell. The judge tied the nuptial knot, that binds the two for life, in the most approved manner, omitting no part of the ceremony. Editor Drew and Dr. Bugbee were called in as witnesses. The groom is a young man who, is said to have formerly lived in Utah and is a comparative newcomer at Sunnyside. The bride is well known throughout this county where she has a large circle of friends and acquaintances, having resided here for the past 15 years.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

It is always unsatisfactory to attempt to argue a principle or anything else with the editor of the Yakima republic. He will assume to argue a matter whether he knows anything about it or not and being habitually careless with the truth is apt to make others as well as himself appear ridiculous in type. In quoting a contemporary he seldom takes the pains to quote correctly and often makes it appear that it uttered language that it never did express. Unfortunately he is a man of narrow vision, actuated by a slavish devotion to party, as new recruits usually are. The public does not expect him to take a broad view of any matter, especially where public interests clash with party policy or conflict with the plans of politicians with whom he is allied. The probabilities are that the colonel is still at heart about as good a democrat as he was in the days when he shouted for Grover Cleveland and free trade over in the little town of Chehalis, although he has learned something since, to wit; that it pays a man in his position better to be a republican than to be a democrat.

We would not devote so much of our space to Col. Robertson and his political antecedents were it not for the fact that he has publicly accused this paper of lying and wholesale misrepresentation of Mr. Jones and his grazing bill. Let it not be understood that the colonel does this of his own accord. In truth he probably cares very little about the political fortunes of the congressman or the fate of his innocent looking little bill. Mr. Jones is not at all the sort of man that the Republic editor would care to tie in politics. If he essays to defend him at all in his paper he does so under pressure. His ardor and interest in the Jones candidacy suddenly cooled as soon as he learned that that gentleman had promised to recommend another candidate for the Yakima post-office.

It the editor knows anything at all about public sentiment in Yakima county he knows that it is overwhelmingly opposed to the passage of the Jones bill or any other bill of like nature. If he had seen the petitions that were circulated among the farmers and sent to Washington numerously signed, he would not write so glibly about matters of which he knows nothing about.

In agitating the matter the editor of this paper said repeatedly both publicly and privately that there was and ought not to be any politics in it. The questions of range and watershed are vital, living issues with the farmers of this valley and they well know the necessity of guarding their interests jealously. The more astute among them saw instantly that the Jones bill was a gold brick and that it was not conceived in their interest. In canvassing the matter among themselves they soon discovered that by its provisions not one out of a hundred among them could reasonably hope to profit by it. It was reasonable for them to assume that if it helped anybody it would help the sheepmen since that class of stockmen have absorbed such vast quantities of the contiguous railroad land. The salient feature of the Jones bill is that in order to be eligible to purchase land under it from the government a man must necessarily own land adjoining. This feature is the little joker in the bill and what caused the farmers to so generally condemn it. Col. Robertson probably knows all this as well as anybody, and he doubtless knew it when the agitation was at its height. He did not attempt to defend the bill then because he knew that it was an unpopular piece of legislation, and to defend it meant a loss of subscribers and hence a loss of dollars.

THAT erstwhile Napoleon of finance, J. Pierpont Morgan, is evidently not content with the control of the steel-making monopoly, the railway trust and other playthings which for a time served to amuse him. He must needs, therefore, corral other industries and reform them according to his own peculiar ideas, otherwise the world would grow dull for him and life would not be worth the living. Only a short time ago it was given out that he had engineered a deal whereby all the leading steamship lines of the Atlantic and possibly the Pacific, like a ripe pear had fallen into the Morgan maw and would be successfully masticated. On the assumption that the Morganizing of the steamship lines would mean a material advance in the rates on ocean freight, importers, it is said, have hurried consignments forward from Europe to escape the additional tax. Mr. Morgan by this great coup becomes, therefore, a world wide philanthropist, a public benefactor of not merely American, but of international renown. It is hinted that he contemplates extending his field of foreign operations so as to take over the giant steel-making industry of England and through his famous community of interests plan, consolidate it with his American system. England, the tight little isle which for centuries has successfully resisted all efforts of foreign invaders is thus to be ravished and fall a prey to an American buccaneer who, though not a pirate in the old sense, is still even more objectionable to that large class of people who are not readily hypnotized by a vulgar display of wealth.

Morgan's ambition as a financial genius and reformer has not yet by any means been realized. According to report the crowning act of his career is yet to come. For years he is said to have cherished a dream that he would yet become the world's banker. The first step in this scheme is to revive the idea of a United States bank with a head office in New York and with branches and ramifications in every part of the country. Where existing institutions will not enter the combine rival banks will be started to freeze them out. As soon as the American system is completed the absorption of foreign banking will begin and will continue until a world system is gathered together into a compact and harmonious whole. Doubtless the only thing that could prevent the realization of this cherished dream of the mighty Morgan would be his untimely death. If his life is spared he will bring it all about, for in his line he is the most wonderful organizer the world has ever known. The common herd, however, will have to pay the fiddler.

THE venerable Senator Hoar of Massachusetts while a rabid partisan is nevertheless a pure and high minded statesman. It seems odd that the old Bay state should be represented in the senate by two republicans whose opinions should be so divergent and antagonistic as are those of Lodge and Hoar. The former is the accepted leader of the imperialistic idea in the senate; the latter the acknowledged leader of the anti-imperialistic. Senator Hoar in a recent speech on the Philippine question, said:

"I believe that if our republic, with its mighty and irresistible force, had done with the Philippine people as we had done with Japan, its action would have found a response in what is best, and not in what is worst, in human nature. They would today be listening to our counsel, and informing themselves by our example. Their schools and universities would be filled with youth studying our language and history, fitting themselves to learn the great and noble story of the men who built this republic. We should already have made of them a brave, honorable, and noble people, looking upon the present with satisfaction, and upon the future with hope. If, instead of that, they are exhibiting the traits which belong to weakness and subjection, it is we who are largely responsible. If the Filipino be treacherous, it is we that have made him treacherous; if he is cruel, it is we that have made him cruel; if he be savage, it is we that have dashed the cup of liberty and civilization from his lips."

THERE is a good deal of tall lying being done about the prevalence of small pox in and about this city. It is true that there are a few cases of small pox here or what is purported to be small pox. The cases reported, however, as a rule, are of so mild a type that those having the disease are subjected to nothing worse than being put to a little temporary inconvenience and expense by reason of being quarantined. No deaths have occurred and none are likely to occur through the epidemic, if such it may be called that now prevails here. Still, of course, nobody wants it if they can possibly avoid it, although there are those who have had it that say they would take it in preference to a bad cold. We believe that the city health officers are trying to do their whole duty in dealing with the epidemic and that they now have it under control. Some people there are, of course, who insist upon being scared and who make a mountain out of a molehill. There is little if any danger if our people will observe the rules of hygiene and common sense.

As we started out to say there has been a good deal of tall lying done about the matter especially by some people and certain newspapers at a distance. Whether the misinformation that has been imparted has been based on ignorance of the true conditions here or on malice, remains to be seen. The result has been the same, however, inasmuch as this wild and inconsiderate talk has been detrimental to the material interests of this community.

THE Republic said last week that the governor was not coming here to see Snively. That is probably true since there was no necessity of his coming here to see Snively. He had already met and held a conference with the Yakima lawyer on the Sound. Strange as it may seem the Hon. Henry J. Snively evidently has a greater "pull" with the new republican governor than has the editor of the Republic or any other politician in town. No the governor didn't come to see Snively; neither did he come to see Robertson, Whitson, Cannon or any of the other boys.

His honor, Judge Rudkin, declines to run amuck of the senatorial ambition of the Hon. W. L. Jones. That is considerate of the judge, quite considerate. It is rumored that if Mr. Jones becomes a senator "Rud" will be made an U. S. judge. However, that may be Yakima can't afford to lose that place on the state supreme bench. Trot out another candidate gentlemen. What's the matter with Englehart?

THE Seattle Evening Times now issues seven papers a week, the initial Sunday issue appearing Feb. 9th. The Times under its present progressive management has developed rapidly until it has become a great metropolitan paper. It is now probably one of the best paying newspaper propositions in the Northwest.

Of course, Mr. Republic we saw the Jones bill, read it, dissected it and passed our opinion on it as did everybody else that wanted to. What has all that got to do with the bill itself, its merits or demerits? How these republican gentlemen do quibble when they find themselves in a tight place.

ANOTHER poor girl has been found murdered in San Francisco and that city is all agog over the matter. The yellow papers are therefore furnished a sensation that will keep them busy chewing for a time.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6, 1902.

A sensational meeting of the Ways and Means committee marked the first day of this week in the Capitol, during which an unexpected attack on the extreme protectionist policy of the administration, precipitated by Representative Babcock of Wisconsin, almost resulted in heart failure—metaphorically speaking—on the part of Chairman Payne, and left the old gentleman in actual tears. The motion to favorably report the bill providing for the abolition of the war taxes was before the committee when Mr. Babcock moved to amend the bill by the addition of his bill reducing the duties on the products of the steel trust. With the utmost confidence Mr. Payne called for the ayes and noes and the result was a vote of 6 to 7. Two republicans and two democrats were unavoidably absent but had the latter been present the committee would have been committed to a policy totally at variance with the wishes of the leaders of the party.

Hardly had the chairman recovered from his surprise at the closeness of the vote when Representative Steele of Indiana moved to amend the bill by the addition of a clause granting 25 per cent reciprocal reduction on Cuban sugar. With tears in his eyes and voice, Mr. Payne begged him to withdraw his motion, which Mr. Steele finally consented to do. The chairman then delivered a homily to Mr. Babcock on the subject of protection concluding with a threat to remove the tariff on lumber, it being supposed that Mr. Babcock had large lumber interests in Wisconsin. The threat did not seem to produce much effect on the member from Wisconsin and he declared that he will present his amendment again on the floor of the House. There is every prospect of a very interesting session when the report of the committee is called up in the House as Mr. Newlands of Nevada will also offer his amendment imposing a tax of one-tenth of one per cent on the gross receipts of the industrial corporations in excess of $1,000,000 per annum with a clause appended requiring the publicity of the figures of such corporations; provided the committee on rules does not shut out all amendments, as is now threatened.

Another interesting feature of the week has been the quiet, but none the less intense, contest which is going on between the president and the extreme protectionists in regard to reciprocal relations with Cuba. Mr. Roosevelt maintains that the United States is in honor bound to grant the concessions because of the representations of President McKinley and Secretary Root, and that he is personally bound, by his promise to the people to carry into effect the policy of the late president, to do all in his power to secure the reciprocity he is advocating. Speaker Henderson, General Grosvenor and other republican leaders are unalterably opposed to any deviation from the highest protection and a serious break between the Capitol and the White House is imminent at any moment.

President Roosevelt is about to indulge his propensity for administering reprimands once more. This time the victim will be his former colonel, Gen. Leonard Wood. Gen. Wood has addressed to the senators a circular letter representing the sore need of Cuba of liberal treatment by congress and the president considers that his appeal should have been sent through the War department and that his having addressed the members of the House was a serious error from the standpoint of tact and diplomacy. Accordingly, the general is to be treated to an expression of executive wrath similar to that administered to General Miles.

On last Monday evening the republicans of the House met in caucus and considered the proposition to limit the representations of the southern states and, in the words of one of the members present, "labored the whole night and accomplished nothing." They talked volubly and wildly for several hours and then Representative Sereno E. Payne came in and told them they did not know what they were talking about and, as a large number of those present had come to the same conclusion, they accepted his dictum and adjourned.

A sharp tilt occurred recently in the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals when Senator Morgan, chairman of the committee, openly accused Senator Hanna of wilfully obstructing canal legislation. Senator Morgan, so I am told, even went so far as to accuse the senator from Ohio of greater solicitude for his friends, the trans-continental railroads, than for the undoubtedly expressed wishes of the American people. Senator Hanna is said to have turned very red under the Alabamian's charges and then to have denied them in no uncertain terms and a more severe encounter was only prevented by the interference of the other members of the committee. When the canal question comes up for consideration on the floor of the senate the same accusations are likely to be implied but in a more veiled form and it is hardly likely that the dignified senate will be treated to the dramatic scene which occurred in Senator Morgan's committee-room.

Representative Sibley of Pennsylvania, told me yesterday that he was unchanged in his opposition to the Hansborough-Newlands irrigation bill and that he felt it to be his duty to work and speak against it. He said: "I am a farmer myself and I know the difficulties with which the farmers have to contend, the long hours they have to work and the depreciation of the value of their lands, at least in the eastern states, which has confronted them. Of course I realize that the time will come when it will be proper and expedient for the federal government to lend a hand towards the irrigation of the arid lands of the west if it can be done without its operating to the advantage of a few large land owners rather than to the advantage of small farmers and would be settlers, but the time is not yet ripe. The farmers of the east have seen hard times and have battled fearful odds and now that they begin to see daylight there comes to congress men who would add vast acres to the present area of tillable land and increase the competition which in the past has been so keen as to make farming the most laborious and least profitable of the professions. These gentlemen from the west are on the right track but they are away ahead of time. The time will come when the manufacturing interests of this country will have vastly increased, the home market will have increased proportionately and there will be ample demand to consume at good prices all of the farmers products. Then I will be glad to see, what I knew as a boy as 'the great American desert' made one great flourishing field."

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Lent began this season on Wednesday Feb. 12th.

If you don't read the DEMOCRAT you don't get all the news.

County Supt. Dickey has been engaged in visiting schools this week.

J. M. McCleary formerly of Yakima but now of Seattle, is visiting here this week.

No. 53, a new school district in the Moxee, is erecting a handsome new school house.

Leo McDonald and Miss Vera Wiley both of the Athanum, took out a license to wed Tuesday.

Miss Bessie Patton has been in Tacoma for the past two weeks visiting her sister Mrs. Sweeney.

County Clerk Allen contemplates building a $1200 residence on Sixth street in the early spring.

J. W. Turner and family of Sunnyside, leave this morning for a few weeks visit with relatives at Palo-Alto and Los Angeles, Cal.

C. McIntyre of Easton, this week bought out Garrett Bros. Yakima & Easton wood yard and will take charge of the business next week.

Frank Horsley, J. T. Foster, B. F. Kumler, L. Geisel and W. I. Lince of the local lodge of Knights of Pythias went to Ellensburg Tuesday to attend a banquet given by the lodge of that city.

Messrs. Richey and Gilbert this week presented the Congregational church with a furnace with which to heat that temple of worship. Their generosity is much appreciated by members of that church.

A party named Nichols recently from Michigan, this week bought 40 acres of the F. E. Thompson ranch at Parker. The land purchased includes one of the finest orchards in the county. The consideration was $8,500.

Mrs. Lillie Branchan received a letter this week from her father John Michels at Honolulu, in which he stated that his health had not improved in the islands and that he and his family would probably start back to Frisco Feb. 11.

It was reported this week that A. E. Poole had bought the T. J. Lynch hops numbering 309 bales at 15c. Mr. Poole yesterday denied that he had bought the lot at that figure, stating that he had only been negotiating for the hops.

Workmen while engaged in heating varnish in the card room of the Commercial Club quarters Thursday, set fire to the handsome new Brussels carpet and burnt a considerable section of it before the fire was extinguished.

After taking legal advice the local school board has found that it cannot legally issue bonds for the erection of a new school house until after the 1902 assessment has been made. On the basis of the last assessment the district is now within $5000 of the legal limit of indebtedness.

W. T. Clark's high line canal proposition received the hearty endorsement of a mass meeting recently held at Wenatchee and the ditch will accordingly be constructed this summer. The estimated cost of the work is $200,000 and it is expected that 7000 acres of land will be redeemed. The water is taken from the Wenatchee river.

The Hiscok property on the avenue occupied formerly by the Yakima Furniture Co., was sold this week by H. B. Scudder to E. W. Pickett, the consideration being $6000. The building has been leased by a Mr. Stewart lately from San Francisco, who intends to open up a saloon as soon as the repairs on the building are finished.

Pat Donnelly of the Cowiche, had a narrow escape from death Tuesday. He had noticed that the roof of his cattle shed, being overburdened with snow, was settling under the weight. While engaged in getting the cattle under the roof collapsed, a heavy timber missing Mr. Donnelly's head by a few inches. One valuable animal was killed.

The Week's Amusements.

The celebrated Chicago Symphony orchestra gave a high class entertainment at Larson's theater Monday evening. The engagement was played here under the auspices of the Armory Association which organization came off a decided loser by it. The audience though small was thoroughly appreciative and was made up in the main of music lovers.

Wilson's Juvenile Minstrels occupied the boards Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. This is a Seattle aggregation that has been on the road only about six weeks and is made up entirely of little folk who have been carefully taught the art and tricks of minstrelsy by Prof. Wilson. The age of these juvenile performers range from 6 to 13. They present a most unique appearance in their natty and gaudy costumes before the footlights, especially the little tots. They all seem to know their parts well and put up a very creditable and amusing performance. Several people present were heard to remark, however, that there ought to be a law to reach the case of parents who would permit children of such tender years to appear upon the stage. Owing to the prevailing smallpox scare the audiences were small at all of the performances this week.

If you contemplate building a house, either a business block or a residence, first make it a point to see C. H. Bruenn the contractor and let him figure with you.

Remember, this (Saturday) is the last day of the special Tea Sale at the Yakima Tea Co's. Big discount on Japan and Spider leg tea.

A Fireman's Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters and after taking it I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by W. E. Ayres. Price 50 cents.

Notice to Builders.

We desire to say to those contemplating building this spring that we still have considerable brick in stock both common and repress and that our capacity for making is such that we can put brick on the market as soon as most any builder can get their excavations made and stone foundations laid ready for brick work. See us before changing your plans about using brick.

Modjeska-James in "Henry VIII."

The forthcoming production of Henry VIII. on Tuesday evening Feb. 18th, at the opera house, by Wagenhals and Kemper with Madame Modjeska and Louis James at the head of the cast is an event long looked forward to by the casual and regular playgoer alike. The appearance of Modjeska alone, whose pre-eminence in tragic, romantic and emotional roles is recognized the world over, would in itself be of sufficient importance to call for more than an ordinary comment. Now that she is associated with Mr. Louis James, however, the importance attaching to her appearance is greatly enhanced, for in the dramatic contention of the play she is thereby assured of an opponent worthy her genius. Mr. James has a following scarcely less formidable or enthusiastic than that of Modjeska, his remarkable versatility which has so frequently surprised both his critics and his audience having made him perhaps the most popular actor of the present decade on the legitimate stage.

Those who are familiar with Henry VIII. can see in the role of Queen Katherine what opportunity there is for the wondrous art of Modjeska. The career of this noble queen was one long defensive war against the selfish, callous, sensuality of her ignoble spouse, and the hypocrisy of a corrupt church, which finally swept her from the throne. The part has some great moments, such as during her trial by the ecclesiastical court, her plea for the life of Buckingham, and her several interviews with Wolsey, the King's favorite. In these scenes Modjeska should reach heights unattainable by her contemporaries. In the character of Cardinal Wolsey it is said Mr. Louis James appears to better advantage than ever before. The rise and fall of this famous prelate is a study that only Shakespearean actor of Mr. James standing could appreciate let alone realize. Mr. James should be able to vividly emphasize the pitiless ingratitude of Henry VIII., and that eloquence for which Mr. James is so noted could have no better opportunity of expression than in the famous speech familiar to almost every school boy wherein he bids farewell to his ambition and his greatness.

As a production the revival of Henry VIII. by Wagenhals and Kemper is said to rival the best offerings of the legitimate stage in several years, not excepting those of Mr. Mansfield or the late Augustin Daly. The scenes which are said to be the most remarkable for elaborate detail are the banquet hall in Cardinal Wolsey's house, the ecclesiastical court at Blackfriars, the vision where Katherine breathes her last moments, and the coronation of Anne Bullen. These are said to be designed with scrupulous fidelity to history and tradition, and are said to be very effective, now bewildering the spectator with their pomp and glitter, now lending the enchantment of a dream. Fifty people will be used in the production of Henry VIII. in this city.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The partnership heretofore existing between Harley Hill and J. R. Case doing business under the name of the Oriental Candy Kitchen has been dissolved, the latter gentleman having retired. Mr. Hill's cousin Mrs. Emma Allen, has bought an interest in the business as has also F. H. Buchanan, a candy maker of Seattle. The new firm will be known as the Cascade Candy Co. and will manufacture candy for the wholesale as well as the retail trade.

The free mail delivery system is now beginning to give better satisfaction as the carriers gradually become more familiar with the names and numbers of the patrons living along their respective routes. There is, however, considerable "kicking" from people who live on the extreme edges of the city that the carriers do not reach them, particularly from residents of the lower end of S. Second street, who complain that the carrier will only come as far as the sidewalk reaches.

Abraham G. Clemmer, aged 73 years, died at the residence of his son F. D. Clemmer 216 N. Third street at 5 a. m. Wednesday morning. Deceased had been a patient sufferer for several years from bladder and kidney trouble and the end which came peacefully was anticipated. Mr. Clemmer was a native of Germany but came to this country in early manhood. He leaves besides a widow five children to mourn his loss. The funeral was held from the residence Thursday at 2 p. m.; interment being made at Tacoma cemetery.
