Mr. Anthony Grann, publisher,
Want List, Book Trade Weekly
Box 255, Hamden, Conn.

Dear Mr. Grann:

Thank you for your letter of January 26 concerning the lost United States Postal Money order in the amount of $3.95.

Since I have heard nothing further, and as indicated by your letter,
I have turned the receipts over to local postal authorities for checking out.

In the same mail dispatch there was another order, this for $10, and this too apparently failed to reach its destination, thus leading to the conclusion that something went wrong along the line.

Should the note show up, so it can be returned, please send it back via air mail and I will notify postal authorities immediately.
However it now appears that it has been lost, and as you state,
you can't find it and certainly didn't cash it.

Again thanking you for your consideration in this matter.

Should the Trade Weekly be resumed, please let me know so I may enter my subscription.

Sincerely
